RICH IN DEXTROSE

Look for me (N. R. G.)
On every wrapper!

DR. ALLAN ROY DAFOE SAYS: "Baby Ruth, being rich in Dextrose, vital food-energy sugar, and other palatable ingredients, makes a pleasant, wholesome candy for children."

Editorially Speaking...

NO ONE who knows Hedda Hopper would call her the shrinking-violet or clinging-vine type. Tall, dynamic, an individualist, purveyor of "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood" via CBS and writer of a syndicated newspaper column, Miss Hopper's raptorial wit is probably her most-admired characteristic, the largest collection of screwiest hats in Hollywood her greatest tribute to feminine frippery.

So when Hedda Hopper recently came out on the air in a one-woman crusade to influence the women of Hollywood to "dress up" again the cause gained a worthy if unexpected champion.

Said Miss Hopper: "When Clark Gable disrobed in 'It Happened One Night' and it was revealed he was without an undershirt, he sent the men's underwear business into a decline, which manufacturers estimated cut their business fifty percent within a year. That's why I'm fighting to get the women of Hollywood to dress up. Last night at a benefit at Ciro's for Bundles for Bluejackets, all the stars, the producers, brass-hats, etc., were present, but Dr. Emil Ludwig's wife and myself were the only two in evening dress, and it was nice of Dr. Ludwig (whom I'd never met) to come and thank me for dressing for the occasion. You know I've been criticized here for saying that the stars must go on looking like stars. They should dress up for the Academy Dinner (ed. note—announced as an informal affair for the first time in years this year) for two reasons. One, because we're not going to let the Nazis or the Japs change our way of life, and because if Hollywood stops dressing up it's going to give the rest of the country an excuse for doing the same thing. And what's going to happen to the sewing-women throughout the country who have no other means of support? And I never knew one of them who didn't have a dependent or two she was taking care of. In England, after two years of war, they still dress for dinner...

—Gene Lester

COMMENTATOR - columnist Hedda Hopper

"Many of the girls wore their uniforms, which is fine. I admire them for all the work they are doing. But unless you are actually serving in those uniforms, why wear them out to a social party? Because after the men see each other in them all day long, I have a hunch they like to see their women in something a little bit more feminine..."

What do YOU think about it, readers? We'd like to know.

—The Editors.

DEFENSE worker Joe Smith (Robert Young) of M-G-M's "Joe Smith, American," puts in much overtime but finds time for bowling. Upper left, Joe tells his wife, Mary (Marsha Hunt), it's bowling night and he won't be home for dinner. But he does spend most evenings at home with Mary and (upper right) son Johnny (Darryl Hickman). Lower left: A sociable fellow, Joe is popular with fellow workers at plant. Lower right: Joe's loyalty to job and country stands up against bribery

"Joe Smith, AMERICAN"

JOE SMITH, aircraft worker of M-G-M's "Joe Smith, American," is thirty, ten years married, has one child, nine. He's buying a home with FHA assistance, drives a 1938 sedan, earns a dollar an hour, plus much overtime pay, as crew chief in the final assembly department, later is promoted to the secret bomb-sight department. He was born in Wisconsin of Norwegian and Austrian parentage. He likes movies and he belongs to one of the aircraft industry's bowling leagues. He doesn't fly an airplane, although he has helped build them for ten years

"JOE SMITH, AMERICAN" is as timely as tomorrow's newspaper headline, as dramatic as life can sometimes be, as homy as your next-door neighbor. M-G-M's new, typical American-at-war film, starring Robert Young as an aircraft worker, with Marsha Hunt as his wife and Darryl Hickman as his son, may prove to be the most significantly timely picture of the year. It's a picturization of a spectacularly popular Paul Gallico story which appeared in Cosmopolitan. In it Robert Young has one of those modern, realistic roles that he can do superbly, and Marsha Hunt gives evidence of why she is considered one of Hollywood's finest young character actresses. The plot itself is somewhat melodramatic, involving a conspiracy to steal the secret of an American bomb-sight, kidnaping, amateur-detective work and sabotage. A few months ago the story might have been considered too far-fetched. But now—after all, we dare not be too sure such things cannot happen. The picture is an exciting, inspiring American document.

To Meet the Real "Joe Smith," Aircraft Plant Defense Worker, Please Turn Page

THIS IS THE REAL "JOE SMITH, AMERICAN,"

1. THIS is the house the Joe Smiths live in at La Crescenta, California. It has two bedrooms, a kitchen, bathroom and a combination living-room and dining-room. The Smiths get it, partly furnished, for thirty-two dollars a month. There's a garage and a back yard full of fruit trees

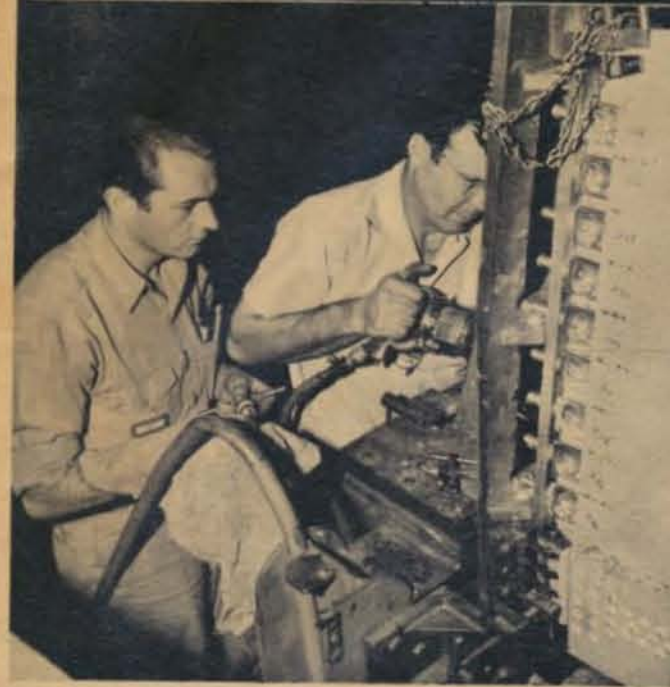

2. LEAVING for work, Joe gets a good-bye kiss from wife Minnie Lee, whom he calls Min. Theirs has been an average happy married life for ten years—through some pretty tough times, for they were so brave as to be married "right smack in the middle of the depression"

3. "SEE YOU LATER," says Joe to friend Jimmy Ellison, as he arrives at the Lockheed plant for the day's work. These two and four other aircrafters ride in one of the group's cars each day. The transportation costs Joe about $1.50 a week since car-maintenance costs have gone up

AIRCRAFT PLANT DEFENSE WORKER

4. PUNCHING holes and riveting, as pick-up man on midwing-section assembly, is Joe's (right) job in department ten at the huge Lockheed airplane plant at Burbank, Calif. Used to outdoor jobs, Joe found that this kind of work tired his eyes, and he had to get glasses recently

5. EVEN seven-day-a-week war workers have to take time out to eat. Nearly all the workers, except some of the single fellows, bring their lunch, eat in special sections of the plant yards. Joe (seated on pavement) usually brings a couple of sandwiches, fruit and coffee

6. JOE WORKS hard, long overtime hours, like most war workers. But he likes his work and feels, justifiably, he is making a small but vital contribution to America's fight. He gives his best to his job at the Lockheed plant at Burbank, conscious his tools are real weapons of war

THE AVERAGE AIRCRAFT WORKER IS:

A SERIOUS chap at work, but off duty goes to shows twice a week and generally bowls or plays golf or poker once a week "with the fellows." He is married (seventy-six percent of the aircraft workers are) and has three children. He is between twenty and thirty years of age. According to a national survey of aircrafters, he spends $37.12 a month for rent or home-purchasing. He generally teams up with four or five friends to drive to and from work at a cost of approximately $1.25 a week. He owns some kind of car (ninety-five percent do) and a radio (ninety-six percent do), takes his lunch to work. He is one of some 350,000 such workers, of which 125,000 are in California. Production plans for 1942 call for at least 250,000 more aircrafters to be employed

7. NOTICE the genuine, straightforward American-independence smile on Joe Smith's face as he leaves the production line, takes off his specs and splashes around in the wash-basin at the close of another strenuous day. He's thinking of home, Min, Dotty, dinner!

8. PRIDE AND JOY of the Joe T. Smiths is Dorothy Jo, who's five and a half years old and likes to go to kindergarten. Joe spends at least an hour in the evening playing with Dotty, who seems in the picture above to be imitating Daddy's pose right down to the smile

9. JOE AND MIN have a friendly game of dominoes. Dorothy Jo is almost under the sandman's spell. Looking on is Min's niece, Robbie Waldron, who works at Vega aircraft plant. For dinner this evening they had a spareribs-and-potatoes meal, along with home-made cake

10. FINALLY Joe relaxes with the newspaper before bedtime—to find out what is being done at the fronts with the weapons he and millions of others are making. He prefers his news from the papers, Min hears it on the radio. Both are sure we'll win the war

THE JOE SMITH HOME BUDGET IS:

AVERAGE MONTHLY INCOME	$175.00
AVERAGE EXPENSES:
Rent	32.00
Gas for cooking and heating ..	4.50
Electricity	3.00
Phone	1.50
Groceries (and cigarettes) ..	43.33
Transportation	6.50
Allowance for Joe	4.33
Movies	8.66
Car maintenance	6.50
Insurance	5.50
Drugs, sundries, magazines ...	5.00
Savings, defense bonds	43.33
Clothing	10.00
Average Total Expenses	$174.15

JOE SMITH, when beckoned by his foreman, George A. Morrison, at Lockheed's airplane plant in Burbank, Calif., put down his tools and met the man from MOVIE-RADIO GAMES. This Joe looked to be just an average, clean-cut, healthy American, bent on doing his bit to lick the Axis and doing it in his particularly qualified way—which is riveting mid-sections of wings for PY-38 interceptors.

Yes, this weekly sought out Joe to learn more about the man behind the production lines, one of the unsung heroes of this war.

It came about this way. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer made a picture called "Joe Smith, American," which you'll be seeing soon and which you just read about on the preceding page. You'll come away from that picture realizing that the Joe Smiths in the war manufacturing plants are pretty important guys, after all. So we thought you'd be interested in a real Joe Smith. We hunted one up and found he wasn't hard to find. At the Lockheed plant, there were fifty-four of them on the pay-roll. Twenty percent of them worked in the shop of the factory, and from this list we picked out Joe T. Smith, pictured here, as most typical of all aircrafters and defense-plant workers.

He's a very nice guy. You'll like him. And he has a modest, pretty wife and a well-behaved, attractive young daughter. Very swell people.

At first glance, we guessed and confirmed that Joe is twenty-nine years old. He stands six feet and weighs 180 pounds. He's what they call a "pick-up man" in department ten, is above average intelligence, and is clock No. 81,939. He started to work for Lockheed on November 12, 1940, and it was his first airplane or manufacturing-plant job. He studied at a trade school to prepare for it. That was when he came to California from Texas, and after about two months of intensive training, he landed the job quickly.

Joe T. married Minnie Lee in June, 1932. He let Min, as he calls her, tell us a few things when we met her. "We come from Crosbyton, near Lubbock, Texas," Minnie Lee told us. "We never had got very far from there till we came out here. Joe had been a farmer, a cowboy and last was hired by the Government as a range inspector for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. We'd gone together two years before we were married, but we had known one another ever since childhood, when we were neighbors.

"We were married right smack in the middle of the depression, and it was kinda tough going for a while, but we were farming then and had cows, chickens and a garden, so it wasn't so awfully hard to get along."

Here Dotty—more formally, Dorothy Jo—going on six, showed up from kindergarten. She is their only child. Another daughter, who would have been eight, died. Also included in the Smith household is Robbie Waldron, a niece of Minnie Lee.

But back to Joe. He and his family packed their favorite furniture pieces onto his 1939 Ford pickup truck and came to Los Angeles in mid-1940. Joe sold the truck and used the money to keep ends meeting and pay for his two months of schooling for an airplane-factory job.

He has been working steadily at the Lockheed plant since Armistice Day, 1940. He lives in La Crescenta, one of the healthiest communities in southern California. Joe and five other workers pool their transportation by riding the ten miles to the plant in one of the group's cars daily. The car Joe uses is an old model-A Ford he bought for $75 and reconditioned himself.

JOE has only a few hobbies. He likes to go to movies, play dominoes and read. He is studying to be a jig-maker, his next step up at Lockheed. He likes serious stuff on the radio. Min gets the news and drama when she listens. Young Dotty goes for the "Lone Ranger." As for the motion pictures, Dotty worships Gene Autry, Min likes Alice Faye, Clark Gable and Don Ameche, and serious-minded Joe prefers "Dr. Kildare" films to any others. They go to the theater in Glendale, five miles distant, twice a week.

Min does all her own cleaning, laundry, ironing and sewing, makes most of her own and Dotty's clothes with an old pedal sewing-machine. She's a clever seamstress, likes to do that kind of work.

There's the Joe T. Smith family. Only one thing more: They buy defense bonds and give money to the Red Cross and Dotty saves a defense stamp a week from her allowance.

We salute you, Joe. Keep 'em flying—more and more.

HEDDA BAKES A PIE:

HEDDA HOPPER finally consented to give her famous recipe for lemon pie, long a culinary secret, on the radio. Unique feature of this one that Hedda's whipping up (left) is it's "baked" in the ice-box. Idea came from Deep South

ROLLED CRUMBS form bottom crust, whole wafers line edge of plate. After three hours in the refrigerator, filling congeals, holds wafers in snug mold. Only heat used is in thickening egg yolks. Grated lemon rinds add to flavor

YUM! YUM! Hedda samples finished pie. Says the making is easy. Only tough part is three-hour wait by guests who have eaten it before and holler for more. Confection, like Hedda's personality, has a zip and tang that all folks love!

BILL STERN REPORTS:

STERN watched Rudy Vallee play tennis with champ Big Bill Tilden. Thought he was a whiz. But Rudy insisted his real game was billiards. Proceeded to prove it by calling fifteen shots without a miss. That score convinced veteran Stern

RED SKELTON gets astride a banister in his Brentwood home, shows Stern how he plans to beat world yo-yo record. So far Red's stacked up 500 spins without a miss, ably assisted by his missus. Hopes to be yo-yo champion in year's time

DIMES FOR CRIPPLED KIDDIES:

FOR PRESIDENT'S "March of Dimes" broadcast to aid in combating infantile paralysis, radio and movie stars gave generously. Irene Dunne subbed for Garbo. Left: Ty Power, Claudette Colbert sandwiched before show began

AWAITING cues for the broadcast are (l. to r.) Humphrey Bogart, Deanna Durbin (who has just made peace with Universal), Kay Kyser and Maureen O'Sullivan. Bing Crosby, others appeared on huge benefit program

ALSO present at Hollywood's "March of Dimes" broadcast was wisecracking Charlie McCarthy. Here you see him just before he went on the air, getting an osculatory salute from old friend Marian Jordan (Fibber McGee's Molly)

THIS IS THE PLEDGE stars signed. Volunteers will fill any request for free service authorized by the committee

HOLLYWOOD COORDINATING COMMITTEE FOR THE STAGE, SCREEN AND RADIO

To help the defense program of the United States of America and bolster the war-time morale of civilians as well as men in the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, I hereby enlist in the Hollywood Talent Pool.

In an effort to serve my country in an efficient, ungratified manner, I will fulfill requests for free entertainment of my nature only when these requests are approved by the Hollywood Coordinating Committee for the Stage, Screen and Radio. From this year on, I shall try to fulfill any reasonable request in the program of free entertainment as presented by the Hollywood Talent Pool.

It is my understanding that this pledge does not interfere in any way with my obligations as contained in any contract to which I am the subject or will be subject in the future.

Screen Actors Guild Members Plan Free Entertainment to Aid War Effort

UNDER the aegis of their own professional organization, the Screen Actors Guild, Hollywood actors and actresses have banded together to form a $1,000,000 "stock-pile" of free talent for patriotic purposes.

More than five hundred of the profession's top performers, called together in a great meeting at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel, cheered Screen Guild president Edward Arnold as he outlined the job to be done: To make Hollywood talent one hundred percent effective in providing soldiers, sailors and marines with first-rate entertainment, in aiding the sale of treasury bonds and stamps, in entering many other areas where entertainment-for-morale can make the war effort a success. To do this job the Screen Actors Guild, together with radio actors, legitimate-stage actors, writers, producers, broadcasters and other organizations formed the Hollywood Victory Committee for Stage, Screen and Radio as a coordinating agency. Then, after President Arnold had announced the Guild's plan for a gigantic free talent pool, the stars dived into the pool by signing pledges. Fifteen stars were named as an actor group to serve on a general coordinating committee, with Clark Gable as chairman.

How this free talent pool operates is best seen in the scores of Army and Navy camps throughout the country. Official agency for entertaining the service men is U. S. O.'s Camp Shows, Inc., which already has twelve shows on tour, will soon have more. These shows have basic casts of musical comedy and vaudeville performers who are paid small sustaining salaries and play on regular circuits week in and week out. But appearing as headliners are Hollywood stars—and they receive nothing for their services except the satisfaction of having a personal stake in the war effort. Thus Hollywood stars, through their Screen Actors Guild and the Hollywood Victory Committee are contributing thousands of dollars worth of talent every week for the camp shows alone. Besides this, with their pool, they are selling bonds and stamps, making war shorts and trailers without pay.

Patently, the report—which gained wide credence and was published in MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE—that the Guild wanted its members to receive pay is entirely without foundation. The Screen Actors Guild has released a million dollars' worth of free, gratis, for-nothing talent. With it the Guild as a unit, and the stars as individuals, are saying to Uncle Sam: "We'll Keep 'Em Smiling!"

Movie-Radio Guide Visits:
EDWARD G. ROBINSON'S
"BIG TOWN"

EVER since "Big Town" came to the airwaves five years ago, it has followed a plan that makes it something more than a good radio program. Namely, to present a cross-section of vital topics which represent interests and problems peculiarly of America and Americans.

At its original launching, "Big Town" crusaded against rackets and racketeers that infested a mythical American city; problems which nevertheless had their counterparts in many great metropolitan centers. In fact, each broadcast represented a tremendous amount of research work on the part of script-writers before the show was whipped into final form for the airways.

KEN NILES, announcer for "Big Town," has a special talent for injecting enthusiasm, especially when it comes to reading commercials for the program. Ken is specialist in making the listeners feel that the product is a "must"

THE SHOW'S MAESTRO, Leith Stevens, hasn't just come from a Churchill rally for victory; as a matter of fact, he is signaling to his band members for just the right tone in menace music so necessary on "Big Town" broadcasts

"GET YOUR 'ILLUSTRATED PRESS' " on show comes from the strong, young lungs of Bobbie Winkler, who does the newsboy bit at opening and the closing of each broadcast. Bobbie is a real trouper, acts in motion pictures, too

FOLKS on "Big Town" (heard Thursday night over CBS, 9:30 EWT) cast work hard, but they have fun, too. Above: Ona Munson (Lorelei) and Edward Robinson (Steve Wilson), principals in the show, get a bang out of some snappy lines in their dialog

SOFT-SPOKEN and genial in real life, Mr. Robinson presents a contradictory front as hard-boiled editor of the "Illustrated Press," Steve Wilson (above), who snaps orders, and is poison to law-breakers. Service men, others attend his broadcasts in droves

In the present season, although Steve Wilson (Edward G. Robinson) is still a crusader, he centers his editorial policy on the parade of headlines that deal with national defense, other problems of nation-wide interest, with only an occasional detour onto the old stamping ground of sawed-off shotguns and "pineapples."

Sponsors of show combed Hollywood and Broadway for star to play role of Steve Wilson before agency saw a reissue of "Five Star Final," in which Robinson played a hard-boiled managing editor, a natural for the role of "Big Town's" Steve Wilson. And from the beginning, as now, Robinson has figured in show's production, apart from his role as star. For his story judgment is sound and his sense of the dramatic almost infallible.

With versatile Leith Stevens as conductor of music, and Crane Wilbur, veteran writer-actor-producer, at the helm, "Big Town" is setting a new record for itself in radio shows.

Three years ago Ona Munson took over the role of Lorelei at the suggestion of Mr. Robinson, with whom she played a sob sister part in "Five Star Final." For he hadn't forgotten her swell work in that role.

After "Big Town" broadcasts, Robinson holds impromptu receptions backstage at CBS Hollywood studios, greets service men, other guests.

TO PUNCTUATE Friday the 13th (although a week early) star Edward Robinson and his leading lady, Ona Munson, had a load of fun, amused cast and guests by performing several jinx-defying stunts. Above: Opening an umbrella indoors; (below) walking under a ladder. Also tempted fate further by smashing a mirror, spilling salt, throwing hat on a bed, with no dire results as this is written!

ONA MUNSON, who has played the part of Lorelei Kilbourne, ace reporter on the "Big Town" "Illustrated Press" for the past three seasons (above), registers fear in a tense moment during one of the show's rehearsals

PRODUCER-DIRECTOR and editor of the "Big Town" programs is Crane Wilbur, whose business always has been show business, both on Broadway and in Hollywood. Wilbur has written, starred in and produced many plays

Charlie Chaplin Reissues "The Gold Rush"; Abbott and Costello Plan Bomber-Buying Junket; Judy Garland Autographs Hat-Bands for Doughboys

By EVANS PLUMMER

CHARLIE CHAPLIN, who speaks little and hides much, is good for a headline whenever he talks, and last week he told of his work, since "The Great Dictator," in cutting, re-editing and putting sound on his old success of sixteen years ago, "The Gold Rush." Charlie wants to premiere the revamped picture at New York to a $10-a-seat first-nighter audience and turn over the proceeds of the film there and everywhere else to the American Red Cross. Meantime, Charlie has tabled his idea of creating a new, self-starring picture based on the French Bluebeard, wife murderer, to produce another comedy in which he will not appear. For my money, Charlie could start right now in re-working and adding sound to his "Shoulder Arms," another oldie that would be just as funny today to the men in the service . . .

Abbott and Costello, Universal's laughable gifts from Heaven who are the Chaplins of 1942, are taking time out from film-making late in April to embark on a personal campaign to buy a bomber for Uncle Sam. A bomber costs upward of $350,000; they will raise the fund by making personal appearances on a victory tour of the nation's theaters. Every cent they earn on the trip will go into the bomber fund; they'll pay their own traveling expenses, meals and hotel bills! . . .

The screen actors are not alone in their patriotic effort, however. The movie directors, too, have volunteered to do whatever they can do best for Uncle Samuel. Famous Frank Capra, now that he has completed his editing of "Arsenic and Old Lace" for the screen, has gone to Washington as a major in the Army Signal Corps. He is attached to the General Staff in Washington—and this is his second war, for in World War I he was a private. Bill Wyler, director of "The Little Foxes" and many other outstanding pictures, has likewise reported for duty as a major in the Army. He probably will be assigned to work in making training pictures and official, documentary films . . .

Winners in Movie-Radio Guide's 2nd Defense Bond, Stamp Slogan Contest!

HERE are second winners in Movie-Radio Guide's "Defense Bond and Stamp" Slogan Contest which closed February 12. The $25 bond was awarded Hester Caroline Green, Spokane, Washington, for the slogan, "Choose America! Bonds-Men Today or Bondsmen Tomorrow!" The five reasons for buying defense bonds were: 1. For Today's Savings; 2. For Tomorrow's Protection; 3. For an All-Time America; 4. For an All-Shared Security; 5. For an All-World Democracy! To Ethelmay Campbell of Largo, Florida, was awarded the $1 Defense Stamp, for slogan, "Every Defense Stamp Means a 'Token' for Tokyo!" Her five reasons for buying stamps were: Because of 1776, 1861, 1898, 1917 and 1941. For information of all who may enter this contest, a $25 Defense Bond and a $1 Defense Stamp will be awarded each week to slogan winners, until further notice. Each slogan MUST be accompanied by five brief reasons for buying bonds or stamps. If winning slogan is submitted by more than one person, five reasons given will decide winner. No slogan will be returned. Decisions of judges are final. This week's contest closes March 5. Later entries will be considered in contest closing March 12. No one may win both bond and stamp prizes same week. Contest is open to everyone except publication's employes and their families. Watch for the winners in third contest in next week's issue.

The airplane plants—whose production speed slows down every time a pretty girl or especially a movie actress makes an inspection tour—have found a way to beat the distraction-braking. At Lockheed, where Warners have Ann Sheridan playing an airplane-factory worker for "The Shadow of Their Wings," they've built a huge partition around Ann and the rest of the movie-location outfit, their lights, cameras, microphones, etc. So now only a section of the factory will be slowed down! Ann probably will be "spirited" into the walled-off section. That likewise will be the order for Betty Jane Rhodes, KHJ-Mutual's "First Lady of Television," who was signed last year by Paramount. Betty will star with Bob Preston in "Priorities of 1942," a musical with locale laid in the Lockheed plant . . .

Judy Garland, back in Hollywood with hubby Dave Rose from their recent tour of eastern Army camps, brought along a bad attack of laryngitis from overtaxing her vocal cords, and a brand-new vogue in autographing. Judy reports that the lads asked her to sign the hat-band inside their steel helmets. This way, the lucky autograph-collectors are sure their Judy Garland signatures will not be pilfered, as it is a court-martial offense to swipe Government-issue material! . . .

HERE'S the quintet of canine stars that won the 1941 "Boscar" awards. Best tragic, dramatic, comic and character roles were honored at home of comedian Ken Murray, shown behind sad hound above, with little Darryl Hickman, Judy Canova, Arthur (Dagwood Bumpstead) Lake

EXPLANATION: Ratings of pictures are in Vs—"for Victory"—and VVVV, a four-V rating, is accorded only a top-ranking, almost perfect production. VVV is a winner, excellent film fare; VV is average, and V, unfortunately, is below average. Natural-color films are so indicated as "In color" right after the title, and ALL films are judged as "adult," "family," or simply "juvenile" fare.—THE EDITORS.

BILLY GILBERT, sneezing comedian, demonstrates how pensioned senators might pass their leisure time, making intricate petit-point

Orson Welles is off to Rio on one of the most ambitious movie ventures ever attempted short of "Trader Horn," the self-imposed assignment of the boy wonder being to make background shots for his fourth picture. Just what is required for such a venture makes interesting conversation. There are twenty-six technicians—cameramen, sound-experts, Technicolor, etc. They have four complete movie-making outfits—two for color and two for black and white. The equipment for the most part, several tons and then some of it, was shipped coastwise. The cameras went by air. The first batch of technicians flew from Hollywood to Miami via regular airlines, but the second group traveled on Army bombers. Since there are no extra seats in bombers, each traveler bought an unusual accessory—a rubber seat-pad! . . .

Very clever device of Paramount Studios to publicize their forthcoming "Holiday Inn" picture of Bing Crosby and Fred Astaire is to send greeting-cards each holiday, starting with Valentine's Day, to all the newspaper movie editors and critics. Bing will sing a "Holiday Inn" song, too, each holiday on his radio program . . .

Lucia Carroll, who took time off last September from "The Man Who Came to Dinner" at Warners to take a husband named Carl Schroeder, supervisory editor of this and its sister publication, SCREEN GUIDE monthly, is continuing to take time off now to have a baby, and Lucia is a very happy young lady. She has just learned that her brother, a first-class seaman in Uncle Sam's Navy, has passed his tests and will be trained to be a Naval aviator, so, what with another soldier or sailor in readiness for 1962, friends are kidding Lucia about starting her own private army . . .

Surprising twist to the heart affairs of Joan Crawford is her sudden dating with Glenn Ford since she met him at Columbia Studios. Friends believe it is only friendship, however, and that the Ford-Evelyn Keyes twosome has not been broken up. Lana Turner, however, is now dating drummer Buddy Rich, of Tommy Dorsey's band (or was till it left town), and Dorsey found favor with Betty Hutton, the new Bob Hope alrshow ball of fire. Other dates of the week were Hazel Forbes with William Orr and with Van Heflin, Dorothy Lamour's several with Phil Reed.

JOEL McCREA and Veronica Lake, in movie director and actress roles, go on quest for realism in "Sullivan's Travels"—find it!

MOVIE REVIEWS

"Sullivan's Travels"

Cast: Joel McCrea, Veronica Lake, Robert Warwick, William Demarest, Franklin Pangborn, Porter Hall, Eric Blore, Robert Greig, Margaret Hayes. A Paramount picture, written and directed by Preston Sturges.

Type of Picture: A drama with some unusual twists, a movie background, and Joel McCrea, Veronica Lake doing some excellent work in roles of director and disappointed movie actress.

This Is the Story: A wealthy and successful young movie director (Joel McCrea) decides to make a motion picture based on the great masses of humanity but realizes that he knows nothing about the subject. To get firsthand information, he sets out with a dime in his pocket and a pretty girl (Veronica Lake) by his side to see how the other half lives. Both meet suffering, privation, with McCrea finally being thrown into prison, an experience flavored by old galley-slave days. Ending leaves movie-goers with something to think about.

Verdict: An unusual picture packed with a mixture of comedy, drama and melodrama, which the whole family will enjoy.

"What's Cookin'?"

Cast: The Andrews Sisters, Jane Frazee, Robert Paige, Gloria Jean, Leo Carrillo, Charles Butterworth, Billie Burke, Grace McDonald, Donald O'Connor, Franklin Pangborn, Tag-a-Long, The Jivin' Jacks and Jills, and Woody Herman and his orchestra. A Universal picture, directed by Eddie Cline. Screen play by Jerry Cady and Stanley Roberts.

Type of Picture: A let's go to town, musical fun show, with a jorum of sweet, snappy, classic and hot-lick tunes, plus plenty of jitterbugging, general pep.

This Is the Story: What there is of story and plot revolves around radio sponsorship and the ups and downs of talented youngsters on the airlines. Highlight of the piece is a moppet of five, known as "Tag-a-Long," a second Jane Withers-plus!

Verdict: A highly entertaining and fast-moving musical picture for the whole family.

Archie to Sell Coffee in "Duffy's Tavern" Tuesdays; New Radio Show May Give Shirley Temple Role She Needs; Ted Weems' Old-Timers Settle Down

The Washington report by Major Curtis Mitchell, usually published on this page, has been omitted this week. Major Mitchell's inside reports from the nation's capital will be renewed in an early issue. Watch for them.

NEW YORK By MARTIN LEWIS

A few Thursday nights ago we dropped in at one of our favorite air shows, the "Duffy's Tavern" program. It was apparent that Ed Gardner, who portrays Archie, wasn't too happy.

LIEUTENANT Robert Montgomery, U. S. Navy, did a smashing job as narrator of the initial broadcast of "This Is War" series

And he had a right to sing the blues. He had been notified that his razor sponsor was going off the air because of the priority situation on steel. We tried to offer a few words of encouragement by telling him a smart sponsor would surely come along and take over the show. Therefore, it was good news when we heard our prophecy had come true and that "Duffy's Tavern" will celebrate St. Patrick's Day by replacing the coffee-sponsored "We, the People," which goes off the air. The program should do well in this spot and get a host of new listeners, since it will no longer have the stiff competition of the popular "Aldrich Family," which has been a terrific handicap to Archie . . .

While we're on the subject of shows that are popular, we're still wondering why radio advertisers haven't given proper recognition to such programs as "Joe and Mabel," "Behind the Mike" and "Basin Street Chamber Music Society." All three of these shows are first-rate entertainment and would do very well for any sponsor.

This is just about the time of year agencies start thinking about summer replacement shows and we suggest they give a listen to any of the above-mentioned programs . . .

Here's a very interesting story from CBS concerning Edward R. Murrow, their European chief. When Murrow arrived in this country in December, some of his colleagues cornered him and suggested that he take advantage of the opportunity to cash in on his experiences by going out on a lecture tour. Murrow didn't like the idea at first, but when he was told that he could make about $25,000 in a short time, which is a lot of folding money for any foreign correspondent, he consented to the tour. So what do you think happened? On the last lap of his tour, after having spoken before packed houses wherever he appeared, Murrow publicly announced to his audience that he has decided to donate all the profits from his lecture tour to the R. A. F.!

For many months now, some of our most important radio shows originating from the West Coast have put on their programs at Army camps or Naval bases for the entertainment of our soldiers and sailor boys. For some time we've been wondering why some of the New York shows didn't follow this patriotic example. For that reason, we were pleased to learn of Ted Collins' decision to take the entire "Kate Smith Hour" to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, from where the program originated last Friday. Kate and Ted are footing all expenses for the trip, for which we take our hats off to them. A tip of the hat also to "Wheeling Steelmakers" of Wheeling Steel, who broadcast their show last Sunday from the Great Lakes

Naval Training Station, too . . .

Edward G. Robinson has been broadcasting his "Big Town" program from New York for the past two weeks. At the rehearsal of his first show there were two familiar fellows who looked very much alike reading lines in front of the mike. They were brothers Johnny Monks, who wrote the famous play "Brother Rat," and Jimmy, one of the five sons in "How Green Was My Valley" and who also plays the part of an R. A. F. pilot in the current RKO picture, "Joan of Paris." Johnny and Jimmy have been acting before the mike for years, but this was the first time they appeared on a radio program together . . .

Those of you who have been fortunate enough to witness a broadcast from Radio City's studio 8-H won't recognize it the next time you see it. For the next five weeks it will be getting a thorough overhauling, with engineers improving its acoustical qualities and new and more comfortable seats being installed. The more comfortable seats, incidentally, won't at all displease this reporter and other spectators . . .

We were quite surprised not to see Donna Dae among those present when we stopped in to catch a Fred Waring broadcast. Donna is visiting her grandparents in Long Beach, California, taking her first vacation in the three years she's been with the Waring organization. By the way, you out-of-towners who come to New York for a visit and want to see a swell radio show, we heartily recommend you write for tickets (well in advance) for a "Pleasure Time" broadcast. Fred and the whole gang entertain the audience for almost an hour after each broadcast, and it's one of the best radio shows in town to visit . . .

Did you know Mrs. Ruth Cornwall Woodman writes "Death Valley Days," oldest dramatic show on CBS? (It's been on the air without missing a week for twelve years.) Wife of an investment broker and mother of two children, Mrs. Cornwall is a native New Englander, lives in a suburb of New York and prior to writing the scripts for this program had never been out West. Now she goes to Death Valley only once a year to gather material for a whole year's dramatizations of true western stories.

IT'S easy to see Norris Goff (Lum's pal Abner) loves his little Gretchen and vice versa. He's crazy about his son Gary, too, you can bet

BOY SCOUTS of Troop 121, Los Angeles, were guests of Kay Kyser at his "College of Musical Knowledge" show during National Boy Scout Week. Bob Blum and Bill Schwarzer are explaining to Kay that badges awarded by station KFI are for the troop's outstanding Scout work

HOLLYWOOD By GLEN ANDERSON

Shirley Temple comes back to the air in a regular weekly series this next week, March 4, with a half-hour dramatic show each Wednesday night, aegis of Procter and Gamble, and portraying the "Junior Miss" created by the fertile pen of Sally Benson in the New Yorker and on Broadway. It is to be hoped that radio will save Shirley from a fate from which the screen has not detoured her in her past several pictures. Shirley is a smart, comely looking adolescent, crying out with the normal problems of the young misses of her age, and which do so need expression and advice. Where, oh where, is the screen story that will fit the normal, growing-up Miss Temple? While awaiting it, Shirley will find "Junior Miss" a good serial, quite up to her qualifications, and one which may do her much good. Meantime, Shirley is about to make "Annie Rooney" as a screen play for Edward Small Productions . . .

LUCILLE MANNERS (l.) receives from Mrs. Sturgis Jenkins Victory jacket and appointment as radio director for Maple Leaf Fund

Another young lady recently launched on a mike career is twelve-year-old Dellie Ellis, Russian-English miss born in Hong Kong and broken into the stage there while still an infant. You'll hear her, thanks to the foresight of lovely Irene Rich, as Pamela in "Dear John." Dellie, then an orphan, escaped from the Chinese city a few steps ahead of the plundering Japanese, and bearing a letter of introduction to Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., from a foremost Chinese actor, Fairbanks' death left Dellie straitened on the Coast, until Miss Rich heard of her plight . . .

Speaking of new programs, the Far East is represented again most unusually by NBC's new "Three Sheets to the Wind" serial starring John Wayne and Helga Moray each Sunday night. After twenty-six weeks of the radio presentation, the program, which is a brainchild based on the Asia experiences of movie director Tay Garnett, will be made by him into a picture of the same name. Garnett, who marks this as his first air adventure, has just completed his direction of the Harold Lloyd production starring Kay Kyser and entitled "My Favorite Spy" . . .

Kyser, incidentally, has just received belated news that the song "Tell It to the Marines," written by two of his boys and introduced on his quiz broadcast, was the last tune requested by the Marines stationed at Wake Island before it fell . . .

War sugar-shortage has interested keenly Bob Burns, CBS' "Arkansas Traveler." A couple of years ago, Burns planted sugar beets, and today he has over one hundred acres in cultivation. What's more, he talked his neighbors into the advantages of the crop and got them started growing it. Now he expects to rate an extra profit, which he will put into defense bonds . . .

In the radio's Pine Ridge, Ark., of "Lum and Abner," it's still "a wonderful world"—intentionally made so, of course, by L. & A. to take the minds of their listeners off war troubles. Currently, the "wonderful world" expression is being bandied about heavily by a sort of modern Diogenes who has turned up in Pine Ridge in search of the town's most honest and generous citizen—who will be awarded a prize of $10,000 . . .

MADAME ALLA NAZIMOVA, whose occasional dramatic triumphs in radio have been linked with Arch Oboler's triumphs as a radio dramatist, will once again star in an original Oboler play this week. She will appear in "The Chinese Way" on the "Plays for Americans" series. This is the moving story of a simple Chinese woman who, single-handed, holds up the advance of the Japs for over a year. But more than the mere story of a heroine, the play is a graphic demonstration of the solidarity between the most remote Chinese hamlet and the smallest American village. Madame Nazimova has been in semi-retirement since the completion of her great work in the motion picture "Escape." The Heart-Warming Story of Why "Darling Nellie Gray," a Song That Sold Millions of Copies, Was Written, Will Appeal to Music-Lovers Everywhere

By ROBERT BAGAR

New York World-Telegram Music Expert and Associate Program Annotator for New York Philharmonic Society

WE ARE indebted to Earl R. Hoover, ex-president of the Otterbein College Alumni Association and a member of the college board of trustees, for a most unusual story. Ordinarily the following account would belong in the category of popular music, but because it concerns what we may term a "classic" of American folk literature, "Darling Nellie Gray" and its composer, Benjamin R. Hanby, and also because it is so human and interesting, we can assign it to no other place but this column.

"Darling Nellie Gray" is one of the standards of the American song archives. Radio programming of the piece is frequent and well-known concert artists have found it important enough to include it in their libraries.

Hanby wrote "Darling Nellie Gray" in 1856, when he was a sophomore at Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio. He sent his manuscript to a Boston music publisher and learned it had been printed only when he heard that it was being performed in a near-by city. Its success from that point on was sensational. It swept the country. It hurtled over oceans into strange countries. It was translated into many foreign tongues and sold millions of copies.

The text of the song is based on the escape of a Negro slave, Joseph Selby, after being separated from his sweetheart, Nellie Gray. The verses tell of his desolation at discovering that she had been sold and taken to Georgia, his hope of buying her freedom, and later of the awareness of impending death.

It happens that Selby, in his mad dash for freedom, stopped at the home of the Hanbys in central Ohio. The composer was then a very young boy, but the circumstance left its impression on his mind. Many years later Hanby was working in Kentucky during one summer vacation and the sight of slaves being sold on the auction block moved him strangely. His great compassion for the pitiful victims reminded him of the Selby incident and he set his feeling to words and music. The song was the result.

Mr. Hoover tells us that he took an unexpected motor trip through Rushville, Ohio, and there found a little grave in an old cemetery, Selby's grave, giving his death date as 1842. Thus, this year marks not only the seventy-fifth anniversary of Hanby's death, but also the one hundredth anniversary of the fugitive slave Selby's.

Hanby, it develops, wrote several songs that became popular, proving that the success of "Darling Nellie Gray" was no mere accident. His "Up on the Housetop," a children's Christmas song, had been, till recently, of unknown origin. Mrs. Dacia Custer Shoemaker, Hanby biographer, came upon the truth while poring over some old manuscripts, conclusively proving his authorship.

Another composition of his, the hymn "Who Is He?," is not well known here, but it did make a great success in England and, as Mr. Hoover puts it, "wherever the British flag flies."

Interpreters of Verdi

The list of artists who have appeared in Verdi's "Un Ballo in Maschera" (The Masked Ball), the Metropolitan's broadcast selection this week, reads like a who's who in operatic music. The first Metropolitan performance, on December 11, 1889, was given in German with Lilli Lehmann as Amelia. It was performed in Italian on February 23, 1903, with Johanna Gadschi, Fritz Scheff, Louise Homer, Emilio de Marchi, Giuseppe Campanari, Edouard de Reske and Marcel Journet.

Subsequent performances boasted such immortals as Emma Eames, Emmy Destinn, Frieda Hempel, Margaret Matzenauer, Enrico Caruso, Antonio Scotti, Pol Plancon and Pasquale Amato.

The original libretto of "Un Ballo in Maschera" called for a conspiracy, "resulting in the murder of a king on the stage." The work was to have its premiere at the Teatro San Carlo in Naples during the Carnival of 1858. However, owing to the attempt on Napoleon's life in January, it was deemed a dangerous, and possibly provocative, thing to enact a stage assassination. Hence, the management of the San Carlo made all sorts of difficulties about producing the work.

Considerable excitement among the people followed, for they were irritated by the delay. A compromise was reached with the transference of the action from the original Sweden to Colonial Boston, and the King of Sweden was miraculously made into an imaginary governor of Boston. The locale of the premiere was changed, further, from Naples to Rome, so that the first performance of the opera took place in the latter city on February 17, 1859.

Some of the important numbers in the score are the three first tenor arias, "La rivedra nell' estasi," "Di tu se fedele," and "Ma se m'e forza perderti"; the famous solo, "Eri tu," as well as "Alla vita che t'arridi," for baritone; the contralto solo, "Re dell' abisso"; the song of the Page, "Saper vorreste"; the quintet in the first act and the finales of the second and third acts.

The Sea in Music

Claude Debussy, who had never voyaged much by boat, save for one or two crossings of the English Channel, yet captured the mystery of the ocean's endless expanse, its teeming moods, its colors and enchantments as no composer has done. His score is by no means an imitation of sea sounds, rather has the composer labored with the idea of the spirit of the sea, its beauty, its awesomeness, its mercurial changes of humor. Debussy possessed the equipment for such a work in his masterly manipulation of orchestral colors, in his exotic harmonies.

He began sketches on this magnificent work during a stay in Burgundy. In describing his plans to Andre Messager, he wrote: "You will say that the ocean does not exactly wash the Burgundian hillsides—and my seascapes might be studio landscapes; but I have an endless store of memories,

Guide to This Week's Fine Music Programs

JAMES MELTON, via NBC's "Telephone Hour," will sing Air de Lenski from the popular three-act Russian opera "Eugen Onegin" and to my mind they are worth more than the reality whose beauty often deadens thought." Though he wrote most of "La Mer" ("The Sea") in Paris, he put the finishing touches to it at the smart English watering-place of Eastbourne. Serge Koussevitzky, who conducts the Philharmonic-Symphony broadcast, is a noted interpreter of Debussy's fanciful score.

A Song of Impatience

Tschaikowsky admired the great Russian poet Pushkin almost to excess. One of the latter's works, the verse novel "Eugen Onegin," the composer, with the aid of K. S. Shilovsky, made into an operatic libretto and then he wrote the score for it. He did not consider the work actually an opera, but a succession of "lyric scenes" and therein lies a tale.

It appears that Tschaikowsky hated almost to distraction the obvious elements of the operatic stage. In a letter to his brother he wrote: "How delightful to avoid the commonplace Pharaohs, Ethiopian princesses, poisoned cups and all the rest of these doll's tales. (Verdi and Wagner please note.) 'Eugen Onegin' is full of poetry. I am not blind to its defects. I know well enough the work gives little scope for treatment and will be deficient in stage effects; but the wealth of poetry, the human quality and simplicity of the subject, joined to Pushkin's inspired verses, will compensate for what it lacks in other respects."

The three-act opera is one of the most popular in the Russian repertory. The Air de Lenski, which is to be sung by James Melton via the NBC "Telephone Hour," is a song of impatience. Lenski, who is waiting for the other principal in a duel, Onegin, frets and fumes and philosophizes about the delay of his opponent.

(James Melton may be heard singing the Air de Lenski on "The Telephone Hour," Monday, NBC.)

Some Worthy Recordings

Leonard Warren's magnificent voice is heard to excellent advantage in his recording of Avant de quitter from Gounod's "Faust" and Scintille Diamant from Offenbach's "Les contes d'Hoffmann." Two rarely heard arias, Lift Thine Eyes from Goldmark's "Queen of Sheba" and Daglis immortal vertici from Verdi's "Attila" are delivered by Igor Gorin (Victor).

ANDREWS SISTERS, noted for their close harmony "swing" on the radio, have swung to straight ballads for a Decca record

POPULAR MUSIC

If the idea has gotten around that the Andrews Sisters can sing only swing tunes, there is refutation in the fact that they do an expert job with such a straight ballad as "The Shrine of St. Cecilia." The tremendous sales of the Decca record by the Soeurs Andrews is already challenging the sales mark set by another disk of theirs, "What to Do?"

Harry James, now being called the nation's No. 1 trumpet man, is proud of a new possession, the horn that once belonged to King Joe Oliver, one of the immortals of jazz.

Ray Block, who began his radio career some years ago as arranger and pianist for the Eton Boys, is now a veritable Jack of all trades. He composes "mood" music, he arranges, he conducts symphonic or dance orchestras with equal aplomb. And on his day off—Wednesday—he remains in bed, planning the next week's duties.

And another odd item about Block: His orchestra for the Philip Morris shows boasts five well-known leaders—count 'em—Nat Brusiloff, Johnny Augustine, Bob Knight, Johnny Williams and Vladimir Selinsky. One of the vocalists for these programs, Judy Freedland, wrote the song hits, "Dreamville, Ohio" and "B-I-B-I," both you've no doubt heard from morning till night.

Recommended Popular Records

Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra really give in Cole Porter's "What Is This Thing Called Love?" and the old familiar "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses." Both of these represent the young maestro and his cohorts at their best (Victor 27782). Claude Thornhill's dishing of "Somebody Else Is Taking My Place" and the oddly titled "Ya Lu-Blue" (borrowed from Mozart's G Minor Symphony No. 40) are first rate (Columbia 36512). Of course, you can scarcely leave Glenn Miller out of the reckoning, for he does again one of his thoroughly capable jobs with "Let's Have Another Cup of Coffee" and "Chip Off the Old Block" (Bluebird B-11450). And there's more truth than poetry—literally—in the title of Les Brown's choice, "Everybody's Making Money but Tschalkowsky," which is coupled with "Here-after" (Okeh 6573).

Short Waves

Vichy Radio Goes on 24-Hour Schedule; Soviets Install Powerful Transmitter

By CHARLES A. MORRISON

President, International DX'ers Alliance

True Perspective on War

IN MY opinion, H. Wickham Steed is the most able political commentator who broadcasts over the London short-wave station. His long-range outlook, his true evaluation of current incidents, his ability to get to the bottom of any situation have come only through nearly a lifetime of keen political analysis. When the news is bad, he does not hesitate to say so. He believes we should look at the present situation squarely, for only by realizing the magnitude of the task ahead of us can we steel ourselves to the hardships and personal sacrifices that we must make to win. And yet Wickham Steed is not a defeatist. Far from it, he firmly believes in the ultimate victory of the United Nations. The other night he pointed out that in China and India alone live nearly one-third of the world's population. Add to these the untold millions in the balance of the British Empire, in the Americas, in the occupied countries of Europe, and you have a preponderance of manpower that can only bring one result in the end. Germany and Japan knew what they had to do and set about to do it. We knew what we might have to do but were not really ready to do it until we were surprised. Now those who would spread the doctrine of ruthless brute force have the initial advantage. While not discounting their immediate seriousness, Wickham Steed feels we should regard the present setbacks as merely incidents in a mighty world revolution. We must realize, he said, that we will probably have more reverses to contend with. Hitler is about set to stage a grand all-out offensive in an effort to postpone the day of reckoning. We do not know how long the war will last. We must hold on and fight hard with every weapon at our disposal. To give us courage we must realize that in this great revolution which is shaking the world a new world order is taking shape. Its outlines are only dimly seen today but we do know that when it emerges we will have had a part in molding it. We do know that it will be a world in which brute force is forever outlawed, in which nations can cooperate upon a peaceful and equitable basis, in which social justice and the rights of man will be uppermost.

"Radio Vichy" is one of the best-received stations in North America, uses a single gong stroke for identification, sometimes employs a metronome with slow tick-tock prior to the start of a broadcast.

New Soviet Transmitter

According to advice from the Soviet Embassy in Washington, a powerful new Soviet short-wave transmitter was inaugurated at Komsomolsk on Amur on January 16. Simultaneously with the opening of the new station, the Soviet transmissions for North America were completely revised and now operate on the following greatly expanded basis (PWT):

6:15 to 6:40 a.m.—on 9.567, 6.115
7:15 to 7:40 a.m.—on 9.567, 6.115
2:15 to 2:40 p.m.—on 6.115, 11.885, 15.23
4:00 to 4:40 p.m.—on 6.115, 11.885, 15.23
6:15 to 6:40 p.m.—on 6.115, 11.885, 15.23
8:15 to 8:40 p.m.—on 9.567, 6.115, 11.885

Reports from all parts of the country indicate that these new transmissions are being received with very good signal strength. Each transmission includes an English news bulletin which goes on approximately five minutes after the opening of the broadcast. The announcement is still "Radio Center Moscow," from which it may be assumed that the broadcasts still originate in Moscow studios but are actually put on the air from the transmitter at Komsomolsk on Amur. The usual woman announcer presides over the microphone.

Berlin Adds English News

On February 9 the German short-wave station completely revamped its service to North America. Instead of the usual formula which has been in existence for several years, news bulletins in English are now radiated daily from 4:00 p.m. to close-down, each hour on the hour, that is, at 4:00, 5:00, 6:00, 7:00, 8:00, 9:00 and 10:00 p.m. PWT. Each fifteen-minute news period is in turn followed by a fifteen-minute talk or commentary in English by one of Goebbels' gabblers. The Berlin program is broadcast over DHE4C (11.88), DJD (11.77), DXC2 (11.74), DZD (10.543), DXJ (7.24), DXP (6.03).

According to an announcement heard over Tokyo Radio, English news bulletins are broadcast daily at 2:00, 5:00 and 7:45 a.m. in the 25-, 31- and 41-meter bands; at 8:30 and 11:00 a.m. in the 25- and 31-meter bands; at 12:00 noon and 3:00 p.m. in the 25- and 41-meter bands; at 4:00 and 8:10 p.m. in the 19- and 25-meter bands; at 8:30, 10:30 and 11:30 p.m. PWT in the 25- and 31-meter bands. The usual frequencies employed are: 19-meter band, JLG4 (15.105); 25-meter band, JZJ (11.80); 31-meter band, JZ (9.565); 41-meter band, JWV (7.257).

The perverted sense of humor enjoyed by the Nipponese broadcasters may be judged from the fact that the daily period of "phony" messages broadcast by American prisoners of war over Tokyo Radio is ushered in with the music to "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean"; the period closes with the music for the line "Oh, bring back my Bonnie to me."

Venezuelans Buy "Victory Bonds"

The owner, manager and seven employees of a small trading company in El Callao, Venezuela, have shown their faith in the United States and hemisphere solidarity by sending ten dollars to Prof. Vincente Tovar of WGeo, General Electric international broadcast station in Schenectady, and asking of him "the service of investing these dollars in 'Bonds of the Victory.' With our contribution we wish to share, however humbly, in this battle against Nazism and Fascism, sure as we are of the final triumph, because we know God is not dead and that there are yet free countries in America."

News About the Stations

WAR IN THE PACIFIC—Australia has shifted the timing of its broadcasts to North America to conform with our change to War Time, are now heard: 4:25 to 5:10 a.m. to eastern North America over VLG2 (9.54); 7:25 to 8:10 a.m. to western North America over VLG (9.58), and from 9:55 to 10:40 p.m. PWT to western North America over VLQ (9.58) and VLQ (9.615) . . . The anti-Nazi German revolutionary station on 9.64 megs may be heard daily from 2:00 to 2:20 p.m. PWT. If the operators of these stations are caught it means summary execution by firing squad . . . You can hear "Radio Eirrean" (9.595), Irish short-wave station, if you tune carefully between PCJ (9.59), Holland, and GRY (9.60), London. It comes on the air at a few minutes past 2:00 p.m.; has the news bulletin in English at approximately 2:12 p.m. PWT.

PEOPLE who hear a symphony orchestra over FM for the first time are invariably astounded by the tonal purity with which the notes of every instrument reach their loudspeakers. The upper registers are sharp and clear, even to the shrillest squeak of a violin string and the thinnest, highest note of a flute. The reason for this is that the FM system of broadcasting is capable of faithfully reproducing every musical note that the human ear can detect.

Some of the pseudo-experts who think they know a good deal about FM will tell you that FM's extended tone range exists only toward the treble end of the scale. That's not so. FM can reproduce equally well the bassiest bumble of a bassoon and the deepest notes of a tuba. The fidelity is so exact that listeners are unable to find any difference between a concert heard properly over FM and one heard right in the concert hall.

When we use the term "high fidelity"—which you'll frequently find being bandied about by set-makers, radio-store salesmen and an occasional radio engineer—we're on uncertain ground. Many people say "high fidelity" without bothering to define just what its limits may be, and since there are no hard and fast standards, even receivers that give inferior performance are sometimes called "high-fidelity" sets. Engineers know, however, that a radio program sounds increasingly lifelike as we add more and more tones from both ends of the musical scale. The extreme highs and lows are vital if you want the music you hear to have color and brilliance. When it becomes so real that you can't tell it from the original—it's not just "high fidelity." It's full fidelity.

How They Measure Tone

Scientists themselves—who are quite responsible, after all, for radio broadcasting—don't measure pitch in terms of B flat or C sharp minor. They use a different type of yardstick made up of "cycles," intended to show how many times each second a reed or string of any musical instrument vibrates when producing a certain note.

Middle C, for example, twangs away at 256 cycles (or vibrations) each second. That's what they call a "fundamental frequency" of middle C. But every instrument on which you produce middle C—be it a piano, violin or oboe—creates at the same time a host of other tones called "harmonics" that occur in varied patterns up and down the whole spectrum of sound. The pattern of these is different with each type of musical instrument. If it weren't, then you couldn't possibly distinguish a middle C struck on a piano from a middle C tooted on a clarinet. It's these harmonics that give character to each individual instrument, making it possible to recognize them.

FM preserves all of those extra tones that lend added brilliance to music. FM can reproduce every one of them right up to the limit of human hearing, which is about 15,000 cycles, or vibrations, a second, and as far down the scale as thirty cycles per second.

It's interesting to note that although the normal human ear can detect a musical note as thin and ethereal as 15,000 cycles, the ear of the average dog is definitely superior. Perhaps you've seen those mysterious dog whistles that apparently make no sound when you blow them. The dog can hear a sound, even if his master can't, and is readily trained to respond. The tone produced is in the vicinity of 16,000 cycles per second.

Because FM preserves every tonal shading and innuendo of music and voice, without shearing anything off in transmission, listeners are able to hear an exact duplicate of any "live" studio show right in their living-rooms.

Which Is Which?

This description of FM's startling realism sounds idyllic enough, but the of the receiver and the piano on the stage. First the instrument in the FM studio plays, then the one at the demonstration picks up the number. The two pianos play separately, in duet, in all kinds of twin piano arrangements. But the audience, unless it can actually see the pianist, is never able to tell which is which.

Sheer, Perfect Silence

The clarity of FM reception does not hinge entirely upon its ability to reproduce faithfully the entire range of sound. This sound, no matter how perfect, would be damaged if the receiver had a background noise of any kind—a rushing, or a hissing, or occasional crackles.

The FM "carrier wave" is so silent that when you tune in a station—and if that station is not at the moment transmitting voices or music—you'll think your receiver's gone dead. The background is black, velvety quiet. A representative of the British Broadcasting Corporation, hearing FM in this country for the first time, exclaimed: "Why, the thing's so ghastly perfect it can even reproduce silence!"

Many a listener has switched on his FM set in the morning a few minutes before a local FM station is due to start its programs, tuned in the absolute silence of a carrier wave, and then momentarily forgotten that the receiver is operating. When the announcer's voice first says, "Good morning," against this silence, it can scare you right out of your skin with its realism. You almost expect to see his arm come out of the loudspeaker and shake hands with you.

FM Proposed for Houston

The latest application received by the Federal Communications Commission at Washington for permission to build an FM station comes from the Houston Printing Corp. of Houston, Texas, publishers of the Houston Post. The proposed FM outlet would serve an area of 10,500 square miles, which embraces a territory extending about seventy miles in all directions from Houston and populated by approximately 722,600 persons. This is the second application for an FM station to come from Texas, a similar request now being on file at Washington by the Amarillo Broadcasting Corp. of Amarillo. The state of Texas does not yet have any FM broadcast service.

This weekly column of FM news and discussion is intended as a MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE service for the swiftly growing audience of FM listeners. Letters from readers are always welcome. We shall be glad to answer your questions, and, if you do not yet have FM reception in your locality, advise you whether any is in prospect.

Radio Contests

You Can Win! This Department Will Help You Get More Fun and More Money Out of Contesting. Look Here for Ideas, Tips, News, Winners!

By LORRAINE THOMAS

Money for a Name

What's in a name? A total of $2,500—if you're talking about the name-the-opera contest now being launched by Chicago's station WGN via the Mutual Broadcasting System. You may get a chunk of the two-and-a-half grand just for a title and a fifty-word statement. Nothing else is required—not even one box-top.

The first phase of WGN's mammoth "Great American Operetta" contest has closed, and the second phase is now at hand. And that's where listeners in general come in. Ten nationally famous musical figures have been painstakingly comparing the original operettas entered in the contest. The three operettas finally determined as the best of the crop are to be performed on the "Chicago Theater of the Air" program over MBS from WGN during March. Listeners are asked to hear all three productions, then to select their own favorite of the three, contribute a title for the EXPLANATION: Most radio contests are managed in such a manner as to require that the contestant listen to the program in order to get full information. Therefore, except in extraordinary instances, details given in this department must be supplemented by announcements—which may change from week to week—on the broadcast itself.

through Friday, 11 a.m. EWT, 10 CWT, 9 MWT, 2:45 p.m. PWT.

"TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES"
PRIZES: $5 and $10 for questions and answers and penalties used on the program.

TO ENTER: Send in questions and answers and suggest penalties to be inflicted if questions are not answered correctly by participants. Submit entries to Truth or Consequences, NBC, New York.

"Truth or Consequences," NBC, Saturdays, 8:30 p.m. EWT, 7:30 CWT (9 p.m. MWT, 8 PWT to West).

"CHICAGO THEATER OF THE AIR"

PRIZES: First prize, $1,000; second prize, $500; third prize, $100; next ten prizes, $50 each; next twenty prizes, $10 each; next forty prizes, $5 each.

TO ENTER: Listen to three new-opera broadcasts over MBS, pick the one you like best and send in a name for it. First check these rules:

1. A series of three original American operettas, adapted for radio from prize-winning manuscripts selected in WGN's $10,500 quest for the "Great American Operetta," will be broadcast by WGN Mutual, starting sometime in March. It is contemplated that operetta number one will be broadcast on March 14, operetta number two on March 21 and operetta number three on March 28. If dates should be changed, the change will be announced over WGN and MBS.

2. Listen to all three broadcasts on the "Chicago Theater of the Air" program. Select the one you like best and send in a name for it, together with a statement in fifty words or less telling why you think the operetta you like best should be declared the "Great American Operetta." DO NOT send in your entry until you have heard all three broadcasts. Only one name for one operetta may be submitted in any entry. Do not submit the name "The Great American Operetta" as the title. Only one entry may be submitted by any contestant.

3. Address entries to "Operetta Contest," WGN, Inc., Chicago, Ill. All entries must be received not later than midnight of the tenth day after the date on which operetta number three has been broadcast. No entries will be returned and all entries become the property of WGN, Inc. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the post office.

4. Judgment will be made on the aptness and originality of the names submitted and on the originality of thought expressed in the statements of fifty words or less. Decisions of the judges shall be final. Elaborate entries will receive no more consideration than simple ones. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5. This contest is open to everyone except employees of WGN, Inc., and members of their families. WGN cannot undertake to enter into correspondence on the subject.

"Chicago Theater of the Air," MBS, Saturdays, 8:30 p.m. EWT, 7:30 CWT (Wednesdays, 9 p.m. MWT, 8 PWT to West).

PRIZES: First, $100 a month for life or $20,000 cash; 400 prizes of $10 each given every week. ($5,000 added to first prize if entry is submitted on entry blank or if dealer signs entry.)

TO ENTER: Complete the following sentence in twenty-five words or less: "I like Velvet-Suds Ivory Soap because . . ." Here are the rules:

The grand prize-winner will receive $5,000 extra cash if the winning entry is submitted (a) on entry blank from your dealer or (b) on a sheet of paper on which an Ivory Soap-dealer has signed his name and address. Grand prize-winner may take $20,000 cash instead of $100 a month for life.

the greatest number of entries, with California second and New York third. Four of every five were patriotic in theme. A number of works in progress were abandoned and new ones started after Pearl Harbor.

Excuse It, Thank You!

It is gratifying to correct one of the contest rules which has appeared on this page. Gratifying because it proves two things: That listener-contestants are on the alert, and that they are reading this page.

Clarence Ecker of Stanford, Montana, has set us right about one of the rules of the "Dr. I. Q." question-submitting contest. It's a rule which probably has confused others besides Mr. Ecker and this department editor. Contestant Ecker informs us that, according to an official set of rules he received from the producers of the radio program, it is necessary to send three candy-bar wrappers with each set of three questions, rather than one wrapper, as we erroneously printed. You'd better recheck the "Dr. I. Q." rules printed in the center columns.

JIMMY McCLAIN, the effervescent "Dr. I. Q.," gives prizes not only to audience participants but also to listener-contestants work and write a statement concerning their choice.

There's money in it! The $2,500 in prizes will be distributed among seventy-three entrants. The composer-author of the winning operetta will get $5,000, and $1,000 goes to each of the three finalists.

Be sure and read carefully the complete rules printed elsewhere on this page.

Now a few closing sidelights on this outstanding contest. Operettas representing the American spirit and achievement were submitted from every corner of the United States and many from Canada. Illinois furnished

For Junior Music Experts

Naturally, space does not permit our publication of a fraction of all the local contests conducted by radio stations and their programs. Notice of one, however, came our way, and we think it's worth a mention. It's a music-essay contest for those under eighteen years of age. Prizes are an assortment of concert tickets. The contest is offered in connection with the "Youth on the Air" program aired by station WPRO, of Providence, Rhode Island, to which all contestants are invited to listen for full particulars.

Straws for Stamps

Ever draw straws to determine the loser, who, in the long run, turns out to be the winner? It sounds complicated, but here's a simple case: Regular stars of "Breakfast Club"—Don McNeill, Jack Baker, Nancy Martin, Walter Blaufuss—draw straws each morning. The loser—the one who draws the short straws—has to buy one dollar's worth of defense stamps that day, and thus turns out to be a winner. Don't you think so?

Corwin Keeps Climbing

Norman Corwin gets another honor. The outstanding author-director has been awarded the medal given annually at the Advertising Awards Dinner to the individual who "by contemporary service has added to the knowledge or technique of radio advertising." The unique—and significant—feature of the award is that Corwin has never yet handled a commercial program! His work—all sustaining—includes three CBS series, "Words Without Music," "Pursuit of Happiness" and "26 by Corwin"; plays such as "My Client Curley," "The Plot to Overthrow Christmas" and "They Fly Through the Air with the Greatest of Ease"; the sensational recent Bill of Rights broadcast, and now the directing of the mammoth "This Is War" show on all networks.

"Whiffenpoof Song" is included in the album of his records currently being released by Decca . . . Gene Autry, who opened his Flying A ranch rodeo last week at Houston, Texas, was visited there by Republic Pictures chief Herbert Yates, who set a new picture, "Autry's Rodeo Follies," with Gene. If his fans like it, the Follies will be made annually . . . Edgar Bergen's recent absence from the Sunday Charlie McCarthy show was occasioned by his being ordered to the hospital because of an infected eye.

CHICAGO

By DON MOORE

Makers of guns visited and entertained men who man guns at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station near Chicago February 22. The "Musical Steelmakers," that harmonious family of employees of the Wheeling Steel Corporation, left their various steel-mill jobs and journeyed west from Wheeling, W. Va., in two special Pullman cars. At the great Naval station on the shores of Lake Michigan, forty-five steelmakers put on their regular Sunday broadcast and an additional show for several thousand bluejackets. Then back to Wheeling to be busy at their defense lathes, forges and desks Monday morning. Two days before the "Musical Steelmakers" visit Kate Smith brought her Friday CBS show to Great Lakes and did both dress rehearsal and broadcast before full audiences to accommodate the 12,000 at the camp. The Great Lakes station presents its own show over a huge Blue Network each Tuesday . . .

Another intensely radio-conscious camp in this vicinity is Camp Grant, near Rockford, Ill. Besides several local radio programs over station WROK, the encampment produces a regular Thursday show, "Camp Grant in Review," over MBS. There's a substantial radio column in their camp newspaper—and our spies report copies of MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE in the Service Club library and scattered copiously throughout the barracks. Radio professionals active in the radio activity include Private George Kluge, actor formerly heard on "Cavalcade of America," "Curtain Time," other shows; Private Martin Bouban, actor-announcer from KOIL, Omaha, Neb., and WKY, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Private Bob Thomas, baritone known to the followers of the Blue Network's "Breakfast Club" and "Club Matinee" . . .

Who should turn up in Chicago as a new member of the NBC production staff but Parker Gibbs, who, after

NO SENSE in having the King's Men sing on your radio program unless you're the king—thus reasoned Fibber McGee (Jim Jordan). So he borrowed the props and had this picture made of himself and his quartet sixteen years of saxophoning and novelty-singing with Ted Weems' orchestra, has decided to drop anchor here. Weems' band, long noted for its make-up of veteran name-billed personalities, has been altered radically by a "settle down" epidemic. Other of the Weems' fixtures who, with their families, have wearied of the band-life of continuous traveling and have decided to take up more stationary pursuits are "Country" Washburne, Art Winter, Pete Beilmann and leather-carver Red Ingle . . .

The war orphan in "Arnold Grimm's Daughter" is being played by eleven-year-old Rosemary Garbell, ball-playing, horseback-riding, doll-shunning little actress who is always in demand around Chicago studios, having played such roles as Tootie in "Mary Marlin," Josey in "Harold Teen" and numerous "Knickerbocker Playhouse" parts . . . Juvenile Jerry Spellman had to be away from the mike for a few days in his role as Eddie Turner in "Secret City" while he underwent an appendicitis operation . . . More pleasurable was Olan Soule's reason for a two-week desertion of his part as Sam Ryder in "Bachelor's Children." Olan, wife and little daughter have been vacationing at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. . . .

Since the days when, as a youngster, she went riding bareback on coyote hunts, Louise Massey has never had to go searching for adventure. Things have just seemed to happen. One of Louise's greatest thrills, she will tell you if you ask her, came several years ago when a fan wrote and asked her to sing "The Last Roundup" and added, "Right after you sing I'm going to kill myself." Instead of singing the song, Louise pulled a bit of strategy by announcing casually during the broadcast that she didn't have time for the number but would like this fan to call her as she had news for him. He did call, and she coaxed him to come to the studios. Then she got his story of unemployment and a starving mother and sister. Louise finally sang the request number, but only after she had found jobs for the fan and his sister. Louise Massey and the Westerners are being heard, by the way, in a rousing "Reveille Roundup" early morning program over NBC as well as on "Plantation Party" Friday nights . . .

Remember "Today's Children" and are dancing places which have similar complaints. Bandleaders often are told by guests: "I haven't been around lately because Dad doesn't want me to use the car so much. It's the tire situation, you know."

Countermen at diners—the great American institution where the hamburger is so well thought of—explain from Coast to Coast that it is not only the restriction on tires which accounts for the recent loss in trade but the scarcity of young men who, before being called up for Army service, comprised the greatest number of diner devotees . . .

Two books published by Simon and Schuster are aimed to humor you. Theirs is a laudable gesture, but only one book achieves its purpose. That one is Groucho Marx' "Many Happy Returns" ($1.00), which lightly explains another Marxian theory of finance. It's good reading even after March 15. The other literary effort, "How to Do Practically Anything" ($1.75), co-authored by Jack Goodman and Alan Greene, fails to approximate the humor of Marx', but there are several places where it satisfies . . .

The National Recreation Association has prepared three booklets suggesting items for inclusion in recreation kits for home, school and apartment-house use during air raids. Radios, books, magazines and song sheets are mentioned in each . . .

"With Singapore falling, I don't know why my finger should get so much attention," was Dorothy Thompson's comment about the episode outside a New York restaurant during which a buxom Hitler-heiling blonde bit the newspaperwoman's right index finger. Miss Thompson had attended a performance of "Cafe Crown," a Broadway show with its locale an East Side restaurant. It was inside that restaurant after the show that the woman shouted, "Heil Hitler!" and generally disturbed the other patrons until she was ejected. When later Miss Thompson and her escort left, the inebriated woman started trouble. Before the incident was over the columnist-lecturer had proved she had a solid right that compared with the punch of her voice and pen!

AL PEARCE (Thursday, NBC) has to be "on his toes," or Ray Erlenborn, his dead-pan stooge and sound-effects technician, will be!

GENERAL ENTERTAINMENT

By ARTHUR MILLER

Those open-all-night places where celebrants usually manage to spend some tired moments before going home are suffering all over the country as a result of the tire rationing. The recent restrictions on retreads and recaps make the financial outlook gloomier.

So many places along highways and byways, accessible mainly by automobile, which were usual ports o' call on the itinerary of youths on dates, have noticed a sharp decline in trade.

Even the dancing places on the outskirts of cities and towns have been affected. At Glen Island Casino in New Rochelle, N. Y., about sixteen miles from Times Square, even the very danceable music of Hal McIntyre's orchestra hardly is enough to entice young couples from neighboring towns and from the city itself.

In every state in the nation there

"THIN MAN" star Les Damon and actress Elizabeth Bergner recently co-starred in a dramatic sketch on "Listen, America" (Sun.)

Photos by Gus Gale

on the importance of proper dressing from the skin out. If your slip doesn't fit, or if your figure bulges where it shouldn't, the most expensive garments in the world won't give you style. "Style" is a quality that comes from the fit and feel of clothes, from carriage, and attention to all the details of good grooming. Hickory foundation garments have gained an enviable reputation for what they do to a figure. Tailored Seam-prufe slips, with their closed seams and shoulder-straps that stay put, offer a good "style" base for whatever garment you choose to wear on top of it.

Even though your basic outer garments like coats, sweaters and suits will have to be chosen with an eye toward lasting quality and versatility, you can make up for it with really feminine accessories like hats, shoes, bags and jewelry. Paris Fashion Shoes offer a girl an opportunity to have a closet full of exciting, costume-accentuating shoes, since the price is not prohibitive. And even though they appear to be fragile and so feminine, they're really quite sturdy.

Barbara Stanwyck, who is one of Hollywood's best-dressed stars, offers some good pointers which will come in handy when you select new clothes: (1) Too plain a frock is better than one too gaudy; (2) buy the clothes you can use a lot, the ones which fit into the scheme of your wardrobe; (3) never buy your clothes too tight. Snug frocks look cheap whatever their cost; (4) so important in war-time—buy a few good clothes rather than a lot of cheaper things. You'll buy better style, fabric, fit, and have more in the end.

Clothes don't really make the woman; it's what the woman makes out of them that counts.

Feminine but Practical

YOU hear a lot of talk these days about what girls should or should not wear. Some more conservative-minded observers frown on feminine friveries in clothing, claiming it's indecent for women to go right on indulging themselves in all the furbelows dear to the female heart. Others, like Howard Shoup of Warner Bros., line up on the other side of the fence. Says he:

"Boys home on leave want to take back with them a mental picture of their girl friends in attractive feminine get-ups. So we must get them out of the habit of stealing from the men and back into a desire and feeling for more feminine attire."

We're inclined to agree with Mr. Shoup's sentiments on the matter. But we do have to keep somewhere in the back of our heads the thought that a woman can dress in a pleasingly feminine way without too much nonsense. We can't forget that this is war-time, that our money is going to have to become more elastic than it has been in a long time. That's no excuse, however, for donning sackcloth and ashes; it's even more important now to look your best, if for no other reason than that stated by Mr. Shoup.

College girls have known and loved the versatility of sweaters for a long time, and it's good news to know that they have been accepted by highest fashion decrees. Since sweaters can be worn and worn, unlike blouses, which must be fresh almost every day to look really smart, they're a boon in times like the present.

Sweaters have gained such popularity that some of the big fashion houses have gone to great lengths to develop new styles and colors to fit almost any occasion from casual to extremely dressy. Mrs. Rodman Wanamaker, one of the nation's better-dressed women, has gotten herself a whole series of sweater sets which she wears morning, noon and night. She says they're to be her costume for the duration.

THE Glamour-knit cardigan which Miss Sammie Hill wears above is certainly practical in its possibilities and nobody can accuse petite young Sammie of looking anything but charmingly feminine no matter what way she chooses to wear her beige cardigan. The Central Knitwear Mills has compiled some folders which illustrate the many different stylings and colors they are now manufacturing. If you would like to have one of these illustrated leaflets, write to me and I'll be glad to send you a copy. Don't forget a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Too much emphasis can't be placed

BESS JOHNSON, star of NBC serial "Story of Bess Johnson," has a sophisticated voice, but she's right at home in her kitchen, where she often stirs up batter (left) for old-fashioned Johnny Cake. Below, she takes the golden-brown corn-bread out of the oven to serve piping hot with butter

WHAT'S COOKING!
By GEORGIA SCOTT

Colonel Corn

THAT'S a good title for our native corn, since corn is highly respected in the land of "colonels" to the south and also because it looks as if corn is going to serve an important function in the present war. It is likely corn will become the source of some of our sugar supply if there should be a shortage of beet and cane sugar.

The talk in the Bible about corn, odd as it may seem, doesn't mean corn as we know it. Wheat or oats is what is really meant. Corn is the big name given to the leading cereal crop of a section. Thus, in England corn means wheat; in Scotland and Ireland, oats. When we say corn in America we refer to one thing, Indian corn, now developed into a delicious cereal fed to man and beast alike.

Most Americans relish corn on the cob. That's a standard American delicacy, like hotdogs and ice-cream, but other delightful uses for corn as a food are often overlooked. Our pioneer ancestors, you know, had corn as a staple food. They ground it up into corn-meal for mush and for breads. They also used a great deal of hominy, which is simply corn with the kernels hulled off. The hasty pudding that the "Yankee Doodle" song refers to was made of this hominy.

The modern housewife has corn-starch on her shelf for puddings and sauces; unrefined starch for her clothes; Karo for its many uses as a syrup and for desserts; Mazola, made from corn oils, for salad dressings; Corn Flakes for breakfast, but hominy grits or corn-meal aren't to be found often with the other corn products.

Corn on the cob, in cans, and as ground meal contains valuable foods for health and energy—starch, minerals, and some vitamin B1 and C. There's nothing quite like hot corn on the cob with melted butter dripping from it, but it's only in season during a special part of the year. If you want to enjoy the rich, individual flavor and the health values of corn the year round, you'll try using canned corn (you can get it either with the kernels intact or broken up) and corn-meal.

change from bread and rolls. The recipe she uses is simple, economical, and almost sure-fire. That's the wonderful thing about corn-bread—seems like you just can't miss on it. Here is one recipe which calls for sour milk or buttermilk; maybe you have a recipe which uses sweet milk. There are all sorts of ways of preparing this treat:

JOHNNY CAKE

- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 1/4 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup corn-meal
- 1 1/2 cups sour milk or buttermilk
- 3 tablespoons melted shortening

If you like the corn-bread heavier, you can cut down the amount of white flour you use, adding more corn-meal in proportion; however, this proportion of white flour to corn-meal will make a light, tasty bread. After mixing and sifting your baking powder, sugar, salt and soda, add the corn-meal and mix well. Then add your melted shortening to your beaten eggs and milk and add to the dry ingredients.

Hats off to corn, the food of many uses, of a great tradition, and because it's 100% American.

"Yessir, I'm IN A CLASS BY MYSELF!"

"Yessir, that's true! Ever since I enrolled for special training with the International Correspondence Schools, I've been 'in a class by myself.' Because every I. C. S. student is really a one-man class. His classroom is in his own home, and there aren't any slow-pokes or dunces to hold him back! He gets personal, individual instruction!

"Maybe that's why it takes only a few months for many I. C. S. students to get specialized training that 'pays out' in promotion or a fatter pay envelope. As a matter of fact, a few weeks after I began studying, my boss noticed the improvement in my work—and, since then, I've been given a more responsible job.

"Right now, of course, there's a terrific shortage of trained men in industry—and if you're as smart as I think you are, you'll mark this coupon and mail it. And I don't mean tomorrow!"

"GIT A HORSE" (or a bicycle)

—Walt Davis

ONE of first stars to launch gas- and fire-saving stunt was Loretta Young, who gave fans a thrill by adopting old-fashioned carriage as carry-all cab

Radio and Screen Stars Save Those Rubber Tires!

EXUBERANT at the thought of finding still another way in which to aid the nation's defense efforts, stars of radio and screen are going all-out to save rubber, gasoline and oil for the armed forces.

While John Q. Public, by and large, has decided to walk for the duration, workers in the movie and radio studios also are doing their bit in striking and quaint ways that stars often do such things, making a joke of a grave situation in order to hide its real seriousness.

So, although stars appear (for picture purposes) in many an old-fashioned squipage used before the motor age, and while it has been reported in the public prints that Bob Hope is roller skating to work (there's a roller-skating sequence in his latest picture), fact is stars are doing their share of walking, leaving such methods of transportation as shown here for pictures.

A grinning star behind a horse or pedaling a bike now won't make them so hard for Mr. and Mrs. America to make should war demand their use.

JOHN B. HUGHES, news analyst on West Coast and Far Eastern affairs over WOR-Mutual, includes the whole family in his private drive to conserve rubber and oil for national defense. Above: Off for a patriotic spin on their elaborate tandem. This method of getting places, says Hughes, saves gallons of gas

HAL STYLES, stage and radio star, sets 1942 style. Resurrects his grandfather's "three-seater," takes his daughters Patricia (center) and April to school, college each day

—NBC Hollywood
GEORGE BURNS and Gracie Allen rented this equipage; but by the looks of the horse, he may decide to balk if bandman Paul Whiteman's generous poundage is added to his load
