NO-CAL IS SOLD ON SPOT...

ADVERTISER: How do No-Cal and its agency, Paris & Peart, account for the biggest New York sales jump in No-Cal history? They credit Spot Television on WRCA-TV.

No-Cal Board Chairman Hyman Kirsch says, "Spot TV . . . because its high frequency at low cost makes a full saturation campaign financially feasible. And Spot's selectivity allows us to concentrate on our prime sales target — the figure-conscious housewife."

"WRCA-TV," continues Mr. Kirsch, ". . . first, because it commands such a healthy chunk of the New York audience. Secondly, because it offers an economical saturation schedule of good availabilities. And finally, because the station backs our 30-spots-per-week, around the clock campaign with a complete merchandising and promotion program — the headline-making Miss No-Cal Contest."

Does Spot Television on WRCA-TV deliver? "Actual sales figures are confidential," says Mr. Kirsch, "but No-Cal is devoting a larger share of a larger advertising budget to Spot TV. Not only have we signed for an increased Spot schedule on WRCA-TV, and renewed our sponsorship of the Miss No-Cal Contest for 1958, but we've also expanded our Spot TV campaign into the Philadelphia market."

RIGHT DOWN THE LINE!

RETAILER: Joseph Reich, Grand Union Supermarket Manager in White Plains says, "Judging from the additional number of cases we've been moving, No-Cal sales have increased appreciably in recent weeks."

Retailers and advertisers alike are convinced that No-Cal's use of Spot Television pays off right down the line. They know first-hand what adjacencies to the great NBC entertainment lineup and the top local programs can do for advertisers who buy schedules on the television stations represented by NBC Spot Sales.

Foreword

RADIO-TELEVISION DAILY, the daily newspaper of the radio and television industry, once again presents to the world of broadcasting its RADIO ANNUAL and TELEVISION YEAR BOOK. This volume is the twenty-first edition of broadcasting's encyclopedia and is consistently recognized throughout the world as the standard book of reference for the industry.

THE enthusiastic support received from the broadcasting industry in compiling this twenty-first annual edition bespeaks its sustained interest in the volume and its confidence in the future of broadcasting. Here will be found documentation of the untiring creative efforts of all who have contributed so much to the success of this indispensable medium.

AGAIN we are grateful to all who have contributed to the success of this volume. Without their contributions this dramatic story of a growing service could never have been so completely told.

LUX

The successful production of TV commercials requires the expertness that comes from years of experience.

In 1948, when Universal-International made a series of spots for Lux, it became the first major film company to use its technical skill and remarkable facilities in the production of TV commercials.

Since then, U-I's roster of clients has grown, and grown, and grown...and now reads like the Blue Book of American Industry.

But --- the proof of the spot is in the viewing. What Universal-International has done for other successful advertisers, it will do for you! Why not see?

Financial Data Covering 1955-56 Broadcasting Industry Operations

A continued increase in total revenue for the radio-television industry in 1956 is indicated by financial figures released by the Federal Communications Commission. Combined radio and television income before tax shows an increase of 21.7 per cent over the figures for 1955 (in 1955 this increase was 48.4 per cent over the preceding year). While the four nationwide radio networks and their owned and operated stations show a revenue decrease of 11.7 per cent in 1956, three regional networks and their stations are reported to have a revenue increase of 14.7 per cent. The revenue increase for all other stations is 9.4 per cent.

(1) In view of the difficulty in a joint AM-FM operation in allocating FM operation expense separately from AM station operation expense, licensees of such stations were not required to report FM station expense separately. As a result, FM industry totals for expense and income are not available. AM-FM licensees, however, were requested to report separately the revenues, if any, attributable to FM station operation if such data were readily available. In only a few instances did AM-FM licensees state they were unable to segregate the FM revenues.

OWNERSHIP OF TV SETS

A Percentage Study of U. S. Family Television Ownership—by Location and Family Types

• A continued increase in the number of U. S. families owning television sets (five per cent more in January, 1957 than in January, 1956) is indicated by the latest figures made available by the Market Research Corporation of America. This organization, feeling that television ownership has reached a saturation point of about 80 per cent, has ceased to compile current figures.

Radio Receivers — World-Wide Distribution

At the end of 1957, the number of radio receivers and wired speakers in the world, exclusive of the United States, its territories, and Canada, had expanded by 10 per cent and 16 per cent respectively, as compared with February, 1957. Of the approximate increase of 12,800,000 radio receivers (exclusive of wired speakers), the greatest expansion both in absolute numbers and proportionately, took place in the Communist Bloc countries of Eastern Europe (4,500,000—27 per cent), followed by Western European countries (4,000,000—six per cent), the Far East (2,700,000—14 per cent), the Near East, South Asia, and Africa (1,000,000—13 per cent), and Latin America (600,000—three per cent). The more than 4,000,000 increase in the number of wired speakers took place almost exclusively in Communist Bloc countries. The following tabulation of radio receivers and wired speakers by areas and by countries of the world is as of December 31, 1957.

Accuracy of the material varies with the reliability of the statistics utilized by the sources. In some instances official statistics based upon licensed sets and supplemented by estimates as to the number of unlicensed sets were relied upon. Other sources, in countries where there are no licensing systems, have had to make informed guesses or estimates from import and production statistics. At best, radio set statistics are approximate and should be treated with caution, particularly when they refer to newly-developing countries.

Broadcasting Expansion During 1957 Increased Heavy Burdens On The FCC

JOHN C. DOERFER
Chairman
Federal Communications Commission

THE close of 1957 finds the Commission with about 1,900,000 radio authorizations on its books. This is the largest number in its 23 years of existence.

It is significant that for every broadcast facility there are nearly 50 radio stations of other kinds which serve the public, commerce and individuals. Altogether, about one and a quarter million fixed and mobile transmitters are in use.

Broadcast authorizations collectively now approximate 8,500.

They include:

About 3,300 AM stations.

More than 800 TV stations. Of these, over 650 are commercial, over 100 are translators, and over 50 are educational.

More than 700 FM stations. Nearly 600 of these are commercial and over 150 are educational.

Two stations which send programs overseas.

Auxiliary, remote pickup, studio-transmitter links and other adjuncts account for the remaining 3,600 broadcast authorizations.

The Commission has recommended to Congress that the law be changed to permit licensing broadcast stations for 5 instead of 3 years.

The Commission is studying a special staff report on TV network operations.

"Satellite" and "translator" stations are bringing TV service to smaller communities. In addition, the Commission is proposing "booster" and "repeater" stations to extend TV service to even more isolated places.

Channels reserved for educational TV use now number 256. This is 14 more than allocated originally.

A special industry group known as the Television Allocations Study Organization is completing an engineering review of present and potential UHF and VHF television service.

Commercial FM stations show their first numerical increase in 9 years.

Revelment of the "clear channel" and "daytime skywave" problems affecting AM operations is receiving priority consideration at special meetings of the Commission.

The United States and Mexico have agreed on AM and UHF-TV channel use along the border. The Senate has pending the 1950 North American Regional Broadcasting Agreement on AM operation.

The Commission is re-examining its frequency allocations to radio services throughout most of the radio spectrum in the light of present and future needs and technical developments.

It is dealing with new spectrum-saving techniques such as "offset carrier," "single sideband" and "split channel" transmission, also tropospheric and ionospheric "scatter" techniques, and expanding "microwave" operation.

The growing height of antenna towers requires joint consideration by Federal agencies concerned with hazards to air navigation—especially since the advent of the jet plane. The Commission proposes that towers over 500 feet high be grouped on "antenna farms" away from the air lanes. It also seeks legislation to require the painting and lighting of abandoned towers. About 90 TV towers exceeding 1,000 feet in height are operating authorized or applied for.

The FCC monitoring network helped obtain positioning data on the two Russian earth satellites. This was in addition to its normal around-the-clock patrol of the ether highways, including furnishing bearings on ships and planes in distress, detecting spectrum traffic violators, and determining areas of interference.

Competition and interference considerations now require one-third of all applications for new TV or AM stations to go to hearing. Hard-fought cases take at least a year to go through the prescribed application and hearing procedure, not considering further delays due to crowded dockets and extra time needed to handle the flood of associated pleadings. Many of these filings are repetitious and still further delay final determination.

To sum it up, the Commission is trying to handle an administrative load which has more than doubled in volume and complexities since World War II with little change in amount of appropriations or personnel.

A Growing Industry Meets A Year That Is Filled With New Challenges

By HAROLD E.
FELLOWS

President and
Chairman of the Board
National Association of Broadcasters

THE responsibilities which have been placed on the radio and television industry in its service to the American people have increased with the years. The great source of satisfaction which I have derived from a lifetime in broadcasting has been the way in which the industry has met those responsibilities. And I can recall no year to compare with the one that has just passed in which the demands made upon broadcasters have been greater or have been met with more imagination and with a deeper awareness of the vital function which broadcasting serves. I should like to review briefly some of the developments in television and radio during 1957 and to mention some of the contributions made by the National Association of Broadcasters.

Just 10 years ago there were 102,000 television sets in the nation, most of them in New York. Today there are 47 million sets in use in nearly 42 million American homes.

Ten years is a very short time for an infant industry to grow to a major one. Television has become a way of life for Americans. It has brought into being new ideas, new ways of acting and thinking, and it is proving to be the most effective means ever devised by which values can be communicated to a mass audience. That television can and does transmit ideas to tens of millions of homes in one instant is perhaps not so significant as that as a medium of instant communication it also creates new ideas.

The proof, if indeed any is needed, of the impact which television may have upon ideas and world developments was given in dramatic terms during 1957.

Public service programming was in fact for many of us the most exciting aspect of television during the past year, remarkable for the high level of responsibility it reached and for the wide scope of its concern.

With all three national TV networks offering memorable programming, the 1957-58 season was the most competitive in television's history.

While television continued its amazing growth, radio dramatically captured attention by demonstrating again that it could sell, inform and entertain in a way no other medium can. Financially 1956 was the best year in radio's history. Estimates indicate that 1957 will be even better. Today radio has the largest potential audience of any mass means of communication, reaching over 98 per cent of American homes and, on a typical day, approximately 70 million people.

With these developments in radio and television broadcasting, the National Association of Broadcasters has been intimately concerned. In 1957 NAB membership reached an all-time high with 2,187 members. This gratifying support has increased along with the activities in which NAB has been involved.

A major development within NAB was the expansion of its Public Relations Service, which has as the underlying theme of its expanded efforts "Broadcasting Serves America." Weekly and monthly publications, television and radio kits, speech materials, brochures and booklets designed for various broadcast purposes, and on-the-air material have been designed to aid the broadcaster and to show the service of broadcasting in its responsible programming, its ability to inform directly and accurately, and its effectiveness as an economic stimulus for selling goods and expanding markets.

Certainly the greatest challenge during the year with which broadcasters, and consequently NAB, was faced was the FCC decision to consider applications for pay-TV on broadcast channels. From its early days the NAB has opposed subscription broadcasting as against the public interest, and at a time when a free and continuous flow of information and ideas is needed as never before it remains in firm opposition.

These and many other vital problems were reviewed at eight NAB regional conferences held in the fall. The results of these meetings were gratifying. The promise for 1958 is great, and I have no doubt that we shall realize it to the fullest.

Electronics Industry Continues Its Growth; 10% Increase Is Forecast

THE radio-TV-electronics industry continued its spectacular growth in 1957 and achieved a new dollar volume record at the factory level of $7.6 billion. This trend will probably continue in 1958 with a rise of eight to 10 per cent.

Factory sales of all types of electronic products rose more than 30 per cent above the 1956 level of $5.9 billion. Military electronics alone increased from $2.7 billion to about $3.9 billion during the past year and this rate of spending is sure to rise further in 1958.

About half of the industry's production revenue now comes from its sales to the Armed Services. Consumer goods, including radio-TV sets and phonographs, which once dominated the industry's output now account for only about 20 per cent.

The television business was the only industry segment which declined in 1957, but balanced inventories made it more stable than in other years when production and sales were higher. Only one manufacturer withdrew from the competition compared with a score in 1956.

While TV set production dropped 12 per cent, compared with 1956, retail sales of about 6.6 million were only three per cent below the previous year. Manufacturers believe television receiver sales and production will bounce back in 1958 close to the seven million mark.

Multiple TV set homes increased to an estimated five million by the end of the year, while total television receivers in use amounted to 46 million.

Radio, which has made a remarkable resurgence during the past few years, continued its advance in 1957. Production of all types of radios rose nine per cent to 15.4 million. One-third of these were auto sets and two-thirds were home and portable receivers.

The trend toward substitution of transistors for tubes turned sharply upward. The production of transistorized auto sets jumped more than 300 per cent, while portables with transistors almost doubled.

Vice President
Electronic Industries
Association

National interest was focused during the year on two experiments which may greatly broaden the use of television. The most significant of these was the application of closed circuit TV to the classroom as an aid to teaching. An industry-sponsored program at Hagerstown, Md., now in its second year, drew educators from all parts of the United States.

While subscription TV was still awaiting its chance to test public interest, wired television for the home was inaugurated during the year in Bartlesville, Oklahoma. Whether this form of TV transmission will spread was conjectural at the end of 1957, but several West Coast cities were investigating its potentials and practicality.

While Uncle Sam was the biggest single customer of the electronics industry in 1957, industrial and commercial uses of electronics increased. Sales rose from $950 million to $1.3 billion and ran close to the $1.5 billion return from consumer products.

The manufacture of smaller and less expensive computers opened the market for many new commercial organizations. Further expansions are expected in 1958.

Although still in an experimental stage, electronic controls for traffic and the family car appear just around the corner. Such representative organizations as the American Automobile Association urged that these applications be expedited in the interest of highway safety. Electronic garage door openers already are on the market.

The importance of electronics to our national defense and to space explorations became more obvious as military expenditures on missiles skyrocketed. Electronics will be equally vital to the satellite program. About 23 per cent of defense procurement funds now go to electronic manufacturers.

This Year National Advertisers Will Take A New Look At Syndication

SOMETIMES familiarity breeds respect, at least it looks that way insofar as the television film industry goes. We have sufficient evidence to predict that this year will be known as the year that national advertisers took a new look at syndication—and liked what they saw.

Until recently national advertisers bought very few syndicated film programs and when they did it was in only a limited number of markets. In January, 1956, ABC Film Syndication's client list included only 10 national advertisers. Two years later the list included thirty-two national sponsors, an increase of 220 per cent. Of equal significance is the fact that these national sponsors contracted for a firm 52 weeks of programming whereas in the past the average contract with a national sponsor was seldom for more than 26 weeks. We are convinced that national advertisers are becoming more and more sold on the values of spot film programming and that their ranks will increase.

Naturally, the paramount question is "What has brought about this change?"

First, let's examine the economic situation. All media costs are high and getting higher and in order to get the maximum mileage from every advertising dollar, advertisers are becoming more critical of their expenditures. Astute TV advertisers recognize that the use of syndicated film to boost sales in weaker areas is more efficient than blanketing the entire country regardless of particular market needs.

National advertisers are able to target their TV with spot film programs and further are able to select the program they want.

Another factor which has arisen to make national advertisers more favorably disposed toward syndication is the response to syndicated film from the field. Many local advertisers (car dealers, electric appliance retailers, etc.) who get co-op money from their national suppliers have used this money successfully by sponsoring syndicated films. Their success stories have been relayed to the national suppliers with increasing frequency. No one can argue with the fact that syndicated film is the only medium

By
GEORGE T.
SHUPERT
President
ABC Film Syndication

which offers high quality production for local use.

Another source of information for national advertisers is the success enjoyed by their regional competitors who are heavy buyers of syndicated film. A regional brewery such as Rheingold in New York and a regional dairy such as H. P. Hood & Sons in New England provide very stiff competition for their national counterparts.

Another important factor which has contributed to the "new look" is in the area of time availabilities. Until recently national advertisers thought that they couldn't get prime time for spot programming. They were reluctant to buy the fringe time in the early or late evenings because they thought that these times couldn't deliver sufficient audience. Both theories are all wrong and national advertisers are beginning to realize this.

Local station support is another important factor which should not be overlooked by the national advertiser in his consideration of TV programming. The amount of promotion and merchandising support which a station will make available to a syndicated film sponsor is greater than that available to a network sponsor. Promotion helps to build audiences, build ratings and increase the sponsor's opportunities to make sales.

Of course, there are many more factors which have helped to raise the stature of syndicated film with national advertisers other than those already mentioned—high standards of production, great variety of programming types, big star names. I would, however, like to close with this prediction:

In the 1958-1959 season, I am confident that 15 to 20 more national advertisers who hitherto have been network users only will turn to syndication as the only answer to their specific sales needs. National advertisers who have "sampled" syndication will be back for bigger portions.

TV Film Looks Bright, But Salesmen Hold Key To Its Future Performance

By
JOHN F. HOWELL
Gen. Sales Manager
CBS Television
Film Sales, Inc.

IN any discussion regarding salesmen it would be unrealistic for me to look at the sales personnel situation without first sending off a salvo in tribute to those "pros" who are currently selling film at a rate far beyond early industry predictions. I have worked with, and against, the best equipped men to be found in any business. They are smart, personable, forceful, and their knowledge of the broadcasting business is far-ranging.

I have a great admiration for my colleagues and our competition and, at the same time, an intense curiosity about who will replace them when they move into administrative work or retirement. Most of the people I know come either from broadcasting or motion pictures. They were the first in a young industry and since everyone was starting at the same time there was tolerance for mistakes and early misconceptions about the selling of television film programs.

Then was then, however, and today there is a great sophistication to be found in the business of selling films for television. The men who are selling know their profession; they know their product so thoroughly they can offer it in a wide variety of appealing manners.

Because the selling of film programs has become so highly developed, it is time for us to let the present take care of itself and expend some thought on the future. And in a business where there is such intense competition for the advertising dollar, the difference between success and failure will rest in the sales department. For that reason, CBS Television Film Sales has embarked on a Sales Training Program.

When we look for a man to go into film sales today, we look for a man who has a proven record of success in this field. If we can't find him, rather than convert someone who has been trained to sell another product, we prefer to take a young man and train him our way. It has been CBS' notion for some time that the best executives are those who have started at an early age and have grown up with our company.

Consequently, in the past few months, when we have increased our sales force 27 per cent, half of the personnel hired have had no previous television experience. They were brought to New York for an intensive training course in the home office and then assigned to their particular offices. They are going to have a rough time of it for awhile. They will be competing in the field with salesmen who have been highly effective for many years. But if they stick with it—and I'm convinced they will—they will be among the key men in CBS Television Film Sales in the years to come.

We have several goals in our training program. First, we teach the man to know his company. He meets the key executives, converses with department heads, spends time in each area of our operation. If he is transferred 3,000 miles away, and a problem arises, he knows whom to call. This is basic, but it serves two important functions. It gives the new account executive a realization of the service staff behind his line operation. Secondly, his indoctrination gives him the feeling that he is a company man, and I mean that in its finest sense. We want the new account executive to realize that he is CBS, and not simply a toiler in a remote outpost of some big New York company. Beyond that we try to instill three cardinal strengths in our account executives: 1) Know your product, 2) Know your client's problems, and 3) Solve your client's problems with our product.

We at CBS Television Film Sales are bullish about the future of television film, at the national, regional, and local levels. In just a few years we have seen it grow from a business where we were offering two obscure musicals to a point where we are now offering one hour originals and the best product ever turned out in Hollywood. The growth in dollars and in the quality of our product has been fantastic.

Independent Operation Puts Mark Upon The Present And Future Of Radio

By DONALD H.
MCGANNON
President
Westinghouse
Broadcasting Co.

THE shape of the present and immediate future of radio is independent. Our own experience is that since we elected to program our radio stations locally a little over a year ago, these stations have known their greatest year. Ratings are up, sales have increased, and studies show us that the Westinghouse stations, as independents, more closely conform to the audience's conception of the ideal station.

Now, some will counter that all radio is up. True, but independents have shown the most dramatic rate of climb.

Adam Young's recent Pulse examination of the top 25 markets confirms our own findings. This analysis was based upon the ratings from 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. In November of 1952, the number one station in each of these markets was affiliated with a network. Four years later, in 1956, a local independent station was tied or in first place in 13 of these markets and, in the latter part of 1957, the independents occupied first place in 21 of the 25 markets.

However, independent radio takes many different forms. What outline will the long-range successful ones assume?

Music and news are the two key components of independent radio operation. Since they possess these elements in common it might be concluded that all independents would sound alike. We deny that this is an inescapable conclusion. We believe that with the addition of a strong service element and through the use of creative and aggressive methods you can end up having as many differences in quality and acceptance between radio stations in a market as you can among newspapers in the same city, all of whom present the same community news; all use modern printing presses, have access to the same wire services, employ similar distribution services, and make broad use of feature, editorial and supplement services.

We think of the programming of our radio stations as a major effort. Each program is individually produced. Records are carefully selected. We include the top hits of the day, but never exclusively. With them are included many standards, up-and-coming tunes, regional favorites, and others. Extremely important is that difficult-to-define quality we call pacing, that subtle selection that provides a pleasing progression of numbers. Add to all this the effective use of personalities with deep sensitivity for the local touch and you achieve something that is different from the mechanical methods you hear so much about. Programming by rote overlooks the vital factor of local human interest.

Independent radio has a flexibility that lends itself to the immediacy that effective news presentation requires. You can go on the air at once, there is no waiting for the presses to roll with the next edition, nor, in the case of week-ends, any holdover until the Monday morning editions. WBC uses every source of news supply at our command, but mainly we rely upon strong local reportorial staffs. Our Washington Bureau supplies stations with a steady stream of local interpretations of national news, an ingredient that no other news service can supply.

It isn't enough just to entertain. You must enlighten and inform as well. The successful station must be public spirited and this is manifested by an interest in and concern for the community. This creates a chain reaction. The concern is communicated to the community and the station becomes more than a pleasant companion, it grows into a trusted friend as well.

It's the extra something that makes the difference. That's why we say, "Broadcasting is most effective on stations that have won the respect and confidence of the communities they serve."

High Quality Is Essential Basis Seen Sparking Future TV Film Production

THE future of television film, from the point of view of film buyers as well as film makers, hinges largely on one question, "How high a level of quality can we achieve?" The effectiveness of film programming has proved itself over and over again; the ranks of its users are constantly growing. The years of "struggle for survival" are long since past. The focus for the future is now concentration on making each series we produce the finest, strongest, most exciting program possible.

Since 1956, Ziv Television Programs, Inc. has increased its budget for development and production from $8,000,000 to $16,000,000. That we have doubled our programming outlay has a significance far greater than that of indicating the growth of our own company. It is the surest sign that the television film industry is now fully geared to provide advertisers and broadcasters with programs that meet the highest standards.

We have seen the costs of creating quality programs mount steadily over the years. We know that the spiral cannot continue upwards to infinity. We must recognize the realistic limits on advertiser appropriations and be prepared to deliver outstanding programs within those limits.

To do this requires great resources on the part of the producer—resources of talent, experience and creativity as much as those of physical facilities and financial solidity.

Now, with such new series as "Target" and "Bat Masterson" before the cameras, and with others in various pre-production stages, we will have an even greater flow of quality product coming from the Ziv studios and from our location sites around the world.

This flow concept, I believe, is vital to our solution of the quality price dilemma. One of the great problems that has perplexed the industry has been the seasonal

By JOHN L. SINN
President
Ziv Television
Programs, Inc.

nature of buying and selling. With a peak of production and selling activity in the summer and spring months, there have been many instances of properties being rushed into the air before they were ready.

The concept that has guided our production and sales planning in the past few years has been to put creative work on a year-round basis. Time is a crucial ingredient in producing outstanding programs. There must be adequate time for the development of the program idea, for testing and experimentation. The search for the right stars, stories, directors; the adequate research and planning that are needed to make a program authentic and exciting; the careful dovetailing of all the many details of creating a series; these vital aspects of production cannot be hurried.

We have now achieved our goal of twelve-months-a-year creative work and have instituted a program of year-round sales efforts.

I can report that these policies have been tremendously successful. Advertisers and agencies have proved to be eager to seriously consider and commit for outstanding new programs, no matter what the month of the year.

I think we can accept this response from advertisers as a sure sign that the seasonal nature of programming needs has been exaggerated. Produce a series whose production values and conception have exceptional audience appeal and advertisers will be interested in any season.

The balancing of production and sales activity throughout the year is, I feel, one of the most important developments in the television film industry's march to maturity.

OUTSTANDING INDUSTRY EVENTS
DURING 1957

CBS-TV aired a filmed interview with Russia's Nikita Khrushchev, an electronic break-through of the Iron Curtain. Queries were posed by (r. to l.) Daniel Schorr, B. J. Cutler, Stuart Novins. The show was aired on June 2, 1957.

NBC Radio's new SALESVERTISING plan solves an important problem for national advertisers with moderate budgets. That is, how to activate all units of the distribution pipe-line in a marketing program.

SALESVERTISING magnifies the value and impact of an advertiser's network radio campaign, by getting greater action from his sales forces, wholesalers and retailers—to the point of stimulating local dealer tie-ins at local dealer expense!

PROOF For Waverly Fabric's first campaign, 2,376 stores bought 13,000 spots on NBC Radio affiliates. Waverly had never used network radio before...now slates 80% of its budget to NBC Radio.

PROOF 5,000 local tie-in spots were placed by Evinrude dealers on NBC Radio's affiliated stations. "This year's NBC Radio schedule will be 40% higher," says Evinrude.

PROOF Prior to 1957, only 8% of North American Van Line agents used local radio. Due to NBC Radio's SALESVERTISING, 81% of NAVL's key agents now tie-in locally.

Retail tie-ins are just one phase of the activation generated by SALESVERTISING. Everyone—right down the line—shares the excitement of a close-knit SELLING campaign planned to achieve benefits for all.

New Strides Are Accomplished In the Battle for Equal Access

By ROBERT D. SWEZEY
Chairman
Freedom of Information
Committee, NAB

WITHIN the past two years every basic premise upon which the press photographer and the broadcaster have been arbitrarily excluded from many of the courtrooms of America has been exploded with such devastating certainty and finality as to be perfectly plain to most discerning minds, unless, to be sure, there is preconceived determination to arrive at the same old result."

These are not the words of a newspaper man or a broadcaster. They were spoken by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Colorado, the Honorable O. Otto Moore, who has held public hearings, taking testimony pro and con on Canon 35, and observed demonstrations of camera, radio and television equipment in operation. Although Colorado is the only state in which such a hearing has been held in the court of last resort, lawyers and judges in other states are also questioning the validity of Canon 35. The Texas Bar Association decided last October that so far as it was concerned, Canon 35 was outmoded, and accepted and approved the report of a committee chaired by Judge Spurgeon Bell of the Houston Court of Civil Appeals, which stated in part as follows:

"We feel that the control of trial coverage by various news media should be left in the trial courts. They have inherent power to exclude or control coverage in the proper case in the interest of justice . . . there is no need nor demand for the adoption of Canon 35 by the bar generally or the public and we recommend against its adoption."

The American Bar Association took extraordinary action in permitting representatives of the newspapers and broadcasting industry to appear before its House of Delegates meeting in Atlanta in February, to debate the proposed adoption of a restatement of Canon 35. The restatement accomplished nothing other than a slight rephrasing of the Canon, which still retained its arbitrary prohibition against the taking of newspaper photographs and the broadcasting by radio and television of court proceedings. The House of Delegates refrained from adopting the restatement and deferred any action with respect to it until its August meeting. There is reason to hope that in its deferred consideration of Canon 35, the House of Delegates may be willing to recommend a serious joint effort of bar and media to test the effect of photographic and broadcasting coverage of court proceedings.

One of our principal deterrents in securing equal access to legislative hearings is the adamant refusal of Speaker Rayburn to permit radio and television coverage of House proceedings and committee hearings. Mr. Rayburn is a powerful man in a position of power, yet his opinion is not shared by many Congressmen. Representative Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, speaking at our NAB meeting at Asheville, N. C., last September, said that broadcasting of debates from the House of Representatives is certainly going to be done at some future time, and should be given a trial now. He said further, and I quote:

"Although the Speaker of the House and the House Leadership took a dim view of my bill to permit the television and radio broadcasting of House debates, I continue to believe that my proposal has much merit. Granted that radio and television should be limited at least as a starter to coverage of matters of major national interest, I believe the level of debates would be improved because of more careful advance preparation before facing the critical eye of the camera."

I am reminded, in dealing with our freedom of information problems, of that marvelous statement of Reinhold Niebuhr: "God grant me the serenity to accept things I cannot change; courage to change things I can; and wisdom to know the difference." We know that there is not much we can do for the moment with some of our most determined opponents. But they will not be with us forever, and while they are, there are many of their associates who will listen to the logic and justice of our arguments.

The Radio Spot Picture For 1958

Holds Upsurge in Latter Half

THE radio spot prospects for 1958 are excellent. Although it is true that spot billings have not shown a decided increase during the past month or two, I confidently expect a strong rally in the second half of 1958. The first six months will probably continue to run below last year's figures, but a strong upsurge in the latter half of the year will more than compensate for the slow start. It's my strong belief that spot radio in 1958 will be up ten per cent over 1957.

Although there is considerable talk of a business slowdown, consumer dollars are still plentiful. There's nothing the matter with business that more retail sales can't cure—and advertising has become the sole force for sales in the nation because of the decline of personal salesmanship.

During prior periods of business setback, advertising costs were among the first to be pared. During the present slowdown, advertising should be the last to be cut! We are now in an age of super-markets and self-service stores in all lines of business. The fact-to-face salesmanship has all but vanished. What is left? Radio, the medium that combines imagery transfer with strong personal sell is the one last and best retail salesman for any consumer product. Business men who want to move their products off the shelf must not only continue to use radio as before, but should actually increase their schedules in an effort to keep those consumer dollars flowing. Spot radio is particularly well suited for its role of priming the national economy because of its greater flexibility and greater adaptability to any advertiser's special problems. I can safely say that radio is the most economical, and along with TV most effective, advertising medium in the world today.

Spot radio is virtually the only medium which has generally held the line on rate increases. Radio rates have held fairly constant, although the actual value of radio time has sharply increased in the past several years. There are two reasons for this: 1) the sale of radio sets has steadily gone up; 2) tune-ins as reported by the various rating services has shown a consistent increase. As a happy result of these two factors, the cost per commercial to the radio advertiser is constantly going down instead of increasing as it is in almost all of the other media.

By Frank M. HEADLEY

Association

Radio announcers and disc jockeys are becoming more and more sophisticated in the techniques of effectively delivering a commercial message. In even the smallest markets, radio talent have become true air salesmen, and take pains to learn the sales points of the products they advertise, and sometimes even the overall marketing strategy of the advertiser.

Radio will deliver the audiences, but agencies can better motivate their delivered listeners by devoting more time and effort to produce commercials with higher conversion efficiency—that is the conversion of audiences into customers. The key is creativity: the creative use of talent and effort to conceive and produce commercials which will utilize to the fullest the numerous advantages of audio presentation.

Not only are radio stations becoming more adept at getting maximum mileage out of the advertisers' commercials, but they have learned how to really get across the value of their facility as an advertising medium to local and regional merchants and manufacturers.

On the national scene as well, spot radio has entered the era of salesmanship. Good salesmanship has been important since the decline of the vast nationwide audiences several years ago, but never has it been so vital as in the present tighter economic situation. In today's increasingly competitive market, representative salesmen more than ever must be thoroughly familiar with all of radio's aspects—from programming to coverage of markets.

It is part of the salesman's job to get across points such as these to buyers of time—but his essential job is still to sell: aggressively, imaginatively, persistently — and harder than ever before.

Ingenuity Must Spark Small Agency In New TV Program Development

FOR some advertisers and their agencies the year 1958 will mark the cancellation of a western or musical and hopeful launchings of new and (probably) similar type shows. However, I believe that group will be confined to a small nucleus of the biggest multi-million dollar budget clients. In the main, the business of Ingenuity will be a thriving one. Not only will we probably be faced with a certain leveling off of TV set purchases and increased three network competition, but the ever present and mounting pressure of competitive media as well. Also there will be a greater than ever push from that most competitive and revitalized medium . . . radio. Yes, television is going to have to battle hard to maintain its large "share of market" in 1958.

The battle will be just as hard fought and decisive for those of us representing moderate budget sized accounts as it will for the very largest advertisers and their agencies. For despite its generally expensive and often long term commitment aspects, the medium of television continues to fascinate nine out of ten advertisers. And this preoccupation holds true for even the smallest advertiser . . . regardless of whether or not he is actually using the medium. As a matter of fact, I have often found that the smaller the budget, the greater the interest. As a result, it is imperative that the moderate sized agencies keep as fully informed and ready to move, if not more so, than their larger contemporaries.

Before I changed over a while back from many years spent with larger agencies representing like accounts, I had heard and given lip service to the old saw of "the biggest agencies get the biggest attention and concessions from the networks and stations." Without any real thought or knowledge of its possible veracity I had accepted the statement almost completely. Now, with rare exception, I can honestly say that I have seen the myth exploded on many occasions. All of which is a small, but needed tribute to the networks and many stations. Because should the current soft spot in the economy grow any larger, the networks and the stations will need the smaller budget advertisers even more than they do now. These marketers, after all, frequently develop into important national advertisers when their early activities in the medium are given proper and sufficient time and attention.

Our efforts then, as agency people, particularly in behalf of moderate budget clients, should be heavily imbued with an almost relentless determination to follow these principles:

First, to keep continually aware of all availabilities.

Second, to pursue the desired ones as though money, or budget, was of little concern.

Third, once a pattern or program is selected, to then reverse financial strategy so as to arrive at a basis of continual negotiation and counter proposal predicated on the importance of cost efficiency, frequency and coverage for the prospective client.

It all seems pretty basic and obvious, doesn't it? And yet there is evidence in almost any leading magazine or Sunday supplement today that speaks eloquently for the small advertiser who was treated like one on TV by his agency. Properly paraphrased a good motto for moderate budget television advertisers' agencies should read something like:

The smaller the budget, the greater the responsibility.

I also believe the role of the smaller agency in television today should be one of doing it differently wherever and whenever possible. Just because you don't have a four million dollar budget doesn't mean you should not and cannot continually seek new programming and scheduling patterns.

Only with constant determination and Ingenuity can we in agencies fully exploit this most dynamic medium. And, exploit it in terms of our clients' most prevalent interest . . . sales.

"An Advertiser Looks At Radio" (And Documents Its Impact)

By JAMES J.
DELANEY

Advertising Manager
Sinclair Refining Co.

WHEN I mentioned to a friend that I was writing this article for the '58 Radio Annual, and told him the title I planned to use, he did a beautiful double-take.

"Look at radio?" he asked. "You mean television, don't you? Radio is something you listen to!"

That, I told him, is exactly why more and more advertisers today are taking a good long look at radio. People listen to radio, and when people listen, it's smart business to see that your advertising messages are among the things they listen to.

That's why in 1958 Sinclair is continuing its amazingly successful "quickie" spot-radio advertising program, broadcasting a very simple but highly effective message over 900 radio stations for a total of more than 10,000 spots each week, every week of the year.

I think I can safely believe that every one of you—in Sinclair's marketing territory, that is—has heard that message:

"Driving today? Remember to—Drive with care—and buy Sinclair—Power-X Gasoline."

Now, why did we use that message, and why did we use it on radio?

Well, the first thing any advertising manager looks at is the sales problem advertising must help to solve. And again I can make a flat statement that every advertising manager is convinced that his problem is different.

Sinclair's is certainly different. First, Sinclair's marketing territory extends over 36 states and the District of Columbia. That's a lot of territory, and it calls for a lot of advertising to cover it effectively. And second, Sinclair's budget for advertising and sales promotion is limited. We advertise in plenty, yes, but our most aggressive competitors can out-spend us, and do, both absolutely and relatively. It's a tough problem.

Morey, Humm & Warwick, Sinclair's advertising agency, has worked with us extremely closely for many years, and has constantly examined and re-examined this puzzle of how to stretch our advertising money over a relatively large area. In this re-examination, radio was looked at again and again.

First: Is radio a "dying" medium? The answer is surprising: More sets are in use today than ever before, and sales of new sets are increasing! Moreover, and most important to a gasoline advertiser, there are 37,500,000 radio sets in cars, in use! What better time and place to reach a customer for gasoline and oil?

Second: How can radio be used most effectively for Sinclair? Well, how about a program? Or one-minute spots? Or—how about some new way to use radio? This latter was explored. And we learned something: Many radio spots are too long-winded, packed with too many ideas, too confusing for the listener to retain. Psychologists say that it is far better to tell one sales point effectively than to shunt a dozen, or a hundred, or a thousand.

Now, if one point will get your message across, why waste time (and your budget) in trying to get across a dozen points in each commercial?

Out of all this came a simple idea, the simple and effective phrase I have mentioned and you have all heard: "Driving today? Remember to—Drive with care, and buy Sinclair—Power-X Gasoline." A public service, your company name, your company's leading product, directed towards a particular audience (motorists) all in one simple twelve-word sentence. Air time, 5 or 6 seconds, even with a slowly speaking announcer.

We didn't jump in with both feet, even though we thought we had a winner. We air-tested our campaign in the Fall of '55, using WRCA in New York and WFAS in suburban White Plains. We scheduled 25 spots a week on each station.

The reaction was fast, and favorable. Then in January, 1956, we added five more New York stations, and three suburban, scheduling about 260 spots a week in the time slots most favorable to auto users: breakfast, driving to work and back, and on weekend afternoons when cars are used more for pleasure driving.

We are now using some 450 cities, with over 900 stations broadcasting our spots at the rate of better than 10,000 spots every week.

Low-Cost TV

The thing to remember about TV costs is: it's not necessarily the cost-per-minute that counts. It's the cost-per-sale. Television may be costly. But it need not be expensive—if you've got good commercials.

He who runs...

Each week the editors of Television Digest painstakingly read a formidable tower of publications so that the busy executives of the industry—men-in-a-hurry, usually—may read the essential facts in Television Digest.

Television Digest is considered indispensable by the leaders of the "Electronic Entertainment" industries. It gives them news they need and want in compact, meaty morsels. Its interpretations have a foundation of soundness and reality that only years of specialized interest and experience have made possible.

More detailed treatment of developments in the industry can be read when leisure time permits . . . but for the kernels of facts for the man in a hurry—it's Television Digest.

Commercial Background Music Now A Well-Accepted Service

WHEN commercial background music began in 1936 the immediate objectives were to supply the finest specially-arranged and recorded music to public places such as hotels, restaurants and clubs. This was an overnight success and pleasant music was soon being supplied to hundreds of subscribers in New York City. It is interesting to recall this and compare last year with that first year of background music's history.

By 1957 background music had become a busy, well-accepted industry serving millions of people. In every city and town in America some sort of music service was available.

The history of background music is divided into four distinct phases. The first was the pioneering stage when Muzak was establishing acceptance of the concept with merchants for public places, and with businessmen for office and industrial use. This phase extended into the early 1940's.

Then World War II and the successful use of planned background music to stimulate war production gave a boost to the industry and ushered in the second stage—spreading use of background music for work, and establishment of distributors in key cities.

Wartime restrictions on availability of materials held back expansion of the industry until V-J Day. Then the third phase began. It consisted of rapid expansion into all markets of 100,000 or more population. Many broadcasters jumped into the background music field during these stages. It was a natural for them, of course, because they required less capital investment to enter it than did other businessmen. Broadcasters already had sales forces calling on prospects who could use background music as well as radio time; they had engineering staffs to handle sound system installations; they had space to house turntable operations, and technicians trained to operate them; they had an accounting department already functioning to handle subscriber billings, and finally, in himself, his commercial manager and his chief engineer

By
CHARLES C.
COWLEY
President of Muzak Corporation

broadcasters had the administrative staff needed.

The fourth, and current phase of background music history, dates from 1954 when a technological breakthrough occurred. Engineers designed and perfected automatic tape transmission equipment in that year, and this changed the entire economic structure of the industry. Where the overhead of turntable operators around the clock made it economically impossible to enter a market of less than 100,000 population, tape operation has made it not only possible but very attractive to go into markets as small as 25,000. Since 1954 when Muzak converted to tape it has more than doubled its franchise holders, and the applications are still flowing in.

The background music future appears unlimited. Businessmen no longer consider planned background music a frivolous adjunct. They now realize it is a pleasant production aid that more than pays for itself in keeping people able and happy to work by reducing worker tensions. The statistics have convinced hard-headed businessmen that the psychological and physiological effects can and do raise efficiency.

Technical advances in the broadcasting art (I refer to multiplexing and other transmission devices which our engineering department is developing) will mean a more economical and more profitable operation in the background music field.

This, we believe, will make it possible for us to serve many additional business subscribers, as well as the home market, in the near future. Also because of plans which we have for expansion into fields allied to the functional background music business—plans which call for taking our franchisers into "partnership" with us—the value of these franchises in the next few years will be multiplied many fold.

OF CONFIDENCE

IS MUTUAL

The policy pays off! Our new, non-TV-competing programming—News, Sports and Special Events — has brought us a landslide of votes of confidence and, better still, a growing group of blue chip advertisers. Smart radio buyers know “more news more often means more listeners consistently . . . to Mutual”.

Unique Advertising Traits Marking New Growth Medium: Network Radio

By
ROBERT E.
EASTMAN
President of ABN

THE year 1958 will see over-all network radio volume increase by at least 35 per cent. That's my prediction, and it is arrived at from talking to a lot of smart people in strategic positions within the advertising industry.

Such a development should most certainly be in the cards because network radio broadcasting is very much under-subscribed in relation to its basic values. There is lots of room for healthy growth.

This growth will come about largely because of a growing recognition of certain exclusive advertising qualities available only in network radio. These qualities make network radio almost a must buy for any one of the larger advertisers with a multi-media strategy; and frequently, a very desirable buy for the advertiser with a small budget who needs to get long mileage out of every dollar spent.

There are three simple reasons, as I see it, why network radio broadcasting will realize a spurt in prosperity in 1958. They are as follows:

1. Circulation.

The sheer weight of 137 million radio sets in good working condition in the United States represents tremendous mass circulation. This means that network radio can reach people wherever they may be or whatever they may be doing. We at American Broadcasting have named this characteristic "Multi-Access" and "Ambi-Active" and have programmed in keeping with the fact that we realize that most people available to listen are going to be doing something else at the same time. We have felt that there is a niche to be carved out with an exclusive type of programming which is compatible with certain characteristics of our circulation.

It is rather fantastic to realize that our medium has increased in circulation by 80 million sets during the past eleven years. Never in the history of advertising has there been a medium with such rapid growth and, especially, in the face of the severest competition in the way of television, better movies, improved magazines, and even the return of miniature golf courses plus all variety of diversions.

2. Programming Dimensions.

The advertising growth for network radio is assured, in my opinion, because during the past year it has broadened its horizons. All networks have made major improvements in their programming product. This cannot help but add vitality to the medium.

There is no reason why all networks should program in a similar fashion—as a matter of fact, just the contrary should be the case. Some of the networks provide a schedule comprised primarily of dramatic and variety programs. We have chosen a different route of all musical programs of an exclusive character which gives us a format of our own and also adds another basic appeal to the network medium. This will attract more total listeners to network programming.

The audience figures indicate that even though there are 50 per cent more stations in the country without network affiliation than those which do have network affiliation, the network stations hold a larger total share of the listening audience.

3. Creative, Hard Selling.

A truly concentrated sales drive is underway. All of the networks are out ringing door bells in an unprecedented fashion. The selling is hard and the selling is competitive—but most important of all, it is usually creative. There are new ideas, new concepts, for the application of this medium in the most effective fashion to produce sales for advertisers.

Network radio is a good advertising product. Because of its intrinsic values, it deserves to expand, and with the sales energy being thrown into the fray, it will.

So, mark network radio down for a 35 per cent accretion in 1958 over 1957—and I certainly hope that this prognostication proves to be on the conservative side.

Radio Never Made A Comeback; It Never Got Sick, Never Went Away

By
ARTHUR HULL HAYES
President
CBS Radio

AFTER more than 30 years of auditioning every day, radio's found an indisputable place in the big time. And, from all indications, the medium has played its last supporting role.

The only trouble is . . . the loyal group of radio veterans who have always maintained that AM and FM were the backbone of electronic communications now don't have time to broadcast a loud "I told you so." We're just too busy making plans for our precocious ghost.

Radio, the dean and elder statesman of electronic communications, has weathered all the storms and is still on the air. And, for the umpteenth time, there was no miraculous comeback . . . no return . . . no resurgence. We've just plain never been sick!

The combined billings for network, national spot and local business totaled approximately 350 million dollars in 1946, a pre-television year. Ten years later, with the inroads of TV, the figure had grown to 571 million dollars. That was 1956. A fair year.

1957 was a good year. The NAB's business estimate for '57 was 650 million dollars.

In 1948, there existed 37 million radio homes. Today, there are 48 million. And that encompasses 98 per cent of America's homes. There are radio receivers in 54 per cent of the nation's living rooms; 52 per cent of America's bedrooms; 52 per cent of the kitchens and dining rooms; with an additional 21 per cent of all American homes sporting radio sets in other locations.

The auto-plus factor gains import with each passing year. While 70 per cent of the nation's cars have radios, almost 85 per cent of the new-model automobiles have them. And some 59 million American adults use their cars each day.

In addition, while only 82 of our cities contain competing daily newspapers, more than 600 enjoy the broadcasts of competitive radio stations.

Radio is thriving today . . . particularly, the CBS Radio Network. We anticipate the next few years eagerly. Our sponsor list is growing—to include Barbasol, The Mennen Company, Miles Laboratories, A. E. Staley and C. H. Masland & Sons as new business in 1958's opening quarter—and sponsor interest continues on the upgrade.

CBS Radio began the current year with some new programs—including "The Peter and Mary Show," "The Couple Next Door" with Peg Lynch and Alan Bunce, "For You" with Dick Haymes and "Answer, Please!" with Walter Cronkite.

The crack reporting and production unit of the Public Affairs Department of CBS News, Unit One, is also hard at work on a series of Radio Beat exclusives and several actuality reports. The sports schedule will be heavy, beginning with CBS Radio's exclusive broadcast coverage of the Robinson-Basilio fight at Chicago on March 25 under sponsorship of The Mennen Company and Miles Laboratories, Inc. There'll be lots of music, featuring such outstanding orchestras as the New York Philharmonic, the Cleveland Orchestra and the Longines Symphonette. And we expect to expand the network's news coverage.

A particularly encouraging indicator of radio's further progress in 1958 is the increasing display of interest in network radio programs on the part of teachers, students and others in the vast world of education. More time and effort is being devoted, in secondary schools and colleges, to audio-visual aids to education. Radio also provides a unique supplement to in-class and at-home projects, particularly programs in news and public affairs, music, drama, special broadcasts and many other program categories. We at CBS Radio are finding that teachers welcome any pertinent aids to teaching, such as Discussion Guides, in the fields of history and civics, current events, English, music and other subjects.

I hope no one decides to mourn poor old radio in 1958.

She won't have time to lie down.

Service Seen Paramount Note In Network Radio Operation

By
GEORGE VOGEL
Executive
Vice President
Mutual Broadcasting System

THESSE are the days of Service Radio. Network radio today—and naturally I'm referring to Mutual Network radio—is geared directly to the nation's new listening demands. Network radio provides general services—but also probes deeply into subjects for the specifics that age, wage and other environmental groups need at their disposal.

Network radio provides speedy, mobile service for the listener on-the-run—but can and does dedicate service to established listening habits.

Network radio recognizes the worldly ken, the desire to know how and when and why of the average listener. But today it also recognizes its role as companion and liaison with the outside world of the habitual listeners.

Probably the key to network radio's operations today is the fact that it is omnifarious—of all forms, of all varieties—catering to all. This truly is Service Radio.

And Service Radio can only be broadcast by a community station if it is a member of a major network, such as ours.

Broadcast economy as well as service enter the picture at this point, too.

Though every licensed radio station would like to heam Service Radio throughout its broadcast day, such station management recognize that only network radio can afford all major news services, can afford to maintain extensive news bureaus, can keep constant alerts on world-wide news happenings and reserve costly short-wave circuits to report and explore these events and their impact on the American listener.

He demaunds today that his radio give him immediacy—plus impact. Only Service Radio can answer that need.

Mutual's news activities, its "Operation Newsbeat," is typical of the philosophy I am expressing in the phrase Service Radio. We could limit ourselves to reporting the news regularly from the four major wire services to which we subscribe, The Associated Press, the United Press, International News Service and Reuters News Agency. But this is not enough.

We assign "stringers," men who know the area intimately where news breaks are occurring, and ask them to give our listeners direct on-the-scene reports of these events—then to follow through with reaction stories showing how these events affect the communities in which they occur and the nation as a whole.

A network has ways and means of finding and absorbing successful merchandising and promotional patterns into its framework. And a Service Radio network such as Mutual passes these on to its affiliates so that they, too, can benefit—and can help their local as well as the network's national clients.

The pulse of American listening—and buying—habits today is measured in multi-millions of responses rather than 2,000-set tallies or 2,000-person interviews. Actually, it is being counted by the 3,000 commercial radio stations dotting the American landscape—stations that are born and thrive only because they serve the listeners in their respective areas.

But stations, however, that truly believe in Service Radio, that wish to provide the ultimate in broadcasting benefits to their listeners and their advertising clients join and maintain their membership in a network. That is why today more and more stations apply for network affiliations—why more and more stations are broadcasting in their area under the Mutual banner—the new Mutual Network.

They believe, as we do, that Service Radio is the key to radio in the future. And we're sure they're right.

Radio Continues In Its Usual Role As Nation's 'Scoop' Medium For News

By
MATTHEW J.
CULLIGAN
Vice President
NBC Radio Network

TO what communications medium do people turn when they want to know the latest news? Newspapers? Television? Or do they listen to their radios?

In a 1953 survey by Alfred Politz Research, Inc., people were asked how they would check a rumor that a war had started. A total of 54.8 per cent said that they would turn on the radio. This was a higher percentage than newspapers and TV combined.

That's one of the reasons why network radio's future was never better. Radio is still the "scoop" medium for hot news breaks.

In my office I have a little gray box which is similar to boxes in every NBC Radio Affiliate's control room. It's a Hot Line Control Box which gives a warning of a news flash whenever a button is pushed in Radio Central in New York. When this happens, a sub-audible 200 cycle tone is sent out on network lines, alerting the stations by activating a light and a buzzer. By using this device, any NBC reporter who can get to a telephone can start broadcasting over the entire network within a couple of minutes.

Split-second reporting is a reality by means of radio. During the trial of Colonel Abel, the Soviet spy, an NBC reporter was stationed in the courtroom and another was waiting outside in a phone booth. NBC was on the air with the news 40 seconds after the judge handed down the indictment.

The audience that listens to radio is immense—but it has never been accurately counted because only stationary sets are included by existing polling methods. In my opinion, current radio ratings account for only about 40 per cent of the actual number of listeners.

The number of radio stations in the United States is now at an all-time high—and it will probably continue to grow. But what about the quality of their programming? It seems to me that "jukebox stations," which exist by means of a non-stop disc jockey and "the latest news" (which is read, unedited, as it comes over the press association teletype), will eventually drown out one another. While this takes place—and I think the process has already started—the public will turn more and more to the network-affiliated station which offers world wide news, great special events, top entertainment stars, high quality dramatic shows and fine, listenable music.

What "jukebox station," for example, could offer expert commentary and analysis of current events by such experts as Chet Huntley, David Brinkley, Morgan Beatty, Irving R. Levine, and Joseph C. Harsch—to mention but a few of the authorities who staff NBC News. Such stations could never present prize-winning documentaries such as "Biographies in Sound," live music programs such as "NBC Bandstand," or a weekend feature like "Mouitor" which has a world-wide staff to gather feature material. Our listeners know the difference. So do our advertisers, whose net purchases of time in 1957 were 41 per cent higher than the 1956 total.

During the day, radio is still the basic entertainment in the home; housewives have discovered that you can't do the daily chores while reading magazines or looking at TV. That's one factor which assures a permanent future for radio. And since network radio provides the medium's best programming, you can be sure that sponsors will become increasingly aware that network radio will provide maximum mileage for their advertising dollars.

The return to Network Radio of the top fifteen pre-TV spenders has been cited as prime evidence of net radio's revitalization. Less spectacular, but equally meaningful, are the scores of medium budget advertisers who have literally discovered network radio this past year. The NBC Radio Network has developed a secret weapon in the merchandising area which has electrified medium and small budget advertisers' sales departments.

Dynamic Resurgence Of Radio Brought KBS Its 1,000th Affiliate In 1957

By
SIDNEY J. WOLF
President
Keystone Broadcasting System, Inc.

THE dynamic resurgence of radio in 1957 coincided with the acquisition by the Keystone Broadcasting System of its 1,000th affiliate. Inaugurated in 1940, Keystone started out with 66 members. Today we have 1,025 members, an increase of no less than 1,453 per cent! Our 31,144,816 radio homes comprise an audience of 96,549,023 listeners. The majority of these listeners are predominantly loyal to their local radio station and live in the vast areas that constitute the backbone of our country—Home Town and Rural America.

Indeed, the past year was a memorable one, both for radio and KBS, which enjoyed the most successful year in its seventeen-year history. And I would like to add that the prospects for 1958 are even better, as evidenced by the surge of the new Keystone business that heralded in the New Year.

In 1957, 79 national advertisers through their respective advertising agencies used the Keystone facilities, a far cry from the "few and far between" in our pioneering days. Without exception these important advertisers are now staunch advocates of the power of local radio in the small town and rural markets of the U. S. This tremendous power is exemplified by the astonishing growth in local radio billings during the last two years.

The continuing and increasing power of local radio is primarily due to its ability to program according to the predilections of its local audience, whose tastes vary to a surprising degree. The efficient station operator studies these local tastes and caters to them accordingly, thereby ensuring himself consistent high listenership and loyal audiences.

In Home Town and Rural America Keystone is harnessed to this powerful medium by over one thousand affiliates and in effect constitutes itself as local radio on a network basis. The high listenership of local radio is evidenced by the fact that rating studies have shown that listenership in the Keystone single station markets, of which there are over 700, can be as high as 19.1 per cent, an almost unheard-of figure in the multiple station markets.

However, Keystone does much more than bring the national advertiser in direct contact with these vast millions of consumers who are armed with billions of dollars annually in purchasing power.

In addition to the overall facilities provided by the full Keystone Network, our operation enjoys the most effective and intensive coverage of the farm markets of the U. S. In the 11 leading agricultural states with the largest number of farms, each state having 150,000 farms or over, Keystone covers 88.9 per cent of the aggregate and it might be pointed out that the farms in these 11 states constitute 57.1 per cent of the total farms in the country.

Actually, over 80 per cent of our affiliates have special programming directed especially to the local farm audience and the importance of this programming can be gauged by the fact that it is a daily "must" for the farm listener to obtain vital local data necessary for the successful conduct of his farm.

In addition Keystone has a Negro Network Division comprising 350 affiliates with special programs directed to the Negro audience. Also Keystone provides a College Network Division with over 300 affiliated stations located in college towns throughout the country.

May I say in conclusion that the dynamic resurgence of radio is most gratifying to Keystone and its 1,025 affiliates.

COMPETITION IN THE AMERICAN WAY

BMI was founded to create competition. For competition in music is as necessary as in any other field of American endeavor. Competition is the American way!

Because BMI operates as a competitive force in the field of performing rights, the existence of BMI benefits not only the creators of music but all users of music as well.

Today, after 18 years of service, BMI is proud of the fact that so many publishers, composers and writers have found inspiration and success in the open market place, and pleased that its list of satisfied licensees grows larger each year.

When there's Big News
 Nobody covers it
 Like KNX Radio!

On Friday, January 31 and Saturday, February 1, there were two explosions that shook Los Angeles. One was 2,900 miles away at Cape Canaveral. The other was only 40 minutes away at Norwalk.

CBS Radio, nationally, and KNX Radio, locally, covered both events with the speed, flexibility and depth that only responsible radio — and responsible network radio — can provide.

For what is required is far more than sound effects, a telephone and a couple of news tickers. What's required is a big news staff manned by experienced, aggressive and highly qualified reporters aware of their responsibilities to their listeners. Men like Murrow, Severeid, Herman, Schorr and Smith nationally. Men like Alcott, Roby, Vaile, Kenneally, McCoy and the many others here at the KNX News Bureau.

That's how, on a weekend that shook Los Angeles, KNX Radio again set the standards against which all other news coverage must be judged.

That's one more reason why KNX advertisers are associated with the very best in radio!

carriage trade

KFWB

7 CHANNEL 98 1

The new Carriage Trade wheels the market basket, and decides most expenditures. Whether she's on wheels in mobile Los Angeles or at home, she is tuned to KFWB COLOR RADIO, for her seven friendly deejays. Proof of performance: over 50% of all time sold—consistently—is super-market goods. Add motion to promotion on KFWB.

You'd think they'd thrown the keys away...

- ▶ IN SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND, Politz studies show that 85 out of every 100 people listen to radio – morning, noon and night – and almost four times as many tune to 1050 on the dial as to any other radio station.
- ▶ IN WTIC'S WIDE COVERAGE AREA, Family Spendable Income is 17% above the U.S. average. You can reach this quality in quantity on the radio station that serves best.

Miamiracle!

—per Hooper, Pulse, Trendex

WQAM's unique showmanship-and-precision blend made a runaway in Miami 1½ years ago . . . and has been dominantly and increasingly on top ever since.

WQAM is 1st in 410 of 432 Pulse quarter-hours. First place Hooper: 37.0%. Trendex confirms. So does a recent Southern Florida Area Pulse which accounts for 31.5% of the state's population. Talk to Blair, or general manager Jack Sandler.

WQAM — Miami

covering all of Southern Florida with 5,000 watts on 560 kc.

"WTIX is getting firster!"

"Right! More than twice the audience of the next two stations combined."

New word from New Orleans: WTIX now enjoys 32.5% of the daytime radio audience (7 a.m. - 6 p.m., Mon-Fri., December - January Hooper.)

And then, there's Pulse: WTIX is first in 433 quarter-hours, tied for first in 22, second in only 48 and third in only 1 . . . of a total of 504 quarter hours.

So whether you go by Hooper or Pulse you've got yourself the dominant New Orleans station . . . when you buy WTIX.

Chat with Adam Young . . . or WTIX General Manager Fred Berthelson.

. . . and fun with their radio.

That's why WDGY is *first** in the Twin Cities . . . and why WDGY billings are at an all time high. It's Storz Station programming that does it. Talk to Blair or WDGY general manager Jack Thayer.

It's a WHB world

Month after month, year after year WHB dominates Kansas City. Example: Latest 96-county area Pulse shows WHB first 432 of 432 quarter hours. Whether it's Metro Pulse, Nielsen, Trendex or Hooper... whether it's Area Nielsen or Pulse... WHB is the dominant first throughout, with audience shares consistently in the 40% bracket. It's Storz Station programming that does it. Remember: Square miles don't buy your product; people do. For coverage AND audience, talk to Blair, or WHB general manager George W. Armstrong.

Your Omaha money talks biggest
 ... where the biggest Pulse* is!

The latest Pulse (Dec.) says what Pulse had been saying for years. First a.m.; first p.m.; first all day! 32 our of 40 first place quarter hours! These are the measures of KOWH's continuing dominance of Omaha's radio day, a dominance extending over 7 years. The reasons: Programs and personalities that get through to people. Good coverage, too, on 660 kc. Talk to Adam Young or KOWH General Manager Virgil Sharpe.

The most successful advertising technique is "telling your sales story to as many people, as many times as you can, within the limits of a sound budget." This is the WKBW SATURATION FORMULA which is bringing increased sales results for WKBW advertisers; and we have the renewals to prove it. A WKBW saturation campaign gives you more than twice as many listeners for your advertising dollar. That's why your sales results will be more than twice as good . . . that's why WKBW is your most profitable buy in the Buffalo and Western New York market.

1957 was a record-breaking year for WQXR, America's only 50,000-watt good music station. Its expanding list of advertisers . . . about 100 new this year . . . kept pace with its growing audience. Why? Because WQXR sells. It fills a distinct need and reaches a distinctive part of America's most massive market.

KDKA Radio

50,000 watt clear channel assures

- Top Audience
- Top Ratings
- Top Programs
- Top Power

In Allegheny County, Metropolitan PITTSBURGH, and 71 other counties in western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio, and northern West Virginia. Call Don Trageser, KDKA Sales Manager, at EXpress 1-3000, for availabilities.

Only KDKA delivers the entire Pittsburgh Trading Area. That's why in Pittsburgh no selling campaign is complete without the WBC radio station.
