The Inside Story of the Record Business with Pictures of Your Favorite Maestros

Will Hays Talks to the Editor and Sends Out an Edict

THIS is good news. It concerns our own modest but sincere effort to eliminate unnecessary drinking in motion pictures. On a recent afternoon we received an invitation to confer with Will Hays, head of the Motion Pictures Producers Association. Our talk was illuminating.

Last April, Will Hays told us, the motion-picture producers whom he represents became aware of the great number of drinking-scenes in movies. At that time they took their first steps to reduce them to those required solely for plot or motivation. Since then, at subsequent meetings, the problem has been discussed. The recent editorial in Movie-Radio Guide brought the matter to the forefront. As a result of that editorial your editor was able to show Mr. Hays approximately 4,500 signatures of people opposed to unnecessary drinking on the screen.

We can report now that Mr. Hays promised action. We can disclose also the fact that, despite the MPPA's interest of last April, a survey of 1940 pictures shows an astounding number of drinking-scenes. But now, good intentions are to be supplemented by action. We hear from Hollywood that the Hays office has sent an order to all studios that there must be no more drinking-scenes. Pictures will not show liquor, drinking, or drunks. Lacking official confirmation, we do not know whether or not this is a complete blanket order permitting no exceptions. We hope not. We are against drinking for atmosphere, or for comedy purposes, but there are some great stories in which the use of liquor is required. Such scenes should be permitted.

At this writing a great many movies are in preparation for the 1941 season. We hope they will be produced in accord with the dictates of good taste and artistic reasonableness. We shall watch their arrival on our screens with complete faith in Mr. Hays.

WE LIKE THIS LETTER

"Dear Editor:

"You solved my Christmas-tag problem when you published that beautiful cover of Mary Martin. A pair of scissors, a few snips, and I had the most gorgeous Xmas tag ever tied to a pair of house slippers. I took a photo of the tag and I want you to know that I certainly got more than my dime's worth out of that issue of Movie-Radio Guide.

"Yours truly,
"_____ Greer."

CECIL B. DEMILLE
is a great producer.

We had seen four movies the week his letter came. They were "Arise, My Love," "Little Nellie Kelly," "Second Chorus," "Long Voyage Home." All of them showed drinking-scenes of various degrees of importance. Mr. DeMille's letter was a tonic. He writes:

"Dear Mr. Mitchell:

"I thoroughly agree with your editorial stand on 'tippling in the talkies.' There are too many scenes in which the actors are shown drinking, and the pity of it is that the drinking in most of these scenes is unnecessary.

SUPER-PRODUCER Cecil B. DeMille, with Mrs. B. D. Shreve in studio, endorses Movie-Radio Guide's anti-movie-tippling drive

"There are some pictures, of course, in which drinking is held up as a repulsive and dangerous practise, and such cases may do as much good as the joyfully convivial ones may do harm. They are, in themselves, powerful sermons against drink.

"Where necessary to the motivation of a film plot, however, the ordinary kind of social drinking may be handled with a delicacy that renders the scene inoffensive. But, of course, this kind of drinking should be done in strict moderation in a picture, just as it should be done in life itself.

"Sincerely,

"Cecil B. DeMille."

As we said in the beginning, Mr. DeMille is a great producer, and one of the signs of that greatness is his acceptance of the responsibility of keeping his pictures clean. We applaud his good sense.

VOTE!!! The directors and producers of Hollywood have asked Movie-Radio Guide to determine the most popular picture of 1940. They want to please the American audience and they have expressed the belief that the readers of this publication are typical of the best sort of American audience. Your vote, therefore, is of more than casual importance. Please turn to page 37 and fill in the coupon. Be sure to do your share in Movie-Radio Guide's First Annual Picture Poll.

GIRL ON THE COVER: Before people knew Virginia Verrill's name or her personality, they knew her velvet voice—as the singing double of many screen stars. First job of this California-born, Hollywood-bred girl, at the age of thirteen, in fact, was doubling in voice for Barbara Stanwyck. But Virginia aimed to be something more than a prima-donna-by-proxy; even making song-shorts as herself didn't satisfy. For her greatest success—in radio—she credits her vaudeville-agent mother, Mrs. Aimee McLean, and famed radio conductor Dave Broekman. It was when Broekman was director at KHJ, Los Angeles, that Virginia made her network debut over that station. At the age of twenty-four—if the publicity men are right—Virginia is today a veteran of big-time shows. Songstress of the revived "Show Boat" currently heard on Mondays, she was also featured on the original Maxwell House "Show Boat" with Lanny Ross. She does vocals—and is featured in comedy skits—on "Uncle Walter's Dog House," is unique among radio songstresses in having two major commercial shows. Virginia is five feet three, weighs 119 pounds, has dark-brown hair and green eyes, and presents a lively, vivacious appearance rarely equalled in a broadcasting studio. Last fall she got herself a husband—young Jim Breyley, band agent, lives with him now in Chicago. Natural-color photograph is by Guy A. Bernardo.

STAY OUT OF HOLLYWOOD

By Captain E. M. Slaughter

(Los Angeles Police Department Bureau of Missing Persons)

As Told to

ERSKINE JOHNSON

STAY out of Hollywood and keep out of trouble!

That's the best advice I know for movie-struck individuals who yearn to sever home ties in pursuit of glittering visions of film glory.

The odds against you are insurmountable. Your chances for movie fame are just about equal to those of the proverbial Chinaman. And, lacking funds with which to fight Quixote-like for cinematic fame and fortune, you may get into trouble.

I know what I'm talking about. As captain of the Los Angeles police bureau of missing persons, I come in personal contact with the little-known, non-success stories of Hollywood, when home ties are cut by visions of film fame and a new face appears in the crowds outside studio casting-offices.

Ferretting out these runaway girls and boys, men and women who think Hollywood is a magic city, I uncover only calamitous stories of pitifully shattered hopes—

A beautiful girl putting a revolver to her temple and pulling the trigger—

Another girl forging checks to buy fancy clothes with which to impress studio casting directors—

Still another girl stealing an expensive fur coat—

And a middle-aged woman deserting her husband and two children in a futile attempt to become a character actress!

These and others are the non-success stories of Hollywood which long ago convinced me the best advice I could give to movie-struck individuals everywhere was:

Stay out of Hollywood and keep out of trouble!

Of all the runaway girl stories we have investigated in Hollywood, the saga of a pretty, twenty-one-year-old blonde is the most tragic.

She was a schoolgirl and a church choir singer in an eastern town when she responded to the lure of movieland and decided to become an aspirant for screen honors.

Arriving in Hollywood sure of triumph, she set out gallily to find a chorus job or a bit role—something that would serve to launch her career in the wonderful land of make-believe. But she was rebuffed at every studio. Countless ineffectual visits to casting-offices made her all the more bitter toward movietown. Still she refused to heed the pleas of her parents to return home.

Then she became morbidly distressed about her vain attempts to succeed, and tried suicide by drinking poison. A police ambulance rushed her to a hospital and her life was spared.

Earl Carroll, filming a picture in Hollywood at the time, read newspaper accounts of her discouragement and suicide attempt and offered her a small role in his picture.

Naturally enough, the girl was elated at the prospect of attracting attention in this film. Her work was favorable and she was befriended by Cecil B. DeMille, the producer-director, who gave her a small contract as a "steady extra."

But her vision of quick stardom remained unfulfilled and again she brooded over what she thought was a sad predicament.

One of her friends was a studio cameraman. He tried to paint rosy pictures of her film destiny, but she wouldn't listen. A boat excursion with him to Catalina Island, during which she drank a great deal, served to unleash her hoarded emotions.

RETURNING to his home in Hollywood, she unearthed a gun, held it to her temple and pulled the trigger.

The last chapter in her disastrous career was closed a few days later by the minister in whose church choir she once sang. Mourners included her parents and former schoolmates.

So you see what can happen. Take the case of a twenty-year-old Pittsburgh girl. She, too, came to Hollywood visioning fame, and wound up serving a six-month jail sentence.

Turned down as an actress by film studios, she landed in court on charges of issuing worthless checks to purchase $180 worth of clothes.

"I dreamed of attracting the attention of film directors," she told us. "I thought they would not notice me unless I had beautiful clothes. I knew the checks I gave were worthless but I kept track of every one of them. I was sure I could get a job in pictures and make them all good."

The bad checks were written for a pair of shoes, a pair of silver slippers, a blue-velvet wrap, a blue-silk evening gown and a gray suit.

Other cases of girls who endured similar experiences are written into our records.

A lovely twenty-two-year-old blonde came to Hollywood after winning a beautiful-but-dumb contest in New York. Her appeals for film work went unheeded and finally she went to work as a housekeeper for a Los Angeles woman.

Police arrested her for stealing her employer's expensive fur coat. The girl wound up in a home for girls, from which she was paroled to relatives in the Middle West.

Another girl, from Telluride, Colo., couldn't get screen work either. She wrote two bad checks for $360 and $512, and a judge gave her two years' probation.

The Hollywood career of another girl ended abruptly when five checks written by her bounced into the hands of police.

A native of San Francisco, she took an expensive hotel suite, purchased an evening gown and orchids and rented an automobile. Then, trying to impress Hollywood, she gave a big party at the Trocadero cafe. She paid off everything with rubber checks and landed behind steel bars.

THESSE are typical examples of the kind of trouble awaiting some people when dreams of movie stardom are shattered—all true stories on file in our office.

Of course, all the celluloid-struck individuals who come to Hollywood and who do not succeed don't get into serious trouble. But, like the cases of those who do, they serve as warnings to others who long to seek fame and riches in movieland.

One day there came to my desk a letter. It was written on cheap paper and the words recurrently wandered from the ruled lines across the page.

It was dated from a little town in Tennessee. Pinned to it was a photograph of a girl—a brown-haired, slim little girl in a bright checkered wash dress.

"Dear Sir," the message began. "My daughter ran away from home . . . she was always talking about working in the movies . . . maybe you can find her . . . she's only sixteen years old . . ."

We receive many letters like this, additional non-success stories of Hollywood.

We found this sixteen-year-old girl a few days after her mother's tragic appeal was received.

She had not even seen the inside of a motion-picture studio. She was penniless and hungry—sobbing her heart out in a cheap hotel room. All hope gone of crashing Hollywood, she was glad to return home.

All such forays to movietown are singularly alike in one respect—none of the girls ever succeeds.

Every year we receive scores of letters asking that we make a search for some girl or boy or man or woman who has run away and headed for Hollywood, resolved to succeed or never return. None of them ever crashes cinematic heights, few ever see the inside of the studio, and those we locate we usually can persuade to return home.

The main reason why these deluded youngsters, and foolish oldsters, find only frustration in Hollywood is because of an already too large army of several thousand extras. The average number of days worked by Hollywood extras last year was twenty-eight, and their average earnings were only $317.26 each—hardly enough to live on.

Young girls are most susceptible to the lure of filmland, but boys and older men and women are not excepted from our searches.

One woman we located in Hollywood had deserted a husband and two small children in a Michigan city to try her fortune as a character actress. Luckless, she finally returned home to

and KEEP OUT OF TROUBLE

Here is required reading for every screen-struck kid, written in the heartbreak of stars who never shine her husband and her children.

Cowboys from cattle-raising states are in the majority among our male cases. They think riding ability will insure their success in western pictures. Others think they are handsome enough to replace Gable or Taylor or Flynn. Most of them are disappointed and respond to pleas of relatives or friends to return to their cows.

It isn't difficult to find the average movie-struck kid or adult who comes to Hollywood without telling relatives or friends. Our favorite haunts are at the central casting-bureau, where all extras must register, and, more than anywhere else, in the offices of booking- and talent-agents.

Most of these amateur actors and actresses turn up at the former place. A few have been located outside studio gates and in hotels and apartment houses.

Photographs, enclosed in letters sent by worried relatives, are all-important in most searches for missing persons. Names are usually changed. But in Hollywood we cannot rely too fully on pictured likenesses.

My pet proof of this was the case of a Nebraska farm girl, who, like many others, was lured to movietown by visions of becoming a star. When we found her, through a friend, her straight black hair was blond and tumbled about her head in curls. Her eyebrows had been plucked. Even her family would have had a hard time recognizing her.

ONCE located by the bureau of missing persons, would-be Gables and Lamarrs are either glad to receive money from home (most of them are too proud to write for funds) or promise to communicate with their homes.

Others, who cannot be found, usually are ashamed to write back to say that they found in Hollywood not fame but jobs that pay fairly well—waiting on tables, checking hats or selling ladies' underwear.

Naturally enough, the Los Angeles bureau of missing persons isn't always chasing movie-struck citizens. Every now and then there are notable Hollywood inhabitants to hold our attention.

The bureau's routine was disturbed a few years back by two film stars who had trouble keeping track of their wives. One was a chubby comedian.

The other was a bulky impersonator of screen scoundrels.

The comedian dashed into the bureau one day and reported that his wife, suffering from a nervous breakdown, had vanished from a film colony infirmary. We went to work and found her three days later in a Los Angeles hotel room.

The villain's wife's eclipse wasn't so serious. She desired to acquire a divorce in Nevada and left home with such speed that she forgot to tell anyone, including her husband, where she was going.

The actor was distraught until she was located, "surprised and amused," two days later in Las Vegas, Nevada. Later she changed her mind about the divorce and returned to her home in Hollywood.

A former child actress was the bureau's best Hollywood customer for a while in 1929 when she and her mother battled over financial problems which beset them.

Then seventeen and still working in films, she acquired the habit of just melting away whenever she and her mother quarreled. Most of these disappearances sent her mother scurrying to the bureau of missing persons with all the little details.

The police either found her in some hotel or she would return home before a few hours had passed.

Even such stars as Carole Lombard and Clark Gable and Eddie Albert have held the attention of the bureau of missing persons.

Unheard from for several days during a hunting-trip to Mexico, Miss Lombard and Gable became subjects for a police search when M-G-M studio executives appealed to the bureau. The stars eventually turned up safe and well, explaining they had decided to spend a few days more than expected in Mexico and had not bothered to telephone anyone.

Eddie Albert, reported missing by the Warner studio, was sought by police until he turned up in Mexican waters, to which he had sailed in his yacht without advising friends.

Far more dramatic, though, are the bureau's searches for movie-struck youngsters and oldsters—the non-success stories of Hollywood upon which I base my plea to—

Stay out of Hollywood and keep out of trouble!

A TONIC is how Shirley Ross describes Bob Hope (above). And Shirley (with him in the picture below) should know. She introduced him to movie-goers in 1938

From Guys to Riches

or Puck's Bad Boy

BY WILLIAM F. FRENCH

WHEN hard work is rewarded, when modesty triumphs and when courage brings success—in a book—it's a Horatio Alger story.

But when hard work is rewarded, when courage brings fame, and when a man's headsize remains the same in spite of it—in real life—that's Bob Hope.

Millions of Bob Hope's radio fans got their first glimpse of him on the screen in "The Big Broadcast of '38" with Shirley Ross. So who has a better right than Shirley to introduce him to them personally? Though Bob is regarded purely as a comedian by most of us, those closest to him say that one of the finest things he has ever done was a love scene with this same Shirley in "The Big Broadcast." And he scored romantically with this girl in "Thanks for the Memory" when they sang the song of that name.

Says Shirley: "I imagine everyone has told you the same thing—that Bob's the funniest thing they've ever known. But he is more than that; he's a tonic. He's always in the highest fellow—and it's everybody who comes into contact with him. I don't know of anyone who has such a terrific capacity for work and play at the same time. But no matter how hard he is working, nothing interferes with his sense of humor or his love of fun."

"Nothing ever worries Bob. He makes jokes of difficulties. He is always so gay, full of life and bubbling with joy that there's no room for gloominess in his character. Yet he is shrewd and I don't think there's anyone in Hollywood who is his equal at weighing the possibilities of a joke or a humorous situation."

"There's a lot of courage in Bob's laugh, too. A wisecrack or a funny story is his way of whistling in the dark. When I first knew him he wasn't at all sure of himself; under his gay bravado he was really timid. He has never been in a big picture, and when he came out in front of the cameras he was nervous. But in spite of that he was alert (his brain's the fastest thing you ever dreamed of) and funny."

"Gags and laughs flow from Bob so easily and so naturally that none really stands out in my memory. He had me laughing all the time I was around him. I didn't think I could ever do a serious scene with him, but when our key scene came up he had a depth of feeling that amazed me. I still love to see the picture 'Thanks for the Memory' that I did with Bob. Because when I see him on the screen, he's just the same likable, natural Bob Hope."

"Of course I've done a lot of radio work with Bob, and have been on his own show about six times. So you'll probably have to discount my opinion as being prejudiced, because I really am one hundred percent pro-Hope." The nicest things said about Bob come from people looking back at experiences with him. Those who are in current contact with him are invariably in a playful mood.

We found Dorothy Lamour in the largest of Paramount's big stages, looking down into the great tank on a scene of tropical wilderness, with its jungle, its winding streams and steaming waterfalls. Down there, Bing Crosby and Bob Hope were hiding, while beating drums and wild chanting heralded the approach of savages—and the flight of their guides.

"Give you my opinion of Bob Hope?" repeated Dot. "A pleasure, my friend. Just say that in 'Typhoon' I had a chimpanzee and that in 'Zanzibar' I have Hope. He swings from tree to tree, picking gags out of the thin air."

"Oh? No kidding? Well, you came to a fine place for that—with Bob and Bing bouncing gags off everybody's noggin. Well, I think Hope's one of the greatest comics—and the greatest fellow—of any age. His gags and jokes aren't rehearsed; they just pop out of him. So many things happen between him and Bing every day on the set that I really can't think of him except in the middle of a laugh. Because that's where you'll always find him. I've been so busy keeping off the butt-end of one of his gags I haven't had time to do any analyzing."

"But nobody's ever hurt or angered by Bob's humor. It's so friendly. He wouldn't hurt anyone's feelings to get in a wisecrack—not if it would be the funniest thing he ever did. That's why I like him so much."

Speaking of gags, Harry Ray, a make-up man who has been going on sets with stars for years, is right in the middle of them. And take his word for it, a day spent trying to keep Bob and Bing looking debonair is a day in a monkey cage. They get him between them and, oh, boy!

But apparently Harry doesn't hold it against 'em. He says: "Bob Hope's a swell guy. Everything about him is natural—just seeming to happen. He's as witty off the screen as he is on. He has a great sense of humor and loves a laugh. He doesn't have to be the one telling the joke. He gets a real kick out of a joke on himself, too. That is, when anybody's smart enough to put one over."

"He's not particular about his make-up. All he asks is to appear neat and clean. He's not temperamental or conceited, and he's always friendly and happy. If I ever feel rotten and Bob Hope comes in to be made up, he has me feeling swell in no time. Actors usually expect us to pep them up, but Bob peeps everybody up. And you never feel that he's trying to. You don't know it's happening until you're laughing and feeling fine."

"He's the busiest guy in the world. In the nine years I've been around the studios I've never known a star to work as hard as Bob. Movie and radio writers are usually buzzing around him, but he always has time to sit down and talk to you. And I never saw the day he couldn't wedge in his stories, his gags and his jokes."

"It's almost three-quarters of a mile from make-up to the big stage where Bob's working. He's snappy, and usually first of the stars made up. So every morning he steals either Bing Crosby's or Fred MacMurray's bicycle to ride out to the set."

"When they squawk he says he can't ride well enough to own his bicycle, and has to depend on his friends. The other day they discovered he won a bicycle in some sort of a contest and now they're yelling for him to bring it to the studio. But he says his mind is on bigger things. Now, what would you think of a guy like that?"

And what does Bing Crosby think of this team-mate of his; this happy-go-lucky who shares his film adventures that millions of movie fans can't get enough of; this delightful thorn in his side? Frankly, a lot more than he'll ever admit. Bing gives us this:

"My opinion of Hope isn't for publication. I've been trying to do his life story, but it's bogging down in the middle."

"Sore about his natural pilfering instincts? Who, me? MacMurray and I know this bicycle habit of his is inherited. The whole family is a little slow in buying transportation. His brother Jack admitted the other day that his grandfather over in London was collecting rents at ninety-four, on a borrowed bicycle. That's a fact—go on, ask him about his grandpappy. I can get along with Bob Hope all right; I know how to humor him. Dot Lamour and I throw him bananas every so often. Keeps him happy, and gives him a nice gloss. He may be sand in other people's spinach, but I like him."

"Bing's right, in part at least. Jack Hope verified the report that Bob's grandfather was collecting rents on a borrowed bicycle in London at the age of ninety-four—and that he's still going good."

Last year Bob went over there to help celebrate his grandfather's birthday, and discovered he had come by his talents naturally. Once they made that grandfather master of ceremonies of the shindig, he became the life of the party and they loudly proclaimed that where there was Hope there was life.

Who knows a man better than his own brother? So Jack's opinion of Bob should be enlightening.

"Although Bob's my younger brother," Jack admits, "he's always been a star to me. When he was only four he used to go over to his great-aunt Polly's to entertain. He'd stick his hands in his pockets, push out his stomach and make faces for cookies. She called him 'Pockets' and would send him home with them all filled. She'd say to him: 'That's the idea, laddie, it pays to make them laugh. You'll do all right.' And as great-aunt Polly lived to be 102, she saw her prophecies come true."

"Bob was the funniest fellow in the world to me then, and he still is. That's not because he's made good. Just being successful wouldn't make six brothers cheer you. We're all for Bob because he's been so swell to everybody, because he's never let success go to his head. He's just the same as we've always known him."

"Bob Hope as master of ceremonies at the Academy Award, or at the premiere of his picture, or on an air show, has the same attitude as little Bobbie, the youngest one in the gang of us that used to sing outside Peter Schmidt's beer-garden in Cleveland when we'd boost him over the fence to pass the hat."

"I THINK people like him because they can sense that about him—and because he's not handsome and the average fellow thinks he's no different than himself, only maybe a little wittier. But to his brothers he's the greatest guy in the world."

Scorpy Doyle, caddy at the Lakeside Golf Club, says:

"I've been caddying for Bob Hope ever since he came to California. He's just the same as when he first came here. But I don't agree with the people who say nothing ever worries him. Of course he's always kidding and cheerful, but I can tell when something's on his mind. From the way he plays. You can't fool Old Man Golf. If things aren't right at the movie studio or he's having trouble with his radio program, I can tell it from his form."

"He asks me what I think of his program. I say it's good, or it's fine, or it's fair, or it stinks. I don't lie. I call 'em as I see 'em. And that's the way he wants me to do it. Bob may kid everybody else, but he never kids himself."

"He's regular and takes me to the football games and fights with him. He treats all the caddies just like he treats his friends. We give him laughs, and he loves laughs."

"I've been caddying out here twelve years, and have caddied for most of the big stars in Hollywood—like Gable, Bing Crosby and Dick Powell."

"Most all the stars think Bob Hope's the funniest guy in Hollywood, and that he's funnier off the air and the

IN WRITING THIS STORY, Mr. French polled everybody who ever knew Bob on what they thought of him. But he missed the Hope dogs, which, in this picture, eloquently demonstrate how they feel about Bob screen than he is on. They all fight for a chance to shoot a round with him, but we caddies get the gravy because we hear all his cracks when he makes a shot or lands in a trap. Boy, if they could just put one of those rounds on the air!"

Eddie Welch, Paramount writer, gag-man and ex-actor, says:

"Bob Hope is great because he's willing to share credit, and rewards with the other fellow. He's the greatest comedian in the country for my money, but he never hogs anything. He feeds to the other fellow. He knows the meaning of the word cooperation, and he's generous."

"I knew him when he was struggling to break into emceeing in the presentation houses back in Chicago. Things were tough there for him before he got the break at the Stratford Theater. Even then he was willing to try to help the other fellow. If a tenth of the favors that were owed him had been paid, he wouldn't have been living on peanuts those days."

"One night a team of big radio stars had Bob on their program as a guest artist. They had him up there stooging while they took all the bows. They didn't give him a chance to say a thing."

"But Bob is able to take care of himself. When it came to his big scene—where they asked him a question and he said, 'Okay'—he squinted down at the script in his hand, and then said, 'Okay,' hesitated a second, and added, 'It says here.'"

"That brought down the house. It stopped the show. It was so perfectly timed, and fitted so pat with his pantomime of looking for his lines that it got what I believe is the biggest laugh I ever heard—and Bob positively dominated that program with a single line."

"He wouldn't have done that if they hadn't been so selfish. Bob hates selfishness. He does more benefits than anybody else in the country. He's always doing his stuff for the Salvation Army, war relief, Community Chest and endless other things. He did a preview show at the Paramount Theater to test out gags, and had the theater turn over part of the take to charity. Because that's the sort of a chap he is."

Sitting on the set fondly watching Bob strut his stuff in "The Road to Zanzibar" was his uncle, Frank Hope. He was willing to give us his opinion of his famous nephew.

"To me the thing about Bob that outweighs everything else is his kindness." He paused a moment, looking down at the whirling natives in the tropical jungle below, but seeing mental pictures of the Bob he knew.

"WHEN he was playing in 'Roberta' Bob's mother was seriously ill. He had had a special telephone put in her bedroom and would call her three or four times a week. And every couple of weeks he'd fly out to Cleveland to see her."

"He was always generous to his mother. He was more than generous—he was thoughtful. When he told her that everything he had was hers, he knew that hearing him say that meant more to her than the money or the things it would buy."

"Of course he played jokes on her. One day he told her he was going to sell the furniture—and then took her over to the new house he had bought and had completely furnished for her. After she passed away, he had his married brother move in and keep the place going for his dad."

"Bob didn't think only of the family. Every time he came back to Cleveland he would look up the old gang that used to be on the corner of 105th and Euclid. He sold papers there (Continued on Page 42)

THE Shirley Temple contract became almost a definite certainty last week when her parents and the motion-picture officials got together for a lengthy consultation and final conference. A number of stories especially selected to carry Shirley through the growing-up years are under consideration, and in all of these the retired Miss Temple will be supported by a group of stars, rather than carrying the picture herself. With the signing of the pact,

Miss Temple is scheduled to go to work on her first picture in more than a year, which time she has spent at a girls' school, having the fun, studies, and friendships that any normal youngster of her age might have. Paradoxically, just as the Temple contract reached the inking stage, little Sybil Jason, who practically walked off with her joint scenes with Shirley in "The Little Princess," departed from Hollywood for her home in South Africa, inasmuch as here she has no friends, no job and no money. Miss Jason, age fourteen, appears really to be retiring.

The Judy Garland disks with accompaniment and arrangements by Dave Rose will reach the music stores within the next couple of months.

This Week in HOLLYWOOD

Shirley Temple goes back to work;
Judy Garland-Dave Rose to make recordings—here's the latest news!

Romancers to Make Records

Judy Garland and her talented musician boy friend, Dave Rose, have been placed under contract to make some recordings together for Decca. Judy is thrilled about the whole project, because she is firmly convinced that Rose is the greatest musician in the world, feels that she, Judy, is unimportant, but is greatly honored to be able to make records with him. Such is love.

Hollywood Heartbeat

The Lana Turner-Tony Martin romance seems to be following the Artie Shaw and Victor Mature pattern . . . Hedda Hopper, in speaking of Charlie Chaplin, says: "He's seen everywhere (in New York) with pretty girls. With all his gaiety, I feel he'd rather be in Hollywood. If he comes back, it will be because Paulette (Goddard) and the two boys have gone on to get

"Hudson's Bay"

Cast: Paul Muni, Gene Tierney, Laird Cregar, John Sutton, Virginia Field, Vincent Price, Nigel Bruce, Morton Lowry, Robert Greig, Chief Thundercloud, Montagu Love, et al. A 20th Century-Fox picture produced by Kenneth Macgowan and directed by Irving Pichel, who also directed "The Man I Married."

MOVIEGOERS who thrilled at "Northwest Passage," "Stanley and Livingstone" or "Brigham Young" will find plenty of the same frontier adventures, but perhaps better done by a bigger cast, in "Hudson's Bay," a historical romance of the founding of the Hudson's Bay Company in May of 1670.

More colorful characters are interpreted in this story by such able actors as Paul Muni, as Pierre Esprit Radisson, and his man Friday, huge Laird Cregar, in the part of Gooseberry. John Sutton, as Lord Edward Crewe, also has a leading role in the adventures of Muni and Cregar. As in most frontier-life stories, the ladies—in this case Gene Tierney and Virginia Field—have little screen time and less chance to act prettily. But a special mark of recognition is scored by Vincent Price for his portrayal of Charles II of England.

The story, inspired when Producer Macgowan noticed the Hudson's Bay Company label and date of founding on the label of a bottle of Scotch, was written by Lamarr Trotti and tells how two French-Canadian soldiers of fortune, Radisson (Muni) and Gooseberry (Cregar), enlist the interest and money of Lord Crewe in their project of a long and hazardous journey into the far north of America for the purpose of making a fortune in fur-trading. They get their pelts and then beat off attempts by the French to raid and steal the furs. Arriving safely in England, the pair are co-founders with Charles II of the Hudson's Bay Co.

On their return to America they bring with them Gerald Hall (Morton Lowry), the brother of the heroine Barbara Hall (Miss Tierney). When he proves to be a weakling and a scoundrel who trades liquor to the Indians for furs, a practise against the rules established by Radisson, trouble commences. The Indians hijack and kill to steal furs to trade for the firewater until Radisson quells the disturbance and takes the frontier law into his own hands to execute the renegade brother.

Paul Muni fans will be surprised at his portrayal of Radisson, and undoubtedly will take him even more thoroughly into their hearts as the adventurous philosopher with a sense of humor. Playing on the lighter side throughout the film, Muni uncorks a flair for comedy which should have been exploited before.

Strong supporting roles are filled by Morton Lowry in particular as the ne'er-do-well brother, and also by Robert Greig, Nigel Bruce, Chief Thundercloud and Montagu Love.

"Hudson's Bay" may not be as pretentious as some of the other historically backgrounded films to come from the 20th Century-Fox lot, but if there's any lack of spectacle it's amply made up for in a tight-knitted plot, plenty of action and humor.

Youngsters (and oldsters) who like to play Indian will love this picture, and historically it is fairly accurate.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF IT: Los Angeles Times (Edwin Schallert), "... Will be well received by those who like large and epic subjects." Hollywood Reporter, "A beautifully done picture, marked for its pictorial majesty, its feeling of authenticity and the profound sense of human reality." Daily Variety, "Suspenseful story, brilliant direction, outstanding characterizations."

"Four Mothers"

Cast: Priscilla, Rosemary and Lola Lane, Gale Page, Claude Rains, May Robson, Jeffrey Lynn, Eddie Albert, Dick Foran, Frank McHugh, et al. A Warner Bros. picture, produced by Hal Wallis and directed by William Keighley, who also directed "No Time for Comedy."

NEWEST of the Lemp family series, "Four Mothers" is an entertaining, pleasant chapter in that family's life, with troubles galore upsetting its routine.

Just when the Lemp family believes that everything is going along all right for them, a hurricane and tidal wave wipe out the real estate development of Frank McHugh, husband of Lola Lane. Also gone are the invested funds of Adam Lemp, head of the family. Townsfellows of the Lemps who have invested their money in the property turn against them, and to top it all Father Lemp loses his job. Finally Adam receives an appointment to direct the Beethoven festival—and everything turns out all right.

Plan is to produce another in this series, at present titled "Four Fathers."

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF IT: Hollywood Reporter, "Will entertain those not too critical of script flaws and uninspired direction." Variety, "Very satisfactory general entertainment."

Valentino's Leading Lady Dies

Agnes Ayres, screen actress who made her fame and fortune in 1921 as the leading lady of Rudolph Valentino in "The Sheik," died Christmas Day in St. Vincent's hospital, Hollywood, after a long illness. Miss Ayres, who was still a young woman when she died, retired from the screen in 1927 but lost her sizable fortune in the stock market crash of 1929. In 1937 she attempted a screen comeback and took a small role with Gary Cooper and George Raft in a Paramount picture. The goddess of fortune did not smile on her again, however. Miss Ayres leaves an ailing mother, a brother, and a fourteen-year-old daughter, Maria Eugenie, who since Miss Ayres' illness has been in the custody of the actress' divorced husband, picture producer S. Manuel Reach.

Clark Gable and Bette Davis Top Poll

Clark Gable and Bette Davis were the most popular actor and actress for 1940, according to the movie trade-journal, Boxoffice, announcing its annual poll of what cinema stars produced the most business. For the fourth consecutive year, Gene Autry was named as the top western actor. Runners-up in the general division, in order, were Spencer Tracy, Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland and Myrna Loy. Box-office champs of 1939 were Miss Davis and Mickey Rooney. "Boom Town" is believed to have raised the stock of Gable. Another magazine (Redbook) selected Sol Lesser's production "Our Town" as the "most distinguished contribution to the art of motion pictures for 1940" and made the award presentation on the "Screen Guild Theater" broadcast of December 29. Now Hollywood is waiting to see what and whom the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences selects for the presentation of the annual selection of "Oscars" at the Academy's banquet early in February.

"This Thing Called Love"

Cast: Rosalind Russell, Melvyn Douglas, Binnie Barnes, Allyn Joslyn, Lee J. Cobb, Gloria Holden, Paul McGrath, et al. A Columbia picture, produced by William Perlberg, directed by Alexander Hall, who also directed "The Doctor Takes a Wife" and "He Stayed for Breakfast."

THE pursuit of happiness exhibits itself in many forms but there are few of us who could go through what Rosalind Russell and Melvyn Douglas do in "This Thing Called Love" and come out unscathed. It's a highly stepped-up bedroom farce with a strictly modern cloak.

Although Rosalind Russell and Douglas do swell jobs of acting, the methods used to expound this tale are definitely on the adult side, and not the sort of thing the kids would either enjoy or benefit from. It's strictly adult comedy.

Madly in love with Rosalind after a four-day acquaintance in South America, Douglas comes to New York to marry her. She meets him at the boat and they go straight to the city hall for a license. While waiting in the court, Rosalind tells him of her theory founded on insurance facts she has computed, which provides that if a married couple would live on a strictly platonic basis for three months they would, in that time, find out if they were suited to marriage and the job of bringing up a family. Douglas explodes with disgust at such a proposition, but finally gives in and marries her anyway in the belief that he can change her mind and her theories with his winning personality and a counter plan. The remainder of the picture is a series of experiments on Melvyn's part to win Rosalind over to his way of thinking with no success, until Rosalind finally does an about-face when she believes she is going to lose him to Binnie Barnes, an enticing secretary.

Climax comes when Douglas returns home to find Rosalind's boss in his pajamas, thus giving rise to doubts upon the part of the impatient husband as well as his platonic wife. He is about to throw up everything when his lawyer entreats Rosalind to intervene, with happy results.

"This Thing Called Love" might well be described as a craftsman's picture, since much of its excellence is due to technical superiority as well as workmanlike performances. Excellent direction, tightly knit (though risqué) dialog, apt casting and ingenious editing are there in full measure, although such things, it must be admitted, are of more importance to the movie-makers themselves than to the public, which judges a picture solely by its entertainment and amusement value. There's plenty of both, on the adult side, in this picture.

Both Melvyn Douglas and Rosalind play extremely broad comedy throughout, and Binnie Barnes does her usual good job in the role of secretary to Douglas' attorney (Allyn Joslyn). Good support is given by Gloria Dickson, jealous wife of attorney Joslyn, Lee Cobb, Gloria Holden, Paul McGrath and Rosina Galli.

"This Thing Called Love" is based on the play of the same name by Edwin Burke, and it follows the original work closely, except for improvements which were made possible by the mobile eye of the camera and more elaborate production.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF IT: Los Angeles Examiner, (Louella Parsons), "Rosalind Russell can well chalk up another success in this one . . . As for Melvyn, there is no one who can play these giddy husband roles so well." Hollywood Reporter, ". . . There's a laugh in every foot."

"Her First Romance"

Cast: Edith Fellows, Wilbur Evans, Jacqueline Wells, Alan Ladd, Marion Kerby, et al. A Monogram picture, produced by I. E. Chadwick and directed by Edward Dmytryk, who also directed "Mystery Sea Raider" and "Golden Gloves." From a novel by Gene-Stratton Porter.

EDITH FELLOWS blossoms out as a very attractive adolescent young blonde, with a powerful and beautiful singing voice, and baritone Wilbur Evans, widely known in the East for his concert work, makes his film debut in this very likable little musical love story, "Her First Romance."

Edith Fellows, now approaching eighteen years of age but mature in acting experience beyond her years, since she started staring at cameras at the tender age of four, is truly remarkable as Linda Strong, the Cinderella sister of a family of three, while her fairy prince, baritone Wilbur Evans, singing the part of Philip Niles, walks right onto the screen in his first effort, and emerges as a real troupier with a possible great success awaiting him.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF IT: Hollywood Reporter, "A great deal of quality has been wrapped in this pleasant package. Edith Fellows should go a long way from this point on." Variety, "Evans handles his first film assignment unusually well."

The Premiere

IF THE citizens of Santa Fe, N. Mex., were disappointed in the fact that "Santa Fe Trail," Warner Bros.' latest, greatest super-epic, had so little to do with Santa Fe and so much to do with John Brown's exploits in Kansas and points east, they gave no sign of it to the stars who junketed to the Sunshine State for its premiere. Not even the blizzard and freezing weather which rode in with the special train bearing such stars as Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland, Donald Crisp, May Robson, Charles Ruggles, Rudy Vallee, Allan Jones, Irene Hervey, Wayne Morris, Jean Parker, Bill Lundigan, Reginald Gardiner and Nancy Carroll could spoil the fun for either the fans or stars. End of the trail for the stars—as it had been for pioneers in earlier days — was the noted La Fonda Inn, and climax of the first day there was the gala "Friday the Thirteenth" fandango. But before the climax was reached there had been the gala reception at the station and the reenactment before the Governor's Palacio of the ceremonies with which the Spanish city fathers had greeted the arrival of pioneers—the burning of "Old Man Gloom," a gigantic effigy. On Saturday the stars were taken to a near-by ski lodge, where a snow party was held. Errol Flynn amazed spectators and himself by getting down the ski run with much hand-waving but no spills. The premiere was held simultaneously in three theaters. Afterward the crowd gathered in Seth Hall, great gymnasium, where the stars forgot their polite "Glad to be here's" and staged an old-fashioned amateur vaudeville show, with Rudy Vallee acting as emcee. Only shadows to fall across the festive outing were the illness of Miss De Havilland (she was taken to the hospital with appendicitis upon arrival and later rushed back to Hollywood by plane) and the loss of Errol Flynn's pet dog at stop-over in Albuquerque.

JUST OUT OF WEST POINT, and assigned to "Bleeding Kansas" as punishment for a school prank, Jeb Stuart (Errol Flynn) meets and falls in love with "Kit Carson" Halliday (Olivia de Havilland).

The Life and Loves of

QUEEN BETTE

Bette Davis is a one-man lady—not even divorce could alter her

By JAMES STREET

—Bruce Bailey

THE QUEEN often talks of her mother (with her above), explaining how much she owes to her. Mrs. Ruth Davis, seeing in Bette the realization of her own unreachd ambition, spurred her daughter on the things she wanted to be herself.

Bette says, and Hollywood agrees, that she owes her success to hard work. That is only partly true. When she went to Hollywood she was branded as colorless. One can be anything in Hollywood except colorless. The Laemmle team of father and son pronounced her doom. Carl Laemmle, Jr., in those days a big-shot in Universal, once said, "I can't imagine anybody giving her a tumble." Today Miss Davis is the most sought-after feminine star in Hollywood. Junior Laemmle grins every time Davis' name is mentioned.

It was Wilson Mizner who suggested that Miss Davis bleach her hair to the color of honey. It was the hair that first attracted attention. Of course the Queen is a hard worker. She keeps a scratch-pad with her at all times, lists appointments and keeps them.

In 1934, after she did Mildred in "Of Human Bondage," she was runner-up for the Academy Award. The next year she won it for "Dangerous." She also has won it for "Jezebel." Most actresses shun the parts that Miss Davis takes. They want to play good little girls, but Miss Davis says, "I like to play gummy girls and attractive wenches."

Warner Bros., in justice to all concerned, has been smart enough to see Bette's side and has cast her as far as possible in the roles she likes. Miss Davis is demanding more parts like Mildred in "Of Human Bondage." The trouble is there are no more parts like that.

THE Queen is known as a director's dream, but she also is a writer's dream. She dislikes stuffed shirts, seldom attends their parties. She is never smug nor prudish. She cusses a bit and has a trigger temper. She talks like a house afire, about anything. And when she laughs she tilts her head and laughs down into her tummy. She's not exactly an outdoor woman, thank heavens, and the pictures that show her golfing and playing tennis usually are posed. But she does like to swim. And she's good at it.

They'll tell you in Hollywood that Queen Bette is still in love with Mr. Nelson. That is a question that only Miss Davis can settle. She babbles a lot about Ham but nothing seems to come of it. As a matter of fact, Miss Davis' romance with the bandleader sort of dwindled into marriage. The marriage dwindled too. She was too busy to get a divorce, so he did it.

Miss Davis is an ardent Christian, Scientist and constantly is seeking the good in other people. It is her religion to see no evil, speak no evil and hear no evil. Sometimes she is emotional and moody. Once at a banquet someone mentioned starving refugee children and the Queen lost her appetite.

She used to be obstinate, but now she will listen to reason. She never angers at just criticism, but in talking to or about other persons she always pulls her punches for fear of hurting their feelings. She will tell you that she is brutally frank, but she isn't. She is a gentle, sensitive woman, burning alive with ambition.

Her love for dogs is legendary and her home in Coldwater Canyon overflows with Scotties, Dobermans, Pekingese and Sealyhams. She was president of the Southern California Tail-Waggers Foundation until she had to give it up for lack of time.

Her home looks like Grand Central Station during the rush hour. People call in droves and beat her ears down with their troubles. She answers the telephone herself, tends her own nails and prepares her own salads. She is a trencherman and her favorite diet is a vegetable one. She likes potatoes in any shape, manner or form. The only nickname she ever had was "Spuds." However her favorite dish is her own salad made of lettuce, olive oil, vinegar, garlic, pearl onions, Worcestershire sauce, cider and spices. With it she likes toast melba.

She is something of a prissy housekeeper. She owns a home in New Hampshire and has tried to bring New England to southern California. She knits and crochets. In Hollywood, she is considered an avid reader. And she is for an actress. She goes for Hemmingway, Ertz and Noel Coward. But she is too busy with her own affairs really to be a prolific reader. She plays a nice hand of bridge, but next to her acting her best achievement is conversation. She can idle with words or be serious.

In real life, the Queen does not look the part of the wench she usually portrays. She has frosty-blue eyes, that pop a bit. Her complexion is ruddy and she freckles and sunburns easily. She is five feet four inches tall and has a twenty-two inch waist. Her dress size varies from nine to ten, but has hit twelve. She has beautiful hands and legs. She is inclined to slump a bit when she stands, much to the consternation of her mother.

Miss Davis' contract with Warner's has several years to run and calls for three pictures a year. Her annual gross income from movies is about $182,000. She lives on a budget, a very liberal one. Her pet extravagance is perfumes. She seldom buys hats and doesn't like to wear them for her one vanity is her beautiful hair and she likes to show it off. She eats an apple every day and goes in for spangled bracelets and glittering doodads.

Her wardrobe is not large comparatively, but her clothes are the best. She likes white things and when re-

QUEEN BETTE has never allowed anything—not even marriage—to interfere with her career which she takes seriously

MISS BETTE DAVIS does everything with a flourish. There is an air to the way she lights a cigarette, to the way she mixes a salad. When she says damn, her favorite slang word, she says it unlike any other person. She is every inch an actress. I'll lay odds on that she rehearses and acts in her bathtub, and plays her own audience. So it was natural that her marriage to Harmon O. Nelson should be spectacular. It also is quite natural that her marriage should go on the rocks.

Mr. Nelson is the only sweetheart the Queen ever had. He is a quiet, friendly fellow, the type of guy a man likes to tie to, but the union of Nelson and Davis was something like mixing TNT and tepid soup.

While Miss Davis, aided and abetted by her energetic and ambitious mother, Ruthie, was scooting up the ladder, Mr. Nelson was inching his way up as a bandleader. He first plighted his troth when they were children and finally Ruthie suggested to Bette that if she expected to marry Nelson she had better be about it. After all they had been courting for ten years.

The studio decided they should elope and got everything ready for a publicity splurge. But Miss Davis and Mr. Nelson went quietly over to Arizona for the benefit of clergy. The first thing the studio knew about it was the headlines. The next day Bette appeared at the studio with her husband to pose for publicity stills.

The Queen never has allowed anything, even her marriage, to interfere with her career. Miss Davis loves the headlines. She loves her work. She is the actress who once concealed a first-class dose of measles under an extra coat of grease paint. The mere fact that her ailment endangered other people apparently never occurred to her. For Bette Davis wouldn't hurt anybody or anything knowingly.

It was inevitable that Mr. Nelson would be known as Miss Davis' husband. And, too, she called him Ham. Miss Davis apparently does not understand yet why her marriage collapsed. Any man understands. After the divorce there was a lot of fuss and feathers about Miss Davis and George Brent. She calls him Brentie. No man likes that. If Miss Davis ever has another man we suggest she call him Butch. Maybe that'll help matters.

In conversation, the Queen often refers to her mother and tries to tell how much she owes her. It is not necessary. Ruthie Davis is almost as remarkable as her daughter. Without a doubt she pushed and nudged Bette up the stairs, seeing in her daughter

—Wide World

THE ONLY LOVE in Bette Davis' life was Harmon Nelson, bandleader (with her here). They married, quarreled, separated. Because Bette was too busy, he sued for divorce laxing she wears shorts or slacks. She has a yen for fine handkerchiefs and often carries two or three with her. She also likes gloves but does not care particularly for handbags. Her lingerie is simple and handmade with no lace or frills.

Her employes include a houseman, a personal maid and a colored cook. Of course she has a secretary and a business manager and she really listens to her business manager. She also listens to her mother. She has two cars and drives herself.

Miss Davis says her ambition is to do a Broadway show if she can find the right show. That's the ambition of most Hollywood actresses. The trouble is there are lots of actresses and only a few good shows. Her screen ambition is to do the life of Sarah Bernhardt.

Her favorite players are Garbo, Barbara Stanwyck, George Arliss, George Brent, Jim Cagney, Leslie Howard and Katharine Cornell.

My favorite actress is Bette Davis.

ALL the country is agog over Miss Davis' latest show, "The Letter." In shooting the job director William Wyler did something that has never been done before. He shot a Davis scene that runs seven minutes without a break. That means Miss Davis acted seven minutes before a camera without a word of direction. It's the scene in the visitors' room of a jail. If you haven't seen "The Letter" then watch for it. Notice that there isn't a break, that the action is continuous.

What is so amazing about that? You may say, why, in stage shows performers go through the whole production without direction. That, my friends, is the great difference in Hollywood and Broadway. That is the difference in a real performer and a puppet. Director Wyler says that the Queen is the only Hollywood actress who could have done that scene. To understand him you must consider the difference in acting before an audience and acting before a camera. Then you can understand the genius of Davis.

On the stage one must do a long part before the public without aid of a director. One must really act. In the movies one need only follow the director's instructions, recite a few lines and do as one is told. If a movie actress makes a mistake, blows her lines, then no great damage is done.

As a matter of cold fact, Hollywood does not like great actors and actresses. That's why many persons have starred in movies who couldn't get to first base on the stage. Most Hollywood pictures are made by directors. The performers are robots.

But Bette Davis really acts in front of a camera. Watch her the next time

EUGENE GOOSSENS, English musician, is current guest conductor of "Ford Sunday Evening Hour"

This Week's Opera: "Il Trovatore"

VERDI'S "Il Trovatore" (The Troubadour) tells the tale of the vindictive gypsy, Azucena, and her supposed son, Manrico, the Troubadour. Azucena, before the opera opens, has kidnaped the son of old Count Di Luna in revenge for his having burned her mother at the stake as a witch. She throws the baby into the flames and discovers too late that she has really killed her own child. She raises Manrico to be a wandering minstrel, and in Act I he comes to the castle of the Di Lunas and serenades beautiful Leonora, ward of the old Count, who has died and left the castle to his other son. The young Count, also in love with Leonora, finds Manrico and engages him in a duel. In Act II Azucena is captured by Di Luna and, as the woman who supposedly murdered his brother, is condemned to die. Manrico, about to marry Leonora, is informed of Azucena's plight and rushes to her rescue. In the last act Manrico has been flung into a dungeon with Azucena. Leonora, coming to him, agrees to marry the Count if he will free Manrico. He does so, and Leonora takes poison, dying at Manrico's feet. Di Luna, enraged, orders Manrico to be burned as Azucena watches. She screams, "He was your brother," and falls lifeless. (Broadcast time given above.)

NORINA GRECO, soprano, will be heard as Leonora in the opera broadcast of "Il Trovatore" Sat.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY, NBC. Raymond Massey in "Shake Up."

Raymond Massey has during the past year added a bright, distinctive light to the dramatic scene of radio, stage and screen with his superb portrayals of Abraham Lincoln and his fine acting in other roles. He has established himself as one of the dramatic guest artists whose appearances on the air are to be looked forward to as events. This week the Canadian actor appears in a radio play called "Shake Up" on the impressive "Lincoln Highway" series.

GREAT PLAYS, NBC. "The Barber of Seville."

Pierre-Augustin Caron de Beaumarchais of Paris was a jack-of-all-trades and a master of only two—watchmaking and playmaking—that is, unless you consider gambling and shady adventuring trades. He had few equals among eighteenth-century dramatists. He wrote two great plays which were set to music by two great composers and became two great operas. The plays—"The Barber of Seville" (1775) and "The Marriage of Figaro" (1784), a sequel. The composers—Rossini and Mozart. The scintillating romantic comedy, "The Barber of Seville," is better known in this country as an opera than as a play. But the story is substantially the same, and it possesses the same brilliant wit and humor in both forms.

The story is a "Romeo and Juliet" with smiles instead of tears.

HELEN HAYES THEATER, CBS. "The Age of Innocence."

Helen Hayes, pursuing her policy of selecting from a wide range of plays and novels, this week offers a radio dramatization of Edith Wharton's book "The Age of Innocence." It's an absorbing story that reflects high New York society in "the age of innocence"

—just before the "gay nineties" set in. But the doings of the beautiful woman and the lives she influences in the story are not as prim and puritanical as the title may suggest.

MR. DISTRICT ATTORNEY, NBC. Jay Jostyn, Vicki Vola, Len Doyle in "The Mystery of the Locked Room."

What would you think if you were a policeman and you found an elderly millionaire shot dead inside a sealed room, the room locked from the inside and no weapon to be found? Do you think you could solve that crime? Well, don't feel badly about it. The police in the story were stumped, too. But there really was a solution, and they found it. Maybe you could have found it, too. But it all makes one of the most intriguing and exciting situations which has yet faced the inexorable "Mr. District Attorney."

Friday, January 17

GANG BUSTERS, NBC. Fifth anniversary.

When the tommy-guns bark a violent warning, the sirens scream a relentless alarm and marching feet

"Lincoln Highway" stars Raymond Massey Saturday; Helen Hayes does "The Age of Innocence" Sunday

By Don Moore

tramp with the cadence of "Beware!" out of your loudspeaker Friday, January 17, the sudden cacophony will signalize the fifth anniversary on the air for radio's self-styled Crusade Against Crime.

On that date "Gang Busters," which has broadcast clues that, it is claimed, have helped in the apprehension of 160 criminals, will call the roll of the Public Rats—the most notorious or most vicious of the criminals at large today.

Each year on its anniversary program "Gang Busters" nominates and publicly hangs in an oral rogues' gallery those criminals who still must be reckoned with as social menaces.

Charles Irving Chapman, Maurice Denning, "Soup" Greyson are gangsters who have made the Dishonor Roll on various occasions and are still eligible for this year's blacklist. Bennie and Estelle Dickson and Raymond Duvall are among those who have been named before but have since been captured.

Who the dishonorees will be for this year will not be known until "Gang Busters" charge onto the air Friday. But how they are selected may be of interest.

The year 1940 had barely started ticking before a "Gang Busters" staff went to work ferreting out at least the names for the 1941 Roster of Rats.

Seven hundred fifty law-enforcement bureaus and over 400 especially trained field correspondents have been constantly on the alert for the latest trends in crime waves and who the perpetrators were likely to be—for crime psychology and experience show that each criminal has an individual modus operandi.

Into the "Gang Busters" office pour these reports—dozens each week—where they are tabulated and analyzed by the staff. Crime expeditions are watched and developments noted. Police authorities are consulted in quick airplane dashes throughout the country.

By the end of 1940, volume upon volume of criminal case histories had been compiled. "Punks" who earlier in the year had started out on rampages but who, fortunately, had been captured were eliminated. Mobsters who flared up and then smoldered were put in a special category.

The gangsters most assiduously sought by authorities are the ones "Gang Busters" concentrates on—criminals who have cut a broad and merciless swath through society are the ones who make the "semifinals"; and the process of elimination which selects the "finalists" is based on "survival of the toughest."

Only twenty-four hours before the broadcast the final listing is made. Police are consulted, charges are examined, records are checked. A carefully worded script, scrutinized by the show's attorneys, is written.

Then the guns bark, the sirens scream, the feet tramp, and the show goes on the air. And then listeners will learn "for whom the bell tolls" in the underworld, as one police chief after another announces:

"In my opinion, the most notorious public enemy at large in the United States today is —"

THE billing: Special de luxe item on this week's playbill gives you incomparable Bette Davis in Arch Oboler's adaptation of W. Somerset Maugham's "Of Human Bondage" on "Everyman's Theater." The situation: W. Somerset Maugham telephoned Arch Oboler, asking him to make a radio dramatization of his greatest book; Oboler accepted the opportunity and the challenge, and invited the author to speak a few words on the program. The book: "Of Human Bondage," written about the time of World War I, is one of the most gripping, most soul-probing, most imperishable and most widely read books of recent decades. The author: Maugham, now in his sixties, has written much fascinating fiction, including "The Letter," now filmed with Bette Davis. He is in the United States now, declaring that he will write no more fiction until World War II is over. The star: Bette Davis contributed perhaps her greatest role as the demon-woman who haunted the life of a doctor (Leslie Howard) in the movie version. The story: Mildred, the green-skinned waitress whom Philip, the doctor, called an "ill-mannered slut," put around his heart an aching chain that lasted her lifetime and almost his. The time: 9:30 p.m. EST, 8:30 CST, 7:30 MST, 6:30 PST.

—Gustave W. Gale

ANNA NEAGLE, English actress, starred in "Elisabeth of Austria" on the "Kate Smith Hour" Dec. 27

—Gustave W. Gale

JOHN BREWSTER had lead opposite distinguished Anna Neagle on "Kate Smith Hour" play Dec. 27

IN THE D. A.'S OFFICE. Here are the three principals of "Mr. District Attorney," heard each Wednesday over an NBC network. From left to right: Miss Miller, the D. A.'s alert young assistant (played by Vicki Vola), Sergeant Harrington, a well-meaning but unhelpful policeman-stooge (Len Doyle), and Mr. District Attorney, the racket-buster himself (played by Jay Jostyn)

FIRST FAMILIES OF RADIO

"MR. DISTRICT ATTORNEY"

WHEN Mr. District Attorney gets his man he gets him properly. So seldom, in fact, does his quarry live to face trial that certain listeners are fearful lest the D. A. lose his talent as a courtroom lawyer. Most listeners, though, don't worry about technicalities. Inspired by racket-buster Tom Dewey's career, "Mr. District Attorney" is one of radio's crime thrillers, presented Wednesday nights over NBC. Each week the D. A. (played by Jay Jostyn) has a rendezvous with death, but justice must prevail, so he invariably emerges unscathed.

Miss Miller (Vicki Vola) is his little helper. Instead of busying herself with secretarial duties at the office, Miss Miller bobs up at her boss' heels whenever some law-breaker maneuvers him into a tight spot—which is every week. Sergeant Harrington (Len Doyle) and Miss Miller are the D. A.'s confidants and compose, with him, a colorful twentieth-century trio of crusaders for justice. In an epilog each week, after they have gotten their man, the D. A. tells listeners of the sentence handed down by the court.

The scripts, written by Ed Byron, are splashed with enough lead and blood to suit the taste of the most avid adventure-thriller fan, but they have strong enough plots to hold, too, Casper Milquetoasts who don't have any great hankering for chiller-dillers.

QUIET, PLEASE—Guy Lombardo, extreme left, and his brother bandmen strain to catch every flaw as they listen to playback of test recording. They know one hit record is worth as much as six months on the air. The Royal Canadians arrived long ago, but nowadays a single disk—and radio—is behind almost every new band that clicks

ALL-IMPORTANT—to maestro and record companies—is selection of tunes, arrangement. Stumped over these problems here are singer Bob Eberle with Jimmy Dorsey, whose waxings are consistently good Decca sellers. Like most bands, Jimmy's records from four to six sides [two to three records] in a session. Bands get up to $1,000 a side plus royalties

ABOVE: A test is played back to Larry Clinton and men. Things to listen for: dropped notes, clinkers [sour notes]. Up to 15 "takes" may precede "wrapping up" of the record

BELOW: Benny Goodman recording dates at Columbia drew so many visiting critics that studio shut them out. A swing pioneer, Benny is big factor in the booming record business

ABOVE: Business-minded Tommy Dorsey, measured by tailors at recording date here, promotes own disks, has made several selling 200,000. Hits: "Marie," "Song of India"

BELOW: Big seller for Decca, with "Little Red Fox," others, Bob Crosby made the oddest of all records—"Big Noise of Winnetka," drum novelty. Bob's forte is old New Orleans jazz

OTTO F. MOSE PHOTOGRAPHS

100,000,000 Records

Bandleaders are the big noise of the booming record business. For them, records and radio are life blood

IN 1922 Americans bought 100,000,000 recordings and thought phonograph music was plenty good. Then they were handed a new toy, radio. Their recordings went begging, or into the ashcan. The miracle of radio—and its latent possibilities—hypnotized entertainers and entertained alike. Everybody thought recordings were gone for good. They were wrong.

Today, again, Americans are rushing pell-mell to the music stores to buy recordings. After the biggest year since 1922, record-makers are predicting that 1941 will see the hundred-million record reached and outreached. Behind that hundred-million mark is a story; it is essentially a story of dance bands, for whom recordings are—as is radio—life blood.

Juke Box Booms Records

Dancers, it must be remembered, make dance bands and it is the dancers who buy records. Foremost record consumers are dancing patrons of the "juke box," coin phonograph, of which 300,000 appear in taverns, restaurants and public places throughout the country. And a juke-box hit—which automatically becomes a best-seller record—can make a band. Classic example of this is Bonnie Baker's and Orrin Tucker's "Oh, Johnny," which sold half a million, making Bonnie and her sigh a national sensation. Other examples include "Marie" for Tommy Dorsey, and "Stomping at the Savoy" for Benny Goodman.

Record Prices Cut

A major factor in the record boom are the new fine-tone combination radio-phonographs and inexpensive record-players, coupled with drastic slashes in record prices. There is also the education of the public to popular music—as well as classical—which newspapers have carried on with evangelical fervor as the surge of interest in swing music has developed. Band styles of Benny Goodman or Guy Lombardo have suddenly become more important than their personalities, and the public wants recordings to study them at leisure. Radio, indeed, has ceased to be a novelty and its limitations are recognized. Records have been rediscovered as the perfect complementary entertainment.

Bandleaders' Big Chance

Spurred on by the record revival, and recognizing their biggest chance—outside of radio—for making the big-time or staying in it, bandleaders have vied with one another in making recordings, as pictures on these pages suggest. Today the recording champions are becoming the champion bands.

Take Glenn Miller, who records for Bluebird. Biggest, most consistent seller in the industry, Glenn has clicked with "Tuxedo Junction," "Moonlight Serenade," "Little Brown Jug" and others. Flawless precision and team-work have soared his disk sales to the quarter-million mark in several instances.

Artie Shaw made his name on the Bluebird waxing of Cole Porter's "Begin the Beguine," until then a flop tune in a flop show. "Beguine" sold over 250,000. Returning to the band business last year, but switching to the Victor Black Label studio, Artie and his new band made "Frenesi," which hit the best-seller list during its first week of release.

Glen Gray's Comeback Record

Although Glen Gray's band hit the top in 1933, it slumped a little in 1936, only to come back—and strongly—in 1938 on the strength of one recording, a revival of an old one, "I Cried for You." It sold 100,000. Other great recording champions include Kay Kyser, Bob Crosby, Guy Lombardo, Benny Goodman and Jimmy Dorsey.

These first gentlemen of bandom want radio and the recording business to join hands to produce new opportunities for themselves and—more important—better music for the American people. That is what they plan to do with their tremendous share in the 100,000,000 records made this year.

MUTE EVIDENCE of a long recording session is this shot taken after the boys went home. Informal, often zany, these are held any time of day or night, depending on band dates; normal dress is slacks, sweaters. During rest periods, Coca-Colas are imbibed freely by all—including Ginny Simms, who tosses off at least six during each Kyser session

ON THE BANDWAGON

By

Your guide to good records and news of the dance-band folk

IF JAN GARBER'S honeymoon had not run a day overtime, the chances are that he might still be sawing a fiddle. But because he took one day too many off for his honeymoon, his boss fired him. Whereupon Jan immediately organized an orchestra of his own and took all of the play away from his former director. Jan, who was educated at the University of North Carolina, also saw service in the army during the World War. It was there that he organized his first orchestra when it was learned that he had studied the violin at the Combs Conservatory in Philadelphia. After the war the Garber orchestra, which was a three-piece ensemble, played at various hotels, notably the Coral Gables in Miami, where they remained for four seasons. Chief feature of that Garber band was Jan's clowning, set to music, which went over in a big way with the "hotcha-minded" folk of the carefree Twenties. By 1930, however, the Garber offerings had gradually changed from red-hot jazz to a more dreamy and melodious brand of music. During this period the orchestra had also been enlarged by the addition of several outstanding musicians who are still with the band. Two of these, Lee Bennett, vocalist, and Freddie Large, sax, are featured attractions. To date the Garber band has played at many noted resorts and hotels, among them the Trianon Ballroom in Chicago, the Catalina Island Casino and Coconut Grove, Los Angeles. Members of the band are shown in the picture above as follows: Left to right (seated): Lee Bennett, vocalist; Al Powers, sax; George Fortier, sax; Jerry Large, sax; Freddie Large, sax; Muddy Berry, drums. Standing (left to right): Charles Ford, bass; Buddy Wallace, trombone; Jack Barrow, trombone; Norman Donohue, trumpet; Fritz Heilbron, trumpet; Douglas Roe, piano; Jan Garber (white coat), leader.

The Garber band's theme song is "My Dear," written by little Freddie Large, saxophonist with Jan's orchestra. Theme, however, may have to be discarded in so far as radio broadcasts are concerned, since it was published by a music firm associated with ASCAP. After January 1 all ASCAP music was to be banned by most radio stations unless the controversy between them and the radio broadcasting industry was settled by then. But regardless of who bans whom, the Garber band will continue to play romantic music in the manner that has gained for them a wide following—and is this correspondent's nominee as the BAND OF THE WEEK! Next week: Ray Kinney.

Bandata

Xavier Cugat, the Latin-American music maestro, who replaced Bob Crosby January 2 for Camel cigarettes, is going to have to do some long-distance commuting pretty soon. His band will be playing in Miami, Florida, for several weeks, which means that Cugat will have to fly to New York for the broadcasts . . . Tommy Dorsey's chartered plane trip from Los Angeles to New York on Friday the 13th, which was mentioned a couple of columns ago, proved very eventful. As a matter of fact the plane was grounded in El Paso, Texas, because of bad weather and he had to continue by train all the way to New York, arriving on Monday instead of the previous Friday . . . The news of Hal Kemp's death was a shock to this reporter, who knew him well. He was one of the grandest of all the baton-wavers and we're going to miss him tremendously along with many others . . . Lester Young, saxophonist with Count Basie's orchestra, refused to show up for a recording date on Friday the 13th, and kept the rest of the band waiting for hours until he was finally located asleep in his hotel room. P. S. Count Basie has a new sax-tooter.

There's talk of Benny Goodman making a feature film for Columbia pictures . . . Saw Artie Shaw's new movie, "Second Chorus." I still think he's a good clarinet player, but, as an actor, that's another story. For some reason or other the band sounded awfully loud and much too noisy, but don't let that prevent you from seeing the picture, because it's good entertainment — especially watching Paulette Goddard dance with Fred Astaire . . . The Cole Porter tune, "Make

It Another Old Fashioned, Please," from the Broadway show, "Panama Hattie," is tabu with networks as far as the lyric is concerned, because of the suggestion of liquor in the title . . . Russ Morgan is being panned by many, and deservedly so, for sending a wire to President Roosevelt suggesting WPA money be used to pay in part for use of ASCAP music on the air. What a brainstorm that was . . . Saxie Dowell, former Hal Kemp bandman and now a baton-waver himself, is airing from the Arcadia Ballroom on Broadway, New York, and getting quite a thrill out of it, because it's the first time the band has been on the air . . . Gene Krupa is back in the Panther Room of the Sherman Hotel in Chicago, where he went over very big during his last visit . . . Lou Breese is back at the Chez Paree in Chicago. Lou is very popular in these heah parts.

News from the Music Front

ON CHRISTMAS EVE my hotel was in a dither. The desk-clerk was rapidly going into a decline from signing for countless packages. The telephone operator was seriously thinking of having an extra switchboard installed. The bellboys were trying to find out how to say "Merry Christmas" in Polish, and not succeeding. Later in the evening a troupe of musicians marched in, all dolled up in Polish national costumes, and vanished into the elevator. Up from the kitchen came steaming dishes, brought in from the Polish restaurant down the street. And the rest of the hotel staff hung around unobtrusively, hoping for a glimpse of the object of all this excitement.

He sat quietly up in his suite on the fifth floor. What his thoughts were on this Christmas Eve only he could tell. But that they were not happy is certain. The blue eyes that once gleamed fiery and brilliant are pale and dimmed. The mane of red-gold hair that once crowned the proud head is now a soft, silky fringe of white, straggling over his coat collar. His face is waxen pale and sad. The slender, beautiful hands, whose magic power once bewitched millions of people, are quiet and move only to turn the pages of a book, light a cigarette, sign a letter. No longer do they glide over the piano keys. For until Poland is free again, Ignace Jan Paderewski will not play.

Ignace Jan Paderewski

He has not made a vow to that effect, as has been published. He merely declares that the piano, his career, is no longer important to him. Since the invasion of Poland, Paderewski has dedicated himself to one thing: To send as much help as possible to his stricken country. Although he is making no public appearances and very few radio speeches, he hopes that his presence in America will bring together all factions of Polish-American organizations in order to intensify the aid that Poland must have. This year will mark the fiftieth anniversary of his first appearance in America. To commemorate it Mrs. Ernest Schelling, widow of the late Ernest Schelling, composer-pianist and friend and pupil of Paderewski, is organizing concerts in many cities, the proceeds of which will go to the Paderewski Fund for Polish Relief. Among other things, the fund is feeding fifty thousand children in German-occupied Poland, with food bought in neutral countries, so that there may be no violation of the British blockade.

Paderewski has always been a welcome visitor over here, but sure proof of the place he holds in American affections was given him by over fifteen hundred Christmas greetings sent from all over the country, most of them with personal good-will messages. Packages from well-wishers filled the elevators, and hundreds of telephone calls came in all Christmas day.

He will read every message, slowly but thoroughly. And he will see to it that every one is answered, although he has been ill and can do very little. He still enjoys a cigarette and a glass of sweet champagne. He reads four and five newspapers a day, and all the newest books on politics and history.

Eighty years old, tired, his blazing artistic career a thing of the past, his foreign home closed and empty, his country overrun and enslaved, Paderewski, with his still-flaming belief in truth and its eventual triumph, is unquestionably one of the great figures of history, a living symbol of the faith and courage that the world so sorely needs.

A few weeks ago one of the leading New York music critics wrote about a young soprano making her Metropolitan Opera debut (as Leonore in "Il Trovatore"): "If Miss Greco had been born in Italy instead of in Greater New York, and had sung in a dozen European theaters, the beholder might have exclaimed as he nudged his neighbor, 'You see? There is an Italian singing! That's what they do in Italy!'" As it happens, the critic was not quite accurate. Norina Greco was born in Italy, but she has lived in New York since the age of eight. However, it is true that she sings like an operatic veteran instead of someone who made her debut in 1937. She has received all her training in America and is a live refutation of the belief that one must have European experience to sing in opera. She makes her air debut this Saturday in "Il Trovatore" and dial listeners will have a chance to hear the Met's newest successful star.—V. Lieblich.

Movie Poll

Vote now for the best picture of 1940—and for your favorite stars

THE year of 1940 saw many great pictures flashed on our American screens. Already, this or that long-haired committee has named its own "ten best." But no considerable group of American movie-goers has been permitted to express its own preference.

What does the average American like to see in his theater? What do you like to see? Hereunder is a ballot on which we hope you will express your preference. Herewith is a partial list of the better pictures exhibited during 1940. We print it only to jog your memory. You may vote for any picture produced and shown during the past year.

Mail the coupon to us as quickly as you can. If it is mailed on or before January 20 it will be counted.

PERSISTENT RUMOR which Major Bowes has not confirmed or denied says that the Major wants to buy the New York Yankees. Rumor also has George Jessel forming a syndicate to buy the Brooklyn Dodgers.

CRIMINAL proceedings under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act against NBC, CBS, Broadcast Music, Inc., and ASCAP were authorized December 26 by United States Attorney General Jackson. The action followed the failure to settle a dispute between ASCAP and BMI, a rival music society set up by the broadcasters to combat ASCAP. The Justice Department will base prosecutions on these points: (1) The illegal pooling of most of the desirable copyright music available for radio broadcasting in order to eliminate competition and to monopolize the supply, (2) Illegal discrimination against users of copyright music, (3) Illegal discrimination against composers who are not members of ASCAP or BMI, (4) Withholding music from publication in order to exact fees not permitted by the copyright laws, (5) Illegal price-fixing, (6) Restraining composers in their right to bargain for the sale of their own music, (7) Requiring users of music to pay for tunes on programs in which no music is played, (8) Mutual boycotts by ASCAP and the two networks (through BMI) in an attempt by each to obtain for themselves control over the supply of music by depriving the others of control, which boycotts threaten to restrain and obstruct the rendition over the radio of about ninety percent of the desirable modern copyright music.

The Mutual Broadcasting System was not named, possibly due to the fact that this network is made up of a group of independent stations working on a cooperative basis.

Neville Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, speaking for NBC and CBS, expressed surprise that the two networks should be named, pointing out that BMI was formed by the association with some six hundred stations participating while NBC and CBS together hold only 17.1 of stock in BMI. Gene Buck, president of ASCAP, said the government's action regarding his society is regrettable but not a surprise. He said, however, that he was pleased that the indictment also names the two networks which he charged are monopolistic powers. The trial will start in Milwaukee this month.

Unfortunate Hissing

When Giovannella Infante, eleven-year-old daughter of the Italian Embassy military attache appeared before the mike on NBC's ninth annual International Children's Party on Christmas Eve, the audience hissed. When British subjects appeared, there was loud applause. This is perhaps the first time that a radio program has been so biased—but certainly unexpectedly so.

Stork News

The Teddy Bergmans (he's the Fred Allen actor who calls himself Allan Reed on "Quixie Doodle") are expecting a baby . . . Bill Quinn of the casts of "Woman of Courage" and "When a Girl Marries" is the father of a new baby girl, Virginia Lillian . . . Eugene King of Mutual's "Dance-land" is now a father—a seven-pound thirteen-ounce girl. "What time was the birth?" King asked the doctor. "About 7:30," replied the doctor. King, used to radio's precise timing, insisted "I want the exact time." "In that case," said the doctor, consulting his records, "you became a father at exactly 7:30:22 p.m. EST."

Unusual Gifts and Cards

It may interest listeners to know what some of the artists gave as Christmas presents, and the kind of cards they sent out. Major Edward Bowes gave tiny silver aspirin boxes.

Parks Johnson of "Vox Pop" gave large baskets of grapefruit from his Texas farm. Gertrude Berg sent cuff-links and tie-clasps to the men. Raymond Paige sent autographed albums of his recorded music. Mutual gave radio editors a large red stocking containing a gift from each sponsor with a program on that network. The sponsor of Jack Benny, Kate Smith, "Maxwell House Coffee Time" and other programs advertising foods sent a large box of those foods. The most unusual gift to this correspondent came from the boys and girls who handle publicity for Jack Benny, Ed-die Cantor, Kate Smith, "We, the People," Helen Hayes and other programs. It was a check made out to the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind, a school for blind children where this writer teaches journalism one night a week. The check goes toward a swimming-pool fund so the children can get a little fun out of life.

Nila Mack Burned

Nila Mack, guiding light of "Let's Pretend" and other CBS kid shows, was seriously burned Christmas Eve as paper she used for wrapping gifts caught fire. She was taken to Roosevelt Hospital for first aid, then removed to her Manhattan apartment . . . Organist Dick Leibert of "Big Sister" and "Radio City Music Hall of the Air" injured a leg while skating . . . Allen C. Anthony, "Doctor I. Q." announcer, has three cracked ribs, the result of a fall on ice.

Gabriel Heatter Booked Up

Gabriel Heatter will be 1941's busiest commentator. He appears on MBS Mondays for a tooth-powder, on "We, the People" over CBS on Tuesdays, on MBS Wednesdays and Fridays for a hair- tonic, and on Thursdays and Saturdays, again on Mutual Broadcasting System for a magazine. Sunday nights he's free.

EVANS PLUMMER

BING CROSBY'S new radio, screen and recording contracts will bring him a 1941 income of close to a million dollars, of which pictures will net $350,000 to $525,000, radio $390,000, records $100,000 plus.

IF THERE was any doubt about Rudy Vallee's entering of his second decade as a performer with high-rating popularity, it should have been dispelled last fortnight when Rudy Vallee, together with Baby Snooks (Fanny Brice) and company, flew to San Francisco to give gratis performances at the Civic Auditorium for sixteen thousand needy children attending the NBC Call-Bulletin Christmas Party. The packed house shook to the rafters with laughter when Vallee pulled two new aces out of his sleeves and introduced—guess what? Two ventriloquist dummies which, according to reports, he manipulated with dexterity and only slightly greater lip-movement than is evidenced by Edgar Bergen. Bergen, as all know, is a radio protege of Vallee's. Incidentally, Vallee has been signed to return to the screen in a group of pictures for Universal studios; an elaborate musical is expected to be the first film.

Live Mikings

Cecil B. DeMille, picture and "Lux Radio Theater" producer, luckily escaped injury last week when his automobile collided in a heavy rain-storm with another machine in which two passengers were slightly hurt . . . A sad Christmas it was for choir-master Paul Taylor, whose mother quietly passed away at the age of sixty-six in her Beverly Hills home while listening to a special Christmas program for which the ensemble-singing was being supplied by Taylor's group . . . Blind radio whistler Fred Lowry and Grace Johnson were married December 20 at Las Vegas . . . James Street's story, "The Crusaders," has been purchased by Will Price as a possible radio serial starring

MR. GILDERSLEEVE (Hal Peary of McGee cast) aired plea for air rifle, got it from four girl fans

BEN BERNIE, arriving for Hollywood airings (Tues.), is met by announcer Ken Niles, "gift" horse

JUST ENGAGED! Popular West Coast maestro Ken Baker's in love —with actress Dorothea Kent

"RAGS," Hollywood dog actor, gets tips from Eddie Robinson for recent "Big Town" broadcast

"DAD" VALLEE, feted by his son on Hollywood visit, had a grand time with Rudy's film-star pals

AMONG PARTY'S self-appointed entertainers, W. C. Fields won easy honors, which Rudy bestowed

FRANK MORGAN, now returned to air for Maxwell House Thursdays, was present with his wife

CONVIVAL MR. FIELDS stopped the show with this impersonation of dowager Queen Victoria Academy-Award-winner Hattie McDaniels . . . Five Hollywood-produced programs head the list of the latest Crossley radio popularity survey. The toppers with their audience percentage points are, Jack Benny, 42; Charlie McCarthy, 41; Fibber McGee and Molly, 33.6; and next in order, "Lux Radio Theater" and Bob Hope's Pepsodent show . . . Burns and Allen, with Artie Shaw, will take their program to New York February 1 for three shows, then do one from Chicago.

Flicker Clicks

Radio's "Gang Busters" will be made into a fifteen-episode screen serial by Universal studios . . . Helen Wood, principal of the CBS "Those We Love" serial, has been awarded the leading-lady assignment in the screening of "Sergeant York" by Warner Bros. . . . Fanny Brice won a $30,000 settlement of her $750,000 suit against 20th Century-Fox for alleged defamation of her character by that studio's picture, "Rose of Washington Square."

Warm-Over Christmas Notes

What they did or received for Christmas: Jack Benny and wife Mary Livingstone refused to stay in New York, and even had the premiere of Paramount's "Love Thy Neighbor" advanced so that they could return to celebrate Christmas with their little daughter Joan . . . Al Pearce and wife Audrey spent the Yuletide with their families and friends in San Francisco, while Irene Rich journeyed to Santa Barbara to visit her sculptress daughter, Frances . . . Hal (Mr. Gildersleeve) Peary asked on the air for an air-rifle, and was sent one by four girl fans in Plymouth, Michigan! . . . Each of the Bing Crosby sons found a Palomino pony under their Christmas tree (figuratively speaking) . . . Abbott and Costello made news by playing Santa Claus in reverse and dressing up in red togs and whiskers to ring doorbells for donations, food and clothing for British War Relief, while Meredith Willson dispensed with Christmas cards and gifts for his band members and spent the money instead for a hospital bed for Bundles for Britain . . . Penny "Blondie" Singleton and Arthur "Dagwood" Lake staged an old-fashioned Christmas party after their broadcast before Christmas and exchanged gifts with the cast . . . Bob Hope and Don Ameche each entertained approximately two dozen relatives at huge Christmas dinners . . . Lurene Tuttle nursed her little daughter, Barbara, who broke an arm Christmas Eve.

Musta Been Winchell

Maestro Ben Bernie arrived in Hollywood just before the holidays to spend eight weeks at the Victor Hugo Cafe, and was greeted upon arrival by a sway-back horse decorated with the banner, "Sway-Back Nell," and attended by a cutie-pie jockey, model Evelyn du Pont. The nag was a kick-back from a gag Bernie started some years ago when he "romanced" Myrna Loy over the air. Friends of Miss Loy sent the ancient horse to welcome the bandleader along with a note that read, "Here's your Santa Anita entry, dear dope," and signed "Myrna." Bernie, by the way, is said to have been offered picture bids by three studios, RKO, Paramount, and 20th Century-Fox.

But Who Saw It?

Charging that Professor I. Q.'s intelligence quotient is lower than a "first-grade moron," the Slate Brothers last week instructed their lawyers to start suit for slander versus the question-asking Prof. Seems that Professor I. Q., in a recent broadcast, declared that the brothers, now appearing in Earl Carroll's new show, had never been in the movies. They are prepared to prove their case by showing "College Swing" to the judge should it come to trial. It won't come, however, after the Slate Brothers (and Earl Carroll) get their portion of publicity from the action.

Quiet, Please!

A year-end report of sound-effects called for on the Al Pearce CBS show during the year 1940, according to Billy Gould, the program's soundman, shows a total of 746 fallings down stairs, 357 window slammings, 452 doors broken through, 212 crashes. Gould also quotes that he has broken 1,340 berry boxes in the manufacture of various assorted sound-effects. He believes that this is a record for being very noisy—and he probably is right.

War Hits Andrews Sisters

The swinging Andrews Sisters, now busy winding up work in the Universal screen comedy, "Buck Private," are getting few laughs between takes because of the war situation in Greece and Albania. While they are American citizens, having been born in Milwaukee, the sisters are Greek on their father's side and have a number of cousins in the Greek army fighting the Italians. Their mother is Norwegian, and she too has her worries. No word has been received from her relatives in Norway since the Nazi occupation.

By DON MOORE

"BREAKFAST CLUB" has been discontinued as a locally sponsored show, as predicted here. However, several large national concerns have or soon will buy part-time slices of the show on the whole network.

LOOK for Pat Murphy, one of the most popular of all the serial actors with his Scoop Curtis role on "Girl Alone," to take a long vacation from the sketch, a la Joe Marlin on (off) the "Mary Marlin" serial. If the ways of the serials are beyond our ken, just have patience, dear reader-listeners—have patience and raise Cain!

It appears that cowpuncher-crooner Curley Bradley will confine his "Club Matinee" chores to singing hereafter, though he has a popular speaking part as Pecos on the "Tom Mix" sketch. It looks as if fell circumstance is out to club "Matinee" in various ways, but our heads, though bloody, are unbowed. Have patience, et cetera, as in the paragraph above.

A Merry (I-Go-Round) Christmas

The Santa Claus that came down the chimney of Paul Rhymer (author of "Vic and Sade") wasn't even a reasonably accurate facsimile of the traditional charitable old gentleman. He must have run into a fireplace hotfoot and gone temporarily mad. Christmas morning Rhymer found ten pairs of bedroom slippers from Charlie Urquhart, "Vic and Sade" director. They were modeled after one of Rhymer's script descriptions of some footwear. Among others, there were: a pair made of old inner tubes, a pair built of concrete with strawberry plants peeping between the toes, and a pair made of blotters. Moreover, despite the fact that most of Paul's friends know he hates hobbies, he received an instruction book, a hammer, a chisel and a one hundred-pound slab of granite to get him started in the hobby of carving tombstones.

Virginia Payne, star of "Ma Perkins," will make an album of recordings of chiefly comical monologs . . . The new "Carnation Contented Program" theme songs were especially written by conductor Percy Faith and producer Morrison Wood. The songs are "Contentment and You" and "Will You Promise to Be There?" . . . Columnist Hal Tate, our predecessor in this department, met Nikki Kay, Baltimore radio writer, in Chicago, saw her off on the train three days later, phoned her the next day to propose, and soon thereafter dashed to Baltimore to follow through on the "yes" he received.

Off-the-Air Marks

If he exhibits a fine collection of batons but never uses one in conducting, it may be Izler Solomon, young conductor of CBS' "Design for Happiness" . . . If he's pestering everybody around the NBC studios to play ping-pong and beating many of them, it could be Dick Holland, kid star of "Bud Barton" . . . If he's swapping Scotch dialect one minute and Yiddish the next, it's probably announcer-poetry reader Franklyn MacCormack, who knows just about everybody in radio around here . . . If she's a tiny girl with big, bright eyes, it's either Loretta Poynton (Pearl Davis in "Kitty Keene") or Janet Logan, star of "Stepmother." (Note: The last mentioned sketch was called an NBC feature in a caption on Page 13 of last week's issue. It is, however, a CBS program.)

Crossroads Court of Honor

Nelson Olmsted merits a niche in the Court of Honor for pioneering in a form of program off the beaten track and making it brilliant entertainment. He has been presenting for the past few months the feature called "Story-Dramas by Olmsted" on NBC Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. In this series he does in monolog style the great short stories of the world. With his understanding interpretations, flexible voice and restrained delivery Olmsted is adding a ringing new note to the radio dramatic scale. On Christmas night he presented one of his original stories, "Tomorrow's Paul," and it revealed the young actor as a promising writer also. The pedestal, Mr. Olmsted—step up, please!

"Step Down!"

The makers of Philip Morris cigarettes, who usually stress sophisticated advertising, have bought a local section of the popular WLS "Barn Dance" as a test for a network program.

SWITZERLAND TELLS THE WORLD

SWITZERLAND is at present an island surrounded and almost engulfed by ever-rising waves of Nazi domination. Cut off entirely from the democracies, its lofty snow-capped peaks still rise serene and calm amid turbulent and distressing scenes such as these ageless guardians of Swiss integrity have never before witnessed. At the base of these majestic Alpine mountains lies Lake Geneva, its placid waters, sparkling and blue, still untainted by the blood of Swiss soldiers. Perched high on a hill overlooking this peaceful scene is a huge, ornate edifice—the Palace of the League of Nations, its spacious halls once glittering with diplomatic pomp and splendor, now silent, dark, almost ghostly, a monument to a noble experiment that failed. Near by at Prangins stand the powerful twin 20,000-watt short-wave transmitters of the League of Nations. Built to broadcast news concerning the activities of the League to the world, these stations once were of great diplomatic importance. Today, with no League activities to report, the facilities of the stations have been taken over by the Swiss government for regular broadcasts to the outside world. They are the "Voice of Switzerland," feeble but still independent.

Swiss international broadcasts, which originate in studios in Berne, are broadcast weekly as follows (time is Central Standard):

To South America, over HBO (11.402), Mondays and Wednesdays, 5:45 to 7:10 p.m.

To North America, over HBO (11.402) and HBL (9.345), Mondays and Wednesdays, 7:45 to 9:10 p.m.

To Africa, over HBO (11.402), Tuesdays and Saturdays, 11:45 a.m. to 1:10 p.m.

To the Orient, over HBH (18.48), Wednesdays, 7:45 to 9:10 a.m.

To Australia, over HBO (11.402) and HBJ (14.535), first Sunday of month, 11:45 p.m. to 12:10 a.m. The Monday night broadcast to North America, intended primarily for Swiss nationals in Canada and the United States, is announced entirely in Swiss and Italian. The Wednesday night broadcast to North America, planned to keep all Canadian and United States listeners informed concerning events in Switzerland, is announced in English. An English news bulletin is broadcast at 8:00 p.m.; an economic report at 8:45 p.m. CST. The balance of the program is composed of delightful Swiss folk-music, yodels and choral selections. A few bars of the selection "O Mein Heimatland" (O My Home) introduce the broadcast.

In addition to these regular broadcasts, war pick-ups from the Balkans for American networks are often transmitted over one or more of the League stations. Telephoned from the Balkan capitals to Geneva, these broadcasts are usually radiated over one of these frequencies: HBJ (14.535), HBL (9.345) or HBQ (6.675).

A little more than two years ago, when the League transmitters were still busily engaged with diplomatic broadcasts, the Swiss government decided to erect its own 25,000-watt short-wave station at Schwarzenburg; it is used now almost exclusively for radiophone and wireless communication instead of international broadcasting. This station, known as "Radio Suisse," and under control of the "Servicio D' Information de L'Agence Telegraphique Suisse" does broadcast to European listeners according to the following limited schedule: From 5:00 to 5:45 a.m. on 11.865 megs, and from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m. CST on 6.195 megs; news in English being broadcast at 5:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. CST. These broadcasts are non-directional and not intended for reception in the outside world, but they nevertheless have been picked up repeatedly in this country and even as far away as in Australia. Reports on reception of this station are being verified with an attractive scenic postal card. Listeners holding this card are lucky, as mail must cross through the occupied war zones both coming and going.

GENERAL NOTES: Westinghouse station WPIT, formerly in Pittsburgh, is now located at Boston, where it inaugurated its new 50,000-watt transmitter on December 16. Studies are at 275 Tremont Street. Six frequencies have been assigned to WPIT but at present broadcasts are being made on 11.87 megs only . . . LLH (9.645), Oslo, Norway, is on the air and broadcasts daily from 4:40 to 6:00 a.m. and from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. CST. The identification is "Oslo Radio," and according to Robert Skyten of East Brookfield, Mass., the interval signal is a music-bone tune . . . No chances were taken with King George VI's personal safety when he broadcast on Christmas Day to a world-wide audience. The microphone location was a closely kept secret; even his own subjects in Great Britain were told only that he would speak from "somewhere in England," and all precautions were taken to protect the King's person from the attention of Nazi bombers.

WHY NOT SPEND your Christmas check on this radio clock? It tells time for the whole world

—CBS

MARJORIE DAVIES' ("Life Can Be Beautiful") bag, fitted with radio, is a brand-new novelty

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

Express your opinions. Write V. O. L., 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

Dear V. O. L.:

Not very long ago this was a full-hour program; then it was cut down to three-quarters of an hour. Now, here in Montreal, we get only the first half-hour of the show, the rest of the time being taken up with ten minutes of recorded music "for your dancing pleasure" and a five-minute newscast. That happens every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Moreover, on Tuesdays and Thursdays for the first fifteen minutes of what should be "Club Matinee" we get a transcribed program.

Is there anything we can do to persuade them to quit abusing "Club Matinee" and give us back one of radio's best shows in one whole piece? Dorothy Whyte, Montreal, Quebec, Can.

● We cannot repeat too often that the way to let radio officials know what the public wants is for the public—which is, after all, only a collection of individuals—to voice their reactions by writing those officials. That goes for all "Club Matinee" fans.—V. O. L.

BULLS & BONERS

Bulls and boners are a part of broadcasting. No matter how experienced the performer or how famous the star, chances are that he will make an occasional slip or a statement with twisted meaning which is extremely funny. See how good your ears are. Try to catch broadcasters in some error—the funnier the better—and send your entry to MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago. The most humorous entries will be printed in this column. Watch for your contribution!

Mr. Dempsey on "Rev. Robinson's Religious Service": "This is a request number for a grandmother who has just returned home from the hospital at the request of her granddaughter."—Isaac Jones, 2205 St. Antoine St., Room 48, Detroit, Mich. (November 15 over Station WMBC.)

Contestant on "Ask-It-Basket": "A chuck-wagon is a wagon they take along to feed the cowboys."—Mrs. Mildred Evans, 57 Bennett St., Hornell, N. Y. (December 12 over CBS.)

George Beebout, news announcer: "They may have to scrap the Duchess' jawbone."—Adele S. Heaton, 779 South Ohio Ave., Columbus, Ohio. (December 10 over Station WHKC.)

STARLIGHT on Your FASHION PROBLEMS

By Betsy Alden

HOW to spend your Christmas check is the theme of this week's "fashionette."

Here are some ideas inspired by top-flight personalities of screen and radio whose business it is to keep chic and charming as well as up to date in their persons, appearance and accessories.

Carole Landis, the blond darling of the movies, advocated generous doses of bath luxuries as the quickest way to lift a girl from the doldrums into a renewed state of poise and flower-fresh appeal.

She informs me that after a hard day's work at the studio (business girls please note!) she invariably goes like a homing bird to a warm, fragrant bath where she lies for at least fifteen minutes of "rejuvenation," feeling tired lines and eye-strain soothingly diminished and renewed pep and vitality surging through her body.

"Bath salts, bubble baths, body oils and dusting powder are musts in every beauty budget," she adds feelingly. "Only be sure that your bath accessories match in fragrance in order to avoid perfume discord. Buy the best preparations you can afford but don't be misled into believing that only the expensive ones will serve your purpose. You'd be surprised how much glamour can be purchased in a five-and-ten-cent store."

Dorothy McGuire, elfin, blue-eyed charmer of the "Joyce Jordan, Girl Interne" program, exults over her Christmas check investment, a Lanz-of-Salzburg skating-outfit that, as she puts it, "cuts more than a figure 8 on the ice rinks" and keeps her deliciously warm at the same time.

Dorothy's hat, socks and mittens are of white wool embroidered with bright flowers. Her flared jumper dress is a coral and French blue velveteen and there is a white wool guimpe and a cocky little cap that makes her look all of fourteen.

"Don't neglect your knees in skating weather," cautions Dorothy, who knows what outdoor activities can do to girlish exteriors, particularly with near zero temperatures. "Lubricate your exposed regions with lotions and creams and guard your eyes against sun glare! (We personally advocate Vanity Fair's warm "Teddys" of cotton, wool and lastex under a swirling skating costume to keep our little noses pink instead of blue and our surfaces silky rather than scratchy!)

"Carry your radio with your lipstick," suggests Marjorie Davies, of Columbia network's "Life Can Be Beautiful" series. (She has beautiful hair, I might mention en passant, and a most engaging smile!)

Marjorie's specially fitted handbag has a radio compartment in the bottom and is decidedly swanky-looking. While we're on the subject of radios, how about investing your check in a radio-clock? This pet of a clock tells the concurrent time in any part of the world and would be an exciting addition to either your mantel or your dressing table.

Seen at one of the smartest "after-dark" rendezvous spots where Hollywood celebrities gather, Persian trimming on hats and wraps, the new harem-draped dress and the long frock with a contrasting wool sweater. What about one of these last to modernize your old black evening gown? Or a touch of nasturtium color to add spice to your dark winter clothes? Nasturtium is scheduled for wide presentation in the coming spring fashions, and is wonderful for adding glow and winsomeness to winter "pale faces."

Let Betsy Alden give you advice about how to grow prettier, add smartness to your appearance, more charm to your personality. Every girl and woman has dormant beauty that can be awakened with the right knowledge. Send your letter (with a stamp, please) to Betsy Alden, 551 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

BRAIN-BUSTERS

(Join radio's quiz game! Try your skill at answering these radio brain-busters. For correct answers see below.)

From "Quixie Doodle Contest" (CBS, Sun., 5:30 p.m. EST)

1. If you were given the choice of accepting a billion bushels of wheat by the American count or by the British count, which would you choose, and why?
 2. A man faces so that his shadow falls toward the east. If he turns around so that he faces in the opposite direction, in what direction will his shadow now fall?
 3. If you box a box within a box that is already boxed within a box, how many boxes are boxed inside the outside box?
 4. If your house is third from one end of a row and seventh from the other end of the row, how many houses are there in the row?
 5. If you had a piece of white silk and you "pinked" it, and then you "blued" it, what color would it be?
- From "True or False" (NBC, Mon., 8:30 p.m. EST)
1. The organ is a string instrument.
 2. Austin is the capital of Texas.
 3. Houston was the capital of the Republic of Texas.
 4. There is only one star in the Texas flag.
 5. In the U. S. Army a silver eagle signifies a colonel.
 6. A U. S. Senator can be arrested while Congress is in session.

From "Quiz Kids" (NBC, Wed., 8 p.m. EST)

1. What did the following men in English history have in common besides their names: Ethelbald, Ethelbert and Ethelred?
2. In what opera will you find each of the following articles: (a) A laundry basket, (b) an apple, (c) a casket of gems?

3. Referring to the song in which the following people appear, answer the following queries: (a) Where did Clementine live? (b) Where am I weeping for Darling Nellie Gray?

4. If U. S. Senators Shipstead, Lucas, Vandenberg and La Follette had a bet on whose state university would win the Big Ten Championship, which Senator won the bet?

5. A baker placed nine doughnuts in a box and gave them to his helper to deliver after marking the number of doughnuts in Roman numerals on the outside of the box. The delivery boy was hungry and ate three of the doughnuts. Then without making an erasure he changed the number on the box to coincide with the number of doughnuts left in the box. How did he do it?

FROM GAGS TO RICHES

as a youngster and the friends he made there are still his pals. He'd always ask them what they wanted him to bring the next time he came back. And he always brought what they asked."

Lee Stewart was Bob Hope's first theatrical agent. He has known Bob from the famous peanut days. He tells us:

"Bob Hope has had a terrific sense of humor from the first day I ever met him. But that's not what stands out in my mind. It's his courage. Somehow, people don't associate courage with Bob but he has more of it than anybody I've ever known.

"A sort of courage that's too deep-rooted to be seen at first glance. Courage that hides under a laugh and a pat on the back is a rare commodity.

"I want to tell you about what I think is real courage. Bob's first big New York show was 'Ballyhoo.' It was a tremendous review that opened at Nixon's Theater on the pier in Atlantic City. The opening night there were so many scenes that the lights became fouled somehow and wouldn't work. Bob was at high tension, and scared. Yet he walked out there and entertained that audience for a solid hour, ad libbing and kidding till the lights were fixed. If you don't think that takes courage, you should see actors sweat and run cold chills opening nights. And that was Bob's first show.

"He was playing at the Palace at Cleveland when I told him he was to go into the Palace at New York the next week. Going into the Palace at New York, the actors' mecca, gives nine players out of ten a case of heebie-jeebes. Even the old-timers are nervous at the thought.

"Bob was excited, enthused, nervous and plain scared. Before the close of his Cleveland week he was on the edge of a nervous breakdown. But his courage was hitting on all twelve. In spite of his nervousness, he was determined to do something sensational.

"'We gotta get a gag,' he kept telling me. 'I gotta have something to carry me. I gotta do something good.'

"And then he hit it. He would hire six sandwich men to carry signs back and forth in front of the New York Palace the day he opened.

"He did. Those signs read, 'Bob Hope Is Unfair to Stooges. Local 711.' The sandwich men paraded and the crowd gathered.

"Then the manager of the theater hunted Bob up.

"'For God's sake, Hope,' he implored, 'get those sandwich men out of there! The crowd is taking that picketing seriously and won't come in the theater.'

"Bob dismissed the picketers but they had done their job. Every daily in New York carried the story about Bob's gag. They said it was terrific. It packed the theater. Next week I had five months' billing for Bob, on America's finest time. And all because he had unlimited courage under that smile, and a brain that works faster the tougher things get."

Bob Hope may be heard Tuesday night over an NBC network at: EST 10:00 p.m. — CST 9:00 p.m. MST 8:00 p.m. — PST 7:00 p.m.

LIFE AND LOVES OF QUEEN BETTE

you see her. You can't fool the camera. Watch her eyes. You can see that she is thinking and not just reciting the words that the director has given her. Do you remember Davis in "Cabin in the Cotton"? If so you remember the scene where she pretended she was making love. It was one of the hardest scenes of film history. Actually she was making love to the camera.

Here and now I want to put in a word for the most important men in Hollywood—the directors. Give a good director a story and you've got a good show. Give a good director a good story and Bette Davis and you've got a classic. One of the many things that annoy me with movie fans is that they know everything about stars and nothing about directors. William Wyler is among the best. When Wyler says a woman is good she is good and he says, "Davis is tops."

He didn't always think so. In 1931 he was looking for a demure young girl to work in "House Divided." The casting director sent Davis to him with a memo saying, "She's pretty good." And they say the art of understatement is lost in Hollywood.

What happened was first revealed by Wyler in Winchell's column:

"In a little while Miss Davis walked into my office wearing a tight-fitting, low-cut dress. She gave me a reading. 'You won't do,' I told her. And as she went out, I added: 'You've got to have more than a figure to be an actress. Remember that.' I called casting back and told them I wanted Helen Chandler.

"Not until I made 'Jezebel' did I find out what had happened. Bette had hurried over to wardrobe, and the dress she wore that day was the only one available. And after she left my office she swore she'd make me eat my words. I've eaten them many times since. I ate them over and over again a few weeks ago when I cut our latest, 'The Letter.'

"While we're on the Davis subject, she's a director's dream—a great star who isn't lazy. She does what a director tells her—only she does it better than anyone else."

And that is Mr. Wyler's tribute. The Queen smiles when she recalls that the first time she saw Le Gallienne, The Great One told her she was a frivolous little girl. Really, Davis, in theatrical swaddling clothes, fooled the greatest actress of her day. She had tried to appear nonchalant and detached before Le Gallienne, and she succeeded so well that The Great One thought she was frivolous. Miss Davis acted so well before Le Gallienne that it almost spiked her career!

The Queen says she has everything she wants except one thing and that is love. We gamble the suggestion that Miss Davis has the things she really loves most—her mother, her passionate love for acting and the tremendous joy of success. If a man can fit in between, all well and good. George Brent, a rebel himself, wouldn't fit. Neither did Mr. Nelson. There's talk of a reconciliation between the two. I wish them well, but the man who marries Miss Davis must either be bigger than she or be willing to be known as Mr. Bette Davis.

Even that shouldn't be hard to take.

This is the second of two articles about Bette Davis—by James Street.

MR. FAIRFAX REPLIES

Mr. Fairfax will give personal answers to all readers who send self-addressed stamped envelopes. Remember that he must confine himself exclusively to network personalities and programs. Address Arthur Fairfax, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. John Frederick, Indianapolis, Ind.—The Escorts and Betty are composed of TED CLARE, FLOYD HOLM, CLIFFORD PETERSON, BETTY OLSON and DOUGLAS CRAIG. Betty and Douglas are not married. Ted is married, has no children; Floyd is married and has a daughter, Patricia Lynn Holm, born March 29, 1940; Clifford is married and has a son, Tommy, born in September, 1939.

Mrs. Dorothy Frazer, Framingham, Mass.—PAUL BARNES (heard as Jack Felzer in "Guiding Light") got into radio by accident—while he was still in knee breeches. He wandered into a small Chicago radio station, just to see what the studios looked like, and sat meekly in a corner of the reception-room with a lot of other people. When a wild-eyed young fellow herded the group into a studio, Paul went along. Somebody thrust a script into his hand, said "read" and disappeared into the control-room. Paul was so surprised he read through the script without any argument and found himself assigned the role of an old man. Having appeared with little-theater groups from the time he was nine years old, young Barnes did a very capable job and started himself out on a radio career. Barnes was born in Chicago, November 8, 1918, son of a metallurgist whose one acquaintance with the theater was a term as prop-man for Charles Winninger years ago. His mother is a non-professional too. Paul attended Ruggles Grammar School, won the Cook County high-school oratory contest when he was at Hirsch, and attended Northwestern University. Born Samuel Zimmerman, Barnes adopted his stage name as an aftermath of the greatest tragedy of his life—the death of his dearest school friend, whose name was Barnes. When he got ready to select a stage name, he promptly chose that of his school friend. Besides being an actor, he plays the clarinet, saxophone, flute, piccolo, oboe, bassoon, English horn and the ukulele. He's also a make-up artist, a cartoonist and a poet. He also excels in the kitchen. Barnes likes Shakespeare and Edgar Rice Burroughs; Beethoven and George Gershwin; dogs, horses, cities and steak, rare. He's a bachelor, stands six feet and one-half inches, weighs 165 pounds, has a fair complexion, light-brown hair and hazel eyes.

Mrs. Elizabeth Meyerson, Minneapolis, Minn.—The theme song of "KITTY KEENE" is "None But the Lonely Heart" by Tschaikowsky. DAN DONALDSON is the announcer. The cast follows: Kitty Keene, BEVERLY YOUNGER; Bob Jones, BILL BAILEY; Jill Jones, DOROTHY GREGORY; Leddy Fowler, CHEER BRENTSON; Jefferson Fowler, PHIL LORD; Anna Hajek, LOUISE FITCH; Dimples, GINGER JONES; Miss Branch, JOSEPHINE GILBERT; Norma Vernack, ANGELINE ORR; Clara Lund, PEGGY HILLIAS; Pearl Davis, LORETTA POYN-TON; Preacher Jim, HERBERT BUTTER-FIELD; Charles Williams, RUSSELL THORSON; Buzzer Williams, CHUCK GRANT; Neil Peggy, DAN SUTTER; Humphrey Manners, IAN KEITH.

Miss Doris Ross, Twinsburg, Ohio.—The cast of "LINDA DALE" is as follows: Linda Dale, HELEN SHIELDS; Eric Dale, ERIC DRESSLER; Jason Blade, MACDONALD CAREY; Shiela Blade: KAY STROZZI; Michael Kerry, MYRON McCORMICK; Eileen Kerry, NAN DORLAND; Dr. Maxwell, CHARLES WEBSTER. ELIZABETH TODD and DICK MOR-ENUS are co-authors of this script; ARTHUR HANNA is the director and GLENN RIGGS the announcer.

Miss Grace Johnson, Milwaukee, Wis.—The new theme song on "One Man's Family" is an original composition by PAUL CARSON, organist of the program and staff organist of NBC. Mr. Carson has titled the song "Valse Patricia."

ONE LIFE INSURANCE POLICY INSURES THEM ALL!

THE FAMILY GROUP LIFE INSURANCE POLICY PROTECTS YOUR ENTIRE FAMILY

Men, Women, Children—Age 1-75 May Apply

TOTAL COST
Only
$ 1.00
A MONTH
FOR ALL!

- NO MEDICAL EXAMINATION
- NO AGENT WILL CALL

Now everyone in your family may enjoy sound life insurance protection. Regardless of which member of your family dies . . . or how they die, after this policy is in full benefit, it pays cash promptly. You don't have to risk a penny to inspect this policy . . . we want you to examine it carefully, ask your friends about it. Don't delay . . . you never know when misfortune strikes. Be prepared with safe, sound life insurance for every member of your family.

The extremely low cost of this marvelous Family Group Life Insurance Policy is made possible because the Bankers Life and Casualty Co. has reduced selling costs to a minimum . . . this policy is sold by mail—no high-priced, high-pressure selling agents will call on you. Bookkeeping costs have been reduced because an entire family can be insured in a single policy—requiring only one policy, one premium notice, etc., etc., for as many as ten persons in a family.

FREE POLICY INSPECTION OFFER!

This policy is so outstanding and liberal that once you examine it, you will marvel at it. Without cost to you we will send complete details and tell you how to get the Family Group. Decide for yourself in the privacy of your own home whether this policy isn't the biggest insurance offer ever made by a dependable, reliable, life insurance company.

AS PLAINLY STATED IN THE POLICY

YOUR ENTIRE FAMILY IS INSURED UP TO:

$1000⁰⁰
Maximum—For Natural Death

$2000⁰⁰
Maximum—For Auto Accidental Death

$3000⁰⁰
Maximum—For Travel Accidental Death

The fact that the company pays one death claim does not cancel the policy. It remains in force on the balance of the family as long as premiums are paid. Monthly premiums are divided equally between the number insured and benefits are graded according to the attained ages of members insured.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE POLICY

Q. How many members of the Family can be covered by one policy?	A. There is no limit—all there are in the family.	Q. Will a collector come around to get the payments?	A. No. We have no collectors.
Q. Who can be included in the family group?	A. Husband and/or wife, their parents, their children, either adopted or natural. (3 generations.)—ALL FOR $1.00 A MONTH.	Q. How long does the company take to pay their claims?	A. Within 24 hours after approval of the claim.
Q. Is a medical examination required?	A. No.	Q. Must all persons included in the policy be living in the immediate household of the applicant?	A. No.

SEND NO MONEY!

Remember, you do not send one cent with the coupon—just your name and address, and we send complete details and 10-Day Free Inspection Offer. No agent will call—no obligation. Be sure to write today. Don't put this off. Do it today. Just mail coupon.

MUSIC LOVERS!

Triple your enjoyment with this famous 3-volume "LISTENER'S LIBRARY"

- 1 DEEMS TAYLOR'S Biographical Dictionary of Musicians
8,500 entries—lives, dates, accomplishments of every major and minor composer, musician, performer; with key to pronunciation in 16 languages.
- 2 151 GREAT OPERAS
by 60 greatest operatic composers—plots, casts, musical themes, history.
- 3 438 CONCERT WORKS
by 112 immortal composers—meanings, what themes and passages to listen for, how they came to be written, etc.

DO YOU LOVE GOOD MUSIC, and want to enjoy it even more fully? First, know the "Men of Music." Second, know the stories of great operas—the sublime blending of music, poetry, and drama. Third, know more about the glorious symphonic masterpieces.

How to Know All Three

So that you may know more about these three subjects, the "Listener's Library" has just been assembled. One of its editors is DEEMS TAYLOR—world-renowned composer, critic, radio commentator!

These inexpensive volumes (Formerly $7.00; NOW only $2.95 for all three) cover virtually every opera, every symphonic work, every composer. In 1510 interesting pages (See partial Table of Contents at right) these books tell you of the composers' lives; what their music is about; how they wrote it; for what instruments, and how to listen to them; the stories behind the great music.

A Library You and Your Children Will Always Cherish

The inspiration you can derive from good music depends on your familiarity with it. How much more beauty you will find in the Unfinished Symphony when you know the poignant story behind its composition, and that of unhappy Schubert who set it down! How much more grandeur will cling to the majestic opera filling your living room—when you know its history and legend! And how much more appealing you can make good music for children—when you can explain music to them from its human side!

You will refer to these volumes time and again. They bring the whole rich world of music within your grasp. Read carefully the Table of Contents here—even though it can give only a hint of the vast amount of musical information you will find in these three books. And you may examine them now—without obligation and without paying a penny in advance!
