A matter of principle

In 1960 the five CBS Owned television stations devoted nearly 14 million dollars worth of station time and facilities to non-network public affairs programs and announcements. The amount in itself is not of primary importance. But the principle behind it is. For the sum (an all-time high!) is a measure of the emphasis the five CBS Owned stations place on community service programming patterned to the highest production standards. The result is a wide variety of exceptional programs which won better than 40 awards and citations during the year. Information programs ranging from hour-long documentary "specials" broadcast during prime-time evening hours, to station editorials, to on-the-spot reports from the Congo and from many other top-interest locations around the world.

In a real sense, the stations' commercial success makes possible this wealth of public affairs programming. And thus guarantees the program balance which has always been a guiding principle of...

FOREWORD

THE DYNAMIC POWER inherent in the broadcasting industry which permits it to successfully meet every challenge, whether economic or technological, again is being convincingly demonstrated as this, the 24th annual edition of the RADIO ANNUAL-TELEVISION YEAR BOOK goes forward to its international readership.

THE INDUSTRY in the months intervening since the last RADIO ANNUAL-TELEVISION YEAR BOOK was published has faced up to a variety of perplexing and singularly complicated problems. All have either been solved or are in the process of solution. As a result the industry today continues to move ahead confidently, with its progress further advanced by the technological improvements and innovations emanating from the workshops of the scientists. The order of the day in broadcasting indeed is "Forward!"

THE RADIO-TELEVISION DAILY has been privileged to play its own informative role in the stirring events of the year, and this edition of the industry's acknowledged premiere reference work has been written, compiled, and edited in the same tradition of service and authority.

IT is the work of countless assistants and collaborators from all branches of the industry, and to all of them, our thanks and our deep appreciation.

PART OF THE 250,000 VISITORS TO RECENT WNAX-SPONSORED NATIONAL PLOWING CONTEST

FROM PLOWING TO PAGLIACCI

Each Peoples' station programs exclusively for the people of its own community. In the farm areas, WNAX (North and South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska); WRFD (Central Ohio); and KVTV-TV (South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska), are known, respected and yes, loved, because of their constant devotion to the needs and desires of their audiences. While in the sophisticated urban communities of WTTM (Trenton, N. J.), and WGAR (Cleveland), the listeners hear programs compatible with their ways of life. Around Fairmont, W. Va., WMMN, first in audience for many years, concentrates on satisfying its own home town friends. Thus Peoples stations program from plowing to Pagliacci —but no rock 'n roll, if you please.

Note: Chart percentages are averages compiled from all stations responding in the RAB survey. Figures are yardsticks for guidance only, for obviously, there is no such thing as an average U. S. Radio station. Variations can and do exist in the percentage of station business that various categories represent. Such specific station factors as market size, regional location, type of station, etc., are important influences.

PRECISION TIMING INSTRUMENTS

FOR RADIO TV • FILMS

Official Timers
CBS — NBC — ABC
Networks

Electronically tested

Scientifically proven

Exclusive, Non-breakable, "Coil Spring" Mechanism for Economy, Dependability, Unexcelled Accuracy. The result of 20 years of engineering research, Minerva "coil" construction assures endless timing precision with less wear or friction without need of costly adjustments or repairs under rugged continuous usage.

Lifetime Guarantee. Coils employed in Minerva Mechanisms are unconditionally guaranteed for the life-span of the timer against breakage or wear. In addition, should any Minerva timer fail to give satisfaction within one year because of defective material or workmanship, the timer will be completely repaired or replaced without charge.

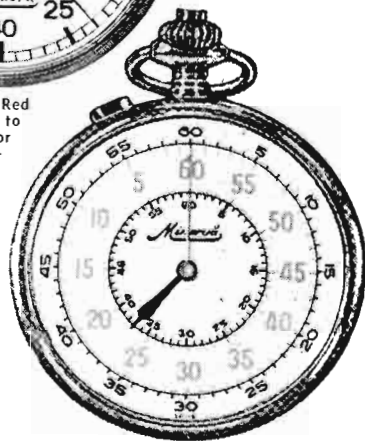

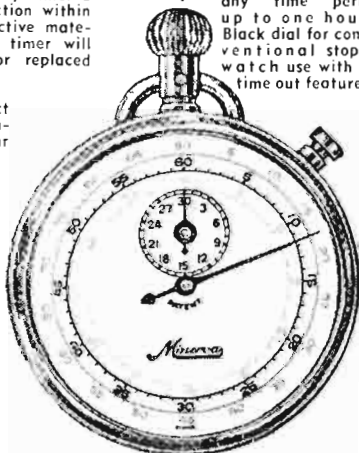

10-Days Free Trial. Select any Minerva timing instrument and try it under your own working conditions for a full ten days. If it does not serve your purposes as well or better than any other instrument, simply return it. There will be no charge, no obligation.

Model 222

For "On the Air"! Red dial gives "time left to go" without written or mental calculations—sweep hand in seconds, small hand in minutes. Easily set for any time period up to one hour. Black dial for conventional stopwatch use with time out feature.

Models 106F—106

For Film-making, Filmmeter and Fifth-Second Timer! This specially designed timer has regular fifth-second scale, plus 90-ft and 36-ft per min. scales to register footage for 35mm. and 16 mm. film. Long hand completes one revolution in 60 seconds, small hand registers up to 30 minutes. Time out feature. Perfect fly-back guaranteed for life. Model 106 has fifth-second scale only. Both available in regular or large size.

Models 105PN—107N

Full minute span with more definition on the minutes! Single dial reference for both minutes and seconds retains the mechanics familiar to Radio and TV but this Minerva timer is much easier to read and use. For spot timing, timing program segments, etc. Two models with alternate methods of Start-Stop-Start flyback to zero.

Write, Dept. TV, RIGHT NOW for complete catalog.

STORER BROADCASTING COMPANY

33 years of community service

WHEN DO YOU FREEZE A FORMAT?

The answer is simple — never!

At least, in 33 years, no Storer Station has been able to manage it.

Public preference changes too fast and so do each community's needs. That is why every Storer Station is locally oriented to the particular community it serves.

Only by knowing community problems from day to day have we been able to help solve them. Only through constant check on listener and viewer preferences have we been able to build loyal, responsive audiences

Keeping the public informed and entertained, and working for a better community is a day-to-day, often an hour-to-hour, even minute-to-minute job.

We've never found a way to format community service. It's too big... too fluid...too much of a responsibility to be frozen — even for one day.

Free Society Holds Greater Broadcasting Responsibility

By LE ROY COLLINS
President, National Association of Broadcasters

A POSITIVE program centered around capturing and serving the public interest is the answer to our current and future broadcasting problems. In order for this to take on proper perspective our government relations must be strengthened, we must have a more unified system of good public relations, and improved broadcasting standards. All of these must be accomplished in and by the industry itself.

Unless we set out immediately to reach these goals through constructive methods and logical standards, our industry will suffer tremendously. We must become involved more effectively in improving the kind and quality of programming, the diversity of programming in prime time, the extent and nature of advertising, and the machinery for assuring, in a positive sense, self discipline in the industry.

It is up to us to act now! Delay or neglect will lead to chaos in broadcasting, with the American public as loser. Such a situation would be disastrous. What should be done is to eliminate obvious mistakes. Every broadcaster must contribute, and strive to improve upon the industry's relationship with the federal government and the American people. Our free society must make use of its methods of communication.

Freedom depends upon the aid of electronic communication. It will continue to exist in America and will grow throughout the world only with our assistance. This is why our primary concern in NAB is to help make broadcasting a greater force in American life. To do this, we are determined to help improve the quality of broadcasting through the efforts of the broadcasters themselves, and to shield the profession from those who would destroy any of our basic American freedoms.

There is no national formula which we may follow, as broadcasting needs differ from state to state. There are significant and overriding values which are contained in all methods or standards of communications. It is the highest among these that I am determined that NAB shall find and serve. These goals take us above the average trade association ideals and involve public service and patriotic motivational concern.

The ideal situation is for the broadcasters to act together, on their own, correcting and fortifying current standards. Once aware of this, the American public will begin to appreciate and cooperate with what we are doing. Program standards will diversify. An appeal to radio and Tv sponsors will eliminate the violent, the cheap, the vulgar and the lewd. An uplifting of film production, network programming, and station programming will create a new and worthwhile medium.

Such a medium would include more outstanding drama, fine music programs, public information services; programming which will educate as well as satisfy the demands of our audience. Built upon the distinguished programming that is currently available, such a venture would be a cooperative one. Networks, independent stations, and advertisers would all contribute in this new American challenge.

The broadcaster must give a full measure of his talent to deserve a professional status. He must recognize that his ever-increasing power in our free society carries with it a greater responsibility to serve.

Communications should become our greatest weapon in our fight for freedom.

New Broadcasting Frontiers Offer Unlimited Challenge

By NEWTON N. MINOW
Chairman, Federal Communications Commission

BROADCASTING has yet to realize its full potential. Intelligent communications via the air waves is a most integral part of the new American frontier. What better time is there for the industry to arrive at a point where full potential will begin to be realized by the broadcasters themselves. Sights must be set on a higher programming level.

All this does not mean that drastic revisions or complete shakeups in the business or in the FCC table of organizations itself are about to take place. It means that we, the broadcasters, must work harder.

To criticize current policies is one method of determining just what is to be done. Broadcasters must give the public more credit for their fundamental intelligence. The American people are eager for growth, intellectual growth in the mass media. We must approach our audience with the basic idea that they are able to hold an interest in a higher type format.

The FCC has both the duty and the power to insist that broadcasting give the public more in the way of programming than it has in the past. It is quite apparent that although some broadcasters do not meet the responsibility in an industry that is most responsible, there are still large numbers of influential communicators who are eager to do something. Many employed in the industry at very high pay scales have requested to work with the FCC in its demand for better "on the air" policy. A decrease in their wage scale would make no difference to these outstanding individuals providing constructive motivation could become a reality. As long as there is an interest there is no doubt that tremendous strides can be made.

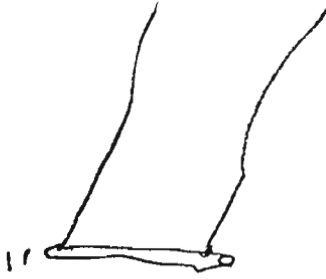

Ratings are perhaps one of the greatest handicaps in the industry. Something is wrong with the various services so widely used. If a station offers nothing but "Western Thrillers" for two or three years due to favorable ratings it is understandable that such a station may have serious problems when it applies for renewal. There is going to be a much closer scrutiny of promise versus performance.

Increased monitoring of individual stations will be another vital factor. Stations must begin to measure up to a fresh quality with decent intelligent content. Encouragement of an operation of permanent pay television to compete with free TV in line with broader tests of this new medium, will be stressed.

Carefully planned and conscientious broadcasters will realize that the development of local shows and local talent is most important. Some broadcasters may be surprised to learn that controversy or discussion of top national or governmental issues is a very marketable commodity despite those who are afraid of it and want to stick to a program of brief headlines.

The presidential debates certainly indicated that the medium of television was being used to its highest capacity. Everyone was given an equal chance to participate fully in the democratic process. These debates clearly indicate that public service broadcasting can be a provocative commentary or discussion of events of the day rather than just dry lecturing by some college professor.

The new frontier in broadcasting offers a stimulating challenge to men and women dedicated to public service and the media of mass communications.

FIRST: GET CLEAR DIRECTIONS...

Finding and fashioning the right show to meet the client's objectives and the audience he wants to reach—that's the job of 64 TV pros at McCann-Erickson. We call it "selective programming." And it works! The 210 million visits* to American homes our clients made in a recent week should tell how well.

Promotion's Key Role In Broadcasting Growth

By JOHN F. HURLBUT

President, Broadcasters' Promotion Association, Inc.

SOME time ago, I was asked to address two consecutive sessions of a broadcast management class on Promotion. Taking a long look at what one does and has done for a living is a revealing experience. Describing a many-faceted profession in 100 minutes of classroom time isn't easy.

But preparation for these classes revealed in sharp focus two facts of broadcast business life: the rapid growth of Promotion, and its key role in our industry.

Time was when the broadcast promotion man or woman had a rather indefinite job assignment — those chores that no one else wanted to take on. And much to the credit of many of today's veteran promotion people, they molded careers from seemingly unrelated miscellany.

1961's Promotion Manager is more than a "publicity man", or an "exploitation expert" or a "copy writer". He is a key executive with all the implications and demands of that term. He must plan as well as make deals, must create strategy and get things done. He is part of the management team and a skilled specialist.

Does this mean that he is a jack-of-all-trades? Not at all. It does mean that the Promotion Manager has an appreciation for the blend of the creative and the practical that is modern broadcasting.

Now that our profession has matured, what are the man-sized challenges that face promotion people in the years ahead?

In advertising, should media which are first in public attention be content with less than 25 per cent of the advertising dollar? This concern of broadcast ownership and sales management is an equal concern of promotion managership. It is up to the Promotion Manager to find new ways to demonstrate to more sellers that broadcasting media can move their products.

Such industry growth cannot be accomplished by individual station or group promotion alone. Our industry has to present a solid front. I have long contended that station Promotion people ought to meet at least once each six weeks to discuss strategy for getting revenue into our media.

But the most successful financial operation cannot continue without a license. The terms of a broadcasting license are as much a concern of the Promotion Manager as the General Manager and Owner. "Image" and "government regulation" are favorite topics of discussion at seminars, conventions and over lunch tables. As long as broadcasting stations are licensed by government, it is important that all government officials and members of Congress, as well as the FCC, are informed about what broadcasting is accomplishing. If their only source of information is mail from pressure and special interest groups, we are in trouble.

The Promotion Manager can and does contribute most positively to the "image" area. First, he can suggest apt topics for documentary or public service type programming. Secondly, he can reach those groups with information having to do with the nature of our business, as well as specific promotion of special interest programming.

In today's and tomorrow's broadcasting, Promotion has a defined role and an important one. It helps give a broadcasting organization purpose and direction.

To you the advertiser, broadcast promotion has special significance. Not so much for what it can do for your specific campaign at the moment, but for the long range strength Promotion gives the station you are buying.

I'm proud to be a Promotion Man, proud of Promotion's accomplishments, and I'm excited by its challenges.

Quality Radio Is Vital In Sustained Success

By ROBERT R. PAULEY
ABC Vice Pres. in Charge of Radio Network

ONE of the strangest things to me in the development of language is that a cliché becomes just that because it expresses a strong thought in a strong way. However with use and re-use, the phrase loses the power if not the meaning for which it was originally intended.

One example: "It takes money to make money."

No one that I know of disagrees with this statement. But many in the radio business have said the words then monetarily retrenched even further in efforts to make a profit while losing sight of the vital necessity in sustained success—quality.

Some have shown a profit by this method. But in so doing, they seem to have altered the shape and power of radio. At the first sign of trouble for radio a few years ago, expenditures were cut to make up for the very real loss of revenue; a necessary step perhaps then. But in many cases this procedure continues and broadcasters are content to remember the good old days rather than work for a few good new days.

It does take money to make money. And at ABC Radio, we believe it also takes money to provide the service that makes a radio network what it should be—a vital high quality entertainment medium.

At ABC, broadcasting means entertainment. As broadcasters we realize the full importance of furnishing the public with the best news gathering and reporting possible. The increased emphasis on news at ABC Radio in the past six months is tangible evidence of this realization.

But first of all, we are providers of entertainment. For 27 years now Don McNeill has been providing morning entertainment to ABC Radio listeners of the "Breakfast Club." But one of the reasons that both first and second quarter "Breakfast Club" sales are up this year is that we have never stopped trying to find new ways to make the program even more appealing to the radio audience, and a good solid show is worth any additional money it might take.

A substantial money investment was also made by ABC Radio last year with the introduction of "Flair." A daily, 55-minute, afternoon program consisting of 11 segments, each lasting approximately 90 seconds, "Flair" counts among its roster of stars Theodore Bikel, Jonathan Winters, Margaret Truman, Harry Golden, Johnny Desmond, Fran Allison, Boris Karloff and Wayne & Shuster.

The money paid was worth the results. Affiliates from coast to coast jumped on the "Flair"—wagon and at the end of the year the program was being carried on 268 stations. Advertiser interest consistently increased and we anticipate impressive "Flair" sales gains during 1961.

Last year ABC Radio alone was willing to pay a record sum for radio rights to the Patterson-Johansson Heavyweight Championship Fight. With 61 million listeners—the largest audience in the history of advertising—tuning in, ABC Radio and the fight sponsors all found that the return was worth the investment. For the March 13 fight this year, ABC Radio spent even more money for the radio rights and quickly found sponsors.

Spending money is of course not the only answer to increasing the audience penetration and earning power of network radio. You must take into consideration the aims and desires of your affiliates and the public.

No station—and no listener—really wants a program service that reflects a philosophy of cost-cutting and minimal effort. Rather, from the news to entertainment programs that reflect quality and maximum effort will bring the best audience.

It takes some extra effort, some patience and it may take some spending, but remember, "It takes money to make money!"

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK . . .

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK – millions of young adults meet entertaining people like Dick Van Dyke, Jonathan Winters, Wayne & Schuster, Margaret Truman, Bonnie Prudden, and so many other fascinating personalities. (That's "Flair" on ABC Radio).

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK – 60,000,000 Americans are right on the spot at a sporting event such as the Patterson-Johannson fight (an ABC Radio exclusive).

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK – every radio listener is kept in constant touch with the nation and the world. Reporters and news analysts such as Alex Dreier, John Cameron Swayze, Edward P. Morgan, Bill Shadel, Paul Harvey work at ABC Radio – all through the day, all through the night. That's because Americans must know the news. And they know because there is an ABC Radio Network.

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK – more people have a better understanding of the men and women who make national and international news through such fine public service programs as Presidential Press Conference, Issues and Answers, and From Capitol Hill.

BECAUSE THERE IS AN ABC RADIO NETWORK – Don McNeill's Breakfast Club helps millions to get a happy start every day . . . every day for 28 years. Yes, it's an everyday fact: local ABC Radio stations will keep giving America the best in public service, the best in entertainment, the best in news, the best in sports, because there is an ABC RADIO NETWORK.

Network Radio Faces Future With Ideas And Enthusiasm

By ARTHUR HULL HAYES
President, CBS Radio

THIS year we witness the assembling of a new political administration in Washington. New policy-makers there have confidence and enthusiasm in their favor as they set to work guiding a nation. Network radio faces the future with equal enthusiasm, as its ideas and innovations operate to meet economic, cultural and scientific developments of today and tomorrow.

The radio network business, in a state of frequent flux since the start of television's inroads on audience and sales in 1950, has now evolved to a point where it is once again stable and secure. We are back with solid realities . . . and pleasant ones, too.

At CBS Radio, the reality is this: a carefully-planned program formula that has been shaped and strengthened to consolidate the interests of advertiser, affiliated stations, networks and audience. The result is a modified Program Consolidation Plan, inaugurated late in 1960, that enables CBS Radio to feed much more news and information to stations, while retaining personalities that have set CBS apart—Arthur Godfrey, Garry Moore, Art Linkletter, Bing Crosby and Rosemary Clooney. Their kind of entertainment is smoothly integrated with nineteen factual new CBS Radio Features and regular sessions with Lowell Thomas, Eric Sevareid, Bob Trout, Douglas Edwards and the rest of the distinguished CBS News staff.

Listener reaction to the new schedule has been more than favorable. Advertisers are constantly showing more interest. And stations have come through as we hoped they would. The rate of affiliate applications conjures up memories of the pre-1948 era.

The principles of supply and demand indicate success for a product that fills or fulfills an intense need. Our programming is of course a product. And a large part of our success today depends on how our product meets the needs of our stations. This product is many things at CBS. It is entertainment; it is music; but most of all, it is information and news. And that is no accident. Radio stations preceding 1950 wanted one kind of programming. Since those days, the nation has undergone many socio-economic changes. It is no surprise, then, that today's stations seek something very different.

They want news and information because of their added value in a world of Cold War and Hot Prospects. They want these services from us because (1) network radio continues to perform them best and (2) stations cannot begin to provide such coverage and background for themselves.

Clearly, that puts us—first and foremost—in the business of supplying national and international news; special events coverage; analysis; and sports.

Naturally enough, this change in the complexion of radio networking has been accompanied by progress in other areas of American life. The growing body of intelligentsia has increasingly sought more outlets for constructive opinion and debate and basic knowledge; public affairs in television has finally engendered what amounts to mass audience acceptance; publishers' figures relate the solid and still-growing sales rate of non-fiction; good music—represented, incidentally, on CBS Radio by the New York Philharmonic and the Cleveland Orchestra—has experienced a renaissance; and good newspapers seem to carry more informational "meat" than ever before.

Network radio is an integral part of American life and the American household. It is inevitable that a change in the focus of our living should be reflected in the nation's radio programming. That is proper because we broadcast to satisfy while we inform and entertain the public.

"People To People" Radio Pays Off At Local Level

By SIDNEY J. WOLF
President, Keystone Broadcasting System

THE Keystone network in 1960 showed a 25% increase in billings from our national and regional advertisers, and we think this points most affirmatively to a rising interest in radio and particularly in the Keystone brand of national radio at the grass roots level.

Sales gains are always significant in determining patterns and predictions. But there are also two other major factors which make me think the new year will be a top selling year for KBS and for our advertisers.

We serviced some 80 major advertisers during 1960, and many of them were new to radio and new to our grass roots concept of radio. But I have also seen a marked new interest among many blue-chip advertisers in the C and D counties where Keystone is dominant. Clients are using our stations in these markets to reach listeners in a "people to people" radio effort which pays off at the local point of sale. Almost 90% of our 1,120 Keystone radio stations are located in these C and D counties, penetrating deep into the heart of every community. And 75% of our affiliates are in single-station markets.

Marketing admen—that special class of professionals who work with media as well as with markets and strategy—are more keenly aware this year of the importance of these markets. We think this is why they have bought Keystone facilities in such quantity.

For example, the final quarter of last year showed that six major automotive concerns (and many more different automotive brands of cars and trucks) were using KBS facilities. Another significant KBS buyer group is eight farm market advertisers, producing merchandise and services usable by the farmer as a worker and by him and his family as general consumers.

These same marketing-media experts are also knowledgeable about how to reach the grass roots consumer with sales effectiveness as well as with quantity coverage. A standout in this kind of imaginative radio buying is a long-time KBS client, the Pet Milk Co. of St. Louis. It and its agency, Gardner Advertising, have developed (and other KBS advertisers do this, too) two transcribed shows of their own tailor-made to two important segments of the total listening audience: the Negro and the farmer.

We think many more radio advertisers will follow this lead of pin-pointing a selective audience, and that they'll back the radio buy with the local-level merchandising aids furnished by Keystone.

General advertisers—such as cigarettes and soaps—are using our Keystone facilities to reach a more general audience comprised of these groups as a mass market. Keystone has as components of its 1,120-station network three divisions: farm, Negro and college.

The farm network of 884 affiliates reaches 77% of all U. S. farms; the Negro network of 463 radio stations, 72% of the total U. S. Negro population; the college network of 355 stations, covering 490 colleges and universities with an enrollment of 752,056 students.

On the basis of a striking 25% sales gain in 1960—a year when many advertisers "held back" because of election uncertainty—I think we can expect this year an even greater sales gain and the investment of many more radio dollars by business and industry at all levels of advertising.

Broadcasting Managements' Future Must Be Planned Today!

By ROBERT F. HURLEIGH
President, Mutual Broadcasting System

BROADCASTING came into its own last year. Its foundations were firmly established, its roots deeply implanted.

In one fell swoop — and by virtue of its emphasis on public interest, public affairs and news programming — it proved that both its media have infinite impact on the American public, so positive an impact as to create an unprecedented close Presidential election with the highest outpouring of voters in all American history.

Broadcasting no longer need take a back seat to anyone — particularly its outspoken critics. But it must cement its prestige position by providing means whereby the same creative forces which provided the pedestal can be sustained down through the years.

There is one particular area in the entire broadcasting field that needs pattern-changing. This is the development and sponsorship of younger talents to eventually replace those in managerial drivers' seats. This must be done immediately — to keep that steady infusion of new plasma, new creativity and newer viewpoints so necessary to the pyramidal projection of its various fortes.

The technical operations in both broadcasting media are well adjusted to the constant need and flow of engineering personnel. Technical schools on both university and vocational levels have mushroomed throughout the country with a steady outpouring of trained personnel as a direct result.

But for the management side — particularly creative management — there are no such schools and there is no steady crop of young executives who readily can step into the pioneers' shoes to keep the treadmill turning properly. Accountants are not broadcasters — and neither are attorneys. Yet, in too many instances we are finding trainees for pedestrian, formula-ridden corporate posts becoming key management personnel in a field predicated on imagination, creativity and extreme mobility and fluidity in action.

Nor is there any pat formula or curriculum that now can be prescribed as an educational guidepost for future management personnel. Perhaps the simplest technique to follow would be: (1) a good general college background with basic understandings of cultural developments, history, sociology and the arts; (2) a broad understanding of the principles serving as the foundation stones for formulation of the Federal Communications Act and the decrees and mandates issued by the F.C.C. under that statute; (3) a general understanding of good business practices; (4) a basic desire to be in a service profession and be outstanding and lead in that profession; (5) a pleasing personality and (6) a flair for imaginative, creative thinking.

These are merely suggested prerequisites. As broadcasting increases its impact on community life, becomes more integrated into internal functions of communities and more widely used as basic communications arms specialized skills will have to be developed forcefully to cope with broadened horizons. Broadcasters could do well to adopt the practice of major industry, which now invests in its future leaders at the high school level. Such thinking would provide milestones most important to the future of the broadcasting industry, too.

'Sounds Of The '60's' Bears Significance At NBC in 1961

By WILLIAM K. McDANIEL
Exec. Vice President in Charge, NBC Radio Network

THE year 1960 was one of the most significant in the history of NBC Radio. On January 4th of that year we broke sharply with a traditional broadcasting formula as old as the networks themselves and launched a new programming concept designed to meet the urgencies of our fast-changing times, as well as the stepped-up requirements of our affiliate stations and the advertisers. We called the new format "The Sound of the Sixties."

Our new programming pattern was adapted after years of experimentation and exhaustive discussion with our affiliates. Faced with a decade which promised worldwide changes and news developments at a rate never before experienced, NBC Radio geared its programming accordingly. We dropped the out-moded "soap operas" and variety shows from the NBC schedule and built "The Sound of the Sixties" around such services as "Monitor" and "News on the Hour," adding "Emphasis" and expanding our schedule of sports, special events, information and public service programs.

By the second quarter of 1960 the new format was proving its effectiveness in every way. For the first time in over eight years, the NBC Radio Network was in a profit position and a chain reaction of progress had set in.

Because the new program structure was better designed to meet the needs of the NBC Radio affiliates, station clearances went up from an approximate 80% to an average of better than 95%. This increased advertiser acceptance, permitted rate increases and dramatically improved ratings, all of which in turn raised the payment of compensation to the stations and consolidated the network's profit position. At the year's end, NBC Radio had enjoyed its most successful twelve months since the early fifties—a full year in the black.

As important as 1960 was as "the year of the breakthrough" for the NBC Radio Network, its bearing on 1961 is fully as significant.

NBC Radio entered the New Year in the black with a profit already guaranteed for the first quarter. By the middle of January, "News on the Hour" was sold out for the entire year and the Network had more business on the books for the second quarter than it has had for the last four years.

Based on the solid foundation established during 1960, the NBC Radio Network plans to continue its expansion in the direction of news, special events, public information, public service and sports. (During 1960 NBC Radio broadcast special programs covering world crises in Cuba, the Congo, Algiers, Laos and the U.N.; the Conventions, Presidential Campaigns, the election and the Inauguration; the summer and winter Olympics and many other events of national interest.)

In 1961 we plan to make even wider use of the NBC News Department's unexcelled facilities around the world. Immediate contact with all our affiliate stations will be maintained on a moment-to-moment basis through the use of the Hotline Control Box which NBC originated in 1956.

Another major project during 1961 will be the introduction of new and timely features and production techniques into "Monitor." The "Monitor" service has become so universally recognized by affiliates and advertisers alike that we feel it deserves our continuing special attention.

The NBC Radio Network faces the year 1961 with a programming format which has proved itself, meeting every test throughout the last year. As further evidence that the course we chose in January, 1960 was in tune with the times, others in the industry are beginning to move in the same direction NBC Radio pioneered over a year ago.

NBC

Week after week, NBC Radio Network continues to deliver the largest audience in radio today. No doubt about it, NBC's new (and widely imitated) brand of programming is what attracts today's listening public. Just look what's happened to NBC audiences since the new schedule went into effect. Monitor Sports—up 11%. Monitor News—up 24%. News On The Hour—up 14%. Emphasis—up 28%. All of which may account for the fact that NBC now carries nearly half of all sponsored network time.*

*All figures based on unduplicated homes delivered in four weeks by typical schedules.—A.C. Nielsen, Jan. vs. Nov. 1960.

ROOM AT THE TOP

Successful advertising campaigns feature spot at the top of the list... the only medium that allows you to reach — with maximum impact — the prospective customers you must reach, pinpointing only the markets you're in. Top advertisers get high return with low investment and there's no waste.

Scores of success stories in H-R's files attest to the sensational job spot advertising does.

Your nearest H-R man will be happy to give you a fast, first-rate fill-in.

Behind the brow of the pilot, knowledge won through years of experience . . . skill born of doing.

In our business, too, 15 years' experience have given us a background that makes the time buyer's job easier . . . lessens the chance of costly errors.

Such experience must be earned. And there's no substitute for it.

Station Representatives Association, Inc.

By LEWIS H. AVERY

President

THE Station Representatives Association, Inc. was founded in September 1947, by a substantial group of radio representatives, for the sole purpose of promoting the use of radio advertising among advertisers and agencies, as well as protecting the welfare of the representative firms themselves. Later the association was extended to include television representatives as well.

Over the years, the association has been involved in a number of projects and activities beneficial to its members, their represented stations, and the rest of the radio and television industry. Listed below is a partial list of some of the major projects and activities with which the association has been identified:

Successfully initiated action before the FCC to get the network spot representation organizations out of the representation business.

Prepared and issued a Spot Radio Estimator, which enabled agencies to determine the cost of a spot campaign.

Prepared and distributed a booklet titled "Spot Broadcasting Lets You Decide."

Conducted spot radio clinics among stations represented by member firms.

Actively campaigned and established standards now almost universally accepted for television ID commercials.

Established and carried out a Crusade for spot Radio Campaign.

Instigated and actively campaigned for the formation of what is now TvB.

Worked with the AAAA on the Nielsen coverage studies.

Prepared and presented a slide presentation on spot radio to agencies, advertisers and stations.

Actively worked with NARTB Code Review Board on television code matters.

Established a projection formula for use with the A. C. Nielsen coverage reports.

Instigated a campaign and worked closely with the AAAA in establishing standards of art work in TV commercials.

Established a system of reporting dollar volume figures in spot radio, whereby it was possible to estimate total dollar volume for all radio.

Established a system for mailing to stations, known as operations desk, which has been accepted and is being used by practically every TV station in the business.

Established a timebuyer and advertiser mailing list, which is currently maintained by SRA, and is regarded as one of the most up-to-date lists in the business. (4000 agency personnel; 100 advertisers).

Prepared and distributed a booklet entitled "The Story of the Spot Salesman and You" to all agencies, stations, government personnel and other interested individuals.

Prepared and presented a slide presentation titled "Prospects On A Silver Platter" to leading advertising agencies in New York and Chicago, as well as advertisers.

Successfully established the "Silver Nail Time Buyer of the Year" Award, and the "Gold Key" award. (The award program has been enlarged to include the "Chicago Time Buyer of the Year" award.)

Has actively campaigned against the bartering and brokering of time in both radio and television.

Maintains a complete and up-to-date list of all representative firms and stations represented by them.

Has devised new contract forms for both radio and television, and is currently conducting a campaign to establish these common or standard forms in the business.

A campaign started by SRA is currently under way to get stations to adopt a one rate policy.

The Association presently has under way a project to establish a central source of information for competitive advertising on a current basis, as well as a campaign to enlarge samples and reduce the number of ARB and Nielsen reports.

PS
PERSONALITY SCOPE

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL RADIO STATIONS:

Thanks to the 1,437 radio stations who are now using our service. We want you to know that we are dedicating ourselves to putting radio in the strongest position of any communications medium, through our new, exclusive-basis, star program service: Celebrity Fives - five-minute daily radio programs featuring the best, top-name talent available from Hollywood, Broadway and TV in unique format shows - to give your stations national prestige, increased income and increased listenership.

Starting May 1, 1961, over 1,000 radio stations began programming my first Celebrity Fives show, "Ask Eddie Cantor". Stars for whom we expect to produce shows during this year include such names as Walter Slezak, Peter Lorre, Jacques Bergerac, Faye Emerson, Mary Margaret McBride, and many others.

We will be completely scheduled when our shows are programmed on their exclusive, one-station-per-market basis in every city in the country. If Celebrity Fives are not already being programmed in your city, write and I'll tell you how you can receive this exclusive service for your station at no charge to you, and I'll also send you an audition transcription.

is only as good as the talker, and the talkers on one New York radio station bring entertaining and articulate conversation for more than 20 hours a day to America's largest station audience. A recommendation of your product by these personalities means a marked increase in sales. That's why, year after year, more advertisers use this radio station than any other in New York! The next time you buy radio, why not make it the one station where talk gets results — WOR-RADIO 710/fm 98.7/An RKO General Station

What Kansas Citizens Say About

KUDL

Put fun in your days
 Tune the KUDDLE dee jays!
 Get the news and the music in LIVELIER ways!

June Landrith
 1209 E. Gregory, K.C.

In Kudlville
 The dee jays ratel
 The tunes they play
 Are really great!

Tim Gomez
 551 Lowell, K.C.

For entertainment
 Modern style
 Tune 1380
 On your dial

THOMAS PAINE

would have been "in his element" at WPTR

Tom Paine had a dedicated sense of responsibility. So has WPTR. He'd have loved it here.

WPTR takes a more active part in the promotion of Public Service than perhaps any radio station in America. It plays music, of course, but news comes first. It believes radio is primarily a media of communications and that it is more effective in many areas than print could ever hope to be.

WPTR originated "Action—Central News" This concept of instantaneous round the world coverage plus mobile unit local coverage is now being used (title and all) by over 100 major radio stations coast to coast.

But more—WPTR not only covers the news—it says what it thinks about it, too. And it says it in the most independent language of any independent in the business. This is GRASS ROOTS RADIO AT ITS BEST and perhaps why WPTR is the best listened to station in the market.

Perhaps that's why it has more local advertising than the next 3 stations combined; more total advertising than the next 2 stations put together.

3 CULTURAL GROUPS COMPOSE NEW YORK'S MASS MARKET

Five and one half million people in metro New York have cultural affinities to the Spanish-speaking, Italian, and Negro communities.

WADO has oriented its programming to reach this mass audience in depth, with the dignity due each group and a recognition of their potential in our economy.

Only WADO reaches the seventeen county area which embraces this constantly expanding audience.

BEST WAY TO EMBRACE THE NEW YORK NEGRO COMMUNITY...

“LIB”

it up!

More "Negro Stations" pick up more special service programs from WLIB than from any other station in America. Such is its prestige and integrity! A mark of distinction deeply deserved, for year after year WLIB has striven to be not solely the voice of entertainment but the voice of conscience for its community as well.

This honesty of purpose has consistently given WLIB by far the largest share of the listening Negro Community in greater Metropolitan New York.

Advertisers, too, have seen the results of this distinctive type of programming. That's why more national advertisers place more business on this station than on any other Negro station in Metropolitan New York.

Call WLIB for the facts today. See why more time-buyers say if you want to increase your sales in this million and a half market all you have to do is "LIB IT UP"

Where do New Yorkers turn for the best in music? To WQXR, of course. America's Number One Good Music Station is the favorite of more than 1,250,000 metropolitan area families. And a favorite of many of America's biggest advertisers, too. They use WQXR to make profitable sales to better-income families in the world's biggest market.

STATUES ON THE SCHUYLKILL portray early American history for plaza strollers and thousands of motorists who get in and out of town along beautiful East River Drive. Many have their radios on. Many of the many are dialed to 610.

Mr. & Mrs. Metrodelphia live with history, both in ancient inheritances, and modern interpretations like the statuary above, in Philadelphia's Ellen Philips Samuel Memorial. For history in the making, Metrodelphians turn to WIP, attentive to the area's life and cultural development for 40 years. (Our fm station, already carrying U.N. proceedings, will transmit all presidential news conferences.) Now the added impact of Metropolitan's new concept is rapidly bringing WIP to the foremost audience position in Philadelphia. Many advertisers are using WIP to make sales history. WIP, Metrodelphia, Pa.

1961 Big Year For Canadian Association of Broadcasters

By T. J. ALLARD
Executive V.P., CAB

A MILESTONE of 1960 was the Board of Broadcast Governors' blessing of the first privately-owned television network to be allowed in Canada. The license was granted to S. W. Caldwell Limited Toronto who was unopposed in his application to the Board.

Perhaps more attention was paid to research this year than in any other year in broadcasting's history. The most ambitious project is the Communications Research project being undertaken for Canadian broadcasting at the University of British Columbia. This project was initiated as a memorial to four broadcasting pioneers—Harold Carson; F. H. Elphicke, A. A. Murphy and Harry Sedgwick.

The C.A.B. has donated $20,000 to this project, and a total of $300,000 is expected for the fund in toto so that the Communications project can be financed in perpetuity.

The Communications project will be designed to find out what impact radio and TV programs have on people, and why; to what extent these reactions are predictable because of what the people are, rather than what the programs are; basic audience composition, etc.

Another research project which was launched this year was the special study on the French language market, which was undertaken in co-operation with the French language regional association.

Another research project was the complete survey of the buying and selling methods actually or potentially employed in the broadcasting industry. This survey was undertaken by the firm Woods, Gordon of Toronto for the C.A.B.

The C.A.B. also had a committee under the Chairmanship of Mr. Reo Thompson investigate talent and personnel training. In addition, there were many liaison committees such as the CAB/CAAA/ACA Liaison Committee consisting of Mr. R. T. Snelgrove, Mr. K. D. Soble, Mr. J. A. Dupont, Mr. D. A. Gourd and Mr. A. Waters.

The C.A.B. presented four important briefs during 1960. One was presented to the Ministers of Finance and National Revenue asking that broadcasting stations be exempt from application of sales tax. Another brief, dealing with political broadcasting, was submitted to the House of Commons Standing Committee on Elections and Privileges. A brief was also submitted to the House of Commons Committee on Broadcasting, and to the Board of Broadcast Governors concerning radio regulations.

The Code of Ethics approved by the C.A.B. has now been printed and copies suitable for framing will be sent out to stations who have applied for adherence.

On the annual meeting front, in addition to regional annual meetings, there was the C.A.B. annual meeting held in Quebec City in March. Another highlight of the year was the meeting of the Radio-Television News Directors Association which met in Canada for the first time in 1960.

Radio week was held again this year to inform the public of the informative and entertaining qualities of radio. Promotion kits were sent out from the C.A.B. Toronto office featuring spots; idea books; fact sheets, etc. The Television Section of C.A.B. held its Fourth Annual Television Seminar in Toronto in April.

The total membership of The Canadian Association of Broadcasters is now 163 radio and 49 television members, plus 66 associates.

Canadian Television Continues Its Growth

By JULES LAROCHELLE
Radio-TV Daily, Canadian Bureau

TELEVISION has swept Canada by storm. This is more strongly emphasized than ever this year as new privately owned stations have either begun or are getting ready to begin operations in Canada's largest cities heretofore served solely by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation stations.

Television programs can now be received by over 93 percent of all Canadian homes which are being served by a total of 74 stations, at latest count, not including a number of satellite outlets.

The number of stations has grown from only two, back in September, 1952, to 74 (17 CBC-owned stations and 57 privately owned stations); the number of Canadian homes with TV receivers has increased from 4 percent of all homes in 1952 to 80 percent, according to the last official report. As of January 1 this year, it is estimated that TV homes in Canada have attained 83 percent coverage.

Within a few years, according to some sources connected with the industry, ownership of TV sets should reach close to the 100 percent mark.

In brief, television set ownership in Canada has leaped from 4 percent of total households in 1952, to 84 percent of total households as of March 31, 1960. The number of TV stations in operation in the same period has grown from 2 to 74, and sales of TV receivers have increased from 140,000 to 3,931,000.

The two provinces leading in set ownership are the richest and most heavily populated—Ontario and Quebec, with the former enjoying a slight lead. In Ontario, 88 percent of the total number of households are provided with 1,405,000 sets. In Quebec, 98 percent of the total number of households own 1,000,000 sets.

The smallest number of sets are on Prince Edward Island (15,000), covering 62 percent of total households. Next is Newfoundland, with a total of 50,000 sets, representing 56 percent of the total number of households.

Meanwhile, radio broadcasting has continued to flourish. According to industry sources, revenues of radio stations continued at a high level during 1960, despite strong competition for the advertisers' dollars from television. Sales of radio sets, compared to sales of TV receivers, have improved, although showing a decline for 1960, compared to the previous year. Sales of transistor radios were high, as well as those of automobile sets.

For 1961, there will be keen competition for the approximately fifty million advertising dollars available for television, and the broadcasters will also be competing for the viewers' time.

The six recently-licensed English language independent stations, as well as the second French-language station in Montreal, will begin operations in the major cities, competing with existing CBC outlets. Formerly, the CBC enjoyed a monopoly in the rich markets of Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Ottawa and Halifax.

In a seventh city, Edmonton (Alberta), the CBC has been granted license to compete with a privately-owned station in operation for several years. And in an eighth center, Calgary, a second private outlet has been approved. These two new stations will also start operations this year.

Also highly possible for 1961, is a second English television network. The CBC at present operates two networks, one French and the other English. Spencer Caldwell of Toronto, has obtained initial permission from the Board of Broadcast Governors to operate such a network, which may be finalized at a second appearance before the BBG.

Weapon For Peace

... Television Documentaries

By DONALD H. MCGANNON
President, Westinghouse Broadcasting Company

THE state of the world indicates more urgently each day that our future depends, almost pathetically, upon our ability to communicate with each other as people within the same nation and, more important, to communicate as a nation to people outside of our own country.

The task of communicating our ideals, philosophies, objectives and determinations, our genuine concern for other peoples and our yearning for peace lies at the very root of man's future. How do we tackle this task?

It is strange that while most segments of our society have recognized the need for professionalism in the communication of ideas, implementation of this need does not exist in the various strata of government.

It occurred to us, Westinghouse Broadcasting and our associates at the National Educational Television and Radio Center, that there was something that could be done by television. No matter how small, it would be a definite contribution and perhaps a launching pad for other far-reaching efforts.

It was clear to us that TV undoubtedly represents the most effective means of communicating to masses of the population. How could we use this medium effectively and what would be our potential audience? As a result of working with other broadcasters who had similar thoughts on the same subject, the International Television Federation came into being last fall.

Intertel was founded by the Australian Broadcasting Commission, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Associated Rediffusion of the United Kingdom and, on behalf of the United States, NETRC and WBC. It is obvious that with such a federation, our initial audience is to be the English speaking nations of the world. These are people with whom we should be able to communicate most easily.

The American members of this federation expect to make the series available by syndication to the entire Western Hemisphere.

The plan calls for the production of twelve-one-hour documentaries. The American members will produce four, United Kingdom four, Canada two, and Australia two. The subjects will be of timely importance and international dimension; yet they will not be topical news stories nor duplications of some of the extraordinary work being done by networks in this field.

At a meeting in Vancouver, B.C., the first six subjects were evolved. They are tentatively titled: "Heartbeat of France," an examination of France by Britain; "The Overseas Chinese," a look at the key world areas colonized by expatriate Chinese, by Britain; "Great Britain in Transition," a social and human documentary on England by the U.S.A.; "Where is Cuba Going?," an investigation of Cuba by Canada; "Living With a Giant," a look at U.S.A.-Canada relations by Australia; and "Africa on The Move," some of the new African republics examined by the U.S.A.

The function of each program is an investigation by one nation of another, and a reflection on foreign subject matter that is in some instances of great tradition, in other instances of compelling current importance. Each member has the opportunity to reject the program as being unsuitable, but it's contemplated that this would not be done on any basis of censorship or unwillingness to permit factual criticism.

This is but an initial step. We hope it represents the first of many to follow in the free flow of information and the cultural exchange of material among all nations of the world, a project which has been dormant and ineffective to date.

The New Sound In Radio Syndication

By PETER FRANK
President, The Peter Frank Organization, Inc.

THE broadcasting industry has long recognized that television has brought about enormous changes in its sister field—radio. Radio which so many feared would become extinct has, on the contrary, rebounded until today it is healthier than ever, even though in a different form, one which finds individual stations the stronger factor, in contrast to the days when the radio networks dominated.

It took longer, however, to recognize another development resulting from the impressive rebirth of radio. This second factor was that as radio changed, so would the all-important tributary services upon which every radio station relies. No single entity, within sound broadcasting, however, has changed as drastically or as dramatically as radio syndication.

Today, the great emphasis in radio syndication is on a new combination of sounds, designed to enhance the stations themselves, as they fight so furiously for recognition of their own particular sound image.

It is worth tracing the underlying reasons why each station is so intent on developing its own sound image. In days past, high powered stations, aided by top name radio network programs, could count on the muscle of their own wattage and the muscles of network shows to give them an audience edge. Then, suddenly, the more important of these two elements disappeared—how many name network shows are still on the air?

It's true that there were many types of station program formats during the heyday of network radio, but these were mostly independent stations. Now their numbers were to be increased by affiliated stations who could no longer count on network revenue. Thus, where there may have been one "good music," or one "rock and roll," or one "country and western" station in a market, now there were many. As a result, the fight for listeners became even more fierce, and the need for devices-in-sound to enhance a station's image became greater.

From this need developed the new sound in radio syndication. Such services as "The Big Sound," "IMN Jingles" and "Target Jingles" came into being. In place of 15-minute or longer syndicated features came production aids designed for integration into the great emphasis most stations gave news and disk jockey shows. These production aids are "takes" ranging mostly from 10 to 30 seconds, incorporating the use of famous recording and film stars in what appears, to the listener, to be a personal interplay between d.j. and star, plus dozens of other production aids, music cues and themes, commercial "beds" and the like.

These features, many of them customized for each station, are produced by syndicators in a fashion that enables program directors, production staffers and d.j.'s the widest of ranges in program scope. Not only that, these new production aids are also tailored for every kind of radio station, from good music to "swinging" stations.

Almost simultaneously, to further the station's own sound image, came the development of jingles tailored to each fashion in sound. At first some stations themselves wrote and produced them; now there are many syndicated jingle services meeting the same need.

To paraphrase an historic saying, radio's fight for audiences and sales has only begun. Now that listeners and clients alike are aware of radio's durability and continued sales power, every station is in there to stay; to continue to build its own sound, by its own devices, and with the aid of the new sounds in syndication.

True 'Image' Emphasis Key To Negro Radio Progress

By HARRY NOVIK
General Manager, WLIB, New York

NEGRO radio everywhere is on the threshold of its greatest popularity. For the first time in years, it is being recognized for the potential it has been building over the years.

It is becoming evident that specialized markets such as the one WLIB serves in New York, are becoming primary targets for top national competitive products.

Constructively, the time has come for operators of Negro Market stations to emphasize their true "Image" in relation to the communities they serve. To disperse the clouds of ignorance that have hovered over the horizon of Negro radio and point out, loud and clear, their community voice status.

Negro radio has an individuality that cannot be superseded by other stations and a degree of audience loyalty that cannot be found anywhere.

To build such an image is not easy. It cannot be done with "convenient" programming. Stations must be geared to create this role in their communities if they have not already done so.

How it is done depends on the willingness of the station operator to make his outlet a true community service. At WLIB, as in many other top Negro stations throughout the country, this has been done via a complete overhaul of programming, with a concentration on public service, news and special events activities.

For example, during 1960, WLIB donated $268,583 worth of air time to public service spots or programs. This amounted to approximately 643 hours of programming and WLIB is a daytime only station. Our News and Special Events Department has covered every event we felt would be of interest to our community. We sent reporters to cover both Democratic and Republican conventions. We had special reports direct from Washington covering the Civil Rights Legislation fight. When the African troubles began, we had top officials from the United Nations at our microphones to explain what was going on. We also have a direct line to the United Nations for instantaneous pickup of programs. The sit-in demonstrations in the South, the founding meetings in Detroit of the Negro American Labor Council, and countless other events of interest to the Negro community we serve was covered despite the cost to the station.

Sometime ago, when WLIB climaxed its Eighth Annual Festival of Negro Music and Drama with a classical, folk music, jazz concert at Town Hall, New York, more than 1500 guests of the station filled this huge theatre to listen to a two-hour live program of top Negro talent. This free concert was broadcast without benefit of commercials. As a matter of fact, as on many other public service occasions, we preempted sponsors of commercial programs.

The net result of all of this has been the obvious fact that when anyone wishes to reach the 1,500,000 Negroes in Metropolitan New York, they know that the most effective way of reaching them is through WLIB.

This "Image" factor has brought WLIB more national business than ever before and more respect and prestige for both our station and our audience. Without appearing to be the arbiter of all panaceas, I do humbly submit that if other Negro stations will concentrate on building such an Image and many of them have already, the rise of Negro radio in the future could reach unprecedented heights.

Influential "Air Age" Set Stage For "Space Age"

By ROBERT I. QUEEN
Managing Editor, Radio-TV Daily

ONE wonders if the Air Age, inaugurated in 1920, by the opening of Pittsburgh's Station KDKA, has not been even more influential than the Space Age in marking our lives.

The Space Age touches us in important areas. It has broadened our horizons practically to infinity. It has made peace and war questions of survival or total destruction. It has dissolved the barriers of time and distance and made explorers of us all. But it has not, and perhaps never can, come into our lives with the insinuation and insistence of radio and television.

Having become accustomed to the sound and voices of the world, the Air Age advanced to where it showed us the many faces of the world. There is no questioning the fact that at first the pictures on the television screen were a little hazy, and eye-strain was considered as part of the price one paid for the advancement along with the cost of antenna installation, big tube insurance and service contracts. Since that time we have had a ringside seat at the Greatest Show on Earth—to Maurice Evans doing Shakespeare; to Imogene Coca dancing "Swan Lake." Bernstein has taught us music; Katherine Murray has inspired us to dance; Ed Sullivan has taught us to smile; and Nixon and Kennedy have revived the art of political debate. We have seen wars and the signing of peace treaties. We have seen people fight for freedom, and freedom suppressed. We have seen China building Communism and Africa taking great steps into the Twentieth Century.

We have color television and picture tubes installed in walls, printed circuits and pint sized portables with pictures bigger than those of the old consoles.

Currently, almost 50,000,000 television sets are available for viewing in American homes and even two television sets in a home can no longer be considered a status symbol. Other countries, all over the world, have joined us in this adventure into the Air Age with about 28,000,000 television sets and 1,000 television stations. They are also following us through some of the landmarks of American television as they watch tapes and kineoscopes of American programs with dubbed in voices or subtitles. Many an American program is now being seen in a European version and an American in Europe tuning in on a television station is likely to find a panel discussing an off-beat "What's My Line."

Finally, the Air Age and the Space Age have joined and we have heard President Eisenhower's voice from outer space giving us season's greetings and watched our television sets while the rockets at Cape Canaveral heralded the coming of this wonder.

Soon the Space Age will move into our daily Air Age lives and make the present limited national and international networks into interworld networks as sound and sight impulses cross space by way of man-made moons. We can't help but wonder what will be carried into our homes from these new horizons so much closer to infinity.

New Concept For Radio: The "Specialized Mass Market"

By RALPH N. WEIL
President, Key Broadcast Management, Inc.

"SPECIALIZED MASS MARKET" is a new concept in specialized radio. We developed the basic idea of this new promotional approach over the years of our operation of WOV (now WADO) as a quality Italian language and Negro outlet.

Although the terms "specialized" and "mass" seem to be contradictory, the facts of American urban life today make them perfectly compatible. When a specialized market constitutes more than 52 per cent of the total overall population, such as the Spanish speaking market in San Antonio, or the 31 per cent Negro market in St. Louis, you are dealing with a market that is specialized in quality but mass in quantity. It is, therefore, by our definition, a "Specialized Mass Market."

Specialized markets represent tremendous buying power that is attracting more and more advertisers. Both audience and advertiser acceptance for specialized broadcasting is at an unprecedented level and a number of energetic and well-informed reps are now doing business in this field. The purpose of the "Specialized Mass Market" concept is to lift the level of specialized broadcasting steadily higher, to a plane comparable with that of the finest standards in the industry.

Toward this end we are applying merchandising and promotional techniques altogether new in specialized radio to our operation of KATZ in St. Louis and KCOR in San Antonio. We are in the process of working out, for future application, a new rep arrangement and have completed and incorporated our consultation-advisory organization under the name, Key Broadcast Management, Inc.

We have been directly interested in this field of radio for many years. Experience has confirmed our faith in it and given us a set of guiding principles to work with.

We believe that specialized audiences deserve the quality service of a well-conducted station operation that does a professional and craftsman-like job. We see specialized radio as having a two-fold obligation in its service to the audience. It must be sensitive to the specific needs, desires and preferences of its audience, relating directly to their day-to-day lives. It must also help the specialized community attune itself harmoniously with the community at large in the interest of the civic welfare of all concerned.

The results of our efforts along this line have been rewarding. KATZ (a 100 per cent Negro station and overwhelmingly first with the St. Louis Negro audience) according to the General St. Louis Pulse Report issued last July was first over all radio stations in urban St. Louis in the evening, tied for second place in the morning and close to third in the afternoon.

KCOR's position in the Spanish market of San Antonio shows absolute dominance as well.

We believe that these achievements are vindication of our policy of quality service for specialized audiences, and through the consultative service offered by Key Broadcast Management, Arnold Hartley and I are prepared to share our experience and ideas with all other broadcasters seeking the same ends and desiring the same result.

The Many Worlds Of Music

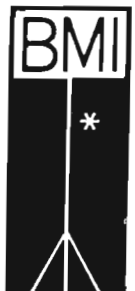

From the composers of today flow the music that reflects our life and our time. Many of the composers who make significant contributions to the music of our time license their performing rights through BMI. In many different ways, BMI fosters and supports the many worlds of contemporary music.

Musical America, in its issue of August, 1960, wrote:

“Broadcast Music...is a business with a conscience, fully aware of the pressing need to make dollars work for contemporary composers and music...In a scant 20 years since its founding, BMI has taken a mature and responsible stand on the side of contemporary and, most important, American musical thought. It has realized that only through realistic support of our writers, through money, performances, and recordings, can the composer of today find an opportunity to flourish and work for America's culture and stature in the world of art.”

Volume Reports Heighten Spot Television's Future

By NORMAN CASH
President, Television Bureau of Advertising

IN AN ERA of unprecedented expansion for the television advertising medium, no story is more dramatic than the one of spot TV. In 1960, four of every ten dollars spent by national advertisers went into the medium.

Recognition of spot TV's full extent and impact has come about only in recent years. In the early years of telecasting, its role was little-known or defined, except by the many advertisers who used it. Then, even as today (though not to as great an extent), the glamor of network TV overshadowed this medium.

Although network TV advertising expenditures have always been well-defined, no comparable spot television figures were available until 1955, when the N. C. Rorabaugh Company began compiling similar information through the efforts of TvB.

Five years have passed since the first annual spot report was published. A look at the reports over the years clearly shows the exciting growth of spot TV.

Gross time dollars, for example, have soared from $397.6-million to $616.7-million, an increase of 55.1%. The number one advertiser in spot for 1956, spent $17.5-million; in 1960, the same company spent $55.1-million. In 1956, 81 advertisers spent more than a million; the figure in 1960 was 125.

Whereas 267 stations were involved in the first N. C. Rorabaugh report, more than 330 provided the information to make the 1960 reports possible. Without this valued support by stations, the reports could never have come into being.

In category after category, we see the ever-increasing use of spot TV. Auto advertising more than doubled in the five years; packaged soaps and detergents rose from $13.3-million to nearly $34-million; toys jumped from $1.2-million in 1956, to $5.2-million in 1960.

Major companies, of course, used the medium with great success. But so did lesser-known companies, names which soon became established in the consumer's mind, through spot TV. Lestoil, for one, launched a whole new product line. Alberto-Culver, Duncan Hines cake mixes, Cocoa Marsh, Lanvin, Chevron gasoline, are but a few which moved ahead through spot TV. Anheuser Busch started a whole new marketing concept because of the medium.

With the inherent advantages of sight, sound and motion available in all TV, spot delivers infinitely varying kinds and varying amounts of advertising pressure anywhere, as the advertiser needs.

Because its advantages remain unchanged, spot TV will unquestionably move from a successful past to an even greater future. Its power—selective selling, seasonal pushes, saturation campaigns, pre-testing, offsetting competition, bolstering weak markets, launching new products, localizing appeals, stimulating dealer support and complementing network TV—make it a needed force for the aggressive advertiser.

In themselves, the spot reports have become a valuable tool for the advertising salesman. Established to provide information on individual advertisers so that companies could assess the activities of competitors and to make analyses and trends, the reports have contributed to many other sales.

In effect, the added knowledge available through bringing to light the activities of many companies, has been another force in the growth of spot TV. Each and every station which has provided necessary information for the reports has made possible the growth of the medium. With the needed information at hand and the power of the medium itself, the future will be secure.

Television's Boom Abroad Aided By U. S. Know-How

By MERLE S. JONES
President, CBS Television Stations Division

AS television reached maturity in America during the past 12 years, informing, educating and entertaining the populace and even influencing the nation's political mood, so it is now developing around the world with much the same force. Absorbed as we are in American broadcasting, events make it imperative that we look more closely at international television.

Television began to hit its stride in many countries outside the United States several years ago, finding enthusiastic audiences among all levels of society, whether in crude villages of Africa and Asia or in the cosmopolitan centers of Western Europe. In the past two years the number of television sets and stations abroad has soared at a fantastic rate to the point where it is now estimated that by 1962 there will be more off-shore sets in use than in the U. S.

Mutual cooperation between American broadcasters and those of countries who are in the process of developing television systems can only result in maximum benefits to both. For this reason the Columbia Broadcasting System takes pride in its contribution to the growth of international TV.

For many years international television representatives have come to CBS seeking help in technical, administrative and production problems as well as in a host of other areas. During 1960 more than 150 representatives from 45 different countries visited the CBS Television Stations Division offices in New York. During January 1961 alone we met with 30 representatives from such countries as Lebanon, Japan and England.

Because of the growing number of inquiries from abroad during the past few years, the CBS Television Stations Division has established formal procedures for giving help to broadcasters abroad. Over the past ten months, for example, CBS negotiated agreements with organizations in four countries — West Germany, Italy, Argentina and Peru — by which CBS experience is being used to help establish television systems and to provide consultation and facilities for existing TV networks and stations.

The West German agreement provides help for the group which is planning that country's all-UHF commercial television network which, when it is completed and authorized, will compete with the existing state-operated television network.

The CBS-RAI agreement in Italy calls for a mutual exchange of technical information, equipment, personnel and eventually programs and talent. The agreement anticipates growing exchange of programming material by both Italy and America. An example of such exchange took place in 1960 when RAI provided the CBS Television Network with exclusive coverage of the Olympics.

In Argentina, CBS and Latin American interests formed PROARTEL (Producciones Argentinas de Television) last June to create and produce programming for telecasts in Buenos Aires. A similar facility was established in Peru by CBS last year.

Not only are American broadcasters providing consultation and technical information abroad, but sales of American television programs overseas have also experienced a phenomenal rise. During 1960, CBS Films Inc., the subsidiary responsible for distributing CBS program product abroad, increased its international sales by 30 per cent over 1959 and by 250 per cent over 1957. Sales were made in such widely separated places as Brazil, Hong Kong, Haiti and the United Arab Republic. Each week CBS Films provides more than 1,100 half-hour programs, dubbed into more than a dozen languages, to 40 countries outside the United States.

The Public Is Boss ... In Our Programming Efforts

By OLIVER TREYZ
President, ABC Television Network

NEVER has it been a secret that we at ABC-TV have always considered the public's desires first in our programming efforts. The rapid and solid growth of ABC-TV has proved the soundness of this philosophy.

Ratings are, of course, a vital indication of public acceptance. But there are many more personal indices.

For instance, not too long ago KAKE-TV, our primary affiliate in Wichita, Kansas, celebrated its fifth anniversary with a cake baking contest. Viewers were invited to submit cakes decorated with pictures of ABC-TV personalities. Out of 5,000 entries, half were decorated with likenesses of Lawrence Welk—very appetizing proof, which I personally sampled, that Mr. Welk is well-liked in Wichita.

One major way we "feel the public pulse" is through the managers of our more than 200 affiliates. These men are leaders in their communities, in close touch with the people who control the TV dials.

We hold regular meetings with our affiliates and communicate constantly with them throughout the year. They are quick to tell us how their viewers—who of course also are ABC-TV viewers—react to our programs.

Letters and phone calls direct to the network from the public are other important "pulse feelers." Most letters come from viewers who feel moved to express thanks or give us constructive criticism.

A recent letter from New Britain, Conn. said "Wednesday evening on ABC to me is the best of the week. You can set the dial and forget it for the entire evening."

From letters I have seen, many viewers

all over the country feel the same way about every evening on ABC-TV. A letter that made both the network and the sponsor happy came from Cincinnati. After calling "Leave It to Beaver" "one of the best family situations on TV today," the viewer said, "We even enjoy the commercials."

Sometimes we receive a stack of letters, all mailed within a few days of each other. Then we know that someone has started either a "for" or an "against" campaign. We do not believe that these letters are truly indicative of a program's appeal. Other things are: Tourists ferreting out "Dino's" in Hollywood and the "Boom Boom Room" in Miami Beach reflect the popularity of "77 Sunset Strip" and "SurfSide 6".

The influence of "SurfSide 6" on Florida viewers has, I understand, been so effective that boat builders in that area are experiencing a minor boom in constructing $15,000 houseboats similar to the one used in the show.

Travel—whether it be across town in New York City or anywhere in the country—provides word of mouth reaction to programming.

A Manhattan taxi driver talks about John Russell in "Lawman". A man in the next chair laughs with the Chicago barber about last night's "Flintstones." Your seat-mate on a cross-country flight mentions "Winston Churchill—The Valiant Years".

These personal experiences turn rating points into people; individuals who laugh, thrill, enjoy and are stimulated by television. They are not cold cyphers, impersonal digits. They are people, the people for whom we at ABC-TV work.

ABC Television Network

JAMES C. HAGERTY

Vice President in Charge of News, Special Events and Public Affairs

News Secretary to former President Eisenhower during his administration, James Hagerty took over the top ABC news job on January 23 of this year; three days after leaving the White House. A top news reporter for the New York Times from 1934 to 1943, Mr. Hagerty became former New York Governor Thomas Dewey's Press Secretary in 1943. In 1952 he took leave from his New York State position to work with General Eisenhower, then became his News Secretary when Eisenhower was elected President.

ALFRED R. SCHNEIDER

ABC-TV Vice President in Charge of Administration

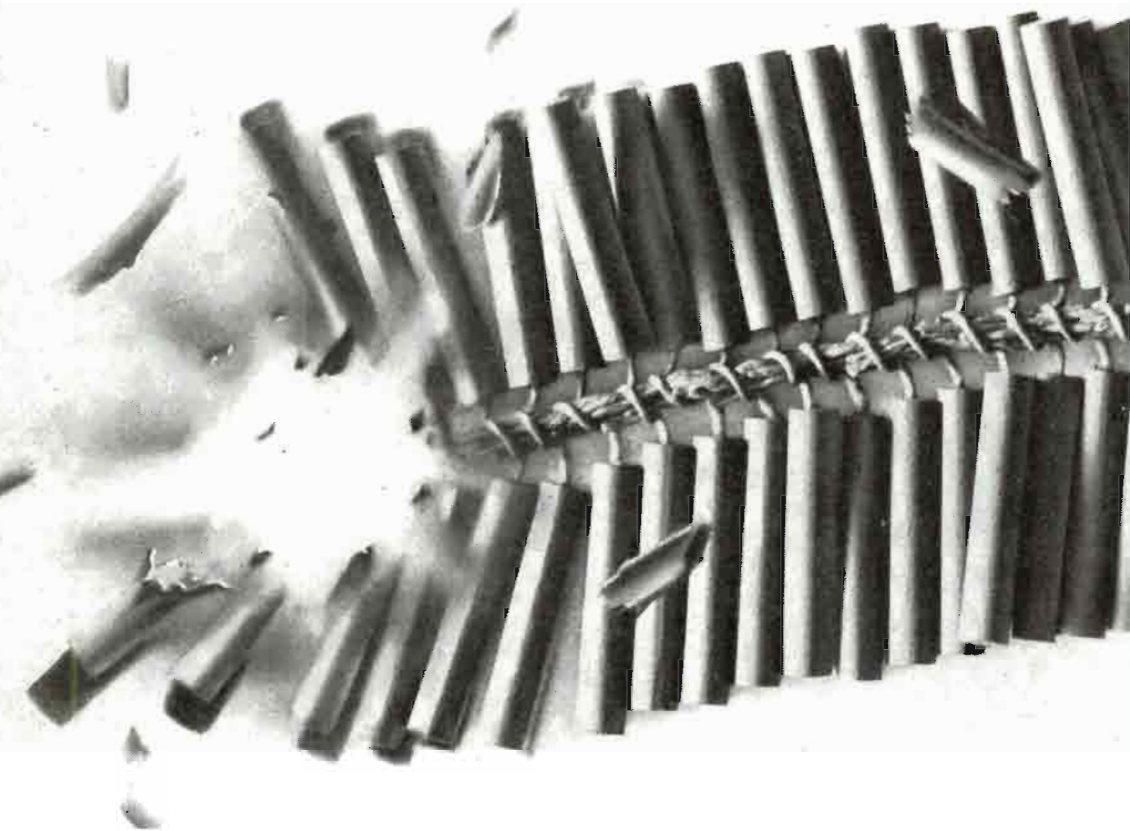

Former Assistant to the President of the CBS Television Network, Mr. Schneider joined ABC-TV in his current position on January 18, 1960. From 1952 to 1954, Mr. Schneider was a member of the American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc. legal department and Assistant Director, Business Affairs for the ABC Television Network. In 1955 he went to CBS as Assistant to the Director of Business Affairs and was promoted to Executive Assistant to the CBS-TV President in 1958. Mr. Schneider was graduated from Hamilton College and from the Harvard Law School.

JULIUS BARNATHAN

Vice President for Affiliated Stations

Appointed Vice President for Affiliated Stations July 15, 1959, Mr. Barnathan has been with ABC-TV since 1954 when he was Supervisor of Ratings. In 1956 he was named Manager of TV Research and in 1957, Director of Research. In March of 1959 he was promoted to Vice President in Charge of Media Research and Statistical Analysis for Kenyon & Eckhardt. He is a graduate of Brooklyn College and holds a Master's Degree in mathematical statistics from Columbia University. During World War II, he served with the U.S. Naval Air Corps.

There is nothing harder to stop than a trend.

Any computer, no matter how marathon the range of its "intellect," subsists on the facts fed into it by human choice. Many computers strut their electronic stuff in what is familiarly known as "Video Land." But only one computer really counts—that's the one that starts the count rolling. The one who starts the Trend trending.

Who?

You.

The Dial Twister. Recently known as The Trend Maker.

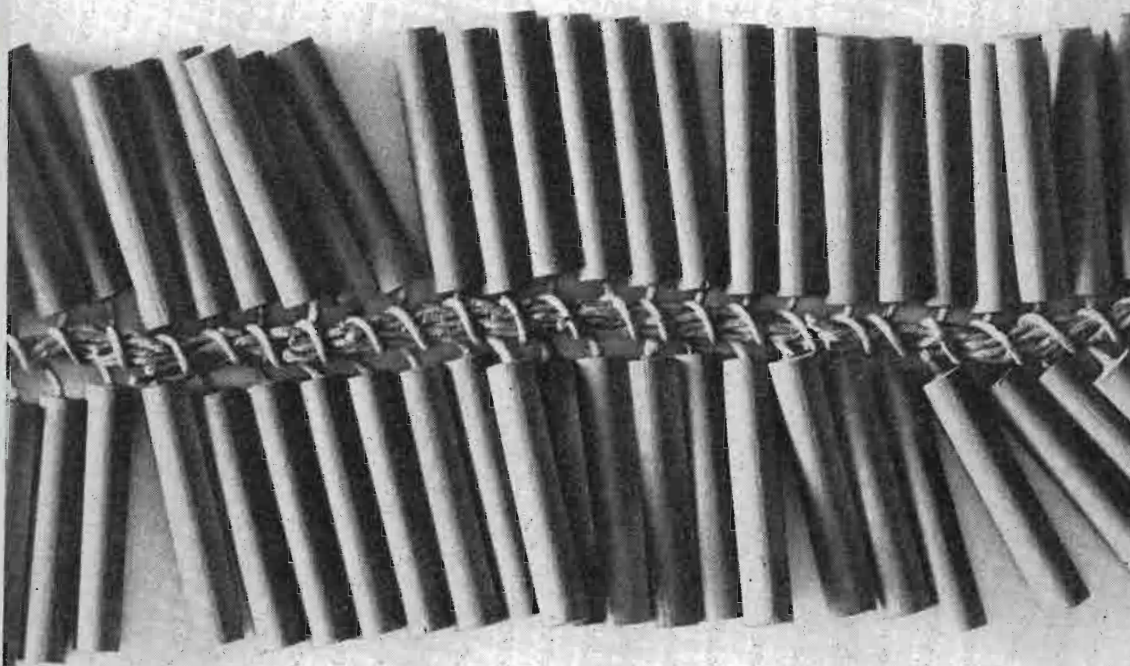

You are the only computer that ever really created anything. You created another network (see our signature below). You created a network second to none (see the chart to the right). You kept twisting and twisting that little dial on your living-room set and you twisted us right up there . . . where we now have 5 of the 10 most popular shows. Not since 1958 has Net Y, and not since 1955 has Net Z, had so high a Share of Audience as ABC-TV has today.*

You (along with millions of other Dial Twisters) have made ABC the network most homes watch most of the time. You, all of you, are part of The Trend.

This pleasing result came from your computing of certain facts fed into you. Take such bold facts as The Untouchables, 77 Sunset Strip, The Real McCoys, The Flintstones, My 3 Sons, SurfSide 6, The Roaring 20's. You digested them, computed them and reported those so highly pleasing (to us) Top Ratings.

When you are in a mood (other computers are incapable of being in or out of moods) for even more substantial fare, ABC feeds you such responsible Public Interest documentaries as the Bell & Howell Close-Up! series. Expedition and the exciting 26-part series, Winston Churchill: The Valiant Years. (Music background by Richard Rodgers.)

When you are in a mood to compute Sports facts, we feed you the most Sports hours of any network: NCAA Football, American League Football. Fight of the Week, All Star Golf, Championship College Basketball. (No end to The Trend!)

(except The Dial Twister responsible for that trend.)

And in Specials: How quickly you will compute such extra-special Specials as David the Outlaw, two-part Biblical epic starring Jeff Chandler and Israel and other forthcoming ABC Specials.

Obviously, no human computer can be told what to watch and compute in this land of many million human computers. There is no arm-twisting in this land.

There is, however, dial-twisting a-plenty.

We owe our existence as a network to it. We owe our phenomenal growth (The Trend) in Client Acceptance to it. ABC's billings in 1960 were up 30% and give every evidence of continuing to out-pace the growth of any other element in the TV industry.

So, whether you are an advertiser dialing-in the public . . . or whether you are a Dial Twister dialing-in for Television's best . . . the trend to ABC-TV now makes it your first choice.

TV Must Aim To Cover Broadest Possible Spectrum Of Themes

By JAMES T. AUBREY, JR.
President, CBS Television Network

THE things for which the current President of the United States will be remembered are many. My colleagues of the CBS Television Network and I will always be reminded of two particular events in which he figured so largely. The first of these events came prior to his election, when CBS News cameras and microphones brought to the nation and the world, over the combined lines of all the radio and television networks, the first of the series of Presidential campaign debates. Dr. Frank Stanton, joined by the broadcasting industry and the press, had sought for many years to secure Congressional sanction for these face-to-face confrontations.

The second Presidential event of particular interest in our memory was the first live telecast of a Presidential press conference, where once again the cameras of the CBS Television Network provided the pictorial coverage for the entire U. S. television industry on a pool basis.

To have these two events in the space of a single television season is a magnificent commentary on the importance and vitality of our medium, particularly when combined with our greatest entertainment year, a time when the audience for sponsored entertainment, as well as informational programs, was reaching a new high, and when the number of sponsors was also greater than ever.

Television is a public medium. It provides information and entertainment, not necessarily in separate shows. Coverage of the Olympic Games, for example, was informational programming with tremendous entertainment appeal; entertainment such as "Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic" or the Armstrong Circle Theatre's presentation of "Eichmann: Engineer of Death" or Red Skelton's United Nations program certainly offered informational or public service rewards as well. As a public medium, the aim must always be to cover the broadest possible spectrum of themes and interests.

One of the things which we must recognize, as a public medium, is that the public is dynamic. Its tastes are not fossilized into hard, rigid, unchanging matrices. Nor, by the same token, are its tastes committed to any doctrine of constant change. It is many different publics and many overlapping publics.

It is interested neither in standing still nor in shifting too fast. It is always a challenge to those who program for it. And as the pace and vigor of our national growth continue in a healthy society, the pace and vigor of the television industry must also increase. This promises for us a future which will be very largely what we make it.

What with the use of transmitting and relay stations airborne all the way up to the stratosphere, it is certainly proper to say that for television the sky's the limit.

JAMES T. AUBREY, JR.

PRESIDENT, CBS TELEVISION NETWORK

James T. Aubrey, Jr. was named President of the CBS Television Network on December 8, 1959. He had been Executive Vice President of the CBS Television Network since June 1, 1959. Mr. Aubrey, 42 years old, rejoined CBS as Vice President—Creative Services, Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., on April 28, 1958. He had been with the ABC Television Network as Vice President in Charge of Programming and Talent since December, 1956. Previously, he had been with the CBS Television Network as Manager of Network Programs, Hollywood, since June, 1956. Mr. Aubrey was General Manager of KNXT, CBS-owned television station in Los Angeles, and the Columbia Pacific Network from October, 1952 until June, 1956. Prior to that he was Sales Manager of KNXT and account executive for KNXT and KNXT-Radio. He was also associated with Street & Smith Publications and Conde Nast Publications following World War II. During the war he served with the U. S. Air Force, being separated with the rank of Major. A graduate of Princeton University, cum laude, Mr. Aubrey is married to motion picture and television actress Phyllis Thaxter. They have two children, Susan 14 and James 7. Their home is in New York City.

OSCAR KATZ

VICE PRESIDENT, NETWORK PROGRAMS, CBS TELEVISION NETWORK

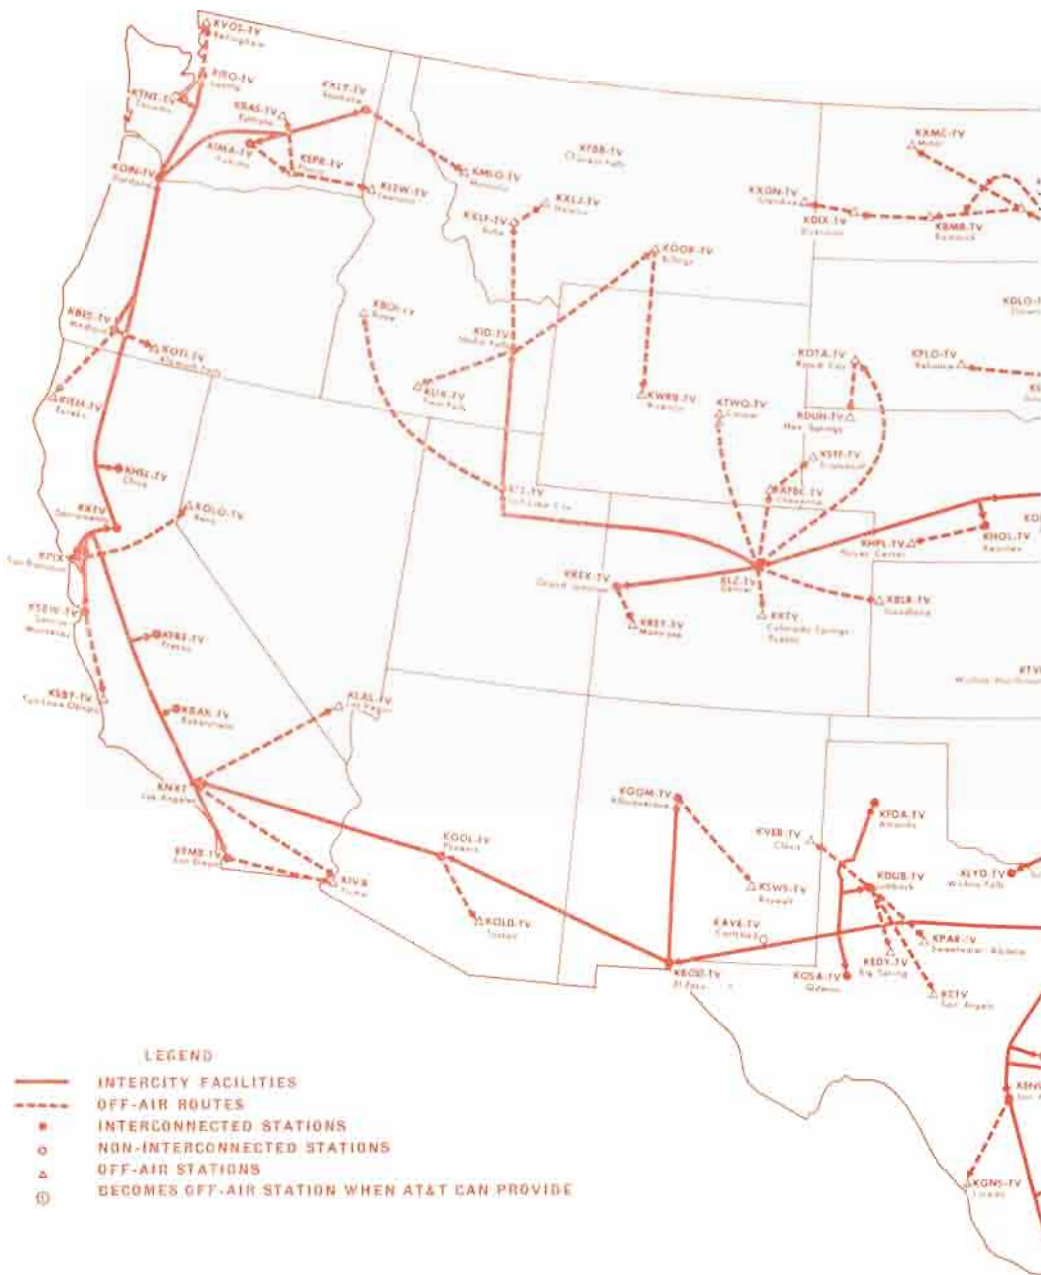

Oscar Katz was named Vice President, Network Programs, for the CBS Television Network on August 10, 1959. Mr. Katz had been Vice President in Charge of Daytime Programs for the CBS Television Network since August 31, 1956. Mr. Katz joined CBS in the Research Department in 1938. In November, 1942, he was named Assistant Director of the department. Subsequently, he became Associate Director, and in 1948 was named head of the department. In July, 1951, Mr. Katz was named Director of Research for the CBS TV Network in Charge of Daytime Programs. Over the last four years, Mr. Katz has been responsible for many important program developments and program experimentation. He is a member of the Market Research Council and the Friars and The Players Clubs. During World War II, Mr. Katz was on loan from CBS on a special assignment for the Office of War Information. Mr. Katz was born in New York City, and received his B.S. degree from the College of the City of New York.

WILLIAM H. HYLAN

CBS TELEVISION NETWORK VICE PRESIDENT, SALES ADMINISTRATION

William H. Hylan has been CBS Television Network Vice President of Sales Administration since February, 1957. In this capacity, he directs all phases of network sales and services. Mr. Hylan previously had been Vice President in Charge of Network Sales since December, 1952. He joined CBS in 1937 and served as account executive for CBS Radio Sales until 1941. In July of that year he enlisted in the U. S. Army, remaining in the service until November, 1945, when he returned to CBS as Assistant to the Director of Station Administration. Three years later he joined CBS Television Network Sales. From 1948 to 1951, Mr. Hylan served as account executive in CBS Television Network Sales. In July, 1951, he was named Assistant Sales Manager and, in January, 1952, he was appointed Eastern Sales Manager. He was elevated to a Vice Presidency in December, 1952. Mr. Hylan was born in New York City in 1915, and is a graduate of Yale University. He saw service with the Counter-Intelligence Corps OSS. He is married and has three children, a boy and two girls. His home is in Green Farms, Connecticut.

Diversity Is Key To NBC's Programming Philosophy

By WALTER D. SCOTT
Exec. Vice President, NBC Television Network

THE key to NBC's programming philosophy and, in fact, the key to the continued success of this country's free system of broadcasting is found in one word.

The word is diversity.

To us, diversity means avoiding the easy temptation of concentrating on a single narrow segment of mass-appeal material by cultivating and expanding the unique advantages of NBC: Our role as the only full-coverage network (from 6 a.m. to 1 a.m.); our leadership in the presentation of news and public affairs programs; our pre-eminence in technical innovations, such as transoceanic cable film; our unique programming forms, such as "The Dave Garroway Today Show" and "The Jack Paar Show"; our standard as the color network; our number one position in daytime program popularity; our primacy in sports coverage; our presentation of network television's only courses for college credit; and our unmatched roster of Specials.

In an address to our affiliates, Robert W. Sarnoff, Chairman of the Board, stated NBC's position:

"In my view, a network's function is to provide a full range of programming in keeping with its undertaking to serve a national audience made up of many different publics. Only by doing so can it attract — over the course of its schedule — audiences from all segments of the public, to develop an audience as big as the total public itself.

"The largest part of a network's schedule must be devoted to entertainment, and primarily entertainment of broad appeal. Within this field, it should provide not only different types of programs by such categories as adventure, variety, comedy, drama, mystery, and the like — but programs that appeal variously to the whole family, to different age groups and sexes, and to different levels of sophistication.

"A network worthy of the name must also rise to television's opportunities and obligations as the swiftest, most vivid medium of information ever devised—whether in transmitting news events as they happen, or reporting them quickly, or analyzing them in depth and perspective; whether in cultivating discussion and debate of public issues, spreading knowledge of science, or opening the arts and humanities to millions.

"Finally, a network owes it to the public, its affiliates and its advertisers to keep moving ahead, not only in the quality and range of its programming, but in the technical development of television."

The following chart, which breaks down a typical week's programming on NBC-TV into 15 different categories, shows how NBC meets its obligations to its audience:

TYPE PROGRAM	HOURS PER WEEK	SHARE OF TOTAL
Sports	7¼	7.7%
News - Information	9¾	10.4%
Educational	5	5.3%
Children's	3½	3.8%
Suspense Drama	1½	1.6%
General Drama	10½	11.3%
Western	6½	6.9%
Musical Variety	3	3.3%
Situation Comedy	4	4.3%
Specials	2	2.1%
Action - Adventure	4½	4.9%
Discussion	13¾	14.8%
Audience Participation	11	11.7%
General Variety	3	3.3%
Panel	8	8.6%
	<hr/> 93¼	<hr/> 100.0%

It is through this diversity that NBC seeks to come even closer to the ideal we have always tried to serve — the presentation of a balanced schedule which meets the widely ranging interests of the American people and which utilizes to the fullest the vast potential of television itself.

A network worthy of the name must rise to television's opportunities and obligations as the swiftest, most vivid medium of information ever devised—whether in transmitting news events as they happen, or reporting them quickly, or analyzing them in depth or perspective; whether in cultivating discussion and debate of public issues, spreading knowledge of science, or opening the world of the arts and humanities to millions.

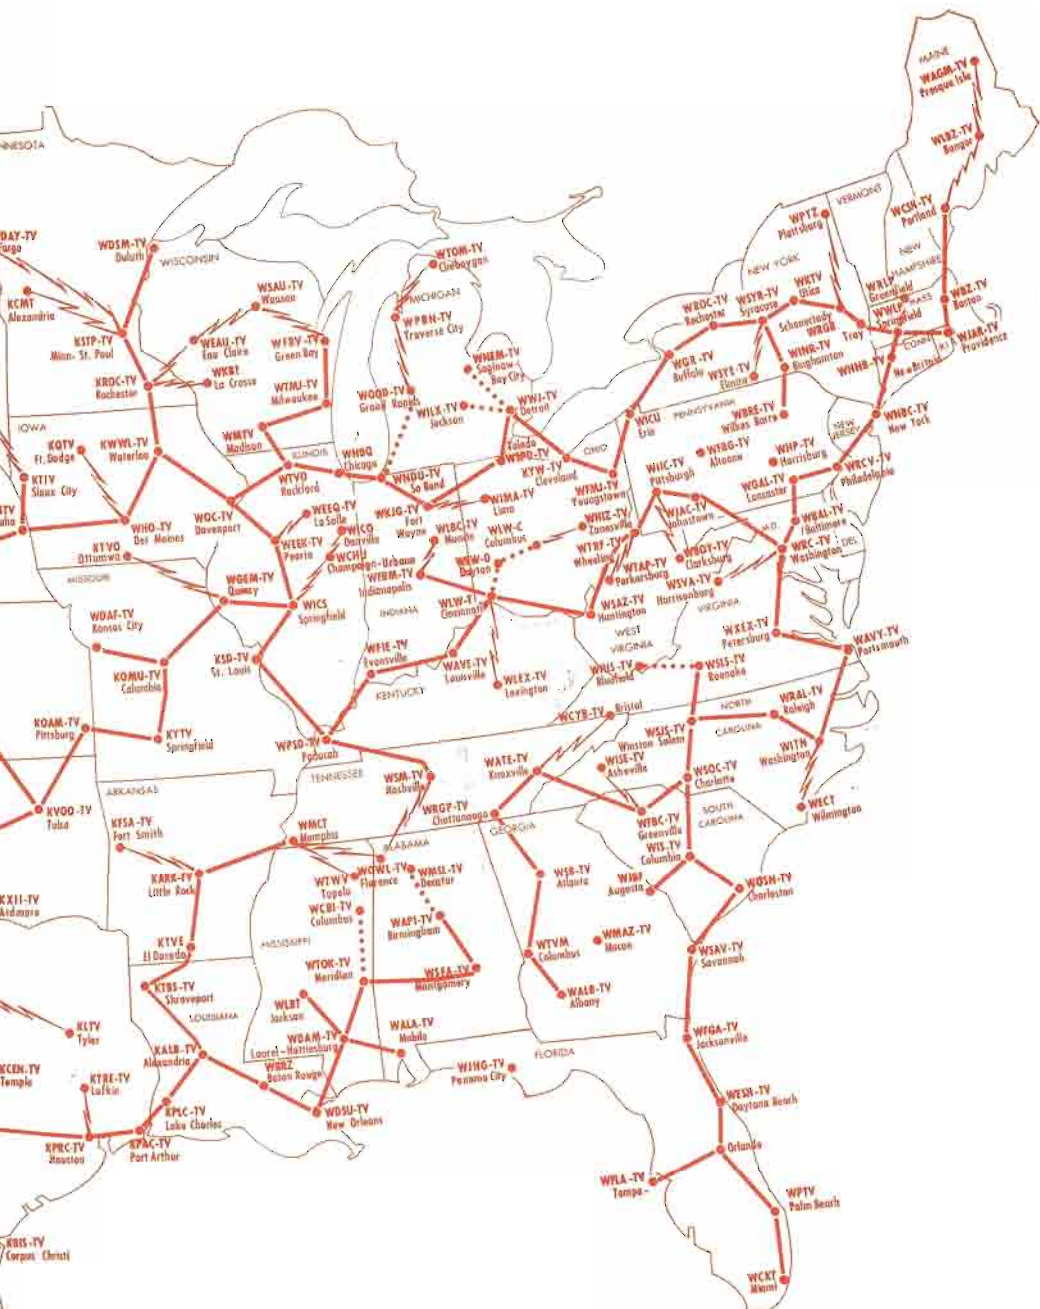

Within the entertainment field, it should provide a broad range of programs that appeal variously to the whole family, to different age groups and sexes, and to different levels of sophistication.

For the National Broadcasting Company, I pledge to you there will be no turning aside from the course we have always followed: the course of trading the medium up, and enlarging its scope and stature as a full service to the total audience.

WALTER D. SCOTT

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, TELEVISION NETWORK

Walter D. Scott was appointed executive vice president, television network, in February, 1959. Before his election as head of the television network, Mr. Scott had been vice president, television network sales. An executive with more than 20 years service in NBC, Mr. Scott joined the network's sales department in 1938. He was named eastern sales manager in 1949, and in February, 1951, was promoted to New York radio network sales manager. In November, 1952, he was appointed to the new post of administrative sales manager. He held this position until he was elected vice president and national sales manager, television network, in December, 1955. He was named vice president, television network sales, in January, 1958. Before joining NBC, Mr. Scott served in the sales department of Hearst Radio, Inc., and before that on the advertising staff of the Daily Oklahoman and Times. He is a graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism.

DON DURGIN

VICE PRESIDENT, NETWORK SALES

Don Durgin, who was appointed vice president, television network sales, in February, 1959, first joined NBC in 1949 as assistant to the manager of advertising and promotion for NBC Spot Sales. In 1951, he joined the ABC Television Network as a sales presentation writer, subsequently holding several positions there until he was elected vice president in charge of the ABC Radio Network in November, 1955. Returning to NBC in March, 1957, he became vice president in charge of sales planning for the television network. He was appointed vice president, national sales manager, television network sales, in January, 1958, holding that position until he was named to his present post. He is a summa cum laude graduate of Princeton University and a graduate of New York University Law School.

DAVID LEVY

VICE PRESIDENT, PROGRAMS AND TALENT

David Levy, vice president, programs and talent, television network, was vice president and associate director of the radio and television department of Young & Rubicam, Inc., before he joined NBC in April, 1959. With more than 20 years of experience in creative programming, Mr. Levy is spearheading the network's expansion in the areas of talent and creativity. At Young & Rubicam, he wrote, directed and supervised many of the agency's radio shows, and in 1947 entered television, becoming the agency's first television supervisor. He became vice president in charge of talent and new programs in August, 1950, and in April, 1958, was named associate director of the radio and television department. He also served on the agency's plans board for several years. Mr. Levy is also a successful author of television plays and short stories. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance and Commerce.

Why We SWITCHED from VHF to UHF

To give you the best possible coverage of the rich San Joaquin Valley.

FCC-sponsored engineering study proves UHF signal is stronger and clearer than VHF in the Fresno area. New RCA custom-designed transmitter and antenna provide the clearest, strongest picture ever seen in the Valley.

Now, KFRE-TV delivers the most effective coverage of the San Joaquin Valley's more than 800,000 people — earning in excess of $1.5 billion yearly.

Blanket America's Richest Agricultural Market.

for full facilities to sell Atlanta's million...
put your faith in WSB

White Columns is more than a building, it is the efficient home of both WSB Radio and TV!

In Atlanta and Georgia, WSB Radio and Television lead the way in programming, in coverage and facilities. Through the years both stations have maintained a tradition of leadership through sound programming and by backing up top men with every facility available to help them do a top job. Dominance in ratings and many notable awards attest to their success. To sell Atlanta's million, plus other Georgians too... put your schedules on

WFBM-TV

First in Mid-Indiana . . . first in news . . . first in special events

Manpower • Mobility • Equipment!

Wherever news and special events call for broadcast action, you'll find WFBM-TV on the air first with "eye-witness" film reports. No other stations in Indiana can match the manpower of our 17-man News-Information Center . . . the mobility of our fleet of news cruisers and remote transmitter . . . our photo developing equipment for putting film on the air within minutes after it hits the lab . . . our two television tape machines (color equipped) that can record any remote transmission for an "exclusive" drop-in at any point in our day's programming.

When You Can
 Have the Best,
 Why Be Satisfied
 With Less?

THE CITY POPULATION IS PEANUTS!

The Charlotte MARKET is Tops in the Southeast with
642,500 TV Homes*

Two-hundred thousand peanuts is a fair size city patch, but it's still peanuts compared to the TV Homes in the elephantine Charlotte Television Market.

Don't forget! WBTV Delivers 55.3% more TV Homes than Charlotte Station "B"! **

The Use Of Economee Means Vitality And Economy

By PIERRE WEIS
V.P. & General Manager, Economee Television

MORE and more top stations are turning to Economee, the re-run division of Ziv-United Artists. That is the lesson of the past year in syndication.

As part of the new economics of success in local programming, a "pattern of use" has grown up among the majors, and the smaller stations, that makes Economee a flexible and almost unbeatable ally in the battle for audience and efficiency of operation.

The new use-pattern discovered by the top outlets calls for a solid run by an Economee series in Class A time, followed by an eventual "stripping" of the episodes.

Typical of the first phase of the pattern is the current programming by KABC-TV, Los Angeles, which is running Economee's "Men Into Space" on Saturday, 8-8:30 P.M. and "Man And The Challenge" on Wednesday, 7-7:30 P.M.

Among other top stations recently using Economee's productions are WCBS-TV and WABC-TV New York, WCAU-TV Philadelphia, KRON-TV San Francisco, KSD-TV St. Louis, WHDH-TV Boston, KNXT Los Angeles, WJBK-TV Detroit.

The history of Economee series such as these, is that they frequently succeed in topping their original syndication and network exposures, thus providing still fresh and quality shows to an expanded public at Economee cost to the station.

The second phase of the Economee use pattern is illustrated by a look at WGR, Buffalo. Programming Economee's "Highway Patrol" as a strip, 6-6:30 P.M., the station is regularly leading all competition in the time period with a Nielsen average of over 20 for the series.

The bases for the success of Economee programming is clear. If a show in its first-run on a particular time period has enjoyed, say, a 25 rating, there still is 75 per cent of the audience which has not seen it. On another time slot, it will be a brand-new and pre-publicized show to this group.

Viewing only the major markets for the purposes of this limited review — but with the assurance that the pattern holds for smaller stations — here are more instances, in separate parts of the country, of the Economee impact in syndication:

At WJBK-TV, Detroit, "Highway Patrol," Saturday, 6-6:30 P.M. registers a 23.5 rating with a 43 per cent share of audience.

On WMAL-TV in Washington, D. C., "Science Fiction Theatre" for five years, in the Sunday, 6-6:30 P.M. time spot, has dominated the half-hour with a consistent rating pattern of between 18 and 20.

At KSTP-TV, St. Paul, Minnesota, Economee's "Mr. D.A." — 10:30-11:00 P.M., Wednesdays — has averaged a 20.6 rating over the years it has been shown there. "Harbor Command" on the same station at 10:30-11:00 P.M., Tuesdays, with a 50 per cent share of audience, is another example of a series which is faring better as an Economee re-run than it did in its first viewing on the station.

In Nashville, on WSIX-TV, Monday—Friday, 6-6:30 P.M., "Mr. D.A." records an average of 29.2 in the Nielsen tabulation.

The only true measure of a show is its vitality — not only in winning audience but in influencing sales. Economee shows, properly programmed, provide that vitality at lower cost.

In a phrase: there is now greater economy in vitality programming . . . because of the greater vitality of Economee programs.

'Nowness' Quality Of Television Programming Meets Public Need

By BILL TODMAN
Goodson-Todman Production

TOO many members of the broadcasting fraternity have an inferiority complex. They cringe whenever critics of the industry bark. Instead of standing up and defending what is good and original in television, they assume a defensive pose and merely mutter that they will try to do better.

What these defensive broadcasters fail to realize is that attackers of TV themselves are frequently illogical. Their criticism condemns shows as a type rather than on individual merit. Certain critics invariably prefer poor documentaries to good westerns, or bad public service programs to well-executed audience participation shows.

This attitude represents a prejudicial judgement which is harmful to the industry and the public. You would never hear a Broadway reviewer claim that the trouble with the theatre is that there are too many musicals; his brief would be that there are not enough good musicals.

I believe the same criteria should be applied to TV. When we produce a bad program, please let us know about it. But don't condemn an important type of programming because it is not to your taste.

Critics to the contrary notwithstanding, I feel that a type of programming most frequently under fire — the audience participation, game and panel show — makes a valuable contribution. In a sense, these programs represent TV at its live best.

TV's finest hours come in presentations of reality, when the quality of "nowness" is present. Reality may be imparted through both information and entertainment programs. The information area covers such live programming as sports events, political conventions, press conferences, newscasts, etc.

In the entertainment area featuring "nowness," audience participation, game and panel shows are outstanding. Here, people are presented as they really are. A genuine human drama is played out while viewers are given an opportunity to participate vicariously in their homes. These shows are the only original contributions of broadcasting.

I know it's fashionable to rap game shows as intellectually unstimulating. But the mail we receive at Goodson-Todman reflects the public feeling and seems to refute that argument. We consistently hear from a variety of obviously intelligent men and women — ranging from supreme court justices to leaders of industry — telling us that the only programs they watch are game shows, sporting events and/or news interviews.

What these people are telling us is that they appreciate the quality of immediacy, the "nowness" of TV. That's why I maintain that this kind of programming satisfies a genuine need.

Even the lesson of the quiz show scandals has been twisted. After they broke, some critics tried to equate all audience participation shows with overtones of corruption. The canard was simply not true.

Because there is a public need for game shows, they outlasted their critics. As we predicted, they are now making a comeback on daytime video, and I believe they will have a resurgence on nighttime TV as well.

Big money for prizes probably will not be a factor. Money alone will not make a show if the game itself is not interesting and intriguing. In any event, there will be no question of "rigging" because the public is so skeptical that the slightest hint of control would make the show a failure.

We in the industry needn't be apologetic about this phenomenon of the game show. We should defend it for what it is . . . a bastion of reality on television and a unique entertainment form native to the medium.

A few years ago, Flamingo challenged the stale concepts of tv film distribution. We rejected Hollywood's pot-boilers and called for the programming of distinguished international features. With confidence in the growing demand for quality, we introduced the exciting Critics' Award and Festival Packages. Our courage and foresight were rewarded with success. Today, in the same fine tradition, we offer the regal Imperial Package. Our days of pioneering are over. Flamingo is the established leader of an expanding field.

We are a dynamic organization dedicated to superior programming. Not content with past victories, Flamingo hurls the challenge anew.

The imaginative Nutty Squirrels Tales is the most attractive property in the cartoon market. And let competition beware . . . Flamingo distributes the top-rating favorite Superman, which reaffirms our standard: the very best entertainment for every age and taste.

A Family Is A Lot Of People And MGM-TV Meets Their Tastes

By JOHN BURNS
V. P. in Charge of TV Sales, M-G-M-TV

CALL it what you will, a cycle or a trend, it's in the air and on the airwaves that the great American family is coming into its own again. The great American family is multi-millioned, the school-goers, the church-goers, the solid workers, the substantial business people, and they've got the biggest pocketbook, population-wise, of all of our citizens.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Television, in its new streamlined 1960-61 programming, covers all possible tastes. It's apparent that Leo the M-G-M Lion has sensed the ever-growing hunger for TV subjects with whole-family appeal and has made available for America's greatest cross-section of TV-users a rich entertainment menu to satisfy their insistent wishes. Three of its current offerings are entertainments ideally suited for whole-family viewing, and two are straight action and excitement.

The showmanship instinct which has ever been the heritage of the world's greatest Studio is evident in its approach to its TV series. True to its reputation of "star builder," M-G-M seeks to present and develop new personalities in each of its entertainments.

One of the offerings tailor-made for the vast family trade, "National Velvet," has already made its mark, with 32 episodes already completed. As we go to press its ratings are far out-stripping a long-time famed competitor. This is the first TV series to win a citation from Parents Magazine Publications' "Calling All Girls." It also garnered the Los Angeles Critics' Award for the "outstanding family television show." Its leading lady, Lori Martin, is building into a top-flight popular favorite. In early April she achieved the cover and an article in TV Guide about her series. "National Velvet" will be with us for a long time over NBC-TV on Sunday nights.

A second series that's perfect for the entire family is "Dr. Kildare," now headed for renewed fame when it premieres next September over NBC-TV on Thursday nights. The prediction is already being made that the young actor who plays the role of "Dr. Kildare" will capture the hearts of practically every female. The role of Dr. Gillespie is played by Raymond Massey.

In "Father of The Bride," MGM-TV presents another new-star candidate in the person of Myrna Fahey. This series is a natural to fill the current yearning for entertainment designed to win whole-family popularity. The cast includes Leon Ames, Ruth Warrick and others. "Father of The Bride" will have its premiere on September 29, over CBS-TV on Fridays.

In the field of straight drama and suspenseful staccato action series, MGM-TV is already in full stride with "The Asphalt Jungle." Waiting for its fall premiere is "Cain's Hundred."

"The Asphalt Jungle" is seen over ABC-TV on Sunday nights. At press-time, although a new series in a new time slot, it has come up to expectations in audience response and in trade paper appraisal. It stars Jack Warden, Arch Johnson and Bill Smith.

September will also see the inaugural of a new MGM-TV dramatic series, "Cain's Hundred," from which great things are anticipated. This series in which ex-gangland lawyer Nicholas Cain has as his quarry the 100 leaders of organized crime in America today, will be shown over NBC-TV on Tuesdays. MGM-TV has cast Mark Richman in the principal role. The first episode confirms the advance forecasts that he will be one of next season's talked about TV favorites.

When They Know You By Your Shows — Watch Out

By JEROME HYAMS
V.P. & General Manager, Screen Gems, Inc.

IN THIS AGE of specialization, television has found that specialization is the most dangerous habit into which it can fall.

I know there are production houses whose current success gives the lie to this assertion. But I don't envy any company whose reputation has been built by its knack for any one kind of format. Times change, especially in television, and unless you're in a diversified position you'll have difficulty changing with them.

Screen Gems is lucky in this respect. Our first full-scale series was a dramatic anthology, "Ford Theater." This gave us experience in almost every possible format, and identified us with no single one. Almost everything we've done since then has tended to diversify our experience even further.

That was a good time to get started, eight to ten years ago. In those days the dramatic anthology was considered a basic of the business. Three of the four largest production companies currently represented on the nighttime network schedule were deeply involved with anthologies at that time.

But not everyone was that lucky, or smart. In the scramble to get a toe hold on the business, certain companies felt impelled to follow up on their strongest effort and make a specialty of it.

In those days, if you'd been around the business for awhile, you didn't have to read the credits to find out which studio produced certain shows. All you had to do was to listen to the sound track for five minutes.

But, sad to say, those producers who'd become so specialized that they left their hallmark on their every production were actually drafting their epitaphs, whether they knew it or not. One producer who'd struck pay dirt with happy shows unhappily went bankrupt. The leader of the swash-buckling trend quickly rode it into the ground, and had to retreat to another line of specialization.

That could happen again.

To maintain a diversified position you have to keep coming up with new, original, different shows and methods. That's not easy. Perhaps only the professionally creative people know how difficult it is to be truly original. Usually, the trend is against it.

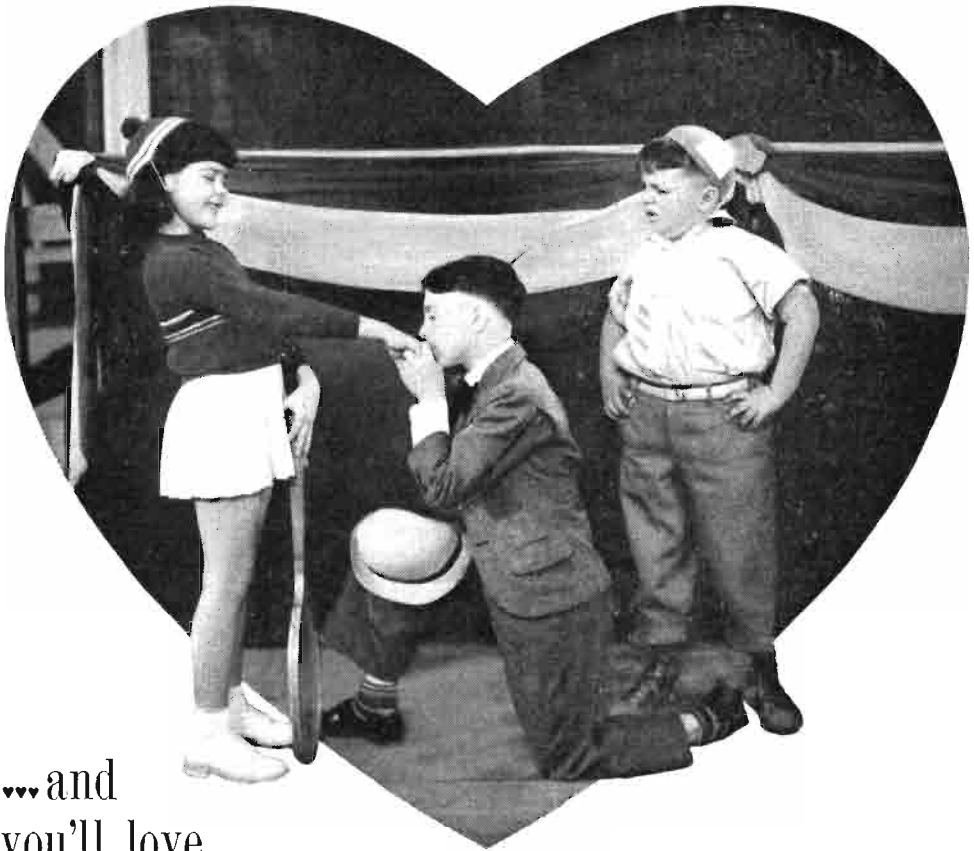

It's the responsibility of the top management of the production and distribution companies, and of the networks to see to it that new fires are constantly being lighted. A help in this cause is to keep the door always open to independent creative talent. If Screen Gems had not been so disposed in 1957, Bill Hanna and Joe Barbera, for instance, might still not be in television. Aside from the fact that their success is profitable, it also gives us the satisfaction of knowing we'd been right when there was no trend to confirm it.

Screen Gems' most recent move by way of diversification was to associate with independent producers for the development of live programs.

Coming after our 10 years of making film shows, and when the film tide is running high, this surprised many. But there's hardly a better time to start something than when the tide is against it, because that means that tide is about to turn. When Screen Gems first entered the TV market 10 years ago, TV was basically a live medium, but that tide turned.

We think we will have something fresh to offer in live programming, both specials and series, dramatic and musical, game and panel shows. Of course, nobody can tell when we'll be able to get our live properties on the air. But the opportunity will arise sooner or later. And when it does, we'll be ready.

ZIV-UA Means Business With 'Quality In Quantity'

By LEN FIRESTONE
V.P., Syndication Sales, Ziv-United Artists, Inc.

THE business of television is more than business at Ziv-UA. Here we believe that it is our obligation to put more into our present production in order to increase our yield to the public in the future.

In reverse, we believe that quality is not only good TV, it is also good business. In fact, we have discovered that quality is actually the parent of quantity. Good shows that won't die are the difference between a warehouse and a library. We have the greatest library of its kind in the world.

Between this catalog and its steady output of at least a half dozen first-run series a year, we have become the largest and only consistent source of continuing supply of syndicated programs in TV today.

In short, Ziv-UA means business in the best sense of the word, in a chain that includes the station, advertiser and consuming public, whose buying power is the vital link that completes the circle.

Ziv-UA's complete and expertly researched sales plans are the product of time and people and rich experience that make them unrivalled in their field. They include built-in merchandising and promotion opportunities that have been tested in action, as have the men who are sent to put the plans into practice for our clients.

"Your Ziv-UA man" is more than a designation. It describes a carefully picked executive whose grasp and personality measure up to a standard of service that has been built up over the years through contact with the needs of advertisers and stations. His "theatre of operations" takes in national spot and regional advertisers, as well as local sponsors and stations; and his arsenal consists of some of the top-caliber productions in syndication, headed by some of the brightest stars in the theatre.

Included in Ziv-UA's 12 year cavalcade of hits are what are recorded in the industry as the three crowning successes of the syndication business: "Highway Patrol," "Sea Hunt" and "I Led Three Lives."

"Highway Patrol" anticipated by several seasons the popularity of the law-enforcement program in TV; out-living still, almost all its imitators. It is currently among the top-rated and best product-selling shows in syndication.

Companions to "Highway Patrol" in the field of "quality that sells" are, "Men of Annapolis," "Science Fiction Theatre," "Mr. District Attorney," "Mackenzie's Raiders" and "Favorite Story."

"Sea Hunt," starring Lloyd Bridges and produced by Ivan Tors, represents in some ways, the peak of American syndication. The freshest idea in TV at its inception, it bucked every trend and prophecy to become the longest-running and most distinguished top-rated series in the market-by-market arena today.

New Ziv-UA successes are "Case of the Dangerous Robin," "Tombstone Territory" and "Lock Up." Other best-sellers include "Harbor Command," "Dr. Christian," "Bold Venture" and "This Man Dawson."

And yet the listing here only begins to scratch the depth of Ziv-UA "quality in quantity;" just as the names of some of its stars are only part of the sound of success at Ziv-UA: Lloyd Bridges, Brod Crawford, Macdonald Carey, Lee Bowman, Richard Carlson, Keith Andes, Dane Clark, Adolphe Menjou, Rick Jason, Pat Conway, among many more.

The sum of all of this is that there is business in quality . . . and quality in business. And by those terms, Ziv-UA means business—more and more business for its clients.

Syndication Upbeat In Non-Network Markets

By HERBERT S. SCHLOSSER
V.P. & General Manager, California National Productions

PRIMARY emphasis in programming for television is on network schedules. The entire spectrum of the broadcast industry is absorbed in the constant shifting and alterations in the program agendas. Shop talk fills the air with program grosses and nets, above and below-the-line costs, and the innumerable problems involved in getting a show airborne. As an invaluable vehicle for advertising the goods and services of their national clientele, no one questions the continuing prosperity of network operations.

Yet, all too often, the importance of non-network program distribution in the nation's economy is ignored. Here, for example, is some arithmetic derived from CNP's own impressive contributions in TV: Currently, CNP has 35 program series, averaging 39 half-hours each, over 374 stations in the U. S. alone. These provide for some 175,000 sponsor messages per annum — millions upon millions of commercial impressions.

Here, obviously, is an important medium of the communications arts that has taken its rightful place in TV, and must continue to grow within it.

Despite this, the past year has witnessed a tendency to over-emphasize the difficulties faced by syndicators, rather than to examine their growth potentials. The trade press often has carried statements of industry spokesmen predicting the imminent demise of the industry. They have cited lack of sufficient station time periods for new product, an excess of program series, increases in production costs without counterbalancing advances in sales prices, etc.

Close examination reveals these dire comments make sense only when applied to a segment of syndication that, for all practical purposes, has already stopped breathing. I refer to program distribution on a market-by-market basis in advance of obtaining regional or sizeable multi-market sales. That way lies disaster — and every syndicator worth his salt knows it. The day has long passed when a distributor would invest large sums in hopes of putting together enough single market sales to emerge with a profit.

However, the story is different if a program's distribution is initiated with a sale to one of the major regional advertisers. The market areas of these advertisers are carved out of large, populous sections of the country. They require TV quality worthy of their high acceptance by the consumers. The key to success in program distribution lies with these large regional buyers.

Advantages of the regional sale are obvious. For the distributor, they are strong proof of his program's acceptance; the momentum thus generated sparks added sales in other cities; station time periods become more easily available; even before the general sales effort is launched, the program takes on the look of a hit.

For the regional advertiser, it brings sponsor identification, contrasted with the shortcomings of spot purchases; he can avail himself of inherent merchandising possibilities; he may utilize the star's popularity for traffic-building personal appearances and original commercials; there's no waste coverage — he buys only those cities that fit his marketing pattern.

At CNP, we are firmly convinced that, as part of the expanding national economy and of TV in particular, non-network program distribution will continue to play an important part in TV advertising. We recognize viewers' tastes have matured and that the public demands quality programming—good scripts, performed by talented actors under the supervision of experts. This is precisely what we intend to deliver in 1961.

ITC's 'New Frontiers' In '61 Aimed At Growth Markets

By ABE MANDELL

V.P., Sales and Administration, Independent Television Corp.

THE rising costs of production make it impossible for the average producer to introduce new product with the hope of recovering his costs the first time around. The high residual costs plus competition for available syndication time slots, make the prospect of cost recovery on subsequent runs or off-network telecasts even less appealing. Indeed, series which only receive one year of network exposure are becoming drugs on the syndication market, because of the stigma attached by buyers to series which do not receive network renewal. Add to this the pressure of networks for one hour programming, half-hour programs cable-fed but locally sold, network campaigns for one-minute spot sales on national programs, the long-standing competition of feature length movies for available time slots and sponsor's money, and you have a situation that can literally spell disaster for the standard television film distributor.

Through its access to world markets and world distribution, ITC can bring top quality product to the U. S. markets with a needed return from domestic sales that can withstand the market conditions prevailing today. Based on this situation, ITC can count on a minimum of four new series a year, (half-hour or one hour), to meet the needs of the U. S. market.

Under the guidance of Leslie Harris, who is in charge of our international production, ITC will be taking advantage of talent and facilities everywhere in the world. We intend to bring more producers and creativity to our production setup. We will, before long, have established a production alliance here in the States, so that we will have production for network, syndication, etc., both here and abroad. Our mobile tape facilities have already been used by such network programs as Jack Paar, Person To Person, Leonard Bernstein, NBC News, CBS News, etc.

ITC recently sold the Danger Man series to the CBS network. Similarly, full production in the Whiplash series has just been concluded in Australia, and will bring the same high values to U. S. television screens.

We have sold a one-hour spectacular—A Night at the London Palladium — to NBC, to be aired this Fall as the first in a projected series of one-hour musical variety spectacles, using the format of the London Palladium. A series of 13 one-hour specials starring Jo Stafford, and featuring guest stars, will be produced this summer.

We have added a sports division which is offering exciting and informative series like Magic Moments in Sports starring Leo Durocher; Golf Tips of the Day starring Dow Finsterwald; and the 30-minute series, Campy's Corner with Roy Campanella.

We have just concluded a successful sales campaign on the Best of the Post series, bringing top quality product produced in color to the syndication markets. The sales figures indicate that quality production will bring results.

Diver Dan, a series of 104 puppet cartoon episodes, filmed in color, has been introduced by ITC for world-wide sale. A new concept based upon an electronic puppet device will form the basis of a half-hour children's show — "Mike Mercury and Supercar," which will shortly be introduced.

The substantial increase in world markets has caused us to expand our activities more firmly than ever in this area. This is all part of our pattern of immediate adaptability which we intend to keep fresh and vital on a current basis.

This adds up to one conclusion—1961 will find ITC stronger than ever as it pushes forward its new frontiers in the television industry.

American Society Of Composers, Authors and Publishers

By STANLEY ADAMS
President

THE American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers is a performing right organization, founded in 1914 by the late Victor Herbert and a group of his colleagues. The Society functions as a clearing house for the performing rights of the creators of music and their publishers.

The performing right is granted by the United States Government under the Federal Copyright Law. This right entitles composers, authors and publishers of musical compositions to payment for their works whenever they are performed publicly for profit.

Through ASCAP, any user of music may obtain from a single source the right to perform the works of more than 5800 writers and 1650 publishers who are members of the Society, at a minimum expense and without the necessity of negotiating for each separate use.

ASCAP's extensive repertory covers every phase of American music literature. In addition to the best-loved popular and show music, it includes the finest country and western music, church and sacred selections, and a catalog of much of our contemporary classical music: symphonic, chamber and choral works and recital selections.

Radio and television broadcasters have access to this entire repertory when they obtain an ASCAP license. This license guarantees them a clearance on all ASCAP composers' and publishers' music; at the same time it provides for the writers a sustained livelihood from the works of their own creation, and a means of enabling publishers to invest in the exploitation of new works.

The Society's Board of Directors consists of twelve writer and twelve publisher members elected biennially by the writer-and-publisher-membership respectively. Its officers are elected annually. Headquarters are located at 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, New York. It maintains twenty-three branch offices in major cities throughout the country.

OFFICERS OF ASCAP: President: Stanley Adams; Vice-President: Louis Bernstein; Vice-President: Otto A. Harbach; Secretary: Deems Taylor; Ass't Secretary: Arthur Schwartz; Treasurer: Frank H. Connor; Ass't Treasurer: J. J. Bregman.

Broadcast Music, Inc.

By CARL HAVERLIN
President

THE United States Copyright law provides that the authors and publishers of music have the right to be compensated when their music is performed publicly for profit. This right also exists under the laws of every major country of the world.

Broadcast Music, Inc. — BMI — acquires these performing rights from independent writers and publishers, collects license fees from the organizations which perform music for profit, and, in turn, makes payment to the creators of the music which is used. As a performing rights licensing organization, BMI serves the composers, publishers and users of all types of music. BMI's services are available to all persons who perform music and who wish to avail themselves of BMI's repertory and to all writers and publishers who desire to grant performing rights to it.

BMI licenses the music composers and publishers who are resident in every one of the United States. Through agreements with performing rights societies in other countries, it makes American music available throughout the world and brings the music of foreign countries to America.

The past twenty years have seen two decades of unprecedented economic, technical, and cultural growth in American music. We at BMI think that the free, open competition that BMI brought to the performing rights licensing field has contributed significantly to that growth.

For the future, BMI looks forward to serving many thousands more of the creators of music and many more of the businesses that use music as part of their service to the public. It will continue to deal justly and fairly with both the creators of music and those enterprises which enable that music to be heard. It will continue to maintain its open-door policy for the benefit of all persons who wish to gain the public ear and to be rewarded if their works win favor. It will continue to serve the public by making music from every part of our country and from all quarters of the world available for public performance.

OFFICERS OF BMI: President: Carl Haverlin; Vice-President & General Counsel: Sydney M. Kaye; Vice-President, in charge Station Relations, Glenn R. Dolberg; Vice-President in charge Foreign Relations, Jean Geiringer; Vice-President in charge Domestic Performing Rights Administration and Secretary, Robert J. Burton; Vice-President in charge Publisher and Writer Relations, Robert B. Sour; Ass't Vice-President in charge Publisher and Writer Relations, Richard Kirk; Ass't Vice-President in charge Publisher Relations, Theodora Zavin; Comptroller, Edward J. Molinelli; Treasurer and Ass't Secretary, Robert J. Higgins.

DIRECTORS (Elected Annually): Chairman, Sydney M. Kaye; Alfred R. Beckman, John Elmer, Carl Haverlin, Dwight Martin, Herbert Hollister, Leonard Kapner, Paul W. Morency, John F. Patt, William Regan, J. Leonard Reinsch, J. Harold Ryan, G. Richard Shafto, E. R. Vadeboncoeur.

President

NINETEEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY-ONE marks SESAC's 30th anniversary of services to the broadcasting industry. It was in February, 1931 that we first opened our doors as America's second performance licensing organization. The years that followed saw many changes occur — changes not only in the increasing number of stations on the air, but in the very heart of the industry, its programming.

As the number of AM stations increased and television made greater inroads in the market, radio programming developed a new look and broadcasters searched endlessly for new and exciting program concepts. SESAC kept pace with these changing demands and provided the industry with a well balanced array of outstanding music from more than 300 catalogs of publisher-affiliates including many of the top firms in the music world. In television, too, SESAC copyrighted material has been invaluable in providing the answer to the many TV music needs.

Early in 1958, SESAC began producing and distributing without charge to the nation's broadcasters "repertory recordings"—handsomely packaged 45 rpm discs featuring the leading artists from every major record label performing new songs and standards from the vast and diversified SESAC copyrighted repertory. To date, more than 350,000 of these eagerly awaited albums have been distributed to radio and television stations throughout the United States and Canada, and our files presently include close to 50,000 testimonials from station personnel.

During each of SESAC's 30 great years, its huge catalog has been enhanced through the addition of new publisher-affiliates. The year 1960 alone brought forth such all-time SESAC hits as Jack Scott's memorable recording of "BURNING BRIDGES," Jackie Wilson's "DOGGIN' AROUND," Lonnie Sattin's "I'LL FLY AWAY," and the Anita Kerr Singers' "STRANGE LITTLE MELODY."

In 1956, SESAC moved to its present modern and efficient offices in the Coliseum Tower, located in the heart of Manhattan. This move was another milestone in SESAC's record of progress, for in our new quarters, we are better equipped to serve you, the broadcaster. We extend to each of you, a cordial invitation to visit our offices and to meet the members of the SESAC family. Here also are the catalogs of all SESAC publishers kept available for quick and easy reference by broadcasters or by the countless recording artists who review and refer to them when planning their personal appearances or recording sessions. In 1940, SESAC listed 69 publisher-affiliates with a total of 125 catalogs. Today, just 21 years later, there are 141 publisher-affiliates with 318 different catalogs.

At the Coliseum Tower, too, are the producers of SESAC Recordings, which have already been sold to more than 1300 stations throughout the United States and Canada and this list continues to grow as each week passes. The service consists of top-quality, twelve-inch long-playing albums, which feature the truly great artists of our time in every conceivable field of music.

A recent addition to the SESAC RECORDINGS Program Service, was the "DRUMMERS" which in themselves are a notable milestone on SESAC's roster of accomplishments. Included are big band sound sales starters, themes, station promos and weather, news and time signals at their tasty commercial best.

During 1960, SESAC introduced for the very first time anywhere, a special series of "DRUMMERS" produced especially for the country music broadcaster. Recorded in the country music capital of the world, Nashville, Tennessee, these long-awaited sales and programming aids were immediately acclaimed by C & W stations from coast to coast and during 1961, SESAC will further expand this series.

London's Television Made Major Strides During 1960

By PAUL ADORIAN
Managing Director, Associated-Rediffusion Ltd.

THE past year has been a tremendously important one for Associated Rediffusion Ltd. who provide independent television programmes for London from Monday to Friday each week.

January, 1960 saw the start of one of the most popular drama series transmitted by Associated-Rediffusion—the short stories of Somerset Maugham adapted for television.

In February, we signed a new agreement with the Hallé Orchestra to give financial backing to 78 concerts over the next three years. This is part of our patronage of the arts and part of our endeavour to encourage the provision of programmes for minorities.

Our popular schools programmes are gaining international recognition and in the spring our Head of Schools visited Sweden in connection with the introduction of schools television there and also to the U. S. A. in connection with the international exchange of such programmes. Some of our schools programmes are now being transmitted on the National Educational Television Network of the U.S.A.

A Children's Week took place in May, during which an exhibition of children's programmes was shown at the National Film Theatre.

In June, we opened Studio 5 at Wembley, the largest television studio in the world. The facilities this studio offers have very much helped our production staff and we have been able to extend both the range and number of our programmes.

We have increased our activities in the export field with the opening in July of an International Division for the exploitation of our programmes overseas. One of the achievements following this action was the formation of an International Television Federation (known as INTERTEL) to produce high quality television programmes to produce a wider knowledge of contemporary world affairs and a better mutual understanding of world problems in the four participating countries, i. e. Australia, Canada, the U. S. A. and the United Kingdom.

Our light entertainment programmes continued to be popular, and during September, the quiz show "Take Your Pick" celebrated its 200th transmission.

Feature programmes of a high calibre were transmitted during the year, and in particular, one can mention the 60 minute programme "The Two Faces of Japan," which was transmitted over the network in November, and was sold to the U. S. A., Japan, Australia and Canada.

From December, we have repeated the schools French language series "Chez les Dupre" for adults in London, becoming the first foreign language series on television scheduled for evening viewing by adults in this country.

These were just a few items from a year's work but they should not be considered as necessarily the most important. One of the reasons that makes Associated-Rediffusion so vital is that every programme from the shortest to the longest, the most inexpensive to the most costly, is treated by us as equally important.

Global Television Programmes Pioneered By Great Britain

By VAL PARNELL
Managing Dir., Associated Television Ltd.

AN exciting new outlook has begun to invade the television screens of the world.

Not only in Britain and the U. S. A. but in other countries too, television is now being planned on an international basis. Major programmes are being made not only for screening in the countries of origin—but for distribution in overseas markets as well.

In short, Global TV is here. In Britain, my company has been the pioneer in producing programs for the international market. Our U. S. sales—made through our American subsidiary, the Independent Television Corporation—include such network deals as “Robin Hood” and “Danger Man.” We have also made big strides in the syndication market with such products as “Four Just Men” and “Interpol Calling.”

Recently we embarked on another new film series “Ghost Squad,” based on Scotland Yard’s undercover men. We are producing this in association with the Rank Organisation on a budget of $1,500,000.

These film series, however, are only part of the story. Our company has developed a $300,000 mobile recording unit which is now operating throughout Europe. This unit, first of its kind, records programmes on videotape on the American system of 525 lines.

It is being used by ABC, CBS and NBC, both for co-production deals and for exclusive assignments for American viewers.

Last year we taped a whole week of programs here for Jack Paar and NBC. This spring he was here again taping one-hour inserts in the Carlton Towers Hotel in London.

Naturally, we are delighted to be associated with American television in this way and to be in a position to provide your networks with these facilities.

In April, we opened our new $14,000,000 Studio Centre at Elstree, Herts, covering 31 acres, and just 14 miles from the center of London. These are the most modern in the world and provide us with the largest studio space of any TV organisation in Britain. All the equipment is capable of working on the 405 line British standard; the 525 60 frame American system and the 625 European line standard. It is here that we will be taping a series of Jo Stafford shows—for world wide showing.

We are already placing our own British made TV series in 40 countries including Finland, Yugoslavia, Thailand and Poland. Our programs are seen on more than 1,000 TV stations.

For our “Sunday Night at the London Palladium” TV series, we book the biggest international stars available. This is Britain’s premier teledrama show, live from the Palladium stage before a theatre audience. We will be taping some of the these programs for U. S. viewers in the autumn.

We produce this show each week, building the programme around our headline star. From the viewers’ point of view we aim to give each one of them a seat in the greatest music hall in the world.

But our output is not confined to vaudeville. We are getting big overseas sales with our hour long semi-documentary series. One of these is “Probation Officer,” the story of behind-the-scenes in a London magistrates’ court. Another popular programme which has just started in Australia is our twice weekly hospital serial “Emergency-Ward 10.”

As Global TV develops, we in Britain will be bringing performers of calibre to viewers screens everywhere — from Alaska to Sydney; from Tokyo to Beirut.

British Television In Its Year Of Decision

By PETER C. DAVALLE
Radio-TV Daily, London Bureau

THE British TV scene is shot through with exciting rhythms—and not a few discordant passages. To continue the musical metaphor, there's a demand for a third clef, too. And, inevitably, there are the occasional sour notes!

First, the rhythms. The "Battle of the Lines" is hotting up. The Government's Television Advisory Committee say: "Scrap the present 40 five line system and adopt 625." But the Radio Industry Council, representing 80 per cent of the country's TV set manufacturers, insist that there should be no change yet. They say a switch to 625 would lead to a 15 to 20 year delay in giving national coverage on more than three channels (there are only two at present, BBC TV and the Independent Network).

The Government seems determined to keep colour TV waiting in the ante room although the BBC says it is ready and willing to open the door to admit it.

The year 1961 will go down as the year of Pilkington. This is the Government-ordained committee which, in surveying the future of TV and sound broadcasting in Britain, has invited recommendations from practically every public body with an interest in both media of entertainment. Commerce, the Church, politics, the Arts—all have welcomed the opportunity to vent their feelings about TV in general—and about the proposed third TV channel in particular. Whether this channel should be BBC-run or ITA-run, has split public opinion sharply in two. Few people have challenged the need for the additional channel itself.

So far as the prospects for toll-TV are concerned, there is a great deal of surmise and at least two definite sets of proposals.

One comes from the influential Rank Organisation who have said that it does not matter whether British toll-TV should be the broadcast or the line system. What does matter, they say, is that the system must be British. And they add that the American domination of the film industry should act as a stern warning in this respect.

The Kinematograph Renters' Society—representing all the film renters in the country—is more specific in calling for toll-TV by wire and thinks an organisation "basically similar" to the I. T. A. should run it. But both Ranks and the K.R.S. find themselves on common ground in insisting that toll-TV must not become subject to monopoly control but that "extensive" licenses should be granted.

Encouraging feature in both BBC TV and the I.T.A. progress reports has been the steadily expanding overseas sales and the stepping up of income from service fees (as in the case of the CBS-BBC series "The Valiant Years," based on the Churchill memoirs). The BBC point with pride to the U. S. success of their "Third Man" and "Age of Kings" and have high hopes of a similar success with their "Maigret" series which have achieved, and sustained, high ratings in Britain.

Perhaps the most dramatic success story of the year so far as TV film production and sales are concerned, comes from ATV which has crashed through the American peak-hour TV barrier with its "Danger Man" series. And ATV, through its wholly-owned subsidiary the Independent Television Corporation has announced a production schedule for 1961 that is giving the entire British TV film industry a much-needed filip.

Program Contractors Appointed By ITA

Independent Television Authority provides and operates transmitters for commercial television. Program Contractors produce programs and receive revenue from sales of advertising time, paying rent to ITA for the hire of transmitters.

Radio Sets And Wired Speakers World-Wide Distribution, 1960

At the end of 1960, there were about 188,000,000 radio sets and an additional 40,000,000 wired speakers in the world, exclusive of the United States and Canada. This figure of 188 million radio sets, however, cannot be compared with the figure of 166 million reported as of the end of 1959. The difference of 22 million sets was mainly brought about by an unusual development in the statistical reporting of the Soviet Union. In 1959, the U.S.S.R. had reported the number of radio sets (apart from wired speakers) as follows: (millions) 1956—7.4; 1957—8.3; 1958—9.6. In 1960, their new report revised the figures for these years as follows: 1956—16.3; 1957—19.0; and 1958—21.7. The 1959 total is reported as 24.7 million.

This is an admission that 12 to 14 million radio sets for 1956 to 1958 have suddenly been discovered, thus casting doubt on the reliability of Soviet statistics. It is, therefore, evident that usual methods of computing annual growth, percentages of expansion, etc., cannot be maintained this year as this new development affects the statistics of several past years.

International TV Roundup

By Areas And Countries

Overseas television continued to expand strongly during the past year. Among the highlights of 1960 were the introduction of commercial television in Ecuador, the United Arab Republic and the Netherlands Antilles; the official opening of Norway's television network; the great success of the television coverage of the Olympic Games in Rome; the rapid growth of television in Sweden; and the continued rapid growth of television in Japan.

WESTERN EUROPE

DENMARK

With the opening of the transmitting station at Aarsbolle on Bornholm Island, the whole of metropolitan Denmark received television coverage. The transmitter is tied to the Danish TV Center in Copenhagen by means of a relay line crossing southern Sweden. For the coming year, Denmark's television budget of 42,500,000 kroner (about $6,000,000) surpasses its radio budget by about a million dollars.

FRANCE

Last July, RTF began relaying TV signals from France to Algeria by means of a relay station on the Island of Majorca. Algerian viewers claimed excellent reception, superior even to local TV transmissions. This Paris-Algiers relay has been made permanent, and RTF officials hope to transmit live programs from Algeria to France in the near future.

About 15,000 TV sets were located in public places in France, the greatest number (5,181) being in the Toulouse region. In addition, 3,317 were in the Lyon region, and 2,207 in the Paris region.

Nothing definite has come to light regarding the proposed second network in France.

WEST GERMANY

Despite the Laender's strong opposition to the Federal Government's activities in the radio and television broadcasting field, the government continues preparations for commencing a second TV program this year. The plan prepared by the Bundespost makes provision for the construction of 82 transmitters (not including satellite stations destined ultimately to cover shadow areas). The frequency plan and the locations of the first 28 of these stations have been published by the Bundespost. The effective radiated power of each transmitter will be related to local requirements and will vary between 100 and 500 kilowatts and will serve 65 per cent of the population.

The second TV program to be transmitted over this network is to be the responsibility of a commercial company established under private law, the "Deutschland-Fernsehen GmbH." Originally the company was to be owned by the Federal Government (51 per cent) and the Laender (49 per cent). However, since the Laender refused to take over their share, the other 49 per cent has now been transferred to the Federal Government, thus making it sole owner of the company.

The financing of the second TV program is still an open question. While the Federal Government may try to take part of the current TV license fee revenues for its TV company, advertising revenues are expected to finance a large portion of the costs of the second TV program.

ITALY

The inauguration of the second television network for Italy, repeatedly postponed, has now been set for the fall of 1961. The Italian Minister of Telecommunications stated that when the second network becomes operative, it will at first reach only the major Italian centers such as Milan, Rome, Turin, and Naples. By the end of 1962, 32 transmitters and 11 repeaters will allow reception of the second channel over two-thirds of the country's territory.

The Italian network currently consists of 28 main transmitters and 358 repeater stations. Plans call for the construction of 201 additional repeaters, and a coverage of 98 per cent.

In a decision handed down in July, the Italian Supreme Court upheld the constitutionality of the Italian TV monopoly held by RAI-TV, stating that this arrangement "best guarantees impartiality and objectivity of services, especially due to natural limitations for the medium."

As of January 1, 1961, Italian TV subscribers pay only $20 a year as against $23 paid previously. At the time of the inauguration of TV in Italy in 1954, the license fee was $30.

NORWAY

After a six-year experimental period, Norway's television network was officially opened by King Olaf. The network now includes three transmitters and two converters. Oslo's Tryvasshogda transmitter, covering an area with about 500,000 residents, will be boosted from 10 kw. to 100 kw. when finished in 1961-1962. The Bergen transmitter makes TV available to some 300,000 in Western Norway. The Kongsberg transmitter of 1 kw. will be expanded to 60 kw. Frequency converters for Skien-Porsgrunn and Kongsvinger will be replaced by transmitters of 60 kw. and 10 kw. respectively. Plans call for several more transmitters, and by 1970 TV coverage will extend to 80 per cent of the population. About 20,000 receivers have been registered so far.

PORTUGAL

The Portuguese television network now covers 85 per cent of the country.

SWEDEN

With the estimated one million sets in use, Sweden has joined the select group of West European countries with one million or more TV sets. The others are the United Kingdom, West Germany, Italy, and France. Its network now consists of 35 transmitters, and plans call for a 50 station network by 1962. At present 65 per cent of the population can enjoy good TV reception.

UNITED KINGDOM

The British Television Advisory Committee has recommended a changeover from the present 405-line TV system to the 625-line West European or CCIR system. Adoption of the latter standard with 8 mc. channel spacing, as is proposed for UHF (ultra-high frequency) in Europe, would be introduced initially in Bands IV and V. The report points out that the introduction of TV in the UHF bands provides "the last opportunity for changing to 625-line standards and in such circumstances recommends that this should be done." The Postmaster-General stated that a Government decision on the improved line standards was not likely to be taken until 1962. An official of one of the commercial networks estimated that the cost of such a changeover would be between $2 and $3 billion.

Referring to color television, the report stated that while future development should be on the basis of compatibility, technical and economic limitations make it undesirable to introduce color television in the near future.

The BBC launched its new Television Center in London with its first telecast in June, as the first of seven studios under construction became operational. The 45 million dollar plant occupies a 13-acre site. Four more studios will be opened this year, and the others later.

LATIN AMERICA

ARGENTINA

The first privately-owned television station in Argentina was inaugurated in June, 1960 after an eight-year government monopoly of TV activities. The station operates on channel 9, and is owned by the Compania Argentina de Television (CADETE). In addition, there is a non-commercial station in Cordoba, operating temporarily on channel 12 with an experimental license.

A third station in Buenos Aires is expected to go on the air shortly on channel 13, and following that a fourth one on channel 11. It has also been announced that 26 additional privately-owned channels will be allocated shortly for the principal provincial cities.

A telephone survey of television viewers carried out in Buenos Aires showed a marked preference for the new channel 9 station over the government-owned channel 7. This may explain a rumor that, due to high operating costs, the government-owned TV station may shortly be offered for sale to private interests.

BRAZIL

Television in Brazil is developing rapidly. There are now 19 transmitting stations in operation including relays, and the number of sets in use is very near the million mark.

COLOMBIA

Officials report that a relay system to extend television transmissions to the southern part of the country is being installed and is expected to be completed soon.

The Ministry of Education plans to import 20,000 TV sets for schools and colleges, and to organize educational television in Colombia.

COSTA RICA

Following the inauguration of television in Costa Rica on May 6, there have been reports of various other TV licenses having been granted by the government, one on channel 9, another on channel 4 to TITV, Televitica, and a third to the newspaper La Nacion on channel 5 which went on the air in March, 1961. There is general satisfaction in Costa Rica concerning the country's "coming of age" by installing television, and the fact that the country's first TV station is in private hands rather than under government control as had been recommended by a former regime.

CUBA

The Telemundo network which used to belong to Barletta is now being reorganized and will be called "Television Revolucion." The confiscated channel 12, which used to belong to Pumarejo, was rebaptized the "Revolutionary Channel." After freezing the bank accounts of the Mestre brothers, owners of the $12,000,000 radio and TV network CMQ, last May, the Castro regime finally took over the entire network in September, charging that the owners abandoned the plant and failed to keep it in working order.

ECUADOR

Ecuador's first commercial television license was granted last June, to Mr. Jose Rosenbaum for a channel 4 station in Guayaquil. This station will be called "Prima Television Ecuatoriana," and will have call-letters HCPT. The license also provides an option to install a broadcasting station in Quito, and Mr. Rosenbaum has been assured of his choice of channels 11, 12, or 13.

Located in Guayaquil's Casa de la Cultura, the new station will be powered by a Dynair transmitter operating with a power of 2 kw. Its 220 foot antenna atop the station headquarters will be one of the higher antennas in Latin America. The initial 20-hour weekly schedule will consist of approximately 75 per cent film and 25 per cent live offerings.

MEXICO

A second television station in Tijuana, XEWT-TV on channel 12, affiliated with Telesistema Mexicano, S.A., commenced operations in July. The station has a 5 kw. transmitter and "the most modern equipment in Mexico." It plans to broadcast only in Spanish from 4 p.m. to midnight daily. In Guadalupe, Television Tapatia, S.A., owned by Alberto Villar, went on the air over channel 6 in August.

According to the press, "Radio Telesora del Golfo, XHGO-TV, in Ciudad Madero, Tamaulipas was recently acquired by the Azcarraga family. Tests are being carried out to determine the feasibility of linking the station, which operates on channel 7, with Mexico City.

A link between Mexican and United States television is envisaged this year. Studies so far undertaken show that a link-up is feasible, and that the installation of three or four more transmitters will be sufficient.

NETHERLANDS ANTILLES (CURACAO)

Television was introduced in the Island of Curacao in the Netherlands Antilles last July. The station is Telecuracao, or PJC-TV on channel 8, at Willemstad. It is owned by the "Netherlands Antilles Television Concern, Ltd.," and is managed by the Bartell Broadcasting Corporation of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The station which cost $170,000 operates on 625-lines, 50 cycles and has a 500 watt transmitter with an effective radiated power of 2 kw. At present it operates daily for five hours. Reception is good, and there are an estimated 3,000 sets on the island.

The company is committed to the opening of a TV station at Aruba in 18 months, which will be designated TELARUBA, or PJA-TV on channel 6.

PANAMA

The Supreme Court of Panama handed down a decision in August, denying Radiodifusion Panamericana's petition for clarification of a previous ruling, which upheld the Executive Branch's cancellation of the corporation's license to operate television channel 2.

VENEZUELA

A survey carried out in Caracas in May, 1960 indicated that 120,000 homes (67 per cent of the total) in Caracas have television sets. Peak viewing hours ranged from 12:30 to 2 p.m., the customary lunch period in Caracas, and from 4:30 to 9:30 in the evening, with a high for the day at 8:15 p.m. In television ratings, Radio Caracas Television surpassed Televisa (currently off the air while new owners reorganize the personnel structure and modernize facilities) and Telesora Nacional, in that order.

In Maracaibo, 21,050 homes have TV sets, and the TV station, Ondas del Lago, channel 13, outstrips its only competition on channel 2, which is relayed from Caracas.

American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters has acquired a minority interest in a new Venezuelan TV network, Corporacion Venezolana de Television, S.A., which will be composed of stations in Caracas (channel 4, the former Televisa), Valencia and La Guaira (channel 9), and Barquisimeto (channel 11).

NEAR EAST & AFRICAALGERIA

Television tests were carried out in Constantine in September, and regular transmission commenced in October. It is expected that by the fall of 1961, television will be available in the cities of Bone, Batna, Philippeville, Setif, and Bougie.

CENTRAL AFRICAN FEDERATION (RHODESIA AND NYASALAND)

The first test transmissions from the new television station in Salisbury have taken place and are reported to be very successful. Several thousand TV sets have reportedly been purchased by residents of Salisbury and the surrounding areas. Rental of TV sets will be from 3-5 pounds per month ($8.40-14). Meanwhile, a closed circuit television installation was set up at the annual Agricultural and Industrial Show in Salisbury, from August 31 to September 3.

GHANA

A Canadian team of television experts has presented Ghana with a plan for the development of television within the next two years.

GREECE

Following a preliminary accord reached between the Italian and Greek Governments, Italian engineers and technicians are drafting plans for a TV-Radio project in Greece. Equipment and services required would be supplied by Italy and charged against the $15 million in World War II reparations still due Greece from Italy. The pending project envisages the establishment of Greece's first TV network at a cost tentatively estimated at $13.5 million. Other aspects include establishment of short wave stations, introduction of FM transmission facilities, improvement of the present radio system and the construction of a factory for the manufacturing of low-priced radio and TV sets and other electronic equipment.

IRAQ

According to unconfirmed sources, preliminary work has begun on television stations in Basra and Mosul, which will relay the Baghdad station's programs, and also produce special local programs. The Mosul station is said to be planning broadcasts in Kurdish, while the Basra station expects to reach Western Iran and the Persian Gulf. These stations are expected to go on the air in 1961.

KENYA

The report of the Kenya Television Commission recommends the introduction of television in Kenya, but not for at least 18 months. Its revenue is to be derived from license fees and commercial advertisements, which will be strictly controlled (there will be no sponsored programs). The first station is to be at Nairobi, and will operate in Band I of the 625-line CCIR system. English will be the basic language, with possible interpolation in Swahili and Hindustani.

INTERNATIONAL TV ROUND UP

The Kenya Minister for Information and Broadcasting, Mr. N. F. Harris, announced in London that he had sufficient backing from British sources to recommend to the government that television service should start in December 1961. He first envisages a daily program of four hours to cover about 20 to 40 miles from Nairobi, and hopes a Mombasa station could be opened within three years, followed by a station, mainly for Africans, in either Nyanza or Central Province.

LEBANON

A new television station, La Compagnie de Television du Liban et du Moyen-Orient, has been granted licenses for four TV transmitting stations. The new company, headed by Ruchdi Malouf, expects to begin transmissions early in 1961. American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters has purchased a minority interest in it.

MOROCCO

The Moroccan Government has reportedly purchased, and plans to reorganize, the now defunct television station TELMA, which originally brought TV to Morocco in 1954, but went off the air in 1956 due to financial difficulties.

NIGERIA

After the establishment of television in the Western Region of Nigeria last year, the Eastern Region has signed a contract with a British company for commercial television and radio broadcasting. A 10 kw. transmitter in Enugu operating in Band I is to initiate the television service. The Northern Region Government also announced that television was being considered for Kano, Zaria, and Kaduna.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA

According to the South African press, popular demand for television is increasing. The government's adamant attitude against the introduction of television in the near future is contrasted with the adoption of TV in Nigeria, and its imminent initiation in various other African countries. The Minister of Posts Hertzog told Parliament that, (1) TV would cost too much to install; (2) that "advertising rates would be prohibitively high" so that a commercial network would not pay; (3) that TV would "spoil our youth for leadership by exposing them to blood-and-thunder entertainment," and (4) that TV was only a piece of glass which shows pictures.

UNITED ARAB REPUBLIC

Television was inaugurated officially in the United Arab Republic last July. High government officials, in televised statements during the ceremonies, spoke of the importance of TV as a source of entertainment and education, and expressed hope that within a year TV would cover the whole of the UAR. Forty thousand sets have been imported and distributed in Cairo, and the government is negotiating for the purchase of an additional 20,000 sets from overseas suppliers.

It is reported that the UAR and Japan reached an agreement for the exchange of television films between the two countries.

FAR EAST

AUSTRALIA

National television stations are now operating in the capital city of every Australian state. The chain was completed when the Postmaster-General officially opened Tasmania's station ABT, channel 2, in Hobart. The studio of the Tasmanian station is located in a new building in the heart of Hobart while the transmitter is 4,000 feet above sea-level, almost at the top of Mount Wellington which overlooks the city of Hobart. The number of television sets in use in Australia has passed the one million mark.

JAPAN

With the bringing into service of eleven government (NHK) TV stations and four commercial stations since June, the Japanese TV network now consists of 107 transmitting stations including satellites. The number of TV sets in use is estimated at close to six million.

After some years of experimental color television in Japan, regular color TV programs were started in September, by NHK and four commercial companies. Approval for color TV service was given by the Postal Services Ministry to NHK's Tokyo and Osaka stations, Nippon Television network, Radio Tokyo, Yomiuri Television, and the Asahi Broadcasting Company.

MALAYA

The government of the Federation of Malaya plans to launch television by June, 1961. In the first six months of operation, Kuala Lumpur is expected to be the only area served, but it is hoped that a large portion of the whole country will be included before the end of the first year. Both Japanese interests and P.Y.E. have made offers to Radio Malaya to set up a TV network and to run it commercially for ten years without cost to the Federation. In return for the commercial revenue, they would cede the equipment to the Federation after ten years. The Federation turned down such offers because engineers pointed out that the equipment would not only be in poor shape at the end of ten years, but likely to be quite obsolete in these days of constant improvements.

OKINAWA

The second commercial television station owned by the Ryukyu Broadcasting Corporation went on the air in Naha, with a five kw. transmitter operating on channel 12. Programs are transmitted in English and Japanese.

SINGAPORE

Upon his return from Japan, the Minister of Culture, S. Rajaratnam, stated that the Singapore Government intended to establish a TV station. At his request, a three-man Japanese team visited Singapore in July to consult on the establishment of a TV station in the city.

THAILAND

Bids were invited last September for the construction of television stations in Lampang province in the north, and in Khon Kaen province in the northeast. Another station is planned for Haadyai in Songkhla province in the south. These three TV stations will afford coverage for 35 provinces in all in Thailand.

COMMUNIST BLOC

ALBANIA

According to a Radio Tirana broadcast, an experimental television station, equipped with apparatus presented by the Soviet Union and East Germany and assembled by East German specialists, has carried out some transmission tests.

BULGARIA

The Bulgarian press states that a television relay station is being built on Botev Peak. A group of experts are working there on an experiment to link the Sofia television center with the Bucharest center. The experiments are proceeding successfully. By 1962 Bulgarian television programs will be telecast abroad, and Bulgarian citizens will watch programs from Moscow, Warsaw, Prague, Berlin, and Budapest.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Two more television centers went on the air in Czechoslovakia, one in North Bohemia on Bukova Mountain, and the other in West Bohemia near Karlovy Vary. The latter replaces a relay station already in operation. The building of two television relay stations, which will make it possible to receive programs from the Kiev and Moscow studios, has begun in Slovakia. When the Central Bohemian and East Slovakian television centers are completed, the first stage of building a nation-wide TV network will be finished. In the second stage, the main emphasis will be on expansion of the program and the introduction of additional channels, as well as preparation for color television.

EAST GERMANY

The second major television transmitter located at Dequede and operating in the ultra-high frequency (UHF) Band IV, was taken into service in East Germany.

According to the East German press, the goals for East German television call for an increase in the number of television programs in 1965; establishment of a second TV program; construction of radio relay towers, transposers, and deflection antennas needed to close the gaps in TV reception; erection of 20 TV frequency transposers in Bezirke Gera and Suhl (completed); establishment of advanced schools for television; completion of the television transmission network; and color television tests in 1965. Construction of large-scale TV transmitters is not scheduled for the seven-year period except for the one at Dequede (completed).

HUNGARY

According to the Hungarian press, two new television relay stations, one on the Kekes Mtn. on the Matra range and the other in Tokaj, have been completed more than three months ahead of schedule. The 60-meter tower at Kekes uses a four kw. transmitter and its reception range will be approximately 100 km. southwest and west toward the Hungarian plain. The one kw. Tokaj transmitter's range is estimated at 50 km. south and southeast and to the Czechoslovak border to the north.

POLAND

Four more television relay stations have gone on the air since June, and the number of TV sets that are in use at the end of 1960 is estimated at 450,000. By 1965 this number is expected to reach 1,700,000. This year TV stations will be built in Bydgoszcz and Lublin, and in 1962 and 1963, six more TV transmitters will be put into operation.

RUMANIA

With the construction of 12 additional television transmitters, the whole of Rumania is expected to have TV coverage by 1965. The Electronica works in Bucharest will produce 130,000 TV sets in 1965.

USSR

The development of the Soviet television network proceeds at a good pace. Ten new transmitting stations, six centers and four relays, have gone into service since June. There are now 84 television centers and 75 relay stations in operation. Soviet television is to be developed particularly rapidly during the seven-year plan. By 1965 the country will have 165 TV centers and more than 300 low-power relay stations.

No firm figures over the 4,000,000 TV sets in use in the Soviet Union have been reported since the first of the year.

COMMUNIST CHINA

The construction of a television station has been completed in Shenyang (Mukden). A "television university" similar to the ones in Peking and Shanghai has now been established in Shenyang with a membership of 8,000 students, and another in Harbin serving 11,000 students. Courses in mathematics and physics are offered.

There are only 20,000 sets in use throughout the country, half of which are found in and around Peking. Due to the high costs of sets, there are not many individuals who own TV receivers but, instead, most sets in use are owned by people's communes and other organizations.

WHAT'S YOUR IMAGE OF A PTERODACTYL?

If you're like most people you don't have one.

Actually, the Pterodactyl was a nice old flying reptile that just couldn't keep up with the pace.
Soon — no more Pterodactyls.

The same holds true for a lot of corporations. They're nice companies but they don't keep their images up with the pace.

Don't be a Pterodactyl. Let us help you build your company's image.

FM Stations' Financial Report Of Revenues—Expenses—Income

—FOR 1959 and 1958—

Item	1959 Number of stations	Amount (millions)	1958 Number of stations	Amount (millions)
	Total FM Broadcast Revenues
FM Stations operated by:
AM licensees:
Reporting no revenues.....	361	—	309	—
Reporting FM revenues.....	153	$1.4	131	$1.5
Non-AM licensees	148	4.3	93	2.5
Total FM stations.....	662	5.7	533	4.0

	Total FM Broadcast Expenses
FM Stations operated by:
Non-AM licensees	148	$5.9	93	$3.2
Industry total	—	*	—	*

	FM Broadcast Income (before Federal income tax)
FM Stations operated by:
Non-AM licensees	148	($1.6)	93	($0.7)
Industry total	—	*	—	*

(*) In view of the difficulty in a joint AM-FM operation in allocating FM operation expense separately from AM station operation expense, licensees of such stations were not required to report FM station expense separately. As a result, FM industry totals for expense and income are not available. AM-FM licensees, however, were requested to report separately the revenues, if any, attributable to FM station operation.

() denotes loss.

Television Channel Allocations Assigned By The FCC

CHANNEL UTILIZATION

The following table of assignments contains the channels assigned to the listed communities in the United States, its Territories, and possessions. Channels designated with an asterisk are assigned for use by noncommercial educational broadcast stations only. A station on a channel identified by a plus or minus mark is required to operate with its carrier frequencies offset 10 kc above or below, respectively, the normal carrier frequencies.
