Negro Community Growth Holds New Broadcasting Challenges

By
HARRY NOVIK
General Manager
WLIB, New York

THE burgeoning economy in the national Negro community these days, with its attendant rises in living standards, has created new challenges for broadcasters in this specialized market.

For with these rises go increasingly selective and more varied merchandising practices, more definitive on-the-air services plus a more acute need for in-depth, qualitative analyses of Negro community compositions, particularly on regional as well as urban market bases.

The 1960 census proved this. Since then, various other indices continually underscore the little we actually do know, comparatively, about the Negro community, particularly since major metropolitan centers like New York, Los Angeles and Chicago have Negro communities whose numbers are growing every day.

In measuring the new Negro communities we still tend to use old yardsticks and formulae. The net results are underestimates of actual Negro impact in the national economic structure.

Evidences of the growth pattern vary greatly. We know, for example, the national Negro community is 11 percent of the population. This same figure pertains to greater New York, but is different in other metropolitan centers. We know also that New York's Negro community is a $2.4 billion consumer purchasing area—one of the highest and most concentrated in the country—and that its present population total makes it the sixth largest city in our land. And we know, too, that there are greater numbers of Negro practicing professionals and blue-collar specialists and that there are more Negro job availabilities in all skill categories today than ever before.

In our own operation we have kept pace by continually expanding our news, public interest, and public service programming while at the same time providing entertainment geared to the full gamut of tastes in the increasingly cosmopolitan Negro community within greater New York.

In only one area—personal rapport between on-the-air personality and listener—has the basic parochialism of the Negro dominated. Unlike print, which often uses "name" testimonials for advertising impact, the advertiser using Negro-oriented radio relies on listener acceptance of station and personalities for the maximum impact to his sales messages. At WLIB, we go one step farther, however. Our personalities cooperate in tie-in print campaigns, too. The result is even greater efficiency for the advertiser.

This entire burgeoning process in the Negro community not only has prompted larger advertising agencies to include specialized stations as integral parts of their major market schedules for national and regional clients but has also caused some agencies to create departments of specialists to supervise and coordinate such activities. They realize that complete market coverage depends on efficient integration of mass and specialized media within the marketing area—with the specialized outlets getting air-copy particularly attuned to the group on which they have impact.

( ) Denotes loss.

(*) Of this amount $1.4 million was reported as incidental broadcast revenues including revenues from providing functional music or other special services.

NOTE: In view of the difficulty in a joint AM-FM operation in allocating FM operation expense separately from AM station operation expense, licensees of such stations were not required to report FM station expense separately. As a result, FM industry totals for expense and income are not available. AM-FM licensees, however, were requested to report separately the revenues, if any, attributable to FM station operation.

TV as a Mover of Ideas— Key to Corporate Survival

By
NORMAN E. CASH
President
Television Bureau
of Advertising

LATE in 1962 television entered the 50 millionth American home. That this fact was, for the most part, unheralded by the communications industry speaks to the awareness of the medium as it is held by marketers and the public alike. As a force in our economy, TV is no longer measured solely by the sheer numbers that marked its earlier years. Today, it is more often measured in terms of its social and economic impact, in terms of its importance as a mover of goods and ideas.

It is the aforementioned power of TV—the ability to move ideas—that gives the medium its very special importance as a communications force.

As we pointed out in our eighth annual industry presentation, "Jericho," today the ideas of "enlightened corporate citizenship" extend beyond the products of industry; they reach now to the ideas of industry, the concepts upon which industry was built and without which it cannot grow.

In today's increasingly complex society, to whom can industry delegate the responsibility of informing the total public about industry? Can it be left to teachers who learned from other teachers? Can it be left to government? If the public hasn't been told, industry surely cannot expect the public to know.

Telling the story of industry through the pages of business publications like "Fortune" and "The Wall Street Journal" is no more than industry speaking to industry. While the sound may be loud and reassuring within the walls, little of the message drifts over to the public. In other words, the wall between industry and the public cannot be removed by the annual report regardless of its circulation.

Television not only communicates ideas, it also brings with it the power to move people. And for the ideas of industry, the avenue of communications is as wide as the imagination of industry itself.

In the recent past American Cyanamid told of the problems in Algeria while Purex told of the problem child . . . Prudential presented recent history, Gulf presented current events, Olin Mathieson presented the future . . . Shell brought great sporting events, Corning Glass brought great cultural events . . . Ralston Purina brought educational programs, Ford brought great music.

Reaching the public is no longer just a question of corporate image. It is a question of corporate responsibility exercised for corporate survival. Unfortunately, the responsible corporations that are already telling industry's story often carry upon their shoulders their less responsible competitors.

If we accept the fact that TV today is an essential ingredient in industry's communication of ideas to the public, is it not a virtual certainty that many of our major electronics, basic metals, aviation, chemical and related industries could bring themselves much closer to their many publics through use of the medium? Is it not highly likely that such companies could bring themselves even closer to achievement of their goals if they were to use TV as their basic means of communicating?

I believe that the answer to these questions is an unqualified yes.

'Repertoire Workshop'—Local Showcase for New Talents

By
MERLE S. JONES
President
CBS Television
Stations

IN JUNE 1961, WBBM-TV announced plans for a new local series called "Repertoire Theatre." The station conceived the series in an effort to stimulate the development of lesser-known local creative talents from Chicago for television. In order to fulfill this plan, WBBM-TV embarked on a long-range programming plan, at that time one of the most ambitious and unique projects undertaken by a local station.

To insure that talent from all the performing arts received an opportunity to take advantage of this vehicle for television exposure, the station conducted extensive in-studio auditions on a regular basis. Local drama groups and college and university drama departments were contacted and advised of the auditions. Newspaper ads and publicity releases announced the audition schedules. As a result, WBBM-TV now has created what amounts to its own local repertoire company for "Repertoire Theatre" productions, and in addition has files on local talent who can be employed in other station productions. Moreover, the station was able to uncover some excellent talent.

During the period that "Repertoire Theatre" was being produced by WBBM-TV, the other four CBS Owned stations, WCBS-TV New York, KNXT Los Angeles, WCAU-TV Philadelphia and KMOX-TV St. Louis, carefully observed the progress and results of this experimental project. After observing the effort for a period of time, the decision was made by the general managers of the other four stations to expand the series to their markets.

This series basically follows the original Chicago concept with one major addition. The talents now receive weekly exposure in all five of the markets served by a CBS Owned television station. These markets are located in the meccas of the theatrical world where performing talents are observed on center stage by some of the most important show business entrepreneurs in the world.

With each of the five stations producing seven half-hours, the "Repertoire Workshop" series will be broadcast for a 35-week period each year. The series premiered on all the stations in early January 1962, following extensive searches for talent and property. To date, the five stations have auditioned some 3,000 artists.

The "Repertoire Workshop" series has received major attention from all the stations. This is true of all local programming as the stations constantly strive to present the best possible programming supported by a major promotion effort. An extensive advertising, on-the-air and publicity campaign was undertaken to be certain that aspiring performers were aware of this series so that they could take full advantage of the opportunities it offers.

It has been most gratifying to study the initial results of the experiment, particularly the critical comments in several national publications such as Saturday Review and Newsweek.

In addition, the various local newspaper critics have paid close attention to this series. This is most important since the programs and ensuing promotion need the support of newspaper columnists and critics to gain maximum results for the performer.

Good-bye Omaha—Ha!

—And Federal Hoopla?

By
ARTHUR PERLES
Editor
Radio-Television Daily

CUT my journalistic eye-teeth on the Teapot Dome scandal. Here was my first involvement with big-league exposure of corruption. It was shocking to discover the depths to which humans will degrade themselves for profit and power. At the same time, it was indeed comforting to see the lumbering wheels of government grind over the rough trails until it reached and destroyed the heart of villainy.

Over those impressionable Police Card Years, I covered lots of other big 'uns, such as the "See Lockpipe John Phillips" multi-million-dollar sewer scandal, the Seabury Quiz, and Murder, Inc., so that, by the time of my entry into broadcasting, I was quite inured to the processes of digging up malfeasance, misfeasance and non-feasance—and very much in favor of stomping the wrongdoers.

I participated directly in that period when the late Senator Burton K. Wheeler headed the ICC committee as it diligently ploughed up the already rich fields of radio to make sure the taxpayers were receiving maximum values from burgeoning stations and networks.

Under the system of benign—but far from asleep—regulation, the private industry of broadcasting was encouraged to flourish and widen its areas of serving the public. Within such a climate, the government and the new electronic mass communicator worked in tandem. The networks forged the links in their chains of global news coverage, FM took root, television was born and peripheral developments—i.e., long-playing records materialized and scores of industries devoted themselves to the manufacture of transmitting and receiving equipment — provided opportunities and jobs for hundreds of thousands of citizens.

But, within the past decade, we have witnessed the unhappy spectacle of a wild-eyed Federal evangelism that has a potential of actually turning radio and TV into a vast wasteland of Bureaucratic Big Brotherism.

I refer, of course, to the interminable calendar of industry hearings that hangs on the walls of official Washington. Staged there, they have now developed a proclivity for the road-show with full circus panoply. FCC and FTC now jape and caper to the accompaniment of the publicity tom-toms. And, as if this cacophony is not enough, their sounds are intermingled with those emanating from a slough of committees and subcommittees in the House and Senate.

If only they could learn that a democracy is unsafe when its leaders play at being gods. If they would apply the resources at hand to help build the arts and sciences of communications for a world at peace, they would fulfill a greater—albeit, less sensational—destiny than would result from the present state of affairs.

Can broadcasters, then, look to a year of relatively less upheaval by probe and hearing than heretofore? Frankly, I have grave doubts. But, this much is certain: Unless the broadcasters, individually and en masse, really demonstrate their resentment toward constant harassment, the demagogues will not cease pouring their shot and shell of half-truths and the big lie.

Rising TV Production Costs A Concern to Nets & Sponsors

By
THOMAS W. MOORE
President
ABC TV Network

A TREND in television which is of concern to both networks and advertisers is the rising cost of television production.

Some 15 years ago, half-hour filmed television programs were being brought in for anywhere from $5,500 to $18,500. Today the average price for a half-hour show is close to $60,000.

Just a few seasons back, hour-long shows were commanding around $80,000. That figure now is closer to $120,000.

The costs are not yet prohibitive. But they are climbing even higher and giving pause to a number of advertisers—the advertisers who are being asked to pay more each year for their show.

There are many reasons, as well as rationalizations, for this cost spiral.

Unfortunately, there are few solutions.

And the people who should be most aware of the problem—and of what it could lead to—are, I am afraid, the least concerned with finding a solution. Here I am speaking of the film producers.

It seems to be the philosophy of many to get what the traffic will bear.

They had better keep awake. They may be running into a traffic jam.

Imagination, not higher bills, is what producers should concentrate on. If television is going to continue to grow as it has and attract numerous new advertisers each season, it must cost itself so that it can be afforded by more than the biggest advertisers.

There are many factors that advertisers look for in selecting programs and networks. They have many and diverse needs to fill in their selling efforts. A network has the essential task of seeking the interest of its primary customer — the viewers — and that is with appealing programming of all kinds that will strike a responsive chord. It is in the search for this responsive chord that new forms of television are created.

Television must exhibit daring creativity and increasing quality at a cost that will not only be appealing to advertisers, but so attractive that it becomes a "must."

There are advertisers who, because of special marketing needs, would rather buy a full half-hour or alternate half-hour sponsorship than participating sponsorships in a number of shows.

The networks are aware of their particular needs and are trying to find ways to help them accomplish their desires. It is our hope that the producers will now become aware of the problem on the horizon for these advertisers as well as the whole industry and help in finding the solution.

It's the way we put them together that counts.

Programming, of course, is a network's basic product.

And frankly, our programming is slanted. A blend of many types, it is aimed, principally, at attracting the young viewing family. It is therefore characterized by a constant search for new forms of quality television entertainment and information to supplement our many established favorites.

In comedy, for example, where two years ago The Flintstones added the new, successful twist of animation, this year McHale's Navy finds its fun in the lighter side of the War in the Pacific and I'm Dickens... He's Fenster adds a new dimension in comedy.

To the serious business of responsible programming for children, ABC has contributed Discovery, which entertains as it informs, and is the only network show to do so every weekday.

On the action-adventure front, where ABC pioneered with the first hour formats, we've again taken off in a new direction. In Combat! and The Gallant Men we dramatize the lives of men in bat-

Comedy

News and Public Affairs

Drama

Mystery

Westerns

e, against an authentic World War II backdrop.

In Public Affairs programming, Close-Up! has been consistently penetrating and far-ranging in its subject matter.

In news, with four daily network programs, including the only late-night network news, we have expanded our efforts enormously to provide a responsible full, daily and weekly coverage.

Sports? Indeed. Highlighted by ABC's Wide World of Sports, which covers the field on a global scale, our programming provides arm-chair buffs with 20 hours of sports activity a month.

And, as becomes a young network, we've concentrated on developing new, young talent. Witness Vince Edwards, Ingels and Astin, Vic Morrow, Tim Conway, ABC discoveries, all of them!

When you are dedicated to creating new programming trends, not following them, you'll find these virtues reflected in your viewers.

They, too, are young, alert, responsive.

In 1952 he took leave from his New York State position to work with General Eisenhower, then became his News Secretary when Eisenhower was elected President.

JULIUS BARNATHAN
VICE PRESIDENT & GENERAL MANAGER OF TV NETWORK

After joining ABC in 1954, Mr. Barnathan embarked on a steady course up through the executive ranks until he assumed his present post in March, 1962. ## Informational B'casting Rise Key to TV Progress & Maturity

By
RICHARD S. SALANT
President
CBS News Division

AT THE May 1961 meeting of CBS Television Network affiliates, I first put forth the proposal to the affiliates for a 30-minute nightly network news broadcast.

There were many problems to be worked out, and the matter moved slowly—but steadily. Finally, in 1962, we received the green light; and, following a meeting of the affiliates' advisory board in the fall of 1962, the precedent was established with the announcement that in the fall of 1963 we would present a 30-minute evening news broadcast, Monday through Friday. Apparently, this much-needed advance in electronic journalism has been well received and will be the rule rather than the exception henceforth from 1963.

The expanded news service will be the result of months of study and will relate dynamically to the increased flow and complexity of the news. It will enable our world-wide news organization to cover many more important stories in the depth we have longed for. This is a great leap forward in realizing the potential of electronic journalism.

In three short decades, electronic journalism has come a long way. We have not, of course, reached the millennium; we shall never reach it, for our sights are always rising higher. But, now, informational broadcasting is occupying more and more of our Network schedule, and the healthiest phenomenon in informational broadcasting is the sharp growth of competition within the last few years. I would hope that the competition will increase—with the emphasis on quality rather than quantity.

I do not believe that time on network schedules should be carved out for news and public affairs broadcasts as a matter of right, grace—or Washington. Rather, ideas—the program concepts themselves—must come first and must earn their way into greater portions of the broadcast schedule. I believe that we shall never attain full journalistic maturity until this is recognized. Any other course will bring us into the television schedule by forced feeding. We must examine the world of reality and determine what needs to be done and said, and then do it and say it as clearly, as interestingly, and as accurately as possible. As we learn how information can be more effectively moved by making it more interesting and imperative, we shall increase our share of the broadcast schedule.

The real advances, however, will come as the American people themselves advance. One of the social phenomena of contemporary American society is the increase in educational levels.

Electronic journalism provides a vividness and impact and a sense of personal involvement, which is the beginning of national concern and national understanding. We in electronic journalism have to make sure that we do our best—that we don't program by press release, that we don't add news and public affairs in our schedules merely for the sake of a statistic to enrapture or mollify the government and the critics, or ourselves. We must continue to improve our informational broadcasting according to the highest journalistic standards and the most demanding sense of history.

'Instant' Programs Herald Dawn Of New Network TV Sales Age

By
WALTER D. SCOTT
Executive Vice President
NBC TV Network

WITH the enormous logistics added, our overnight sale of participations in the Giants-Dodgers "sudden life" playoff series last October was really a natural outgrowth of the network's "Instant Sponsorship." To affirm this evolutionary pattern, people in the television industry need only recall that in that same October, Gulf Oil renewed for 1963 its sponsorship of our precedent-setting "Instant News Specials."

"Instant News Specials" makes possible immediate and extensive coverage of happenings within hours after their occurrence. In terms of immediacy and impact, the speed with which electronic journalism goes about its work is the kind of pace that hitherto was made conspicuous by newspaper "extras."

In the TV market place this speed, as welded to vivid, moving pictorialization, received another nationwide boost last spring when, within 24 hours of the scheduling of a special half-hour news program on May 24, for a recapitulation of that day's orbit flight of astronaut Scott Carpenter, full sponsorship was bought by Kemper Insurance. The films of Carpenter's recovery had arrived only minutes before broadcast.

Our gamble included a challenge, the previously mentioned logistics, and no challenge of this sort is greater than prompt delivery of the goods. Our Sports and Special Program Sales faced the challenge when the Dodgers lost and the Giants won the last game of the pennant race, thus producing a tie and triggering the network's coverage of the pennant playoff, to commence 21 hours later.

The 21-hour countdown by the divisional sales unit became a minute-by-minute operation as a 22-member sales force was alerted into action by the "command post" to announce availability of participations to prospects through their agencies. During that 21-hour alert, 10 companies, representing 60 per cent sponsorship of the first game, affixed their banners to the playoff mast. The ensuing 24 hours brought another 14 sponsors, or a 93 per cent fill for the second game—accompanied all the way by constant juggling to assure product protection.

There was a "third nine" on the playing field Wednesday of that week. In the 21-hour period between the tie at regular season's end and the start of the first playoff game, nine advertisers had purchased participation in the series. Hours later, five more were contracted. With the latter, participation had reached sold-out status before the third and final game.

A similar story unfolded at NBC Radio, which signed a one-quarter sponsor exactly 55 minutes before airtime. For the second and third games, NBC Radio clicked off four additional sponsors in one string, and a few hours later these were joined by three other companies, to mark a sellout.

The results with these "instant" programs suggest the dawn of a new age in network TV sales. The intricacies of product protection, commercial placement, strength and composition of audience—those TV sales complexities which must be resolved and coordinated before a sponsored broadcast—are swiftly surmounted by network sales forces.

the network that attracts more people whenever all networks cover
a national event...
whether it is election night or the flight of an astronaut
or a Telstar broadcast or a president's report on a crisis.

The reason?
NBC News leads in bringing world news to the nation
rapidly, accurately, responsibly. **

how do you fit a hippo into a hatbox?

You can! . . . if you're interested in just his foot. Like ranking TV markets. You can take a small portion of the market by using the SMSA metro approach . . . but if you want the whole hippo, you gotta rank by total market! Consider. More than 90% of the Charlotte Market is located outside the metro area and the total Charlotte TV Market contains 574,800 TV homes . . . ranking 20th in the nation.* We throw our weight around too, with an 87% lead over the market's second station.* Throw your hat into our coverage ring — it's a whopper!

Three times the power... in the world's richest agricultural market

By any measure — power, picture, people or spendable income — Channel 30 is the top TV buy in Central California. With three times the power of the next strongest Fresno station — 1,392,000 watts of power — KFRE-TV delivers 1/3 more families with almost $500,000,000 more spendable income within its Grade B contour. Much more, of course, in the usable fringe area beyond.

It takes a Fresno station to cover California's richest central valley. And it takes Channel 30's power to cover it right. Ask Blair TV.

WFBM-TV...THE STATION THAT DOUBLES THE SIZE OF YOUR INDIANAPOLIS MARKET !!!

The perfect media-match for your product distribution in prosperous Mid-Indiana

WFBM-TV advertisers get surprising results, not only in the rich Indianapolis metropolitan and retail trading zones, but also in the 11 other important market centers that together provide even more spendable income and TV homes than the entire Indianapolis sales area.

WFBM-TV is the only station in Indianapolis with no overlapping penetration in this coverage area by basic affiliates of the same network. It provides the only basic NBC coverage of Mid-Indiana's 760,000 TV set owning families.

For complete coverage of Mid-Indiana's multiple markets use the facilities of WFBM-TV . . . the dominating sales force that reaches 50,000 more TV homes than any other local station!

Represented nationally by the KATZ agency

AMERICA'S 13th TV MARKET

Indianapolis—Indiana's major wholesale and retail distribution center, with city and retail zone population of 1,215,000—379,000 homes with 90% TV ownership!

If you could see sound you would know...

KCMO

is Kansas City

Day and night, the sound and sight of KCMO fills the air in the entire Kansas City metropolitan area. You can't see the electronic waves, but you can see the results on your sales charts. ONLY air media and ONLY KCMO covers Kansas City like the atmosphere itself!

YOU CAN SEE IT — Sound looks like this, says sound physicist Edward Lias. This is a COSMOGRAPH, the visual record of a musical chord, recorded on a device invented by Dr. Lias. Sound waves produce a myriad of these harmonious electronic patterns.

HERE'S HOW TO USE IT:

TV Channel 5
100,000 watts from Greater Kansas City's "eye-full" tower.

RADIO 810 on the dial.
50,000 watts by day.
10,000 watts by night.

RADIO FM 94.9 megacycles.
Kansas City's first fine music station.

People who know the Pittsburgh market best
TAKE TAE

"In the food business, advertising must pay off right away. Thorofare has sponsored full-length TV feature movies for the last nine years. In that time, our sales volume has tripled. We are continuing to place more television advertising than any food chain in this area. It helps give us the sales results we're looking for."

Mr. L. B. Smith, Jr., President
Thorofare Markets, Inc.

A food chain owner is a hard-headed spender. Why is Pittsburgh's most dynamic, talked-about grocery chain putting its money on TAE-time? Take TAE and see!

The Country Music Network— Seven Years of Pioneering

By
CHARLES BERNARD
President
Country Music Network
& Charles Bernard Co.

THIS progress report is filled with happy recollections of a struggle that began on May 1, 1956. With a background that included being a talent agent for MCA, a program and time salesman for DuMont Television, an account executive for the ABC Radio Network, and sales manager of the Network's key station in New York, WABC, it was a radical departure for me to create a firm that would specialize in the representation of stations programming Country & Western Music.

After seven years of pioneering, and with 17 years of broadcasting experience, it frightens me now to think of the odds against such a venture at that time. There was no Country Music exposure in the New York area for agency time-buyers to hear or respect as a sales vehicle for their clients' products, but it was an exciting challenge, and I was very enthusiastic. Operating with only two represented properties serving Washington, D.C., and Norfolk, Virginia, followed a short time later by Kansas City, the long climb began. All three of these markets are still capitalizing on Country Music's long tenure of popularity, as is most of the country.

The phrase, "long tenure of popularity," is certainly justified when one considers that Nashville's "Grand Ole Opry" has been broadcasting continuously to overflow audiences for almost 40 years, and the famous "National Barn Dance" out of Chicago was a continuous sales vehicle for almost the same length of time. Other regional jamborees have been and are still enjoying success, and producing C&W stars. Not only have Country Music artists made Country Music hits, but established performers in the pop music field have done their share, and reaped rewards for million-record sellers. 1963 shows every indication of being the biggest year in Country Music history, not just in the recording business, but in every phase of this expanding industry.

More and more stations throughout the nation are switching their formats to C&W, and four out of five of the top markets in the country are programming it. New York will be getting its fair share as soon as WJZZ in Newark expands the "Jersey Jamboree," which is now heard nightly on both AM & FM, plus Sunday afternoons. The Country Music Network is now in 35 states, and our goal is to include the remaining 15 by the end of this year.

Flatt & Scruggs are enjoying tremendous new success and popularity for their music on the top-rated TV program the world over, "The Beverly Hillbillies," and Homer & Jethro are enjoyed nationally through their own recordings, plus Kellogg's additional spot campaigns. Patti Page's "Tennessee Waltz," Bing Crosby's "Don't Fence Me In," Guy Mitchell's "Singin' The Blues," Tennessee Ernie's "16 Tons," and Jimmy Dean's "Big Bad John" have already made history. This year the awards go to Ray Charles for his Country Music albums #1 and #2. Bobby Darin has also invaded this field, as has Connie Francis.

I'd be remiss if we didn't thank everyone who contributed to our growth, and be assured that I am happy and proud to be known as "The Madison Avenue Hillbilly."

Country & Western—A Lasting American Musical Heritage

By
GENE AUTRY
President
Country Music
Association

WRITING an article comparing Country Music to other types of music is perhaps the same as comparing the American cowboy or western picture to other types of pictures. The cowboy still remains an important factor whether it be in movies, TV appearances on stage or in the rodeo. So it is with Country Music.

I have been in the entertainment field since 1928, and have always specialized in the typical Country or Western type song and material. If you look back over the list of artists that have held the top spots longest, you will find those who have relied on good country material. I am speaking of artists in the early 20's and 30's such as Vernon Dalhart, Carson J. Robison, Jimmie Rodgers, Jimmie Davis, Red Foley, Hank Williams, Eddie Arnold, Bob Wills, Leon McAuliff, Hank Thompson and others.

When I first started there were many types of fads in music that have come and gone. Despite trends, Country Music has held on to its spot as the steady sales barometer for many record companies.

Country Music has been held back to a great extent by the fact that many of the New York publishers never really gave the country writers or artists an opportunity; also, many of the time buyers for radio and TV felt that unless they were popular on Madison Avenue they were not commercial. However, since BMI came into being, most of the publishers have begun to realize that Country Music and country artists play a very important role in this industry. Another argument was that country and western artists did not get good ratings. When I went on radio for the Wrigley Company back on January 7, 1939, I remember I had a conversation with Mr. Phil Wrigley in which I stated I was not sure of the rating I would get. His reply was that he would prefer I had a 1.- rating and sell chewing gum rather than have a 50.+ rating and no sales. I think the results were satisfactory as I stayed on this program for 17 years.

Now I think this feeling with the agencies, time buyers and producer-directors has been broken down somewhat by the results that have been shown through the record medium, personal appearances of Country and Western artists, and some of the TV programs that are so successful, such as "The Beverly Hillbillies," "The Andy Griffith Show" and others that are really formats from country-western music and stories.

The same thing is true of the American cowboy. Since the early days of show business, westerns and western stars have been known as the "Mortgage Lifters" for outdoor shows as well as the theatres. History speaks for itself as to what such names as Buffalo Bill, Pawnee Bill, Annie Oakley, Calamity Jane and others have meant to the producers. Then came the movies which were built with names such as William S. Hart, Tom Mix, Hoot Gibson and many others of that era. Following this, the singing cowboy came along in the early 30's when sound arrived.

Yes, I am a firm believer that the good, clean, western-type film is here to stay and country music is also here to stay because they both are a part of our great American heritage.

Off-Network Programming Succeeding Feature Films

By
LEN FIRESTONE
V.P. & General Manager
Four Star
Distribution Corp.

IT IS only a matter of time before off-network shows succeed feature films as a staple of television entertainment.

This season, when off-network entries are making their biggest impact, they have in many local instances replaced the late night and/or late afternoon movie. Most stations are substituting hour-long off-network shows; some are even stripping two or more half-hour off-network shows across-the-board. The reasons are obvious: off-network shows cost less and their ratings are, more often than not, higher than those for the average feature film.

Take cost, for example. In a San Francisco situation with which I am personally familiar, the original asking price for a feature film package was $8,000 a picture. The package finally went for under $5,000 a picture. At the same time, the asking price for an hour-long off-network show was $1,000 per episode, with the final offer around $800.

Total cost to the station for the feature package of 134 titles came to about $600,000 as contrasted with less than $30,000 for 35 episodes of the off-network program. On the 30-minute basis, feature films work out to approximately $1,500 per run as compared to $400 per run for the off-network hours.

In addition, off-network shows in much greater quantity will eventually become available to local stations for two reasons: (1) The supply of feature films for TV is rapidly dwindling and (2) many stations are already preempting their network feed to play "off-network" shows.

Results of the latter experiment have been most gratifying for stations. Off-network properties are giving local stations some of their highest ratings—often when pitted opposite network shows. Advertisers, as a result, are easier to come by. Off-network properties, also, are a better financial deal for stations. Stations carrying a network show receive only 30 cents of every dollar in their contract with the webs, whereas when stations sell an off-network show they keep the entire 100-cent dollar.

Adding still further to the financial attractiveness of off-network shows is the fact that this season, especially, the networks are having a hard time selling even some of their best entertainment. It isn't at all uncommon for an hour-long network show to have only one participating sponsor. The network, of course, takes a financial beating when this happens—but so do the stations.

The future, however, looks brightest for the aggressive off-network syndicator with proven products and for local stations, who will find themselves in a buyers' market. I believe that as the flow of feature films recedes—and it is now at flood tide—more local time will become available. But then, each year, more and more off-network properties will become available for stations to choose from. They obviously will pick the best of those offered.

The networks, when this happens, will find themselves more than ever in a programming bind. But not the stations—or their viewers and advertisers. They will enjoy the best of both the on- and off-network TV worlds.

More Color Improvements Due As Mass Market Reality Grows

COLOR and speculation about color dominated much of the television scene in 1962.

The mass market for color TV in the home became more of a reality, with RCA predicting by early winter that it would sell some 400,000 color receivers during the year.

NBC and ABC, joined by many independent stations, stepped up color programming significantly. Meanwhile, Zenith led several other major manufacturers into competition with RCA for the sale of color sets.

Less generally known, but possibly equally as significant, were aesthetic improvements in color TV in 1962. Practically every 1962-63 color film TV series was produced with our new, improved color negative film (Type 5251). Professional reaction to the new color is perhaps typified by Bill Wade, head of Revue Studios' ("The Virginian" and "Laramie") camera department:

"Colors are rendered more accurately"; "actors' complexions are of more realistic hue"; "blues are much more natural."

At the same time, the improved grain structure of the new color negative material has resulted in what appears on the TV screen as better definition.

The new color negative material also gave engineers more creative "moving-around" room. This is because engineers are now working with improved camera originals as products of the improved negative, thereby simplifying and improving production of optical special effects. This means that we can anticipate more realism in color special effects in the future, and, possibly, wider use of color special effects.

What about 1963? The color TV

By

picture should be even better. This year, we plan to market an improved color print film (Type 5385), which will complete the new color system.

On the basis of field tests, we can safely predict that with the new print film, reds will be warmer, yellows and blues truer and greens more vivid. This ability to present a better color picture to the viewer could add further impetus to set sales.

Every year, more TV series—even those primarily released in black-and-white—are produced in color. Originally, many producers did this with an eye toward "residual" color sales in the future. Now, they are finding a growing market for their color product today. One reason is expanding color programming requirements; another is that some of the best pictures on black-and-white sets originate from the networks in color.

This combination of a growing choice in the type of programs available in color, and the improved aesthetic quality of the pictorial portions of those programs, could have very real impact on color TV set sales.

How many color TV sets will people buy in 1963? What will cause them to purchase these sets in volume?

The answers bring up the term "commercial acceptability." How many and how good are the shows released in color? How costly and how good are the available color sets? How good is picture quality?

The faster these questions can be answered on the positive side of the ledger, the faster the public should buy.

The Foreign Market—Neither Bonanza Nor Pie-in-the-Sky

By
W. H. FINESHRIBER, JR.
Vice President
Motion Picture Export
Assn. of America, Inc.

THE proud boast that the United States has more television sets than the rest of the world combined passed into limbo one day last year. Our 57,000,000 sets in 50,000,000 homes now stand second to a foreign total approaching 70,000,000 sets in a like number of homes and public places. And the pattern of the future is clear: with 91% penetration today there are not many more U.S. households to conquer, whereas the overall foreign penetration is less than 15%.

How can we assess the potential of the fast-growing foreign market and best plan to serve it? The member companies of the Motion Picture Export Association of America have had long experience with the complex problems of television's sister industry in the markets of the world. And now that these same companies, the nine "majors" of the motion picture field, are deeply involved in television, they are applying this experience to TV's equally challenging problems. Their assessment of the promise of the foreign market would be: neither a bonanza nor pie-in-the-sky. It offers a vital opportunity for service and for profit, but cultivating it properly requires energy, know-how, courage, and a high tolerance of frustration.

Put aside for the moment the myriad production problems in appealing to the tastes of 70 different nationalities. With the best product made, the American distributor is still beset by all the traditional obstacles to international trade plus new ones erected by ingenious foreign competitors who capitalize on the particular nature of television. In addition to tariffs and taxes, quotas and remittance restrictions, price ceilings and censorship regulations, we find projected requirements for local dubbing and printing, unique excise taxes to finance the native industry—in short, the gamut of special levies long since perfected against motion pictures. The same appeal to nationalism, both cultural and economic, serves as the rationale. And usually the same foreign officials or executives who developed these burdens for the movie distributors are behind their application to television.

To cope with these problems on a world-wide basis requires the joint facilities of the 10 MPEAA offices located in strategic capitals plus the cooperation of scores of far-flung Film Boards comprising employees of the member companies. The Association staff is now fully integrated, and each office assumes field responsibility for both television and motion pictures in its area. In working for a special TV clause in GATT or protecting U.S. television interests under OECD, the Association executives contact the same State Department officials they have long known and worked with on movie matters. The foreign Finance Minister or Customs Director who regulates picture imports is equally concerned with telefilm.

The nine Motion Picture Association companies are fully committed to major roles in TV production and distribution. Their annual domestic gross from television now exceeds $150,000,000—about three times the total foreign gross of all U.S. distributors combined. They look forward to the day when the international market really comes into its own.

'A Good Opening—But What Are You Going to Do Next Week?'

By
MARK GOODSON
Partner
Goodson-Todman
Productions

WHEN the curtain fell on the opening night of "My Fair Lady," the audience went wild. And after the 15th curtain call and frantic hurrahs were over, well-wishers jammed backstage to pay respects to creators Lerner, Loewe and Moss Hart. According to one story, Abe Burrows finally squeezed his way through the tightly packed, exulting mob and got to Lerner. "As far as I'm concerned, Alan," he said, "I liked it."

That's a Broadway story. To switch it to a television story, you need a new line: "A good opening episode—but what are you going to do next week?"

And in actuality that is, indeed, television's major problem: "What are you going to do next week?"

Solutions to the problem will come slowly but not in response to political or group pressure. You cannot promulgate programs, or legislate creativity. Let me make some suggestions. First, let's see to it that the climate for the creator of entertainment is improved. Let's give him some of the honor and prestige which now go principally to the men in public affairs.

Second, producers should be guaranteed more freedom, and by this I mean the right to be wrong. "The freedom to be bad is a prerequisite of the freedom to be good."

When Howard K. Smith used Alger Hiss to criticize Richard Nixon, most of the intelligent press and the FCC, while disagreeing with Smith's decision to use Hiss, fought vigorously for his right to make a public affairs mistake. Contrast this with the attitude of the critics and the government in the Fabian "Bus Stop" episode, where no one of importance anywhere came to the defense of the network's right to make an entertainment error.

One helpful step would be the diminution of the influence of that group of frightened bureaucrats at networks who wield power under such high-sounding departmental titles as "Program Practices," "Standards and Practices," and "Continuity Acceptance." I suggest for a starter that they be stripped of their euphemistic labels which should be replaced promptly by the real thing—"Censorship Division." It would be helpful if any show touched by their hands carried the required announcement: "The foregoing program was carefully censored so as not to offend anyone."

Third, critics should judge shows on their individual merits, not by their family status. A good western is better than a mediocre opera. A good panel show is better than a third-rate documentary. Let's stop grading programs by referring to their assigned family position in the show business social directory.

Finally, we must rid ourselves of the puritanical hangover which makes us vaguely ashamed when all a TV program gives us is pleasure.

I've had critics confess that they enjoy "To Tell the Truth," but then ask me how I "justify" the program. What is its "contribution"? Isn't it enough that it can help a tired man to relax, a pressured man to escape momentarily from his anxiety, a lonely man to be less alone? Isn't it enough that a family can be together and laugh?

Perhaps in these nerve-racked times this is the most important justification of all—and most truly in the "public interest, convenience and necessity."

No Substitute for Quality, A Musical Commercial 'Must'

By
PHIL DAVIS
President
Phil Davis Musical Enterprises, Inc.

MAYBE "the quality of mercy is not strained" applied to the golden age of Elizabethan literature. But it hardly applies in today's modern age of musical advertising. In fact, today, mercy can spell bankruptcy for those who sacrifice quality for quantity and ethical business practices for marginal or unethical business practices.

For proof of this just compare over the years the names of those who have come and gone in the annual listings of this Yearbook. Serious comparisons also elucidate that it's mostly the ethical producers of quality musical commercials who survive year after year. Nor is there any substitute for quality—the secret of survival in this highly competitive field.

Not only do quality musical commercial producers honorably survive and thrive despite the periodic onslaught of marginal or unethical producers, but also over the years they've successfully elevated the profession to one of respect and dignity in the advertising world.

In addition, both on and far from Madison Avenue, they've introduced and educated advertisers and agencies to the fundamental characteristics that distinguish quality musical commercial productions from jingle-mill, cheaply produced, poorly conceived musical commercials.

As a result, more than a few out-of-town advertisers and agencies are beginning to outstrip in their long-range thinking some of the nation's "Mr. Big" advertisers and agencies. Through experience with long-established musical commercial producers, they've discovered that custom-built, skillfully conceived and created commercials may be musically adapted to any new advertising strategy developed.

Not only have they found that a quality custom-made musical commercial has both musical and advertising flexibility, but that it functions as a three-way stimulant to sales: first by the sales impact of performance; second by the sales impression it creates; and third by its over-ride or bonus impression that accrues to an advertiser each time someone whistles, hums or sings the tune thereafter.

Most importantly they know that a quality custom-made musical commercial is woven into the warp and woof of a planned advertising campaign that blankets all media. It's not patched on as an afterthought. Nor is it sacrificed to an irrational economy that budgets thousands for air time and pin money for a complete musical service that guarantees production (from the creation to the finished musical commercial) of the highest quality.

In today's musical commercial world "no substitute for quality" is axiomatic with established, reputable producers. Fortunately, seasoned advertisers and agencies from border to border happily are discovering every day too that there's no substitute for a truth penned centuries ago in a book of Italian proverbs. It reads: "Good things cost less than bad ones."

10th COMMEMORATIVE ANNIVERSARY

PETER DE ROSE MEMORIAL WEEK
APRIL 23-30

The composer of "Deep Purple", "Wagon Wheels", "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver", "Have You Ever Been Lonely?" and hundreds of other songs was a Radio and TV pioneer. He and his wife May Singhi Breen the "Ukulele Lady" were on daily for nearly 17 years known as the "Sweethearts of the Air". Since his death in 1953, Tin Pan Alley has designated April 23 to 30th as Peter De Rose Memorial Week as an annual tribute to his memory and his beautiful music is featured from coast to coast in special programs.

ASCAP

By STANLEY ADAMS
President

THE American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers is a performing right organization, founded in 1914 by the late Victor Herbert and a group of his colleagues. The Society functions as a clearing house for the performing rights of the creators of music and their publishers.

The performing right is granted by the United States Government under the Federal Copyright Law. This right entitles composers, authors and publishers of musical compositions to payment for their works whenever they are performed publicly for profit.

Through ASCAP, any user of music may obtain from a single source the right to perform the works of more than 6,400 writers and 2,000 publishers who are members of the Society, at a minimum expense and without the necessity of negotiating for each separate use.

ASCAP's extensive repertory covers every phase of American music literature. In addition to the best-loved popular and show music, it includes the finest country and western music, church and sacred selections, and a catalog of much of our contemporary classical music: symphonic, chamber and choral works and recital selections.

Radio and television broadcasters have access to this entire repertory when they obtain an ASCAP license. This license guarantees them a clearance on all ASCAP composers' and publishers' music; at the same time it provides for the writers a sustained livelihood from the works of their own creation, and a means of enabling publishers to invest in the exploitation of new works.

The Society's Board of Directors consists of twelve writer and twelve publisher members elected biennially by the writer and publisher memberships, respectively. Its officers are elected annually. It maintains twenty-three branch offices in major cities throughout the country. Headquarters are located at 575 Madison Avenue, New York 22, New York.

Broadcast Music, Inc.

By CARL HAVERLIN
President

THE United States copyright law provides that the authors and publishers of music have the right to be compensated when their music is performed publicly for profit. This right also exists under the laws of every major country of the world.

Broadcast Music, Inc.—BMI—was created in 1940. Its sole purpose is to serve as an organization which would acquire and license performing rights and, in so doing, bring about healthy and necessary competition. BMI was organized by a group of broadcasters who neither collect dividends nor receive special rates from it.

BMI acquires performing rights from independent writers and publishers, collects license fees from the organizations which perform music for profit, and, in turn, makes payment to the creators of the music. It licenses the music of composers and publishers who are resident in every one of the United States. Through agreements with performing rights societies in other countries, it brings foreign music to America and makes American music available throughout the world.

BMI does not publish or record music. The rights to do so belong exclusively to the composers and publishers.

Except for operating expenses and a reasonable reserve, BMI pays all of the money it collects to the composers and publishers whose music is performed. BMI determines payments to composers and publishers on the basis of the performance of music on thousands of independent stations as well as on country-wide networks. It does so because the performance of music on radio and television represents the truest gauge of public demand for music of all types and the broadest use of music to meet that demand.

The past year marked BMI's 22nd year of service. It was a year that saw the number of our affiliated authors, composers and publishers and the compositions we license at an all-time high.

For the future, BMI looks forward to serving many thousands more of the creators of music and many more of the businesses which use music as part of their service to the public. It will continue to deal justly and fairly with those enterprises which enable that music to be heard. It will continue to maintain its open-door policy for the benefit of all persons who wish to gain the public ear and to be rewarded if their works win favor. It will continue to service the public by making music from every part of our country and from all quarters of the world available for public performance.

SESAC, Inc.

By PAUL HEINECKE
President

"THE Best Music in America," our motto for so many years, is rapidly becoming the best music in the world as a result of growing recognition of our repertory in every part of the globe. Throughout 1962, it was my pleasure to listen to numerous outstanding recordings of our works performed in a variety of tongues from all over the world—an indication of the continuing growth of SESAC which has, in recent years, greatly expanded its world-wide promotional activities and representation overseas.

During 1962, many representatives of foreign performing and mechanical rights organizations representing SESAC called on us and, in turn, our executives visited with them, too, as well as leading European broadcasting operations. Sub-publishing agreements concluded in 1962 with important firms in foreign countries reached an all-time high. Thanks to our accelerated program of international activity, a record number of our compositions are now being published, recorded and performed in every corner of the globe.

This international activity directly parallels a tremendous increase in the amount of our copyrighted material being performed and recorded in the United States. In 1962, the growing demand for our works by leading artists surpassed all previous years'. SESAC numbers appeared on new commercial LP and single releases by Bobby Hackett, Liberace, Jim Reeves, Jackie Wilson, Johnny Cash, Jack Scott, Tony Mottola, Mahalia Jackson, Ferlin Husky, Roger Williams and many other notable performers.

The increasing use of SESAC music by the nation's top recording stars is a tribute to the unceasing efforts of our publisher-affiliates to fill the wide-ranging requirements of today's music user. Our affiliates steadily augment their catalogs with valuable additions in every category of music, and new catalogs with strong, fresh appeal in such fields as pops, mood and religious are constantly being added. For the thirty-two years of our existence, our efforts have always been directed toward making available a repertory of distinction to satisfy the needs of music programmers everywhere—and in this vein we will carry on.

The SESAC RECORDINGS label activity, too, continued to expand in 1962 and brought forth an array of outstanding talent such as Charlie Shavers, The Savoy Orchestra of London, The Vienna State Opera Orchestra, The San Remo Orchestra, The Richard Maltby Octet, Bobby Hackett, Lenny Herman, Elliot Lawrence, Til Dieterle, and The Allentown Band. Already planned for release this year to subscribers all over the world are new LP's featuring Count Basie, Roy Drusky, Warren Covington, Leon McAuliff, Billy Taylor, Sy Oliver, Bill Snyder, and the Anita Kerr Singers.

In 1962 SESAC RECORDINGS introduced several new low-cost, high-talent LP package presentations specifically designed to meet the programming needs of today's quality-conscious, budget-minded broadcasters.

All through 1962 sales of the various SESAC RECORDINGS LP plans steadily increased. Today our discs are used throughout the industry here in the United States and, in fact, all over the world. Based upon 1962 sales and 1963 production plans, it is evident that in the very near future SESAC RECORDINGS and/or "DRUMMERS" will be aired in just about every market.

Enormous Strides in British Television Test-Marketing

By
W. M. FROMM

THERE is little doubt that research, as a marketing tool, is more refined, more professionally used in this country than it is in Great Britain. But, while the gap had been a considerable one, it is rapidly narrowing.

One area in which British commercial television companies have made enormous strides this past year is the measurement of test—market results. A number of them have built up the research services and facilities they make available to advertisers.

One of the most aggressive contractors in the field of test—market research is TWW Ltd.—Television for South Wales and The West of England—and we can examine this contractor's services for illustration.

In basic population characteristics, the TWW region follows the national pattern—age, family size, income, education, ownership, etc.

TWW extended this natural advantage by establishing a relationship with the region's retailers that is a great deal closer and more interdependent than anything we know in the United States.

An effective binding force to this relationship is the "Retailer Scheme." Under this plan all retailers in the TWW region are advised of forthcoming campaigns at least ten days in advance of transmission through a full-page advertisement in the program paper "Television Weekly." This gives retailers the time to stock up and to arrange special displays. The station provides certain display materials and the advertiser may supplement this with its own.

Retailers then support the advertiser's campaign by booking 7-second slide announcements at a special low rate. These spots must give prominence to the manufacturer's product, thereby lending considerable weight to the latter's campaign.

The "Retailer Scheme" is by no means limited to test market campaigns, but it has proven particularly effective in efforts of that kind—perhaps because cooperation at the retailer level is so vital an element.

In terms of evaluating the test, a well-known research organization, commissioned by TWW, has set up separate "Retail Audit Panels" for food stores, drug stores, hardware stores and tobacconists/confectioners in the region. This same organization conducts a good deal of consumer research throughout the area.

These services have been responsible, in good part, for successful results in the TWW area. In 1962, U.S. Royal Tires conducted a test campaign. The company bought 45-second spots backed by some newspaper advertising and dealer promotion. Its agency stated: "The TWW Retailer Scheme, whereby local dealers were able to buy 7-second spots adjacent to the main campaign, was a major contributory factor to the success of the campaign." U.S. Royal Tire sales increased 400% during the period.

The important fact is that an American company can pre-determine the required advertising pressures and consumer appeals in the same manner it employs domestically. And, working with a commercial television contractor that specializes in test marketing, it is assured of benefits and services that are not matched by TV stations in this country.

Teledu Cymru — Last ITV 'Baby' Furthers the Welsh Language

By
ERNEST BYRNE
Program Div. Head
Teledu Cymru

TELEDU CYMRU, Wales (West & North) Television, is the 15th and last "baby" in the British Independent Television Network's group of regions. Its ideals and principles are basically the same as that of TV all over the world, and like most regional TV stations, its viewers have their own culture and particular interests.

When I arrived here in July 1962, the problems which faced this service were similar to the ones that faced the Irish Television Service 18 months before. Probably the most obvious of these was the training of a program staff in the production techniques so necessary to good TV, and the establishment of a program policy, so necessary to the public relations drive that was to make Welsh Television viewers aware of their new service and its hopes, plans and even its dreams.

I am happy to say that the program division of this television service has a staff of some 84% Welsh men and women who had not been in TV before, and of this percentage, the majority speak the Welsh language fluently. The one thing we were not short of in Teledu Cymru was ideas, and with the addition of some key members to my program staff who were experienced television people, we quickly overcame the other difficulties.

The months of July, August and September were hectic ones, but on the 14th of September, Teledu Cymru opened with the Welsh National Anthem, followed by a half-hour program called "Croeso" ("Welcome") starring the Welsh actor, Mr. Clifford Evans.

One of the particular points of our program policy is to further the use of the Welsh language. Endless discussions, programs of community problems and events in the native language were not adequate in a principality that is bilingual. Because this is television, the use of vision to further the language became essential, and here coupled with our own local productions, international documentaries such as "The Two Faces Of Japan" and "Heartbeat Of France," to say nothing of cartoons for the children, were quickly tracked into the Welsh language and used in peak viewing hours. Teledu Cymru's local originations run the entire gamut of television from plays to quiz games and from news-public affairs to comedy.

This "infant service" is growing up quickly and its audience ratings show that it is more than holding its own against its competitor, the mighty BBC. As time goes by, it will grow and enlarge both in scope and vision, furthering its own language and culture for use within its own region. It will send out to other parts of Great Britain, and indeed other parts of the world, programs of, by and about Wales that must surely be of some interest to TV viewers everywhere.

The symbol of Irish Television, the Cross of St. Brigid, has already been seen in many places outside Ireland. So it is with Welsh Television — the national symbol of the Red Dragon is moving rapidly towards the day where it will become an almost international symbol of the best in TV viewing.

New BBC Channel and Pay TV On British Horizon for 1964

By
PETER C. DAVALLE
Radio-TV Daily
London Bureau

THE DUST of battle is settling following the bitterest and most protracted exchanges British television has known since the campaigns which ushered in the era of commercial TV.

The Pilkington Committee has surveyed the British TV scene and made its report. Parliament has both attacked and praised the committee's findings. And the Government, as ultimate arbiter, has laid down the broad outline of the pattern of British TV for the next five years.

The prospect is an exciting one: another channel for the BBC, starting in 1964; the introduction of UHF transmissions on 625 lines, instead of the present 405; experimental color programs next year. These are the plums which will fall into the BBC's lap. But there is much spade-work to be done before the harvest can be gathered in. And already, the BBC has named some of the key men and women in the team which will tackle the biggest challenge in the Corporation's history.

The fact that the Government has ruled against a second channel for Independent Television—the commercial companies—has been welcomed by some, condemned by others.

There was a considerable body of opinion that doubted whether the less prosperous areas could support a rival channel when it was proving difficult to sell time on the existing one.

It is scarcely surprising that the major stations, serving the more densely populated areas, were not over-incensed about the shut door. Most of them have a stake in the potential Eldorado that is on the horizon — Pay-TV. Trials will take place, in selected areas, during 1964. Should they succeed (and it is still not clear by which yardsticks success will be measured), it is pretty certain that the Government will authorize regular Pay-TV on a national scale.

Still an unknown number, and potentially the most significant factor in deciding the destinies of the commercial TV companies, is the extent to which the Independent Television Authority, the "watchdog" of commercial TV in Britain, will exercise its wide-ranging powers in the next year.

There is little doubt that it will skim some of the cream off the profits of the major TV companies in order to distribute it among the smaller companies, some of which are known to be in dire financial straits.

And the smaller companies are keeping their fingers crossed that I.T.A. will ordain that the best locally produced programs will get a bigger share of the national network cake.

Not so long ago, Independent Television could claim — and produce figures to prove it—that its programs were watched by the vast majority of Britain's viewers, something in the nature of 70 per cent against the 30 per cent who remained faithful to BBC TV.

Now, all that is changing. Better home-produced programs, better imported U.S. programs, better scheduling are occasionally giving the BBC the viewing edge over its rivals. The result of this new competitive spirit should result in better TV all-round—provided both existing channels can keep their heads and remember that, in the long run, nothing outshouts quality.

World-wide Distribution of Radio Sets and Wired Speakers, 1962

At the end of 1962 there were more than 232 million radio sets and about 45 million wired speakers in the world exclusive of the United States and Canada—a modest increase of almost 1,700,000 wired speakers (four per cent) and an extraordinary addition of some 31 million radio sets (15 per cent) since the beginning of the year.

The greatest expansion took place in the Far East, notably in Japan, the recognized leader in the production of transistor sets for both internal use and export. The estimated number of radio sets in use in Japan doubled during the year.

Another area of substantial expansion in radio sets was Latin America, where there was an increase of almost 4½ million receivers, compared with less than two million in 1961. Most of the other areas of the world also registered a steady growth in the number of radio sets.

At best, radio set statistics are approximate and should be treated with caution, particularly when they refer to newly developing countries. Figures are rounded to the nearest thousand in all tables.

There is a difference!

Agency representation is many things to many people. To the talent, it demands an organization or individual who honestly believes in the Artists' ability and commercial appeal. It requires a willingness on our part to continually promote, advise and guide the talent to many new opportunities in the entertainment industry.

Representation as it relates to the producer-director, or studio casting, can be of great benefit to all parties, provided an understanding and respect is mutually practiced. Selectivity of the right talent is the key to our mutual success. Today's production schedules are set in motion quickly, and the talent requirements face a daily deadline. Many Agents are involved, and each operates differently.

Ours is a personal and individual effort. However, experience through the years has made us aware of a responsibility to every assignment. Our associations on the Advertising Agency level; and later seasoned with network production and the added knowledge of Artists' management, and client representation, add up to qualified experience in selection of talent.

The goodwill enjoyed from both clients and the industry, is an asset we will always cherish. Each have contributed much, and we are grateful that they continue to enjoy working with us. They have found a difference in our method and attitude of doing business, and in the superior talent we have supplied.
