Sport Discussion On Caribbean Forum

Montreal. — On Sunday evening, May 5, the International Service of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation presented the fourth edition of "Caribbean Forum," a special feature beamed from Canada on the first Sunday of each month to listeners in the West Indies.

Sport and its Merits in the West Indies as Compared with Sport in Canada was the subject under discussion in the May 5 edition. This was the first time that Canadians have been invited to participate in a discussion on Caribbean Forum, on which West Indians at present residing in Canada are usually represented.

Those taking part in this broadcast were: Howard Scarffe, Saskatchewan; Phil Edwards, well-known Olympic Champion and native of British Guiana; Edie Fallon, Quebec; Basil Abrahams, British Guiana; Kenneth Brown, CBC Producer of West Indian programs, and Paul Albury of the Bahamas.

Death of Earl Kelly Ends Radio Career

The death of Earl Kelly, of Vancouver, on April 15, removed from the radio scene a man who at one time bid fair to be one of the most interesting characters on the Canadian air.

To many thousands of listeners to the CBC trans-continental network about the years 1937 and 1938, Kelly's friendly "Good evening!" was a familiar greeting, one with which he invariably began his widely followed news broadcasts. His invariable conclusion, in which he wished "a restful evening" to men in remote places—lighthouse keepers, coastguardsmen, prospectors, trappers, fishermen, sailors and soldiers—was equally familiar and characteristic.

About Kelly's news broadcasts themselves there was always discussion as to whether people listened to them for the news or for his quaint manner of presenting it. But there was no doubt that he did give a clear and concise summary of the news, which, as a newspaperman of long experience, he could do quite effectively. Thousands, however, enjoyed his unique commentaries even when the news itself meant little.

The Beachcombers

Here, under the moon of Hawaii, with tropical palms and grass huts in the offing, are the Beachcombers, those clever artists heard on the CBC's Dominion Network on Sunday nights at 10.30. From left to right, they are: BARRY BARNARD, tenor and guitarist; JACK SCOTT, narrator (the Beachcomber himself); MAL COLLIER, charming young vocalist and ukelele specialist; and the conductor of the group, JACK RIDDELL.

Ode to the CBC

(By LORD CARESSER, leading calypso-singer of Port of Spain, Trinidad, B.W.I.)

A voice speaking to the world
Has surely won my heart and soul.
It's louder, stronger and sweeter
Than any I've heard in America.

CHORUS

So tune the radio for me,
To hear the news on the CBC!
So tune the radio for me
To hear the news on the CBC!

Calling the north, south, east and west,
No other voice could stand the test.
Daily programs of many pages,
Broadcast in sixteen languages.

CHORUS

So tune the radio, etc.

Britain, France, Latin America,
Germany and Czechoslovakia,
Even Norway, China and Russia
Are in touch with the voice of Canada.

CHORUS

So tune the radio, etc.

With language experts and writers,
Engineers and announcers,
Twelve thousand programs of worldwide interest
Done in twelve months of service.

So tune the radio, etc.
I only hope the management
May accept my compliment;
For listeners in most every country
Are hailing for the CBC.
CHORUS
So tune the radio, etc.

Knowles To Visit Sask. Stock Sales

Bob Knowles, assistant Farm Broadcast commentator in the CBC's Prairie Region, with headquarters at Winnipeg, goes west into his native Saskatchewan toward the end of May to attend spring stock sales at Lloydminster, Saskatoon, and Prince Albert. In intervals of stock sales, Bob will enjoy a well-earned holiday on his father's farm, near Unity.

Lloydminster's spring stock sale is scheduled for May 27 and 28; Saskatoon's May 31-June 1, and Prince Albert's June 7 and 8. The highest average prices in western Canada were paid last year at the Prince Albert sale.

Hat Business Thriving, Says Peter Whittall

The hat business, according to Peter Whittall, CBC's Prairie Region Farm Broadcast Commentator, is thriving.

It has been Peter's custom for several years to attend the spring stock sales at Calgary, and while in that celebrated cow town, where men are men and hats are large, he nearly always got telegrams from CBC people in the Far East (Toronto) saying, in general effect, "please get us a ten gallon hat."

Actually, according to Peter, Calgary hats these days are wartime models, about five gallons. But he always did his best to meet these requests, allowing the benighted condition of the average easterner; and now, he says, it is nothing but an effort to see the CBC's general supervisor of programs, or the CBC's supervisor of production, striding around the gloomy streets of Toronto in a sombrero which, despite wartime economy, is still something.

But the hat demand has grown, and an export business is developing. Last week, Peter got a hurried message from Edwin Johnson, Winnipeg superintendent of the Canadian Press. The C.P.'s New York correspondent, Alan Randal, wanted a Calgary hat. Could Peter do anything? As it happens, office pressure being a bit heavy, Peter is not going to the Calgary sales this spring, but he is still trying—and Randal will probably get his hat.

Johnson, by the way, wore a Calgary hat on a Winnipeg golf course last week, and now Peter has orders for eleven more.

Education Department Seeking FM Licenses

Ottawa.—The Manitoba Department of Education has applied for FM licenses at Winnipeg, Portage la Prairie, Brandon, Morden, Dauphin and Eriksdale, according to a return made in the House of Commons for Ralph Maybank, Winnipeg member.

Several other applications were also noted: from Richard D. Hughes, Dauphin; H. Lloyd Henderson, Portage la Prairie; and the Arctic Radio Corporation, Flin Flon.

The return also noted that a license had been granted to J. O. Blick and E. B. Osler for a private commercial station in Winnipeg.

Notes

HARMONY HARBOR (T-C 9:45 a.m.)

Doris Dunlop, contralto, and John Newman, baritone, blend their voices in "One Day When We Were Young" for their opening number tonight. Mrs. Dunlop will also sing the hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," and Mr. Newman, Handel's "Where e're You Walk." The duet, "Out of the Dusk to You," concludes the program. Marjorie Payne accompanies at the organ.

CANADIAN YARNS (11:15 a.m.)

Today's yarn is by Elspeth Chisholm of Ottawa, and the title is "The Flying Tailor."

CANADIAN PARTY (12:30 p.m.)

Montreal's turn to stage a Canadian Party for servicemen still overseas comes around again today. Canadian listeners can eavesdrop via the CBC's Trans-Canada network. Allan McIver will again be maestro in charge and give cues to tenor Ken McAdam and pianist Neil Chotem, and a star of the W Debs, Kay Helwig. Stan Cotton who recently left CBM studios for the CBC's International Service will handle production.

CAPITAL REPORT (1:03 p.m.)

Matthew Halton from Europe; Bob Bowman from Washington; and Blair Fraser from Ottawa, will be heard today.

RELIGIOUS PERIOD (1:30 p.m.)

Rev. D. Roberts, of the First Church of Christ Scientist, Ottawa, will be heard today.

CHURCH OF THE AIR (3:30 p.m.)

Rev. C. M. Nicholson, of St. Andrews United Church, Sydney, Nova Scotia, will conduct today's service.

CHAMBER MUSIC (4:30 p.m.)

Two New York musicians, Michel Nazzi, oboist, and his daughter, Christiane, flautist, will be heard today. Completing the instrumental group will be Lionel Renaud, violinist, Stephen Kondaks, violist, and Roland Leduc, 'cellist. The works to be played are "Sonata," by J. B. Loillet, and "Phantasy," by Benjamin Brittan. Michel Nazzi is the first oboist of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and a professor at the Quebec Conservatory of Music. Christiane Nazzi joined her father recently as guest soloist on the CBC Concert Hour.

The Spanish Touch

ALYS ROBI, French, English and Spanish-speaking songstress on Latin American Serenade, is expected to put her Spanish to fluent use with the arrival of Chicho Valle, Cuban singer now co-starring with Mlle. Robi. The two Latin experts sing with Don Miguel and his orchestra over the CBC Dominion network, Sundays, at 9:30 p.m.

CBC STAR TIME (6:30 p.m.)

Theme music from "For Whom the Bells Toll," in a special arrangement, is one of the principal items tonight. Joining the solo ranks for the first time is vibraphonist John Nadeau, who is billed in a specialty number. Two alumni are scheduled as this edition's vocalists. They are Fred Hill, tenor, who will be heard in "Take Care" and "Someone to Watch over Me," and pretty Anne Marlow whose songs are still to be announced. CBC Star Time originates in the CBC's Montreal studios for CBC Trans-Canada and Mutual Broadcasting System listeners.

WEEK END REVIEW (7:45 p.m.)

Dr. H. L. Stewart, of Halifax, will review the week's news.

STAGE 46 (8:00 p.m.)

"All About Emily," a true adventure written by Lister Sinclair, will be repeated in tonight's drama from Toronto. Originally broadcast in February last year on Stage 45, Sinclair's satirical drama provides tears and laughter at the expense of financiers, a farming couple and a goose. Bernard Braden, John Drainie and Roxanna Bond, who played the original leads, will play them again. Music for Stage 46 is composed and conducted by Lucio Agostini.

SERENADE FOR STRINGS (9:30 p.m.)

Lionel Daunais, Montreal baritone, will again be at the solo microphone tonight. His songs this time will be "Nebbie" by Ottarino Respighi; "La chanson de la mort," from "Don Quixote," by Jacques Ibert; and "Oh, Thou Billowy Harvest Fields," by Rachmaninoff. Jean Deslauriers will conduct the orchestra in "Gigue," from the ballet music, "Céphale et Procris," by Grétry; a new work by Dubensky, "Fugue for Nine Stands of First Violin Section"; the first movement of the "Holberg Suite," by Edward Grieg; and "Gossiping and Quarrelling," an excerpt from "Pictures at an Exhibition," by Modest Moussorgsky. Serenade for Strings is heard on the CBC's Trans-Canada network and in the United States over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

RING UP THE CURTAIN (10:30 p.m.)

With the conclusion of Roy Locksley's Sunday evening concert series, his new and ambitious musical comedy program, Ring Up the Curtain, formerly heard on Mondays, moves up to the Sunday spot. Cora James, soprano, and George Kent, tenor, assist Locksley in Ring Up the Curtain, and the music is chosen largely from the musical comedy library. A theme from Stoltz' Two Hearts In Three-Quarter Time introduces the broadcast. Tonight's broadcast includes: Strike Up the Band, from the production of that name by George Gershwin; by the orchestra, Lover Come Back to Me from Romberg's New Moon; vocal duet Kent and Miss James Orchids in the Moonlight (Youmans); orchestra Allah's Holiday, from Katinka (Friml); by Miss James, When Day Is Done from Madonna (de Sylva), orchestra; The Three Caballeros, from Walt Disney's movie-cartoon (Manuel Esperon) orchestra; When You're Away, Dear, from the Only Girl (Herbert) vocal duet; and Louisiana Hayride, from Flying Colours (Dietz), by the orchestra.

THE BEACHCOMBERS (Dom. 10:30 p.m.)

Jack Riddell and the Hawaiian orchestra, with Mal Collier and Barry Barnard as vocalist, are heard in this weekly series from Winnipeg. Tonight's program includes: By Miss Collier—Neath Tahitian Skies, and Just a Little Dream of Hawaii and You; by Barry Barnard—Na 'Lili (The Prince), and Na Pua; by the orchestra—Dreams of Honolulu; Tropical Moonlight; Paradise Isles; Hilo E; Rhythm of the Islands, and Koni Au. The theme song, Sand, by Andy Iona Long, introduces the program.

CLASSICS FOR TODAY (11:30 p.m.)

Jean de Rimanoczy opens the program by the Classics For Today string orchestra with Ireland's Minuet And Elegy. This is followed by Adagio For Strings by Barber, and the broadcast is brought to a close with the playing of C.P.E. Bach's Symphony In B Flat.

Funny Books. Really amusing books, the kind that still seem funny when you read them out loud to your family next day, are just about as scarce as hen's teeth.—Christine Leslie, on CBC Prairie Comment, May 17.

Notes

CBC COOKING SCHOOL OF THE AIR (4:18 p.m.)

Eustella Langdon will take up the subject of quick breads and how to fit them to the meal. She has a number of new ways of using rye, whole wheat and soya, which she will pass on to listeners, as well as recipes for graham and porridge breads which can be made into delicacies when combined with nuts, fruits and fruit peel.

DON MESSER AND HIS ISLANDERS (5:00 p.m.)

Charlie Chamberlain will sing "I Talk to Myself About You" and "I Had a Hat When I Came In" on tonight's program of old time music by Don Messer and the Islanders. The band under the direction of Don Messer will play such tunes as "A Little Black Moustache," "The Darkies' Dream"; "The Favorite Polka" and "The Buffalo Gals."

MUSIC AND PEOPLE (7:00 p.m.)

Each week in this interesting and amusing series, Jean Hinds asks questions about music. She asks them of people in many walks of life, and the answers vary widely. This week the question is: Have you a special work song? That is, is there any tune you specially like to whistle or sing while working? One person to whom Miss Hinds put her question was Mrs. Kathleen Strange, of Winnipeg, author of a widely read book, With the West In Her Eyes. Mrs. Strange admitted that, to get herself into the mood for writing, she often hummed over tunes from George Gershwin's Porgy and Bess.

ELECTRIC HOUR (Dom. 7:00 p.m.)

Mart Kenney and his Western Gentlemen, will present tonight's program from the stage of the Palais Montcalm theatre in Quebec City. Enthusiastic audiences have greeted Kenney and his band and vocalist Norma Locke, on their coast-to-coast tour. Among the entertainers with Kenney are pianist Al Miller, trumpeter Gordie Braund, and trombonist and novelty vocalist George Guerette.

RHYTHM AND ROMANCE (7:45 p.m.)

Mitchell Parks and Percy Burdett, duo pianists, with Maxine Ware, as vocalist. The program includes: Pianos—Dodging a Divorcee; La Sorella, a Spanish melody by Gallini; and Joe College, by two Winnipeg composers, Syd Niel, and Jim Nicol. Miss Ware will sing: You Won't Be Satisfied; All Through the Day (Kern); and Paradise.

MUSIC WE NAME (9:30 p.m.)

Jean Dansereau, Montreal pianist, is tonight's performer. Thomas Archer, music critic of a Montreal newspaper, tells the story behind the titles of the works to be made up entirely on this occasion of compositions by Liszt. These are "La Campanella," written on a theme by Paganini; "Consolation No. 2," "Harmonie du soir, étude transcendante"; and "Valse impromptu."

SUMMERFALLOW (11:00 p.m.)

This week's program is a dramatization of the life of Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former minister of agriculture, for many years a prominent figure in Saskatchewan. The intention is to show the growth of farm organization in Canada, and to make a subsequent report on the state of farm organization today. The broadcast will conclude with an actuality from London, England, where Fergus Mutrie, supervisor of the CBC's Farm Broadcast Department, is covering the International Farm Organization Conference for CBC.

ANN WATT SINGS (11:30 p.m.)

The voice of soprano Ann Watt comes over your radio from the CBC's Vancouver studios. For her program today Miss Watt has chosen to sing "Lover Come Back To Me," "The Swan," "It Might As Well Be Spring," and "Where My Caravan Has Rested." As well as accompanying Miss Watt, the ensemble under the direction of John Avison will offer Dwarf Dance, Tarantella, Warum, and Intermezzo.

CALL THE COURT HOUSE (12:15 a.m.)

"If We Are Charged With a Crime" is the title of Frank Edwards' talk for tonight. Mr. Edwards is the chief court reporter for Saskatchewan, and will speak from Regina. His talk suggests the sort of lawyer we need for our defence, and a few we might do well to avoid. Here is some of his sage advice: "When we are in court, we must suppress our desire to score off counsel, witty and clever though we are. Our best attitude would be: Not very bright, but quite good-humoured. We must smile, even if in a somewhat sheepish manner, when we hear our lawyer argue to the jury that we are more fool than knave. He probably will. . . . There is a natural kindness in the hearts of most men, and if we have been made the butt of other people's jokes during our trial we shall probably get the sympathy of the jury. And that is what we need."

PIANO RAMBLINGS (12:45 a.m.)

Tschaikowsky's Piano Concerto in B Flat Minor introduces another quarter hour program from Edmonton by Jack Toulson, pianist. Tonight's program opens with The Easter Parade followed by When April Sings; Waltzing in the Clouds; Will You Remember and Aren't You Glad You're You. Two selections by Noel Coward, Ziguener and I'll See You Again complete the program.

The program today consists of some of the works of Clermont Pepin, this year's first prize winner in the Canadian Performing Rights Society contest, played by the twenty-year-old composer himself.

PRESENTING PARKS AND BURDETT (T-C 6:30 p.m.)

Mitchell Parks and Percy Burdett, Winnipeg two-piano team are heard in this series. Tonight's program opens with Clavitos, followed by Song of the Bayou; Shortnin' Bread; That Old Black Magic and Venetian Love Song. An arrangement of Canadian Capers completes the fifteen minute broadcast.

PROM CONCERT (Dom. 8:00 p.m.)

Dr. Frieder Weissmann, conductor of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, and Donald Dame, Metropolitan Opera tenor will be guest conductor and soloist with the Toronto Philharmonic Orchestra tonight. The second half of the concert will be broadcast. Dr. Weissmann made his first appearance as a Prom guest conductor last year. A former director at the Berlin Opera, he went to Buenos Aires in 1934 and remained there as an Argentine citizen until 1942, when he left for the United States. Knowledge of his European reputation preceded his arrival on

With Toronto Prom

DONALD DAME, popular tenor of opera, concert and radio, will be guest soloist at the Toronto Philharmonic Orchestra's next Prom Concert, broadcast over the CBC Dominion network, Tuesday, May 28, at 8 p.m. The young singer made his first appearance on the "Met" stage years ago as a boy spear carrier. His real debut came in the fall of 1943, when he sang in "Mignon."

this side of the Atlantic as a result of his many orchestral recordings. Dr. Weissmann will direct the Prom orchestra in three numbers for the broadcast audience: "Symphony No. 4 in D Major," by Haydn; "Triana," by the Spanish composer, Isaac Albeniz; and the "Polovetzian Dances," from Borodin's opera, "Prince Igor." Donald Dame will sing two arias with the orchestra: "O Paradiso," from "L'Africana," by Meyerbeer; and "Le Reve," from Jules Massenet's "Mignon." Star of concert, radio and opera, Dame is one of the youngest members of the Metropolitan Opera Company. He has become familiar to a wide audience of Canadian listeners as tenor soloist on the weekly broadcasts of Album of Familiar Music over the CBC Trans-Canada network.

LEICESTER SQUARE TO BROADWAY (9:30 p.m.)

Opening with the tune They Go Wild Simply Wild Over Me, and closing with selections from Cohan's Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway, another edition of the Leicester Square To Broadway show is presented to CBC listeners from coast to coast this week.

The music of Harry Pryce and his orchestra is featured, plus the vocal stylings by Isabelle McEwan, William Carr, and soubrette Cicely Lancaster.

Included on the broadcast will be the numbers Do You Ever Think of Me, I Love You Truly, Hyacinth Rag, and He's Me Pal.

KELVIN GIRL GRADUATES' CHOIR (10:00 p.m.)

The girl graduates of Winnipeg's famous Kelvin Tech. return to CBC networks again for a choral recital under their conductor, Miss Gladys Anderson. Kelvin grads in many parts of the west will be able to catch a little of the old spirit of the great school through the voices of these youthful singers. Douglas Bodle will accompany the singers and will be heard in two piano numbers. Following is the program: Choir: 'Tis Time, I Think, By Wenlock Town (Thos. Armstrong); When the Year Goes A-Maying (Alex Rowley); Spring (Gustav Holst); The Lotus Flower (Schumann); The Night Bird (Edgar Bainton); Deep River (Burleigh); Summer Time (Gershwin); By the Bend of the River (Edwards); With a Song in My Heart (Rodgers). Piano—Intermezzo, Op. 118, No. 6; and Three Dances from a Ballet, Let Her To The World (H. Johnson).

WINNIPEG STRING ORCHESTRA (10:30 p.m.)

The Rival Sisters, a Suite by Henry Purcell, is one of the selections to be played tonight by the orchestra under the direction of Ronald Gibson. Nocturne by Dvorak and Dance Suite by Thomas Dunhill complete the program.

RECITAL (T-C 11:15 p.m.)

Tonight's recitalist is Gordon Kushner, Winnipeg pianist. He has chosen one of Mozart's works, Sonata in D Major.

Air For A Setting Hen

[Note: Some weeks ago we mentioned the collection of large, small, and oddly shaped eggs being assembled in the CBC's Prairie Region Farm Broadcast Department by the commentators, Peter Whittale and Bob Knowles. They have inspired a lady listener to the following lyrical tribute.]

No matter how big,
No matter how small,
Peter Whittale receives them all.

So here is one more
To add to the score,
Whatever you do, don't ask for more.

No matter how big,
No matter how small,
You should get enough
If you scramble them all.

Then call in Bob Knows
For he only knows,
That hens can lay eggs,
Just like the crows.

They get no holiday with pay,
So that's the reason why they lay,
Such eggs that do not pay.

—Mrs. Godfrey Kerbs,
Last Mountain, Sask.

N.Z. Grain Record. The recent drought has produced at least one bright spot of news. Rangitikei farmers have had the best grain season for twenty years. Thirty to forty bushels an acre is their normal yield, but this season some crops have been as high as ninety bushels to the acre.—Noy Reid, in New Zealand Newsletter, on BBC.

Notes

MOTHER'S BUSINESS (4:18 p.m.)

Lena Newman, mother of two children in their early 'teens, will give the professional woman's angle today. Some ways in which the professional woman can organize her household in order that the children will not feel the lack of the mother in the home during her working hours, will be the main topic of Mrs. Newman's talk.

DON MESSER AND HIS ISLANDERS (5:00 p.m.)

An old, old timer "Rickett's Hornpipe" heads today's musical roster of old time music by Don Messer and the Islanders. Other selections include "What's the Matter with Father," "Angus Campbell" and "The Liverpool Hornpipe" with romantic Charlie Chamberlain, the singing Islander, joining in for "No One Will Ever Know" and "McNamara's Band."

HOMEMAKERS' PROGRAM (5:15 p.m.)

Kay Russenholt of Winnipeg continues her talks on Family Allowances. This week she discusses the proper way to use family allowance cheques, and suggests that the guiding principle should be that the money must be used for the benefit of the children.

JACK CARSON (Dom. 7:00 p.m.)

Jack Carson, Hollywood comedian, with Arthur Treacher as his disdainful butler; his girl friend, Randy Stuart; his zany nephew, Tugwell, Dave Willcock; and a child actress, Norma Nilsson, are heard in this series. Freddy Martin leads the orchestra, and the announcer is Del Sharbutt. The comedy is of the hilarious sort, with a fair element of slapstick.

Old and New Leagues Compared by Newsman

Winston Churchill, when he spoke at Fulton, Missouri, said that there had never been a war in history that would have been easier to stop before it started than World War II—a terrible, and terribly true, thing to have said. Yet if you read back through Churchill's speeches before the war, you will discover, if you did not know it before, that he was talking at Fulton about the use that could have been made of the old League, no matter how imperfect and how weak its machinery had been.

Let us take a look at the new league—the United Nations Organization, and its machinery. You will find on examination that a good many of the defects of the Geneva machine have been repaired. Where that machinery was palpably weak, it has been in many cases strengthened. But you will find that the new machine also has defects and that these are being busily discussed by the same groups of people who criticized and helped to break down the old league.—G. V. Ferguson, on CBC, April 14.

Provincial Flower Emblems. Ali told, it's quite a varied Canadian bouquet: trailing arbutus or mayflower for Nova Scotia; blue violet for New Brunswick; white trillium for Ontario; anemone for Manitoba; the deep glory of the prairie lily for Saskatchewan; Alberta's prairie rose, and the flowering dogwood for British Columbia.—Jean Hinds, on CBC, April 30.

Kelvin Girl Graduates' Choir

The girl graduates' choir of Winnipeg's famous Kelvin Technical High School will return to the CBC Trans-Canada Network on Tuesday, May 28, at 10.00 p.m. In this picture, taken in the School Auditorium last Christmas, when the Choir sang for CBC listeners, MISS GLADYS ANDERSON, the conductor, is seen in the front row, centre.

Notes

RECITAL (3:45 p.m.)

Mezzo-soprano Juliette Beaudoin is today's recitalist. She will sing "Les berceaux," by Fauré; Maiden Tell Me," by Laforge; "Adieu forêts," an extract from Tchaikowsky's "Jeanne D'Arc"; and "L'heure délicate," by Victor Staub.

YOUR NEXT JOB (4:18 p.m.)

The educational background and the personal qualifications as to temperament and mental aptitude, required to make a good publicity writer, will be the subject of today's talk. The speaker will be a Montreal free lance writer Harriet Hill, who has already given a number of commentaries on various topics for the CBC's women listeners. Miss Hill is a former newspaper woman and public relations officer.

MINIATURES BY GREEN (6:15 p.m.)

Westminster Meditation from Eric Coates London Suite opens another fifteen minute program by the orchestra conducted by Harold Green. Selections to be heard tonight include: Gondoliers from Day in Venice by Ethelbert Nevin; Serenade Norvegienne by Gustav Sandre; Valse Bleue by A. Margis and Minuet from Ballet Suite (Gretry-Mohl).

DRAMA (7:00 p.m.)

Two former Winnipeg people, now living in Montreal, Rhena and George Robertson, are the authors of tonight's Montreal drama. Entitled "The Long Night Through" and written for the most part in blank verse, it is an atmospheric piece which captures the mood of a big city from midnight until dawn.

ORGAN RECITAL (10:00 p.m.)

A half-hour of organ music played by Giuseppe Moschetti. Mr. Moschetti will play the first movement from Charles Widor's Symphony No. 6; Evening Harmonies, by Karg-Elert; and Cesar Franck Chorale No. 3 in A Minor." The programs are broadcast from North Parkdale United Church in Toronto, where Mr. Moschetti is organist. The recitalist is a former West Point organist.

DRAMA (11:00 p.m.)

Tonight's play from Winnipeg is in the social drama class—the old problem of intolerance. The title is "The Everlasting Wrong," and the author is Elsie Anderson of Toronto.

GYPSY STRINGS (11:30 p.m.)

Cardo Smalley and the Gypsy Strings ensemble, with songstress Judy Wright will feature this evening Hungarian Poem, Traditional Gypsy Folk Song, Summer Evening Valse, Russian Camp Fire Song, and Gypsy Medley.

Eskimo Sleeps

An Eskimo, you know, always reckons the distance he travels by the number of times he has to sleep on the way. Down in the very far North, there is never any daylight in the winter time, while in the summer there is never any darkness—the sun stays up all the time. So Eskimos can't very well say that a certain journey has taken twenty days, or fifteen, or even two days, because they can't tell which is day and which is night, and they don't have watches or clocks either. Also they haven't any way of measuring distances as we have, so they never know how many miles they have travelled. But they all understand when someone says he has travelled twenty "sleeps."—Roger Curry, on CBC, May 10.

Mail Bag

Presently.

It seems to me that M.S.M., of Edmonton, is just another English purist. The word "presently" is perfectly O.K. as the announcers use it, and I don't see what M.S.M. is kicking about.—M.R.D., Winnipeg, Man.

The Ohio Awards.

It was interesting to see that the CBC had won five important awards at a radio exhibition in Ohio. To us, as Canadians, recognition from our great republican neighbour will, I suppose, always be flattering. But I think it may be time now for us to think about setting up standards of our own. There are some things on the radio which I think we do just as well as any American station or network — documentary drama, for example, and discussion groups and talks. In public service broadcasting generally, it seems to me, we are away out ahead. What other North American network could have done a job like Deirdre of the Sorrows? None, I think, and it will be a long while before this performance is either equalled or outstripped on this continent. Perhaps it is time we dropped a little of our natural Canadian modesty, and went out to set a few standards in broadcasting, rather than emulating those of other people.—S.T.C., Winnipeg, Man.

Toronto Symphony Broadcasts.

I have had very great pleasure from the symphony orchestra broadcasts from Toronto, and I want to express my gratitude to the musicians and to the CBC. Sometimes I wonder whether all our people appreciate the wonderful riches that come to us through our radios. Thank you again.—Mrs. M.F.G., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Notes

RECITAL (3:45 p.m.)

The recitalist from Winnipeg today is Earl Dick, tenor, who will be accompanied at the piano by Edward Lincoln. The program has interesting variety: Silent Worship (Handel); Who Is Sylvia? (Schubert's setting of the celebrated lyric from the Two Gentlemen of Verona); Devotion (Richard Strauss); Der Asra (Anton Rubenstein); Cockles and Mussels (James Yorkston); and Five Eyes (Armstrong Gibbs).

CHILDREN'S PROGRAM (4:30 p.m.)

Roger Curry's Eskimo tales continue, with the story of Metchuk, the seal, who was a careless fellow and kept grabbing the ice blowholes belonging to other seals, with the result that the other seals sometimes nearly drowned. But one day Metchuk learned a hard lesson, and from then on he became the most careful and considerate seal in the pack.

DON MESSER AND HIS ISLANDERS (5:00 p.m.)

Sprightly old time tunes by the Merry Islanders will include "Londonderry Hornpipe," "Eyes Right," "The Farmer's Jamboree" and "White River Stomp." Charlie Chamberlain will sing the romantic ballad "Each Night at Nine" and "Just A-Wearying For You."

PRAIRIE COMMENT (5:15 p.m.)

"Country Hotels" is the subject of today's talk by Idabelle Melville-Ness. In particular, Mrs. Melville-

Ness discusses a country hotel in southern Saskatchewan run by a gentleman named Gus, who is a character. Gus's cry at dinner time—"Hi soup!" could be heard for three blocks. And if it was not responded to immediately, it was followed by another even louder, a sort of anguished roar—"Hi, soup, I tell you!! Come on!"

CBC CONCERT HOUR (7:00 p.m.)

The 60th anniversary of the first performance of Smetana's opera, "The Bartered Bride," will be marked on tonight's broadcast. With Alexander Brott conducting, Walter Schmolka, Czech baritone, will sing excerpts from the opera, and the orchestra will be heard alone in three dances "Polka," "Furiant" and "Dance of the Comedians." Jean Belland, cellist, will be the soloist in the second portion of the hour program, the featured work at that time being Saint Saens' "Allegro Appassionata." Other works to be heard are "Petite Suite," by Debussy; "In Central Asia," by Borodine, and "Passacaille," by Alexander Brott, conductor of this program.

THE PRAIRIE SCHOONER (9:30 p.m.)

Pearl Johnson, soprano, is the soloist tonight with Jimmy Gowler and the orchestra. She will sing: My Swan Sings; Marguerite's Cradle Song; and Love's Rapture. The orchestra will be heard in: Miss Baker's Hornpipe; Rustic Dance; Heel and Toe Polka. Polish Wedding Dance; La Golondrina; The Old Homestead; The Algonia Two-Step; Fredags Polka; Spanish Fandango and Hand Organ Hornpipe.

SOLILOQUY (11:00 p.m.)

The orchestra directed by Harold Green opens tonight's program with Dreamy Melody. Other selections by the orchestra include: Tango Amanscer; Blue Room; Vienna Dreams; The Very Thought of You, and Sweetheart. Vocalist Maxine Ware is heard singing: In the Blue of Evening; You Won't Be Satisfied; and Here Comes Heaven Again.

PACIFIC TIME (10:30 p.m.)

The inside story of a radio producer and his rise and fall will be told on this week's Pacific Time presentation from the CBC's Vancouver studios. Entitled Big Shot, the play is set against the background of a radio station. The script, by Albert Anthony, introduces all the characters known to radio—the actors, the musicians, the script-writers, the continuity writers, the engineers—all the people who make up the broadcasting business.

The plot concerns a headstrong young man who set out to be a success and how he became a "big shot" by walking over people, by being cold and calculating and hard-boiled. And then, when he'd arrived at the top, something happened that tumbled his house of cards.

You may not like the young man who rose to be a "big shot," but you won't soon forget him.

CBC News Roundup

(CBC Trans-Canada Network, Monday to Fridays, 9:15 p.m.)

A Highlight From The Week's News

I have just had the pleasure of reading two books written by Field Marshal Montgomery, who has just left Germany to become Chief of the Imperial General Staff. One is called "From Alamein to the Sangro," the other is "Normandy to the Baltic." They are the unadorned record of a great soldier who never lost a battle.

These books are not for public circulation. They are the straightforward and even dry account of the great campaigns. They are for the information of soldiers who want to study the straight facts.

But the straight facts are exciting enough—and a cold, crushing, overwhelming answer to some of the mean and silly nonsense that has been published recently.

You will have heard of Ralph Ingersoll's book "Top Secret," in which the author attacks Montgomery and Eisenhower and makes the astonishing statement that Monty's British and Canadian armies failed to do their job in the famous and terrible battles from Caen to Falaise.

One would have thought that even the most anti-British American knew the story of the making and unfolding of the Normandy plan. That plan was a classic of strategy and execution. The British and Canadian armies were to hammer and hammer at the enemy's pivot at Caen, draw the most powerful German forces there and hold them there by unceasing attack, so the Americans could make the great end run through Brittany.

That plan, once made, was never altered in a single important detail except that victory came even faster than was expected. Three months before invasion Monty said he would have the armies on the Seine by D-Day plus ninety. Actually we were there by D-Day plus seventy-five.

On June 15, there were seventy German tanks facing the Americans and five hundred and twenty facing the Anglo-Canadian sector.

On June 25, half a panzer division with one hundred and ninety tanks faced the Americans, while five panzer divisions with five hundred and thirty tanks faced the Anglo-Canadians.

On July 10, two panzer divisions with one hundred and ninety tanks faced the Americans, and six armoured divisions with six hundred and ten tanks faced the Anglo-Canadians.

The figures were much the same all through July. On July 25, two panzer divisions with one hundred and ninety tanks faced the Americans, while six panzer divisions with six hundred and forty-five tanks faced the Anglo-Americans.

The figures speak for themselves.—CBC Correspondent Matthew Halton, from Berlin.

Notes

RECITAL (3:45 p.m.)

The recitalist from Winnipeg today is Earl Dick, tenor, who will be accompanied at the piano by Edward Lincoln. The program has interesting variety: Silent Worship (Handel); Who Is Sylvia? (Schubert's setting of the celebrated lyric from the Two Gentlemen of Verona); Devotion (Richard Strauss); Der Asra (Anton Rubenstein); Cockles and Mussels (James Yorkston); and Five Eyes (Armstrong Gibbs).

CHILDREN'S PROGRAM (4:30 p.m.)

Roger Curry's Eskimo tales continue, with the story of Metchuk, the seal, who was a careless fellow and kept grabbing the ice blowholes belonging to other seals, with the result that the other seals sometimes nearly drowned. But one day Metchuk learned a hard lesson, and from then on he became the most careful and considerate seal in the pack.

DON MESSER AND HIS ISLANDERS (5:00 p.m.)

Sprightly old time tunes by the Merry Islanders will include "Londonderry Hornpipe," "Eyes Right," "The Farmer's Jamboree" and "White River Stomp." Charlie Chamberlain will sing the romantic ballad "Each Night at Nine" and "Just A-Wearying For You."

PRAIRIE COMMENT (5:15 p.m.)

"Country Hotels" is the subject of today's talk by Idabelle Melville-Ness. In particular, Mrs. Melville-

Ness discusses a country hotel in southern Saskatchewan run by a gentleman named Gus, who is a character. Gus's cry at dinner time—"Hi soup!" could be heard for three blocks. And if it was not responded to immediately, it was followed by another even louder, a sort of anguished roar—"Hi, soup, I tell you!! Come on!"

CBC CONCERT HOUR (7:00 p.m.)

The 60th anniversary of the first performance of Smetana's opera, "The Bartered Bride," will be marked on tonight's broadcast. With Alexander Brott conducting, Walter Schmolka, Czech baritone, will sing excerpts from the opera, and the orchestra will be heard alone in three dances "Polka," "Furiant" and "Dance of the Comedians." Jean Belland, 'cellist, will be the soloist in the second portion of the hour program, the featured work at that time being Saint Saens' "Allegro Appassionata." Other works to be heard are "Petite Suite," by Debussy; "In Central Asia," by Borodine, and "Passacaille," by Alexander Brott, conductor of this program.

THE PRAIRIE SCHOONER (9:30 p.m.)

Pearl Johnson, soprano, is the soloist tonight with Jimmy Gowler and the orchestra. She will sing: My Swan Sings; Marguerite's Cradle Song; and Love's Rapture. The orchestra will be heard in: Miss Baker's Hornpipe; Rustic Dance; Heel and Toe Polka. Polish Wedding Dance; La Golondrina; The Old Homestead; The Algonia Two-Step; Fredags Polka; Spanish Fandango and Hand Organ Hornpipe.

SOLILOQUY (11:00 p.m.)

The orchestra directed by Harold Green opens tonight's program with Dreamy Melody. Other selections by the orchestra include: Tango Amancer; Blue Room; Vienna Dreams; The Very Thought of You, and Sweetheart. Vocalist Maxine Ware is heard singing: In the Blue of Evening; You Won't Be Satisfied; and Here Comes Heaven Again.

PACIFIC TIME (10:30 p.m.)

The inside story of a radio producer and his rise and fall will be told on this week's Pacific Time presentation from the CBC's Vancouver studios. Entitled Big Shot, the play is set against the background of a radio station. The script, by Albert Anthony, introduces all the characters known to radio—the actors, the musicians, the script-writers, the continuity writers, the engineers—all the people who make up the broadcasting business.

The plot concerns a headstrong young man who set out to be a success and how he became a "big shot" by walking over people, by being cold and calculating and hard-boiled. And then, when he'd arrived at the top, something happened that tumbled his house of cards.

You may not like the young man who rose to be a "big shot," but you won't soon forget him.

A Highlight From The Week's News

I have just had the pleasure of reading two books written by Field Marshal Montgomery, who has just left Germany to become Chief of the Imperial General Staff. One is called "From Alamein to the Sangro," the other is "Normandy to the Baltic." They are the unadorned record of a great soldier who never lost a battle.

These books are not for public circulation. They are the straightforward and even dry account of the great campaigns. They are for the information of soldiers who want to study the straight facts.

But the straight facts are exciting enough—and a cold, crushing, overwhelming answer to some of the mean and silly nonsense that has been published recently.

You will have heard of Ralph Ingersoll's book "Top Secret," in which the author attacks Montgomery and Eisenhower and makes the astonishing statement that Monty's British and Canadian armies failed to do their job in the famous and terrible battles from Caen to Falaise.
