(From Gary Yoggy) The document that I quoted from in my presentation on the radio coverage of Pearl Harbor purporting to be a Dec. 8, 1941 broadcast by Edward R. Murrow has been discovered to be actually an article written for the NATIONAL REVIEW by Victor Davis Hanson. He used the device to "lampoon" calls for understanding and cautious diplomacy rather than military action in response to the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks. Murrow was technically "on vacation" in Washington at that time and made no broadcast on that date although he had been personally briefed by FDR while visiting the White House for dinner the night before. Unfortunately, I received this document as an email from a trusted colleague at another institution and although I could not verify it from the published broadcasts of Murrow neither could I disprove it so I used it. Never will I make such a mistake again!!! There are "Urban Legend" web sites to check such information and I will use them in the future. My apologies for misleading anyone who attended my presentation.

PUBLICATIONS RECEIVED: A complete list of publications mentioned with addresses, contact people, etc. is one of the introductory pages in my current Ultimate History. It is also part of a small package mailed with your first Hello Again. If you don't have one, email me for it and I will email it to you. If you don't have email, please send me a SASE for it.
