COLLECTING OLD RADIO SHOWS

In radio's hey day most of the shows were done live, but transcription discs were made of the shows by stations on the networks to be rebroadcasted at another time of day. The only link with the actual shows were these transcription discs. When television took over as the number one entertainment medium and many radio stations converted most of their facilities to television equipment, these discs were discarded. Some were lost forever; some fell into the hands of collectors via antique shops, junkyards, private record collections, etc.; and yet some others remain never to be heard again, in network vaults and university libraries. Every once in a while a new disc is uncovered and finds its way to the libraries of collectors. Some collectors, like myself, found that the cost of tapes, recorders, repairs, and copies of newly discovered shows were more than they could afford, so we took to copying our shows on tape by request for small profits to sustain our hobby. Now that a hobby has grown into a small business, we invite you to enjoy the new entertaining hobby of collecting old radio shows.

Besides recording shows complete with commercials (when available), we will attempt to answer questions about old radio shows either from our own library or from information available from other collectors. In many cases, we can tell you the names of the actors, writers, producers, etc. of your favorite show, as well as try to locate a copy of particular shows that are not in our catalog. For instance, in the show "Michael Shayne, Private Detective"; were you aware that Jeff Chandler played the leading role? If so, how about this: Eve Arden played "Our Miss Brooks"; but did you realize that the shy biology teacher, Mr. Boyton, was played by Jeff Chandler?

When you start your radio show collection, you will fast realize the difference between radio and television. One word: Imagination. Can you tell me what the Green Hornet (Brit Reed) really looked like? Each of us in describing him would come out with a description that suited the character to our own imagination. Not so on television.

Once you start collecting old radio shows, you will undoubtedly acquire shows that we don't have. When that time comes, we would be willing to trade shows with you on an hour for hour basis upon receipt of your catalog and requests.

Welcome to our world. Return with us now to those thrilling days of yesteryear, when from out of the past came the thundering hoofbeats of the great horse, Silver. The Lone Ranger rides again.

SOUND QUALITY

Since most of these shows originated during the 30's, 40's and 50's, the quality of recordings during that era left something to be desired by today's standards. Each show in this catalog has been listened to in its entirety to determine the overall sound quality and story content.

Very Good - Overall quality is very good and approaches excellent, but minor background noise may be heard in a small segment of broadcast, volume may flutter or other non-objectionable interference for a short period. Approaches broadcast quality.

Good/Very Good - Enjoyable listening.

Good - Background noise or scratches are pronounced and can be heard throughout the show. The show can be heard and understood, but great attention has to be paid to the recording. Recommended for collectors who require the particular show or episode for their collection.

Fair - Noise overrides program and show can only be heard with great difficulty and may fade in and out. Not recommended for any but the most serious of collectors of particular show.

Poor - Quality of show is such that you can just about tell that it is there.

According to these standards, you will find that most shows in this catalog will be slightly underrated to protect ourselves, since shows are constantly dubbed from master reels and after a time, the quality of the show may change as the tape wears. When this happens, we attempt to spot the flaw and redub the show from our second set of masters.

Any other recording technique or speed than those mentioned will be given on a quote basis upon receipt of specifications.

Enjoy your browsing. Hope that the contents of this catalog revives some old memories of some old friends and introduces you to other shows of radio's golden age that you may have missed.

Orders are filled as promptly as possible. Any order not received within a three-week period may be assumed not to have gotten to us.

Payment - Individuals ordering shows must submit payment with their order. Educational institutions may order on a purchase order system and purchase order must indicate catalog numbers or reel numbers. We will invoice order when shipped. New York State residents must enclose appropriate sales tax.

OUR GAL SUNDAY

Sunday Brinthrope heard on
CBS 12:45 P.M.

CAST: Sunday and her husband, Lord Henry Brinthrope, who live at Black Swan Hall, in Fairbrooke, Virginia; Lewis Carter, his crippled daughter Hazel, and his brilliant ward, Joyce Irwin; Florence, Carter's wife, just released from a mental hospital; Roy Kingsley, the mysterious stranger who was kind to Hazel—until he saw Joyce; Clifford Steale, an insistent suitor of Joyce's. BACKGROUND: Everyone, including Joyce, is shocked when Lewis Carter's devotion to her is finally revealed as a romantic attachment, instead of the fatherly affection it seemed to be. It is particularly upsetting in view of Florence Carter's recent return to a normal life, full of hope that it will be a happy one. RECENTLY: The tragedy which Sunday fears finally strikes. Joyce Irwin falls to her death from a hotel window in nearby Richmond. Everyone assumes she killed herself in remorse over coming between Carter and his wife . . . everyone but Sunday, whose firm conviction that Joyce was murdered is triumphantly vindicated when she helps to expose the murderer.

PEPPER YOUNG'S FAMILY

Peggy Trent
heard on
NBC 3:30 P.M.

CAST: Pepper Young, the red-headed boy who grew up to be Mayor of Elmwood; Linda, his wife; Peggy, his sister, wife of Carter Trent; Dad Young, who hopes Mother Young won't tell Carter's wealthy, strong-willed mother, Mrs. Ivy Trent, what she thinks of her; Edie, who firmly believes that Andy, her husband, is still alive though he's been missing over a year after a plane crash in South America. BACKGROUND: When Mother Young sees Ivy Trent maneuver her secretary out of what might be a happy love affair with pilot Jerry Feldman, she explodes. Now things can never be the same. RECENTLY: Ivy Trent persuades tough Gil and his long-suffering wife, Min, to come to Elmwood for a while. She gives Gil some money, feeling vaguely that it's wise to have him available for anything she might want him to do. Bored with Elmwood, Gil arranges for his extra-marital girl friend, Sadie, to come on Chicago. What will happen when Min finally rebels? And what of the search for Andy, which is still going on down in South America?

PERRY MASON

Perry Mason
heard on
CBS 2:15 P.M.

CAST: Perry Mason, sharp-witted lawyer-detective; Della Street, his secretary; Martha and Don Smith, his clients, now standing trial for the murder of blackmailer Wilfred Palmer; Allyn Whitlock, a willful girl completely corrupted by her association with a peculiar man named Walter Bodt; Audrey Beekman, desperate with fear that her hard-won happiness will be destroyed if her husband, Ed, learns she was involved with Palmer. BACKGROUND: In spite of Perry and his colleague, Paul Drake, Martha is indicted for Palmer's murder, with Don named as her accomplice. The most hopeful clue Perry has so far is a glove . . . a glove which Audrey, from its picture in the newspapers, recognizes as her own. RECENTLY: Hysterically, Audrey visits Martha in jail and extracts a promise that Martha will not reveal that Audrey, too, was being blackmailed by Palmer, and can testify to Martha's innocence, unless there is no other way for Martha to save herself. But is anyone safe while Allyn Whitlock is still at large?

PORTIA FACES LIFE

Connie Abbott
heard on
NBC 5:15 P.M.

CAST: Portia Manning, a lawyer, whose heart-breaking present assignment is the defense of her husband, Walter, who stands accused of the murder of Joan Ward; Clint Marley, the district attorney whose admiration for Portia leads him to press for Walter's conviction; Dickie, Portia's son, who was forced to reveal evidence which he knows helped build the case against Walter; Connie Abbott, a waitress who owes Portia a debt of gratitude, and pays it by trying to clear Walter. BACKGROUND: As circumstantial evidence piles up around Walter, even Murray Lathrop, the lawyer with whom Portia is working, decides his client is guilty and withdraws from the case. RECENTLY: Connie Abbott knows that if Nick Evans can be persuaded, or paid, to tell the truth Walter will be out of danger, for Nick's story can prove that Steve Ward, the dead woman's husband, has no alibi for the time of the murder. But can Connie and Kathy Baker raise the five hundred dollars without which Nick will not reveal what he knows?
