Thrilling Adventures of a U. S. Soldier in Hollywood Inside Story of Orson Welles' Return to Radio

RADIO'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE ALUMINUM DRIVE

FROM New York City, where radio soprano Margaret Speaks (above, right) gave aluminum to Hollywood, where CBS' Columbia Square patio was turned into a dumping-ground for pots and pans, broadcasters took the National Aluminum Drive as a personal, patriotic responsibility.

In the beginning. when Civilian De-Administrator fense Fiorello LaGuardia was making preparations for this first mobilization America's rank-andfile citizenry for defense, it was only natural that he should turn to radio as the quickest and most effective mobilizing force. So New York's little mayor went on the air over a Coast-to-Coast hook-up to ask the great American public for 500,-000,000 pounds of metal.

From that point, radio and its personalities were a large factor in the campaign. In Hollywood. hundreds of stars and Filmtown folk, big and little, assisted in the drive as networks and local stations peppered the air with bulletins and flashes of exhortation.

In Chicago, NBC's home, the great Merchandise Mart, became the rallying point for a city-wide drive as Mayor Edward J. Kelly, defense officials and radio stars gathered in the Mart lobby to participate in the NBC broadcast which opened the campaign.

Everywhere, broadcasting's grand-scale communications system was used to accelerate the flood of pots and pans.

Because it answered unreservedly the government's call, because it not only worked patriotically itself but had a large share in generating the national burst of patriotism, Movie-Radio Guide applauds the radio industry.

THIS WEEK: Before the headlineseekers now attempting to put a finger on the motion-picture industry cool off, we want to expose them. The accusation, as stated before, is that Hollywood is a propaganda agent for war. The public knows better than to believe this as it witnesses comedy film after comedy film-more than ever released before.

Yet, in a sense, Hollywood is making war films. These are army-training films which are very important for the protection of this country. They constitute more bed-rock defense effort than all the mouthings of politicians who have personally contributed nothing to protect the future of this nation.

We take the liberty of quoting from remarks made by Colonel Clarence R. Huebner, Chief of the Training Branch of the U. S. Army: "When the American motion-picture industry was called upon by the War Department for cooperation in the present emergency, it responded without a moment's delay .. close cooperation in the training of Signal Corps officers in motion-picture technique has been going on for more than eight years, with many officers in the Photographic Division of the Signal Corps having received training in actual studio production in Hollywood studios.

The real importance lies in this manifestation by an American industry of its willingness to assist its Government's army, without regard to profit or gain . . . I will state that every American citizen ought to be proud of a nation which has an industry working so closely with the Army and thus contributing materially to the national defense program.

These films, which the public never sees, relate to many duties of a soldier. They protect our soldiers because they make them more efficient in the field. These films may save the lives of many a soldier, whether we eventually go to war or not. At some future date even those politicians shouting insults at a patriotic industry may be grateful, if such a one is filmed later, to see a picture titled "What to Do in an Air Raid!"

NEXT WEEK: America's private war swings into action this month - we mean the Battle of the Pigskin. All over the country more attention will be paid to wing-backs and T-formations than to panzer divisions and blitz attacks. As our contribution to the mighty mobilization of football we offer you the inside story of Grid King Tommy Harmon by the famous sports announcer, Bill Stern. Feminine readers will be intrigued by the story of a popular star who frankly tells how she lost fourteen pounds in less than three weeks, at the same time offering her exclusive diet to show how it was done. Next week, too, we show Shirley Tem-ple back at work for the first time and tell the story of what is going to happen to the money of Hollywood's ten richest women now that the new taxes are coming in. The whole issue is rich with remarkable new features in the field of movies and radio.

EXCLUSIVE: BILLY CONN Reveals the Blows that STAGGERED JOE LOUIS

(BULLETIN!-Joe Louis will defend his World Heavyweight Championship in a fifteen-round bout with contender Lou Nova at Yankee Stadium, New York City, on Monday, September 29. The fight will be broadcast over a gigantic MBS network, starting time 10:00 p.m. EDT.-The Editors.)

'VE just come back from Republic Studios where Billy Conn. the "Fancy Dan" from Pittsburgh, was finishing up making "The Pittsburgh Kid" and I certainly saw something. I witnessed (and had photographed) Conn swinging that wicked left of his tellingly against Jack Roper, heavyweight champ of the Pacific Coast, and Freddie Steele, former world's middleweight champion, and they both rocked like Aunt Tillie's chair!

And I overheard something that is right out of the glove. Conn is practically set for a return match against Joe Louis next June!

At ringside of "The Pittsburgh Kid" I cornered the retired Henry Armstrong, who plays in the picture as sparring partner for Conn. "Are those lefts Billy is splashing around what bothered Joe Louis at the Polo Grounds?"

"They sure are," Henry answered. "And let me tell you, Conn has one of the greatest left hands I've ever seen. It's fast but doesn't look fast, and it travels a short distance but with the steam of a pile-driver. He can throw it from any position—and when it hits you, you quiver like an earth-quake!" Armstrong should know, because Conn didn't pull his punches when sparring with him.

Overnight, when Billy recently outpointed Louis up to the thirteenth round, he became the most popular heavyweight contender since the days of Jack Dempsey. I asked him how Louis got in the winning knockout blow. "It's sort of funny. knocked out. The blow staggered me, but didn't put me down. If it had, I'd have gone to my knees for a nine-count rest and been up again. As it was, I stayed up on wobbly feet, and Joe followed the telltale sock with a dozen speedy and hard jabs that finished the job. I'll know better next time."

"The Pittsburgh Kid" picture, so named after Conn, who came from there, is a screening of the Octavus Roy Cohen magazine serial, "Kid Tinsel," which tells of the trials of the daughter of a deceased fight manager who willed her his contract with a rising young pug. Conn is the pug; Jean

In making the picture, Conn had to learn movie technique. In the long shots he was permitted to let his fists fly as usual, but for photographic purposes in the close-ups Billy had to be schooled to take his punches. Then he was told that he didn't know how to fall flat and convincingly. "Why learn that?" Conn asked. "I want to stay right on my feet!" But the script called for a hard fall, so in one scene he had to do it over eleven times before it looked real enough to satisfy

The fight referee in the film is Arthur Donovan, famous real referee whom Conn and his manager refused to certify for the Louis bout. But for the film Conn gave approval: "He can referee, because I've read the script, and I know that

BILLY CONN hangs a vicious left hook on the chin of Jack Roper, Pacific Coast heavyweight champion. Conn made Joe Louis contort his face even more painfully than this when he fought and almost whipped the world's champ not long ago, tipping invincible Joe's crown hard enough to cause many to predict he will beat Louis in the return bout which is imminent, if Louis whips Lou Nova Sept. 29. Movie fans will see reproductions of Conn's technique in the film "The Pittsburgh Kid," starring Conn

FIGHTS ARE A FILMLAND

EDDIE CANTOR mugs at Mickey Rooney and yells in his ear at ringside of Hollywood boxing-bout, but Mickey retaliates with dead pan. Both let themselves go at fights

BOB HOPE usually keeps pretty busy as radio and screen comedian and special emcee, but finds time to attend the fights with wife Dolores

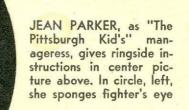

"MAISIE" loves the fights, the rougher the better! Ann Sothern, who is the breezy babe in the "Maisie" films, goes to the matches regularly with husband Roger Pryor

VETERAN actor William Powell and his young wife, formerly Diane Lewis, are ardent fans of all kinds of sporting events, including boxing-bouts

ABOVE: Conn has to take hard fall in the picture. The fellow who took Joe Louis' everything—almost—didn't like that part. He usually can take ninecount on one knee, as above, in ring with boxer Roper, referee Donovan ABOVE: Conn gets his face "bloodied" by the make-up man rather than by his opponents in the film. It's less hazardous to the star, more realistic!

INSTITUTION

TONY MARTIN and Lana Turner are seen together often at boxing programs as well as other Hollywood spots

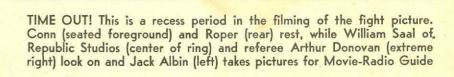

KAY KYSER and his vocalist, Ginny Simms, take in a fight occasionally -but they don't seem to be getting much kick out of bloody noses!

AMONG regular ringsiders are singer Shirley Ross, of 'Thanks for the Memory' fame, and husband Ken Dolan

N HOLLYWOOD, where they fight for publicity, top billing and fabulous paychecks, they also love a real ring fight. Because so many of the motion-picture people are ardent fight fans, Hollywood is one of the best boxing towns in the

Among the most regular movie ringsiders at the Olympic Auditorium and the American Legion Stadium are the Ritz brothers, Edward G. Robinson, George Raft, Alan Hale, Joe E. Brown, the Three Stooges and directors Lloyd Bacon and Norman McLeod. Hugh Herbert goes every week, whether it's a big or little fight. Lupe Velez goes often, roots chiefly for Mexican fighters. Both Mae West and James Cagney used to be constant attenders, but neither has gone much the past couple

Most devoted and conspicuous fight fan in Hollywood is Cary Grant. Grant goes regularly to boxing and wrestling matches at different spots about four times a week. Rowland Brown, now prominent in the motion-picture industry as a writer and director, eighteen years ago was a fighter named Whitey Ross in the middle-weight class in Detroit, Mich. Now he's always in attendance at the fights in Hollywood.

About eight percent of the ringside patrons are movie stars or those from other branches of the motion-picture industry. The average box-office in Hollywood is $6,000 a night. Hollywood Stadium seats 6,400. Olympic Auditorium holds 10,400. Such outstanding fighters as Fidel La Barba, Henry Armstrong, Tommy Loughran, Lou Ambers, Ace Hudkins, Jim Braddock and Mickey Walker have fought in Hollywood. Among the names on the near-future cards are those of Abe Simon, who went thirteen rounds against Joe Louis, and Billy Soose, front-rank middleweight sponsored by Dick Powell.

Barbara Stanwyck Is Swell

IN "YOU BELONG TO ME," a romantic comedy, Barbara Stanwyck portrays a doctor married to a playboy, whose jealousy provides hilarious moments

To Feature Desk:

OVER at Columbia Pictures Barbara Stanwyck has just finished making the Dalton Trumbo romantic comedy "You Belong to Me." In the story Henry Fonda and a young newcomer from Broadway, Roger Clark, fight over Barbara.

It's easy to see why. They don't have to make-believe, for Miss Stanwyck is swell people.

Take the day our Movie-Radio Guide cameraman Jack Albin visited the set to make special, exclusive art. That was the first day Roger Clark, twenty-eight, had ever faced a movie camera. The make-up man told Miss Stanwyck about it, and Barbara, always ready to help, went to bat, asked everybody on set to make his first day as easy as possible. They did, and in the cafe scene, Clark's first, everyone held their fingers crossed for his good luck. It must have worked for he was put under contract immediately by Columbia and will have the second male lead in "Miss Madden Is Willing."

His first day . . . and he had to kiss Miss Stanwyck. That would seem easy, but before cameras for the first time, it wasn't as easy as it looks on paper. Barbara rehearsed once with him, then asked, "What's your name?"

He replied, "Wister Clark, but I use Roger instead of Wister."

Miss Stanwyck snapped back, "No guy named Wister can kiss like that. You stick to Roger!"

However, Clark had a hard physical day of it. The reason was another scene of the same cafe sequence. Henry Fonda is dancing with Barbara and Clark steals a kiss. In retaliation, Fonda tweaks and trips Clark, and he falls to the floor. After eight rehearsals and takes, newcomer Clark decided that movie actors earn their salaries.

It was a Hollywood police officer, expert in the art of ju-jutsu, who coached Fonda in how to throw Clark. But if there's any coaching going around, Barbara always kibitzes; in fact, she learned ju-jutsu tricks first.

Then she called six-foot, 185-pound Fonda from his dressing-room, grasped his right hand and tossed him flat on his back. Fonda feigned unconsciousness and Barbara thought she had injured him, had quite a fright, but everyone wondered how husband Robert Taylor would fare when Barbara practised her tricks on him.

Stanwyck likes her gags. She's full of them. But there isn't a more sympathetic or nicer girl in Hollywood. Yep, Stanwyck is swell people.

BETWEEN TAKES of "You Belong to Me," Henry Fonda (above) tested lovely Barbara Stanwyck's knowledge on the art of ju-jutsu, and Barbara obligingly gave him a demonstration. Although she is only five feet, weighs a slight 120 pounds, Miss Stanwyck is quite capable of taking care of herself anywhere, and with the greatest of ease she tossed a surprised Fonda flat on his back

DIRECTOR Wesley Ruggles (left) shows newcomer Roger Clark (rear) how he is to approach the dancing Barbara and Fonda to steal a kiss in "You Belong to Me"

LUCKY ROGER CLARK'S first assignment was to rehearse kiss with Miss Stanwyck. He was nervous until Barbara said, "No guy named Wister (Clark's first name) kisses like that"

HENRY FONDA, to get even with Clark for kissing Miss Stanwyck (she's his wife in "You Belong to Me"), neatly trips Clark, sends him (far left) sprawling onto the floor

THIS IS how movie-making looks to a director. Ruggles (I.) with assistant Norman Deming (r.) lines up camera. "You Belong to Me" was Ruggles' last for Columbia. He's now with M-G-M

A Day With Joan Crawford

JOAN CRAWFORD, after a long, strenuous day before the camera and managing her own affairs, finds time to watch rushes (above) of the previous day's work on "When Ladies Meet," a comedy-drama in which two women, who become warm friends, discover that they love the same man. The picture features an all-star cast, includes Robert Taylor, Greer Garson, Herbert Marshall

IN THE TWO PICTURES above from 'When Ladies Meet," Bob Taylor had to eat an apple while Joan Crawford talked to him. He'd start a fresh one each rehearsal, consume it afterward

WHEN TAYLOR went home that night stuffed with apples, his wife, Barbara Stanwyck (tipped off) had apple compote, apple cider, fried apple rings, apple pie for his dinner!

BOB TAYLOR in "When Ladies Meet" is the impetuous lover, and through a clever ruse brings his sweetheart, Joan Crawford, author, who thinks she's in love with her publisher, Herbert Marshall, to her senses. (1) Rivals clash. (2) Joan plans a rendezvous with her publisher. (3) Happy romantic ending

To News Desk:

SPENDING a day with Joan Crawford is a busy, but an enjoyable assignment, and regardless of how busy she may be Joan finds time for everything. Movie stars who complain they never have time to do anything because their work is such a burden could profit highly by spending a day with Miss Crawford.

To see how Joan manages running her home, shopping and giving out interviews right from the set, Movie-Radio Guide visited her while she was making "When Ladies Meet," a gay, breezy comedy, with Robert Taylor, Greer Garson and Herbert Marshall.

In the story Miss Crawford, a writer of popular books on romance, begins to believe what she writes and is faced with a choice between two men, one married. Taylor is the fellow who wants to marry her. Herbert Marshall, the other man, is Greer Garson's husband.

But to get back to spending a day with Miss Crawford. Joan rises at 6 a.m., has a substantial breakfast which she eats while dressing. One of few stars who puts on her own make-up, she is generally on the set early.

Since her portable dressing-room on the set is a sort of a second home, it is equipped with all the comforts, including a direct telephone line to her home. Between scenes of "When Ladies Meet," Joan talks with her staff at home, figures out menus, checks on her two adopted youngsters, looks at new clothes and keeps an average of ten to twelve appointments a day.

Miss Crawford does all her shopping from newspapers. Salesgirls, who have been her friends for years, send out several dresses, accessories from which she chooses.

In the afternoon she gives up her spare time for interviews, talks with her agent and other visitors. At a quarter to six the nurse arrives, usually with Christina, and they drive home together. Joan spends the next hour with Christina and Christopher, supervising their meals. Then she has dinner and studies her lines for next day.

This gives Joan a long day, and an arduous one, but she enjoys being busy, manages to combine her various roles of actress, mother and head of the house with such ease that it looks simple.

Yes, those stars who complain they haven't time for anything could profit by following Joan's routine.—W. M.

One of Movie-Radio Guide's editors is a close friend of the Victor Matures. Last August 27 he drove Mrs. Mature, the former Martha Kemp, to the Burbank airport, after having driven her over to Goldwyn's for a "good-by" scene with hubby Victor Mature. They were a half-hour late to the airport because of a deluge of persistent reporters who kept jabbing at Mrs. Mature with the question, "Are you going to get a divorce?"

Mrs. Mature, who is East to see her baby and get a medical check-up, retorted, "No! I'm not going to get a divorce. If I got a divorce as often as you snooping would-be scoopers said I was, I'd be a pretty busy girl, wouldn't I?"

Boyer Love Dispatch

From Paramount's Charles Boyer this week comes a communique on how to handle women that carries more strategy than any two garrulous generals could think up. If you agree

UNLIKE MANY screen personalities who flare briefly into the headlines as a new Hollywood romantic twosome, George Raft and lovely Betty Grable have been going together quite steadily for some time. Always shy and reticent in the Screen Capital's popular rendezvous, George and Betty, in a fun-making mood, recently posed for the delightfully amusing picture above at Charlie Foy's supper-club. that a healthy home life is our second line of defense, then all men should read the following quotes of Mr. Boyer, or every frustrated wife should see that her hubby does.

Says Mr. Boyer: "There are three masculine schools of thought in the United States as far as the treatment of women is concerned. There is the male mind which believes that the opposite sex should be treated roughly. Another subscribes to indifference. A third believes in handling the situation, and the woman, tenderly.

"In spite of all that has been said against them, women are human. Fundamentally, they have the same reactions as men. They wish to be treated with kindness and consideration; they enjoy flattery; they appreciate compliments; they revel in small thoughtfulnesses; they enjoy having their egos expanded.

"I am sure that any man can accomplish far more in bringing a woman to his viewpoint by kindliness, by honest and sincere devotion, than he can by crawling into a shell or hitting her in the face with a grape-

"Bubbles" Says "No!"

Hollywood's scribes and guess-men last week had "Bubbles" Schinasi, erstwhile wife of Wayne Morris, writing a book about a man. The man was supposed to be a movie star in general, Wayne Morris in particular. Said "Bubbles" to your reporter when queried, "I am writing a book, but it's not about a man. It's about a girl. If there is a man in the story, it isn't Wayne Morris, and the girl in the story isn't me!"

Gallup Poll Statistics

When the results of the Gallup survey of the tastes of Mr. and Mrs. Average Theater-Goer were made known recently, some of Hollywood's "let-the-parade-go-by" moguls were given shock treatment for free. It was also more than somewhat interesting to some stars. Among other things, the poll clearly indicated that a majority of Mr. and Mrs. America resent the large salaries paid the stars. It was also shown that any star who makes less than three pictures a year is faced with a declining popularity, and ditto is true of the stars who try to get away with more than three pictures a year. When asked to specify their type of picture preference, 33.6 percent of the movie-see-ers said "comedy or light entertainment." Twenty percent indicated "no preference," leaving something like 47 percent to be divided among the various other types of pictures. Interesting item is that musicals and romance each garnered only 4 percent, while war and propaganda pictures could salvage a little over 2 percent of the RKO stood the expense of the poll survey, found out that the M-G-M-er, Spencer Tracy, was the nation's number one box-office attraction.

LIFE STATISTICS

Raye-Lang Rift?

Most persistent rumor in Hollywood today is that the Martha Raye-Neal Lang marriage is about to crack up, which, if it comes to pass, will mark the third marital tailspin for Martha. Such rumors, which come from a very reliable source, knock into a cocked hat any plans the couple had of adopting a child.

Divorce Proceedings

If the proper $$$$$ arrangements can be made, finis is about to be written into the story marriage chapter of Lili Damita and Errol Flynn. Attorneys are working to effect a property settlement and, if negotiations are satisfactorily concluded, Flynn will not contest the action.

Da-Da Data

Name of the Veronica Lake baby is Elaine Keane Detlie. Veronica just liked the name "Elaine," and her real name is Constance Keane . . . Comely Virginia Bruce, wife of J. Walter Ruben, producer, became the mother of a six-pound-eleven-ounce boy August 26. Mrs. Ruben also has a daughter, nine, by a former marriage to the late John Gilbert.

Cross-Country Reconciliation

The marital life of Alex D'Arcy and Arleen Whelan is all "peaches and cream" again. After a hectic off-again, on-again marriage, the couple has finally decided on the latter. They may not have convinced everyone of their sincerity, but at least they did Howard Hughes. They are now en route to New York by auto on a talent quest for that gentleman.

Surprise Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Weissmuller, who have been rumored apart so much that their mail comes general delivery, surprised everyone by celebrating their second anniversary together August 20. It was a good week for Johnny. Just the Sunday previous he had scorched the Lakeside golf course with a six under par, sixtyfour. He came within a half-inch of an ace on one of the short holes.

Marjorie Weaver in Reno

Marjorie Weaver, secretly wed October 22, 1937, to Lieut. Kenneth G. Schacht of the United States Navy and with whom she declares she lived but sixteen days, has gone to Reno to establish residence for the purpose of filing a divorce action. Schacht has been stationed at Manila for two years. Another Reno resident of the moment is Maureen O'Hara, who is washing up a wedding she consummated a few days before she left England for the States.

Nancy Kelly Makes Up

Nancy Kelly and her husband-offand-on of several months, Edmond O'Brien, have kissed and made up. Divorce plans have been halted, and a brand-new honeymoon trip is in prospect as soon as O'Brien gets back from personal appearances in the East —and before October, when Nancy is to sell kisses at ten dollars apiece at the Junior League Ball at Dayton, Ohio.

Ruby Keeler to Try Again

Friends confide that Ruby Keeler, ex-wife of Al Jolson, is about to wed John Lowe, socialite of Pasadena, California, sometime in September. Other pending nuptials are those of Herbert Anderson, young Warner actor spotted well in "Navy Blues," and Peggy Chalmers, Wisconsin University senior. Franchot Tone, his intimates declare, is serious over Earl Carroll lovely Jean Wallace and is planning to make her his wife in November.

ASSIGNMENTS

Roz Russell Leaves Metro

Rosalind Russell is now a former talented Metro star. The capable actress' contract with M-G-M expired last August 26 and the two principals didn't get together for a renewal. Most adhesive rumor is that Russell will sign with Columbia for one picture at a figure around $100,000. The picture in mind for her is "My Sister Eileen," a former New York stage hit.

Olivia for Lane

Olivia de Havilland, who is just finishing "They Died With Their Boots On" with Errol Flynn, will be cast immediately as the lead in "The Male Animal" with Henry Fonda. Olivia re-

HOLLYWOOD HODGE-PODGE

ETRO, with future thoughts in mind, is having Pat Dane study the late Jean Harlow's flickers . . . Dick Powell owns four boats—two cruisers, a speedboat and a sailboat . . American films have been banned in 11,160 theaters in Hitler-dominated Europe. That covers over one-half of the potential theater-goers . . . Frances Langford will warble on the next Bob Hope program series . . . George Sanders and Andy Devine are constant set-sleepers—only Devine snores! . . Lana Turner is wearing a cute V-shaped hat . . . Paul Muni is considering doing the life of Houdini . . . Among Dottie Lamour's collection of sarongs is one crocheted by a Denver fireman.

places Priscilla Lane, who was originally set for the part but was taken out and matched with Richard Whorf, her new leading man, in "Remember Tomorrow."

Cooper to Africa

Sam Goldwyn, who is the brunt of a lot of Hollywood's anecdotes, is dumb like "The Little Foxes," a picture that will serve him plenty of dumplings. His next venture, after "Ball of Fire," starring Cooper and Stanwyck, will find him sending Cooper clear to Africa on location for an Ernest Hemingway story called "The Short But Happy Life of Francis Macomber." Goldwyn says war and high water won't keep them from getting to Africa, and Cooper is all for it.

EN ROUTE

Powers' Back in Town

Ty Power and Annabella are back in Hollywood after a sensational success with the play "Liliom" back in Westport, Conn. Once while the play was going on Ty had to plane it to Hollywood to remake the ending of "A Yank in the R. A. F.," after which he hopped right back to Westport. Once back there, he told his audience, "I had to fly six thousand miles to find out how nice it was to get back to Westport." Such adroit, timely remarks must have a lot to do with the powerhouse-draw of Power.

Grable-Raft Plan New York Trek

Betty Grable and George Raft are planning a New York vacation, which they hope will be topped by a "subway" World Series between the Yankees and the no-longer-daffy Dodgers. George feels that the Brooklyn club is the nearest thing to a cinch to cop the bunting because of the break they get in the remaining schedule.

HONORS

Blondell a "Sweetheart"

In a ceremony that held all the pomp and ritual of a true military spectacle, Joan Blondell on August 20 was "knighted" "Sweetheart of the Guard" by the California State Guard. After the military guard had presented her in welcome, she was knighted, then given an engraved silver saber, emblematic of her newly acquired honor. (See page 1.)

Cooper Honored for "York"

Veterans of Foreign Wars have presented Gary Cooper with its Distinguished Citizenship Medal for the great job he did in portraying the title role in "Sergeant York."

HOSPITALIZED

Honeymoon Appendectomy

The honeymoon appendectomies of William Holden and wife, Brenda Marshall, finally became a fact when Brenda underwent the operation August 27 and thus joined Bill, who had parted with his appendix a few days earlier. Both are doing fine.

Flu Bites Hayward

In the hospital with a severe case of flu is Susan Hayward. The young actress had just finished her role in "Reap the Wild Wind." Another hospitalee is Pat Dane, in for a slight operation.

HOLLYWOOD MERRY-GO-ROUND

Most scorching romance in town is Ginger Rogers and George Montgomery. Ginger has invited him to be a house guest at her Oregon ranch and George has accepted . . . Cary Grant and "Babs" Hutton are in Mexico City. They will return soon—still unmarried . . . Randolph Scott and Carole Landis have "found" each other.

Movie-Radio Guide Critics' Report

COMING ATTRACTION: "When Ladies Meet," M-G-M's romantic comedy, brings to the screen a brilliant all-star foursome. Robert Taylor (left) loves Joan Crawford, who loves Herbert Marshall (right), who is Greer Garson's hubby. After a series of complications, the women get together, discover who really loves whom

Special Review: "NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH"

Cast: Bob Hope, Paulette Goddard, Edward Arnold, Leif Erikson, Glen Anders, Helen Vinson and Grant Mitchell. A Paramount picture. Produced by Arthur Hornblow, Jr. Directed by Elliott Nugent, Screen play by Don Hartman and Ken Englund. From the play by James and the novel by Frederick S.

Type of Picture: They have changed that old adage of "Where there's life there's hope" to "Where there's fun there's Bob Hope." The ski-nosed comedian has scored another funinfected hit in "Nothing But the Truth." Ably aided by Paulette Goddard, Edward Arnold and a shay full of supporting characters that are tops, Hope and troupe haul to the screen a load of hilarity-packed situations and fast and furious fun-chatter that should satisfy every Hope fan and anyone else who enjoys letting his or her muscles relax into a smile. This comedy spasm also debunks again those subversive dimwits who have the gall to claim that Hollywood has transformed itself into a propaganda tinder-box trying to ignite the great American public into their way of thinking.

This Is the Story: Bob Hope, as a young, insolvent stock-broker, in a rash moment bets $10,000 of Paulette Goddard's money that he can tell the truth for twenty-four hours. He makes good, but only after he has about ruined one marriage, embarrassed some very influential people, nearly drowned himself as he hides in a fishbait trap, enmeshed himself in various ladies' boudoirs while clad only in a fluffy woman's dressing gown, and about obliterated his own romantic hopes for Goddard. There is also a lot of clock-setting forward and backward, and that old laugh-reliable colored gentleman, Willie Best, is right there when the blue chips are

Verdict: While the premise of the picture is a little trite and threadbare, it should make little difference to those who want a good old bellylaugh for their kopecks. Being diedin-the-wool Hope-ites, we might be a little biased, but if you liked "Caught in the Draft," you'll look for the nearest aisle to roll in when this picture hits your neighborhood theater.

BOB WINS THE BET, but only after a series of hilarious scenes which add to his status as a top comedian

IN "NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH," Bob Hope, a young stockbroker, bets $10,000 he can tell the truth for a day

PAULETTE GODDARD, with whom Bob has fallen in love, gave Hope money, thinks he invested it for her

F YOU know a boy in the Army, whether a son, brother or friend, drop him a note. Tell him that once again the movies are going to make life a little more bearable for him. While columnists have been reporting alleged low morale in the Army, Senators asserting Hollywood is trying to drum up a war, this has happened:
An agreement has been reached between theater owners and Army posts which will now make it possible for soldiers to see new pictures in their own camp theaters as soon as they are released to the public. Previously pictures have been held back and given to soldiers second-hand.

As we write this we have just returned from a pleasant afternoon at the home of Irene Dunne, who is currently to be seen in "Unfinished Business." Irene asked us if we'd had lunch, which we hadn't, and suggested a small sandwich. There followed two large hamburgers, salad, coffee, pie and other trimmings, after which Irene posed for a Movie-Radio Guide cover to appear in a few weeks.

Miss Dunne prefers not to have writers dwell on her ladylike qualities and doesn't like to brag about her game of golf, which is sound and well above average. She doesn't like to pose for fashion pictures and was at the moment complaining about the new fashions which are semi-dictated by war conditions. "Everything is up in front and down in back," she said, indicating a skirt with a "V" in the front. This type of thing will have most ladies this fall look as though they are leaning over backward.

Miss Dunne is our choice for the most interesting star of the season. No heavy bag of sex-appeal tricks. No agonizing emoting. She's just a fine actress, doing an excellent job, look-ing like a thoroughbred—and not using her singing voice enough!

This Week In Radio

New shows: Football show, Sunday; Orson Welles, Monday; Bob Burns, Tuesday; Ginny Simms, Friday

Saturday, September 13

Nan Grey, remembered by radio listeners as Kathy in "Those We Love," and Dean Jagger, who played the title role in the film "Brigham Young," will co-star on "Lincoln Highway" (NBC, 10:00 a.m. EDT, 9:00 a.m. EST) . . . Dr. A. J. Cronin will discuss his own latest hit novel, "Keys of the Kingdom," on the "Of Men and Books" program. In addition he will review "No Other Road to Freedom," by war-renowned newspaper correspondent Leland Stowe, and books by other authors (CBS, 2:30 p.m. EDT, 1:30 p.m. EST) . . . "A Holiday and a Hearse" is the grim title of a mystery story to be performed on "Knickerbocker Playhouse" (NBC, 8:00 p.m. EDT, 7:00 p.m. EST).

Sunday, September 14

"Second Guessers" is a new football-guide program beginning this week, featuring coaches Lou Little of Columbia, Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern and Clark Shaughnessy of Stanford and sports writers Henry McLemore, Francis Powers and Bill Leiser (NBC, 12:00 noon EDT, 11:00 a.m. EST) . . "These Four Men" is a series of living biographies of the four most important men in the world today—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Josef Stalin and Adolf Hitler. The program started September 7 with Churchill's biography. The others follow (NBC, 7:00 p.m. EDT, 6:00 p.m. EST) . . Catholic Holy Hour, to be held in Chicago's Soldier Field before a mammoth crowd, will be broadcast Coast to Coast, with Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch as principal participant (MBS, 10:00 p.m. EDT, 9:00 p.m. EST).

Monday, September 15

"Cavalcade of America" will present a dramatization of the exploits of Stephen Decatur, brilliant early American naval commander, with Karl Swenson, who has starred on numerous "Cavalcade" broadcasts, again in the lead role (NBC, 7:30 p.m. EDT, 6:30 p.m. EST) . . . Orson Welles strides once again onto the radio stage with a new commercial series (CBS, 10:00 p.m. EDT, 9:00 p.m. EST). (For further details see story on page 36.)

Tuesday, September 16

Bob Burns, gabbiest if not greatest native son of Van Buren, Ark., blows himself to new heights as star of his own new program, "Arkansas Traveler," beginning this week. Burns plays a kindly, homespun character who wanders about doing good deeds for the benefit of those he meets—and passing out plenty of his particular brand of humor for the benefit of listeners (CBS, 8:30 p.m. EDT, 7:30 p.m. EST) . . . Archbishop Francis J. Spellman, Rev. Robert I. Gannon, president of Fordham University, and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York will address the President's Dinner in connection with the Fordham Centenary Celebration (MBS, 10:30 p.m. EDT, 9:30 p.m. EST).

Wednesday, September 17 Bob Hope will appear as guest on

"Hedda Hopper's Hollywood" as the Hollywood columnist broadcasts from Milwaukee, where she is an honor guest of the American Legion National Convention (CBS, 6:15 p.m. EDT, 5:15 p.m. EST) . . . "Treasury Hour" will present among this week's features the ventriloquial comedy of Edgar Bergen and an Arch Oboler playlet written especially to suit the dramatic intensity of motion-picture actress Greer Garson, who will make a guest appearance (CBS, 9:00 p.m. EDT, 8:00 p.m. EST).

Thursday, September 18

Groucho Marx will barge into the Vallee-Barrymore humor session in a skit called "Dr. Thorndyke Marx." The story calls for Rudy to bring John into a sanatorium run by Groucho. It's very touching—to the funnybone (NBC, 10:00 p.m. EDT, 9:00 p.m. EST).

Friday, September 19

"First Nighter," now ringing up the curtain on its twelfth triumphant year on the air, moves back to Friday night, effective this week (CBS, 9:30 p.m. EDT, 8:30 p.m. EST) . . . Ginny Simms, who has just terminated her tremendously popular job as vocalist with Kay Kyser's band to launch her individual movie career, is not deserting radio altogether. Listeners can catch at least five minutes of Simmsstyle singing in a brief new commercial program which begins this Friday, to be heard once each week thereafter (CBS, 9:55 p.m. EDT, 8:55 p.m. EST).

BOB BURNS tunes up his famed bazooka in preparation for the premiere this Tuesday of his new CBS show, "Arkansas Traveler." On his ranch in the San Fernando Valley, Calif., the master of gaseous stories and gas-pipe music has a blue-ribbon mule, Champ, that helps him keep the Ozark touch, and he has a bird that whistles "Arkansas Traveler"

In percentage points the survey indicates that 93.5 percent of the compositions played were foreign, while only 6.5 percent were by native Americans. The survey shows that most of the large musical organizations in this country regard modern music as a principally European product. The Chicago Symphony Orchestra evidenced the greatest 10r. #### SIDELIGHTS

That's My Kid!

New York.—People who try to get into broadcasting studios even though they don't have tickets have been known to pass some smart alibis. Rated highly by the ticket collector at the CBS "Treasury Hour" program is this, heard the night the "Quiz Kids" were guests on the show, "But you must let me in, I am the mother of one of the children." It might have worked except that twenty-three women tried it and there were only five Quiz Kids on the air that night!

How "You and I" Started

HOLLYWOOD. - Meredith Willson's song, "You and I," has grown to its current hit proportions just since last April. Willson wrote it as a theme song for "Coffee Time" when the ASCAP war began. Then at the suggestion of Bing Crosby he wrote lyrics for the tune. It was sung first by Dick Powell on "Coffee Time," then soon afterward by Crosby.

Wiley Works

Hollywoop.—The disarmingly casual manner in which Fletcher Wiley talks about complex subjects on his CBS commentary often belies the tremendous amount of research behind his discourses. For instance, back of his discussion of allergies recently were eleven hours of painstaking research by Wiley and a member of his staff. They read seven magazine articles, thumbed through two books and conferred for an hour with a medical specialist. All the information was compressed into eleven terse factual sentences which were used as the basis of the ad lib discussion.

True Fish Story

New York.—Colored comedian Eddie Anderson (Rochester) has discovered that going fishing every night following his personal appearances at the Strand Theater can be an expensive habit. The boat bringing him back from a point in the Atlantic was late. As a result the Strand stage show had to go on without him. And as a later result the Music Corporation of America, his bookers, fined him five hundred dollars.

EDDIE FIRESTONE, juvenile acting star, is heard as "That Brewster Boy" in the new sketch of that name (NBC, Monday nights)

Those Barrymore Boys!

HOLLYWOOD.-The Barrymore brothers have exploited their lately discovered talent as a comedy team to such an extent that Lionel has been signed for one appearance a month on the program which has successfully co-starred his kid brother John and Rudy Vallee. In addition, another guest who made a big hit on the Vallee show, Edna Mac Oliver, will appear once a month for four months, beginning October 4.

Benny on Records

HOLLYWOOD.-West Coast listeners will have to tune in on NBC-Blue stations to hear Jack Benny's show this season. An agreement between Benny and his sponsors permits the comedian to forego his customary repeat broadcast. Instead, recordings of the show will be made and put on the air the same evening for West Coast listeners. NBC's policy forbids recordings on the Red network, hence the switch of the rebroadcast to the Blue stations.

Langford Joins Hope

HOLLYWOOD.—Frances Langford has been signed to appear regularly on the Bob Hope show this season. The Moonglow Girl will fly to Chicago to appear on Hope's first show, September 23, in the Windy City.

Archie Priority Victim?

New York .- "Duffy's Tavern," the comedy program starring Ed Gardner as Archie, may have to seek a new sponsor this fall. Last season the show was sponsored by a razor company, which this year fears it may have to curtail its output because of defense demands for high-grade steel stocks and is consequently considering withdrawing its sponsorship of the radio program.

ISTENERS who write to this correspondent dwell upon a number of different topics, but invariably the week's mail contains letters from listeners who complain about the great preponderance of swing music heard in the late-evening hours.

by Martin Lewis

One of the reasons why swing swamps the ether at night is the allegation by radio broadcasters that the larger part of the listening public demands it. That certainly is a debatable point. As a matter of fact the greater proportion of listeners late in the evening are the older folk, who certainly cannot be described as swing advocates. If that is true, then why does swing run rampant over the kilocycles during the evening hours when the young jitterbugs are in bed?

The station or network finds it much easier and certainly more economical to air the music of a band playing at a regular dance-spot than to hire a studio orchestra and attempt to broadcast a regular studio program.

What is their gain, however, is the listener's loss. On the other hand, if a competing station should decide to present a program of quiet, soothing music, the tables would probably be reversed. Anyway, we believe that such a program would draw an audience of enthusiastic and appreciative listeners.

Typical of the type of programs we have in mind for the late-evening period is the "Moonbeams" program which some years ago was heard over station WOR in New York. Another exceptionally entertaining late-evening program was heard over NBC. It featured Shandor and his violin. Ralph Kirbery, the dream singer, was another. That these music programs were highly regarded by listeners is attested by the fact that even today they are still strong in many people's memory. There is need for better programming in the late-evening hours and we hope one of the major net-works will hear the Voice of the Lis-

GENERAL

Radio Warned of Spies

NEW YORK .- The Federal Communications Commission has warned all radio stations to exercise extreme caution in permitting visitors to penetrate into vital places in the broadcasting studios. Specifically mentioned as possible fifth columnists were representatives of foreign governments. "These representatives should be admitted only with the consent of the U. S. Government," said the FCC.

Elson, Barber Do Series

Boston.-Bob Elson, of Chicago's WGN, and Red Barber, of New York's WOR, will again team up to broadcast for the third consecutive year the World Series, according to an announcement made by the president of the safety-razor company which has sponsored the baseball classic for the past few years. It will be Elson's thirteenth series, Barber's seventh. mammoth network of nearly 300 stations will carry the broadcasts, which will also be short-waved.

NEW YORK.—Alice Frost, long-time star of "Big Sister," leaves the serial sometime this month to do free-lance radio acting. The replacement for the blond actress has not been announced yet. Miss Frost was recently married to William Tuttle, the program's director.

A guide for listeners who love great music

MEREDITH WILLSON, guest conductor of this week's "Ford Summer Hour" program (CBS, Sunday)

MUSIC NOTES: Despite demands by the press and other interested bodies, a survey by the National Music Council reveals that only 92 of the 1413 musical compositions played by the nation's sixteen leading control of the national of the nati the National Music Council reveals that only 92 of the 1413 musical compositions played by the nation's sixteen leading concert orchestras during the past season were native American works. In percentage points the survey indicates that 93.5 percent of the compositions played were foreign, while only 6.5 percent were by native Americans. The survey shows that most of the large musical organizations in this country regard modern music as a principally European product. The Chicago Symphony Orchestra evidenced the greatest sympathy toward American works, according to the survey. They played twelve works by mative Americans . Orchestraleader Raymond Paige is busy rehearsing his League of Young Americans Orchestra, and is expected to debut it at Carnegie Hall in October . . . Conductor Alfred Wallenstein will be on vacation this week. Conducting the Sinfonietta while he is away will be Nicolai Berezowsky, who has guest conducted the Boston the Sintonierta while he is away will be Nicolai Berezowsky, who has guest-conducted the Boston Symphony and other orchestras. By the way, that vacation of Wallenstein's will not prevent him from being on hand to conduct the Voice of Firestone pro-

MEET AMERICA'S FRENZIED FEMALE TRAITOR

Jane Anderson, U. S.-born friend of appeasers and fascists, shrieks for Hitler on short wave

European News in English

Morning

Edited by Charles A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers
Alliance

N SUNDAYS and Thursdays at 10 p.m. EDT Berlin's human word-geyser gushes forth. In a harsh, nasal voice but with an astounding vocabulary of words, Jane Anderson, female Goebbels minion, shrieks her denunciations of communism, weaves a gory spell around her listeners. Her dramatic and oratorical outbursts—presumably aimed at the intelligentsia—are frequently illustrated with incidents so bloody, so nauseating that they make the worst episodes in such a book as "Out of the Night" sound like experiences at a Sunday-school picnic.

Like other traitors on the North

SEE SHORT-WAVE PROGRAM LISTINGS OPPOSITE PAGE

American staff of the Berlin Shortwave Station Jane Anderson was born in the United States. Little is known of her life prior to the Spanish civil war. At this time she emerged as a violent champion of the Fascist cause. Her activities in Spain became notorious. Twice she was sentenced to death, escaped both times. As the Marquesa de Cienfuegos - she had married a Spanish aristocrat-she returned to the United States. Here she stumped the country in behalf of the Franco cause, her violent attacks on the Spanish republican government being applauded by Hearst publications. Her articles appeared in Century, Harper's and Colliers. According to the magazine Friday she addressed a pro-Franco meeting in May, 1938, which was sponsored by Anne Morgan, sister of J. P., and James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany. Later denounced as a Fascist agent she was actually defended by certain individuals in the Department of State. As things got a bit too hot for her in this country she departed in 1939 on a "mission" to Spain.

The next that was heard of Jane Anderson was her first propaganda broadcast from Berlin, made in the spring of 1941. Hitler was her new sponsor. Always introduced as the "famous Catholic orator who was twice sentenced to death during the Spanish conflict," she presumably is independent in her utterances, does not always sympathize with the Nazi view on religion. Her sentences are long and involved, her words clipped. As she reaches the climax of her presentations she gradually works herself into a white heat, her words now tumbling over one another like logs shooting over a waterfall.

She says, "The consecrated sword of Catholicism has been delivered to me; the Catholic church will support me in my crusade against the com-munistic menace to the world." The Hitler legions she likens to "Christian soldiers marching against the forces of anti-Christ." Continuing in the same vein she holds that "the sacred Vatican is the only voice against Soviet Russia—the universal enemy of mankind. Only one man now stands out against the red bludgeoned, mad beast of Moscow - this Stalin - at whose instance Trotsky was strangled, hung on meat-hooks and left to die as a symbol to his comrades. That man who stands out in the image of God is Adolf Hitler." Speaking of the Spanish civil war she claims that Britain, through the Rothschilds, financed the communistic campaign; claims that a Soviet commissar told her Russia has key sabotage men in every newspaper office, in every radio station in the United States.

Jane Anderson's broadcasts are degrading and unwarranted even in the interests of international propaganda. While I do not question her personal sincerity to her cause, her methods are so revolting that I doubt if sincere religious individuals of any faith would sanction her ravings.

For some of the facts concerning Jane Anderson's life I am indebted to Friday, the CBS and the BBC Press.

With this article we conclude the series of stories about the Berlin propagandists in the North American service. I hope that we have been able to expose their—in most cases—questionable backgrounds; their traitorous attacks on their native country; their tricks and insincerity; their insistent but unsuccessful attempts to sell us the doctrines of Nazism.

The Canadian Listening Post

Canada's listening post is a war baby. The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's news service of which the listening post forms a part was born January 1, 1941. Italy, Germany, Greece (when it was the Voice of Greece at war), Moscow, Brazzaville, Australia are regularly monitored. Sweden, Portugal, Turkey, Mozambique, Algiers, Budapest, Tokyo occasionally. At 7:30 a.m. the "waydown-under" voice gives news and talks of Australia's war effort.

The listening post is located at the CBC Shortwave Station, five miles out of Ottawa. A gray building, it squats amid grassy lawns surrounded by tall red-and-white masts. In the listening post the monitors have their own receiving-sets and operate them themselves-at least when it's fair sailing. At other times they have the help of the efficient engineers of the station. Here, seventeen hours a day, waves of news and billows of sound and fury roll in. It is the listeners' job-incidentally, they are all women-to sort out the wheat from the tares, separate the live news from the viscid mass of Goebbels' effusions.

INSIDE STORY

of Orson Welles' Return to Radio

Radio's wonder boy went to Hollywood, started a revolution. Now that he's back on the air, here's what you can expect!

UNPREDICTABLE as is Orson Welles, he can always be counted on to keep in the public eye. Evidence are these candid shots of Welles directing radio play with contortions of a veteran scene-stealer. But behind the show is the genius who thrilled and shocked American radio listeners, made "Citizen Kane," who now returns to radio (Monday, CBS)

ON'T be too shocked if you suddenly find strange rabbits jumping from your loudspeaker these coming Monday nights. Don't be too surprised if the magician in charge is a youth by the name of Orson Welles.

Superman Orson comes back to the air in a super-series which may even turn up some super-super-broadcasts. Every Monday night, beginning this week, you can tune in his new CBS program and expect to be entertained—and quite possibly thrilled, jolted or scared stiff. You just can't tell about Orson, you know.

It was only a couple of years ago that the Men from Mars power-dived out of the ether and turned a radio play into a national nightmare and Orson Welles into a national phenomenon. Since then Herr Hitler and his monstrous Nazi machine have made Mars' previous thunder sound like the sigh of a sick ghost and Welles' show stunt seem like a childhood fantasy out of the long past.

But wonderworker Welles these past few years hasn't relaxed the grip he got on the public imagination with that spectacular and controversial broadcast, Personally and professionally, his flair for the unpredictable and the solidly entertaining has continued to flourish. He got himself a big commercial radio series and, they say, haggled with his bosses frequently because they didn't want him to do so much sober drama. Then he invaded Hollywood and got himself talked and written about plenty for seemingly doing nothing definite about his first picture production. Finally his "Citizen Kane" came to the screen in spite of a nation-wide campaign of opposition. And "Citizen Kane" proved to be technically something of a motion-picture revolution, launching Welles into a movie career that promises to be as spectacular as his radio career.

Orson has indeed kept himself in the public eye—and hair occasionally. There was his divorce and subsequent—and current—romance with Dolores Del Rio. There was the play "His Honor, the Mayor," which he wrote and produced for the patriotic radio series "The Free Company," and which drew loud cries of "Red!" from a newspaper chain, causing Orson to point out simply that much of the dialog in his play had been drawn from Lincoln and the Bill of Rights.

Now he returns to the medium that boosted him from the nameless actor who used to play the Shadow to the acting-writing-producing genius whose name is a byword for showmanship and dramatic appeal. In this new series he will work for a sponsor who has heretofore specialized in sweet music. That does not mean Welles will croon. It doesn't mean he won't, cither! You just can't tell. A safe player wouldn't even bet that poised and ponderous Orson won't stage and star in a jive session. He has been exposed to Hollywood, you know. And he's Orson Welles.

And he does have a free hand in this new series.

REMEMBERING his former commercial friction, Orson obtained from his new sponsor carte blanche in selection, planning and production of the programs. However, the series will not be based predominantly on serious drama. Even there Welles has broken with his own tradition. According to his own announced designs, his forthcoming shows will cover a wide range in types of radio entertainment. Not all programs will even be strictly dramatic in form. "Infinite variety," is Welles' own new slogan.

ALTHOUGH details of the specific broadcasts are still a mystery—even to Welles in a measure—several phases of what is in prospect are known. For instance, it is definite that Welles will again have the regular support of his own troupe, the Mercury Players, and that his offerings will again be backed by the finished musicianship of Bernard Herrmann.

Startlingly revolutionary in the field of commercial radio is the prospect that there will be no opening commercial announcement on the show—only a half-way advertisement and a closing spiel. The program will open with a casual "Hello. This is Orson Welles." And bang! the show is on. The "bang" may backfire, fizzle—or be a big explosion!

We'll have to wait and see .- D. M.

Louella Parsons' Birthday Party

among the ladies and gentry who broadcast "Hollywood Premiere" (Fri., CBS) within a single warm August week was a starting point for one of the most unusual parties of the year in Hollywood.

One of the favored four, bustling gossiper Louella Parsons, who host-esses the show, was behind it all.

The party really began with the broadcast at Hollywood's Radio City. When announcer Harlow Wilcox introduced Miss Parsons to studio audience, Felix Mills and his orchestra struck up "Happy Birthday," and one of the actors came on stage with a birthday cake boasting sixteen lighted candles. Wil-cox then presented Miss Parsons with a gold pen and pencil set from the company. To each of four hundred guests in studio audience, after the performance, went an individually wrapped sliver of the cake.

Proceeding to Marsons Farms, cast and producers and guests hunted their own birthday gifts, found them wrapped with horoscopes according to birth dates. Gifts were an exchange

THE coincidence of four birthdays among the ladies and gentry who broadcast "Hollywood Premiere" (Fri., CBS) within a single warm August proposition, cost a quarter or less. While the party had been planned originally to celebrate birthdays of Miss Parsons, script girl Virginia Damron, agency producer Bill Moore and guest co-star Jean Parker, it was dis-covered that several other "Hollywood Premiere" folk, including Felix Mills, also had birthdays within the week, so the birthday table grew larger and larger—also the cake, a grand three-tiered affair. Ice cream was size and shape of soap which Parsons program advertises. Biggest laugh of a hilarious evening came when Louella opened one box to find a miniature flour sack filled with—and so labeled—"Dirt From Hollywood"!

CONDUCTOR PERCY FAITH, who gained a reputation in Canada for streamlining the classics, sending swing to college, is trim, urbane at broadcasts, but quite the opposite at rehearsals. Progressively, then, he removes coat, vest, rolls up first one sleeve, then the other until complete informality prevails. Faith made his concert debut at the age of fifteen. Through the years stars and conductors have come and gone and program formulae have been adjusted to a changing American scene, but always the touchstone of this broadcast's enduring popularity has remainedsimple, "contented" music. That is the striking thing to an old-timer who visits a Carnation program today.

Until last fall, Carnation's broadcasts were devoted to musical "visits" to different countries, but International Nights became somewhat embarrassing as the Nazi tide of conquest spread over the world. Today American institutions, people, holidays and industries are saluted by announcer Vincent Pelletier, and programs are planned around the old favorites, classical and semi-classical—music that steers a mid-course between heavy classical and recent second anniversary of the CBS radio drama.

It was a Defense Party to aid U. S. O. and Miss Royle had contrived a strictly martial atmosphere for the evening, with war games, service decorations, Defense Bonds and Stamps for prizes, and caps and epaulettes for guests to wear.

Among Miss Royle's war games were the Fort Knox Gold Hoard—for which grand prize was a twenty-five dollar Defense Savings Bond—a tank race with live turtles carrying miniature tank superstructures on their backs. The London Balloon Barrage consisted of several hundred balloons strung from the ceiling of the Royle playroom and dart guns with which the guests took pot-shots at them.

Besides "Woman of Courage" cast and officials, many other radio stars attended, including Gertrude Warner, Arlene Francis, Helen Mack, Myrtle Vail, Donald Briggs. Profits were turned over to the U. S. O. and they were so large that other radio personalities have been inspired to take up the party idea. It's one which could well sweep the country as a way in which to swell the sale of defense bonds, stamps.

BANDSTAND NOTES

since radio became big enough to hire its own studio bands, a controversy has raged over whether a radio orchestra was a better musical outfit than a dance band. We don't propose to stick our neck out by advancing our own opin-ion, but we will report some of the arguments advanced by Bob Trendler, an outstanding radio orchestra-leader, in support of his belief that a studio orchestra is a better outfit than a dance band. First, Trendler believes that most dance bands are either filled with up-and-coming or second-rate musicians. In other words, according to Trendler, they are either relatively inexperienced or possessed of less than average musical abilities. That's quite a slam at the dance-band musicians, but Trendler doesn't stop with that. The best musicians, he says, either graduate into arranging, studio orchestras or head their own dance bands. Studio musicians, he claims, can get along with less rehearsals than danceband musicians, thus proving that they are better musicians. "A dance band," says the radio band-director, "usually rehearses a number so long before they introduce it that the musicians don't even have to look at the music score.' In comparison he cited the fact that studio bands are often required to produce a musical piece only a few hours after it has been written. "A dance band," Trendler adds, "would probably need two weeks." All of which tells me that these remarks by the radio band-director are going to make a lot of dance-band members do a slow burn.

Juke Boxes Boom Mints

Believe it or not but Uncle Sam's mints are having to expand, all on account of the growing popularity of juke boxes and pin-ball machines. Treasury officials say that coin production in the first five months of the current year was one hundred and forty-three percent greater than in the same period last year. The country's mints, at San Francisco, Philadelphia and Denver, are working night and day, turning out nickels for those civilians and soldiers who find the juke boxes' rendition of "Daddy" and "The Hut-Sut Song" a welcome relief after a hard day at the plant or on the training field.

Bandata

Since Raymond Scott embarked upon a dance-band career (here's the case of a studio orchestra-director going into the dance-band business) he has discovered that it is often difficult to overcome the bad acoustics found in most one-night stands. Usually the fault lies with the public-address system. As a result, says Scott, dance bands often prove a disappointment to the patrons. Knowing Scott's constant striving for exactitude, the poor acoustics must prove quite a trial to him.

Geminine Forum By ALBERTA NORTH SCHOOLHOUSE CHARM

NCE more the bells ring in the little red schoolhouse. A new school year begins and whether it finds you on a university campus, in the local high school or at business school, you'll want to rate an "A" in

The lady who gets the most attention on the day school opens is the teacher. She's right out in the limelight and her appearance is awfully important to the success of her career. Her attire must be smart and yet have an air of con-servative good taste. Edith Head, designer for Paramount, consulted many educational authorities for advice on the correct wardrobe for a modern young schoolteacher. Then she designed the costume illustrated above, worn by Olivia de Havilland in "Hold Back the Dawn." The dress is a simple, soft-pink shantung shirtwaist-style with a yoke of white pique embroidered in matching pink. The coat is light-weight wool in a deeper shade of rose. Her off-the-face bonnet is pink felt and accessories are cocoa brown-all ideal for first fall days at school.

The modern young schoolteacher is just as glamorous as her sister in an office. Because she knows a "madeup" look would be frowned on by her superiors she becomes expert in applying cosmetics with a subtle touch. She uses a foundation such as "Hide-It" which will last all day so that she'll never face her class self-conscious of a shiny nose.

If you're a co-ed going back to school your clothes and cosmetic wardrobes are getting a lot of attention these days, too. The surest way to take care of your glamour is to get yourself a kit of make-up. Primrose House has the "Scotty Kit" that contains the seven essentials for skin care-Chiffon Cream, Face Molding Cream, Skin Freshener, Rose Petal Foundation Lotion, Matched Chiffon Powder, Rouge and Lipstick-all for less than three dollars. On the other hand, you can very easily assemble a neat kit of your own to contain your favorite beauty items. A shopping visit to the 5-and-10-cent store will outfit you with a complete set of cosmetic items in convenient small sizes. For example, you could assemble your own set of Tangee matched make-up in powder, rouge and lipstick. It would be smart to buy both rouge and lipstick in the three shades of Natural, Theatrical Red and Red-Red. Then, wherever you went and whatever colors you wore, you would have the right make-up combination at your finger-tips. These and your favorite creams and lotions can all be neatly packed in an inexpensive canvas case, one of the Kleinert rubberlined party kits perhaps or in a small over-night case you already own.

The "set" theme can well be carried over to your selection of nail polishes. The schoolgirl at home or on the campus knows the necessity for having a variety of shades ready for quick changes. She probably won't want the same color for classroom wear as for a date, and special prom nights will call for extra special colors. So a Chen-Yu "Costume Set" is an ideal solution for her problem. In this she has an assortment of five shades in cunning tiny bottles ready to match her every mood-with no strain on her allowance.

The schoolgirl's clothes allowance, incidentally, can be stretched a long way if she'll select wardrobe items that also serve many purposes. 'For instance, a jacket to wear to classes and on campus is a "must" on her list. But so is a jacket for evening wear. Can she get one that will do beautifully for both? Of course she can. There's that soft as mist Bearskin jacket by Regina that's knitted of brushed mohair. It's a honey for sports wear and after sundown it's a dream of an evening coat to wear over a formal dress. Of such double uses are smart economical wardrobes made!

Model Music

Dear Sirs:

Urge the networks to give us more programs like the broadcasts of Howard Barlow's music, such as his recent treatment of Debussy's "Reverie." It is too much, I suppose, to expect many conceptions as cleverly and beautifully arranged and carried out as that study. Our grateful thanks to author, actors, musicians, all.

Alma Kenoyer, Inman, Kans.

Studio Shampoo

Dear Sirs:

Mrs. Karpe of Birmingham can be assured that the "Breakfast Club" program is not rehearsed. While at the broadcast recently, I had the pleasure of a shampoo at the hands of Jack Baker and Benny Gill. When I men-tioned during Don McNeill's interviews that I'd like a shampoo, they scurried to the sound-effects room and returned with a barrel filled with water, scrubbing brush, soap and even lemons for a rinse. We put on raincoats and let the soap and water fly. Believe me, I know that stunt was impromptu and authentic!

Mary I. Humphries, Lombard, Ill.

"Young Dr. Malone"

PART II

GIVEN a year to live by specialists, Gerald Malone is desperately trying to save his own life by finding a cure for the rare tropical disease which afflicts him. So far he has kept the doctors' ultimatum a secret from his wife, Ann, despite the fact that doing so has caused difficult domestic situations. Recently, for example, the young doctor visited a private sanitarium-without Ann's knowledgewhere he was under the care of Ingrid Ekeland, a scientist who fell in love with him. It was the first time she had cared deeply for a man and her own feelings surprised her. Just prior to Jerry's discharge from the sanitarium, Ingrid loses control of herself, bursts into tears before her uncle, Dr. Severise Axland. While the outburst is attributed to the trying ordeal of caring for Dr. Malone, her actions after his departure are erratic, and soon after she leaves her post. How will this new complication affect Jerry's life with Ann-and his health? For the answer listen, with these pictures before you, to CBS' "Young Dr. Malone" this week.
