APPLAUDS:

Connie Boswell's Courage

IN SHEER personal heroism, no radio or movie star can touch Connie Boswell. Here is a girl who has surmounted all of the ordinary obstacles to stardom and at the same time waged a gallant and never-ceasing fight against physical handicap. Many know the story of how Connie, hurt in a childhood accident, grew up to win fame with her two sisters, first in vaudeville, then in radio. Few can know the behind-the-scenes drama of this dauntless girl's struggle not only to become a singer but to live her life fully and well, as these photographs prove. For her inspiring example, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE applauds courageous Connie Boswell.

CONNIE has developed her own tennis-playing technique (left), calls it "polo tennis." Every morning the "Kraft Music Hall" (Thurs.) singer has a workout on the court, with either husband Harry Leedy or brother-in-law Bennie surprisingly busy at the serving end

HER INDOMITABLE will plus a native enthusiasm for outdoor life has enabled Connie, injured by a childhood accident, to live a fuller, more fun-filled life than many unhandicapped people. Right: As she swings, her dog Buzz decides he's part of the show, too

The Editors' Note:

Movie-Radio Guide proudly presents on this week's cover page Betty Rhodes, singing star of radio, screen and television. Featured as "First Lady of Television" on W6XAO, television station in Hollywood, star of KHJ-Mutual Don Lee's "Adventures in Rhythm," she is now appearing in Paramount's "Sing a Song of Homicide"

THIS WEEK: As you read this week's issue, war still continues to make the headlines. All around you, young men are leaving to serve their country. Not the least of these, nor the greatest, is one Wayne Morris, movie actor. About three years ago, fresh out of school, this big, grinning, clumsy athlete came to Hollywood, signed a movie contract. In a year he was among the established movie males, earning $750 a week. Life was easy. He took it in stride, married a wealthy girl, did most of the things that help make Hollywood a fantastic place. It was said of Morris that if he ever decided to "grow up" he'd be a fine man. He's grown up now. He's an ensign in the U. S. Navy. He's darned happy to be one. He'll be a better actor and a better man when he returns. (Picture, page 1.)

From time to time, editors of Movie-Radio Guide have reminded its readers that no publication covers the Hollywood and radio news front more completely or quickly than this publication. Fresh evidence of this fact is seen in the first pictures from Clark Gable's new film, "Honky Tonk," and the first published photos of Rita Hayworth dancing with Fred Astaire. On the radio front the editors invite your perusal of Movie-Radio Guide's new Theatre of the Air, which presents some of the unusual dramatic offerings of the summer broadcasting season. Last week the new radio version of Rose Franken's famous Redbook story, "Claudia," was introduced. This week (page 37) it's Irene Rich's "Dear John," with a re-enactment of the current story in pictures. Not to be overlooked by Gene Autry fans are exclusive photographs of the famous movie-radio cowboy at his unusual Hollywood home.

NEXT WEEK: Another scoop picture of the type you'll want to save is a surprise picture of Claudette Colbert which will headline next week's issue. To the first reader who tells us the identity of the soldier who holds Claudette in his arms, the editors will send a beautiful autographed picture of her. You'll want to read the story of "Dorothy Lamour's South Seas Romance," and the amusing picture feature on popular Judy Canova of movie and radio fame called "Puddin' Head Gets Her Man."

Next week in radio there will be a pictorial look-in on "Plantation Party," the most complete feature on this popular air comedy yet to appear. We think you'll get a good laugh over pictures of Kay Kyser, Ginny Simms, Ish Kabibble and company frolicking on their day off.

Something to really watch for in a coming issue of Movie-Radio Guide is a story titled, "What is Lindbergh Fighting For?" It will present some unusual pictures of the American about whom there are so many violent pro and con discussions—and give you a chance to make your own opinion about him known. Don't miss it!

A Movie Star's Invitation to WAR!

PICTURED here is MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE's exclusive photograph of Wayne Morris and his fiancée, Patricia Stewart, snapped at Charlie Foy's just as Wayne received his call from the Navy Department—via airmail—ordering him to report for active duty. Wayne appears genuinely happy over the prospect of Uncle Sam's summons, while Patricia's best effort seems only half-hearted. With Morris having reported for duty on June 26, the wedding plans of this love-locked couple are pretty indefinite. Between Uncle Sam and the fact that Wayne's divorce from Lenora "Bubbles" Schinasi, cigarette heiress, does not become final until September, the aisle-traipsing ceremony leaves a lot to the future.

Wayne reported for duty as an ensign in the Naval Reserve and has been assigned to the aviation selection procurement division of the Naval Base at Long Beach, Calif. He had just completed the picture, "The Smiling Ghost," for Warner Bros. Since 1936, when he made his first picture, "China Clipper," Morris has continuously been a box-office asset to the Warner Bros.' studios. One of his most popular films was "Submarine D-1," which may give an inkling as to how he will fare in Uncle Sam's Navy even though his actual activities will be in the air corps. At any rate, it's the salt air for that salt of the earth guy—Wayne Morris. So now it will be the theme "Anchors Aweigh!"

EXCLUSIVE:

Clark Gable - Frontier Rhett Butler

PICKING UP a lace hanky is enough pretext for Candy to make acquaintance of Elizabeth Cotton (Lana Turner). Gable plays romantic rogue similar to Rhett Butler role

ACTION APLENTY runs through "Honky Tonk." Above: Gable, as Candy Johnson, appears nonchalant as the judge (Frank Morgan) pours drink and looks toward door

CANDY becomes alert and the judge stiffens as Brazos Hearn, self-appointed sheriff (played by Albert Dekker), enters saloon owned by him

HEARN asks Candy to light his cigar, but Candy, wise to the ways of gunmen, refuses to be tricked into such disadvantage

HEARN starts to walk away, but wheels to shoot. Candy, sensing the ruse, shoots Hearn's gun out of his hand before the other can fire. Note gun-smoke at left is produced by hidden propman

To News Desk:

ACTING on your assignment, I packed my cameras out to the Metro lot, stage 10, and after going through the swinging doors of Brazos Hearn's Placer Saloon and Gambling Emporium, I found what you had expected—that Clark Gable had donned a costume almost identical to the one he wore in "Gone With the Wind." Only this time, in M-G-M's "Honky Tonk," he's a sort of frontier Rhett Butler.

Director Jack Conway was studying a scene with Gable and Albert Dekker. Gable was in a genial mood (they say he always is), and was all for playing practical jokes. In this scene, Dekker, who plays Hearn in the picture, has a minor shooting scrape with Clark and comes out second best. I took pictures showing how the sequence works out.

Gable Has His Joke

When they rehearsed, Gable kept ribbing. Pointing his six-shooter at Dekker, he chortled, "Ain't it fun pretendin'?" Conway had them go through the action several times and worked out just how Gable was to outdraw Dekker. When they were ready to shoot the scene, Gable cracked, "After this, I suppose we'll get the chase—gallop, gallop!" and he slapped his thighs for sound-effects.

One trick Gable set up for Dekker failed to click. He loaded a blank into a tiny lady's single-shot pistol and concealed the midget weapon in his palm. During dress rehearsal of the scene he tried to fire it at Dekker, but he couldn't get his finger around the little trigger. The joke was on Gable.

Gable Talks Hunting

There was a lot of red-blooded hunting talk on this set. Everyone knows what a huntsman Gable is. Devoted to the sport also are Jack Conway, the director, and Frank Morgan, who plays the role of Lana Turner's drunken father. Gable and his wife, Carole Lombard, had returned from a hunting-trip to the Northwest just prior to the start of the filming of this picture, and Gable's whole appearance was a credit to the great outdoors.

Gable Spikes Rumor

And incidentally, if there happen to be any of those vicious Hollywood rumors filtering their way around to the effect that all is not well in the Gable-Lombard household, there were a few remarks overheard that should spike all such rumors. Seems that Gable belongs to an exclusive duck club near Hollywood. However, the membership is strictly for males. On the set Gable was offering to sell his membership to Frank Morgan. Clark enjoys his hunting, but he enjoys it most with his wife, and that's the way it is going to be!

Gable Kisses; Actress Blushes!

One of Gable's favorite hunting-partners is also taking part in this picture. He's Harry Fleischmann of the Fleischmann's Yeast family. The Gables are frequent visitors at his hunting-lodge near Bakersfield, California. Harry Fleischmann has his first motion-picture role, as a barkeeper, in this film.

Also working in her first picture, a young actress got the thrill of her life. Cleo Manning of Youngstown, N. Y., was the girl, and here's how it happened: In her part she's in the Placer Saloon when Gable ambles in to call on Brazos Hearn (Dekker). Clark is supposed to recognize her in the story and he does so by going over and planting a kiss on her lips. So beginner Cleo got kissed by the screen's greatest two-fisted lover in her very first picture! When it happened she blushed as prettily as any young schoolgirl in her first game of post-office. And one of the cameramen on the Metro sound-stage commented, "It's a good thing this picture isn't in Technicolor!"

GABLE in action as gambler-gunman and man's man is pictured at extreme left (1) as he appears in scene from "Honky Tonk." Candy (Gable) and his pal Sniper (Chill Wills) incur the wrathful disfavor of the townspeople, who strip the pair to the waist and cook up a batch of tar to tar and feather them (2). Candy goes into action (3), scattering feathers in the air and blinding captors. (4) Candy (left) and Sniper grab the local blacksmith, hold him as shield and hostage to make their escape from the townfolk's violence

SPOTLIGHT: Rita Hayworth Proves
SHE CAN DANCE!

To News Desk:

RITA HAYWORTH, who originally was signed by the movies because a 20th Century-Fox executive saw her dancing at Agua Caliente, and then put one of her pretty feet down on dancing roles in pictures, dances, but good, with the great Fred Astaire in her new Columbia picture, "You'll Never Get Rich." Yet how could Rita be any less than a good dancer, considering the fact that she is the third generation of the famous family known as the Dancing Cansinos?

Rita had a natural background as an expert rumba and tango dancer, but this she wanted to forget in order to become a dramatic actress. She proved her dramatic ability beyond a doubt during the past year in "Angels Over Broadway," "Strawberry Blonde" and "Blood and Sand." But when the opportunity came for her to be co-starred with Fred Astaire in "You'll Never Get Rich," Rita jumped at the opportunity, and it was perhaps Mr. Astaire who viewed the prospect of his new partner with trepidation.

Astaire Worried at First

Astaire checked into the Columbia lot ten weeks ahead of the start of the picture in order to limber up and rehearse. There isn't any doubt that he was worried about Miss Hayworth. Fred confided to friends that there are a great many actresses who can dance but are not natural rhythmic dancers, as he likes his partners to be.

For five weeks Fred practised by himself and started working with Hayworth into double numbers he had worked out. Within two or three days after Fred began working with Rita, he and Bob Alton, dance director of the picture, were enthusiastic about the lady's ability.

He found that whereas it ordinarily takes him about ten days to two weeks to work out a double number with a girl, it required but five days to work out the big rumba number with Rita.

Finds Rita No Quitter

Probably the one quality Fred has discovered and admires most about Hayworth is that she never calls quits or admits she is tired out after rehearsing or dancing five to six hours at a time.

Despite the tiresome work, however, Rita has gone right along taking her dramatic lessons at night, even after grueling days on the dance-rehearsal stage. She intends to improve her acting until she is acknowledged a great actress—and already it is easy to see that Fred Astaire thinks she is a great dancer. In the new picture there are three big numbers where the pair work together. Each one is long. They prove that Rita can do not only her natural rumba and tango but tap, boogie-woogie, riff and ballet steps.

Her first double number is "Boogie Barcarole," pictured in part on this page. Second is a rumba, danced to Cole Porter's "So Near and Yet So Far." The third—grand finale—is the "Wedding Cake Walk"; it lasts six and one-half minutes.

Yes, in "You'll Never Get Rich" Rita Hayworth will prove to you that she is a great dancer. She has already convinced Fred, and her Grandpa Cansino is a happy old man. —C. S.

PAULETTE GODDARD, above, and Ginger Rogers, right, both satisfied Fred Astaire as partners

"BOOGIE BARCAROLE" is the first joint Astaire-Hayworth dance number in "You'll Never Get Rich." Rita, as showgirl Sheila, a member of the chorus that is in rehearsal, makes blunders and missteps as a ruse to attract the attention of the dance director, Astaire (picture 1 in above strip). He calls her out to give her individual instruction. Then, going through steps with him (shown in pictures 2, 3 and 4), she has a chance to demonstrate to him—and, more important, the public—her real terpsichorean proficiency

SPOTLIGHT: Eleanor Powell Proves
SHE CAN ACT!

To News Desk:

ELEANOR POWELL has long been acknowledged as an expert dancer of tap and ballet, and as such has been a valuable asset to the M-G-M Studios for the past six years. But Metro's publicity department is frank to confess that Miss Powell is "hard to sell." That means top-ranking syndicate columnists and magazine writers are disinterested in writing stories about her.

The reason is twofold. First, while Eleanor is a sweet girl and a good friend, she is shy and retiring. That doesn't get her publicity. Second, many critics have become convinced that Eleanor can't act. Maybe she couldn't up to now, but times have changed.

In "Lady Be Good," which will carve a new notch in Ann ("Maisie") Sothorn's career because of her excellent singing, Miss Powell likewise demonstrates that she has learned something more about acting. In fact, in talking to M-G-M executives about Eleanor's future, I learned that not only have they become convinced by "Lady Be Good" that she has acting talents hitherto unrevealed but that they intend to make the most of them in her next starring picture, "I'll Take Manila."

Dancing a Shyness-Remedy

Miss Powell's shyness goes back to her childhood. Strangely enough, her exaggerated modesty was the underlying cause of her dancing-career!

Shortly after her birth, Eleanor's father died, and her mother soon found that her quiet, studious child was afraid of other youngsters and of life in general. Realizing the handicap must be overcome, her mother sent Eleanor, when she was six years old, to Ralph McKernan's dancing-school in Springfield, Mass. Gradually Eleanor lost her self-consciousness.

When Eleanor was thirteen years old, Mrs. Powell took her to Atlantic City for a vacation, and the child was spotted by Gus Edwards as she was doing an acrobatic dance on the beach. That was the accidental manner in which her career began.

But despite the many Broadway hits and motion pictures in which she was given star billing since that time, much of her childhood shyness remained.

Dog Convinces Eleanor

Eleanor Powell knows she is a good dancer, but she hasn't been too sure of her acting. A romantic interest recently (Merrill Pye), which is budding into matrimony, and the sideline cheering she has been receiving while making "Lady Be Good" are helping to make her more certain of her dramatic ability.

And her working with such intrepid scene-stealers as Ann Sothorn, Robert Young, John Carroll and Red Skelton—in the cast of "Lady Be Good"—has likewise built up her confidence.

Perhaps another convincer that clinched the argument and made her realize that good acting is easy was the performance of the screen's first acting-dancing dog, Buttons. The dog didn't mind the directors, script-girls, extras or camera a bit, but went right through its bag of tricks for a sensational scene with Eleanor.—E. P.

UNPRECEDENTED on the screen is the dance routine done in "Lady Be Good" by Eleanor Powell and the new acting-dancing canine sensation, Buttons. The dog is fox terrier and beagle, was trained by a young studio property-boy, Jackie Ackerman. In the picture strip above some of the Powell-Buttons highlight scenes are depicted. In picture 1 it's a raucous romp. The next shot (2) shows a dance step on steps, a la Bill Robinson. In picture 3 Eleanor works out a number using cigarettes, a phonograph record and turntable while Buttons holds dancing mannequin. At bottom (4) Buttons shows off for Miss Powell and Ann Sothorn (standing)

ELEANOR POWELL proves by her work in "Lady Be Good" (in which she appears with Ann Sothorn and Robert Young) that she has developed a substantial range of dramatic talent to add to her superb dancing-ability. Below, left, Miss Powell, as a dancer named Marilyn Marsh, takes the stand in a courtroom scene, with Tom Conway asking the questions. Above, Eleanor dresses and acts with especially bewitching effect in some of the scenes of this picture. Below, she turns her charm with romantic results on John Carroll, playing the part of a crooner. At bottom, Eleanor reveals depth in love-scenes with crooner boy friend

Movie-Radio Guide
PAYS A VISIT TO:

The Greatest Child Star Since Shirley Temple

CAROLYN REALLY likes milk. Remember, in "Virginia" she said to her black sheep, "Don't drink so fast, Blackie, or I'll have to burp you"? If you've forgotten, Carolyn hasn't. She drinks her milk slowly and once ate spinach with relish because director Edward Griffith told her it would give her blond hair like Madeleine Carroll. To date the formula has failed, she says

To Feature Desk:
CAROLYN LEE Copp, who dropped her last name for Paramount Studios but copped "Virginia" away from Madeleine Carroll, Fred MacMurray and Stirling Hayden, had just completed "Birth of the Blues" with Bing Crosby and Mary Martin when your reporter received her invitation to visit with her.

And since Carolyn, who turned seven years of age on June 5, had smashed so many box-office records with her second picture (her first was "Honeymoon in Bali," made at the age of five), I accepted most enthusiastically.

You see, Miss Lee is a young lady who is difficult to catch in Hollywood. As soon as she finishes a picture, her mother, Evelyn Landers Copp, packs her back to Martins Ferry, Ohio, right across the river from Wheeling, West Virginia, where Daddy Warren Copp is an engineer with a steel company. That really makes it nice two ways—Daddy Copp doesn't get so lonely and Carolyn doesn't "go Hollywood!"

Eye for Business
"How do you do, Mr. Plummer," the unspoiled youngster returned our introduction. "Do you know anything about farms?" I didn't know enough, so I refused to be trapped. "She's figuring out a money-making scheme," her mother explained. "Carolyn thought first she could get a dog and sell puppies, but Butch, our mongrel, didn't have any, so next she heard that bunnies multiply rapidly. However, she coaxed the manager of the apartment hotel into letting her turn it into a rabbit farm. Then someone else told Carolyn that guinea pigs have larger families—so they're next."

What Carolyn does not know is that she's guaranteed $1,250 a week for thirty weeks annually by Paramount—and nearly every untaxed cent of it is being held in trust for her. Carolyn's contract was approved by the Superior Court in Los Angeles and permits her to spend six weeks after each picture with her parents.

Dad Relents
The pretty little seven-year-old youngster's screen career began three years ago when a friend sent her picture to Y. Frank Freeman, Paramount executive, who arranged an interview, a test and a contract. Carolyn dazzled one and all by her performance and her ability to recite lines. After her first film Mr. Copp took his daughter home and said, "To blazes with Hollywood's fame and gold." He wanted her home with him. However, Edward H. Griffith, director of "Virginia," after a long argument, succeeded in persuading Carolyn's parents into letting her return to the screen.

Carolyn has been treated like an adult all her short life and has done a great deal of traveling. This, plus her camera-like recording eyes and steel-trap brain that snares every new word no matter how big, has raised her intelligence to at least a twelve-year-old's level.

Relaxes With Make-Believe
Despite Carolyn's fame, she's still a typical seven-year-old. Though it's hard work to make movies, once she returns home she sheds her acting worries immediately and starts playing "house" in the most traditional make-believe spirit. This relaxes her and keeps her natural. She has never seen "Honeymoon in Bali" and not even a frame of "Virginia." She is afraid she won't like herself (like Bette Davis and Margaret Sullivan).

Oh, yes, she's left handed.
But I have to stop here. Carolyn just asked me, "How big does a chimpanzee grow?" and I don't know . . . By the way, how big does one grow?
—E. P.

NEWSPAPER AND PUBLICITY men, especially those who print her picture, are Carolyn's favorites. Ralph Huston, her Paramount publicity pal, performs one of his duties, reads funnies

RIGHT: Discussing her two turtles—a red one named Jack Benny, the yellow one Charlie McCarthy—Carolyn said, "Jack Benny can beat Charlie McCarthy in a race." (Comment: Benny has been ahead of McCarthy for audience-rating this year also.) Left: Writing Daddy About typewriter she says, "I know just where my fingers go"

1. ONE OF THE MOST natural youngsters off-stage, Carolyn Lee was told just to be herself and give Movie-Radio Guide readers an idea of how she spends the day. This she did by donning her play clothes, becoming an average youngster

2. PUTTING ON HER cowboy boots, she pointed to a cut-out design on one and remarked: "See the bunion place? There's a place for a bunion if you get one." This picture gives an idea of the size of Paramount's "big" star

3. JUST SEVEN, Carolyn is learning fast. Intrigued by her picture dictionary for children, she studies it and copies words, which are illustrated by pictures. Not so keen about fixing her hair properly, she commented, "I hope I don't look like a ragamuffin"

4. HERE'S THE $1,250-a-week, seven-year-old profile nose-deep in study. Carolyn's really interested in books and papers, especially those publishing her picture. She once "held up" an eastern publisher for a color page and got it

5. CONTINUING HER make-believe, Carolyn Lee recalled that in ten days she and her mother would leave Hollywood for their home in Martins Ferry, Ohio. She carefully packed her bag, then dressed, this time taking pains to fix her hair

6. ALL SET, CAROLYN takes "baby" and pays good-bay call to girl next door, one of her "dearest" friends. It was fun to eavesdrop, for Dorothy, the girl next door, caught onto make-believe immediately and conversed with Carolyn in adult manner

NOT GABLE NOT GARLAND NOT COLBERT
 NOT CRAWFORD NOT DIETRICH
 STARS OF THE YEAR: But ABBOTT and COSTELLO
 NOT LAMARR NOT DURBIN NOT LAMOUR NOT LOY

This is Costello
 He hails from New Joisey

This is Abbott
 Born under a circus tent

HOLLYWOOD has had its Shirley Temples, Garbos, Gables, Hedy Lamarrs, but never has there been such an utter phenomenon as the team of Abbott and Costello. In answer to a deluge of requests, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE tells the story of the two crazy men who are bringing the public back to movie houses.

The Abbott-Costello act was born of a ten-year rummy game. They met in Brooklyn's Empire Theater. Bud was cashier and Lou an actor. Friendly gab led to rummy and it became an interminable game.

Their constant state of conversational upheaval in early games drew them together. They got a kick out of seeing people misled by their squabbles. This brought the realization that their pointless, endless arguments might be the making of a fine vaudeville act. It was!

Costello's straight man took ill and Abbott was drafted. Despite the brief rehearsal, they clicked so well that Lou had no trouble persuading

Bud to join him in his act.

It happened after the 1929 era, when Costello was eased out of movies with the birth of talkies and Abbott lost his shirt in the depression. For seven years they kicked about "small time" with the same acts which later became their fortune. Previously when off the payroll they usually rehearsed near Times Square, offering their act to passers-by gratis!

Finally Dame Fortune smiled. Jesse Kaye, booker of New York City's Roxy's Theater, after avoiding Abbott and Costello, took a chance on their low-born comedy. Since then—that was three years ago—it's been a regular comic invasion for Abbott and Costello. Star billing in their first film wasn't the first time they grabbed the spotlight for an initial endeavor. They were starred in their first legitimate Broadway effort, then on the radio with Kate Smith—now in the movies as the "stars of the year"!

"Buck Privates"
 THEIR FIRST MOVIE a box-office sensation, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello are the answer to Hollywood's prayer for screen comics who can be excruciatingly funny and yet produce clean, wholesome comedy for cash customers

"In the Navy"
 ABBOTT AND COSTELLO'S comedy will be hard to surpass. Since the days of Charlie Chaplin perhaps no other comedian except Costello has the fine, ludicrous qualities which excite fans' sympathy and laughs at same time

"Oh, Charlie"
 THIS, THEIR FORTHCOMING FILM, promises to be another smash hit. Lou's squeaky voice is an invaluable asset in his partnership with Abbott, particularly in radio-clowning. It's a perfect vocal fit for "I'm a ba-a-a-d boy"

WHEN THEIR WIVES—Mrs. Abbott (l.) and Mrs. Costello—visited their husbands on the set, Bud and Lou made the cards disappear. Bud is either a rotten rummy player or has very bad luck, as Lou always wins. To date Bud figures these games have cost him conservatively $3,000, but he still hopes to get even

Today in Hollywood

GENERAL

Benny Burned Up

In a scene in "Charley's Aunt," Jack Benny is puffing fondly on one of his famous cigars when he is suddenly surprised by one of the ladies returning to the room. Quickly he hides the smoldering stogie among the ruffles of his taffeta gown. The wardrobe department figured that trouble might come of this, so they lined a pocket with asbestos and thought they had dismissed the threat. But everything happens to Benny, and when they shot the scene he became left-handed instead of right-handed, and the south-paw jab with the cigar nearly sent him up in smoke. The extinguishers were quickly on him and the fire was out. Benny straightened his curly wig, and departed from the scene with an "excuse me, girls, while I slip into a fresh frock."

New Brown Derby

Seems like out-of-town visitors are always interested in seeing Hollywood's famous Brown Derby. Well, there's a new one just opened in East Hollywood for them to see. This one has all the features of an all-around eatery. It has both the drive-in car service and a main dining-room. The car hops are fitted out in brown uniforms, topped with the well-known Brown Derby. Hollywood film notables have been giving the new place a heavy play ever since the opening.

Lupinos Carry On

Linda Darnell Wins Her Diploma

LINDA DARNELL, 20th Century-Fox star, joined the nation's high-school graduates on June 25 when she was graduated with other students from the University High School in West Los Angeles. Although she tosses her notebooks and school papers into the air (above), she really isn't through learning. She intends to further her education with extension courses at U. C. L. A. in Spanish, art and philosophy. She has also mapped out a course of home reading. Linda thinks movie stars should be educated. Left: Linda proudly exhibits her diploma. Right: She receives a kiss from her proud mother. Read Miss Darnell's open letter to graduates on page 11, an exclusive message Linda releases through Movie-Radio Guide

America came through in time to solve the brunette hair problem, but getting the needed blond hair is a consideration they haven't worked out as yet. They use many hundreds of pounds of flaxen hair every year. Any suggestions?

Hays Office Restriction

Did you ever hear a movie character yell "Fire!"? Try and think back. Never did, did you? Shouting that word is banned by the Hays office because it might throw screen audiences into a panic. A good idea at that.

How to Get in Movies

Patricia O'Rourke never had heard that you had to get into movies "the hard way." She was just a student at Hollywood High School, and she heard about Alexander Korda's search for a and boy friend of Katharine Hepburn, recently inducted at Fort MacArthur, expects to be transferred to the Signal Corps. Katharine didn't appear at Fort MacArthur with Kanin, but they saw a lot of each other before he left.

Leslie Howard Plenty Busy

Leslie Howard is at it again. Last week we told you that he would soon appear in an English film, "Five Men." This week we hear that he is making another picture in London, called "First of the Few." This picture is about the man who created the Spitfire plane. Howard will star and direct, and another of your favorites, David Niven, will be in the cast.

Robert Montgomery Volunteers

Robert Montgomery, who has had a lieutenant's commission in the Naval Reserve since last April, volunteered last June 25 for active training duty. He reported July 1 at the Navy Department for his assignment.

HOSPITALIZED

Brent's Back on Blink

George Brent had to be rushed from Catalina to Los Angeles in a speedboat, June 25, for an emergency operation on his spine. This ailment had been bothering him for a long time, and the doctors insisted that the operation was necessary before he went to Canada on location for his next picture, "Captain of the Clouds."

Beauty and the Beast-ly Wisdom Teeth

Two of Hollywood's favorite young screen stars, Betty Grable and Gene Tierney, had to have wisdom teeth pulled last week. Betty only had to have one extracted, but Gene was forced to part with two of the things.

After "Honky Tonk" an Operation

Clark Gable has gun fights, fist fights and what not in his next picture, "Honky Tonk," still comes out unscathed. However, right after the completion of that picture, he contemplates having an operation to correct that long-time troublesome shoulder.

HONORS

McLaglen Grabs Honor

Bathing beauties along Atlantic City's boardwalk have chosen Victor McLaglen as the man they would most like to be rescued by in case they were drowning. Wonder who would have won the poll had the selection been made on the basis of what man they would most like to rescue them if they were feinting drowning?

Rutherford Outstanding Starlet

Newark University, with an enrollment of 1,800 men students and 150 co-eds, chose Ann Rutherford, Polly Benedict in the Andy Hardy series, as the most popular and outstanding starlet of the year. Ann also won a four-page feature spread in the school's year book. This was the first time that a screen personality had been selected for such an honor.

Dark-eyed and dark-haired, Patricia figured she'd make a good Mahala, so she rang the doorbell at the Korda lot, was given an interview, a thorough test—and a contract! Miss O'Rourke was a bit flabbergasted. She had never before faced a movie camera nor read a line of dialog.

THE WAR

Gestures by Colman

Native Englisher Ronald Colman has given generously to help the British cause. Just recently he paid $5,000 for the rights to "White Cliffs of Dover" and gave it to the British government to make a picture. He also made a record of Gene Fowler's "Jarvis Bay" for the Victor company, with all proceeds going to the English government.

Linda's Open Letter

Upon receipt of her high-school diploma (see pictures on page 9) Linda Darnell, in an open letter to high-school graduates released exclusively through MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE, had this to say: "Taking stock of my and our future, I think now is a good time to remember always to have regard for the other fellow—that goes for careful driving of automobiles—so that we all can live happily in peace and contentment. I know that this kind of world we live in now demands responsibility, and, instead of lessening, that responsibility undoubtedly will become greater. I want to continue to improve myself to meet that requirement. Also, with knowledge, which no one can take away from us, one can live a fuller, richer life. I want to get as much out of living as I can, and that's the reason

I don't want to stop trying to learn now. It doesn't take money necessarily in America to learn. Libraries here are free. Knowledge is ours for the asking and I intend to keep on asking. I have no advice to give. I'm seeking it."

Movie-Radio Guide CRITICS' REPORT

WITH SO MANY childless homes being brightened by adopted babies, the theme of "Blossoms in the Dust" is particularly timely under present tumultuous world conditions. The realistic portrayals of Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon make the film a memorable one. Left: Love and marriage. Above: Fight for babies' rights. Right: Dramatic climax

"Blossoms in the Dust"

Cast: Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon, Felix Bressart, Marsha Hunt, Fay Holden, Samuel S. Hinds, Kathleen Howard, George Lessey, William Henry, Henry O'Neill, John Eldredge, Clinton Rosemond, Theresa Harris, et al. An M-G-M picture, produced by Irving Asher, directed by Mervyn LeRoy. Screen play by Anita Loos from story by Ralph Wheelright. A Technicolor production.

Type of Picture: A sweet, beautiful and true story of a worthy, courageous woman and her tireless crusade to see that unfortunate children and orphans, unwanted or illegitimate, get an equal start in life along with luckier youngsters, who are in the majority.

This Is the Story: Mrs. Gladney (Greer Garson), terribly hurt by the loss of her own young son, starts the Texas Children's Home and Aid Society with the aid of her husband (Walter Pidgeon). Despite various heartbreaks and setbacks, the Home grows into a large institution. However, illegitimacy and the fact that it plagues children through life because such information appears on the certification of birth causes Mrs. Gladney to campaign until the brand "illegitimate" no longer is included on birth certificates in Texas. Thus, instead of the child suffering through life because of "illegitimate parents," as Mrs. Gladney puts it, he is able to face life without the prodigious mental handicaps which are produced by a bigoted world.

It is truly a heart-filling, moving story—a real tribute to a woman who has served society to the utmost. Every parent in the country will be moved and impressed. Every married couple who cannot decide whether or not to adopt a child because of background and heredity should be required to see the picture.

Verdict: Movie-Radio Guide frequently has taken movie-makers to task for their inability to produce constructive pictures that are really entertaining. Fully aware that many a critic may scoff at this film as a tear-jerker, your editors recommend it without hesitation as one of 1941's best pictures. It is adult, yes—for all adults who have a heart, from the ages of sixteen and beyond.—C. S. and L. R.

MOVIE VIEWS by Carl A. Schroeder

Dear Public:

A YOUNG couple of our acquaintance came over to visit us at home the other evening early, but they couldn't stay long. The young husband was too tired and had to get to bed and catch up on his sleep.

We naturally asked them if they had been out painting the town the night before, and the bride said, "No, not exactly. We just went to a movie."

Our young lady visitor said: "We went over to a neighborhood theater and paid thirty-three cents apiece in order to see 'Meet John Doe.' We entered the theater around 8 o'clock, but it was 12:30 a.m. before we had seen the entire bill. Besides 'Meet John Doe' the theater showed 'The Great Mr. Nobody' and then a cartoon short and a newsreel."

Said the young husband: "I'd heard a lot about Capra's 'John Doe' so I thought it would be a swell picture. It was, too, for the first half, but then it started dragging out and I thought it never would end. As for the other picture, 'The Great Mr. Nobody,' I thought that was lively and very entertaining."

MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE submits this as added evidence against double-feature bills and rests its case.

Gets Accent by Phone

Developing a Dixie accent by long-distance telephone for the price of one call is the latest device used by resourceful seventeen-year-old Dorothy Gregory to get a dramatic break. The girl, who a year ago crashed an audition and won her first radio role (in "Scattergood Baines"), wanted the part of Virginia Sawyer in CBS' "Stepmother" recently, but she didn't have the southern accent required. So she phoned a friend in Birmingham, Ala., and asked her to "just talk for a while." Dorothy listened. Then she auditioned again, without special invitation, and won the part.

His Nose Was Red

Goodman Ace, star of "Easy Aces," strode into the studio here the other day, the tip of his nose a smarting red. Before he could explain, Jane, his quick-minded spouse quipped: "Indirect lighting." "Goodie," it developed, had subconsciously tried to light an ever-present cigar that wasn't there.

Classical Music

A guide for listeners who love great music

LILY PONS and husband Andre Kostelanetz will appear on "Millions for Defense" Wed., CBS

MUSIC NOTES: The National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich., has begun another music season under the direction of Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, its conductor. For the Camp's initial broadcast this Sunday, Dr. Maddy has arranged for Paul Whiteman, noted exponent of "Symphonic Jazz," to speak during the program's intermission. . . . Lovers of "love-music" will undoubtedly appreciate Richard Strauss' "Ein Heldenleben (A Hero-Life)," which will be among the numbers played by the CBS Symphony Orchestra, Sunday afternoon. Strauss' "love-music" is charming throughout the entire length of the work. . . . "Beautiful Dreamer," one of the 160 songs which our own Stephen Foster wrote, will be featured on the Cities Service program, Friday evening. Miss Lucille Manners and Ross Graham will join in singing the number. Foster's melodies, though simple, were rarely banal. "Beautiful Dreamer" is one of the several songs which he wrote that have in the passing years acquired a degree of immortality. . . . Some of the choral groups appearing on the "I Hear America Singing" program, over MBS, date back as far as 300 years ago—almost to the earliest days of our American history.

RADIO VIEWS by Martin Lewis

THE movie men are not happy men these days. One of the reasons for their despondency is because of the poor showings which musicals have been making at the box-office lately. The fact that these pictures have gone into a decline is heart-breaking to the movie moguls, for even during the depression a musical could always be counted upon to return its makers a handsome profit.

This slump which musicals have taken of late is due almost entirely to the current network war against ASCAP. Whether or not the radio chain's ban on ASCAP music has hurt that organization yet remains to be seen. But one thing is certain, it has hurt the movies.

The picture men are frank to admit this. They, more than anyone else, are aware that in order for a musical to be successful, the public must first hear its tunes—get to humming and whistling them. Then, and only then, will they flock to see the picture. The trouble, however, is that practically all movie song-writers are members of ASCAP. And ASCAP songs at present are tabu on the country's two largest networks. The return of ASCAP music to the Mutual network hasn't helped much.

A song hit of today is dependent for its success not so much upon originality or genuine artistic merit as it is upon widespread plugging. Almost any tune, provided it fulfills certain minimum requirements, can be made into a hit song. This is done by having it constantly played on the air, etc. Therefore, if for any reason a song is denied an opportunity to be heard it cannot hope to become popular. This truism is something which the movie moguls are keenly aware of. And as a result they are hoping with might and main that ASCAP and the two networks will soon come to some sort of agreement which will again permit the broadcasting of ASCAP songs. Until then their musicals with their ASCAP tunes will suffer. And when a musical suffers, then men in Hollywood who made it suffer also!

Negotiations between ASCAP and the networks are still under way, and for the benefit of all concerned we hope it won't be too long before an agreement is reached.

"Hams" Get Sliced

WASHINGTON.—Because they violated the emergency injunction against communicating with radio stations in foreign countries, the licenses of thirteen American amateurs have been suspended by the F.C.C. for a period of sixty days. The commission also announced that its fleet of mobile patrols had spotted illegal stations operating in Portland, Ore., Los Angeles, Calif., and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Commentators Win Awards

NEW YORK.—Two commentators, Helen Hiatt of NBC and William L. Shirer of CBS, have been presented with awards by the Headliners Club for their brilliant reportorial work in foreign fields. Miss Hiatt received her award for her brilliant scoop in broadcasting her impressions of the bombing of Gibraltar last September. Shirer's was a special award, given for an outstanding achievement over a period of time as a Berlin correspondent.

Cugat Wins Settlement

NEW YORK.—The suit of Xavier Cugat against the publishers of the

THE "THIN MAN" and script wife introduce Asta, dog character, to mike. Lester Damon and Claudia Morgan won coveted roles in new radio serialization of detective stories (Wed., NBC)

ONA MUNSON, feminine lead in "Big Town," is serenaded on her birthday by Western Union messengers, led by Edward G. Robinson, waving baton of conductor Leith Stevens (rear, looks on) novel, "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat," has been settled out of court. The amount paid was reportedly $4,000, half of which was paid by Paramount Pictures, since they own the movie rights to the book. Cugat contended that he had been wronged in having his name on a novel of married life.

EVENTS

Baby Snooks Donut Party

HOLLYWOOD.—Baby Snooks took matters in hand June 26 and staged a party right on Hollywood Boulevard dedicating a chain doughnut and coffee shop (which will sell the brand of coffee sponsoring her!). Filmland's stars turned out galore to assist and participate in games including a dunking contest and a competition to see who could ring the most canes with doughnuts.

Stars Boost U. S. O.

CHICAGO.—The world's largest office building, Chicago's Merchandise Mart, was the scene of a week's entertainment and entreaty by radio stars of NBC, which has its studios in the building. Plugging diligently with songs, stunts and solicitations for the United Service Organization were such well-known personalities as Don McNeill, Garry Moore, the Dinning Sisters, Evelyn Lynne, the Romeos, the Vagabonds, the Cadets, Marion Mann, Charles Lyon and Bob Brown.

"Revenge" Comes Through

CHICAGO.—The Revenge, racing sailboat owned and skippered by Ken "Dr. Brent" Griffin and Blair Walliser, director of "Backstage Wife," has won many races on Lake Michigan, but for the first time recently the Revenge came in first without winning. It was the only boat out of more than a hundred to finish under sail in the annual Chicago-to-Michigan City yacht race, but failure of any boat to finish in the allotted time because of lack of wind canceled the race as "no contest."

PERSONAL

"Big Sister" Becomes Wife

NEW YORK.—Alice Frost, star of "Big Sister," and Willson Tuttle, director of the CBS serial, were married at Ebury Farm, Bedford Village, N. Y., June 27. Janet Cohn, owner of Ebury Farm, was maid of honor and William Tuttle, father of the groom, was best man. This is Miss Frost's second marriage; her first was to Robert Foulk, Warner Bros. director.

Rosemary DeCamp Weds

HOLLYWOOD.—Rosemary DeCamp, Judy of the CBS Dr. Christian dramas and screen actress, was married June 28 to Judge John Ashton Shidler at the Vista Church in Beverly Hills. The couple's honeymoon will be delayed because of a contract commitment Miss DeCamp has for an Alexander Korda picture.

Family Visits "Wimple"

HOLLYWOOD.—The parents and brother of Bill Thompson, portrayer of Wallace Wimple, Horatio Boomer and the Old Timer of the Fibber McGee shows, have arrived here to join him and take a Canadian motor tour from Vancouver to Montreal. Before leaving, Thompson, whose 28th birthday is July 8, had a joint birthday party with Red Skelton, who is ten days younger than Bill. Both of the young comedy stars are natives of Indiana.

SIDELIGHTS

The Gooks Grow

CHICAGO.—As "Vic and Sade" heads into its tenth year, author Paul Rhymer still marvels at the success of his true-to-life sketch about a plain, average family. Rhymer got the job wished onto him when he was a member of the NBC continuity staff. He was a bachelor then, too. But he turned out a skit about people like those he knew back in Bloomington, Ill., and since then the Gooks have just about become the indispensable family of daytime radio.

Bergen Dates R. A. F. Lads

HOLLYWOOD.—Edgar Bergen has as big a date-book as Charlie McCarthy claims to have. Playing dinner host to six British youths who are training for R. A. F. combat service at Glendale, Calif., ventriloquist Bergen was asked if he could provide them with dates. Out came Bergen's little black book, and in less than an hour he had done his bit for Britain. He had two girls for every flier!

Autry Hunts Longhorns

HOLLYWOOD.—Gene Autry, screen-radio cowboy, planed from here June 23 to El Paso for a tour of Texas cattle towns in search of longhorn steers for his San Fernando Valley ranch. He returned three days later—on the day that Columbia Pictures, here in town, was looking for a buyer for 500 head of genuine Texas longhorn cattle they had used in their picture "Texas" and even had fattened 300 pounds apiece during the making of the film. Autry could have stayed home and saved money.

Not Joan—But It's Okay

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Mary Patton, actress heard as Mary in CBS' "Right to Happiness" and on other CBS and NBC serials, was on her way back to Chicago from a California vacation with her husband, Frank Papp (director of "The Bartons"), and stopped over in Kansas City between trains. Suddenly she heard a boy yell, "Look! Joan Crawford!" The crowd surged up for autographs from Mary, who does closely resemble the movie actress. And the crowd wasn't disappointed, for model-and-actress Mary is an eye-ful of charm in her own right.

PROGRAMS

Lunt, Fontanne to Air

NEW YORK.—Two of radio's most adamant hold-outs have capitulated. Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, the great husband-and-wife acting team, will appear in six programs on "Campbell's Playhouse" next season. Miss Fontanne was sensational recently in a special broadcast of "White Cliffs of Dover." The enthusiasm aroused prompted her to persuade her husband to appear with her in the pending air series.

Baker May Return to Air

NEW YORK.—There are signs that the Phil Baker program which has been off the airwaves for a couple of seasons may get a new sponsored show. The program was auditioned at NBC the other day.

Berlin Reverses Propaganda Machine Democ and Nazi Hear Wodehouse On Vacation Edited by Berlin

Edited by
Charles A. Morrison
President, International DX'ers Alliance

TO COMPLETELY reverse the direction of a propaganda campaign overnight is as difficult as to stop a steamroller running down-hill and then make it immediately back up the slope. This is, in effect, just what Berlin and Moscow radio propagandists had to do when Hitler suddenly gave the word that sent his panzer divisions scurrying against Red Russia—his former ally. A period of spluttering, evasion and general nonsense prevailed before Lord Haw Haw, Kaltenbach, Ward and company could get their bearings. Democ and Nazi, creators of "America Asks, Germany Answers," wisely choose this time for their vacation. Jane Anderson, Catholic fireball, didn't mention the invasion of Russia which had then started, but did tell England that they would be better off with Capone in the saddle than Churchill, for at least Capone didn't try to preach from the pulpit. "America," she said, "is young, fine and clean, but not its government. Better for America to be sold into slavery than become a gem in a British harem." Lord Haw Haw read Hitler's declaration of war against Russia but made no comments.

Russia wasted no time in reversing its propaganda machine: "War has been thrust upon us. We must thrust this insatiable Hitler and his gangster invaders from our country" . . . Churchill in his speech called Hitler a monster of wickedness, insatiable for blood . . . Lord Haw Haw countered with, "Churchill has the impudence to pick those he once described as bloody vassals for his new allies" . . . Berlin's Fred Kaltenbach said, "Toughie (Duff) Cooper, Grand Mogul of Churchill's Department of 'Misinformation,' has hitched his wagon to a Soviet star. England is not choosey. 'Come be our ally,' she says to Comrade Stalin, 'and all will be forgiven and no questions asked'" . . . "We have no enmity against the Russian people," the German propagandists state, "we only wish to destroy this nest of Jewish rulers in Moscow" . . . Moscow parries with, "Hitler, like a vicious jackal, is insatiable in his desire for conquest and war." Moscow, never one to mince words or to sweeten up a horror story, recently introduced a man who had just escaped from Warsaw. His purpose, he said, was to tell the world about true conditions in that city of terror and disease. "The people are starving; Polish residents are persecuted; the Jews are in complete degradation. Rickshaws loaded down with German soldiers are being pulled by emaciated Polish and Jewish youths; bread crumbs are being licked up from the streets; women are made to disrobe for refusing to obey minor orders. In front of my eyes, a small child was kicked to death. The world will never know peace until Hitler and his bandits are driven from the earth" . . . Ian Finlay, broadcasting from London in "Britain Speaks," stated, "You are not facing Germans, you are facing Nazis. Hitler is without scruple or thought. If he wins, Germany too will be in the wilderness where all starve; where men with dripping chops will snarl at each other like beasts and twilight will descend upon civilization" . . . Moscow promises, "Hitler will never lay his filthy hands on the land of Russia. His greedy brain has become feverish with the thoughts of Russia's great wealth."

So at last the bars are down and radio propagandists are baring their fangs and hurling such a barrage of naked fury in words at each other as has never been known in the history of man.

Russia is best from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon EDT over RV96 (15.18).

Germany is best from 5:50 p.m. to 12:00 mid. EDT over DJD (11.77); DJB (15.20) and DZD (10.54).

Recently an advertisement appeared in the Portuguese press and it was headed: GERMANY SPEAKS AND THE WORLD HEARS HER. The British Embassy soon replied with this: THE VOICE OF LONDON SPEAKS AND THE WORLD BELIEVES IT.

Wodehouse Joins Goebbels' Gabblers

Goebbels' bag of propaganda tricks is apparently inexhaustible. In the form of a surprise announcement, the Berlin announcer introduced a new speaker on Friday evening, June 27, with these words: "You are now about to listen to the famous writer and humorist, P. G. Wodehouse, who up to now has been in a German internment camp. Mr. Wodehouse has just completed a new novel which we understand is on its way to a publisher in the United States. He will tell you about his experiences and give you some of his impressions of Nazi Germany."

Mr. Wodehouse's little talk was quite humorous, but oh, so carefully edited by Nazi censors! He gave the impression that life in a German prison camp was not at all a bad experience; that the guards were only big, gruff boys who on the way to the camp actually allowed them to stop and buy cigarettes and to drink a couple of bottles of red wine. The writer opened his talk by saying that if he sounded a bit goofy he was actually screwy enough to stick straws in his ears because he had just been released from forty-nine weeks in a German camp—the "local lunatic asylum in northern Silesia." "There is an advantage in being in a prison camp," he said; "it keeps you out of local saloons and allows one to catch up on one's reading . . ."

The writer can be heard Tuesdays at 10:00 p.m. EDT over stations DJB (15.20), DJD (11.77) and DZD (10.54).

"Quiz Kids" Beat Profs

University of Chicago Midway
scene of blitz-quiz exhibition

ARMED with word-weapons and the guileless enthusiasm of youth, radio's Davids slew the Goliaths of the University of Chicago one day last month. In a special contest-feature of the university's Alumni celebration five of the youngsters who brighten the airwaves on Wednesday night with their "Quiz Kids" program took on a quintet of college profs and took them in—score 275 to 140. The kids scored on all kinds of questions. They explained that a "yellow sal" and a "yellow may" are both fishing-flies. They identified geographical outlines as those of Germany, the state of Mississippi, the island of Cyprus, and spelled "eleemosynary" and "sopolamine." And while a mathematics professor scratched his head, eleven-year-old Richard Williams solved and explained a complicated financial problem. Mythology, astronomy, Biblical history, music, biography and current events failed to stump the Q. K. experts. —D. M.

ABOVE: Sharing their knowledge for mutual benefit is easy for these three, for all are specialists in different fields. Van Dyke Tiers (l.) is a phenom at science and spelling; Richard Williams (c.) is a wizard in mathematics and geography; Prof. Arthur Gibbon Bovee is foreign-language authority

ABOVE: "Would it be cheaper to buy a coat for $300, or a second coat, if there were $40 between the prices of the second and a third coat, three-fourths the cost of the second being equal to two-thirds the cost of the third?" Richard Williams explains it simply to Prof. Harry Everett

FACED WITH UNSCRUPULOUS attempts to wrest her foster-children, Carol and Noel, from her, Faith Chandler keeps up brave front by enjoying tennis with children and her admirer, Michael Murry

"DEAR JOHN"

"DEAR JOHN," Sunday-night serial story on NBC starring charming, distinguished Irene Rich, moves through its plot currently with the tempo of real world events. Here is the background: Faith Chandler married Joshua Chandler, wealthy widower and father of two teen-aged children, a daughter, Carol, and a son, Noel. Poindexter Brice, a sinister governess long employed to care for the children, opposed Faith's entrance into the family. The governess and her husband, Jules Carlshorn, plotted to gain control of the children and the Chandler fortune. When Joshua died his will was contested, but the conspirators are exposed and children and legacy go to Faith and Michael Murry, distant relative of Chandler, who admires Faith very much. It looked then as if Faith could relax and enjoy a period of normalcy. But it was then that the war abroad ceased to be a remote, vague situation and became a real personal problem to Faith, for she had word that her sister Connie in London was in trouble—down and out physically and temperamentally. Faith, with characteristic loyalty and bravery, set out for one of the hottest spots on earth to aid her sister. Incidentally, the mystery of who "Dear John" is has finally been solved. Faith revealed on a recent broadcast that her confidant is an old missionary friend.

HESITANT to press his devotion upon Faith, whose husband, Joshua, died recently, Michael considerably offers only sympathetic aid during these trials

JUSTICE PREVAILS finally after dark moments in the case. Faith is awarded custody of Carol and Noel when the judge gets proof of the greedy machinations of Brice and Carlshorn, who are dealt with promptly by the court for their plotting

BUT PEACE in Faith's life is not yet to be. She receives a mysterious telephone call asking her to meet the caller in secret in order to get some startling information that concerns her sister, who is in London

AT THE RENDEZVOUS, the informant, an aviator who flies planes to England, tells her that her sister Connie is in grave trouble

BRAVING NAZI BOMBS, determined to assist her sister, Faith goes to London. To learn what happens to Faith and Connie in the blitz-battered city, listen to "Dear John" on NBC THIS SUNDAY NIGHT

EXCLUSIVE:

Gene Autry at Home

FAMOUS COWBOY'S FIRST LOVE IS HIS WIFE AND HOME

MR. AND MRS. AUTRY, married now nine years, walk down the wide, sloping steps of their Hollywood home, a modern, ranch-like place built on a steep hillside. In rear is specially constructed building housing Gene's home office, bath-house for his swimming-pool

ON THE SCREEN, in public—and at home—Gene wears spectacular cowboy clothes. When day is done, he and Ina like to watch the sun go down from their patio, which boasts an outdoor barbecue and as beautiful a view as one can discover in Hollywood

GENE IS EASY TO SEE, receptive to new ideas. Interviewed here by writer James Street, he spends much of his free time in this home office. Walls are covered with pictures of Gene's friends, from F. D. R. down, autographed to him. The massive desk of Tennessee red cedar is his favorite

MRS. AUTRY is responsible for the eighteenth-century elegance of the interiors, which neither she nor Gene find inconsistent with his high-heeled boots, ten-gallon hat and the cartridge belt for the six-shooter gun he is cleaning here. Favorite home amusements of both are contract bridge and riding

WHERE does a national hero spend his time off? What sort of home life has a singing cowboy whose annual movie audience is forty million, whose radio listeners (Sunday, CBS) run in the millions, whose fan mail tops any other star's, ranging up to twelve thousand letters a week? To get the answer, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE sent cameraman Bruce Bailey out to 10983 Bluffside Drive in North Hollywood, where Gene Autry lives. Gene at home, he found, is surprisingly like Gene in the movies—cool, smiling and a little bit awkward. He lives with his wife Ina, whom he married when she was sixteen, in a luxuriously rambling house of nine rooms situated on a three-acre plot of ground bounded on the southeast by the Los Angeles River. Gene also owns a two-hundred-acre ranch three and a half miles northwest of San Fernando, but most of the time he's not at Republic Studios making westerns, or on tour, or preparing his "Melody Ranch" show, is spent at the Hollywood home. Here this grandson of a Baptist preacher, who learned to sing in church, enjoys the rich rewards of a career which is founded on a clean-cut, wholesome character (in real life as well as in publicity stories), who can sing, ride and act. And enjoy is the word, because, if he's anything, Gene Autry is a real home-body.

← LOCATED NEAR SAN FERNANDO is Gene's second home, a two-hundred-acre ranch, of which sixty acres are planted in citrus fruits, the remainder running to pasture for his nine horses. Tony, the mare, is used in road shows with Champ. Colt is Bumpus

→ BACK OF THEIR Bluffside Drive home is a garden devoted to growing kitchen vegetables, melons and fruit. It was Ina's idea, but Gene does the work—at least part of it—when he's not fulfilling the scores of duties which fall to America's number one hero

Maxwell House Coffee Time

BABY SNOOKS (Fanny Brice) and her Daddy (Hanley Stafford) go into their act. Actor Stafford works himself into a sweat before the mike, actually looks like Poor Papa. They've been on air since 1938

FRANK MORGAN has been a cut-up since he ran away from school, is that on the show. Pages of script on floor are Morgan's—he lets them drop one by one. Frank and company left the air for summer vacation Thursday, July 10

JOHN CONTE, singer-emcee-comic, is a Hollywood product, began as local announcer at 18

AT PODIUM, Meredith Willson features his "chiffon swing" arrangements of the classics

ANNOUNCER for Maxwell House is Abbott Tessen, who also shines as cast's ace rummy-player

FANNY BRICE and Frank Morgan are currently proving what a pair of veteran troupers can do when left to take over what was once a radio pot-pourri of big-time stars besides themselves. A look-in at their broadcast on a Thursday afternoon at Hollywood's NBC studios convinced this reporter that they're doing very nicely with the inspired aid of Meredith Willson's orchestra, "Baby Snooks" Brice's partner, Hanley Stafford, and singing emcee John Conte. Before the studio audience of about 350 enthusiastic fans showed up, Frank, Fanny and company recuperated from a siege of rehearsals totaling six hours over a game of gin rummy and wisecracks by the clowning Mr. Morgan. Then they went out to meet their guests, stage an off-hand, hilarious warm-up and—at 8:00 p.m. EDT—the show itself. On this page they're happy to meet their invisible audience.

Next Week: "Plantation Party"

A Party for "Mr. District Attorney"

THE BYRON
INFIRMARY

TO CELEBRATE a year of profitable, pleasant broadcasting together, the cast of "Mr. District Attorney" (Wednesday, NBC) gathered recently for a "convict" party at the New Canaan, Conn., farm home of their orchestra-leader, Peter Van Steeden. To make the affair even more festive, producer-director Ed Byron acknowledged that the following day would be his and Mrs. Byron's first wedding anniversary. When the law-and-order folks arrived, maestro Van Steeden immediately provided them with convict hats, set them to playing games. Highlight of party was softball game, pitting the "Sing-Singers" against the "Dannemora Convicts." For Jay Jostyn, who stars in show as Mr. D. A., there were "exhibits" of his radio cases about the farm.

PETER VAN STEEDEN'S gleaming white cottage at New Canaan, Conn., became "The Byron Infirmary" for the day when "Mr. District Attorney" cast came to celebrate their first year with present sponsor—also producer Ed Byron's first wedding anniversary. Out in front is Jay Jostyn, Mr. D. A.

LAW AND ORDER took a holiday as D. A. Jay Jostyn, above, and entire cast donned convict caps. Jay helps himself to baked ham

WALTER KINSELLA, regular policeman of "Mr. District Attorney," attended with wife, beautiful model Jane Davis, played poker

NEWLYWEDS AT PARTY were actor Frank Lovejoy and actress Joan Banks, snapped here as they came through "line-up" at gate

VICKI VOLA, who plays Miss Miller, secretary to D. A., captained the "Dannemora Convicts" against the "Sing-Sing" softballers

WHEN HEATED ARGUMENT broke up the game in the fifth inning, score stood eleven to nine in favor of the "Sing-Singers" team, captained by Ed Byron. Umpire Van Steeden (looking into the camera) remained firm in spite of gag squawks by players

A BOMBER HANGAR became giant jitterbug haven when Tommy Dorsey's band came to help dedicate Floyd Bennett airport in New York as U. S. air base

"SWING AND SWAY WITH WPA" was Sammy Kaye's quip as guest conductor at opening "Dancing in the Park" session (music by WPA band) in New York park

FANS of Benny Goodman will have to make every one of his broadcasts count, for as present plans shape up he will be on a Coast-to-Coast hook-up for only seven weeks. The program will be aired from Chicago, beginning July 17. During that time Benny will also fill an engagement at the Hotel Sherman. Benny recently lost his brother, Irving, to the Army. Not many people knew that the younger Goodman was a member of Benny's band. There are, in fact, seven male Goodmans plus a sister in the family. As we've already said, be sure not to forget the date of Benny's initial broadcast—the seventeenth of this month.

Tommy Dorsey Tells How

A column or so ago we published some advice which Jimmy Dorsey gave to would-be big-name band vocalists. Since then we have had letters from young, hopeful musicians, asking how they might catch on with a nationally famous band. Let Jimmy's brother, Tommy, tell you this time. He, too, was a struggling young trombonist once. Tommy's advice is for young band hopefuls to stay away from New York. "All leading bands," says Tommy, "travel far and wide. Wherever I go promoters tell me of young musicians who have promise. I always seek out these young men and hear them. If you are a musician, get yourself a job with a local band or a radio station. Play as often as you can, but keep playing. If you're good then your reputation will spread, and soon some big band will be sending you a wire. My parting advice," says Tommy, "is for the young musician not to get discouraged because he happens to be in a small town. Ninety percent of the personnel of the top bands comes from small towns."

Bandata

What's this about Artie Shaw conducting a forty-two-piece orchestra for MBS? . . . Understand that Frank Dailey, owner of the famous Meadowbrook, is looking around for a band to lead . . . Peggy Marlowe has taken up the baton which Rio Rita dropped when she left the all-girl orchestra for a shot at the movies . . . Bandleader Harry Owens is another who has surrendered his baton—for the song-writing game . . . Count Basie writes that he has three musicians whose names are Tom Jefferson, George Washington and Warren Harding. Now if he only had an F. D. R. Jones! . . . Kay Kyser received his draft questionnaire the other day. He returned it without any claims for exemption . . . Fate dealt bandleader Johnny Long ing the close of his engagement at the Hotel Astor this week . . . In order to take his band to South America, Eddy Duchin has to get permission from each member's draft board. Eddy found plenty of red tape! . . . The "Four Down Beats" is the name of a hot instrument combo (band within a band) which Carl Hoff features at the Blue Gardens, near Armonk, N. Y. . . . Freddie Slack, former Will Bradley instrumentalist, is ready to unveil his new band . . . To those who have written in: "Louanne's" last name is Hogan. She dropped the Hogan for professional reasons when she joined the Carl Hoff band.

Bandstand Notes

By Maurice Granger

an ironic blow the other night. Rising steadily for months, the band was given a three-week engagement at the Hotel New Yorker Terrace Room, a choice assignment. However, the night he opened, Uncle Sam, through the Selective Service Board, handed Johnny his draft questionnaire! . . . Those attorneys who have been suing Horace Heidt for services rendered were awarded a $2,307 judgment the other day . . . Tommy Dorsey's band will not play between the middle of July and the middle of August. Tommy needs his appendix removed, and is going into a hospital for that purpose follow-

Purely Personal
Lynne Sherman, formerly with Sonny Burke, was married recently to Milton Ebbins, young manager of Count Basie's band . . . Orrin Tucker's interest in Tommy Tucker's band is confined exclusively to one member—Amy Arnell. Which leads us to remark that the stories about Orrin and Bonnie Baker being "that way" about each other were just press-agent hokum . . . Gray Gordon's new wife will shortly become the exclusive model for a large cigarette company. The publicity attending her marriage to Gray was partly the reason. The other part is that she is a gaw'geous redhead.

Vocalistings
Yvette, the French-accent songstress, is off Xavier Cugat's program and on Ilka Chase's "Penthouse Party" show . . . Art Perry is another who recently made a change. He has left Gray Gordon and soon will have a fifteen-minute sustaining program twice weekly on a major network. Replacing Perry in the Gordon band is Tony Russell, who has sung with Horace Heidt and Eddy Duchin.

Band Bookings
Will Bradley begins an engagement at the Hotel Astor Roof the sixteenth . . . Jimmy Dorsey and his band are at the Sherman in Chicago . . . Ted Weems is filling a three-week engagement at Lakeside Park in Denver . . . Al Donahue will be at Virginia Beach, Va., from July 17-24 . . . Horace Heidt has begun a four-week stay at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago.

By Alberta North

FOR HOT summer days at the beach, Janet Waldo (left), "Big Town" actress, wears bathing-suit with sunbonnet to match. CBS actress Joan Vitez (r.) carries tricky parasol-pouch purse (hidden place for parasol)

Because you'll have the time to give to careful combing and getting used to something new, you couldn't choose a better time to appear with a hair-do that's strictly for you. Charm Guild, Inc., is offering an interesting plan for restyling your hair. If you send them a snapshot of your face, Perc Westmore will design the coiffure that suits you. An enlarged portrait and instructions on proper make-up will be mailed back to you—and all for fifty cents. Let us know if you're interested and we'll ask Charm Guild to send you all the details. Interesting note: Recently Dinah Shore designed a new hair-do for herself, taking her inspiration from a Walt Disney cartoon.

Vary Your Type

Whether you're out to make new conquests or startle your old beau to new appreciation of your wonders (and that applies to husbands, too), remember the lure of contrasts. The secret of charm is to be able to vary your type, so be an outdoor girl one day and "go feminine" the next. When you're out-of-doors all day use a natural make-up, like Tangee lipstick and rouge, which change from orange to a soft, rosy red to suit your natural coloring. You'll find they're swim-proof, sun-proof and smear-proof for the "good sport." Then, in the evening be your more glamorous self. Use make-up as brilliant as your complexion will permit and give your eyes new lights and depth with mascara and eye-shadow. The Maybelline Company has a dandy little zipper bag containing a brush and tube of mascara, and it will hold the eye-shadow, too, so you'll have everything for eye-glamour convenient for packing.

Splurge on Nail-Polish

Also for variety, change the color of your nail-polish. If you wore a soft tint at the beach, then switch to the deep, warm red of the new "Gay Time" by Dura-Gloss when you go out for golf. Or vary—if you appeared with dark-red finger-tips on Friday, make Saturday your day for soft beige-pink nails of Cutex "Laurel." This shade will be flattering with pastel yellow, green or brown.

So go your vacation days and nights. Make the most of them!

SUMMER has hit its stride now, but we're wondering if you're in stride with summer. Your vacation days will be the best—days when you must look your best and still be ready to take part in all the fun!

Your vacation can set the pattern of your whole summer, so plan it well. Let's look ahead to your days of leisure. They'll be here and gone before you realize, but the clothes you'll wear and your holiday smile can be an asset all season long.

You may be planning a picnic—at the beach, in some shady grove, or in your own back yard. But wherever you meet the sun face to face you'll want to look smart and be wise.

About Play Clothes

Your play clothes will be "smart" in cotton for cleanliness and washability. Wall-paper prints on muslin, South Sea Island patterns on glazed chintz, or good old gingham are suggested for outdoor days.

The proof of your "wisdom" will be in the care you take of your skin throughout the sunlit hours. Protect it from burning rays, particularly if it's your first chance at a tan. Sutra Sun-filter Cream does just this, and yet, though invisible, permits the passage of the beneficial Vitamin D and tanning rays. If, however, the damage is done and you seek to soothe an aching burn, spray a cooling lotion on your skin and get healing relief. Tropicool comes in a bottle with a spray all ready for such an emergency. Keep it in mind! Home again, when you freshen up for the evening, relax in a Linit bath, which will soothe away every last trace of burning pain.

At home or on vacation your chief problem is to be well girdled and also cool and comfortable. A light-weight but strong foundation garment is a "must" in your summer wardrobe. If you've any doubts about a girdle being cool, prepare to forget them when you try on one of those Coolaire Flexees made of Lace Lastique. They will mold even problem figures to trim silhouettes, yet they're so light you'll scarcely know you've got one on.

Have a New Coiffure

Away from routine, you should blossom forth with a new coiffure. Give it considerable thought, for its styling can be the one to stick all summer.

Easily connected by anyone to aerial and ground of set. This unit is really a substitute for an outside aerial and will give good reception on both local and distant stations on either the broadcast bands or short wave channels.

WHAT USERS SAY

LaPorte, Tex.: After using the Capacity Aerial Eliminator over a year on my 1935 7 tube set can say it brings in reception with fine volume and clarity, pulling in both local and distant stations with good clarity. Efficiency proven. I took down my old outside aerial.

Davenport, Ia.: Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. Also works swell on Short Wave band. Wish I had found it long ago.

It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections. No MORE CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet when using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band, frequencies and short wave channels.

Three-Cornered Pants

Dear Sirs:

Common sense and courtesy in commercials will be very slow in coming. Those who write the commercials and their bosses are still wearing three-cornered pants—at least their commercials are. They are the boobs, not the listeners.

Some commercials are not only cheap, but crooked. "I'll take only a few seconds of your time," says an announcer. And then he takes several minutes.

Please keep up the fight. Let's have a broadside now and then, and maybe real pants will be forthcoming sometime!

D. E. Swanson, Oakland, Calif.

Wash-Day Weariness

Dear Sirs:

I want to tell Mrs. Rideout of Brunswick, Me., that plenty of women in the United States know wash-day weariness, because they cannot afford washing-machines. And plenty of them live in houses that do not have bathrooms. Besides, there are young girls getting married all the time, and these need education in using cleaning soaps and powders. These cleaning articles pay for the programs that Mrs. Rideout and all of us enjoy for the cost of a few watts of electricity. I suggest she investigate the buying-power of Americans and the distribution of washing-machines.

S. A. Way, Torrance, Calif.

Bulls and boners are a part of broadcasting. No matter how experienced the performer or how famous the star, chances are that he will make an occasional slip or a statement with twisted meaning which is extremely funny. The most humorous entries will be printed in this column. Watch for your contribution!

The Story of "STEPMOTHER" PART II

1 KAY FAIRCHILD welcomes stepdaughter Peg home from British Columbia, where she lives with her young husband in a desolate mining town

2 PEG BRINGS tragic news of the death of her baby, news which is saddening to Kay and Peg's father, John. They try to offer her consolation

3 MEANWHILE, word comes that there has been a riot at the Weiner Jewelry Store. Kay and John rush downtown to the store, find that the Rority gang which ousted John from mayorship is behind it. The mob finally is sent home

4 KAY AND JOHN meet with Harry Wood to discuss fight on the vicious Rority gang. They admit the drive for names on petition against Rority is bogging down

5 WHEN JOHN runs into Rority accidentally, the political boss is very sweet, almost convinces him that fight to restore decent government to Walnut Grove is lost

6 LOVING HER HUSBAND greatly and having an intense desire to see him vindicated, Kay urges him not to give up, at the same time racks her brain for a new mode of attack

7 KAY REALIZES she must do something drastic to upset the politicians. Finally she decides to put in a long-distance call to her rich Uncle George in Chicago

8 MOTHER FAIRCHILD, who has been a problem for Kay since she came to Walnut Grove as John's wife, interrupts Kay's busy planning to bring up petty difficulties

9 TO ANOTHER ally, Jamie O'Connor, Kay reveals her new plan—to put over petition with dramatics financed by Uncle George. She asks Jamie to write a play

THE story of Kay Fairchild, "Stepmother," is one of the more interesting serial stories currently on the air. To introduce it to listeners who may not have tuned in before, to dramatize it in pictures for regular listeners, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE is presenting a three-part picture story of "Stepmother." This week the action for July 14 through July 18 is reenacted by the players in photographs shown here. Have them before you as you listen, Monday through Friday, CBS.

The Story This Week

Monday, July 14. Peg arrives home from British Columbia with the tragic news that she has lost her baby. Kay and John are in the midst of comforting her when word comes that there is a riot down at Weiner's Jewelry Store.

Tuesday, July 15. Rushing downtown, Kay and John discover that Weiner has been the innocent victim of one of Boss Rority's schemes.

Wednesday, July 16. Kay, John and Harry Wood admit to themselves that their petition against Rority is not progressing as it should. Rority runs into John and almost convinces him that the struggle to wrest control of Walnut Grove's government from the gang and to reinstate himself as mayor is hopeless.

Thursday, July 17. The Fairchilds discover that merchants they had counted on for help are frightened by what happened to Weiner. Desperate, Kays calls her Uncle George in Chicago.

Friday, July 18. Jamie O'Connor, a publicity man who joined forces with the Fairchilds when Rority two-timed the troupe of acrobats he was managing, answers Kay's request for aid. Kay reveals that she means to fight the gang with a play for which her Uncle George has agreed to put up the money.
