Medal of Merit

A Weekly Award for Excellence in Broadcasting

AWARDED TO THE CAMEL CARAVAN

RADIO has its first "double feature" program, a new hit-show.

It is the Camel Caravan, as presented these Tuesday nights by two zany educators, one known as Professor Goodmann, the other as Prexy Oakie. This is not the sort of show, however, over which those educators who have been bemoaning broadcasting's lack of educational emphasis will tear up the sidewalks. On the contrary, they may tear out a few hairs. But not so the delighted listeners who have herewith both something to their liking and an interesting solution to one of radio's more irritating perplexities.

The Camel Caravan has a history which is like that of all full-hour programs, in that it consistently has sought to give the listener a wide variety of entertainment. Recently letters reaching us have voiced plaintive protests at so much variety entertainment. Listeners are coming to want their shows more specialized, more "what they want when they want it." This year, apparently, the Caravan took the pulse-beat of America and decided to abandon the full hour of variety. Which brings us to the birth of the double feature.

Jack Oakie's presence on the air last year was something less than a treat to many of his listeners. This year his brief appearances have been a pleasure. This is chiefly because of two reasons: First, with uncommon wisdom which will shortly be followed profitably by other programs, his sponsors concluded that followers of the swing vogue and its messiah, Benny Goodman, did and would resent any intrusion whatsoever on the time of their godling.

Second, that Comedian Oakie would never be a successful comedian, nor would anyone else, until the right scripts were produced for him. But the right scripts cost important money—and for important money, in the bright lexicon of most producers now in Hollywood, you can buy a guest star or two.

But here again the new idea took hold. "Everyone is having guest stars," Caravan producers planned. "Let us have some entertainment."

There is a difference, many listeners have told us. So the double-feature Caravan was built, with President Oakie and his college of cut-ups for the first half-hour and Professor Goodman and his rhythmic lectures for swing fans for the second. The division is honest and sensible.

Because Camel Caravan gives the listener both entertainment and consideration, we tender it the Radio Guide Medal of Merit.

HAPPY LISTENING

First Look . . .

HAVE you ever looked at this space in Radio Guide before? Last week it contained the contents listings. It was the same for many months before that. But none of you ever wrote us to say that you used it or that you did not use it. So when it was suggested that we drop the listings of our contents in favor of paragraphs like these, in the hope of pleasing more people, we decided to do so. Do you like the change? Do you think it for the better—or worse? Please let us know.

Lazy Listening . . .

ONE reason we barged into this space was because we could tell you about some of the splendid things radio is planning for this autumn, and some of the things we are planning, too. The new program selector on pages 17 and 18, for instance, is brand-new, and an exclusive Radio Guide feature. Possibly we are encouraging lazy listening by making it so easy to find just the network programs wanted, but we hold that laziness when aided and abetted by Radio Guide is completely laudable, and we propose to encourage it to the utmost.

Mysterious Swallows . . .

NO BROADCAST has about it more mystery than the one which we list in this issue with fear and trembling. Turn to pages 14 and 15 and read about the swallows of San Capistrano. Each year, on a certain day, they fly away to an unknown destination, taking their young with them. Where or why, no one knows. Nor does anyone understand how they know, year in and year out, the exact date for their departure. Yet, almost to the hour, they leave their nests at exactly the same time every year. The date invariably is October 23. This year's migration will be the occasion of a broadcast that certainly is unique, and certainly should be interesting.

This week!

Previews of Some of the Better Programs

SUNDAY, OCT. 17

Chopin . . . 88 years

A program from Poland commemorating Chopin's death will be aired over NBC, Sunday, 11:30 a.m. EST

Marking 88th anniversary of Chopin's death, Henry Sztompka, favorite pupil of Paderewski, will play Chopin music on Chopin's own piano.

Lloyd Pantages . . . scoopster

LITTLE OLD LADY

BY JAMES H. STREET

HAVE you ever seen a little old lady on a big city's street who smiled when she had no cause to smile, and reminded you of all the mothers in the world?

Well, I have. Have you ever been sad and moody and weary in New York when you had no cause to be sad and moody and weary, and then met a little old lady who patted your hand, whispered a few wise things into your ears and chuckled a few foolish ones and sent you on your way feeling good all over, and almost brand-new?

Well, I have. Because I know Peggy Harriett—the mother of radio—the talisman of stars—the oracle of row A at every big broadcast. Millions have seen her and said to themselves, "Isn't she quaint?"—a little old lady dressed in blue.

What is the story behind this little old lady of radio? From where did she come? How did she win her way into the hearts of radio's greatest stars, the most important executives, and the most insignificant page-boy?

Only a few know anything about her. It's so easy to notice little old ladies, and then forget all about them. The public sees her every night—well, almost every night—but the multitude doesn't know that Morton Downey calls her Grandma—that Helen Jepson calls her Mother.

Or that scores of stars watch her during their broadcast, and if she is pleased, they are pleased and know that America is pleased. For the little old lady never has made an error in judging a program. When she says it's good, it's very, very good, and when she says it's bad—it's terrible.

Many stars sing directly to her and wait for her smile or frown to pass judgment on their work. Some will not even face a mike until they see their mascot sitting in row A. She's not important, as New York importance goes. She's not a big-shot—she's just a little old lady in lavender and lace, but her face opens the holy of holies in radio, executives bow her into their sanctuaries, stars seek her wise counsel.

And she gives everything and takes nothing, pattering around—"a little bit of business here, a little bit of business there."

Morton Downey once refused to perform until "Grandma" was present. Milton Berle tells her his jokes, and if she laughs, he uses them. If she frowns, he discards them.

AND script-writers, wringing their brains between the rollers of type-writers, seeking ideas for drama—see her every night. Sponsors, pleading for programs of love and pathos and mystery, wave and bow to her, never realizing that in row A is a little old lady of mystery, and they never ask her, "Who are you? Whence came you? Why are you here?"

I saw her first one night in front of a CBS playhouse in midtown New York. The crowd was milling and mauling and gawking. And down the street came a little old lady with a red-dotted shirtwaist, close-fitting around her neck. She carried a black cane, tapping the sidewalk as she walked. Her hair was snowy white.

At her throat she wore a big brooch with a picture of a man in it. The man had a big mustache. The picture was surrounded by tiny gems.

She looked like she had just stepped out of a carriage in the Victorian age. An usher saw her, wedged a path in the crowd and escorted her to the door. Other ushers sprang forward. Celebrities were forgotten, and the little old lady was shown to row A, first seat off the aisle. A rather important man was sitting there.

"I'm sorry," said the usher. "This seat is reserved."

The man mumbled, then turned and saw the little old lady.

"Oh," he said, and jumped from his seat. "Hello, Mother. I forgot, this is your seat, of course."

BACKSTAGE, the show was ready to go on. The men who run the show were watching the clocks, their watches. But the stars were peeping at the audience.

"Is she here yet?" asked one, nervously.

"Yes—she just came in," answered another.

That made everything all right. Jessica Dragonette was singing that evening. As she stood before the mike, she smiled. The audience thought she was smiling just because stars are supposed to smile. But she was really smiling at the little old lady.

"Who is she—that old lady for whom the doors are always opened—who sits in the seat of honor?" I asked an usher one evening.

"I don't know," he said. "She's been coming here for years. We just call her Mother. The best seat in every radio playhouse in this town is hers by heritage."

So I went to the little old lady, and asked:

"Who are you?"

"Oh, I'm just an old woman—Peggy Harriett. But you can call me Miss Peggy, if you wish. Or even Peggy, or Mother. Some say I'm 76. Others 67. But I'm not saying."

She winked. She has frosty blue eyes that seem to smile.

She doesn't weigh a hundred pounds, including the big brooch and the heavy cane. And her story is one of those showboat dramas, one of those strange things that can happen only in life—too incredible for fiction.

The showboats were running up the Ohio River—Paducah, Evansville, Louisville. All the actors who followed the rivers knew a little Indiana girl named Peggy, who stood on the banks and waved. But that was as close as she ever got to the showboats.

"My father was a Quaker," said the little old lady. "He wouldn't let me go to shows. But watching those boats made me dream. I had a great yearning to be an actress. My father was a stern man. He never let me read a novel or a newspaper. This is my father's picture. He was the finest man I ever knew."

At 16, she married. There was a

But a nurse did, and installed a little radio in the sickroom. Peggy Harriett had never heard a radio.

"I lay there day after day, listening. I talked to the radio—to the singers. A voice would say to me 'Good morning, and I would say 'Good morning to you.' For months I lay in bed with nothing to do but listen to that radio, and think. There were so many beautiful things in the air—music and life.

"I decided I would live—I would know the voices that had comforted me. They had saved my life by making me want to live. You'll never understand it, but if it hadn't been for ladies. She couldn't even get an audition. And she couldn't even get seats for the shows.

Then one night she went to a Columbia playhouse on West 44th St. Straight to Arthur La Tour, the house manager, she went, ignoring ushers who sought to stop her.

"I'm a little old lady," she told him, "and I don't take up much space. May I see the show? Ted Husing is broadcasting, and he's my favorite. He helped save my life."

La Tour personally escorted her to row A. She met Husing.

"He fell for me," says the white-haired little old lady.

"I'll say I did," declares Husing. "She certainly is my luck."

Downey fell for her too. And one night when she wasn't in row A, Downey got nervous. "Get her," he ordered, and refused to broadcast until a chauffeur went for Peggy Harriett.

SHE became the mother confessor for the clan. David Ross tells her his woes—Berle tells her his gags—the women confide in her. After each of the broadcasts, she lingers to talk with "my youngsters."

To Lanny Ross, she'll say, "That was a fine performance, Lanny." And he had rather have her praise than the greatest critic's, because she makes no errors. And sometimes she upbraids them, scolds, pounds her cane, tells them things they should know.

She calls them by their first names—Leo Reisman, Tiny Ruffner, Al Goodman, Joan Marsh—all the stars. She stays with them after programs, until the lights go out.

And she always goes away alone. They have tried to do things for her.

"You've done enough," she tells them. "You saved my life. You made me happy."

She will not even allow her "youngsters" to take her to dinner.

They want to give her banquets, but she always eats alone in a cafeteria. They want to give her presents—clothes—but she always wears a skirt and shirtwaist, with a big brooch at the throat. They want to take her home in cabs or their private cars, but she always walks alone, tapping the sidewalk with her cane.

"I never miss a broadcast," she said proudly. And then whispered, "Well, sometimes I do."

That's on stormy nights.

"I'm not afraid of storms," declares this grand little old lady, "but my cane slips on the wet streets—and I cannot walk alone. And I will not lean on anyone—never!"

INTO A STUDIO AND STRAIGHT TO STARS' HEARTS SHE TODDLED— TO PLAY MOTHER TO THE STARS

promise of New York—dazzling lights—music—life! Her father died and left her a little fortune. In New York, the fortune soon was gone and so was the husband. And all that was left were two babies and a lot of memories. That was 40 years ago! The Maine was still afloat—the formation of Greater New York page-one news!

I STILL wanted to be an actress, but I never got around to it. The babies had to be fed. So I sold jewelry. And when they grew up, I was too old to buck the theatrical world. The stage in those days was closed to old people—the actors were too clannish to let me into the world I loved.

So she traveled and studied. "I had a good life. My debts to the world were paid in full—my children were ready to fight their own battles. I can't say that I was happy, because the one thing I wanted—a stage career—had been denied me."

There was enough money to keep body and soul together. After all, the body is very tiny and doesn't require much. She moved to a New York hotel.

"Would you believe it?" she said. "That hasn't been so long ago and my hair was as black as a raven's lock."

Then there was an accident. Why does fate pick on helpless persons? Her side was crushed. At a hospital, doctors shook their heads. She wouldn't live—too old to fight off death. And she didn't care much what happened.

that little radio I would have died, because I had no desire to live."

The doctors, amazed that she pulled through, said she would never walk again. But she got a heavy cane and toddled from her bed.

"Look," said a visitor to her one day—"look in the mirror."

"I was afraid to," she confided. "When I looked, my hair was white. It had turned white overnight."

The next day there was a heavy snowstorm, but Peggy Harriett, who had become the little old lady, hobbled out, seeking a radio station to find out whence came those voices that had cheered her.

THE first one she saw was WPCH, a lamented old-timer. Right by the receptionist she toddled and into Louis Reid's office. He was the station announcer in those days.

"I want to learn about radio," she said, "and I want to meet the people who speak and sing over it."

"Why?" asked Reid.

"Because they saved my life. And I want to go on the air and tell about it."

Reid told her to prepare a script.

"Nope! I never do it," said the little old lady. "I ad-lib."

And Reid let her do it! She knew exactly how to approach the mike. "Been practising on a telephone," she confessed. She told her story. It was a good story, but sponsors are not interested in the stories of little old

ONE of the most amazing small-town personalities the American scene has to offer will be presented to radio's millions this Tuesday night by Edgar A. Guest, the poet-philosopher of NBC's "It Can Be Done" program. When you have read the fantastic things I have learned about John S. Redshaw of Granville, Illinois, I am confident you will agree that this modern Trader Horn is the only one of his kind extant.

It is all pretty unbelievable, this story of the vast acreage of treasures that Redshaw has assembled over the years by bartering and swapping in his trading center and warehouse on the main street of his home town. He has made a vast fortune—without using money. And he's made the world come to him to give him that fortune! This is how he has done it:

Granville is a typical rural community of 900 persons, but the only thing typical about its postmaster, leading citizen and principal financier is his appearance. John Redshaw is a short, partly bald, roly-poly individual with blue eyes that twinkle merrily behind rimless glasses and as contagious a smile as ever forthwith converted a stranger into a friend. Instinctively you like this man. That is his most valuable asset.

INDEED, that and innate shrewdness were his only assets when he made his first successful swap. (He has never made an unsuccessful one, save voluntarily to aid a hapless friend.) Born in 1894 in Spring Valley, not far from Granville, John was the eldest of six children. His father was a poor coal miner and John got little schooling. He never lived in a large town.

As a youth his principal diversion was to gaze into shop windows at such items as skates or rifles and to estimate whether the prices on the tags

MODERN TRADER HORN, JOHN S. REDSHAW, SWAPPING ENTERTAINMENT FOR YOUR TIME

BY ELGAR BROWN

were fair. This penchant for knowing values stood him in good stead as he engaged in juvenile swapping—cleverly trading an old bicycle for a new rifle, a jack-knife for a baseball glove.

Then John was called to war.

"I didn't do so well in the army," Redshaw told me with a grin as he sat in his cluttered office in the brick building which once housed Granville's bank. "None of my buddies had anything of value to swap. But after the shooting stopped I drifted back to Granville, talked my way into the job of postmaster and found I had a bit of spare time. Then I really got going."

The initial enterprise in his skyrocket career bore the stamp of genius. He bought a gross of bamboo fountain pens at wholesale, stuffed his pockets full of them. You know how irritating the ordinary post-office pen can be; it is not surprising that patrons noted Redshaw's goods and were ready to trade. He would take in return almost anything they offered him. Invariably the profit went to John Redshaw.

That's how it all started. At an early age he had begun collecting guns; today, after years of constant swapping, he owns one of the largest and most valuable weapon collections in the world. He went into trading as a career. He began to advertise, mostly in the classified columns of midwestern newspapers and cheap magazines.

HE RAPIDLY outgrew Granville, but he stayed on because he liked the town and found the world beating a path to his out-of-the-way location. Mail trade also was thriving. His quarters in the old bank building became filled with guns, musical instruments, precious gems, rugs, fur coats, dishes, watches, typewriters, electric fans, cameras, furniture. He takes on all comers. He will trade anything he happens to have.

The depression didn't even slow him up. Instead of owning stocks and bonds, his wealth was in tangible goods—filing cabinets, pool tables, tennis rackets, lumber. When stocks plummeted, Redshaw's trading and profit actually increased.

He built a 15,000-square-foot warehouse across the street from his headquarters, and today its interior is a fairyland, the atmosphere of fantasy increased by such variegated objects as merry-go-rounds, airplanes, tool machines, antiques, bicycles and water craft of all descriptions.

The thing that astounded me most in all this bewildering enterprise is the fact that nothing has a price tag on it, no inventory is kept. Redshaw keeps every detail in his agile mind. He knows where every one of his thousands of articles is located and what it is worth. So does his wife, his sole business aid. Both can tell off-hand what a tiara, a tapestry or a ton of bricks should be bought or sold for.

SLICK city crooks appraising the Redshaw wealth with avid eyes might better give it a pass. Once, in 1931, he was seized by five kidnapers. The crinkles at the sides of his eyes deepened as he told about it.

"They held me four hours," he chuckled, "but I talked my way out. I convinced those hoodlums it would be a mistake to go through with it. I wasn't hurt and I didn't pay a dime in ransom."

But he doesn't depend solely on his persuasive powers for protection.

TALENTED UNKNOWNNS WILL GET BIG CHANCE IN NEW "RISING STAR" SERIES SUNDAY EVENING

EACH year the Women's National Radio Committee ponders over the radio programs available to listeners, decides which are good and which are bad. With much fanfare the results are announced. Those results most always show that more programs are bad than good.

When programs are condemned, the usual network reaction is: "Well, show us something better and we'll consider it."

Now along comes a sponsor who is willing to try to put on the perfect program—perfect in the eyes of these women who ponder and judge. This sponsor has had bad luck since he hit the airwaves last October. He started out with a program called "The Saturday Night Party" on NBC, with Walter O'Keefe in the starring role. But O'Keefe quit after seven weeks. For several Saturdays the program had no set formula. Then it became a "Sunday Night Party," started the use of big-name guest stars. That didn't work so well, so James Melton was called in to become its permanent m.c. and the show settled down to a set routine.

Perhaps this experience is one reason why this sponsor employed Mme. Yolanda Merio-Irion, president of the Women's National Radio Committee, to conceive and supervise the program, "Rising Musical Star" and which will start on an NBC network this Sunday night.

The series will offer as regular features Alexander Smallens, conducting an orchestra comprising members of the New York Philharmonic; Hans Fuerst, directing a mixed chorus of 70 voices; and Richard Gordon, who will serve as commentator. Then, each week, the program will extend recognition to one unknown professional musician whose material circumstances prohibit his appearances in the great concert auditoriums of the country and who might not otherwise be brought to public attention—an idea not greatly removed from that of the "Metropolitan Auditions of the Air."

Each of these talented unknowns will receive the usual professional fee for his services, and also compete for three $500 and one $1,000 prize to be awarded at the end of the series.

A Jury of Auditions, consisting of Alexander Smallens, Alma Gluck, former Metropolitan prima donna, and Ernest Schelling, conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, will select the musical candidate for each week's program. The series will be presented in three cycles of four weeks each. Following each cycle, the outstanding artist will be chosen by a Committee on Awards. At the end of the twelfth week the committee will select the winner, who will be heard on the program of January 9.

Speaking of the purpose of the "Rising Musical Star" series, Mme. Merio-Irion told Radio Guide:

"The aims are twofold. The first is to demonstrate that music can be at once popular and of high caliber; the second, to give young artists of genuine merit an opportunity to sing and play on outstanding programs.

"I expect the programs will give impetus to many works of similar type, programs in which the musical literature is carefully chosen and artistically rendered but is sufficiently spirited to have popular appeal. I also expect it to convince the public that there are many young artists whose talents compare favorably with those of recognized figures on the concert and opera stage.

"If the program succeeds," she said, "it will prove what the women of the country have long maintained: that public taste is better than the majority of people have thought."

What will be the public's reply to this challenge to uphold its own choice of listening fare?

EMILY POST, EXPERT ON ETIQUETTE, TELLS ABOUT "ART OF LIVING" ON NEW SHOW THURSDAY

SOME lucky citizens seem to know the proper way to serve artichokes; how to introduce a cruise acquaintance to their mothers-in-law; whether a man walking with two ladies is a gentleman when he walks in the middle. Some others doubtless do not. But the one who knows best is a vigorous, mellow-voiced lady of Tuxedo Park, New York—Emily Post. She's the one who told the ones who happen to know!

No doubt some people care about these things, too. If a great many people were not concerned over problems of conduct, Mrs. Post's Etiquette would not have been America's best-selling non-fiction book in 1923; would not have sold 100 copies a day last year; would not have long waiting-lists in libraries the country over.

What she does consider interesting—what she calls the "art of living"—she will bring personally to listeners in a new series beginning on a network of CBS stations this Thursday morning. Her programs will be called "How to Get the Most Out of Life." They are expected to reveal the real personality of the famous authority, a human and humorous side not known by the public since Mrs. Post became the dictator of the dining-table and the evening dress.

BEFORE then she had known only the life of the East's select social circle. Born of a family whose ancestors settled on land grants in Maryland between 1630 and 1680, Emily Price "came out" as a debutante in 1892, married Edwin Post at the end of that social season, and had two sons, Edwin Jr. and Bruce. Then the woman whose name in most minds stands for rigid inflexibility of conduct upset the applecart. She divorced her husband in New York State, when collusion was unheard of, where scandal was deadly. She was one of the first women to prefix her own name to that of her former husband, using the name, Mrs. Price Post.

One day a representative of a publishing house called, he said, to speak to her about an encyclopedia. Having five already, Mrs. Post made it plain that that was the one thing in the world she did not need. "But Mrs. Post," he said, "we want you to write an encyclopedia!"

Several times Mrs. Post has tried unsuccessfully to get away from what she calls the "Nice Nelly-ism of the words 'etiquette expert.'" Thursday morning she may do it. Her abounding interest in home decorations, in personal courtesy, and consideration for others and unselfishness may be revealed. She will talk about divorce, about home life, about the problems of money in young romance. Perhaps at last the bright mind that made America etiquette-conscious against its will is going to be freed from trivialities to give America sane opinions on more real problems.

"BEHIND PRISON BARS" IS NEW WARDEN LAWES CRIME-PREVENTION PROGRAM HEARD MONDAY

RIFLE-FIRE cracks. Staccato bursts of "Tommy guns" ring out. There is a scream—and Warden Lawes' new series is on the air!

Beginning his sixth year of broadcasting, this season the warden of famed Sing Sing prison will introduce a new technique to his program. No longer will eager fingers twist dials and push buttons for "20,000 Years in Sing Sing." Beginning this Monday night, dials will be flipped and buttons pushed for "Behind Prison Bars," his new contribution to the NBC broadcast schedule.

Explaining the new programs, the firm, stocky man whose work deals with the hardest type of criminal says: "This year we shall introduce a new treatment to our broadcasts. A large studio audience will be present. Members of it will be invited to ask questions about one of America's great problems—crime. These I will attempt to answer before the microphone. And from all the questions I receive in the mail I shall select one for each broadcast, the answer to which will be illustrated in a dramatized story."

THE dramatization on the initial program of the series, to the minds of many authorities, depicts one of crime's most vital problems. Dealing with youth and the breeding of criminals, it recalls vividly some scenes from the play, "Dead End."

In a slum environment of a large city, two boys are diving off a dock into the murky water of a river. Near by, lazily leaning against a rail, is a middle-aged man, of somewhat questionable character. He's tossing coins into the water, watching the kids dive after them.

This goes on for a short while. The boys are asked if they would like to make five dollars that night. To them, the sum is tremendous. They'd do almost anything for it, and when they are told that all they will have to do is swim out after a box which will be floating by later, and deliver the box to their newly made friend, they don't hesitate to accept the offer.

The scene shifts to night. Aboard a yacht on the river a rich woman is being robbed. Jewelry which is taken from her is put into a box and thrown into the water. The robbers then mingle once more with the party crowd, of which they were a part.

After the boys sight the box and capture it, they discover its contents, double-cross the criminal and try to pawn the jewelry.

Warden Lawes will explain after this skit the effect of environment on impressionable youngsters, and outline his ideas on means to improve crime-fighting forces. He will champion the crime-prevention work being done by the boy and girl scouts, boys' clubs, and other youth organizations, and will voice a plea for a greater interest and cooperation on the part of parents in the recreational activities of their children.

WORLD PREMIERE OF NEW RADIO OPERA, "GREEN MANSIONS," ON CBS THIS SUNDAY AFTERNOON

WITH the heroine singing wordlessly in a supra-human voice learned from the birds, and important dramatic song roles featuring birds, butterflies, snakes, and even the inanimate forces of nature, Louis Gruenberg's new "non-visual opera," based on W. H. Hudson's classic novel, "Green Mansions," will have its world premiere during a history-making concert by Howard Barlow and the Columbia Symphony Orchestra on the final Everybody's Music series to be broadcast this Sunday afternoon over CBS.

While the "Green Mansions" premiere in itself gives the special 2-hour program an unusual historical importance, there is the added fact that it will be the first complete concert of music written exclusively for radio ever to be given in the United States.

The broadcast is the final result of the Columbia Composers' Commission, which was established a year ago by the Columbia Broadcasting System in an effort to encourage American writers of serious music to utilize the possibilities of broadcasting, to write music specifically aimed at radio presentation. Picked as outstanding composers, each representing a special type of American music, were Louis Gruenberg, Walter Piston, Aaron Copland, Howard Hanson, Roy Harris and William Grant Still. Deems Taylor was advisor to the committee making the selections.

In the past year all members of the new commission were given opportunity to observe the resources of radio. They were shown around the studios, and Columbia even staged a special broadcast for their benefit, demonstrating all the effects of which the microphone is capable, such as "miking the instruments," the effects of certain mutes on the brass, the queer way in which an amplifier can make a very soft register, like a flute, completely dominate the whole symphony.

Results of the commission's work will be heard in the concert by Barlow and his symphony orchestra Sunday afternoon. With the exception of Gruenberg's "Green Mansions," compositions by all of the commission members have been heard on previous broadcasts.

Musical authorities have long speculated on the possibility of an opera which would dispose of the usual visual props and produce dramatic effects through sound alone. In Gruenberg's "Green Mansions," music-lovers can now count on hearing the first of such works. The composer of "Emperor Jones" and "Jack and the Bean Stalk" has wedded musical genius with electrical and acoustical science to produce a sound-fantasy of jungle life in South America.

Gruenberg has closely followed the plot of the great novel. Abel, a prospector, becomes lost in the South American jungle while searching for gold. Exhausted, he is rescued by a band of savage Indians, who revive him and worship him as a god. They warn him to shun the forest.

A voice of unearthly loveliness, however, lures Abel from the tribal clearings into the jungle. There he finds the owner of the haunting voice, a beautiful girl called Rima, who lives with the forest creatures and speaks their language. Rima and Abel fall in love. Jealous of their happiness, a snake bites Abel. Then Rima is killed by enraged tribesmen who hate her because she protects the forest animals. Abel wanders from the forest, sick and weak, living in the memory of Rima's beauty.

Hollace Shaw, CBS coloratura soprano, will be heard as Rima. The part of a savage chieftain will be played by Melville Ray, a Welsh tenor. A mixed chorus directed by Lan Andomian will be heard.

Music-lovers this Sunday afternoon will have an unprecedented opportunity to observe a new trend in American music and the extent to which radio has made new instrumental effects and tone colors possible.

For your station, please turn to the program page for Sunday, 3 p.m. EST, 2 p.m. CST, 1 p.m. MST, 12 noon PST.

HOLLYWOOD SHOWDOWN

BY EVANS PLUMMER

NOW what can be eating Rudy Vallee—jealousy? Press photographers would like to account for his strange actions week before last when he opened at Hollywood's Coconut Grove. Among the many cinema and radio stars welcoming the crooner were his protegee, Alice Faye, and her brand-new hubby, Tony Martin. Try as they did, the camera boys couldn't get shots of Alice and Rudy together—and Alice was willing. When Alice and Tony danced close by the podium, Rudy's back always seemed to be turned. When the grafex-toters begged Vallee to come to the Martin table, he replied that he couldn't because he had a table of his own guests that demanded his attention. Perhaps Alice noted the slight. Anyway, she and Tony left early—even before the first floor show came on! There are the facts, and summed up, they indicate (1) that Rudy is a perfect host; (2) that he hates newspaper cameramen (which isn't news) and the funny little captions their editors write, or (3) that he is mad at Alice or Tony. By now, Alice should feel better, however, as she's just starting a three-week vacation in New York City. Her doctors ordered change of scene. When she returns, she'll begin making "Sally, Irene and Mary" with Tony, their first picture together. Portland Hoffa, by the way, is also in the cast.

Harriet Hilliard, much thrilled, greeted your reporter at rehearsals for the first of her new Bakers' Broadcast series. "Just think," she said, "Ken Murray gave me my first stage job when I was fifteen years old, and now I'm to broadcast with him!" Harriet was corrected. Her new airworker was Feg Murray, not Ken. The pretty singing star apologized. "I'm a little muddled this morning, so please forgive me. You see, my baby awakened me at four o'clock." She was forgiven.

Of all the Hollywood air premieres witnessed during the past two weeks, I must give the biggest basket of plums to Jack Benny and company. The show seemed wonderful enough, but if you had seen the Benny studio antics before the broadcast, you'd have thought them even funnier. Jack and Mary arrived together, Jack attired in a fall topcoat. He began talking to the audience, "I traveled all over Europe and had to come back to California to catch a cold." He paraded the stage a while with coat on, then removed it, saying, "Guess I can take this off now. You've seen it." Next he called Phil Harris over to him and planted a kiss on his cheek. "Just something," Jack explained, "that I picked up in France." The comedian next borrowed a violin from Matt Malnek and played "Love in Bloom." Then with the crack, "Maybe you don't think I can play 'The Bee,'" he began that number, went sour and uttered a silent curse. By that time the audience was roaring—and it kept right on roaring through the program.

Just in case you wondered, that awful corny quartet murdering "Sweet Sue" on the Chase and Sanborn program two Sundays back really did consist of Nelson Eddy at the drums, Rudy Vallee playing the clarinet, Robert Armstrong at the piano, and Dorothy Lamour screeching out the coloratura. Did they ever have fun!

Strictly Queue Tee: What lotion concern contracted Movie Gossip Sheila Graham for her soft English accent and now is asking her to be as midwestern as possible in her speech? . . . What big-time star of a famous program dashed in late to dress rehearsal and found himself locked out? They hadn't even missed him! . . . What celebrated radio-screen comedian was so pickled the other day that they had to "shoot around him" again out at the lot where he's making a picture, and how is it he can read lines so well when he weaves so much? . . . The premiere of one comedy show almost flew out the window a couple of weeks ago when, two hours before the broadcast, its star lady stooge toppled over unconscious from a chronic malady. So the producer of the show had a heart attack and Hollywood stomach

Woodbury dramas. And while Darryl Zanuck did appear on the first, or eastern, broadcast (attired in dungarees), for the repeat, or Southland, broadcast he sent his underling, Jack Mulcahy, to do his honors, and Jack wore a tuxedo! Harry Sosnik's tuneful original waltz theme for the program, incidentally, is being fitted with a lyric by Mann Holliner and will be published by Robbins. Everyone in the cast was humming the tune after a Pons, who attached the card: "Yours in Cahoots, Onga Honga Spooks," the jingle's second line being Lily's name in the coming film "Hitting a New High." The Oakie show is all right. Stuart Erwin bears watching. He has what it takes. And the script, by Milt Gross, was so good to start that he's been given the contract. Same day Camel signed Gross, he received the good news that Max Gordon had accepted his new play, "Men, the Dogs."

Cleverest thing about the quite-good Phil Baker opener was that three-minute final review of the show—panning it to pieces in the alleged voices of Amos 'n' Andy, et al. Nice business, Mr. Baker. And I think you have something there in Miss Patsy Kelly. Immediately after the sign-off, Accordionist Baker phoned his 4-year-old daughter Margot Eleanor for her criticism and received the double-talk comment, "Daddy, I jaw down stairs!"

Which reminds me to suggest to Joe Penner that he build his show this year with the youngster audience in mind—as he did so successfully two years ago. Still, the Penner premiere was satisfactory; hit a good, laughable pace in its last half. Julie Gibson has a pert, likable voice mindful of the Hilliard style. And say, Joe, thanks for the gag about the plumber, spelled p-l-u-m-m-e-r. I know whom you meant. He's an O. K. guy.

Week before last, Hollywood Hotel had its third anniversary, but the birthday broadcast had to be cut short thirty minutes because Justice Black wished the air to explain a few things. Most unhappy backstage before the program was Ken Murray. "You know, Evans," he said, "I had a swell Ku Klux gag all set for this show, and now I can't use it. Besides, the sponsor must have read my mind. As soon as Black asked for our second half-hour, the Campbell Soup people wired their offices here: 'No Judge Black gags in Murray routine tonight!' So what could I do? I think I'll take it to the Supreme Court." . . . Willis Cooper is now writing Hollywood Hotel under an exclusive contract. His radio-scripting record is enviable and includes "Lights Out," "Tales of the Foreign Legion," "Immortal Dramas," "Flying Time" and "Empire Builders."

At Silver Theater's debut, a stunt heralding "First Love" was to have some two-score engaged couples attend the show and pose for an osculation group picture afterward. So Jimmy Stewart and Rosalind Russell, never-wed and allegedly cupid-proof stars of the drama, joined the kissers. Three plates were exposed, but not too good, so Rosalind, throwing down her hat, said, "Now let's go to town." She and Jimmy did!

Many fans have written to Vin Haworth; many also to this column wondering "where he is." Net result is that the RKO picture studios, where he is under contract, are seriously considering having Haworth change his name to Jack Arnold, the radio name he used for five years in the Myrt and Marge show. But Vin—or Jack—won't alter his monicker without his public's approval, so it's all up to you. What shall his name be—Vin Haworth, as it is, or Jack Arnold, as you best know him? Address your vote to RKO Studios, Hollywood, Calif.

Tag Lines: George Fischer almost didn't have a Jergen's Journal broadcast the other night when he star-spotted Connie Bennett, for Miss Bennett brought along Sandy, her little cocker spaniel, and between rehearsal and actual airing, Sandy found Fischer's script much to his taste.

Top: Marian Jordan, Molly of "Fibber McGee and Molly" (above), recently suffered a breakdown, was forced to broadcast via the wheelchair. Left: Arch Oboler dashed from N. Y. to Hollywood, to prepare scripts for the new Edward G. Robinson series. Right: When Harry von Zell went bu-bu-boo to the nation recently, it was all a mistake. He was clowning, he thought, just for the studio audience from the strain and had to be replaced, but the comedienne recovered and went through the show perfectly!

W. C. Fields (remember him?) is on location with his toes sticking out of his shoes—but not because he needs a salary check from that Sunday radio program on which he used to star. No, no. The real reason for the ventilation is either bunions—or the gout.

Yes, Sonja Henie was beaming smiles all over the studio when Tyrone Power premiered with Margaret Sullavan as his support in "Cardboard Lover," first of the very plumful new couple of rehearsals—it must be good.

It's a date—with Leah Ray and Warner Brothers Writer Jerry Wald almost every night, now . . . with Margot and Francis Lederer, who incognitoed himself in the audience when his beloved recently appeared on the Kraft Music Hall . . . with June Lang and either wealthy Polo Players Morry Morrison and Glen Austin, Lawyer Gregory Bautzer, or sometimes A. C. Blumenthal.

Jack Oakie's premiere brought him a basket of vegetables, including onions, from his RKO film playmate, Lily

AIRIALTO LOWDOWN

BY MARTIN LEWIS

MAKING the rounds of the air-castles the other P. M., I eavesdropped on a bit of information that is quite interesting. As you may know, Ben Bernie winds up his broadcasts for American Can this Tuesday night. As I heard it told, this will spell finis for the Ol' Maestro as far as conducting an orchestra is concerned. From now on Bernie is to be labeled a comedian and at the present time he is being offered as such to potential sponsors. The plan is to make him head man of a variety show with a weekly gueststar, permanent vocalist and band. If nothing happens soon, Bernie may take a European vacation with his frau.

Burns and Allen chose New York for their vacation and they arrived in town the other day, their first trip east in almost a year. Gracie is going to do a lot of shopping in the Fifth Avenue stores, replenishing her wardrobe with the latest creations, while George is going to be busy with other business . . . which concerns something you've heard about a great deal if you tuned in to the B. and A. programs the last few weeks. Here is the lowdown: Gracie has been talking about her play, "Miss Gracie Goes to Town." Well, that's the business George is taking up with a Broadway producer who is interested in turning it into a musical comedy for presentation around the first of the year. Of course, they are to play the leads.

Herbert Marshall, who took Don Ameche's place for a couple of weeks on the Sunday night coffee hour, is also in New York mixing business with pleasure. As I have been given to understand, the business part of it has to do with plans for Marshall to be head man of a new variety show. If I may have my little say, I think the idea is excellent. Marshall did a grand job as sub for Ameche, and his radio voice oozes with personality.

Here's a word's-eye view of the premiere of the Kate Smith Hour at the CBS Playhouse on 45th Street in New York. A Hollywood opening had nothing on this one, which was something new for programs emanating from the East. Giant, blinding Klieg lights played over the theater. Most of the audience, in formal dress, comprised the leading figures in the society, sports and theatrical worlds. Now the show is on. Ted Collins, Kate's manager, introduces "The Songbird of the South," and while she is singing her number, Ted seems so nervous that he can't stand still. Maybe he calls it dancing. Kate is in a black dinner gown bedecked with beautiful orchids; Collins and Announcer Andre Baruch sport white carnations in the lapels of their tuxedos. After the broadcast, ushers bring baskets of flowers to Kate. The songstress starts her magnificent and sincere speech with an apology for not being much of a speaker, saying that her business is singing. If you ask me, she does both very well indeed.

Later that night I went over to the Roosevelt Hotel to attend Guy Lombardo's opening. The place was packed with song-pluggers and a good many of your radio favorites, among them: Buddy Clark, who arrived from the Coast a few days ago, and who proudly passed around the pictures of his new heir; Bob Simmons and his frau, Patti Pickens, who looks lovelier than ever (they didn't miss a dance); handsome Del Casino strolled in alone, but managed to be on the dance floor with a different gal for each dance series; Maestro George Hall and his wife making the rounds of the tables and greeting their many friends. Guy and his brothers were all smiles.

Andre Kostelanetz is a doodler! The manager of a restaurant told me the other night that every time the maestro leaves his place after a meal he can bet the tablecloth will be full of penciled G clefs, sharps and flats. He hasn't been disappointed yet.

Several years ago, Ork Pilot Lou Breeze, who is heard from New York's French Casino, was disappointed when he was told he'd have to discontinue in Plymouth, Mass., for a big event in her life. On that night she will be married to Francis Letton, a young artist from South Carolina. Miss Dowling's pater is a clergyman and he will give his daughter in marriage as well as perform the ceremony.

On September 28, Lynn Brandt, NBC announcer in Chicago, married Janis Herrington, from his home town, Rockford, Ill. It won't be hard for the

that he leave for home at once. Up at the Hickory House, New York's "citadel of swing," Joe Marsala heard of the incident and immediately dispatched his bass player to the Commodore. The latter was at his post with Dorsey barely five minutes, when Tommy was informed that Benny Goodman wished to speak with him on the phone. One of Benny's trombone players had fallen ill, and the band was filling an engagement at the Hippodrome in Baltimore. Would Tommy come through? The next southbound train out of Penn Station bore a trombone player—headed for Baltimore!

Last week, Phil Spitalny celebrated his third anniversary of the formation of his all-girl orchestra. Curiously enough, the date coincides with the beginning of Phil's second year with his present sponsor. It was just three years ago that Spitalny called the first rehearsal of the 25 girls he had selected after a nation-wide talent search. The organization now has 32 members. The anniversary recalls the story of how Phil and his girls got their first commercial. The conductor had a prospective sponsor who said "no" as soon as he learned that the Spitalny orchestra was entirely feminine. So Phil agreed to audition another outfit. Came the day of the audition. The sponsor was seated in an audition-room to hear the program piped in from another studio, and promptly became wildly enthusiastic about the Spitalny orchestra. Came time to sign contracts and the "prejudiced" sponsor, much to his embarrassment, learned that he had listened to, and liked, 25 girls.

I almost forgot to mention that Joy Hodges, who sang on the Joe Penner program last season, was also among those present at the Kate Smith and Lombardo openings. Joy, who is in town rehearsing for her part in a new show which opens on Broadway soon, was being escorted by Bob Taplinger. Bob, up until two weeks ago, handled publicity for many famous radio names, but next week he leaves to take charge of publicity for Warner Bros. However, what I started out to say is that Joy told me she was going to be married around the New Year, but she refused to divulge the name of the lucky guy. From where I sit, though, I'll be sending congrats to Bob.

This brings up another interesting point. Several years ago, Bob's best gal friend was Rosemary Lane, who was then singing with Fred Waring. Now Rosemary is being groomed for stardom by Warner Bros., and her old boy friend will be in charge of giving her a publicity build-up.

Fred Uttal, CBS announcer, pulled a fast one last week, in every sense of the word. It is Fred's voice you hear opening and closing the "Big Sister" dramas. And it was Fred's voice you heard opening a recent "Aunt Jenny's Real Life Stories" program, which follows "Big Sister" with a time interlude of but 30 seconds. The difference in space, however, stretched from the 21st floor down to the third floor of the CBS studios. Not only that, but there were the heavy double studio doors, long corridors and the elevator service for Uttal to consider. The announcer got two men to hold open the doors of the first studio, another man with a special elevator, and two more to swing the doors of the second studio. With all the aid and some real sprinting, he dashed up to the second microphone breathless, but triumphant, with but a second to spare. The reason for all the rush was that Dan Seymour, regular announcer of the "Aunt Jenny" program, had been called out of town for the day.

Top: At last Alice Hill (Nancy of MBS' "We Are Four") is fulfilling her ambition to be an aviatrix. She's under tutelage of CBS Announcer John McCormick. Left: Ed Thorgersen, former chief announcer for NBC, brings football news on the Monday and Friday night Lowell Thomas show. Right: When the Ol' Maestro, Ben Bernie, ends his series Tuesday night, he'll probably be Europe-bound for a vacation playing his theme song, "I'm Just Breezing Along With the Breeze." The story is, Mr. Ford hit the airlines with Fred Waring's orchestra and appropriated the song exclusively. There was nothing left for Breeze to do but get a new song. However, last week the song was given back to him and this time for good. So, from now on, when you hear a program opening with "I'm Just Breezing Along With the Breeze," you'll know it's Maestro Breeze coming on the air.

Saturday night of this week, Jeanette Dowling, who is heard in the serial drama, "Road of Life," will be groom to remember his anniversary, it is also his birthday.

Enough about romances and marriages. Now let me tell you about a pair of misfortunes that struck the camp of swing music the other Thursday night with the bandleaders coming through for one another in heartwarming fashion. Tommy Dorsey's band was opening at the Hotel Commodore in New York, and midway in the evening Tommy's bass player received word that his father had died at Chambersburg, Pa. The boy wanted to continue because of the importance of the occasion, but Dorsey insisted

GLEN GRAY'S CASA LOMANS GO ON TOUR

SOMETHING of a cross-country record for traveling is claimed by Glen Gray and his Casa Loma Orchestra, who have just settled in Manhattan's Hotel New Yorker for the fall season and an extended airing over CBS on Sunday and Friday nights. Since leaving the swanky Rainbow Room in New York's Rockefeller Center last spring, Gray and his boys have traveled through 39 states, played in 59 different cities, and chalked up a grand total of 16,000 miles in six months' time. It was last April Fool's Day that Gray and his traveling Casa Lomans said good-bye to Broadway, headed south and southwest. Landing in Texas, they were hailed as one of the greatest dance bands to ever "swing out" in the Lone Star State. Then began their trek west, followed by a record-breaking engagement at Los Angeles' famous Palomar. Boarding a $40,000 air-conditioned, double-deck, stream-lined bus, they began a tour of one-night dances. Up and down the Pacific Coast and Pacific Northwest they traveled. They ate, slept, actually lived on the bus for five weeks, and in that time covered a grand total of 7,700 miles—most of it by night. Returning to New York via the northern route, the much-traveled Casa Lomans are again back home after bringing swing in the sophisticated manner to millions of fans throughout the land.

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

The "Voice of the Listener" letter-forum is a regular feature in Radio Guide each week, offered to the readers as a means for expressing and exchanging opinions about radio.

Each week Radio Guide will publish letters deserving our readers' attention.

FORGET TELEVISION

VOL: I think that radio engineers would do something really worth while for the public if they would perfect some device to eliminate static, rather than devote their time to television problems. Television will spoil the programs for the majority of radio fans, and will therefore be a detriment to the radio industry. At any rate, what we need now is perfect air reception. When our "master minds" of radio eliminate static, it will then be time enough for them to worry about television.—H. L. Twomey, Green River, Wyo.

COMPLAINS

Voice of the Listener: One of the most annoying things in radio, as far as I am concerned at least, is the way performers on the air get to talking and laughing among themselves about their jokes while they are on the air. Half the time we can't understand what they are talking about because of the noise. We like to hear what is being said on a program.

Then, too, the advertising done on radio today is really a scream. Now, it happens that we all understand the why of radio advertising, but it is certainly being overdone. They tell us what their product will do, etc. They then repeat it—then they spell it—then they repeat and spell some more. We heard them the first time. The general run of us does appreciate radio and purchases all that we can use of the products that are advertised on the radio.

Why can't we have more old-time songs—songs sung in the old-time way, not their interpretations? Why do singers have to hang on to the last word until they are black in the face?—Mrs. A. A. Croir, Welsh, La.

PLEA FOR VARIETY

Dear VOL: Our radios are almost our only connection with the outside world. We need song and laughter all mixed up in order to keep us plugging along. Life out here in South Dakota is monotonous enough without having monotonous radio programs. We love Richard Bonelli and Nelson Eddy and their songs, but we need Charlie McCarthy and W. C. Fields, Scotch jokes and French cabaret singers to keep our spirits up to where they must be. I'm all for variety in radio programs because, at least for us out here, it is one of the prime necessities of life.—Nina Thompson, Pollack, S. D.

FOR "PAN" LETTERS

VOL: Did it ever occur to those well-meaning souls who occasionally write in to condemn the others who write "pan" letters to, or about, radio's performers, that the performers might prefer "pan" to "fan" letters? Persons who have reached the top, or near the top, have not done so because they were thin-skinned sensitives who wither at the least chill breeze. They are persons who can take it; who have been smart enough to realize that one must learn to take it if one is to get anywhere in the entertainment profession. Only by knowing their faults can they improve. They can't know their faults if they receive nothing but praise. Let there be an end to this. Not one of the real stars of radio appreciates such silliness.—M. E. Jollow, Brandon, Manitoba.

The SWALLOWS of San Capistrano

SO CONFIDENT is NBC of the annual departure of 5,000 mysterious swallows from the eaves of San Juan Capistrano Mission in California this Saturday, that Announcer Buddy Twiss will be on hand to describe the flight—for the third successive year. Every October 23, St. John's Day, these golden-breasted birds gather over the mission, take a last drink from the fountain and fly off across the Pacific. Where they go, nobody knows. But the swallows never miss—each year they fly away at the appointed time and return in the same manner. So amazing is the behavior of the birds that even ornithologists are puzzled. Preliminary explanation of the flight will be described this Friday, and on Saturday microphones will pick up the actual sounds of their exodus.

Please refer to the program section for actual broadcast time listings

Driven out of other buildings in San Juan, swallows were allowed by mission fathers to build nests in this old church, erected by peons nearly 200 years ago. Above: Rev. Father Arthur L. Hutchinson of the mission shows visitors where swallows nest

Candid cameramen have little luck in photographing the swallows. Before daybreak they take their young out for flying practise, don't return till late at night. Right: Father Hutchinson and Buddy Twiss feed pigeons, which also stay at mission

Each year 78-year-old Ramon Yorba chants a hymn of hope for the departing swallows. Ramon has worked around the mission since childhood. Left: Homes of the swallows. They are made of mud and sticks

Children taught by the nuns of San Juan sing as the swallows depart. Some say the birds fly to little-known islands, some say Africa—but where, no one really knows

The mission was built in 1776 by Father Junipero Serra, demolished in 30 minutes by an earthquake 161 years ago, killing 30 persons. Below: Inspecting ruins

Since NBC began broadcasting the departure and return of the swallows, visitors flock to the mission, pay 25c admission, buy grain to feed pigeons, small souvenirs or pottery from Yreno Mendoza (above)

Tagging the swallows, in hopes that some sea captain might recognize them and thus reveal their secret destination, is impossible—for the minute a bird leaves the flock, the swallows abandon it. Above: Near these 200-year-old bells stands the statue of Father Junipera Serra

Every cent received from tourists who are attracted by the story of the swallows goes toward reconstruction work and keeping up the beautiful gardens above. Actually, the swallows, which were allowed to seek refuge at the mission, are now rebuilding it. They are repaying their debt of gratitude

IN THE BACKGROUND

BY MARGOT MANNING

SOON after Peter came to town, his illustrious papa, Charles Siverson, introduced the use of a complete musical background to radio drama. Soon after Peter entered school, his papa became musical director of WHAM, Stromberg-Carlson's 50,000-watt station at Rochester, New York, a city noted for its devotion to the divine art of music. Charles Siverson is WHAM's musical director . . . and . . . Peter's father.

Peter is the sun in his papa's sky, the inspiration of his papa's lofty achievements. And Peter's mama is no less so. Virginia Siverson was born in Hollywood . . . came to live in Rochester when her mother was widowed in the great War. As a young girl eight years ago, Virginia's dramatic beauty attracted the attention of Alexander Leventon, nephew of Nazimova the Dramatic, concert master of the Rochester Philharmonic, and a photographer of distinction. The resultant print took first prize at a famous salon and was widely exhibited.

The meeting of Virginia and Charles Siverson is as romantic as a serenade. Charles, captivated by the exquisite charm revealed in her expressive face, tried in vain to locate the original of the portrait. Call it fate, if you like, but when Charles had nearly abandoned hope, he came face to face with his ideal in the lobby of his apartment house. She and her mother had been living across the hall!

Some years before Siverson met Peter's mama, he made his musical debut in a somewhat unique manner. As he ruefully recalls: "I was playing tympani on the stage of a large Buffalo theater where our class was celebrating high-school graduation. The conductor had previously instructed me that the occasion was too portentous for any rat-a-tatting. Somewhat overcome by various aspects of the momentous event, I zealously brought down my sticks, missed the correct destination, struck instead the side of the big drum, and sent it bounding blithely across the stage amid the frozen horror of my fellows; while I, following through, sprawled flat amid the tinkling cymbals!"

CHARLES SIVERSON is son of the president of the Buffalo Belting and Weaving Company. As Charles had no particular musical background, his father, an astute and practical businessman, felt that an investment in an only possible bachelor of music degree offered no specific promise of returns.

But as Charles observed: "Dad made a bargain with me, and considering his candid opinion of my future as a musician, it was decent of him. He established a trust fund to pay my living-expenses for one year at the Eastman School of Music. If, at the end of that year, I had reached a certain proficiency in my progress, he would see me through. Otherwise, he would wash his hands of the whole matter."

"So you see," Charles pointed out, "I had to make good."

"I won a four-year scholarship at the Eastman School. Eight scholarships, in all, saw me through my semesters at the Eastman . . . four were financial and four honorary scholarships. I specialized in composition and theory, and I am very proud of my two years of post-graduate work with Eugene Goossens."

While a student at the Eastman, Charles' exceptional abilities were recognized, and he was asked to conduct the "Little Symphony" orchestra in Kilbourn Hall, sanctum sanctorum of the musically elite.

"In 1930 I received by bachelor of music degree. But I still needed a year's residence at college, plus a thesis, to get my master's degree. Then I set out with the purpose of being a symphonic conductor, but I found more immediate opportunity in the field of radio.

"How did I get my job here at WHAM?" repeated Director Siverson. "I spoke to Mr. Fay about doing the musical arrangements, he tried me out, and as they needed someone in that capacity at that time, I got the job."

Charles Siverson refrained from mentioning the numerous other applicants, some more experienced, clamoring for the same appointment. But that is the way of little black-eyed Peter's papa. Unassuming achievement, to put it tersely.

"I am told," he continued, "that I was one of the first to see the possibilities of the use of music on radio dramatizations. Music, at the time that I entered the field, was being used merely to separate scenes; you know, the blare of trumpets, and to start programs with a fanfare. I commenced my musical experiments with the Blue Coal program—"The Shadow." It was the "Shadow" which started the use of musical backgrounds for dramatic scenes. I often used original music, which I wrote especially for creating a mood, or I made arrangements of compositions to fit scenes and enhance effects.

"That was about 1933, and I feel that up until that time music had not been used to its fullest advantage in connection with dramas on the networks. At the present time, the NBC Radio Guild is a particularly fine example of the really clever use of musical color as 'atmosphere' to heighten a climax.

THE same year, we held our celebration on the occasion of raising our wattage from 5,000 to 25,000. Jessica Dragonette appeared on WHAM, and the Harding Sisters, Jones and Hare, the Pickens Sisters, Ray Perkins and Milton Cross, all in person. I had the honor of conducting that auspicious program.

"Two years later we raised our power to 50,000 watts and again celebrated with an all-star airshow.

"However, the most auspicious occasion in my life, that is, my private life, was the day I met Peter's mother. Everything seemed to come my way after that. And the day that little Peter arrived marked the beginning of my rise toward my present status . . . musical director of WHAM . . . and . . . Peter's pop."

WANT TO SWAP?

Strategically placed in his shop and warehouse, which contains the vault with its dazzling trays of precious gems, are loaded guns. The walls are circled with tubes of methane gas, releasable at a moment's notice. Armed guards are always on the job.

Some typical Redshaw deals? He pondered the question briefly, came up with this list of trades: A 150-stone diamond platinum ring for a carload of nails; a cow for a piano; a fur coat for a dog; a gun for several suits of clothes; a raccoon coat for 1,000 cans of red paint.

EVERY class, creed and nationality goes to Granville to trade. Under Redshaw's roofs are golf sets once owned by pre-depression millionaires; jewels of European nobles; hunting dogs accepted from sportsmen who went broke keeping up with the Joneses. He's a hard-headed dealer, but a philanthropist as well. He will take a loss any day to preserve a friendship. He finances half the farms around Granville, and at low cost.

Surprisingly, this gentleman who literally has talked his way to fame and fortune was a little worried about what to say to the radio audience. But I'll wager he says the right thing when the time comes. A microphone won't terrify him more than did five kidnaping hooligans, nor more than does a parade of customers hoping to outwit him at trading. On the air Tuesday night, John Redshaw will probably make a fair trade, swapping his time for your attention!

At any rate, I hope you're listening. When you consider Mr. Redshaw's achievement in a remote and sparsely settled community you will agree he belongs on an inspirational program like Bard Guest's "It Can Be Done."

"It Can Be Done" may be heard Tuesday over an NBC network at: EST 8:30 p.m. — CST 7:30 p.m. MST 6:30 p.m. — PST 5:30 p.m.

MUSIC of the MASTERS

BY CARLETON SMITH

THE other evening I passed along the heavily covered passages of Bologna's narrow streets to a cinema where Lawrence Tibbett was billed as Il Re dell' Opera. On the way I came upon an artists' rendezvous, a restaurant through the open door of which was coming music. As I stepped in, four men were strumming away on vari-sized guitars. It wasn't O Sole Mio they played, but Ramona. Over and over, verse after verse, refrain after refrain, it never stopped. A crowd looked on and hummed contentedly the while.

From a side street I heard a radio blasting out a familiar tune. It filled the air as I went on toward the movie, and it wasn't L'Ultima Canzone, but The Music Goes 'Round and Around.

One hears the same thing all over Europe. Everywhere there is jazz. No more eloquent tribute to the power and persuasiveness of jazz can be found than through a trip around the Continent. Not only does one find jazz, American jazz, in the fashionable resorts of St. Moritz and Nice, the Casinos of Monte Carlo and Baden-Baden, the spas of Vichy and Karlsbad, which are frequented by Americans, but one finds jazz in the homes of the people themselves!

There is night club after night club where a 5-piece band does its best to "toot out" Pennies From Heaven. Only yesterday a professor of piano in the venerable conservatory of Bologna, where Rossini studied and Busoni taught, took pride in demonstrating for me the number of variations he could elaborate on the "classic" Smoke Gets In Your Eyes!

It is a fact! From the barren Arctic wastes of Lapland to the palm-laden avenues of Sicily, in mountain chalet and town dwelling alike, loudspeakers pour out the wares of Tin Pan Alley. Jazz is the language of today, the musical expression of our age. Hollywood and the radio have made it current to the ends of the earth, and in many countries it has superseded the native expressions of the people themselves. All over Italy, for example, books entitled Hollywood Song and Dance Tunes outsell Ricordi's most popular collection of operatic excerpts.

What, then, is the power of jazz? That it has power, none can deny. Its appeal is instantaneous and as universal as any music the western world has ever known. With all its crudities and obviousness, it awakens a response in the peasant girl of Parma as surely as it does in the Park Avenue sophisticate. Can it be that jazz takes root because the civilization of which it is a product, the American culture, is spreading to Parma and Salzburg and all over Europe as well?

HAS jazz come to stay? That is for the prophets to decide. We must remember that it is of recent origin. The World War gave jazz an impetus, and since then it has spread by leaps and bounds. No other popular music has ever had a vogue comparable to that enjoyed by our jazz. But then, the agencies for the spread and dissemination of music are the creation of the last two decades.

What is the ultimate place of jazz in the temples of art? How will it rank with the music of the masters? Those are questions which only the historians of future centuries can answer. To point out that the appeal of jazz is transient, that it has very little to say that is of lasting importance, settles nothing. Whether the moon gets over the mountain or not is, after all, of small consequence. So, it's forgotten. But, might not jazz songs catch a sentiment that is lasting and perennially young? Might it not be put in a form that will last through the centuries? Most of the wiseacres say, "No!" They may be wrong.

It is true that dance forms do not have more than a contemporary appeal. Whether we rhumba or tango well is of the utmost importance to us, but it may be of little more consequence to the dancers of 2037 than are the polka and mazurka to us today.

Great music carries a message for humanity, a message that concerns vital and important matters: love, birth, death, and the life hereafter. In every modern generation they are the same as they were in Biblical times. That message, whatever it is, exists in a song the beauty of which is today as apparent to us as it was to the Elizabethans. Time, therefore, is the only final arbiter of all permanent values in the development of art.

DO WE really care whether jazz attains the stature of true greatness? Is it important? Certainly it is not important to the people who enjoy jazz. A great many things happen between birth and death, many of which, in fact, have only a transient value. So, why not let jazz be one of those transient phases?

Let us be content in the knowledge that:

1. Jazz is the undisputed creation of America. It is our contribution to the world's music. Today it offers undisputable proof that we have "come of age." But, "What age?" I hear you saying. Well, at least we have originated something that is our own, something that is indigenous to our soil and is not borrowed or copied.

2. Europeans, try as they may, cannot successfully imitate our jazz. No Continental orchestra I have ever heard could for one minute make me believe that it really had the feel of our American jazz. It was a copy, and a distorted one, at that. Nothing has been more enlightening to me than the expression on the faces of French handleaders as, mouths agape, they sat around a table watching Leo Reisman conduct his band. They were simply dumbfounded. How did he do it? They could never duplicate his effects, and they knew it. It simply isn't in their blood.

THE jazz tempo, its rhythm, is something that is born of our life, our attitudes, our speeds. It springs from the skyscraper and the apartment house. It is that same American spirit which has been exported, even in war times, to Spain, just as we imported the tango and castanets. The spirit which went to France, as Lucienne Beywer and her songs came to us; which went to Italy the same as Neapolitan folk-songs find a place in our classrooms; to Vienna, from where we obtained the waltz in the Gay Nineties.

American jazz has taken a hold on the people of the world and won their favor as no other music has ever succeeded in doing. This popularity may not last, but today there is no disputing its influence.

With all its faults, with all its shortcomings, jazz is naturally and spontaneously our creation, and we can be proud that its melodies, its tempos and rhythms, are accepted everywhere they are heard. Let us not be snobs, but give to it our best with no excuses. We have created the music of our day.

Most surprising is the sincerity and the knowledge of youthful music enthusiasts. Ninety percent of this rising generation ask for the music of the masters. Especially do they want to hear melodies they have been rehearsing in school: The storm music, the Shepherd's Song from William Tell and the Poet and Peasant overture, all are frequent juvenile requests. The Canadians prefer Gilbert and Sullivan . . . and one five-year-old yearns for the Magic Fire music every Sunday.

Above: "Jake Goldberg" is played by James R. Waters—a well-known stage actor. He emigrated to America when a young man—joined the Goldbergs when the show began

Below: "Molly Goldberg" in real life is Gertrude Berg—wife of a chemical engineer and mother of 2 children. In the eight years the Goldbergs have been on the air she's written 1,900 scripts

Above: "Rosie Goldberg" is portrayed by Roslyn Silber—youngest member of the cast. She lives with her parents in N. Y. C.—is a pupil at the Professional Children's School

"Jake Goldberg" (right) talks things over with his former business partner—"Mr. Mendall." "Mr. Mendall," who's really George Herman, is in the throes of upsetting many of Jake's present plans

LIFE WITH THE GOLDBERGS

THE Goldbergs—Molly, Rosie, Sammy and Papa Jake—have moved back to NBC after an absence of two years. Rampant with universal interest and appeal, this famous 5-a-week serial has gained a great following because of the human quality injected into both the story and the characterizations. The entire series is written and produced by Gertrude Berg, who plays the role of beloved Molly. For the past 9 months Mrs. Berg has been in Hollywood, writing screen plays for juvenile Bobby Breen. With this Hollywood background, the setting for the new Goldberg series became the cinema city. Experiences of the Goldbergs in Hollywood brought comedy and tragedy, as Jake Goldberg met stark failure there. Now back in New York, he must convince his former business partner, Mr. Mendall, to take him back. Molly takes matters into her own hands, invites the Mendalls to dinner—with much ado. Rosie and Sammy, the Goldberg offspring, contribute the trials and tribulations of a typical family of New York's lower East Side, struggling to rise above the humdrum of an everyday life into a happier existence.

Marking the 88th anniversary of Frederick Chopin's death, a program of his works will be played on Chopin's own piano by Henry Sztompka, Paderewski's favorite pupil. The program will originate in the house near Warsaw where the immortal composer was born. The program will begin with Chopin's Polonaise in B Minor, followed by the Nocturne in D Flat Major, Opus 27, No. 2. The last two Chopin works to be performed by Sztompka will be the Waltz in E Major, Opus 18, and the Mazurka in C Sharp Minor, which reveals Chopin's careful study of, and predilection for, Bach.

Columbia's American School of the Air, leader in radio education, returns to the air for its ninth season, with an expanded program in which the National Education Association, representing three quarters of a million teachers and officials, will join to enter the schoolroom proper for the first time in history. The Monday program will be "Exits and Entrances," dramatization and comment on current events by Shepard Stone, assistant to the Sunday Editor of the New York Times. Mr. Stone, now in Europe, is delivering this first talk by shortwave from London. The series is a Monday-through-Friday CBS feature.

Nurse Finds Old Book in Attic Sells It for $500.00

A small town woman found an old book in the attic that an old Civil War Veteran had given to her years before for her kindness in nursing him through an illness. She hoped to sell it for a few dollars. Imagine her joy when the American Book Mart paid her $500.00 CASH for that one old book! This is only one of over 7500 books this firm has bought in the past twenty-one months. The American Book Mart, nationally known buyers of old books, buys thousands of dollars worth of books annually—they want certain old school books, Bibles, story books, poetry, histories, travel, almanacs, letters, newspapers, magazines, etc. Many books even as recent as 1931 wanted. A single book hidden in your old trunks, attic or basement, may bring you $25, $50, $100, $500 or even $5,000 each for certain books. Better investigate now! Send 10c today to American Book Mart, 140 S. Dearborn St., Dept. 4301, Chicago, and they will send you latest list of old books they want to buy and cash prices they will pay!

"Conversation in a Hospital" is the title of tonight's episode. Under Dr. Thompson's care, Mother Barbour is slowly recuperating in the hospital. One of the daily visits by members of the family will be aired and the all-consuming interest in Clifford and Ann's flight will be the main topic of conservation. Further incidents on the China Clipper will take the listening audience on the trip with the two newlyweds. Due to the war in the Orient it is indefinite as to just where their stopping place will be, but in all probability we will find them at Midway Island.

YOU CAN THROW CARDS IN HIS FACE ONCE TOO OFTEN

WHEN you have those awful cramps; when your nerves are all on edge—don't take it out on the man you love.

Your husband can't possibly know how you feel for the simple reason that he is a man.

A three-quarter wife may be no wife at all if she nags her husband seven days out of every month.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

SHORT WAVES

A NEW station located in Bucaramanga, Colombia, HJ7ABD (9.63), "Radio Bucaramanga," took the air with initial tests on Sunday evening, September 26. The broadcaster, which usually relays the programs of HJ2ABD (5.988), also of Bucaramanga, is now being heard daily from 5:30 to 10 p.m. EST (4:30 to 9 p.m. CST), with excellent signals. English announcements made at frequent intervals, request reports which should be addressed simply to Radio Bucaramanga, Bucaramanga, Colombia.

R. B. Oxrieder of State College, Penn., sends me the following notes: XEBT (6) of Mexico, D. F., is now relaying the governmental program heard over XECR (7.38), Mexico, D. F., on Sundays from 6 to 8 p.m. EST (5 to 7 p.m. CST). The address of the new Guadalajara, Mexico, short-wave station, owned by the National Revolutionary Party, being heard nightly on 7.1 megs, is given as 210 Madero Street . . . RKI, Moscow, U. S. S. R., which relays the Soviet program for North America daily from 7 to 9:15 p.m. EST (6 to 8:15 p.m. CST), is now being heard on a frequency of 7.534 megs . . . Reports concerning the activities at the present session of the League of Nations are being heard week-days except Saturdays from 7:30 to 7:45 p.m. EST (6:30 to 6:45 p.m. CST), over HBL (9.345) of Geneva, Switzerland . . . CD1190, Valdivia, Chile, has shifted its frequency to 12 megs . . . CXA8, the Montevideo, Uruguay, station which relays LR3 of Buenos Aires, Argentina, has gradually shifted in frequency down to 9.637 megs.

Earl Roberts of Indianapolis, Ind., reports logging the unusual station, X4BG1 (14.28), on September 29, at 11:55 p.m. EST (10:55 p.m. CST). The operator, who was calling United States stations in English, stated that his name was Salvado Billasenor, and that he was located at El Palmito, Durango, Mexico, where a big government dam is being built under the supervision of Mr. Thorne, an American engineer . . . Several California police stations are being heard in the Middle West between 6 and 8 p.m. EST (5 and 7 p.m. CST). Those that have been logged are: W6XBA, Los Angeles, W6XKW, Alameda, W6XGC, San Gabriel, all on 30.1 megs, and W6XEH, Long Beach, on 33.1 megs.

The overseas hour from Tokyo, Japan, heard daily from 8 to 9 a.m. EST (7 to 8 a.m. CST), is now being broadcast over JZJ (11.8) only.

Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 29. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

$1.00 VAN'S DOUBLET ALL-WAVE AERIAL

For All Types of All Electric Radios

Actually Tested on Foreign Reception—Short-Waves 2000 Channels—Long-Waves 95 Channels—Eliminates all possibility of damage to power supply, volume control, antenna coils, etc., caused by connecting your radio direct to the ground, which is the case with so many so-called aerial eliminators. A balanced aerial for all bands—Long and Short Waves. Has a doublet hook-up designed to meet the doublet antenna hook-up of the new type radios. Eliminates outside poles, wires, window strips, lightning hazards, lead-ins, etc. Not merely an aerial eliminator but a scientifically designed indoor aerial.

It Costs You Nothing to Try One
Order one today and try it 5 days; if you are not entirely satisfied return it and we will refund your dollar at once. When ordering an antenna be sure it is a doublet antenna. All we ask is that you try one and we guarantee you will be more than satisfied as thousands of others are. Don't pay more than one dollar for an aerial until you have tried Van's. Can be installed by anyone in a few minutes, guaranteed for five years. Jobbers and Dealers inquiries solicited. Ask for circular on our other products.

VAN RO MANUFACTURING CO., Fargo, N. Dak.
Check here if $1.00 enclosed for Van's Doublet Aerial prepaid. If not satisfied will return in five days for refund.
Check here if desired C.O.D. plus few cents postage. No C.O.D.'s to Canada.

IT CAN'T BE DONE
 You can't have good radio reception with an old dilapidated or make-shift aerial. Most Likely YOUR Aerial is Old, Black and Corroded, and Has Poor Or Loose Noisy Connections. NO MORE "FADE-OUTS", BUZZES, CLICKS, and shorts from summer rains or winter snow and sleet when using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator.
 Nothing to wear out, will operate indefinitely, anyone can connect it in a moments time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch x 4 inch space behind set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band frequency.
ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD
 Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere—no more roof climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wires.
NOT NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED
 In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception. Cannot harm set—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radios for doublet aerial. Note: It will not operate on battery or automobile radios.
5 DAYS TRIAL Mail coupon at once. Pay postman $1.00 plus a few pennies postage on delivery. If not entirely satisfied, return within five days and your dollar will be refunded without question.

WHAT USERS SAY
 San Antonio, Tex. It might interest you to know that with the Capacity Aerial Eliminator I get European stations easily and in the winter get Australia, Russia, Honolulu and many Jap Short Wave Stations. I get all Pacific Coast Stations on the broadcast band.
 Signed:
 Davenport, Ia. Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. Also works swell on Short Wave band. Wish I had found it long ago. Signed:

J. E. SMITH, President, National Radio Institute ESTABLISHED 1914

The man who has directed the home study training of more men for the Radio Industry than any other man in America.

Be a Radio Expert
 Many make $30 $50 $75 a week
 I will train you at home for many Good Spare Time and Full Time Radio Jobs

Set Servicing
 Spare time set servicing pays many $5, $10, $15 a week extra while learning. Full time servicing pays as much as $30, $50, $75 a week.

Broadcasting Stations Employ managers, engineers, operators, installation and maintenance men for fascinating jobs and pay up to $5,000 a year.

Loud Speaker Systems
 Building, installing, servicing and operating public address
 systems is another
 growing field for men
 well trained in Radio.

HERE'S PROOF THAT MY TRAINING PAYS

$80 Monthly in Spare Time
 "I work on Radio part time, still holding my regular job. Since enrolling seven years ago, I have averaged around $80 every month." JOHN B. MORIS-SETTE, 800 Valley St., Manchester, N.H.

Makes $50 to $60 a Week
 "I am making between $50 and $60 a week after all expenses are paid, and I am getting all the Radio work I can take care of, thanks to N. R. I." H. W.
 SPANGLER, 126 1/2 S. Gay St., Knoxville, Tenn.

Operates Public Address System
 "I have a position with the Los Angeles Civil Service, operating the Public Address System in the City Hall Council.
 My salary is $170 a month." R. H.
 ROOD, R. 136, City Hall, Los Angeles, Calif

Do you want to make more money? Radio offers you many opportunities for well-paying spare time and full time jobs. You don't have to give up your present job, leave home or spend a lot of money to become a Radio Expert.

Many Radio Experts Make $30, $50, $75 a Week
 Radio broadcasting stations employ engineers, operators, station managers and pay up to $5,000 a year. Spare time Radio set servicing pays many $200 to $500 a year—full time jobs with Radio jobbers, manufacturers, dealers as much as $30, $50, $75 a week. Many Radio Experts operate their own full time or part time Radio sales and service businesses. Radio manufacturers and jobbers employ testers, inspectors, foremen, engineers, servicemen, paying up to $8,000 a year. Radio operators on ships get good pay, see the world besides. Automobile, police, aviation, commercial Radio, and loud speaker systems are newer fields offering good opportunities now and for the future. Television promises to open many good jobs soon. Men I trained have good jobs in these branches of Radio. Read their letters in "Rich Rewards in Radio." Mail the coupon.

There's a Real Future in Radio for Well-Trained Men Radio already gives good jobs to more than 300,000 people. In 1936 Radio enjoyed one of its most prosperous years. More than $500,000,000 worth of sets, tubes and parts were sold—an increase of more than 60% over 1935. Over a million Auto Radios were sold, a big increase over 1935. 24,000,000 homes now have one or more Radio sets. More than 4,000,000 autos are Radio equipped. Every year millions of these sets go out of date, are replaced with newer models. More millions need servicing, new tubes, repairs, etc. A few hundred $30, $50, $75 a week jobs have grown to thousands in 20 years. And Radio is still a new industry—growing fast!

Many Make $5, $10, $15 a Week Extra in Spare Time While Learning Almost every neighborhood needs a good spare time serviceman. The day you enroll I start sending you Extra Money Job Sheets. They show you how to do
 Radio repair jobs; how to cash in quickly!
 Throughout your training I send you plans that
