23 MORE DAYS!

LESS than a month to go! Less than a month to boost your favorite radio star to the position he deserves in RADIO GUIDE'S fourth annual Star of Stars Election! The deadline for your votes has been set for midnight on May 31! That means that if you intend to do something really worth while for your favorite air entertainer, you'd better act quickly—you'd better vote today!

Last year in this greatest of all listener polls, the closing few days witnessed feverish activity by boosters of various stars. Winners were made on the last day! That's the kind of unflinching enthusiasm your favorite needs to win!

This year, the same untiring support has been given some stars—while others have suffered through their listeners' indifference. When the first standings in this election were released a short time ago, Nelson

Ray Heatherton: He's seventh among male popular singers in the Star of Stars Poll!

Eddy ranked first in the Star of Stars group. Now Jack Benny has edged him out. Benny Goodman's boys ranked fourth among dance orchestras. Now the "swing" fans have let "sweet swing," in the form of Horace Heidt's band, capture that position and Goodman has slipped to eighth. Dolly Dawn was third among female popular singers, but now is only tenth. Other stars have profited by the better support of their listeners. Lanny Ross was fifth among operatic and classical singers in the early voting—but now he's second only to Nelson Eddy! Frances Langford's fans have helped her from seventh place to third in the Star of Stars group. Other entertainers have held their early voting advantages. If you want to show your favorite star real appreciation of his efforts to entertain you, do it today—vote now!

HERE IS THE GREATEST QUESTIONNAIRE
EVER COMPILED FOR RADIO LISTENERS!
MAKE IT YOUR OWN PARLOR GAME—IT WILL BE FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY!

RADIO GUIDE has devised the greatest questionnaire of all time to help you decide just how good a radio listener you are. The questions are divided by subject into seven groups, each scored separately. We think you'll have lots of fun answering these memory-teasers—and we hope you do. Here they are—and good luck!

(Score ten for each correct answer. When one question has five sections—a, b, c, d, e—score two for each correct answer. When one question has two sections—a and b—score five for each correct answer. Write or check your answers in the spaces provided. Scoring is the same in all groups of questions.)

Group I.

The Strange

MORE than two hundred years ago, a love-smitten English nobleman set London-town buzzing by snatching a young actress from the theater where she had been acclaimed an overnight sensation and marrying her.

If the musical comedy in which this actress had set men's hearts fluttering and critics' pens galloping had had the usual short run and then disappeared, the romantic adventure between the Duke of Bolton and Lavinia Fenton would have been forgotten. But because it was revived year after year, and other actresses stepped into the role created by Lavinia, a tradition was started that swept triumphantly through two centuries and finally marched right into the life of radio's Helen Marshall.

Maybe, like Helen, you always scoffed at tradition and pooh-poohed the idea of having your palm read and your head examined—for telltale bumps. But she doesn't scoff any more.

Back in 1728, Lavinia Fenton was engaged for the role of Polly Peachum in John Gay's new musical comedy, "The Beggar's Opera." Lavinia, records tell us, was entirely unknown to London theater-goers before taking over this part. But as Polly, all her charm and grace were spotlighted and she captivated audiences. Literary poesies, sonnets, and odes—the fan mail of the day—were sent to her.

Spell That ruled HELEN MARSHALL

HELEN MARSHALL SCOFFED AT ROMANTIC TRADITION, CALLED IT CHANCE, UNTIL—

Fame and fortune weren't all that came to Lavinia. The Duke of Bolton fell in love with the gracious leading lady, played stage-door Johnny for a couple of nights, then dashed off with her to his manor, where he made her his duchess.

The following year "The Beggar's Opera" again was produced. Lavinia was still honeymooning, so a Miss Warren stepped into the role of Polly Peachum. The first-nighters acclaimed the new Polly and producers flocked with offers. A gentleman of fortune fell head over heels in love with her and after a speedy romance married her.

Coincidence? Maybe. Let's see what happened to other Pollys.

IN 1732, Gay's opera was revived. A Miss Norsa was the Polly of that production. Before the season closed, she was the wife of Lord Orford. A few years later a Miss Bolton was seen as Polly. All of London, and particularly Lord Thurlow, was at her feet. She married the titled Thurlow.

More coincidences? Let's see. Miss Stephens, the first of the nineteenth century Pollys, became the Countess of Essex. Miss Paton, the Polly of the next revival, captivated the heart of Lord William Lennox. Wedding bells again!

That makes five actresses who, after appearing as Polly Peachum, married into titled families. And that isn't the end, by a long shot. Other revivals brought out a Miss Brent, a Miss Catley, a Miss Harper, and a Miss Crawford as Polly. What happened on each occasion? They garnered fame, fortune—and husbands!

And here's where Helen Marshall comes into the picture.

In 1934, the Morningside Players of Columbia University decided to stage "The Beggar's Opera." As the director could find no suitable girl in the university to play Polly, he applied to the Juilliard School. Helen, who was studying voice there, was selected for the part.

Of course, Helen didn't know what she was letting herself in for. The opening night came and nothing eventful had happened. Then, an hour before curtain time, the director brought Miss Sylvia Nelis, an English actress, to Helen's dressing-room. But let Helen tell you about it as she told it to me for the first time:

"We talked about various things for a while, and then Miss Nelis asked me whether I knew anything about former Polly Peachums. I said I didn't, so she started to tell me about Lavinia.

"Well, I took that story without blinking an eye, but by the time she reeled off the marriages of the succeeding Pollys, I was staggering around. It was amusing—and frightening."

"Who was that English actress?" I asked Helen.

"Sylvia Nelis? Oh, she was a former Polly. She had married a young man who used to send her flowers after each performance. You see, Sylvia presented herself as the clinching argument in this romantic 'tradition.' "But how did you feel?"

Helen laughed at my astonishment. "It all seemed so incredible I didn't know what to think. Of course I was skeptical, the way most of us are when a fortune-teller predicts that a tall, dark and handsome man will come into our lives. Skeptical . . . and maybe a little bit hopeful."

And with this attitude, Helen Marshall was inclined to be a bit wary of romance.

Not yet twenty years old, she had come a long way and had worked very hard to make her debut on the New York stage. As a youngster in Joplin, Missouri, she had studied the violin, fired with the ambition to become a great woman violinist. When her Joplin instructor could teach her no more, he advised his pupil to go to New York.

Helen Marshall: Composer Romberg heard her, made her a star!

shall went onto the stage to face her first audience.

At one time during the performance, she told me, she found herself looking curiously at the audience. Sitting well up in front was Sigmund Romberg, jotting notes on his program. Not far off was a young chap, Bliss Woodward, business manager of the Morningside Players.

Unintentionally, Helen's glance lingered on Woodward, lingered until she almost missed a cue.

After the last curtain was rung down, Woodward hurried backstage to be the first to congratulate Helen. To his own surprise, he simply couldn't find enough words to express his delight, so he offered to drive her home.

Helen had a difficult time falling asleep after that night's revelations!

The scholarship committee of the Juilliard School granted Helen an audition, and then sent her back to her tiny room in a New York hotel to await its decision. When she almost despaired of hearing from the committee, the decision arrived: She had been awarded a year's scholarship.

This scholarship was renewed twice. But meanwhile, because she was lonely and missed the neighborliness of Joplin, Helen joined the Oratorio Society, conducted by Albert Stoessel. It happened that he was a friend of Helen's violin teacher, Paul Kochanski. One morning, after the usual violin lesson, Kochanski asked his pupil to sing for him.

So Helen sang for him. Impressed, Kochanski arranged for an audition before Mme. Marcella Sembrich, then head of the Juilliard School. The famous diva advised Helen to change her career because good sopranos were rare and opportunities were greater than ever.

Still, Helen was undecided. Not even when she was awarded a scholarship to study voice could she decide to put aside her violin. So, for a year, she studied both. But a decision had to be made. Helen explains how she made it.

"A career, you know, is no fun unless you are good enough to be paid. Well, I tried to get engagements as a violinist, but nothing came of it.

"But my singing engagements were picking up rapidly. From a dollar-and-cents point of view, I had to decide in favor of voice study."

What might have happened had she voted for the fiddle, Helen does not care to think about. But her decision led to her engagement by the Morningside Players. And her singing in the role of Polly led to Bliss Woodward—and Sigmund Romberg.

Things began to happen fast. That first drive was succeeded by others. When "The Beggar's Opera" closed after a successful run, Bliss and Helen continued to see each other frequently—and fell in love.

Just at this time, Romberg stepped into Helen's life. He was auditioning sopranos for a radio program. Somehow, he couldn't find the voice he wanted. One afternoon, sitting at his desk, he ran through his files and came across a program for "The Beggar's Opera."

UNDERScoreD was Helen Marshall's name and there was a notation in the margin. He recalled the graceful actress with the sweet, lyric voice.

The next afternoon Helen was in his office and he was telling her of the incident. Would she sing for him? She would, and before she left the office she had signed a contract which made her prima donna of an NBC Coast-to-Coast sponsored program.

You may remember what happened. Helen Marshall was billed as the Lady in White and was the radio sensation of 1934. Her success on the Romberg hour led to other engagements.

When the 1935 season opened with Romberg conducting a new series of programs, the Studio Party, Helen was again her prima donna. During one program late in October, listeners in heard the beautiful voice of the soprano singing, "O Promise Me." A few days prior to the broadcast, Helen and Bliss had slipped away to a little church just off Fifth Avenue and had been married!

Now can there be any doubt about the potency of this two-hundred-year-old tradition about "The Beggar's Opera" heroines? Maybe it is coincidence. But if you take Helen's advice, you'll hitch your wagon to a tradition!

Helen Marshall may be heard Sundays on Fireside Recitals over NBC at 7:30 p.m. EDT (6:30 EST; 6:30 CDT; 5:30 CST; 4:30 MST; 3:30 PST).

"A man after my own heart," says
Robin Burns. Bob likes Bing because of his natural, easy-going personality

WELL now, I wonder what in the world happened to that butler of mine; danged if it ain't gettin' so I can't keep my eye on him any more."
That's how a guest is greeted when he drives off the beaten path to Bob Burns' house. The house itself, like Bob, is inconspicuous. It nestles between two others, almost identical, on a little side street away from the pomp and splendor that mark the Beverly Hills homes of celebrities. It's a simple little house, the kind that graces the side street of any town you can name. The lights of Hollywood shine in the background; you can see them as you walk up to the door.

He'll watch everybody at that party, then he'll go home and put something under that microscope of his and watch single-cell life float around in orderly fashion. Really, it's amazing the comparisons he makes with those bugs and human beings.
We were watching something through that microscope when he said: "Now you take that little thing over there in the corner of the slide, now ain't he a beauty? He's just a scootin' around like a man I once knew at a party. I forget the man's name, but I guess it don't make much difference. He was kinda like that little bug."
"If you watch real close, you'll see that bug a shinin' up to a piece of stuff

MEN, MICROBES—

Carole Lombard—
she's another of Bob Burns' Favorite People. Bob can be comfortable, at ease,
when he's being entertained at one of Carole's parties!

Bob himself typifies the sort of home in which he lives. He greets you with shirt open, hair tousled and slippers on his feet. The "gangly" boy from Van Buren opens the door himself, his ever-present pipe belching smoke like a funnel on the Normandie.

BUT behind that gay foolishness, behind that mask of simplicity, there lurks a mind as sharp as a morning in the mountains. The millions of people who have heard his name know him as a homespun humorist, a movie comic and a clowning newspaper columnist.

He is really a brilliant student of bacteriology and astronomy.
"All those little devils crawling around under that microscope make me think of people," he drawls; "but there's a difference: the bugs all seem to know what they're doin'."

Bob Burns isn't just a hillbilly, don't ever harbor that idea! Bob simply has his own ideas. He knows what he wants to do and he does it. If you don't believe that, then just try to get him to stay for any length of time at a party you are giving.

that looks like it might be dead wood. Well now, that's just what this man did. There was quite a bit of drinkin' goin' on and he got kinda muddled up. Everybody was movin' around like you see all those bugs a doin', but the bugs move around to live and the people only moved around 'cause there wasn't nothin' else to do.

"Well sir . . . that man finally got to actin' like my Uncle Phud would after he had too much corn likker. He began to shinin' up to a picture of a right purty gal. Every time he'd ask her name he'd sorta wait around a bit and then walk away. I felt kinda sorry for him, so I walked over and tapped him on the shoulder and I asked him how in the world he expected to get anywhere the way he was a goin' about things. I reminded him kinda easy like that he was talkin' to a picture."

"Well, I do declare, you could have knocked me over, he just turned sorta slow like as though he was a waitin' for the room to get back around and catch up to him, and he said:

"Mister, I know that's a picture, but wouldn't it be wonderful if I could get it to talk?"

That's an example of Bob's comparisons. It also gives you an insight into the man's thoughts. That's why Bob doesn't like to attend Hollywood first-nights and the fuss and glamor of a Hollywood "shindig." They all seem so meaningless to him. You see, Bob didn't always have the money he has now; he wasn't always famous . . . and his associates then were as homey and regular as they are now.

It was in those days that Bob came to know who his real friends were; the things he learned then are responsible for his attitude today. It was then that he used to go over to Lew Ayres' house and look through that huge telescope Ayres has. It was then that he used to dine with Bing Crosby and the late Will Rogers.

Bob always wanted a microscope then, he wanted the best that money could buy. To be sure, the one that Lew had given him was very nice, and Bob just "plumb wore it out." But he never dreamed that one day he would own a Zeiss instrument that had cost $600! You see he had always been himself, and seeing others act so differently, watching the usual "apple polishers" and "party hounds," Bob felt that he could never put himself across. But he did, and now with enthusiasm he tells about the instrument that he always wanted, the microscope that fame has brought into his little laboratory.

"Well now, I'll tell you. That gadget is right remarkable. I do believe that there ain't much that's small enough not to be picked up by this lens. Why, even a lot of the small and mean things that are done by people aren't hidden well enough to be missed by this microscope if you could put them under it."

"That sounds like a feller I once knew in carnival days. He'd just keep on talkin' and talkin' and it would sound just like a Hollywood party . . . a lot of talkin' an' nobody sayin' anything. Well, before you knew it he had finished what he was doin', but I first came to California that I think sorta influenced me.

"One day, right after I had been here a few weeks, and it had been rainin' all the time, I was working on a small part in one of the studios. Well sir, a bunch of us was called upon to go an' entertain for a party at the Chamber of Commerce. That was before I found out that Uncle Beanie Beansdorfer was only kiddin' when he told me my stories were funny. It had been rainin' like all get out and it was still rainin' when I got there.

WELL, we musta all looked a lot like those bugs under the microscope, swimmin' around in a lot of water. I

"He told me that it seemed like an awful shame the way people came out here to see the sun and never got a chance to see it. He said that he wanted the balloons so he could take the tourist up above the rain to get a peek at the sun. I want to tell you right here and now the way that joke fell flat was somethin' pitiful."

"But I got even. It kinda reminds me of Cousin Waford. He was eatin' breakfast one day and he ate twenty stacks of wheat cakes. When Grandpap Snazzle remarked that Waford ate like a razor-back hog, he got so mad that he went away from the table hungrily just to get even with Grandpap. Well, anyway, a few nights later I was

and me

everybody was so interested in his talkin' that they didn't pay any attention to how he did the trick. Well, that went on all right until one day a man who was deaf was watchin' him do the trick.

"Well now, the holler that old man put up when that little pea dropped off the table and there wasn't any chance of it being under the walnut shell he picked was something awful."

THERE is a fascination in the way Bob sits at home, peering through that microscope of his, and comparing those crawling things to human beings, especially the humans in Hollywood. It's fascinating because he has a logical reason for all he says. He takes a cake of yeast, pinches off an infinitesimal portion and describes what he sees through the lens.

"There's a lot of things skitterin' around. A person wonders what in the world they are doin'. One purty little thing is goin' through an openin' where a lot of little bugs are movin'. It has a train like one of them formal dresses a movie star wears. She could be goin' in the Trocadero or the Brown Derby."

"Off to one side are about three or four kinda' lonesome lookin' bugs and they would be cameramen. There's a big piece of somethin' that comes floatin' to a stop and about four or five little pieces move away from it . . . that would be a limousine with people gettin' out. There's one bug that staggers, and I declare there's a bigger bug—like a policeman—that pushes him right out of sight."

NOW that's Bob Burns. He'd rather sit right at home and watch the bugs at a party of their own than go to one himself. Even if he were to attend a "gathering" he would duck away as soon as possible.

But Bob isn't kidding when he says he hates parties and night life. There's something about this big, clean-cut philosopher that won't fit into the picture of pomp and ceremony. Yet Hollywood clamors for him. No guest list is complete without the name of Robin Burns.

Bob, however, has some definite reasons for not wanting to go to all those parties. Some of them will surprise you.

"Well now . . . I'll tell you. Before I got onto Bing's program and everybody began to think I was funny, I had a pretty hard time trying to make people laugh. Something happened when got up and began to tell a story. I told about a man who had a good idea for California. That man wanted to buy a lot of balloons and bring them out here. I said, 'What in the world do you want with a bunch of balloons out here?', and that man just got right up and answered me:

doin' some broadcastin' on the air and I mentioned about the Chamber of Commerce not likin' my little joke. Well, I just up and told all the folks listenin' in that I knew the reason they didn't like it. I told them I had found out that the Chamber of Commerce of those cramped little booths every five-and-ten-cent store has, looking into the lens of an automatic camera.

With two unmounted 3x3 pictures for my passport book and with a friend along as a witness who could testify under oath that I was Virginia Clark, I applied at the new post office building in Chicago for my passport. (You may, I understand, also apply for your passport at Room 170, Department of State, Washington, D. C., or any of the passport agencies in New York, San Francisco, Boston or Chicago—depending upon which of these various cities is nearest to you.)

"I'm going to England, France, Italy, Germany, Switzerland and Holland," I told the pleasant-faced man at the desk. And that's about all there was to that!

IF YOU'RE a man, you can pack your three business suits, a tux and some sports-wear, with plenty of shirts, socks and ties, into your wardrobe trunk and be a living example of what the well-dressed man will wear this season in Europe. But if you're a woman, it's not nearly that easy.

I took along a travel agency's clothes counsellor when I went to buy. The first thing I saw was a darling chiffon with braided shoulder-straps, a huge pompon and a swirling skirt. "There's something!" I exclaimed, delighted to discover the first piece of my travel wardrobe so quickly.

But my clothes counsellor shook her head very, very emphatically. Here are some shopping rules she gave me:

Take prints, knits or sheer wool because they never look mussed.
Take crepe for the same reason.
Take printed silk because it folds as flat as a nightgown and doesn't need constant pressing.

Have in your baggage a good warm topcoat, Winter or Summer.

Build everything around one color scheme. (Beige is an excellent color this season if it becomes you, because it's chic and won't show dirt.)

When my bags were all packed—with a label that listed the name of every object in the bag right on top, so I could find things easily—here are the highlights of what I had: Two knitted three-piece suits; a navy-blue dress of English worsted (worsted is warm but not heavy and you'll need something warm for Switzerland); several prints and crepes for informal wear with jackets and scarfs to tone formality up or down; three dinner and two evening dresses; plenty of sports-wear, including linen culottes, swim suit, enough low-heel shoes, and a pair of tennis sneakers for the deck sports.

I tried to keep my hats in felt or as near the crushable variety as possible, and I included sturdy gloves for general wear rather than more delicate ones that would soil easily.

THERE are no wholesale vaccinations on board ship, so you won't need to worry about that, but it's a good plan to drop in on your family doctor before you go just so he can give you a general check-up.

One word about money. Don't carry a lot of cash. Before you leave, turn most of your money (except what you're going to need for incidental expenses on the boat) into travelers' checks, which you may get from your bank or any branch of the American Express Company. These forms are as good as currency wherever you go. On the day that we left New York I stood alone in the cabin, after my friends had gone. Whirring through my head was all the don't-go-near-the-water advice I had ever heard. I ran to the porthole and opened it wide. The wind from the sea blew my hair. I threw myself down on the bed and stretched and stretched, thinking how wonderful it is to be alive, thinking—

As a woman traveling alone, what should I do from now on? Whom should I trust? Should I keep to the beaten paths—or take the adventurers' advice: "Look for adventure along crooked little streets where no crowd comes." In the end, I decided to have plenty of adventure!

There were days on the ship spent in playing quoits and shuffleboard. There were colorful parties—all in evening dress except for the first night out. There were music and dancing and tall, handsome men and walks around the deck in the moonlight.

Then on the ninth day we arrived at Boulogne, a French port.

THE custom official was a nice old gentleman who could have passed for General Joffre's twin. I opened my three bags feeling as if I were carrying machine-guns instead of dresses and lingerie. He went through the first one carefully, glanced through another and then smiled very nicely and motioned me to close them.

I lost no time in seeing Paris. With the River Seine as my dividing line I started off the first day. The next morning I covered the old Latin Quarter, where cafes hide in every narrow doorway. I explored the wealthy section around the Arc de Triomphe and spent the afternoon in the gardens of the Champs-Elysees, where there are either more lovers than Punch and Judy shows or the other way around, but certainly plenty of both.

Another day I went to the Place de L'Opera (as you will want to do) and sat before one of the most famous cafes in Europe, facing the street where, so the guide-book says, all the lost people of the world go by.

In the afternoon I walked to the Place Vendome, where the flower markets made bright splotches of color upon the pavement and happy children played in the same street where three thousand heads once fell under the bloody blade of the guillotine!

Right after breakfast one morning I decided to see the beautiful Palace of Versailles. I found from the clerk of the hotel, who could scarcely speak two words of English, that a Cook's tour was just leaving. Not giving a thought to money, I ran for the bus and just made it. After paying the fare I had exactly 20 francs left, but having my round trip paid, I thought nothing of it.

You can't imagine how large the palace really is. And it was a long way from the hotel, for we drove all of an hour before we arrived. At lunch-time I took the cheapest thing on the menu. Thank heavens I could pay the check when it came! It was just 20 francs!

Back to the palace we went after lunch to see the rest of the treasures. Then just like the Helen Trent you hear over the air and whom I was trying to forget, I immediately got into trouble. It was a particularly fascinating painting that lured me. When I had finished looking all the others were gone. "Oh, well," I thought, "I can join them later." So off I traipsed alone. Before I realized it, I had no more idea where I belonged than where I was going. Finally, I stumbled upon an exit—the wrong one, of course.

There was a bus standing on the corner, so I frantically asked the driver what had happened to the one I had come in. He could only shrug his shoulders. The situation was becoming far from fun. I don't believe I cry any easier than anyone else, but I felt so helpless and alone that I did then.

BUT ALL the kind, handsome gentlemen aren't in radio plays, for out of the bus stepped a prince charming in the form of a six-foot Englishman. He patted me on the shoulder and said, "There, there—perhaps I can help you." "I'm lost," I wailed.

"Easily righted," he smiled. "What's the name of your hotel?" I told him. "Well, back we go," he said and he started to lift me into the bus.

"But—but," I hesitated, "I'm broke." "You're what?" he roared.

"I haven't any money," I explained, sniveling.

And then he laughed all the harder and said jovially, "You Americans have odd ways of expressing yourselves." On the way back to the hotel I learned that my prince charming was a London bobby on a policeman's holiday . . .

Virginia Clark may be heard Monday through Friday on Romance of Helen Trent over a CBS network at 12:30 p.m. EDT (11:30 a.m. EST; 11:30 CDT; 10:30 CST; 9:30 MST; 8:30 PST).

Alone in Europe, arrested for spying, Virginia Clark continues her lone travels next week. Come with her to romance, adventure—in Europe as a woman sees it!

When a WOMAN

WHAT DOES THE WORLD HOLD—OF ROMANCE, OF ADVENTURE, OF THRILLS? HERE'S WHAT YOUR VACATION OFFERS!

Every year a "What to do?" problem for all of us is the annual vacation—more vexing than most, because upon our wise decision rests the possibility of living for a while more fully than at other times. For women traveling alone, there are other special complications. RADIO GUIDE is trying to help in this matter, trying to help you have the most thoroughly enjoyable vacation you've ever wanted. Miss Virginia Clark, star of radio's own "Romance of Helen Trent," assists, telling how to get the most of adventure, education and romance from your travels alone. Here are her own experiences on a trip such as you probably would love to take; here are her solutions to your vacation problems!—THE EDITORS.

YOUR vacation may be right on your heels or it may still be months off, but in any case, it's something to think about, with Spring heralding Summer's pleasures.

To those of you who have found the spot that seems absolutely ideal, I say go there by all means. Whether it be Bangor or Bermuda or the tennis courts around the corner, I have no better suggestion. But if you haven't yet reached that happy conclusion to all vacation problems, then why not try Europe?

Last year 6,561 persons sailed from America to this vacationists's haven.

Of those Europe-bound tourists, not all of them were bankers, as you might think. There were eight times as many housewives as bankers, just as many farmers, and twice as many salesmen. For every big businessman who went abroad, three of his secretaries beat him to it!

What I'm trying to tell you is this: If you're moderately careful and can be satisfied with good food and good accommodations without a saccharine coating of luxury, you can vacation in Europe at about the same cost, or very little more, than is necessary to finance an ordinary vacation.

But perhaps you don't know the first thing about passports, or what to wear. Perhaps you don't speak French or German, or any other foreign language. Neither did I before my trip—the trip I made last Summer.

Like every girl in the world, I guess, I've dreamed of travel, excitement, adventure. I have traveled in strange and far-away places—in dreams only. Then breaking four straight years without any vacation at all, on June 24 I sailed on the S. S. Volendam for eight weeks in Europe.

But there's a lot more to travel abroad than walking on the gangplank of an ocean liner under a barrage of overstuffed baggage!

Weeks before I even opened a bag to begin packing, I was sitting in one Virginia had adventure, romance, on a vacation designed more for secretaries than businessmen—found Paris the ideal resort for lone travelers!

THOUGH he fumbled for the controls, Lee Robertson sat very erect in the iron seat.

"Ready or not," said Lee Robertson with dignity, "here I come!"

And the steam-roller pulled ahead. It wobbled. It weaved. In the soft earth of the lot at the corner of Philadelphia's 23rd and Sansom Streets, it flattened a squirming indented ribbon, tight-packed.

"Oh give me a lass, and give me a glass, and gimme a bottle, too!" sang Lee Robertson. He certainly had no lass on that steam-roller. Nor had he a glass—but he did have a bottle. And from it he took little nips from time to time. Robertson was happy. He felt that he loved his steam-roller that morning. It gave him a feeling of power.

Back and forth he drove it, unsteadily but with the expertness of long practise. Robertson was doing his job. If only he had let it go at that, this story never would have been.

BUT in the soul of Lee Robertson, virtuoso of the steam-roller, there was a touch of the adventurer. The explorer. The trail-breaker. And under the stimulation of that little bottle, Lee's fettered soul broke the bonds which tied it to the dreary daily round.

While sleek limousines flitted up and down the street, why should Lee's beloved steam-roller be confined to that nasty, dirty little lot? Was that social justice?

"Oh give me a lass, and give me a glass and dyah dyah tyah tum tum," sang Lee Robertson at the top of his lungs. And this time he didn't stop when he came to the end of the rolled patch of dirt. Instead, he let it run into the soft, unrolled earth at the back of the lot.

"Ah!" breathed Lee Robertson, as he swung his iron pachyderm in a slow and ponderous arc. Glancing over his shoulder, he saw that the steam-roller had left a beautiful curving swath, ironed flat in the soft earth.

AH," SIGHED Robertson again. He had always wanted to make curves like that with a steam-roller. But suddenly a loud yell broke in upon his esthetic bliss. For as you might imagine, what with his steam-rolling and his singing, Lee had managed to gather a bit of a gallery of onlookers.

"Hey!" yelled a big man in a derby hat. "You're drunk, ain't you?"

"Cert'n'y," said Lee. "Any fool c'd see that!"

"Yeah? Well, you're a menace," said the hard-hatted citizen, "an' I'm gonna do something about it!" And he made off in search of a telephone—which is why, a few minutes later on that morning of February 1, 1937, Philadelphia's police radio gave out this astonishing bit of information:

"Cars 17 and 23 . . . a drunk at 23rd and Sansom Streets is reported to be cutting capers with a steam-roller . . . Investigate . . ."

In Car No. 23, Radio Patrolmen Yeager and Cella looked at each other.

"What next?" asked Yeager, hopelessly. They got going. But they didn't find Lee Robertson at the corner of 23rd and Sansom.

When the hard-hatted man left in search of a telephone, Lee realized that his big moment had come. He knew what the big fellow was up to, all right. He knew that there was going to be trouble. But was he going to sit meekly by and wait for it?

"Oh gimme a lass and gimme a glass!" yodeled Lee Robertson, as he calmly steered his steed off the lot and out to the street. Trail-breaker he was now, and the curbstone broke and crumbled as Lee's ponderous roller crossed it.

Hating to go in straight lines, Lee turned eventually into South Bonsall Street. And as he did so, he took one final swig from his little brown bottle.

"Oh gimme—" Lee started to qua-ver. He got no further. He slumped. The liquor had stopped him.

But not so the steam-roller.

GENTLY but implacably that metal beast veered off her course. Still gently, as if unwilling to waken the man who had given her the first fling of her disciplined life, she mounted a curbstone—lurched for a moment as if to tip over.

But the steam-roller didn't tip over. Cradling Lee Robertson like a babe in her iron bosom, she crushed daintily across the sidewalk, plowed across a lawn—and headed straight toward a house.

"WOW-W-W!" cried Robertson's gallery of gapers. And from somewhere in the middle distance came the wail of a police siren.

"Crash!" went the lowest of the front steps. "Crash!" went the second lowest. "Crash!" went the third step.

The iron monster, powered by a steam-engine, which does not stall the way a gas-engine sometimes does, gently but firmly was pushing toward the front wall of Mrs. Brown's house when Radio Patrolmen Yeager and Cella frantically shook Lee Robertson awake.

"How do you stop this damn thing?" they howled at him.

"Thish way!" said Robertson, contemptuously flipping a gadget. The steam-roller snorted and subsided. The house was saved.

"If ever a man ought to be grateful to police radio," Patrolman Yeager assured Lee Robertson, a day or so later, "it's you!"

"Why?" asked a chastened Robertson, albeit with some bitterness.

"Why?" Yeager parroted indignantly. "Why? Because now you only got to serve ten days for drunk and disorderly. Another five minutes and you'd have pushed that house into the next block. Then you'd have been pinched for malicious damage and for moving a house without a license!"

Veteran Horse-Man Will Be At Mike

Clem McCarthy, turf expert and NBC sports commentator, will be the man at the microphone when the National Broadcasting Company broadcasts its exclusive airing of the Kentucky Derby on Saturday, May 8.

McCarthy, radio's best-known turf broadcaster, has described the running of America's racing classic for air listeners in all but two years since 1928, when he made his microphone debut. He went on the air to describe a Derby-running for the first time when an announcer scheduled to handle the event resigned after describing the first race of the day.

McCarthy has seen 25 Kentucky Derbies since his first in 1896.

Extra flavor will be added to the series of broadcasts planned for the Derby by a ten-minute talk from London by Lord Derby, England's foremost horseman, for whose family the greatest of English races was named, on Thursday, May 6. Lord Derby's talk will be one of six preliminary programs that will come to a climax with the broadcast of the spectacular race itself from the Churchill Downs course at Louisville.

Clem McCarthy and Lord Derby were associated with the 1930 race when the English nobleman came to America to witness the running of the Kentucky classic. McCarthy acted as spokesman for the newspaperman who welcomed Lord Derby at Quarantine. The twelfth Lord Derby created the world's most famous horse race at Epsom Downs in 1780.

Approximately 20 of the more than 100 three-year-olds nominated for the Derby will make up the field this year in the contest for a purse of $50,000.

'Symphonic Hour' To Air Special Program

The first broadcast in America of Haydn's "Coronation" Mass will be presented on the NBC Symphonic Hour Friday, May 7, in a program of music describing famous coronations of the past.

The coronation scene from "Boris" will also be played, together with a movement of the "London" symphony of Ralph Vaughn-Williams describing the route of the Coronation. This little-known symphony is full of symbolism, including a description of "hunger marchers" and "sit-down strikers."

The broadcast ends of course with Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance" and "God Save the King." Carleton Smith, internationally known authority, will act as commentator.

Friday, May 7—NBC
11 p.m. EDT (10 EST; 9 CST)

Jerry Cooper Takes Over 'Hotel' M.C. Duties May 7

One of radio's noted baritones, Jerry Cooper, will replace Fred MacMurray as singing star of the "Hollywood Hotel" program beginning Friday, May 7, over the CBS network.

Cooper, at present in New York, leaves shortly for Hollywood to assume his new role.

A consistent star since his discovery by CBS in 1934, Cooper was a semi-professional baseball player before turning to radio. He began his singing career in a New Orleans night club, and sang with Roger Wolfe Kahn's orchestra.

Kahn encouraged him to come to New York, and he was engaged to sing on a program featuring the late Will Rogers.

Following the Rogers program, Cooper was heard on many CBS sustaining and commercial programs, although "Hollywood Hotel" will mark his first appearance as the singing star on an outstanding hour broadcast.

In appearance, Cooper is tall, broad-shouldered, tips the scales at 190 pounds.

Friday, May 7—CBS
9 p.m. EDT (8 EST; 7 CST)

Jean Dickenson In New Starring Role

Jean Dickenson, sensational 22-year-old American coloratura who has been selected as the new prima donna on the American Album of Familiar Music program, will make her debut Sunday, May 2.

Selected for the role from a group of 150 voices that had been tested within the past few weeks, Miss Dickenson has just returned from Denver, where she filled an engagement with the San Carlo Grand Opera company in a single performance of "Rigoletto." The engagement was in the nature of a homecoming, as Miss Dickenson studied in Denver.

Jean Dickenson was born in Montreal while her family was enroute from Alaska to India. She was educated in India, Africa, San Francisco and Denver, began vocal study at the age of 15. Even at that time she could reach high C with ease, and her range since that has been extended to G above high C.

She is a protegee of Lily Pons.

Air Broadcast From Kentucky Hills On Sunday

From deep in the Kentucky hills, a half-hour broadcast dealing intimately with the customs of the hill people will be put on the air by CBS on May 2.

Interviews with mountaineers in which their customs and present-day mode of living will be brought out, performances of mountain dance music, and singing of mountain ballads will feature the broadcast.

The program will originate in a log cabin on remote Lotts Creek in Knott County, location of one of the 25 "Listening Centers" established under the sponsorship of the University of Kentucky for the benefit of the mountain people. The Lotts Creek radio set was the gift of RADIO GUIDE.

Because of the complete lack of telephone facilities, the program will be short-waved out of the hills.

Monday, May 3—CBS
4:45 p.m. EDT (3:45 EST; 2:45 CST)

Benny Revives Old Drama Next Sunday

In a gala celebration that will mark his fifth year on the air, Jack Benny will revive one of seven of his old plays for the enjoyment of the radio audience on May 2.

At the time of this writing, the voting for the play to be presented is as follows:

"Ah Wilderness"	12,304
"Emperor Jones"	9,876
"Why Girls Leave Home" ..	8,440
"Charlie Chan at Radio City"	8,052
"Mutiny on the Benny" ...	6,733
"Code of the Hills"	6,101
"Way Down East"	5,528

Jack, Mary, Kenny Baker and Phil Harris' orchestra will undoubtedly present the usually funny show, however, no matter which sketch is selected.

Sunday, May 2—NBC
7 p.m. EDT (6 EST; 5 CST)

Tibbett, Jepson, Co-Star

Lawrence Tibbett, baritone, and Helen Jepson, lyric soprano, both of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be the guest soloists in the Promenade Concert on Sunday, May 2, in a special program in celebration of National Music Week.

Sunday, May 2—NBC

Rosa Ponselle and (inset) the "silvery-voiced Grete Stueckgold"

Music... of the MASTERS

An artist with the one voice in the world capable of doing justice to certain roles has a peculiar debt to her public. She is not as free as lesser artists to follow the course of least resistance. Let us hope Miss Ponselle will devote herself to more than one role a season and that she will give radio's many new music recruits their first opportunity to hear the music of the great Italian masters sung as only she can sing it.

William Grant Still, the negro composer, was the first to submit his composition among all those commissioned by the Columbia Broadcasting System to write music specifically for the microphone. It is a program piece, called "Lenox Avenue," and consists of eleven musical episodes for chorus, orchestra and announcer. Each episode is introduced separately by the announcer speaking over the music. The continuity accompanying the score was written by Verna Arvey.

The score contains complete instructions as to how the engineers shall "mix" the voices and orchestra, and there are numerous directions to the various instrumentalists. Throughout the work there is only one break. Most of the episodes are brief, the longest lasting three minutes and fifteen seconds. The finale in the form of a spiritual is written in six-part harmony.

Intense interest surrounds the first performance of the work, which will be broadcast next month by the Columbia Symphony Orchestra. Speculation is current, also, as to what the other five composers will turn out for microphone consumption. They are Aaron Copland, Roy Harris, Walter Piston, Howard Hanson and Louis Gruenberg.

Should you read this in time, don't miss the last broadcast this season of silvery-voiced Grete Stueckgold on Bing Crosby's Thursday night show, April 29 . . . or Lawrence Tibbett on May 2.

The icemen have stimulated their Spring business considerably through the efforts of Gladys Swarthout and are anxious to have her back next year. With her husband, Frank Chapman, she makes her last appearance on the series May 9. After that, it folds up until January. Miss Swarthout is the guest on the Sunday Evening Hour May 16 and then goes to Hollywood to start screening her next film.

A pertinent letter about an old subject: Mr. O. T. Burleigh of Rochester, N. Y., wants to know what can be done to stop applause. "Do we," he asks, "sit down at our radios to enjoy music or to listen to aggravating noise? It looks as if it were the latter."

With Mr. Burleigh, I agree. In fact, even in the concert hall, applause is annoying and distracting. After a sobbing and poignant outburst of deep feeling or a tender, treasured moment of reverie, isn't it a shock to hear immediately the banging of palms? Why mix beauty with noise?

In addition, great artists are on the air for only a brief, measured period. Their moments before the microphone are ticked off by the second hand of a stop-watch. It is a pity to give any of those precious moments for a handful of monotonous, crude hand-slaps. A few Sundays ago Mr. Josef Hoffmann could not play Chopin's famous "Minute Waltz," as he had intended. The audience insisted on taking the time to applaud him.

I am told that studio applause is accepted, that listeners now are accustomed to it and don't mind. If you would like to be rid of it, I hope you'll say so.

Did you hear the first broadcast on Paganini's own violin the other Sunday? An interesting if not a musically profitable stunt! Europe, by the way, is full of such curiosities. There's always Bach's organ, the piano Wagner used in composing Tristan and Isolde, Liszt's instrument, and a half-dozen other trophies that would attract the curious and the sentimental.

RUMBLINGS:

Lawrence Tibbett will sing his first broadcast of the year May 2, and will sail May 4 for London.

Jan Sibelius is a sponsor of "Y. L."—or "Ylioppilaskunnan Laulajat," if you must know, the choir that is going to broadcast for us from Boston next December 31. This organization, the finest of its kind in Finland, will give us a chance to hear the little-known choral works of the Finnish master.

Milton J. Cross did himself proud singing Tra-la-la-la to illustrate a theme from Hansel and Gretel during his commentary on that opera a Saturday or two ago.

Artist of the Week GRACE MOORE

Grace Moore is the best-advertised singing actress of the day. It was her good fortune to start off the recent movie cycle of operatic success stories featuring singers from opera houses. With that send-off, Miss Moore has made the most of her opportunities.

Hers is really the story of fame in spite of every obstacle. She has known all phases in the success cycle. No price has been too great for her to pay. She wanted success and she has had it. In the beginning, a poor Tennessee girl, she had only her voice. A try at the Metropolitan did not bring her to the top. She gave up opera for Broadway. That was a "go" at first, but petered out. And, in spite of personal "pull" and heavy exploitation, three of Miss Moore's movies were failures, each drawing less money than the last. Finally she found herself out entirely. She was not in the opera or the cinema. Broadway would have no more of her. And her managers couldn't get a concert "date."

Then came "One Night of Love," carrying her name and her voice to the far corners of the world. In its wake, she traveled across Europe, feted as a prima donna of the old days. Her personal appearances were more often than not an artistic failure with the critics, but there were thousands of the curious, anxious to see the woman who had given them their first taste of opera.

Miss Moore has had other movie successes; none as great as her first. She has been better photographed, her voice has been more perfectly reproduced. But no other vehicle has been as popular with the public. As the aspiring American vocal student in "One Night of Love," who came to the Metropolitan and won her place in the sun, she was convincing. After seeing her, youngsters everywhere started working toward the goal of the Met.

In these days Miss Moore has little time for operatic appearances. Even if she did, there would be small place for her in an institution like the Metropolitan. Her repertoire is limited to a few operas, she has slimmed her figure (and with it, her voice), so that it is hard for her to fill a large opera house.

But she has an infectious manner and the assurance of success. She has won her way, and she knows it. Her voice, though smaller than it was, is ever youthful and full of lyric beauty. Of it, the microphone makes the most.

THIS is National Music Week . . . a period set aside and sponsored by the music trade to stimulate interest in the noble art and the sale of musical instruments. This year's slogan, "Foster Local Music Talent," is an excellent one. Our native talent—much of it better than we suspect—deserves sponsoring.

The notion of devoting as many programs as possible to works of American composers is a mistake. It harms rather than helps the cause of American music. "Too much of a good thing," as has often been observed, "is worse than none at all." An entire week of music by American composers will, unless I am mistaken, produce apathy rather than sympathy towards the native product.

Much more effective would be a campaign to have one or two American compositions on as many broadcasts as possible during the season. It is bad policy to prescribe an overdoce for one seven-day period. Perhaps there is no intention of doing this. If so, that is a misconception of too many people . . . and it is a danger to be guarded against.

Your will find music week details elsewhere in RADIO GUIDE. Among the programs that particularly interest me are the Magic Key, the Motor Hours on Sunday, the String Symphony on Wednesday, the Talbott Festival of the Westminster Choir School, Princeton, on Friday, and, of course, the Metropolitan Opera's English version of "The Bartered Bride" Saturday. I hope, too, that some programs from the Cincinnati May Festival will be broadcast. Conductor Eugene Goossens has programmed many interesting English compositions.

The glorious voice of Rosa Ponselle uttering Carmen's lusty and sonorous tones brought back forcefully the realization that our native-born Rosa is still the possessor of the world's greatest Italian soprano voice. What a pity that Miss Ponselle chose to relinquish many of her roles so early! She could, if she were willing to work hard again, sing Norma, and there are many who would give a twenty-dollar bill to hear her sing Aida again as gloriously as she has.

CHICAGO.—Your next six "Fibber McGee and Molly" shows will come from Hollywood because, during the past week, the famous team and their cast and gagman, Don Quinn, were signed by Paramount studios for a full-length feature picture! Filming begins on May 3 on the picture whose working title is "This Way Please." Buddy Rogers and Shirley Ross will supply the love interest and Quinn will collaborate on the story. Jimmy Grier's band is to supplant Ted Weems' music while the radio show is in Hollywood, and for the first four weeks of the six, Hugh ("Silly Watson") Studebaker will be missing from the cast because of other Chicago radio contracts.

While on the subject of Fibber and Molly, I'd like to add my voice to many other fan complaints I've heard of late at their new time schedule, which places them in direct conflict with the Monday night Radio Theater. The choice is too difficult—one loses either Fibber or the Radio Theater!

While one show goes to Hollywood, another is destined to return to Chicago. I mean "First Nighter." With Don Ameche, the dramatic series' leading man, deserting May 9 to take over the m.c. job of the new Sunday evening coffee show, Barbara Luddy, his leading lady, has been signed exclusively at a large salary by the "First Nighter" sponsor who has it in writing that she will go where the show goes. Les Tremayne, male lead of the same sponsor's recently vacationed "Grand Hotel," is mentioned as Ameche's successor. . . . All of which reminds me to tell you that Ameche hates movie kissing scenes. He won't rehearse the osculations—even with Loretta Young! He gets all flustered! . . . By the way, the new Sunday eve coffee opus will have Nelson Eddy as an added attraction, starting next August 8, to be quite exact.

Radio performers on a no-shampoo strike! Art Van Harvey (your "Vic" with "Sade"), Happy Jack Turner and others are feuding with the barber who gets the majority of the Chi-NBC tonsorial business. The barber upped his shampoo price to one dollar—and the artists think that's too much too-pay! (Catch on?)

"When a Woman Travels Alone" (see Page 8) she is very apt to meet an attractive male who will win her heart . . . and so the real-life "Romance of Helen (Virginia Clark) Trent" was about to pass into the state of matrimony when we went to press. Virginia and James O. Bengston, a Chicago business executive, last Wednesday obtained a license to wed, and just before Ginny left the city to attend as beauty judge the Michigan Blossom Festival, she phoned her mother that the wedding would take place Saturday, April 24, at 4 p.m. at the Fourth Presbyterian Church . . . Ginny is one of the sweetest lasses on the kilocycles, and her true happiness will also be our lasting joy.

In June the bells will ring for Geraldine Amsdell, daughter of the "Junior Nurse Corps" actor, Bill Amsdell, so Bill has gone to New York to make arrangements for his wedding gift—a completely furnished apartment with a one-year lease paid in full . . . Born

Kitty Carlisle: She guest-stars on the Promenade Concert program, May 9

Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy—played by Eddie Cantor and Benny!

April 13, at Columbus Hospital, Milwaukee, to Jean (Fran Moran in "Today's Children") MacGregor Miller, a baby. And it was a boy!

Hollywood Flicks: Lum 'n' Abner's latest cast addition is Charlie, the Singing Dog. Charlie really does—after a fashion. While hunting at Lake Arrowhead, the radio pair met the owner of Charlie, who has been trained, his owner claimed, "to hunt mountain lion and to sing." So they bought him. Listen in and frequently you'll hear him do his stuff . . . Marion Claire, opera, stage and radio soprano who is wife of Henry Weber, musical director of WGN in Chicago, has been signed to appear with Bobby Breen in his forthcoming RKO picture, "Make a Wish." Gertrude Berg, author of the dormant "Goldbergs" of air fame, is writing the screen story . . . Amos has bought himself a smart home in Beverly Hills, and Andy, when he isn't flying, is house-hunting.

It was Jack's own idea to have his scripters, Ed Beloin and Bill Morrow, accompany him and Mrs. Benny on a vacation trip abroad this Summer as guests—all expenses paid. Jack figures that the scheme is a nifty to keep his writers from giving in to tempting offers of other radio comics or picture producers—while he vacations!

THIS week's big news has to do with Frank Parker. The popular singer will become the star of the Wednesday night cigarette series on CBS, starting either June 30 or July 7. Miss Lily Pons now holds that spot. The change is due to two reasons: (1) Miss Pons will go to Hollywood and it is the desire of the sponsor to keep the program in New York; (2) it is the policy of this show to present light popular music instead of classical music during the Summer months. In order to appear on the program, Parker had to sign an exclusive contract. That means he will exit from his current program, the Rippling Rhythm Revue, now heard over NBC on Sunday nights.

When Lanny Ross returns to the air, which will not be later than October 1, his program will be one-half hour in length. Regardless of any rumors to the contrary, Lanny will not again take an hour show. This was confirmed this week in an exclusive interview with Olive White, Lanny's wife and manager. It is also a fact that Lanny is still under contract to the Show Boat sponsor and that that contract has an option. This may mean that when he returns it will be for this company. On the other hand, if some of the other offers received prove to be more to his liking, it is understood that he can get out of this option.

May 2 is the last date Judy Canova, Annie and Zeke will be heard on the Rippling Rhythm Revue. It is definite that another comedian will be employed by this show. At the moment, all are decided upon Bob Hope with his stooge, Honey Chile. The contract, however, has not been signed because Hope is currently in the stage production of "Red, Hot and Blue." Hope must make the decision as to whether he'll go on the air or stay in the stage show, now in Chicago.

The new Kate Smith full-hour variety show which starts in the Fall will be heard at the same time and over the same stations on Thursday night as at present. In other words, the program will still be competing with Rudy Vallee's variety show. Are you angry, or do you keep shifting the dials to catch parts of both shows the way I do?

At last, the Hollywood Hotel emcee job is set once and for all. The popular and handsome Jerry Cooper got the job and he reports for duty on the program of May 7.

There is some talk about Artie Auerbach remaining on the Cantor show while Eddie is vacationing. Igor Gorin has already been signed to do the vocalizing for the show.

Jean Dickenson, young

American coloratura who has a reputation for her ability to sing G above high C with the greatest of ease, gets the assignment as the new prima donna on the American Album of Familiar Music program, starting Sunday, May 2.

Kay Kyser inaugurates his new series for a motor company this Sunday over a Mutual Coast-to-Coast network. Virginia Sims returns to the band for the occasion after an absence of several months due to the illness of her mother. The show will also mark the network debut of Willis and Phyllis, the Scotch twins, who will offer something a bit different in comedy and song!

Kilocycle Chatter: Some say that the Block and Sully guest appearance on the Jack Benny program Sunday (April 25) was in the form of an audition to fill in for Benny during his Summer vacation . . . Edgar Bergen signs off the Vallee show on the 29th and leaves for Hollywood immediately thereafter . . . When the Robert Ripley-Ozzie Nelson show folds, their Sunday night spot will be taken by the all-colored show featuring Louis Armstrong's hot orchestra, which is now being heard on Friday nights . . . Jimmy Fidler will air his movie news, gossip and reviews twice weekly, starting May 21. The program will be heard Tuesdays and Fridays, and with the extra programs, Fidler will receive a fatter pay envelope . . . Ben Bernie will do his radio shows from the New York studios on and after May 4 . . . Jack Pearl leaves the air June 25 for a Summer vacation. In his absence, Tommy Dorsey and Morton Bowe will carry on . . . The Saturday Night Party, featuring Jimmy Melton, may have to move to Hollywood very soon because of some movie work Melton may have to do . . . Don McNeill's return to the NBC Breakfast Club will be welcome news to the host of listeners to this popular program.

CALL IT SWING

BY NORMAN H. BRINSLEY

THERE'S nothing new under the sun, not even "swing" music, according to Lou Blake, well-known mid-western dance maestro who landed as a darkhorse right in the middle of the 28 "champion" radio bands listed in Fame's results of the poll taken among 400 radio editors.

Blake and his Aristocrats of Music, now featured nightly over WROK, Rockford station, and the ABC network, were rated as 15th in the list of nationally known bands by the editors. Such a rating placed Blake in the unusual position of being ahead of such well-known maestros as Eddy Duchin, Phil Harris, Abe Lyman, Little Jack Little, Ozzie Nelson, and other big names.

"Swing music," according to Blake, "is the same old stuff with a new hat. We knew it as 'ragtime' back in 1919 when I first started in dance work. In 1923 we called it 'jazz' and 'syncopation' and now Benny Goodman has started something by calling it 'swing' music.

ANY music to which you can dance with a swing is naturally 'swing' music. But I'm asking you what's the difference in the 'ragtime' of 1919, the 'jazz' of 1923, the 'swing-out,' 'barrel-house,' 'stomp,' 'ride,' 'groove,' 'get hot,' 'get off,' and a few other kinds of music as compared with the new 'swing' of the current day?"

Blake, meanwhile, has developed his own peculiar "Continental" style of playing modern popular music. In other words, Lou, with his 7-piece orchestra, plays everything in a simple way, stressing the melody and avoiding over-arranging. He keeps the melody to the front at all times; injecting his own peculiar twists and an occasional tango and rumba theme in order to add color to the number.

While it has been the general practise to talk about the size of various famous orchestras, Lou Blake in that respect has had to be rather quiet, for his band during the past year has consisted of only seven musicians, a rather strange fact considering that every other organization in the "famed" list of 28 boasts a personnel of at least 12 or 15 musicians, and often many more.

Not only that, but Lou Blake for the last few weeks is perhaps the only bandleader out of the 28 who hasn't been heard on a national network. He has, however, been consistently heard two or three times a day over WROK, the Rockford, Ill., radio station, which has also fed him for a half-hour nightly at 10:30 o'clock to the entire balance of the ABC network of middle-western stations. That a mid-western orchestra leader, featured over an independent radio station and one of the smaller networks, can be rated better than 13 nationally known maestros is one for the books.

USING seven men who can each double on more than one instrument and do it so well that his band sounds to be more than twice its actual size, Lou Blake has set a precedent in orchestral circles.

Just a few historical facts about this "darkhorse" of the maestral ranks. He first started in professional music as a drummer, in 1919, and subsequently was a soloist with Gilda Gray's traveling troupe. Six years later he came to Chicago and obtained a job in one of two orchestras playing at the Midway Gardens on Chicago's South Side. Getting their start in the other orchestra at the same time were Ben Pollack, Benny Goodman, Art Kassel, and Wayne King, all of them then struggling musicians along with Blake, and all of them today leaders of their own well-known organizations.

Blake spent two and a half years working with Arnold Johnson, and then returned to Chicago to study voice under John Sample. During that interlude in his career he appeared in the chorus of the "Student Prince" stage show for 15 weeks. He then joined Art Kassel's band and remained with him for nearly four years.

Since branching out under his own name, Blake has traveled a long and brilliant road, which led him to a long-time engagement at the Schroeder hotel in Milwaukee; nine months at the St. Paul hotel in St. Paul, Minn., where his band was featured on both the red and blue Coast-to-Coast networks of the National Broadcasting system; a feature spot at the "Streets of Shanghai" during the World's Fair in Chicago; five months at the Via Laga cafe in Chicago; 42 weeks at Guyon's Paradise in Chicago; three seasons at the St. Paul, Minn., Athletic Club; 14 weeks at the French Lick Springs hotel at French Lick, Ind.;

and six weeks at the Kansas City club at Kansas City, Mo.

His real name is Lewis Blanc. He comes from French-Roumanian stock.

Jimmy Evans on Sports

Jimmy Evans, All-American athlete, sports writer and commentator, began a new six-night-a-week series April 12 on WCFL, Chicago, at 7 p.m.

To our minds, Evans is coming along as fast as any Chicago commentator, and is one of the country's most interesting talkers on sports. He has developed a sport idea that is built on opinion and personal acquaintance with general sports and sport stars and coaches. It's much different from the ordinary sport review.

"Opinionated comment came into my work naturally," says Evans, who was a football and baseball star at Northwestern University. "The valuable first-hand experience I had made the regular sport routine colorless to me. In bringing celebrities before the mike, I could cut through words and get at real dope the fans want to hear.

"Fans have certainly shown to me that they want the personal opinion and reaction to sport events, just as Boake Carter does with straight news. The other kind they can pick up in the evening paper."

In his new broadcasts Evans—who gathers, writes and presents his material—will work from carefully prepared scripts that give last-minute race results, baseball highlights and snappy resumes of Chicago baseball games. His views and comment on general sport, predictions about coming events and real behind-the-scenes color will play a big part in his scripts.

NO SKINNY WOMAN HAS AN OUNCE OF SEX APPEAL

BUT SCIENCE HAS PROVED THAT THOUSANDS DON'T HAVE TO BE SKINNY

NEW "7-POWER" YEAST TABLETS GIVE THOUSANDS 10 TO 25 LBS. — in a few weeks!

THOUSANDS of skinny people who never could gain before have quickly put on pounds of naturally attractive flesh with these new "7-power" Ironized Yeast tablets. Not only that, but they've gained naturally lovely color, new pep, new friends—in almost no time!

Scientists recently discovered that hosts of people are thin and rundown for the single reason that they do not get enough Vitamin B and iron in their daily food. Without these vital elements you may lack appetite, and not get the most body-building good out of what you eat.

Now one of the richest known sources of Vitamin B is cultured ale yeast. By a new process the finest imported cultured ale yeast is concentrated 7 times, making it 7 times more powerful. Then it is combined with 3 kinds of iron, pasteurized whole yeast and other valuable ingredients in pleasant tablets.

If you, too, need these elements to aid in building you up, get these new "7-power" Ironized Yeast tablets from your druggist today. Note how quickly they increase your appetite and help you get more benefit from the body-building foods that are so essential. Then watch flat chest develop and skinny limbs round out to natural attractiveness. See natural beauty come to your cheeks. Soon you feel like a different person, with new charm, new personality.

Money-back guarantee

No matter how skinny and rundown you may be from lack of enough Vitamin B and iron, try these new Ironized Yeast tablets just a short time, and note the marvelous change. See if they don't aid in building you up in a few weeks, as they have helped thousands of others. If you are not delighted with the benefits of the very first package, your money back instantly.

Special FREE offer!

To start thousands building up their health right away, we make this absolutely FREE offer. Purchase a package of Ironized Yeast tablets at once, cut out the seal on the box and mail it to us with a clipping of this paragraph. We will send you a fascinating new book on health, "New Facts About Your Body." Remember, results with the very first package—or money refunded. At all druggists. MEN, MICROBES— AND ME didn't think it was such a good idea because it had just been so long since they had seen it themselves that they weren't sure whether it was still up there!"

And that isn't all: the famed bazooka player resents people who try to show off. In Hollywood, a party is certain to have celebrities in attendance. They try to get into the spotlight. It is second nature to them. But Bob Burns wants to be left alone. Most of the people who meet him now would not have bothered to speak to him not so long ago—and Bob hasn't changed a bit. He wonders why they bother to send him an invitation now. His jokes aren't any funnier, he is still the same Bob . . . but he has fame and money now.

Among a select few, there is one celebrity that ranks as a "real" person with Bob. That person is Carole Lombard.

"There's somethin' about Carole that you can't help likin'. I kinda like to go to a party at her house. She reminds me of when I was playing in Europe right after the War. Carole is the kind that was born with royalty in her blood. She don't have to put on—it's just in her!"

"Now that's a right smart gal. Bing Crosby is like her, too. Bing is a man after my own heart. You know Bing kinda reminds me of Grandpap Snaz-zle . . . you got to take him just as he is cause there ain't no other way he can be took."

BOB doesn't spend all his spare time looking at microbes, comparing them to his surroundings. He studies the stars, too. Those stars that shine in the Hollywood heavens are far more interesting to Bob than the stars whose names shine on the marquee of fame. While others are doing the night spots, Bob star-gazes at the home of his friend Lew Ayres. If he isn't there you'll find him at Mount Wilson Observatory or in Griffith Park Planetarium, where the scientists all call him "Bob."

Ayres has a high-powered telescope in his home that Bob uses at every opportunity. It is there that he watches with interest the various stars that twinkle and glimmer in the skies.

"Those stars are a lot different from people, too," Bob remarked. "They got a set way of goin' about things. They just follow a straight course, but every once in a while one of 'em breaks loose and burns itself out goin' nowhere."

IF THE stars were like us it sure would be a funny sight. I declare I can't imagine how funny-lookin' the sky would be if all the stars decided to stay up half the day and blaze away in the air, bumpin' into one another and raisin' heck in general. And it would look even funnier to see them come out at night, like some of us do in the mornin', all tucked out and lookin' for all the world like a little spark of light that's about to pass out."

And Bob Burns, philosopher, is far from being wrong. The simple foundation he has for his remarks proves that . . .

"I don't know of a better way to let the wind out of a swellin' head than to look at them little bugs or to look at the stars. If you look at a bug under the microscope, you'll see that they're all workin' and none of 'em have time to complain. And if you take time to get a telescope and squint at the stars, you're goin' to get an awful shock!"

"There's somethin' about lookin' away up there in the sky that gets you to feelin' mighty small."

Bob Burns may be heard Thursdays on Kraft Music Hall over an NBC network at 10 p.m. EDT (9 EST; 9 CDT; 8 CST; 7 MST; 6 PST).

Solution to Puzzle Given Last Week

THE COVER PORTRAIT

THEY call her "Sade" around the NBC studios in Chicago—because she stars in "Vic and Sade," but you'll recognize her by the name on this week's cover of RADIO GUIDE—Bernardine Flynn. "Bern" has become so well known in her part that even her most intimate radio friends call her by her character name!

Bern was born in Madison, Wisconsin, and stayed there until she had exhausted every educational facility—graduating in turn from the local grammar and high schools and the University of Wisconsin. Zona Gale, staunch Wisconsin booster and creator of famous stories of Wisconsin life, saw her there in a college play, and recommended her to Brock Pemberton, the producer, for a part in "Seven Year Love," being cast at the time.

So in 1929 Bern made the long journey to Broadway—the journey so many have made, so many have regretted. But she made a success of it.

She played in "Strictly Dishonorable," "Joseph," and "Strange Interlude," scoring greater successes in each new part. But a year later, NBC needed a character actress with a French accent. Bern had played a French part in "Seven Year Love"—and she made it pay in radio. Displaying no "mike fright," she carried off the audition admirably, and won the part.

That ended her Broadway career, and started a radio career in which she has been heard in "The Empire Builders," the "National Farm and Home Hour," the "Rin Tin Tin" thrillers, and the Thurston programs. But her greatest part has been in "Vic and Sade." She has become so closely identified now with the part that she plays it with only the scantest of rehearsal, without the least effort.

Bern likes to go for long and thoughtful walks, and enjoys the movies—but reading and the theater are her real recreations.

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

The "Voice of the Listener" letter-forum is a regular feature in Radio Guide each week, offered to the readers as a means for expressing and exchanging opinions about radio.

Radio Guide will pay $10 for the best letter published each week and $5 for the next best. Other letters deserving our readers' attention also will be published.

HOLOCAUST ($10 Prize Letter)

Voice of the Listener: Despite the pleas for sympathy of propagandists for this "cause" and against the "menace," the greatest hazard in the path of today's youth is war . . . American radio presents many a reasonable argument against our participation in the next—and probably last—holocaust to hate. But most of these arguments are just that and no more—arguments, unadorned. They are speeches by politicians, by presidents of clubs, by earnest citizens whose hearts choke the sincere words in their throats.

This is terrible propaganda. It is propaganda no war-maker would tolerate . . . When diplomatic relations are broken, it is no dull oratory that leads young men to the recruiting stations. No, a great fanfare is heard, and martial music crashes in the square of every village. Pretty girls wave flags, and enthusiasm is electric in the air.

This is the sort of thing that must be used against war, as well as for it. The possibilities are just as great. Why can't one of the networks present weekly dramatizations of homes broken by sons gone, not to return—a tear-flowing story, as powerful as the war-lords themselves would write on the other side. Let there be music, too—light and gay pieces, and perhaps one dolorous dirge at the end. Let Edwin C. Hill tell young men of their chances of losing a leg on the battle-fields; let him tell over-zealous girls what will happen to their sweethearts if they shame them into recruiting.

This is the way radio can be of real service in America's greatest need. This is the way America can be saved! —Williamson Carsall, Chicago, Ill.

MENTAL HURTS ($5 Prize Letter)

VOL: I wonder if the radio stars, especially the comedians, realize what divers people depend on radio for their sole amusement?

I have been a nurse in a mental institution, and I have observed the part radio plays in the lives of the patients. Jokes dealing with mental derangements seem more prevalent than necessary. Whenever a star offers a joke about another's mental deficiency or asks when he left the insane asylum, the scene changes. The smiling faces turn to faces of gloom. We never hear jokes about physical illness, so why must the poor unfortunate afflicted with mental illnesses bear all the brunt?—Dolores Hughes, Mankato, Minn.

CROSS PATCH

RADIO GUIDE, Gentlemen: . . . One program that burns me is "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Just imagine a woman today selling her clothes to pay for whisky her husband bought, and working for anyone like "Old Mrs. Adams." If she were really in need, she would be working for the WPA . . . —Mrs. George Meyers, Shelburne Falls, Mass.

SCHOOL OF THE AIR

Voice of the Listener: Just recently I had the privilege of listening to the "American School of the Air." This was my first opportunity, since I teach school and am always in my classroom at the hour of the program.

I secured a radio the next day and let my children listen to a geography lesson. They were thrilled—and I am sure they learned more about that particular subject than could have been taught in many hours of actual classroom work.

The schools of our city are not equipped with radios, and I understand that this is true in other parts of the country. Since these programs are for the education of the youth of our nation, and most of our schools do not have radios, couldn't the hour of the program be changed so that our children might hear them?—Etna Stegall, Mobile, Ala.

MORE "FANTASTIC LOVES"

Editor, RADIO GUIDE: Do you really mean to say there are so many crazy women at large in the United States? I have just finished reading "Fantastic Loves of Radio's Men," and I can hardly believe that so many women and girls could make such fools of themselves . . . Now, how about the letters women radio stars receive from male admirers? I feel sure that some men make just as big fools of themselves, if not more . . . —Mrs. Paul Rupp, Camp Hill, Penn.

VOL: . . . I was quite annoyed after reading "Fantastic Loves." However silly the letters written to the artists may sound to other readers, they are anything but silly to the writer. I have very little respect for a star who regards his mail so lightly that he willingly publishes something written to him confidentially. The artists themselves are to blame for these letters . . . They have theme songs such as "In Dreams I Kiss Your Hand, Madame," "Lovely Lady," and they sign off with something like this: "I'll be back again next week, and I'll be disappointed if you're not listening." They allow their press-agents to release stories of their dream girls, with endings such as, "Who knows—maybe you are his dream girl!"

What other result can they expect? They deliberately go out to get this reaction . . . —Helen Luscombe, Easton, Penn.

Voice of the Listener: . . . I think it's positively the most disgusting article I've ever read in the GUIDE. I have written a number of letters to my favorite radio artist, but I am sure he is much too fine a gentleman to ever imagine my letters are for any other than good intentions . . . Here is one lady who certainly is not in love with Rudy Vallee or his program, or any other screen or radio lover, and I am certainly no sour old maid or one who is starved for affection.—Unsigned, New Castle, Penn.

CRIME LESSONS

Voice of the Listener: I wonder who learns the most from these so-called crime-prevention programs—the gangster, or the law-abiding citizen? We hear all the tricks the police use to catch a murderer, all the mistakes the murderer made that led to his capture. The criminal hears this, too. He hears of mistakes others have made and becomes wiser and more dangerous . . . —F. W. Thomas, Clearfield, Penn.

BASEBALL DUPLICATES

Voice of the Listener: With the opening of the baseball season now at hand the question again arises, "Why must four or five stations broadcast the same ball game?"—as is the case in the Chicago area. If different announcers could make the Cubs score more runs or help the Sox pitchers hold the opposing batsmen, I'd say, "The more the merrier." But as long as they can't turn hits into outs and outs into hits, I fail to see why so many popular programs should be pushed off the air to permit the same game to come to us from all parts of the dial.—Maurice Seitter, Chicago, Ill.

"I'VE BEEN HANKERING FOR THIS FLAVOR"

"So have I. It's a flavor that fairly melts on your tongue—a fresh pep and tang that sends a tingle right through you. That tight-sealed package keeps the gum chock-full of freshness and flavor. Your digestion is stimulated too; when busy days demand quick eating, chew Beeman's Pepsin for digestion."

Time given is CST; for CDT add one hour. Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 29. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

(Figures in Parentheses Are Megacycles)

INCLUDING bits of equipment salvaged from radio transmitters once installed in the stratosphere gondola and aboard the Seth Parker respectively, the special 1,000-watt NBC transmitter which is to bring listeners throughout the United States frequent accounts of the progress of the National Geographic Society-U. S. Navy Solar Eclipse Expedition, is at present being removed from its packing boxes and assembled at Honolulu, aboard the S. S. Avocet, which is to transport the group to lonely Enderbury Island in the South Seas.

Listeners are urged to watch for tests from the S. S. Avocet on one of these frequencies: 4.177, 4.752, 8.56, 12.84 or 17.12 megs. When the scientific base is reached a tiny 25-watt high-frequency portable transmitter will be set up in a tent on the island.

Accounts of life on a desert island, as well as a description of preparations for and the actual witnessing of the longest solar eclipse in 1,200 years, will be short-waved to the main broadcaster on the S. S. Avocet, which will in turn relay the program material to Point Reyes, Calif., for feeding the NBC networks. Aerials for the portable station will be suspended from three kites.

A new Costa Rican, TI2RS (7.1), announcing as "Radioemisorá Athenaea," and operated by Senor Rogelio Sotela of San Jose, is being heard daily from 10 to 11:30 p.m. EST (9 to 10:30 p.m. CST).

THE Postmaster-General in Pretoria, South Africa, has licensed a new short-wave transmitter which is testing on 5 and 8.696 megs and using the call ZUD. Reports should be addressed to the Chief Engineer, General Post Office, Pretoria, Union of South Africa . . . VK3LR (9.58), Melbourne, Australia, is to have its power increased to 5,000 watts, with provision for further increase to 20,000 watts if necessary . . . G. C. Gallagher, San Francisco, has been hearing a French station at Pontoise broadcasting programs to North America near 2:30 a.m. EST (1:30 a.m. CST) irregularly . . . George Ebbecke, Philadelphia, states that OER2 (11.778), Vienna, Austria, is being heard with very loud signals from 4:25 p.m. EST (3:25 p.m. CST) until about ten minutes later DJD (11.77) throws on its powerful carrier.

TG2 (6.3), the new broadcaster of Guatemala City, Guatemala, will transmit special programs nightly for the Radio Signal Survey League for the entire week starting Sunday, May 2. The schedule is 11 p.m. to 2 a.m. EST (10 p.m. to 1 a.m. CST).

A novel new all-wave aerial made of a combination of copper and aluminum wire and for which the manufacturer claims an almost uniform response from 6 to 22 megs and greater pick-up surface than any other aerial made, is now available.

Apex Stations K6XCC (35.2) and K6XCG (34.1), both owned by the Mutual Telephone Company of Waikiki, Hawaii, are conducting tests to determine the usefulness of ultra-high frequencies for point-to-point radio-telephone service.

Mysterious Communist stations, at unknown locations furnish much interest for short-wave listeners. One, a German-speaking station, may be heard on either 10.07 or 9.83 megs, daily from 4 to 4:55 p.m. EST (3 to 3:55 p.m. CST.) This illegal broadcaster, signing on and off the air with "L'Internationale," is believed by a Prague newspaper to be installed in either an automobile or a motorcycle. Despite vigorous efforts of the Nazi Secret Police, the station still has not been located. "Even if we are discovered and arrested," says the announcer, "there is another station ready to carry on. But if we are caught, listeners, observe one minute's silence in our memory." Another mystery broadcaster announcing as "Radio Libertá" is being heard daily from 7 to 8 p.m. EST (6 to 7 p.m. CST), on either 9.52 or 7.38 megs.

The E. I. A. R. authorities of Rome state that due to the approach of the Summer season, 2R0 this month may change the frequency on which its evening schedule is transmitted to 11.81 megs.

DONALD REYNOLDS, Newburgh, N. Y., writes that the new Bermuda phone stations ZBB (5.025) and ZBT (10.335) are testing with recordings near 11 p.m. EST (10 p.m. CST) . . . CXA2, the new Montevideo, Uruguay, station, is now operating daily on its assigned frequency of 6.035 megs, from 4 to 10 p.m. EST (3 to 9 p.m. CST).

The new Daventry transmitter GST (21.55), "T for transmitter," is conducting tests in transmission 3, from 9:15 a.m. to 12 noon EST (8:15 to 11 a.m. CST).

YUGOSLAVIA is spending five million dinars to put the country on the short-wave map. A new 10,000-watt station, to be under the control of the Central Press Bureau at Belgrade, is under construction. Meanwhile, YTC, a temporary broadcaster with a power of 500 watts, and which announces as "Radio Belgrado," is broadcasting daily on 11.7 megs from 2:30 to 5 p.m. EST (1:30 to 4 p.m. CST), and on 9.61 megs from 7 to 9:30 p.m. EST (6 to 8:30 p.m. CST). In addition, emigrants in North America are being entertained by the Yugoslavian government on the first and third Wednesdays in each month from 7 to 8 p.m. EST (6 to 7 p.m. CST) over Dutch stations PCJ (9.59) and PHI (11.73), Huizen, Holland.

PCJ1, located at Willemstad, Curacao, D. W. I., will soon shift its frequency to a new dial spot, 9.57 megs.

We Applaud

... the Educational Radio Project actors who dramatized the struggle to have the Bill of Rights included in the Constitution. It was the first show in the "Let Freedom Ring" series sponsored by the Department of the Interior, heard regularly over CBS under the direction of Nila Mack

... Radio Commentator Boake Carter, whose consistent popularity with a large listening audience is attested by his standing among leading commentators listed in the Radio Gulde Star of Stars Poll now in progress. He tells his real opinions on the day's news events—and lets the complaints and libel suits fall where they may!

... Henny Youngman, a newly discovered radio comedian. His first appearance on Kate Smith's "Bandwagon" program roused studio laughter once every eight seconds! A recording of the program revealed that in five minutes and eight seconds on the air, he won laughter 38 times! You'll probably hear him again with Kate soon

... Nick Lucas, the "Crooning Troubadour," for his come-back on Al Pearce's "Watch the Fun Go By." An obscure banjoist in 1926, Nick became an overnight sensation on his first airing, sold over 100,000 recordings of "My Best Girl." He conquered London, was a favorite of the Royal Family. Then oblivion—and new success!

Radio Guide Goes To The Party

OUR CAMERAMAN GIVES YOU A CLOSE-UP VIEW OF GREAT SONG STARS BRINGING FINE MUSIC, SUPERB MELODIES—TO YOU!

Melody fills the air as Tenor James Melton bursts into song! After a brief sojourn in movie-making, this man of many roles is now presiding over the program as master of ceremonies

Introducing Tom Howard (right) the droll wise boob, and his eccentric partner, George Shelton, who's wiser still, as they wise themselves up for a program. Arguing Tom and George provide smart comedy for the "Party"!

Donald Dickson, the "Party's" new baritone find, sings operatic and popular ballads in a dramatic manner. Recently given a Spring Metropolitan Opera contract, he will make his debut May 3, playing the role of "Valentine" in "Faust"

Softer, slower fades the music as Maestro Bobby Dolan of the CBS "Saturday Night Party" directs the orchestra through a brilliant passage. Only twenty-seven, this energetic young man earned the post of regular conductor on the program when he guested recently!

It's time for applause—and here is Ace Announcer Nelson Case encouraging it. Applause adds stimulus and gives new life to the program—and this young man not only does the announcing but directs the audience as well!

1 With Husband Frank Chapman at her side, Gladys Swarthout finds inspiration, sings

2 Soft, low, throbbing melody pours forth. One of the world's great stars air-romances!

HOW TO SING A LOVE SONG

3 Louder, higher goes the aria! The singer begins her touching plea for love!

4 With hands clasped tenderly and voice filled with pathos, she tells of ecstasy, enduring love—in her song!

5 Lighter, gayer is the mood. Gladys' melody comes to its joyous climax—while gay abandon in song shines in her eyes!

6 With hands outstretched, ecstasy in her bright eyes and radiant face, she finishes her song—but the melody lingers on!

THIS DEODORANT IS SO GREASY IT RUINS MY CLOTHES

YOU SHOULD USE THE NEW NON-GREASY ODO-RONO ICE

New... a non-greasy cream deodorant that vanishes completely and checks perspiration instantly!

NOW at last there is a non-greasy cream deodorant that does everything you want a deodorant to do.

The new Odorono Ice never messes up your clothes because it is absolutely not greasy. It is made on an entirely new principle. Just pat it on, and it disappears like a fine vanishing cream. No fuss or bother.

You will find its light, melting texture entirely different—delightfully cooling and refreshing on your skin.

And it leaves no telltale odor to betray you. Its own fresh, clean odor of pure alcohol disappears at once.

And Odorono Ice, instead of just covering up perspiration odor temporarily, gently checks it for 1 to 3 days. Your armpit is really clean—grease-free, perspiration-free.

Odorono Ice is so easy to use, so dainty and yet so completely effective that 80 per cent of the women who have tried it prefer it to any other deodorant they have ever used! Try it. You will be delighted! Buy a jar of the new Odorono Ice tomorrow—35¢ at all Toilet-Goods Departments.

Smart Girl No. 1—Bess Johnson—is sweet-voiced Frances in NBC's serial, "Today's Children." She's a native of Keyser, W. Virginia, and has been in radio for the past five years

With "After the Thin Man" still in everyone's mind, a girl is smart to look like Myrna Loy—and Virginia Verrill (below) is very Loy-like here. She's a CBS vocalist, sweet and lovely!

There aren't many smarter than Anne Seymour, new star of "Mary Marlin." She comes of an old stage family, has acted on Broadway and "the road," long was "Grand Hotel's" star!

The little dear with a smile is Doris Kerr, CBS songstress. Leith Stevens discovered her when she sang informally at the Sands Point Club—where the late Huey Long was once mauled!

FOUR SMART GIRLS

OUT OF THE AIR COME THE BRIGHT VOICES OF THESE STARS — BRINGING SONGS, STORIES

Jimmie Fidler is either the scourge of Hollywood or the crusader for truth where it is almost a stranger. He tells listeners his inside gossip about Hollywood every Tuesday night

"The Man Who Came Back" is Gene Austin, who was a terrific success in the old recording days, a forgotten man when radio came in. Now he's great again—on Penner's broadcasts!

—and FOUR GREAT GUYS

Bob Trout started life a foundling, grew up to become No. 1 CBS special-events man. He announces coronations, inaugurations, sports. He also writes—sometimes for Radio Guide!

Hugh Studebaker is one of radio's most versatile and busiest character actors. He is "Sil Watson" on the "Fibber McGee and Molly" broadcasts which are aired every Monday

1 Dec. 20, 1906, brought a "bundle of heaven" to the Charles Marion Talleys, of Nevada, Mo. Named Marion Nevada, the bundle first posed at 3 months, 3 days

2 On that day she wore her new pink shoes, replacing baby booties. Shortly, the left was lost; the right was saved for posterity

3 In Humboldt Grammar School in Kansas City, little Marion drew free-hand—autographed the work for future reference!

5 At one year and eight months, Marion was bright-faced, ready for the cameras she was to know better—in time!

6 At eleven, history and geography were Marion's hardest studies—but here she's studying a studio "prop"—not her homework!

7 At fifteen, singing in the Kansas City Grand Opera Co., Marion was called a star-to-be!

MARION NEVADA TALLEY was born to Charles Marion and Helen H. Talley at Nevada, Missouri, on December 20, 1906. She started singing at three in her home, at five in her church, and professionally at fourteen, earning up to $25 per night. During this time she had gone from her big, rambling Kansas City house to Humboldt Grammar School and Manual Training High. At fifteen, she joined the Kansas City Grand Opera Co., singing in "Bohemian Girl" and "Mignon." Galli-Curci heard her, gave her an endorsement concurred in by the late Mme. Schumann-Heink. Local citizens raised $10,000 at a public concert to finance a trip to New York for her Metropolitan Opera tryout at sixteen. Officials there recommended further study. Neighbors paid for a year and a half of study in New York and a year in Italy. Then came glory—her "Met" debut at nineteen. New York was a "hick village" on the night of February 17, 1926, when Marion sang Gilda in "Rigoletto." 5,000 persons jammed around the old opera house, and as many more milled about the surrounding streets. Police riot squads were called after several persons were hurt in the crush. Seats originally sold for $7 rose in the "scalper" market to from $35 to $70. She was accorded 20 curtain-calls, appeared thereafter for four seasons in 75 performances, in the leads of 7 operas. In 1929, she retired to a 1,600-acre Kansas wheat ranch. "I'm just through with it all, that's all!" she said. She described her farm as an investment, rather than a hobby or retreat, but of its cost would mention only "$1 and other valuable considerations." But in 1933 she joined the Chicago Opera Co., in 1935 films contracted her, and in 1936 she began her regular NBC series. Today Marion is slimmer, happier than ever before—lives in her Spanish-type Beverly Hills home, where she plans to bring her family. She'll travel around the world—when her career ends!

15 Marion was a plump girl at 19—in good operatic tradition. Now, after 11 years, she is prettier, younger-looking than she was at that time! —Wide World

8 A public concert raised over $10,000 to finance Marion's study in New York, later in Italy!

FEIZES ORGAN PIANO RECITAL
A recital of organ and piano songs last night in the auditorium was another indication of the new attitude toward a very old instrument, the organ. It was the first time since the late 19th century that the organ has been given a prominent place in the program of a concert. The organ was played by Miss Marion Talley, who has been studying it for several years. Her playing was characterized by a clear, bright tone and a delicate touch. The program included several of the best pieces of the organ repertoire, and her playing was a real treat for the audience.

CREATES FUROR AS MIGNON
MARION TALLEY TWICE STOPS SHOW AT SHUBERT THEATRE
Young soprano created a large sensation at the Shubert Theatre last night when she sang the role of Mignon in "The Bohemian Girl." Her performance was so brilliant that she was called back to the stage twice during the performance. Her singing was pure and sweet, and her acting was perfect. She has created a new sensation in the city, and her popularity is growing rapidly.

11 Proud and happy day! On Feb. 17, 1926, Marion had her New York debut in "Rigoletto"!

CALLONS ON HAND

12 And on the next day, newspapers reported the riotous reception given the young star!

13 Congratulatory letters poured in—an overjoyed Marion read them to her father, sister, mother —Acme

14 After her second Met appearance, Mme. Schumann-Heink congratulated the girl star (right) —Acme

9 In Milano, Italy, Marion finished her pre-"Met" studies, posed for a 1925 studio portrait

10 Newswriters predicted great things for Marion before she left home. They guessed well!

16 By 1930, Marion had made news by retiring to a Kansas wheat farm to "get away from it all." News cameramen were on hand to snap her return from a Bermuda vacation —Wide World

17 On that farm, Marion enjoyed the outdoor activities she had missed during four years with the Met. Lots of sunshine and exercise elevated her spirits—brought back her smile! —Wide World

18 More exercise, even more strenuous, came when Marion went to Hollywood to work for the movie moguls. Publicity pictures in shorts were part of her standard "build-up"

19 Marion reduced her weight from 130 to 107, went to Hollywood. She shares this set with Michael Bartlett, co-star in "Follow Your Heart." Then a manufacturer of a reducing food became her radio sponsor

20 Great and good friend is Josef Koestner (center)—Marion sang an original song of his on her radio show recently. Joe Alvin wrote the lyrics

21 And here is the Marion Talley of today's airlines—a younger girl than she was at 19; star of all fields of entertainment; happy in her brilliant career!

CBS-Horace Heidt's Brigadiers (Alemite) Lysbeth Hughes & King Sisters: WBBM KMOX WFBM WHAS WCCO WJR (sw-11.83) (also see 11 p.m.)
A "Gay Nineties" program by Heidt's Brigadiers promises: Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet, Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage (Glee Club), I Want a Girl, There's a Tavern in the Town (Vonnegut King), the Old Gray Mare, On a Bicycle Built for Two (Bob McCoy and Lysbeth Hughes), East Side West Side, Man on the Flying Trapeze (Jerry Bowne) and Yip-I-Yaddy-I-Ay (Art Thorsen and Ensemble).
NBC-"They Came Like Swallows," drama: WIS KWK (sw-11.87)
A new technique in radio dramatization, that of dualizing a single personality to convey more geographically certain narratives, will be employed during this presentation of "They Came Like Swallows." Raymond Seuder's adaptation of William Maxwell's new novel, the Book-of-the-Month Club selection for May, Two voices, differing slightly in timbre, will be used for a single character. The story deals with the day-to-day events in the life of a middle-class family before and after the death of the mother. Central characters include Elizabeth, the mother, James Morrison, the father, Bunny, age eight, and Robert, thirteen.

ASK MR. FAIRFAX

All the HOOSIER HOT SHOTS, except Otto Ward, were reared on the farm. Ward was learning to be a core-maker in a foundry when he hooked up with the Five Triestsch Brothers. The group later toured in vaudeville as Buzzington's Revelers. In 1929 they took the name, Hoosier Hot Shots.—L. L., New York City.

VICTOR YOUNG is maestraing the AL JOLSON aircastrs now. FREDDIE MARTIN wields the baton at the Aragon ballroom in Chicago with a WGN-MBS airing. TED WEEMS handles the musical duties at the Trionon ballroom in Chicago.—J. G., Hood River, Ore.

A BIG LEAGUE PITCHER TAUGHT ME TO "Carry TUMS"

THIS IS THE FAST WAY TO RELIEVE ACID INDIGESTION (GAS... SOUR STOMACH)

"Big League baseball players can't be bothered with a fussy stomach out on the diamond. They need relief quick. When a Big League pitcher told me more and more ball players were carrying Tums right in their pockets all the time, I started carrying them myself as a regular thing. Now I get relief, minutes and sometimes hours, quicker."

Millions have switched to Tums because they bring such quick relief. Just the thing after you eat, drink or smoke too much. So handy. The roll fits right into your pocket or purse. And they taste just like candy. Best of all, Tums are harmless and non-habit forming. Contain no harsh, water soluble alkalies—can never over-alkalize the stomach. And Tums are so economical—just 10 cents a roll—or 3 rolls in convenient 25 cent ECONOMY PACK.

TUMS FOR THE TUMMY

TUMS ARE ANTACID... NOT A LAXATIVE... HANDY TO CARRY

FREE Beautiful Six-color 1937 Calendar-Thermometer. Also samples of Tums and NR. Send stamp for packing and postage to A. H. Lewis Co., Dept. 35676, St. Louis, Mo.

HALF the fun in life is knowing interesting people... but it takes money to keep up with a gay group.
If you need extra cash and have an hour or two a day to spare, I have a job for you—right in your own home. Nothing to sell. No "subscription" work. No studying. Hundreds already employed. (We've been established since 1908.)
This work won't bring you a fortune—but we paid J. S. of Michigan $286 in two weeks. Details are free. Write me today. (No solicitor will call.)
K. L. Boyce, Employment Mgr.
3848 Lincoln Ave., Chicago, Ill.
Gentlemen: Send me free details on above offer.

DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL

It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections

NO MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet when using an F. & H. Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Equals an aerial 75 ft. long, strung 50 ft. high, yet occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind your radio—guaranteed to give you nationwide reception of your money back.

BETTER TONE AND DISTANCE GUARANTEED
Sensitivity, selectivity, tone and volume improved. No lightning danger or unsightly lead-in and aerial wires. Makes your set complete in itself. Forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere.

NET NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED
On the market five years, 100,000 satisfied customers in U. S. and foreign countries. In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Chosen by Government for use on Naval Hospital bedside radios. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception. Cannot harm set—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radios for doublet aerial.

5 DAYS TRIAL Mail coupon at once. Pay postman $1.00 plus a few pennies postage on delivery. If not entirely satisfied, return within five days and your dollar will be refunded without question.

JUST MAIL THIS COUPON

F. & H. Radio Laboratories, Dept. 97, Fargo, N. Dak.
Send F. & H. Capacity Aerial. Will pay postman $1 plus few cents postage. If not pleased will return within 5 days for $1 refund. Check here if sending $1 with order—thus saving postage cost—same refund guarantee. Check here if interested in dealer's proposition.

WHAT USERS SAY
San Antonio, Tex. It might interest you to know that with the Capacity Aerial Eliminator I get European stations easily and in the winter get Australia, Russia, Honolulu and many Jap Short Wave Stations. I get all Pacific Coast Stations on the broadcast band.

Here's where listeners will get a microphone tour around the Coronation route in London. There will be Vox Pop interviews with cabbies, shopkeepers, policemen and soldiers, and microphone pickups from outside Buckingham Palace and Westminster Abbey, on the embankment at Trafalgar Square and Piccadilly Circus. This unusual full-hour broadcast will be climaxed by the community singing, by more than 4,000 persons in a huge cinema at Piccadilly Circus, of "God Save the King".

★ NBC-KENTUCKY DERBY Description by Clem McCarthy (Raleigh & Kool): WENR WOWO WMT WIBA WTMJ WLW (sw-15.21)
"They're Off!" ace turfcaster Clem McCarthy will tell you shortly after the beginning of this broadcast of the 65th annual running of the Kentucky Derby, at Churchill Downs, Louisville. As we go to press, it looks as if twenty-three-year-olds will make up the field. Prominent among the contenders are J. H. Louchheim's Pompon, champ two-year-old of 1936 and winner of last Fall's Belmont Futurity; Mrs. Ethel V. Mar's Reaping Reward, who won over Pompon in last Summer's New England Futurity at Narragansett; Col. E. R. Bradley's Brooklyn, winner of the Walden Handicap at Pimlico last Fall, and War Admiral, a Samuel Riddle entry and son of Man of War. For your arguments, here are a few past winners of the Derby: 1936—(1) Bold Venture, (2) Brevity, (3) Indian Brown; 1935—(1) Omaha, (2) Roman Soldier, (3) Whiskoloo; 1934—(1) Cavalcade, (2) Discovery, (3) Agrarian; 1933—Brokers' Tip; 1932—Turquoise King; 1931—Twenty Grand; 1930—Gallant Fox; 1929—Clyde Van Dusen; 1928—Reigh Count; 1927—Whiskery; 1926—Whirling Over.

YOUR PROGRAM LOCATOR

Below is the first installment of this unique and most complete index to the airways anywhere available. Your Program Locator lists every major NBC, CBS or MBS network star, every national program, and every one of their sponsors. Each listing tells when you may hear the program you choose—RADIO GUIDE'S Program Section tells you what nearby stations broadcast it. (See Footnote). The hours are given in Central Standard Time. For EST or CDT, add one hour.

If, when you refer to the Program Section, you fail to find the program listed, this indicates that it is heard only in a limited area over a small branch network with no audible stations in your vicinity. Late dance orchestra broadcasts and certain minor non-commercial programs have been omitted from this index because of the instability of their time reservations. ABBREVIATIONS: The "NBC-R" at the end of locator listings indicates National Broadcasting Company Blue network carries that program; "NBC-B" means National Broadcasting Company Red network; "CBS" stands for Columbia Broadcasting System, and "MBS" indicates Mutual Broadcasting System programs.
