PROGRESS MADE BY CBC IN 1958:

... A Year of Many Changes

By J. ALPHONSE OUIMET

President, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation

IT has been an eventful year for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, as, it seems, every year is. In August, the Canadian Parliament passed a broadcasting act which resulted in overall changes in Canada's broadcasting system. Since 1936 the CBC had been responsible for providing a national radio and television program service, and for regulating all broadcasting of publicly-owned and privately-owned stations in Canada. On Nov. 10 when the new Act was proclaimed, a Board of Broadcast Governors, a Board independent of either the CBC or the private stations, assumed the latter responsibility. At that time too, a new Board of Directors for the CBC was appointed.

* * *

Since July 1, our microwave television network (the longest in the world) has extended from Sydney, Nova Scotia, on the east coast to Victoria, British Columbia, on the west coast. The continent-spanning network, built and operated by the Trans-Canada Telephone System, and the CNR and CPR, provides simultaneous television to three million homes through French and English stations. It links both CBC and private stations across the country, in every province except Newfoundland. In a few months Newfoundland too, will be connected.

Video tape came into use by the CBC on July 1. At the relay center in Calgary, Alberta, television network programs are recorded on video tape for retelecast at more appropriate times over stations in the western time zones.

A plan to develop CBC northern broadcasting service went into operation on Nov. 10. At that time the CBC assumed control of radio station CFWH at Whitehorse, the capital of the Yukon. This means that our radio programs are now being broadcast in seven time zones. CFWH was operated for the past 12 years by Canadian Army and Air Force volunteers.

An FM radio network has been planned between Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal, and will soon go into operation.

This Fall we entered the television network market in the United States. Five of our dramas appeared simultaneously on the CBC network in Canada in the "General Motors Presents" series, and on the ABC network in the United States under the series title "Encounter."

The CBC, in 1958, won seven first awards and seven honorable mention awards at the 22nd Annual American Exhibition of Educational Radio and Television Programs at Ohio State University. No other network in North America received as many awards.

The CBC, during 1958, provided several special broadcasts that made extraordinary demands — the March 31 Federal Election (a record audience of 7,860,000 persons witnessed the live CBC television and radio, French and English coverage of the election results), the Springhill, Nova Scotia mining disaster, and Princess Margaret's tour in Canada.

ARE YOU USING THE RIGHT TOOLS IN CANADA TO GET BUSINESS?

A good question to answer early in 1959, the year expected to set an all-time record of $21 billion consumer spending in Canada and push the Gross National Product to a new high of $33 billion.

To sell all you can, you must reach all you can. And nothing reaches the Canadian market like the broadcast media. Virtually 100% of Canada's households have radio and 75% have television. In nine of Canada's top fifteen cities over 90% of the homes have TV.

Here are some reasons why business leaders believe Canada's viewers and listeners will be good buyers in 1959 . . . and on a level above that of 1958:

- Savings are at an all-time high
- Consumer credit is in good shape
- A substantial increase in housing is boosting sales of major appliances
- There's been a sharp recovery in new car sales
- The number of two-car families is growing steadily
- Department store sales reached an all-time high in 1958

Whatever you wish to sell, investigate the advantages of using some of the 143 independent radio stations and 37 independent TV stations that reach all Canadians. Give your sales message impact and the warmth of the spoken word.

Functions

The Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters is a voluntary trade organization of 149 privately owned (independent) radio broadcasting stations, and 37 television stations in Canada.

CANADA'S PRIVATE BROADCASTERS

... See A Better Outlook For Regulation

By T. J. ALLARD

Executive Vice-President, CARTB

THE high point of 1958 for Canadian private broadcasters was the late-in-the-year appointment of a 15-member Board of Broadcast Governors, under the leadership of Dr. Andrew Stewart, an economist and President of the University of Alberta.

Private broadcasters had pressed for the appointment of such a board before two royal commissions and several parliamentary radio committees. Establishment of the BBG (the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Canada's government-owned broadcasting system, now has its own separate board) takes the private stations out of the former situation in which they were regulated by, at the same time that they were competing with the CBC.

The new Board of Broadcast Governors will be concerned only with regulation, and private broadcasters are now hoping for action on two more of their requests before the royal commissions: (1) the immediate licensing of non-government television stations in main metropolitan centres which are now reserved exclusively for government-owned television and, (2) permission to form private networks.

Four new private radio stations and four new TV stations came on the air last year and at year's end there were 30 applications in the hands of the Department of Transport awaiting reference to the new Board of Broadcast Governors in 1959. As soon as applications for second TV stations are accepted there will be a flood of new applications. Second station applications have not been accepted in order to prevent applicants assuming a favoured position by filing an application on an if and when basis.

The membership of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters now stands at 149 radio members, 37 television members and 59 associates. Both the Radio and Television Sales and Research offices in Toronto expanded the research and statistical studies supplied to agencies, advertisers, reps and stations this year. Separate radio and television weeks were held (radio week in the spring and TV week in the fall) to inform the public on the informative and entertaining qualities of the media.

The Toronto offices sent out promotion kits featuring spots; fact sheets; idea books; dramatized announcements (including a series of announcements by top Canadian sports stars; display promotional material, etc.

The Canadian Association of Broadcasters annual meeting (held in May this year because of the federal election in March) again featured separate radio and TV workshops.

Radio stations have been encouraged this year by the fact that radio sales have led TV set sales (446,417 radio sets were sold compared to 273,765 TV sets as of September 30).

Most of these new radio sales seem to have gone to multiple radio homes, and car radio sales have also boomed. This has meant an increasing emphasis of diversified radio programs, especially for night time radio.

The trend in television has been toward still more daytime television since network option time swallows much of the Class "A", 8 to 11 p.m. period.

"CUSTOMER-SLANTING" The Television Buy

... New Dimensions in Buying Time, Programs, Films

By Sydney Roslow, Ph. D

Director of Pulse, Inc. Founded 1941

THE demand for qualitative information about audiences literally put us into the ratings business as our most conspicuous product, market by market and network. Yet, twenty years ago if I had been shown the crystal ball, no one would have been more surprised. For, engrossed in consumer-attitude studies for governmental agencies, and some ten years with a foremost group of psychologists, my work revolved around special surveying.

Today while we meet the keen competition of ratings-only firms established after ours in 1941, we have kept our qualitative perspective uppermost. And through mass subscription for our data, servicing the most markets and the most subscribers, we have been able to reduce subscription costs materially.

So, briefly, using face-to-face interviewing in the homes of the nation, our trained interview specialists visit an entirely new sample of 100,000 different families monthly. Five thousand different families are interviewed for each once-a-week television program, and the particular characteristics and purchases of each are recorded. Twenty thousand different families are similarly interviewed for multi-broadcast programs, and spectaculars and specials are duly entered. Each month a new category is analyzed. We are now interviewing in all our major markets 365 days of the year. And for all other markets interviewed less than monthly we also use daily interviewing instituted several years ago for the smaller markets.

The value of this information becomes obvious when we look at situations such as illustrated in typical situations. Interpreting the percentages in terms of the industry's figure of 45,000,000 television homes for Spring, 1959, the differences are impressive. Let us take just one category:

WEEKLY EXPENDITURE FOR DRUGS, TOILETRIES, COSMETICS

| Nighttime                            | No. Of Programs | Avg. Pulse Network | None Bought | Under $3.00 | Over $3.00 |
|--------------------------------------|-----------------|--------------------|-------------|--------------|-------------|
| Musical Programs                     | 10              | 11.9               | 25.5%       | 29.7%        | 44.8%       |
| Quiz, Panel & Audience Participation | 12              | 16.1               | 25.5        | 29.8         | 44.7        |
| Mysteries, Crime, Melodramas         | 14              | 15.6               | 27.1        | 29.1         | 43.8        |
| Dramas                               | 8               | 20.6               | 23.3        | 32.4         | 44.3        |
| Westerns                             | 23              | 21.2               | 26.8        | 28.2         | 45.0        |
| Situation Comedy                     | 14              | 20.2               | 26.3        | 26.8         | 46.9        |
| "Live" Comedy & Variety              | 14              | 21.1               | 26.4        | 30.0         | 43.6        |
| Adventure                            | 5               | 13.5               | 26.5        | 29.3         | 44.2        |

The above are norms for each kind of program. The individual program, therefore, can be measured against the norm, and its value appraised accordingly. Our data in this and other categories indicate that certain advertisers' programs attract millions of customers and prospects above the norm, or millions below the norm. It behooves an advertiser of a low-customer's show to know when a competitor is out-hitting him with a program attracting more customers and prospects. Plainly the conventional focus on big ratings becomes questionable.

It is our belief that this new concept of customer-slanting (from samples so large that quibbling is impossible), will become a widely recognized and positive contribution to the mechanics of today's demands for lower-cost, more effective product-selling.

THE FOREIGN LANGUAGE RADIO MARKET

... Translation Know-How Is The Key

By CHARLES BALTIN

Vice President, Sales Manager
WHOM, New York City

THE most effective method of selling the Foreign Language Market is to do so in the language the listener understands best—his native tongue. But it is not enough to depend upon his knowledge of the language alone, for unless the message creates a desire for the product or service, a lot of money and motion have been wasted.

To do a good job, the foreign language commercial must be expressed not only in words the listener comprehends but in meaningful ideas as well. It is practically impossible to translate English copy verbatim into a foreign tongue. Colloquial, everyday expressions which lend impact in English often become a linguistic mish-mash in translation.

Sales themes must be regarded from the psychological viewpoint of the listener or they will fail to achieve the expected results. The really effective foreign language sales story takes into account many factors that consciously or subconsciously determine the consumer's buying habits.

The many problems concerned with getting over a message to a foreign-speaking market with maximum effectiveness have largely been solved, fortunately for advertising agencies and clients.

Today, most of the leading foreign language stations in the United States are equipped to handle, from all angles, the educated projection of words and ideas into the desired tongue. At WHOM, for example, there is maintained a service for consultation and translation which is available to all accounts. The station has participated in many conferences and auditions designed to pin-point the most effective methods of reaching the tremendous number of Americans who speak a second language.

The business of foreign language radio in this country has assumed major proportions. Scores of leading advertisers in the United States are using this great advertising medium with increasing success.

* * *

Once the message is prepared for foreign-language consumption, it still requires a competent announcer to deliver. Competence is measured in terms of the ability to handle the spoken word in a convincing and conversational manner without traces of any accent which belies a true knowledge of the language. Listeners love to hear their native tongue spoken correctly and fluently.

* * *

And the most conspicuous successes are scored, not surprisingly, by those advertisers who reach this vast market in the familiar vernacular and idioms of the listeners for whom the message has been specifically tailored.

ASCAP AND THE BROADCASTERS

... Next Step: The U. S. District Court

By EMANUEL DANNETT

Counsel, All-Industry Radio Music License Committee

ALL-INDUSTRY Radio Music License Committee was formed on May 1, 1958. The music licensing situation at the time of the Committee's organization was entirely different from that which prevailed in 1940.

In 1940, when the radio industry was confronted with a demand by ASCAP for a substantial increase in license fees, broadcasters had these choices: to capitulate to ASCAP's demands; or to cease broadcasting ASCAP music. No other choice was available. To have broadcast without an ASCAP license would have been unthinkable since that would have subjected stations to liability in astronomical sums for copyright infringement. The industry thus chose the only genuinely available course and abandoned the use of ASCAP music until licenses containing fair and equitable terms could be negotiated.

Today, ASCAP is functioning under the Consent Decree of 1950. Under that decree, any station, upon the expiration of its license, is entitled to broadcast ASCAP music merely by sending a written notice to ASCAP stating it desires to broadcast ASCAP compositions. Thus, unlike the situation in 1940, today a station can continue to broadcast ASCAP compositions without fear of copyright infringement and without the necessity of first having accepted ASCAP's terms as to license fees. Under the Consent Decree, if no agreement is reached with ASCAP as to fees, the station must commence a rate case in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. That court will determine what constitutes reasonable fees to ASCAP.

Meetings were held with ASCAP on November 6 and December 2 and 3. Prior to those meetings, the Committee undertook a survey of industry conditions to determine the proposals to be submitted to ASCAP.

The emergence of television, during the past decade, as the dominant entertainment medium and its adverse effect upon radio, the substantial reduction in radio network programs, the substantial increase in the number of radio stations, and the change in the industry pattern from the sale of programs to spot announcements, led the Committee to conclude that many of the provisions of ASCAP's licenses were today obsolete and that a substantial improvement in the terms of the licenses was required.

The problems of radio broadcasters were reviewed at length at the ASCAP meetings, and the Committee there pointed out the reasons why the licenses, and especially the fees, should be substantially revised. However, hopes of reaching an amicable understanding were shattered when, on December 3, the Committee was informed that no financial concession of any kind would be made.

This left the broadcasters with the alternative either of accepting ASCAP's proposal for the renewal of its licenses on the old terms, or of proceeding under the ASCAP Consent Decree in a rate case before the United States District Court. All the stations represented by Committee members have elected to proceed by the route of the Consent Decree.

... Canon 35 Study Is Important Step

By ROBERT O. SWEZEY
Chairman, NAB Freedom of Information Committee

CANON 35 of the Canons of Judicial Ethics of the American Bar Association is still the focal point of the broadcasters' struggle for equal access and recognition comparable to that afforded the print media. It will be recalled that Canon 35, which has been officially adopted in some eighteen states and followed as a matter of course in many others, arbitrarily denies the use of radio and television equipment as well as photographic equipment in the coverage of court proceedings. Considerable headway has been made during the past year in familiarizing lawyers, broadcasters and, to a certain extent, the general public with the arguments, pro and con, on this issue. Many articles have been written and many speeches made. Gradually, out of the welter of argument and discussion, it has become apparent that the real question involved is only whether photography and the broadcasting of court proceedings will interfere with the due administration of justice. If they do not, there is no basis for their prohibition.

A signal forward step was taken by the American Bar Association itself, motivated by the insistent appeals of the broadcasters, the press photographers, and a progressive element within the legal fraternity, including a number of prominent judges and attorneys. In the annual meeting of the Association held in Los Angeles in August of 1958, the House of Delegates, following the recommendation of its Board of Governors, authorized the President of the ABA to appoint a special committee composed of nine members of the Association "to conduct a continuing study of the problem involved in connection with Canon 35 and the proposed amendment, with the authority to conduct such surveys (with the prior approval of the Board of Governors) as may be deemed necessary to obtain reliable factual data on the experience of judges and lawyers in those courts where either photography, televising or broadcasting, or all of them are permitted." In due course, after the Los Angeles meeting, the President of the ABA appointed that committee, which is presently considering the problem assigned to it. We anticipate that the committee will give the broadcasters ample opportunity to meet with the committee and fully discuss the situation.

The most helpful judicial support which our position has received during the past year was the decision of the Oklahoma Criminal Court of Appeals—the court of last resort in criminal matters—rendered in the case of Lyles vs. Oklahoma in September, which held that Canon 35 was "obsolete and unrealistic", and that radio and television are entitled to the same courtroom rights as the press. It remains for us broadcasters to demonstrate convincingly that we can cover court proceedings without causing interference or distraction of the participants; that television and radio are bona fide professional news media, and not merely purveyors of entertainment; that we are willing and able to conform to the standards of conduct essential to the preservation of dignity of court proceedings.

DAYTIME TV SHOWS CAN SUCCEED ... But They Can't Be Built Overnight

By OLIVER TREYZ

President, ABC Television

OCTOBER 13, 1958, one of the three most important dates in ABC history, found ABC Television reaching a status of full competition with its rivals.

On that day, ABC Television launched six new daytime programs, including some 70 quarter-hours, the largest block of new programs ever started by any network at one time. This culminating step in ABC-TV's growth was highlighted by the fact that the new shows were 95% sold out when they went on the air.

"Operation Daybreak," as it was called in the trade, was preceded by many months of preparation and planning. Like a military operation, careful attention was given to strategy, tactics, logistics and manpower. And, above all, advertisers' needs were kept in mind.

These needs were personal salesmanship, maximum audience potential and maximum audience dispersion.

In order to accomplish these aims the following was instituted: live programs with strong personalities were selected; and clock time scheduling, which has the advantage of higher sets in use and of scheduling shows across the nation at a time when the show fits the established daily habits of viewers, was employed. In order to attain maximum audiences, advertiser's commercials were dispersed throughout the entire "Operation Daybreak" schedule.

Prior to the launching of our expanded schedule, ABC Television recognized that success in daytime television does not come overnight. Daytime shows take time to build. Program sampling must take place. In order to do this, established viewing habits must be overcome, and in turn, a steadfast loyal audience must be recruited.

* * *

In its early months, "Operation Daybreak" followed our predictions, building month by month. Critical and viewer praise proved to us that our planning was sound.

ABC Television has added a new dimension to daytime viewing—a third focal point for viewers. As in the nighttime hours where ABC Television earlier broke established patterns to bring about a three-network economy, so, too, daytime is now a three-way competition. And a three-way competition it will remain.

The benefits of three national television network services are obvious. As in any sound business, increased competition improves the end product. The three-network economy in the daytime will bring better programming to the viewer at a minimum cost to the advertiser.

For television generally, the key to programming strength lies in the strong three network pattern. I am convinced that daytime television has a great future and that ABC-TV will continue to offer the programming that has met with such acclaim.

PROGRAMMING IS TV'S CORNERSTONE

... Talent, $$$ Essential Ingredients

By LOUIS G. COWAN
President, CBS Television

PROGRAMMING is the very essence of the television business. The success and growth of networking depends on good programming. This year the CBS Television Network will continue to spend millions of dollars in program research and experimentation to conceive and engender new ideas. The care, feeding and continued improvement of our programs have always been given first priority. At the present time, our Program Department has in various stages of development some 31 programs. Not all of them will ultimately appear on the Network. But ideas beget ideas, and out of this creative process comes our most valuable new material.

To achieve our purpose of quality programming, we have gathered together the biggest, most imaginative, most talented creative staff in broadcasting. Its membership reads like an honor roll of television's top award winners, among them: Fred Coe, John Houseman, Herbert Brodtkin, Bob Banner, Ralph Nelson, Nat Hiken, Delbert Mann, John Frankenheimer, Gordon Duff, Arthur Penn, Barry Wood, Leland Hayward, Cy Howard, Perry Lafferty, Fred Friendly, Marlo Lewis, Rod Serling, Robert Alan Arthur and Reginald Rose.

This long-term commitment to creative leadership is the chief reason in my opinion why the CBS Television Network has continued to rank first both in audience and advertising for the past four years. To keep pace with our own leadership philosophy and the audience's unremitting demands for fresh entertainment, we must be consistently on the prowl for new talent, new ideas, new concepts.

Besides cultivating our own resources, of course, we must do everything in our power to encourage all outside program sources. The importance of the contribution of independent packagers to our network schedule cannot be stressed too often. They originate many of the medium's finest and most popular network programs. And it is precisely because program production comes from so many different streams that the nation's audiences can be assured of a fresh, continually improving flow of new television entertainment.

On the CBS Television Network, our advertisers, too, benefit by having the opportunity to choose the best from two worlds—the network-developed shows and the outside packages.

Of course, in the area of news and public affairs, the Network assumes a special responsibility for the creation and development of its own programs. We recognize a primary obligation to keep the public informed and to maintain fairness and balance in the presentation of all matters of controversy. That is why, when it comes to news, current events and public issues, the Network produces all its own programs.

Television is an immensely powerful instrument, certainly the most powerful instrument of communications yet devised by men. It is still so young that we have only just begun to tap its capacity to inform and entertain.

LOUIS G. COWAN, President of the CBS Television Network Division

Louis G. Cowan became president of the CBS Television Network Division on March 12, 1958. He had joined the staff of CBS, Inc. in May, 1956 in the newly-created position of vice president—Creative Services. In this capacity he was responsible for assisting Executive, Operating and Service management in obtaining maximum effectiveness in each of the company's operating divisions having to do with creative product. Mr. Cowan had joined CBS Television as a producer in August, 1955—responsible for the creation of new ideas and new programs in coordination with the CBS Television Network's executive production staff. He is the winner of two Peabody Awards, four Ohio State Institute for Education By Radio-Television Awards, and three Variety Showmanagement Awards. Before joining CBS, Mr. Cowan had been President of Louis G. Cowan, Inc. The fifty-odd radio and television programs he has produced have included $64,000 QUESTION, MEET THE VEEP, STOP THE MUSIC, CONVERSATION, KAY KYSER'S COLLEGE OF MUSICAL KNOWLEDGE, QUIZ KIDS and others. Mr. Cowan was born in Chicago in 1909 and is a graduate of the University of Chicago. He is married to the former Pauline Spiegel and is the father of four children.

HUBBELL ROBINSON, JR. Executive Vice President in Charge of Network Programs

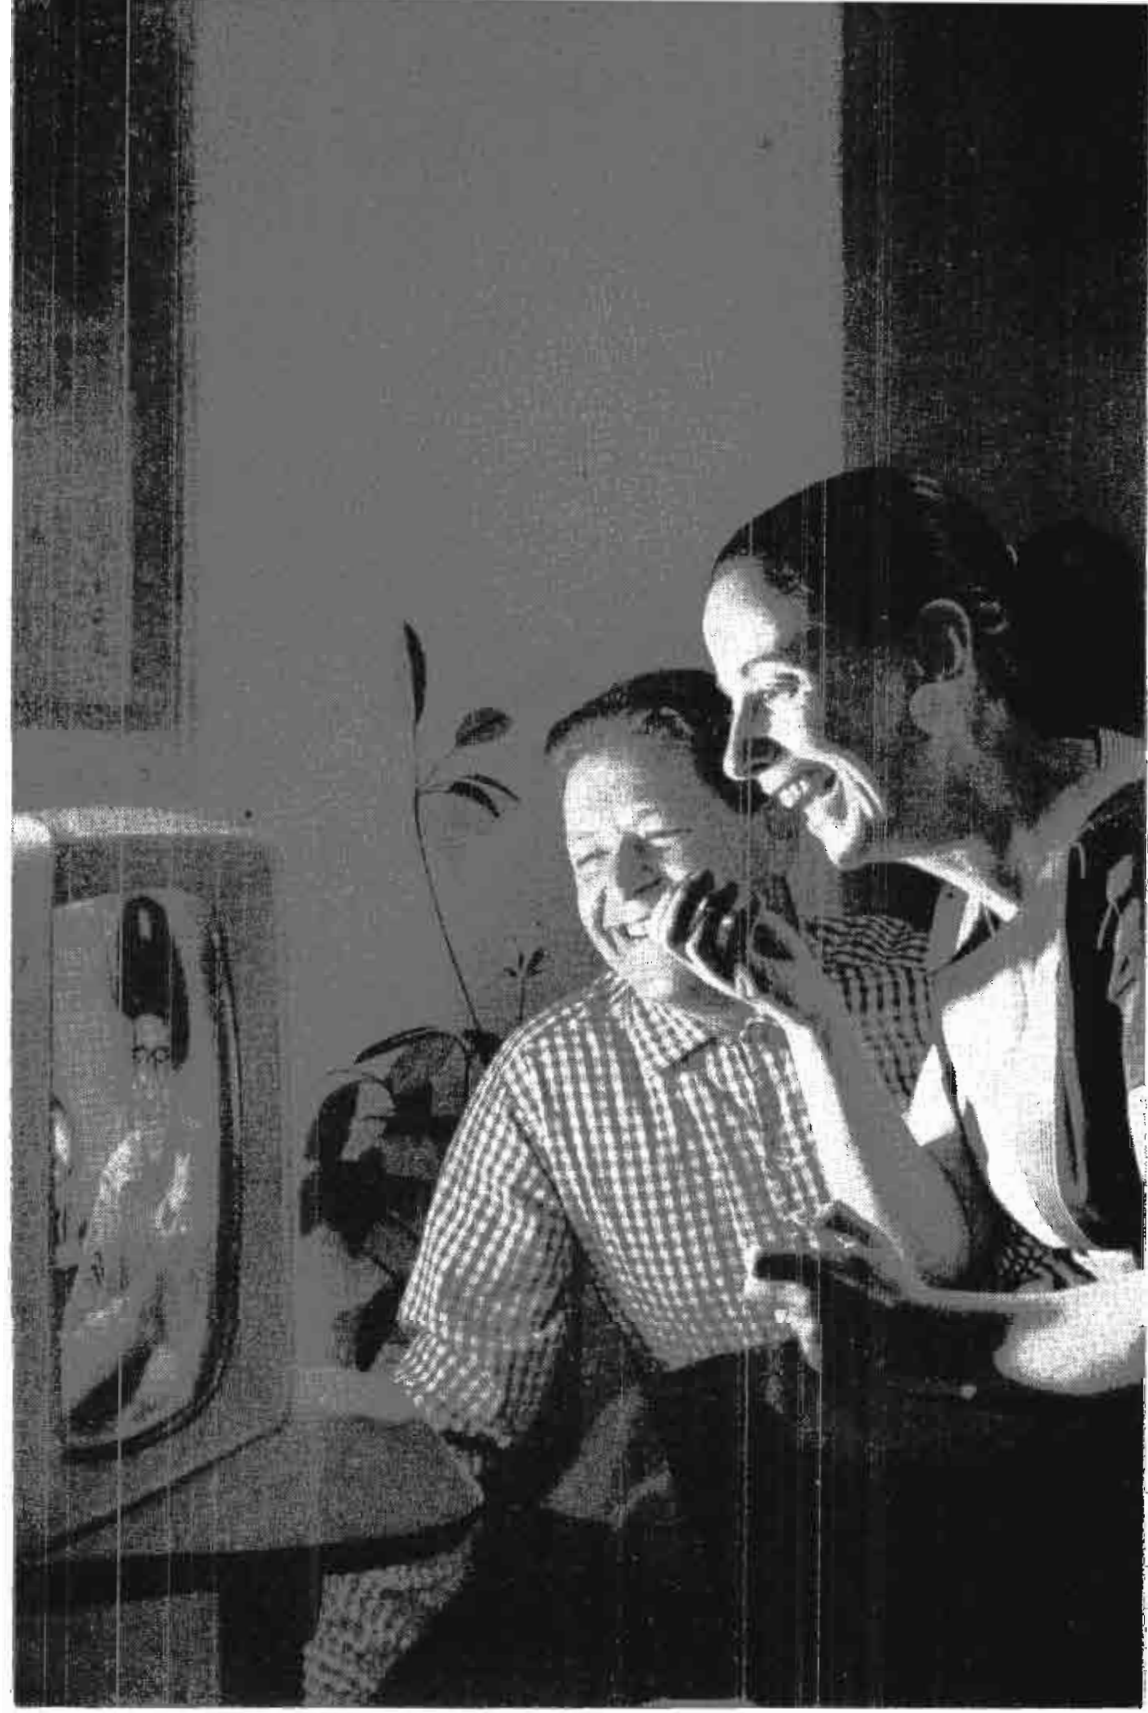

Hubbell Robinson, Jr. was named CBS Television executive vice president in charge of network programs on March 19, 1956. Previously he had held the title of vice president in charge of network programs since July, 1951. Mr. Robinson joined CBS in 1947 as CBS vice president and director of programs. Before joining the network he had been vice president and director of radio for Young & Rubicam, Inc. In 1944, he left Y&R to join the Blue Network, now ABC, as vice president and director of programs and in 1945 he went to Foote, Cone & Belding, Inc., as vice president in charge of radio. Mr. Robinson was born in Schenectady, N. Y., on Oct. 16, 1905. He attended Phillips Exeter Academy, then Brown University from which he received his A.B. in 1927. After graduation Mr. Robinson was a reporter on the Schenectady Union Star, and later on the Knickerbocker Press in Albany. In 1928, he went to New York City to review motion pictures for the Exhibitor Herald, a trade paper. Shortly after he decided on advertising as a career and during his 16-year association went from messenger boy to vice president of the agency.

WILLIAM H. HYLAN Vice President of Sales Administration

William H. Hylan was appointed CBS Television Network vice president of sales administration in February, 1957. Previously, Mr. Hylan had held the post of vice president in charge of network sales. Mr. Hylan was account executive for CBS Radio Sales until 1941. In July of that year he enlisted in the U. S. Army, remaining in the service until November, 1945, when he returned to CBS as assistant to the director of station administration. Three years later he joined CBS Television Network Sales. From 1948 to 1951 Mr. Hylan served as account executive in CBS Television Network Sales. In July, 1951, he was named assistant sales manager and in January, 1952, he was appointed Eastern sales manager. He was named to his present post in December, 1952. Mr. Hylan was born in New York City in 1915. He is a graduate of Yale University, class of 1937. In the Army, he saw service in Egypt, Palestine, Lebanon, Syria, Greece and Austria with the Counter-Intelligence Corps and the Office of Strategic Services. Mr. Hylan is married and has three children, a boy and two girls. His home is in Westport, Conn.

Each year as television's audience continued to grow, the prudent ones among us cautioned against a hasty acceptance of its heady statistics.

Each year, they said you would have to wait for it to settle down . . . until the audience got used to having a moving, talking picture in their living rooms.

And each year the audience grew larger.

Surely, now in the twelfth year of network television it seems reasonable to agree that television is no longer a novelty — that the audience and the advertiser have had time to evaluate it.

It is clear to even the most conservative eye that television today is more attractive to the American family than ever before.

During 1958 the average television family watched more than ever—an average of five hours and five minutes a day. Any night at 9, for example, three families out of every five could be found watching television.

By March 1, 1959, there was at least one television set in 44,700,000 homes—87% of the nation's total. And 6,000 new television homes are being added every day.

Advertisers are reaching the largest audiences in history at a lower cost per thousand customers than any printed medium can provide.

However you evaluate television today—as a medium of entertainment and information—or as an advertising vehicle—it clearly retains its compelling ability to hold the interest of its audience.

And it always will.

For television moves in the main stream of American life. And the continuing novelty in the images it brings to the viewer reflects the ever changing world of his experience.

Because it reaches more people — at the same instant—than any other form of mass communication, American business invests more of its national advertising appropriation in television than in any other advertising medium.

Because it is attracting the largest nighttime audiences in all television (as shown in the 85 consecutive Nielsen Reports issued since July 1955) the CBS Television Network continues to be the largest single advertising medium in the world.

NETWORK TV OFFERS BARGAIN BUYS ... To The Small-Budget Advertiser

By WALTER D. SCOTT
Executive Vice President
NBC-TV Network

IN this era of big budget network programming there is a tendency to completely lose sight of the fact there are many network TV opportunities designed specifically for the small-budget advertiser.

Today an advertiser with an annual budget as small as $500,000 can use network television, and over an extended period of time. In fact, the opportunity to buy and use network TV in small units has never been greater. All three networks now offer nighttime minutes, low cost news programs, favorably priced daytime periods and participations in sports series, all at reasonable rates.

As result of these economy-sized patterns and greatly increased flexibility, network television is serving a surprising number of modest budget advertisers. During 1958 alone, many smaller advertisers bought time on NBC-TV, most for the first time. Among them were Amity Leather Products Company, Arkin Industries, Burgess Vibrocrafters, Drexel Furniture Company, National Brewing, Rock of Ages, the Shakespeare Company and Stark Nurseries.

Advertisers with a budget of well under $1,000,000 can order from a wide choice of year-round campaigns on web TV, be identified with a variety of exciting, quality programs and have their commercial messages seen in over 100 leading markets. Here are some of the schedules available to such an advertiser:

* * *

Sponsorship of four special filmed telementaries on the 20th Century, three of which are full-hour programs and the fourth 90-minutes, all scheduled in prime time periods during 1959; an alternate-week one-minute message in "Ellery Queen" (Friday nights) or "Cimarron City" (Saturday nights) over a 52-week period; sponsorship of an "NBC News" program on alternate weeks over a 39-week period; sponsorship of one daytime quarter-hour program segment on alternate weeks over a 52-week period, or two contiguous (i.e. on the same day) daytime quarter-hour segments on alternate weeks over a 39-week period; two participations weekly in either the "Today" program or "The Jack Paar Show," or one participation weekly in each, all over a 52-week period.

* * *

In short, a cost-conscious advertiser seeking to sell more goods and enhance prestige can select the television campaign that's best for him from a wide variety of advertising patterns and programs — specials, mystery, western, news or variety — any time of the day or night, on network television.

By the dawn's early light...

On January 27, 1958, in a grim postscript to Sputnik, President Eisenhower said: "National security requires that prompt action be taken to improve and expand the teaching of science . . ." Only one high school student in four was studying physics, only one in three taking chemistry. Since 1950, the number of qualified high school science teachers had dropped an alarming 53%.

On October 6, 1958, the National Broadcasting Company, in partnership with leading American educational and industrial organizations*, undertook prompt action by launching the world's largest class. The subject: Atomic Age Physics. Telecast five times weekly from 6:30-7:00 a.m., NBC's Continental Classroom exposed a priceless national asset—the knowledge and teaching skill of eminent physicist Harvey E. White—to teachers and students throughout America. And strange things began to happen . . .

As dawn broke over America, television sets flicked on in homes, in fraternity lounges, in high school and college classrooms, in dormitories, in engineering laboratories. In rapid sequence, 149 stations cleared time for the course; 265 colleges and universities offered full academic credit; 27,000 students mailed in 50 cents each for a syllabus; an estimated 270,000 Americans began sitting in with Dr. White and his students on their home sets.

Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., White House scientific advisor, considers Continental Classroom "truly a bold educational experiment in the nation's interest." How far can it go, in one two-semester stroke, toward erasing the most perilous educational lag this nation faces? No one is certain. But the only television network ever to use its commercial facilities to create a national classroom is certain that it is worth finding out.

THE EARLY YEARS OF A FILM NETWORK

... Another National Program Service?

By CHARLES (Bud) BARRY
President, NTA Film Network

THERE'S said to be a shining new Cadillac cruising Madison Avenue bearing a sign that reads "Made in Las Vegas . . . the hard way." Somehow that strikes me as a particularly fitting mode of transportation for a network executive in the television market today.

With Ely Landau, chairman of the parent company, wearing his white coat and rubber gloves, the NTA Network was born just about three years ago. Since then the network has accomplished some rather amazing things. I'm not trying to sound like a cigarette commercial, but because it is a pretty accurate way of putting it, I say we have accomplished some things that couldn't be done.

We have organized a group of stations into a cohesive whole . . . we have persuaded a group of major advertisers to accept the film network concept . . . we have persuaded, on many a Sunday afternoon and occasionally during the evening hours, a group of "right minded" citizens to turn their dials to our program while happily ignoring our not always friendly competitors.

We have done this without that greatest of aids to a network—the very heart of network broadcasting—the coaxial cable hooking all of the components together for a national simultaneous broadcast. We have done it the hard way, via film on a bicycle. And what's more, without that second essential in network broadcasting—prime time on prime stations.

Nevertheless, we are genuinely grateful to the far-seeing clients who did put their faith and their dollars behind the NTA Film Network.

But in the 1959-60 market place one cannot afford much time to look back, for if there is one essential fact in this business it is . . . the future lies to him who plans for it.

The challenges of my career always seem to have been based upon dreams of tomorrow. But of all the tests of this kind I have ever faced, none has intrigued me more than the challenge of planning the necessary "Where Do We Go From Here" with the NTA Film Network.

This one is classic in its demands, because the following fundamental problems must be solved:

- a. Not enough independent stations in many markets.
- b. Not enough prime time available on stations already affiliated with our major competitors.
- c. Not enough programs.
- d. Too many agencies and advertisers reluctant to back us during our growth period.

We are convinced that the American advertising industry and the American public can support another national program service. If we can make that program service imaginative, fresh and untrammled, we believe that we can continue to build our own effective network. We further believe that the key of our network future lies foursquare on our program future.

SWEETEST THING IN SIGHT

It all started in 1957 among 30,000,000 Americans. Suddenly NTA television was responsible for the biggest mass "crush," since Shirley Temple first showed her adorable face, some 20 years ago. In 1958, NTA's Shirley Temple programs once again worked their wonderful kind of weekend magic, from coast to coast. Weekend magic for advertisers, too, as Vick Chemical, Ideal Toys, Westinghouse, Phillips-Van Heusen, Congoleum-Nairn, Necchi-Elna, Shwayder Bros., all tuned in to this unique television bonanza. Unique because the values expand every time NTA expands on its schedule of new Temple feature films. 1959 is no exception! Here's why:

In 1959 you get 87.5% coverage of U.S. television homes with a lineup of 63 key stations. You get the security of a 2-year track record which shows you the big, all-family audience, the low cost-per-M you want. You buy participations—as few or as many as you need. You combine products. You divide regions. You do it all because little Shirley as a child star has it all on the NTA Television Network. What's more, your buy into the Shirley Temple Spring Specials earns you an opportunity to protect for next Fall and Winter, too. Give it all a good close look, and then meet the sweetest thing in sight on the NTA TELEVISION NETWORK.

TELEVISION FILM'S FOREIGN MARKET— ... A New Horizon For The Industry

By HAROLD GOLDMAN

President, NTA International, Inc.

THE burgeoning television industry outside of the United States is rapidly assuming an important role in the overall planning of TV production and distribution companies.

The foreign market today offers one of the greatest areas of expansion in our industry. Results accomplished during the past year have served to strengthen that conviction in no uncertain terms. As a consequence, increased efforts are being expended in that area. At NTA, we have organized, not too long ago, NTA International, Inc., which is to supervise our television and theatrical activities throughout the world.

There are approximately 25-million television sets in operation today in more than 50 countries outside of the United States. Sales opportunities abound in the United Kingdom where more than 9-million TV sets are in operation.

A study of the foreign markets reveals that Great Britain is the most important market today for the sale of television properties. Second place honors must go to Canada with a set count in excess of 3-million. Australia ranks third in importance serving more than a half-million receivers.

Japan, with more than a million-and-a-half sets, is enjoying a television boom and is rapidly taking its place among the leaders in searching the market for suitable product.

To take care of the needs of this increasing world-wide activity, the production and distribution companies are keeping close touch with developments and adding to their staffs. As President of NTA International, I will be making constant trips to our international offices to keep abreast of events and gear our operations to meet prevailing conditions.

Foreign stations are constantly on the alert for good product. Features and half-hour series are enjoying wide popularity in all areas. While there is an over-abundance of product at the moment, the demand will be increasing as more and more stations begin operations and additional sets make their appearance in homes.

In line with the expanding television picture overseas, income from that source is constantly on the up-swing. In the not too distant future, receipts from foreign distribution should equal at least one-third of the total gross billing of companies engaged in international operations.

As the foreign picture becomes brighter, co-production endeavors with producers in other countries will increase. We, at NTA, have recently entered into an association with the British Broadcasting Corporation for the production of "The Third Man," a 39-week series starring Michael Rennie. We plan to undertake similar co-production deals in other countries. Current plans call for such arrangements to be made with governmental and independent agencies in France, Italy, Japan, Canada and Australia.

NTA's activities in the international field have now expanded into ten countries.

White Columns The home of WSB Radio and WSB-TV

Your advertising in Atlanta belongs on the WSB stations

In few major markets of America do you find so high a degree of media dominance. In Georgia WSB Radio and WSB-TV are overwhelming firsts in audience, in coverage, in facilities.

Thirty-six years of programming in the public interest has earned for these stations an audience confidence and respect which means much to advertisers. It means a pre-conditioned acceptance of your programs. It means an audience more receptive to products and services advertised on WSB Radio and WSB-TV. These are tangible assets . . . with a record of higher-than-anticipated dividends paid to sponsors.

See How WFBM-TV Dominates Mid-Indiana!

First by a good margin, WFBM-TV dominates all other stations in Mid-Indiana both in total coverage and market penetration. Map shows county percentages measured by Nielsen Coverage Study No. 3, 1958.

—will you find satellite markets that are 33% richer and 50% bigger than the metropolitan trading zone itself?

—can so many satellite markets that are recognized retail trading centers in their own right be covered from one central point . . . and only one principal station with no overlapping network affiliates to do the complete advertising job?

only here—where WFBM-TV is first in Mid-Indiana—can you buy more honest market penetration, more consumer influence, for fewer dollars expended than anywhere else. Of course, we have 100% in Marion county, too . . . and are proud of our current ARB. Better take another look!

The Nation's 13th Television Market
 . . . with the only basic NBC coverage of 760,000 TV set-owning families

● Indianapolis itself—Major retail area for 18 richer-than-average counties. 1,000,000 population—350,600 families with 90% television ownership!

⋄ 11 Satellites—Each a recognized marketing area—and well within WFBM-TV's basic area of influence. An audited audience of 412,800 more television homes.

LOOKING FOR TOP MARKETS...?

TAKE A LOOK AT KXJB-TV, Valley City — Fargo — Grand Forks

KXJB-TV, Valley City-Fargo-Grand Forks, is one of the top 100 television markets in the United States, according to the May 19th issue of Television Age. What's more, KXJB-TV covers one of the richest markets . . . North Dakota and Minnesota's rich Red River Valley, plus the southeastern third of North Dakota. But that's not all—buy KXJB-TV and add the other Market Maker Stations of the North Dakota Broadcasting Company, KCJB-TV in Minot, KBMB-TV in Bismarck and KDIX-TV in Dickinson, and you get coverage of over 90% of the North Dakota market with one buy, one order, one contact! Buy KXJB-TV, one of the Top 100, add KCJB-TV, KBMB-TV and KDIX-TV, and you have the triple-terrific Market Maker Stations of the NDBC Television Network reaching the greatest percentage of all of the television homes in North Dakota—plus parts of Minnesota and South Dakota. In the Upper Midwest, you can't buy better!

Television Stations and Sets Overseas

At the end of 1958 a total of 49 overseas countries had television, excluding the U.S., its territories, Canada and the U.S. Armed Forces TV stations abroad. Of the 49, 41 were Free World countries and the other eight were Communist Bloc countries. The number of overseas TV stations of all kinds, including TV centers, relay stations and experimental stations, rose from 447 to 739 during the year, an increase of 65 per cent: 617 of these stations were in the Free World of which 246 were new; 122 were in the Bloc of which 46 were new. Of the 246 new stations in the Free World, Western Europe had 196, the Far East 33, Latin America 14, and the Near East, South Asian and African areas had three.

The growth in the number of television receivers in use was also noteworthy. There was an increase of about 6,500,000 sets in 1958, compared with 5,000,000 in 1957, and 3,500,000 in 1956. The almost 23,000,000 sets that were in use at the end of the year also surpassed earlier estimates by about 3,000,000. Of the total number of sets, the Free World had a little more than 19,500,000, a gain of 5,500,000 over 1957, and the Communist Bloc accounted for somewhat less than 3,500,000, an increase of about a million.

RADIO STILL HAS A BASIC NEED

... And it is Still Showmanship

By JAMES H. WEATHERS
General Manager
World Broadcasting System

WE, at World, are constantly in touch with thousands of stations throughout the country, and we've been tremendously encouraged in recent months with the prosperity of the radio industry in general.

It wasn't too many years ago that a wave of pessimism was prevalent in the radio industry. Stations were concerned about the impact of television—they were worried about increased competition created by the continued granting of new radio facilities by the Commission—radio was affected by harder hitting sales efforts of newspapers, magazines, and virtually every other advertising medium. Radio embarked on a frantic era of search, seeking to find the solutions to performing a better service for its listeners and advertisers, and thereby enabling the radio industry to continue on a firm financial footing.

Apparently radio has found these answers because the overwhelming majority of broadcasters agree that radio has emerged from this transitory period stronger than ever and with the renewed confidence of listener and advertiser alike. The future of radio is bright and assured!

What are these answers? If they had to be summed up in one word, that word would be "Showmanship"! For too long, too many in the industry lost sight of the fact that basically radio is SHOW BUSINESS. We know we go in and tell our clients that they must advertise on our stations in order to dramatize and glamorize their products. Have we, therefore, any less of a responsibility to glamor-ize and dramatize our own product—the radio station itself? We know that for too long the sales concept of too many stations was simply "I can sell it cheaper than my competitor"—never taking into account that the value of any commodity is not determined by price alone, but by its ability to perform a necessary function. In the case of radio, "its ability to sell goods."

How many stations do we know of that send their salesmen out empty handed, forced to meet the prospect simply with a rate card in one hand, and hat in the other?—and then complain bitterly about the tough market conditions. If we have discovered anything within the past few years—it is that we need ideas—we need sales tools—we need showmanship, in order to sell and in order to produce results, thus assuring ourselves of happy clients and continuing renewals. The prospect who doesn't buy today still remains a prospect. In order to get him to say "yes" where he has been saying "no," we must offer him something new and sufficiently exciting to get him to want to buy something that strikes a responsive chord.

We at World are arming our stations with these essential tangibles. We have designed our service with the emphasis on sales tools and personality packages—the very essence of radio showmanship. I am sure we are all agreed that there is one thing radio can never have enough of—and that is—bigger—better—and more exciting saleable ideas!

WHAT MAKES UP TELEVISION IMPACT?

... And How Do You Achieve It?

By JOHN L. SINN

President of Ziv Television Programs, Inc.

WHAT do we mean when we call a TV series "impact drama"? To us at Ziv, this term has a very specific meaning which represents a positive value to advertisers selling with film.

Sponsors need to reach large audiences from the moment the program goes on the air. They can't afford the luxury of waiting for ratings to reach a satisfactory level. Their advertising investment must pay off immediately. Over and over again, our researchers have found that it is impact drama which accomplished this.

Impact is a one-word summary for a combination of ideas—fast moving action, logically motivated adventure, real-life locations, strong star names, well-written drama that grips the emotions.

For example, "Sea Hunt" was the highest rated syndicated show in the highly competitive seven-station market of New York on its very first telecast. "Mackenzie's Raiders" ranked nationally in the top 15 syndicated shows in its first month on the air.

What do such shows have in common? They are not "soft" programs that the viewer can take or let alone. They are compelling dramas of action, adventure and suspense. There is a strong central figure with whom viewers can identify, whether it be a brawny hero, a dashing one or the debonair type. There is the ring of reality, from the use of actual locales and well-authenticated detail. There is—impact.

It is no accident that series involving law enforcers—eastern or western—have proved to be such powerful audience-builders. The twentieth century concept of the man of the law is a far cry from the "dumb cop" or bungling sheriff of older fiction. The head of a modern highway patrol system, the western lawman—the man who does exciting, real-life things sparks immediate interest and admiration.

Now, if we place the man of action at the actual scene of action, the benefits multiply. We have sent our cameras half way around the globe to get the added impact of authentic settings. The air of tension and intrigue that surrounds a world capital cannot be brought to life on a sound stage, so we went to London to film "Dial 999." The mysterious beauty of life beneath the sea is impossible to duplicate, so we went to Hawaii, Florida, Mexico and the Caribbean to film "Sea Hunt."

The strength of many of these stories comes from careful grounding in fact. "Bat Masterson" is based on the definitive biography by Richard O'Connor. "Mackenzie's Raiders" dramatizes an important chapter of America's history. Many of "Sea Hunt's" most exciting stories have been based on the very real experiences of the Navy underwater demolition men and of scientists who work underwater.

Daring action, authentic locales, strong central characters portrayed by famous stars—these are the elements that create impact. Combined with know-how and insight into a gripping television program, they quickly establish a week-in, week-out viewing habit and provide a memorable setting for the commercials.

SYNDICATED SERIES TRUMP CARDS

...Are Program Quality, Audience Interest

By JAKE KEEVER

Vice President and General Manager
California National Productions

THE past year has clearly demonstrated to stations and their advertisers that the greatest single advantage which syndicated series hold over feature films is consistency—consistency of program quality and of audience interest.

As realization of this fact took firm root, ARB introduced its "One week-four week" reports. Chief among the reasons seen behind this move is the industry's need for more accurate measurements that can cope with the breathless ups and downs of movie feature ratings.

There now is a general awareness that the inconstant nature of various packages of old theatrical movies released for telecasting precludes any acceptable possibility of faithful, solid-core audiences. Stations dislike the catch-as-catch-can nature of these self-same movie packages; they run the gamut of low-brow to high-brow, vintage, modern and good, or just plain bad. Besides inconsistency in quality, length is a built-in disadvantage which makes burdensome demands on a busy America.

Syndication, on the other hand, offers a dependable level of program quality (call it "program personality," if you will) that is of particular importance to viewers. Today's audience habitually expects and demands that its entertainment requirements be met—or else! Furthermore, the advertiser has become aware of the viewers' feelings on features and naturally is concerned with the number and types of people who are exposed to his sales messages.

The supply of features to television is steadily dwindling. Already antiques when they make their TV debut, the movies become relics with their third and fourth repeats. As the bottom of the barrel gets scraped cleaner and cleaner, the calibre of entertainment drops lower and lower. Serious as the dearth of feature-film is now, the situation promises to grow worse as current packages wear out their frowsy welcomes.

There is also the intangible but undeniable element of "not-at-homeness" that theatrical motion pictures suffer as they are projected on the cathode ray tubes. Original TV series, whether live or filmed, are conceived, designed, and produced with the living-room audience in mind. On the other hand, flickers were made expressly for the cinema house, and sponsors know that a house is not a home.

Current trends indicate a shift by stations away from features toward syndicated programs of proven values, whether off the network or in syndicated reruns.

In addition, stations are now aware of their advertisers' desire for sponsor identification. Syndicated shows satisfy this need, even if the sponsor only buys spots in the series, because he is identified by the audience with the same show. The end result is that: Advertisers, who know the product they are selling, know the program they are buying. Viewers, who know what they like, know where to turn the dial.

On both counts, the winnah is syndication.

GREATER TV PRODUCTION VALUES—

... The Major Studios' Contribution

By GEORGE SHUPERT

President, MGM-TV

UNTIL quite recently most television films and theatrical films were worlds apart insofar as production value and scope were concerned. But with the total entry of the major Hollywood studios into the TV programming arena, more and more television films are beginning to acquire the same high quality and broad scope of their theatrical cousins.

Once most TV films were produced in the smaller independent rental studios where they were restricted to simpler, less costly settings that had a monotonous sameness. In fact, the settings were not much different than those used in live television productions.

Now, with all of the major studios having stepped into television with both feet, all this is changing. Today, the television film is rapidly freeing itself of the restrictions that were formerly forced upon it by cramped production plants with their limited backlog of sets, costumes and props.

M-G-M (to pick an example with which I am most familiar) has thrown open all of its vast facilities, not just to its own television offshoot, M-G-M-TV, but to more than half-a-dozen independent producers as well. Within the huge 187-acre confines that make up the M-G-M production colossus, TV producers can choose from among 29 sound stages (including the world's largest) and they can take advantage of rivers and lakes, forests and jungles, city streets and country villages from virtually every corner of the world and any historical era.

The importance of this to the highly budget-conscious producer (and what TV producer doesn't fall into that category) is that it means he no longer must limit his writers to scripts written around the meagre settings that were formerly available. Now, he can give the writers carte blanche, with the knowledge that virtually any scene they call for can be matched from available settings.

This same thing also holds true for such other important items in the producer's budget as costumes and props. The M-G-M wardrobe and property departments, for example, cover a larger area by themselves than many of the entire studios where a number of well-known TV series were once filmed.

Other important production assets that only the large major studio can offer include a research department to check authenticity of any production detail, a large and experienced staff of lawyers to handle all necessary legal clearances, and a talent department that can quickly put its finger on the right person for any role.

Of course, even the most elaborate of physical production facilities are meaningless without story properties that combine all the successful qualities of showmanship. And in recognition of this, M-G-M has made available for television adaptation its huge treasure chest of hundreds of memorable motion picture hits.

To breathe new life into these great properties, M-G-M has staffed its television department with the most creative personnel it can find.

BUYING PUBLIC IS QUALITY CONSCIOUS

... And Won't Settle For Anything Less

By HENRY G. PLITT

President, ABC Films, Inc.

If you've never seen a man with two heads, and would like to, drop up to my office. Better come soon because this strange state of affairs will be temporary and within a short time the heads will merge. One head, the one I've been wearing for about fourteen years, has been devoted to the business of getting people to leave their home to go to a movie. The other one joined me this past February when I left the picture business to head up ABC Films, Inc. This new one expects to persuade people to stay home to watch television.

Some people think that these two heads are incompatible and predict that my headaches will come in pairs but this is far from the truth. They get along quite well because they have much in common.

The prime responsibility of running a theatre chain is to buy pictures with box office appeal, set admission prices which are fair and arouse public interest through exploitation—bearing in mind that entertainment for mass consumption should not be offensive.

The responsibilities in my new job are basically the same with obvious variations. Instead of a constantly ringing cash register, the success of ABC Films' programming will be measured by the television rating services. The factors which make for success are the same in both entertainment media—suspense, excitement, sex and appeal to all age groups and varying tastes.

The economic factors are similar. In order to get top quality product we have to spend money. Naturally, we cannot afford to pay unrealistic prices which will prohibit us from recouping our production costs and making a profit. Under no circumstances, however, will we cheat. The buying public, whether it be a movie patron or an advertiser, is quality conscious. They know what's good and won't settle for anything less.

In the area of exploitation, although the aims are similar, the approaches are quite different. Movie distributors have a great deal of freedom in their promotion. One of the biggest differences between movie and TV advertising is the use of sex. Movie exhibitors often can spark their ads with illustrations of scantily clad gals and provocative, teasing copy. TV stations cannot do the same and rightly so. After all, a parent can control his child's movie attendance. He can't control TV viewing so readily and shouldn't be made to do so. A television program is like a guest in the house. Neither's performance should be unacceptable in the home environments.

Although many people think that movies and TV are incompatible, they are, in reality, interdependent. Most of TV's talent was schooled in motion pictures. Television formats are, for the most part, based upon story lines and themes which have proven popular in movie houses. TV has profited from the Hollywood star system and often uses top Hollywood stars to headline the spectaculars. TV, because of its less expensive and more rapid approach to star build-up, has that to offer the movie industry.

THE CONSTANT SEARCH FOR NEW IDEAS

... Is Hitting a Quickened Pace

By WALTER KINGSLEY

President, ITC (Independent Television Corporation)

AFTER many thousands of hours of television programming have gone parading across the home screen, the search for new ideas takes on a quickened pace. How many plots, programs, jokes, and memorable lines have already been used? How many more heroes can be found? Protagonists which just a few years ago were fresh new creations have become stereotypes. The drive for something new constantly hounds the producer, and the search becomes increasingly more difficult, and, with rising costs, his mistakes more costly.

It is almost unnecessary to establish the fact that there is continuing uncertainty in our young industry. It has often been said, however, that a measure of a person's maturity is his ability to live with this uncertainty. The producer-company must then be not only creative and intelligent, but mature enough to know if and when to plunge into new productions.

The television producer is forever measuring the acceptability or unacceptability of a new program concept. We constantly try to measure new program concepts based on research, ratings, etc. Yet the producer must, in the final analysis, be the judge of the future life of his program idea regardless of the rumors, whims and half-truths that may be circulating at any given time in buying circles. If a producer were to constantly reflect the temperament of the hours, he would be incapable of producing a program with firm characteristics of identity and format. In other words the producer and seller of television programming must always take chances based on the best research available, but equally important is his own knowledge of the taste and temperament of the public.

We at ITC accept the challenge of this uncertainty. Our creative organization is constantly on the prowl, looking for new backgrounds, new locales, new situations to springboard a television program series. As a matter of fact, we think the television buyer today is really more willing to accept a new idea than he was, say, five or ten years ago, regardless of the fact that westerns seem to be the open sesame to rating success.

For example, this year we produced a different kind of action program called "Cannonball." Why was "Cannonball" different? Basically, because it did not rely solely on action and impact to gain audience. We added a new quantity to syndication programming called human interest, a quantity which heretofore had been the almost sole province of network programs. We felt that by adding a family situation to an action series, it would help give the sponsor the identification which he constantly wants.

In our overseas production, we are also reaching into new areas of programming. "The Four Just Men," being jointly produced by the Jack Wrather Organization and Sapphire Films, Ltd., not only represents an innovation in casting four of the biggest names ever to appear in a continuing television series (Jack Hawkins, Dan Dailey, Richard Conte, Vittorio De Sica) but more importantly, we are presenting a new concept for adventure programming.

PUBLIC SERVICE HAS MANY FACETS

... And Good Entertainment Is One

By RALPH COHN

President of Screen Gems, Inc.

THE term "public service" has been used in our industry to describe any program—good, bad or indifferent—of a topical or educational nature. We have all seen programs which have been dull, pedantic and professionally inexcusable save for the fact that they fell into this "public service" category.

I believe such thinking renders a fundamental disservice to the meaning of the public's interest. The production of entertainment that every day delights, diverts and amuses millions is a genuine service to the public. Our industry has every reason to be proud of the job it has done in filling the increased leisure time of the people of the world with good, solid fun.

Yet, I still meet those who find it necessary to criticize our industry for the fact that it is in the business of manufacturing entertainment rather than some form of pseudo-uplift. They are, it seems, a little ashamed that our programs are regarded as "commercial" and that we are paid money by sponsors.

Let's stop being ashamed of the fact that many of us make sheer, unadulterated entertainment, designed for mass consumption. Night-time commercial television is not the concert hall or the lecture stage. It is the broadest possible medium for providing entertainment for millions.

Almost no sponsor has ever intentionally bought a program on the premise that it would be so highly specialized as to interest only a small audience, just as very few viewers have ever tuned in the second episode of a program that bored them the first time.

If we are really to serve our enormous public, we must give it more of what it indicates it wants—good, clean, solid entertainment, skillfully and colorfully presented.

On these terms, social good can also be fostered. A program like "Father Knows Best" is certainly 'entertainment.' Yet it has impressed upon its vast audience the importance of education, the need for safe-driving instruction for teen-agers, the values of well-rounded family life and other moral lessons. It never preaches these ideals; it demonstrates them within an entertaining dramatic framework.

How then can we best serve the public and meet our obligations to society? We must hire the best talents available, refuse to compromise with the quality of our productions, and engage in a continual process of imaginative creativity. We must keep our fingers on the public pulse, find out what the people want to see and give it to them in the best way we know how.

Night after night a wonderland of adventure and comedy is offered to people to relax and refresh them after a tough day. This is a magnificent public service.

* In view of the difficulty in a joint AM-FM operation in allocating FM operation expense separately from AM station operation expense, licensees of such stations were not required to report FM station expense separately. As a result, FM industry totals for expense and income are not available. AM-FM licensees, however, were requested to report separately the revenues, if any, attributable to FM station operation if such data were readily available. In only a few instances did AM-FM licensees state they were unable to segregate the FM revenues.

SESAC, INC.

By PAUL HEINECKE

President

IF the space allotted were in proportion to my enthusiasm for what has been accomplished by the SESAC organization in the year 1958, then this report to you would know no bounds.

SESAC, now in its twenty-eighth year of service to its publisher affiliates and its licensees, offers a highly diversified repertory which is contained in 315 different publishers' catalogs. It is because of the broad scope and usability of the SESAC repertory that one finds millions of SESAC performances on AM, TV, FM, motion pictures, phonograph records, transcription libraries, tapes, concert halls, opera houses, hotels, ballrooms, theaters and symphony halls.

In 1957, SESAC introduced its now famous "repertory recordings," all top-character performances of the SESAC copyrighted repertory. In that year, over 75,000 of these albums featuring the finest in popular, jazz, classical, country and western, religious, mood, polka, novelty and military and collegiate band selections were distributed gratis to the broadcasting industry in this country, Canada and Hawaii. In 1958, another 125,000 "repertory recording" EP albums were distributed free and, at this writing, about 25,000 favorable and enthusiastic written comments have been received attesting to their excellent quality, leading artists, distinctive renditions and repeated on-the-air performances.

The year past also brought about growth of another SESAC Service-product—the Special Series Programs. These are salable packages of scripts and discs centered around various national holidays, religious celebrations, sports events and just plain entertainment ideas. All Special Series Programs are available to stations on an outright sale basis. We're proud of the way in which these series are so carefully planned, written and produced. No wonder they've been a sellout in all instances and that during this past Christmastime, we were able to keep just one step ahead of old St. Nick himself.

In the new year, Sesac Recordings will be bringing many new personalities your way, e.g., Marco Rizo, star of Tico Records who literally breathes in Latin-American tempo; Webb Pierce, incomparable exponent of the country and western tune who has recorded twelve classic sacred songs for SESAC; the Don Elliott Quintet, masters of modern jazz who are of RCA and Fantasy fame; and by popular demand, those stars of Decca Records, the Anita Kerr Singers, recorded for the first time with string accompaniment.

We believe that our efforts to give increased value and greater programming facility will help bring to listening audiences everywhere what is truly "The Best Music in America."

BROADCAST MUSIC, INC.

By CARL HAVERLIN
President

BECAUSE it expresses our philosophy this year just as emphatically as it did in the past, we are repeating below our statement in previous years' RADIO ANNUAL AND TELEVISION YEARBOOK.

During each day of its existence, Broadcast Music, Inc. has adhered steadfastly to one basic principle—competition is healthy and necessary. Because of this credo, BMI operates as a competitive force in the field of performing rights. Because it believes in competition, BMI operates in a manner intended to benefit all composers, all writers, all music publishers, all users of music.

The result has been to establish an open door and an open market place for all creators of music and for all publishers of music. Benefits of the BMI policy continue to flow not only to well established publishers and writers, but to the newcomers who have come into the field since the creation of BMI.

In order to maintain a constantly growing source of music and to provide a steady challenge to the progressive composer, writer, and publisher, BMI has devoted its attention to all types of music. As a result, national, indeed world-wide, interest has been focused on fields of music once considered geographically limited or intellectually esoteric. The resultant democratization of musical elements has developed a truly American music, one which is made up of many forces, popular, country and western, rhythm and blues, concert. Because of this, the creators and the developers of these musical forces have found new opportunities.

Today, BMI is proud of the fact that so many publishers, composers and writers have found inspiration and remuneration in the open market place.

BMI begins its twentieth year of existence as it did its first . . . dedicated to the one basic principle—competition in music is as healthy and necessary as in any other field of American endeavor.

OFFICERS OF BMI: Sydney M. Kaye, Chairman of the Board, Vice President and General Counsel; Carl Haverlin, President; Robert J. # AMERICAN SOCIETY OF COMPOSERS AUTHORS AND PUBLISHERS

By STANLEY ADAMS
President

THE American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers is a non-profit organization founded in 1914 as a clearing house for the performing rights of the creators of music—both popular and ‘serious’—and their publishers.

Under the Federal Copyright Law of 1909, copyright owners are entitled to payment for their works whenever they are performed publicly for profit. Through ASCAP, any user of music is able to obtain at a single source the right to perform the works of more than 4200 composers and 1000 publishers who are members of the Society, at a minimum of expense and without the necessity of negotiating for each separate use.

The Society’s repertory is an extensive one, in both range and volume. It is a “Who’s Who” of the leading tunes on popularity charts, in Broadway shows and Hollywood films over the years. ASCAP’s light classical repertory includes the best-loved songs of world renown written in the past half century. It also includes country and folk music, church and sacred selections, as well as a catalog of much of our contemporary classical music—symphonic, chamber and choral works, and recital selections.

Radio and television broadcasters have access to this entire repertory when they obtain an ASCAP license. This license guarantees them a clearance on all ASCAP composers’ and publishers’ music at the same time that it provides for the members themselves a sustained livelihood from the works of their own creation.

The Society’s headquarters are located at 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, New York. It maintains twenty-three branch offices in major cities throughout the country.

The Society’s Board of Directors consists of twelve writer- and twelve publisher-members elected biennially by the writer- and publisher-membership respectively. Its officers are elected annually.
