ADVENTURES IN CASSETTES

Dear Friends,

To serve our many "online" computer fans, Adventures in Cassettes is excited to announce the set-up of our own World Wide Web Site:

<http://www.aic-radio.com>

When visiting this site, you'll be able to access or download our entire catalog of shows, see what's new, as well as find out about special discount offers. You can listen to old time radio sound bytes (see: SOUND BYTE symbol throughout this catalog), e-mail us your suggestions or questions about OTR, and even link up to other great OTR Web sites! A big THANK YOU goes to Louis Genco, the talented mastermind who designed our Web site. Lou is an avid old time radio supporter, co-administrator of the Internet's Old Time Radio Digest, and owner of his own OTR Web Site (<http://www.otr.com>).

Now, let's move from electronic space to the printed page... Within this catalog you will find several NEW collections including: Chandu, The Magician (Pg 3), The Whistler (Pg 16), Phillip Marlowe (Pg 24), The Green Hornet (Pg 26), Challenge of the Yukon (Pg 26), as well as a fabulous new hardcover book: Blast from the Past: Radio's First 75 Years (back cover).

Enjoy these great new collections!

Nightbeat & Johnny Dollar

RADIO DETECTIVE: 1949 - 1952

Mystery, adventure, excitement, love, death... the human interest stories of Randy Stone (Frank Lovejoy), reporter for the Chicago Star. His assignment: the nightbeat. With captivating plots and superior acting,

The freelance insurance investigator with the "action-packed" expense account, Johnny Dollar was a world-wide traveler who knew how to sniff out fraud. Stories developed in terms of his expense account: "Expense account, item one..." and the story began. At the end, the expenses were totaled & signed, "Yours truly, Johnny Dollar."

Nightbeat was a half-hour of intriguing drama brought to a close by Stone's crisp command: "COPY BOY!"

Dick Tracy

RADIO DETECTIVE: 1935 - 1948

Calling all adventures fans. Calling all Dick Tracy fans. Stand by for action!" One of America's most popular children's radio shows of all time, the great detective Dick Tracy proved that crime doesn't pay. Made from the original broadcasts, including sound effects and commercials, here are three of his most exciting adventures: The Case of the Black Pearl of Osiris (1938), The Case of the Firebug Murders (1946) and The Case of the Dark Corridor (1946). All the best action of the great Dick Tracy. "That is all."

Let's Pretend

CHILDREN'S THEATRE: 1934 - 1954

Mythical dragons, cackling witches, beautiful princesses and handsome kings all came to life in Let's Pretend, "radio's outstanding children's theatre." Under the brilliant direction of Nila Mack, the program's writer, producer and director, Let's Pretend became the finest show of its kind, winner of 50 national awards. Each Saturday kids tuned in to "Uncle" Bill Adams' greeting: "Helloooo, Pretenders!" And everyone knew the show sponsor's cheery jingle, sung by the cast: "Cream of Wheat is so good to eat; Yes we have it every day. We sing this song, it will make us strong; And it makes us shout 'Hooray!'"

One Man's Family

RADIO DRAMA: 1932 - 1959

An American dynasty, One Man's Family, written by Carlton E. Morse, became the most addictive show of its time. For 27 years, listeners were introduced to an all new phenomenon: the soap opera. Here was a program that provided a slice of life with a feeling of reality that no other radio show could duplicate. Henry "Father" Barbour (played for its entire run by J. Anthony Smythe), a retired stockbroker, and Fanny "Mother" Martin Barbour (played for 23 years by Minetta Ellen, then by Mary Adams) raised a family of five children: Paul, Hazel, twins Claudia and Clifford, and the youngest son, Jack. Father became known as the overbearing but lovable head of the family. Mother was the peacemaker trying to undo some of Henry's well-meaning blunders. Through it all, fans came to know the lives of these people. They saw them through birth, marriage, war, life's ups and downs and even death.

BOOK 78 - Complete in 25 (15-minute) chapters, this is the story of Teddy Barbour, adopted daughter of eldest son, Paul. For years, Teddy has been away from home serving her country as an Army nurse. Now, in the fall of 1950, she returns to Sea Cliff where she is courted by a most persistent suitor: former Army dentist, Elwood Giddings.

AB110 (6 Cassettes - 6 Hours)$25.98

NEW! BOOK 71 - Summer vacation on Claudia and Nicky's "Sky Ranch" is a Barbour tradition. And so the summer of 1949 finds nearly every member of the Barbour family relaxing by the pool, horseback riding, or dealing with the younger generation's difficulties. Claudia's rebellious daughter, Joan, is spending the summer in town with her Uncle Paul. Hazel's ne'er-do-well son, Pinky, is working at a lumber camp. And Clifford's young son, Skippy, finally gains a father and a name. Complete in 13 (30-minute) chapters.

AB135 (6 Cassettes - 6 1/2 Hours)$26.98

ONE MAN'S FAMILY - THE BOOK

Dedicated to "the mothers and fathers of the younger generation and their bewildering offspring." Here is an inside look at radio's longest running show. A collector's edition, there are introductions to the original cast, a selection of Carlton E. Morse's original scripts, a history of the show, and a complete overview of one of the most loved shows in history.

Fibber McGee and Molly

RADIO COMEDY: 1935 - 1959

The #1 rated show of 1941 (topping even Jack Benny and Bob Hope), "Fibber McGee" (Jim Jordan) and his faithful, long-suffering wife "Molly" (Marian Jordan) spent 24 years bringing their comedic blunders to audiences across the country. Childhood sweethearts from Peoria, actors Jim and Marian Jordan had performed together in vaudeville and on radio, but it was the "McGee's" who made them stars. Sponsored by Johnson Wax, the show unconventionally and often hysterically incorporated the Johnson Wax salesman into the action of the program (rather than stop for a commercial break). Each year brought a humorous host of supporting characters that included Teeny, Abigail Uppington, Myrt, Alice, Dr. Gamble, and Throckmorton P. Gildersleeve, who later left to star in his own successful show. (See below).

The Great Gildersleeve

RADIO COMEDY: 1941 - 1957

Former neighbor and rival of Fibber McGee, Throckmorton P. Gildersleeve arrived in Summerfield in 1941 to begin his curiously crazy reign as the town's Water Commissioner and most eligible bachelor. "Gildy" also took on the formidable task of raising his nephew and niece, Leroy and Marjorie. Gildersleeve was played by Harold Peary for almost 10 years, after which Willard Waterman took over.

During its successful run, memorable characters such as Judge Horace Hooker (with whom Gildy had a long-running feud), Peavey, the hen-pecked druggist and Birdie, the Gildersleeve cook brought laughter and pleasure to millions of Americans.

NOTE: The following two albums feature consecutive shows from 1948.

Bergen and McCarthy

RADIO COMEDY: 1937 - 1956

ventriloquist on the radio? Can't be done, said skeptics. But Edgar Bergen and his white pine friend, Charlie McCarthy proved everyone wrong, rocketing to radio's No. 1 spot—where they stayed for three years!! Created by teen-age Edgar, the dummy was patterned after a neighborhood newsboy, named "Charlie." "Mack," a local carpenter carved him, and "Charlie McCarthy" was born. The Charlie McCarthy Show was a sensation, featuring such top comedians as W.C. Fields and Don Ameche. Millions thought Charlie was really alive—he even received an honorary degree from Northwestern as Master of Innuendo and the Snappy Comeback! For some 19 years, Bergen & McCarthy inspired billions of laughs, making radio history.

The Bickersons

RADIO COMEDY: 1946 - 1951

They fight, they pick, they squabble and squawk—they're The Bickersons, America's most famous bickering couple. Portrayed by Don Ameche and Frances Langford, the couple enjoyed such great popularity on The Charlie McCarthy Show that in 1946 they became the center of the Drene Time Show. John and Blanche Bickerson argued about everything. Mostly, however, they fought because John loved to sleep, and he snored... loudly. Blanche couldn't sleep and since she hated to be up alone, woke John up. Thus began their bickering and the audiences' laughter! A comedy classic, fans still laugh to the lovable bickering of The Bickersons!

Life Of Riley

RADIO COMEDY: 1941 - 1951

"What a revoltn' development this is," was the catch phrase sweeping the country in the summer of 1943. This expression of riveter Chester A. Riley was a big part of this "typical" family man. Riley (William Bendix) managed to change any ant hill of a problem into a Grade-A disaster! For 8 years, Riley's weekly mishaps included his wife, their two kids, co-worker Gillis, and of course the friendly undertaker Digby "Digger" O'Dell. Who could keep a straight face as the funeral director ended each appearance with a "Cheerio, I'd better be shoveling off."

Burns & Allen

RADIO COMEDY: 1932 - 1950

Reasoned Gracie on the 1940 national debt, "It's something to be proud of, it's the biggest in the world, isn't it?" Everyone loved Gracie's inside-out logic, and no one could bring forth her mixed-up wisdom better than husband, George Burns. George and Gracie first teamed up in 1922. George delivered the funny lines, but it was Gracie who got the laughs. The decision was obvious: from then on they switched parts. George became widely known as the world's foremost straight man. Audiences loved it then and now! These two albums of consecutive shows are from the 1942-43 season. It's laughs galore with Gracie taking on everything from fortune-tellers to doctors!

The Baby Snooks Show

RADIO COMEDY: 1936 - 1951

Snooks is a brat, playing her Mommy and Daddy against each other, but she's the soul of innocence when confronted. Created at a party in 1921 by Fanny Brice (then a comedic singer and Ziegfeld Follies girl), Baby Snooks came to the radio in 1936, and audiences loved the impish 7-year-old. As the show grew, it moved from 15-minute skits on the Maxwell House Coffee Time Show to become The Baby Snooks Show in 1944. The show was still going strong in 1951 when Fanny suffered a cerebral hemorrhage and died at the age of 59. Today her humor lives on as audiences roar to the wild predicaments and silly logic of America's favorite brat.

The Eddie Cantor Show

RADIO COMEDY: 1931 - 1953

Eddie Cantor believed laughter was contagious and, contrary to radio protocol calling for silence in the studio, this "king of clowns" aired his show with a cheering, laughing audience. Indeed, his brand of vaudevillian comedy often brought down the house! Already an on-stage success, Cantor hit the airwaves with his own show on Sept. 13, 1931. His popular "impudent, irreverent" style made him a national triumph with a colossal $10,000-a-show-salary.

He continued his radio success even when he became a star on television in 1950. This collection features six digitally remastered, never-before-released complete shows from the 1942-43 season. With stars like Cary Grant, Edward G. Robinson, and of course his regulars, Dinah Shore and Bert Gordon as The Mad Russian ("How dooo you dooo?")

Our Miss Brooks

RADIO COMEDY: 1948 - 1957

As the tart-tongued English teacher of Madison High School, Eve Arden brought the role of Connie Brooks to the air. The show offered a sense of the familiar to parents, students, and most of all—teachers. Writer Al Lewis created the very human Miss Brooks with her share of problems: senseless 10th grade students, low pay, and a harried principal for a boss—Osgood Conklin (played by the marvelous Gale Gordon).

THREE PHASES OF EVE

Written by Eve Arden, this warm, witty and truthful book covers over 50 years of one of America's best-loved comedienne! But this is much more than a star's memoir. Rather, it is suffused with Eve's joy in raising her children, running her household, and her deep love of her husband of 35 years, Brooks West. Sparked with Eve Arden's own natural storytelling ability, here is a funny, yet moving, autobiography of the glamour, hard work, and thrills of life as a celebrity and popular star!

The Aldrich Family

RADIO COMEDY: 1939 - 1953

"Hen-Ree! Henry Aldrich!" "Coming, Mother" came the cracking-voiced response that began a 1/2 hr. of outrageous family comedy. Sixteen year old Henry (first played by Ezra Stone) and his best friend Homer Brown (Jackie Kelk) turned ordinary situations into hilarious predicaments. Created by writer Clifford Goldsmith in his play "What A Life," The Aldrich Family grew to become one of radio's most successful comedies.

The Abbott & Costello Show

RADIO COMEDY: 1940 - 1949

"Heeey, Abboooott!" Lou's high, panicky call usually preceded an impending disaster and the audience's hilarious laughter. One of America's funniest duos, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello teamed up in 1936. They got their "big break" on The Kate Smith Hour, where they became an instant success. The team went on to Hollywood, appearing in some 38 movies, as well as having their own radio and TV shows. They became so popular that during World War II, Bud and Lou raised a record $89 million in three days for the War Bond Drive. Their famous and still hilarious "Who's on First" skit (J787 Page 4) earned them a gold record, and the honorable distinction of being the first non-baseball playing celebrities ever to be inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame. Their clever, ageless humor continues to delight comedy connoisseurs of every age.

Lum & Abner

RADIO COMEDY: 1931 - 1954

From the hills of Arkansas, Lum Edwards (Chester Lauck) and Abner Peabody (Norris Goff) brought a mixture of down-home hillbilly comedy and silly soap opera antics to radio. For 23 years people tuned in to their continuing adventures in Pine Ridge. Lauck and Goff's "Jot 'Em Down Store" was inspired by friend Dick Huddleston's store in Waters, Arkansas. As Lum & Abner grew in popularity, Dick lead the drive to change the town's name to Pine Ridge—which it did! For 10 years, Lauck and Goff wrote, handled sound effects and played all the characters including Cedric Weehunt, Grandpappy Spears, Snake Hogan (all played by Lauck) and Squire Skimp and Mousy Gray (played by Goff). The show's green, but the simple flavor continued with the squeak of the store's screw door and Abner's catch phrase, "I doggies, Lum..."

- 1936 LUM AND ABNER OPEN A PICTURE SHOW - Lum wants to turn the old cotton warehouse into a picture show theater. 1943
LUM OPENS HIS OWN BANK - Lum's dream to be a banker comes true. But there's more to banking than he thinks. 1941$6.98
- 1937 TRUMAN'S INAUGURATION - The boys go to Washington for Truman's inauguration taking a present of a prized rooster. 1/9/49
THE BOYS GET TRICKED INTO GRAVEYARD PLOTS - Against Abner's wishes, Lum wants to move the store. 4/12/50$6.98
- 1967 NEW ADDING MACHINE - Abner worries he'll be replaced by Lum's new adding machine. 1941
MONEY TROUBLES - First 1/2-Hour Show: Lum and Abner are going to lose their store if they can't pay the taxes. 1948$6.98

Fred Allen

RADIO COMEDY: 1932 - 1949

Fred Allen was the undisputed master of the ad-lib, often throwing out his scripts during a show. He and Jack Benny (Pgs 12 & 13) began a long-running "feud" climaxed by the famous "King for a Day" skit! (1983 Pg 4) With failing health, Allen left radio in June 1949 and became a panelist on TV's "What's My Line?" until his death in 1956. A man of sharp and original wit, Allen's skills are best remembered by Jack

Benny's back-handed compliment, "You wouldn't dare talk to me that way if my writers were here."

The Jack Benny Show

RADIO COMEDY: 1932 - 1955

Well." One word was all it took for the famous Jack Benny to steal the show. Although he never wrote his own jokes, Jack knew more about delivery and timing than any other man in the business. He began as a violin player (really!). During a Naval benefit his solo bombed, so he cracked a joke... and people laughed. Jack got his own show in 1932 and was an immediate hit. The "stage" Jack Benny was stingy and vain, priding himself on his questionable violin playing and never admitting to being older than 39. The "real" Jack was kind and generous. He was the very first comedian to give major roles to his supporting cast—Eddie Anderson (Rochester), Dennis Day, Phil Harris, Mel Blanc and Mary Livingstone (his real-life wife). After 23 years of radio (See J820 for last show) and over 15 years of TV, Jack Benny has certainly become one of America's true comedic legends.

J820 THE BEST OF JACK BENNY - A half-hour of Jack's most hilarious routines. LAST RADIO SHOW! - Jack bids his farewell. A Benny collector's must! 5/22/55$6.98

J629 1ST SHOW OF THE 1954 SEASON - The cast gets together to share what they did over the summer. 9/26/54 GARDEN OF EVIL - This show aired the same day that Jack's TV program premiered. The cast "rehearses" for the evening TV show that includes Jack's rendition of the movie "The Garden of Evil." 10/3/54$6.98

J630 LUNCH AT THE DRUG STORE - Jack meets Bob Crosby at the lunch counter, and tries to get on Bob's show. 10/10/54 THE PURPLE PIRATE - Jack spends the afternoon reading a good book: "The Purple Pirate." 10/17/54$6.98

J631 RONALD COLMAN'S PARTY - Jack hasn't been invited to Colman's party, so he, Dennis and Don decide to go to a drive-in movie. 10/24/54 SPORTSMEN QUARTET - Jack fires the quartet because they won't sing the songs he wants. 10/31/54$6.98

J632 JACK GOES TO THE DOCTOR - Jack needs to get some vitamin shots, and wants to see the X-rays from his last checkup. 11/7/54 DINNER AT DON'S - Everyone goes to the Wilson's to see their anniversary presents. 11/14/54$6.98

J633 JACK IS SICK - Jack has a severe cold from his experience last week at the Wilson's house. 11/21/54 DENNIS GOES TO A PSYCHIATRIST - Jack is so exasperated with Dennis, that he takes him to a psychiatrist. 11/28/54$6.98

J634 CHRISTMAS SHOPPING - For over fifteen years, Jack has driven the same store clerk crazy. 12/5/54 PALM SPRINGS - The cast is going to Palm Springs over the holidays, and doesn't want Polly to know. 12/12/54$6.98

J635 CHRISTMAS PARTY - Jack throws a Christmas party for the cast, but his Christmas tree is an old cactus! 12/19/54 DAY AFTER CHRISTMAS - People keep dropping by Jack's house, all except Dennis, who is home with a cold. 12/26/54$6.98

J813 THE CHALLENGE - Jack sends a threatening telegram to Fred Allen. 2/5/39 THE POLAR BEAR - It's Jack's birthday, and someone has sent him a live polar bear as a present. 2/12/39$6.98

J817 TO HAVE AND HAVE NOT - Jack is really loving his rehearsal with Lauren Bacall until her husband, Humphrey Bogart, shows up. 1/5/47 I STAND CONDEMNED - Jack befriends a con man (Boris Karloff), and suddenly finds himself on death row! 1/19/47$6.98

The Whistler

RADIO MYSTERY: 1942 - 1955

Thirteen notes of a haunting whistle combine with echoing footsteps. A mysterious man approaches: "I am the Whistler... I know many strange tales, many secrets hidden in the hearts of men and women who have stepped into the shadows..." Cloaked in mystery, the Whistler (Bill Forman) was a shadowy figure who goaded the stories' murderers to their inevitable doom. Billed as "the Pacific Coast's leading mystery show," its surprise endings often included a shocking double twist that intrigued and amazed.

Suspense

RADIO MYSTERY: 1942 - 1962

Suspense, "radio's outstanding theatre of thrills," kept audiences riveted to their seats, as they listened to life-or-death stories. Each moment heightened the sensation of impending doom for the story's characters. Director William Spier (known as "the Hitchcock of the air") frequently reduced rehearsal time so stars would tense as they stepped up to the microphone, adding to the suspense. Over 20 years, Suspense grew to become the ultimate creation of mystery, intrigue and dangerous adventure.

The Saint

RADIO ADVENTURE: 1945 - 1951

Vincent Price brought Simon Templar to life as radio's The Saint. Based on author Leslie Charteris' books, this witty, high-class sleuth was popularly billed as "the Robin Hood of modern crime." Although his adventures rarely involved "robbing from the rich," The Saint frequently found himself foiling the plans of felons, murderers and smugglers.

Bold Venture

RADIO ADVENTURE: 1950 - 1951

Humphrey Bogart & Lauren Bacall faced "adventure, intrigue, mystery, and romance in the sultry settings of tropical Havana and the mysterious islands of the Caribbean." Bogart played boat and hotel owner Slate Shannon. Wife, Lauren Bacall, played Sailor Duval, a beautiful woman whose father "willed" her to Slate for protection. The charismatic chemistry of the two sizzled with their clever exchanges, dry humor and romantic innuendos. Exotic settings and exciting adventures built each week's program into a masterpiece of radio magic. During 1950 and 1951, the terrific two-some brought audiences to a mysterious world far away.

Boston Blackie

RADIO DETECTIVE: 1944 - 1950

"Enemy to those who make him an enemy, friend to those who have no friends." So was billed the memorable radio detective, Boston Blackie. Ever ready with a smart comment, he seemed to always outdo the cops, especially the local police chief, Inspector Faraday. Originally created in 1941 as a B-Movie (Meet Boston Blackie), this wily detective was brought to radio by Chester Morris—the screen Blackie—in 1944 as a summer replacement for Amos and Andy. Together with his girlfriend, Mary (Lesley Woods), Boston Blackie (later played by Dick Kollmar) solved the city's unsolvable cases with an ease that only caused Inspector Faraday embarrassment and absolutely no amount of undying gratitude!

The Falcon

RADIO MYSTERY: 1943 - 1954

"I've got to teach some gangsters that you can't get away with murder—especially since the murder they want to get away with is mine!" So stated Michael Waring, the freelance detective who became known as: The Falcon. Originally created as a series of best-selling novels and later picked up by RKO Radio Pictures as a slick movie series, The Falcon successfully moved into radio in the fall of 1943. For eleven years, the suave detective (played by James Meighan and later Les Damon) set forth on a weekly adventure filled with mystery, murder and intrigue. Street-smart, but just this side of the law himself, The Falcon always featured a surprise twist that kept listeners second-guessing "who-dun-it"

I Love Adventure

RADIO MYSTERY: 1948

Dedicated to fighting international enemies of peace, a London-based organization known mysteriously as the "Twenty-One Old Men of Grammercy Park," brings heroes Jack Packard, Doc Long and Reggie Yorke out of retirement. Having disbanded the A-1 Detective Agency at the onset of World War II, each partner receives an odd message from the "Old Men" and each succumbs to the allure of adventure. Produced by Carlton E. Morse, I Love Adventure ran from April 25 - July 18, 1948. For collectors, every show produced is available in this album. Each show brings audiences 30-minutes of excitement that only Carlton Morse could create.

I Love A Mystery

RADIO MYSTERY: 1939 - 1952

Often considered the greatest adventure series ever, lovers of fast-moving, wild plots took pleasure in the action-packed mysteries of I Love a Mystery. Created and written by Carlton E. Morse, the shows centered around the A-1 Detective Agency made up of Jack Packard, master detective; Doc Long, a fun-loving Texan; and Britisher Reggie Yorke. Death runs wild through the program with people being murdered in ghoulish, imaginative and apparently mystifying ways. With a legion of fans and an almost legendary reputation, I Love a Mystery is the ultimate in radio adventure.

T804 THE THING THAT CRIES IN THE NIGHT - Every time a baby cries, something horrible happens... but there hasn't been a baby in the house for over twenty years! (165 minutes on two tapes)$9.98

T806 BURY YOUR DEAD, ARIZONA - In one of their strangest adventures, Jack, Doc and Reggie encounter a grossly obese magician with evil powers. (178 minutes on two tapes)$9.98

T830 THE RICHARD CURSE - A family curse brings a beautiful young woman to the edge of despair as it unleashes its horror upon any man she loves. NOTE: Episode #10 (15 minutes) is missing. However, the story is fully understandable. (170 minutes on two tapes)$9.98

T815 TEMPLE OF VAMPIRES - Crashlanding in the Nicaraguan jungle, our heroes face one of the most gruesome religions in the world. NOTE: 9 of the 20 episodes are missing. In our effort to bring you this great adventure, we are including written summaries of these lost shows from Mr. Morse's actual script. (174 minutes on two tapes)$9.98

T816 BATTLE OF THE CENTURY - One of Doc's "short-cuts" leads the boys to a wealthy man's ranch in California. The plight of his daughter, "Jack Dempsey" Ross, puts all three men in the middle of a boxing ring fighting for her life... and their own! NOTE: 4 of the 18 episodes are missing. We are including written summaries of these lost shows from Mr. Morse's actual script. (165 minutes on two tapes)$9.98

Adventures By Morse

RADIO MYSTERY: 1944

"If you like high-adventure, come with me. If you like the stealth of intrigue, come with me. If you like blood and thunder, come with me." Lured by this enticing offer, millions of adventure fans tuned-in weekly to hear the latest chapter of these terror-thrillers created by the master of mystery, Carlton E. Morse. From walking corpses and prowling wolfmen to shipwrecked pirates and mysterious women, listeners accompanied San Francisco detective Captain Bart Friday and his sidekick Skip Turner as they traveled the world solving the seemingly unsolvable. Morse produced, in serial form, ten-chapter complex adventures which alternated with three chapter "mini" mysteries. This was the kind of radio writing that Morse did better than anyone, and lovers of adventure were always rewarded with thrills and excitement when they accepted Morse's offer to:

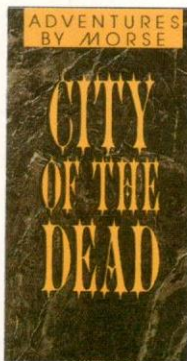

"Come with me..."

The Shadow

RADIO MYSTERY: 1930 - 1954

Cloaked by darkness, the phantom of the night answered to one name: The Shadow. With the power of invisibility and an eerie laugh that "struck terror into the very hearts of sharpsters, law-breakers and criminals," Lamont Cranston was the wealthy man with this secret identity. Originating with the voice of Orson Welles, The Shadow became an icon in the world of radio. For over 24 years, The Shadow, together with companion Margo Lane (originally played by Agnes Moorehead), sought evil-doers, dropping them in the lap of Police Commissioner Weston. From radio, The Shadow went to fame in magazines, motion pictures and comics. And through it all, the famous introduction became legendary: "Who knows what evil lurks in the hearts of men? The Shadow knows!"

Sam Spade

RADIO DETECTIVE: 1946 - 1951

Hard-boiled private eye Sam Spade attracted unusual clients like bullets to a target. His gritty San Francisco adventures were the unique creations of writer Dashiell Hammett and producer/director, William Spier. With Howard Duff in the title role (later replaced by Steve Dunne), Sam Spade was the down-to-earth flatfoot whose weekly exploits brought him just enough money and excitement to keep him in business. Each week a completed caper found Sam back in his office dictating his escapades to Effie (Lurene Tuttle), his faithful secretary. The HAIL & FAREWELL ALBUM features the final 12 episodes of the great detective Sam Spade.

Get this and get it straight. Crime is a sucker's road, and those who travel it wind up in the gutter, the prison, or the grave." Famous writer, Raymond Chandler created Phillip Marlowe (played by Van Heflin & Gerald Mohr). This tough private detective knew his business well. Here was a gumshoe whose clients ranged from ballet dancers to snake charmers. With a certain street-smart sixth sense, this detective kept himself and his business alive with a hard-nosed, but kind attitude that always kept people coming back for more.

RADIO DETECTIVE: 1936 - 1952

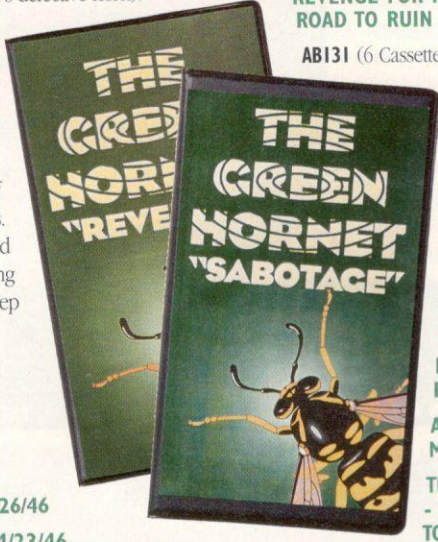

He hunts the biggest of all game, public enemies who try to destroy our America." Britt Reid, grand-nephew of The Lone Ranger and owner of the Daily Sentinel newspaper is the infamous Green Hornet (whose name was inspired by the buzzing sound from his car's defective horn).

Created by George Trendle (originator of The Lone Ranger), the Green Hornet crusaded for justice from 1936 - 1952. With an arsenal of tools that included gas guns and smokescreens, this masked avenger struck fear into the hearts of mobsters, swindlers and corrupt cops. For 16 years, The Green Hornet buzzed into homes across the country promoting law and order, while staying just one step ahead of the law himself.

Sergeant Preston of the Yukon

RADIO ADVENTURE: 1938-1955

Atop his steed Rex and accompanied by King, the swiftest and strongest lead dog in the Northwest, Sgt. Preston (Paul Sutton) brought law and order to the Canadian West. Third successful creation of George Trendle (The Lone Ranger & The Green Hornet), the show was originally called Challenge of the Yukon, but Sergeant Preston became so popular that the series' title was changed in 1953 to include his name. Crooks, bushwackers and villains never stood a chance against this man/dog team who, for 17 years, "always got their man."

Hermit's Cave

RADIO MYSTERY: 1940 - 1944

“G hhoosstt stories...
weeiirrd stories...
And murders too! The Hermit knows of them
all. Turrrrrnnn out your lights!” The Hermit's words forewarned listeners of the night's entertainment—a half-hour of horror. Mel Johnson introduced each show as the Hermit, and from his eerie echoing voice to the slashing and chopping of victims, story and sound effects fed the imagination with a taste of terror.

War Of The Worlds

OCTOBER 30, 1938

SOUND BITE
http://www.aic-radio.com

The most famous single radio show ever broadcast!

On a foggy fall evening in October, America went to war with Mars! Normal programming was interrupted as listeners heard the startling news that there were “explosions occurring on the Planet Mars!” Reports followed stating that a “huge, flaming object” had fallen to Earth on a farm near Grover's Mill, New Jersey. More landings were soon reported and a frightened radio audience concluded that Earth was under invasion by aliens! This is the program that terrified a nation. Thousands fled their homes in panic. In the town of Grover's Mill, the local water tower was pumped full of buckshot as frightened believers fired at what they thought was a giant Martian war machine. The true power of broadcast made itself known on this Halloween-eve. And no one has forgotten the chilling fear and awesome force of radio.

J609 WAR OF THE WORLDS - The 1938 original, uncut dramatization of H.G. Wells' horror story of the Martian invasion of Earth. Written for radio by Howard Koch & starring Orson Welles.....$6.98
CD053 WAR OF THE WORLDS. Also available on Compact Disc!$8.98

Dimension X

SCIENCE FICTION: 1950-1951

“Adventures in time and space told in future tense.” This theme introduced Dimension X, one of the first major science fiction radio series for adults. Although earlier radio programs created some superior science-fiction shows (see War of the Worlds above!), it was Dimension X that produced weekly entertainment of a futuristic nature. From Ray Bradbury to Isaac Asimov, quality stories were adapted for the radio by in-house script writer Ernest Kinoy.

Gunsmoke

RADIO WESTERN: 1952-1961

Around Dodge City and territories on west, there's just one way to handle the killers and the spoilers—and that's with a U.S. Marshall and the smell of gunsmoke." Enter Marshall Matt Dillon, a hard man with his own personal code of conduct. Played by William Conrad, the Marshall was the center of a first class radio show—a Western made for adults with vivid stories of violence and death. From the writing and acting to the music and sound effects, every part of this program was top notch. Fans came to know the walk of deputy Chester Proudfoot, the sounds of Kitty's saloon, and the opening of Doc Adams' medical bag. Every Saturday and Sunday for nine years Dodge City came alive with the sounds of gunmen and cowboys, horses and cattle, and adventure in the Old West.

Tales of the Texas Rangers

RADIO WESTERN: 1950-1952

Branding the Texas Rangers as "the oldest and most famous law enforcement body in North America," Stacy Keach produced and directed this show of the modern West. Premiering in July 1950, popular cowboy star Joel McCrea played the role of Ranger Jace Pearson. He, together with only 50 other Rangers, enforced law and order in the 266,807 square miles of hot, dusty Texas turf. For over three years, these authentic re-enactments of actual Texas Ranger case histories were a weekly ritual for law-abiding Western fans.

Hopalong Cassidy

RADIO WESTERN: 1950-1952

A straight-shootin' knight of the range dressed in black, Hopalong Cassidy was a national sensation. This cowboy detective show was distinctive in that it seldom let listeners know the identity of the bad guys until Hoppy tripped them up and brought them to justice. Opening for two years to "the ring of the silver spurs," Hoppy became such a popular character that TIME Magazine reported a national shortage of black dye due to the demand for Hoppy shirts and pants!

YOUR FAVORITE WESTERNS! 1-800-328-0108

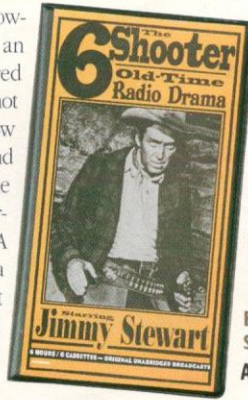

The Six Shooter

RADIO WESTERN: 1953 - 1954

Jimmy Stewart was perfect for the part of the slow-talking gunfighter, Britt Ponset. Here was an easy-going gentleman who usually blundered into other people's troubles and sometimes shot his way out. The announcer opened the show with: "The man in the saddle is angular and long legged; his skin is sun-dyed brown. The gun in his holster is gray steel and rainbow mother-of-pearl. People call them both The Six Shooter." A "folksy" Western series, this show also embedded a comedic feel in its stories. Although truly a bright spot in radio Westerns, it arrived too late and lasted only one season. With the last show, the sun set in a brilliant flare of Western adventure.

6-TAPE COLLECTION INCLUDES:

Have Gun, Will Travel

RADIO WESTERN: 1958 - 1960

If the girl who's being held prisoner has been harmed in any way, I'll flip a coin to see which one I gun down first." Each show began with this type of short, threatening exchange by lead character, Paladin (John Dehner). Immediately listeners knew this was a no-nonsense man with a fast gun and a short temper. Paladin did the dirty work others wouldn't do—for a hefty price. An audio oddity, Have Gun was one of the few shows that originated on TV and later transferred to radio. A man who delivered excitement and adventure, Paladin became the Western soldier of fortune whom audiences cheered.

RADIO HISTORY: 1940 - 1945

Franklin Delano Roosevelt led the United States through a period of time that Americans will forever remember. An era of fear and hardships combined with an excitement and camaraderie that pulled our country together in a way as no other. FDR became our figurehead.

A man of calm, powerful spirit. A father. A decision-maker. A leader. During World War II people gathered by their radios to hear the voice from the White House. He rallied the nation over the airwaves, bringing understanding and confidence to Americans when they needed it the most. Here is history in the making. Here is FDR.

The Academy Awards

RADIO DRAMA: 1946

This exclusive show required the highest standards in its programming: either the stars or the movie on which it was based must have won or been nominated for an Academy Award.

These dramas specialized in top talent, original musical scores and superior sound effects. Sadly, the high production costs which made Academy Awards so popular, also effectively caused its demise after only 9 months.
