Medal of Merit

AWARDED TO HOLLYWOOD MARDI GRAS

THERE is no doubt about it!
Hollywood Madri Gras is one of the finest programs we listeners will be invited to enjoy this winter.

There are several reasons for this. First and foremost is the singing of Lanny Ross; that, and the lines he speaks. A new lightheartedness and gaiety seems to imbue his remarks. There is a sort of "rippling rhythm" to his voice. His old Show Boat fans write that they are delighted with him in his new program.

There is Charles Butterworth, who turned up as last year's most sensationally popular radio comic. His inhibited mutterings, his timid approach to his task, his sympathy-provoking technique are worth their weight in gold both to Butterworth and to those of us who can use the delights of laughter after a hard day's work.

There are Miss Florence George, Don Wilson, Raymond Paige. And there are the guests. Amos 'n' Andy did much to give to the Mardi Gras a fast start when they appeared on the opening program. The Marx Brothers added drive to the second broadcast. There have been others, and there will be more of the same big - name, big - time talent and ability.

Finally, there is a spirit behind Hollywood Mardi Gras which rides along those invisible radio waves until it reaches our radios, our ears, our hearts. It tells us that the broadcasters are having fun, are hoping we are having fun, too. Sometimes, this one barely perceptible overtone will make a great program out of what might be otherwise merely distinguished performances. Jack Benny's broadcasts of last year had it, and so did the old Show Boat. And now, Hollywood Mardi Gras has the same charm.

Whatever its cause, whether it be Lanny Ross or Charlie Butterworth or the guests or the nimble-witted writers from whose pens flow the lines we hear, or whether it springs from the smooth direction and pace which its directors have fashioned from its stars' talents, we listeners know not and care but little. We only pray that what it now has, it keeps. If it does, the absence of the ingratiating Fred Astaire of last year's successful show will soon be forgotten.

Good listening is always welcome. RADIO GUIDE admits the need for finer programs, and in behalf of its readers recognizes those which are most pleasing. Because Hollywood Mardi Gras gives us fine singing and fine fun and a heaping abundance of joyous music, we salute its addition to our week's delights by awarding it our Medal of Merit.

SUNDAY

Jeanette MacDonald . . . songs

Miss MacDonald will be starred in the new Vick's Open House. She will be supported by a mixed chorus and Josef Pasternack's or-chestra. CBS, Sunday, 7 p.m. EST.

This will be Miss MacDonald's first commercial radio contract. Since winning new laurels in "Rose Marie" and "Maytime," since being elected Queen of the Screen by the readers of SCREEN GUIDE Magazine, she has had many offers. Fear of the mike kept her from accepting until now.

Mental Telepathy . . . science

The Zenith Foundation's experiments in the science of thought-transference will be heard on the NBC-Blue network. Sunday, 10

What happens when two humans separated by miles think the same thought? Are they mysteriously in communication? Are they superhuman? This program hopes to find an answer to this age-old question.

Richard Crooks . . . tenor

One of our great tenors, Mr. Crooks will sing on the Ford Sunday Evening Hour, supported by the symphony orchestra and chorus under the baton of Jose Iturbi. CBS, Sunday, 9 p.m. EST.

Richard Crooks probably is best loved for his virile interpretation of songs of sentiment. Mellow in his art, powerfully built, his visit on this fine Sunday night program should provide a generous treat for music-lovers.

Cheerio . . . good cheer

Charles K. Field, philosopher and friend of the poor-in-spirit, returns to NBC-Red, Sunday at 10:30 p.m. EST.

Mr. Fields, who is reported to work for the love of helping people, has an inspiring message for those who are distressed. His famous canaries, his kindly voice, the peaceful music of his orchestra have helped thousands to find help in their problems.

George Jessel and Norma Talmadge

A new variety show titled "Thirty Minutes in Hollywood," starring George Jessel with his wife, Nor-ma Talmadge, and Tommy Tuck-er's orchestra, opens on MBS, Sunday, 6 p.m. EST.

Jessel, who probably has appeared as guest on more programs than any other radio comedian, is headlined with his wife on a show in which they will appear together in comedy skits. Mrs. Jessel will also interview celebrities and give fashion notes. The program comes from Hollywood.

Edwin C. Hill . . . news

"Your News Parade" summarizes the news over an enlarged list of stations. Ed Hill, former star rethe commentator.

Ed Hill is a Hoosier and he still reflects the chief obsession of Hoosiers, which Booth Tarkington has described as "politicitus." Still, his broadcasts are interesting, informative, and a genuine help in keeping abreast of what's going on here and there.

General Hugh Johnson . . . opinions

Politics, big business, little business, agriculture, the New Deal, will be the subject of General Johnson's comment in this new series. NBC-Blue, Monday and Thursday, 8 p.m. EST, and Tuesday and Wednesday, 10 p.m. EST.

During NRA days General Johnson introduced new virility to the language of a public servant. Since, he has written a robust, fearless, hammer-andtongs newspaper column. This will be his first commercial radio series.

More about General Johnson's strenuous career can be read on page 8.

TUESDAY

Jack Oakie . . . humor

Camel Cigarettes begins a new-type program, radio's first "double feature," with the return of Jack Oakie as professor of Oakie College. Second half of former Camel Hour will continue Benny Goodman's swing school." CBS, Tuesday, 9:30 p.m. EST.

porter for big-city newspapers, is A radio truism is that a comedian is only as good as his jokes. Last year, Jack Oakie's jokes were only fair. This season, his sponsors have hired one of Hollywood's most expensive humorists to write for him.

WEDNESDAY

Edwin Booth . . . drama

The Cavalcade of America is one of broadcasting's most important, least publicized programs. Good musical support for good radio actors who relate a significant historical drama make happy listening. CBS, Wednesday, 8 p.m. EST. For the West, 9 p.m. PST.

Edwin Booth, who, in his day, was Robert Taylor, Clark Gable, and Colonel Lindbergh rolled into one, is the subject of the first program.

There is an interesting story about the Cavalcade of America on Page 11 of this issue.

Eddie Cantor and Miss Durbin

Mr. Cantor, Deanna Durbin, Pinky Tomlin, Saymore Saymoore, Jacques Renard, Jimmy Wallington begin a new schedule on CBS Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. EST. For the West, 8:30 p.m. PST.

Miss Durbin, Cantor's latest "wonder" discovery, will prove again to be the most sensationally talented child in America. "Texaco Town's" move to Wednesday night was to escape competition of the phenomenally popular Charlie McCarthy show on Sunday, formerly Eddie's favorite spot.

Mr. Kostelanetz . . . rhythms

Andre Kostelanetz will head the revamped Chesterfield program, aided by voices, an orchestra of whatever size he demands, Deems Taylor's pungent comment, a new and distinguished guest each week, and Announcer Paul Douglas. CBS, Wednesday at 9 p.m. EST. Baritone John Charles Thomas, sometimes called world's greatest singer times called world's greatest singer, will be the first guest. Singer Thomas likes to be thought a he-man, is a heman, sings he-man songs well.

Mr. Kostelanetz' rise to glory is described further on Page 9.

THURSDAY

Kate Smith . . . variety

Miss Smith with Ted Collins, Henny Youngman, Jack Miller's orchestra, Football Expert Jim Crowley and the "hero of the week" will return to CBS, Thursday, 8 p.m. EST. For the West, 8:15 p.m. PST.

West Coast audiences will finally learn what Kate Smith sounds like, her previous broadcasts having reached west only to the Rocky Mountains. Highlight this week will be Coach Jim Crowley "experting" on soon-to-beplayed football games.

Helpers behind the scenes of Miss Smith's program are introduced in "Star and Satellites," on Pages 24 and 25 of this issue.

FRIDAY

Joe College . . . local talent

Pontiac Varsity Show, a half-hour of entertainment featuring the undergraduate talent of the country's leading universities. NBC-Blue, Friday at 8 p.m. EST. For the West, 7:30 p.m. PST.

Last year's model of this noisy, rahrah program was headed by overgrown, raccoon-clad John Held, Jr. This season, local cheerleaders and future Don Ameches will substitute. University of Alabama will be the scene of first show in the new series.

SATURDAY

Notre Dame vs. Drake

Fort Pearson and Bill Stern will open the "who-can-beat-Notre Dame" season by reporting plucky little Drake's success in this "warm-up" set-up. NBC-Blue, 2:45 p.m. EST.

More people listen to Notre Dame football broadcasts than to any two other colleges, according to dopesters. Reason: Every Roman Catholic feels interest in the great Catholic college, feels the Zolinskys, Shakespeares, and Plotskis are his own boys.

Nebraska vs. Minnesota

Football giants of the Midwest will settle their long feud in this early season game. Conference champs, Nebraska invariably plays all-American football. CBS, Saturday at 2:45 p.m. EST. Also NBC-Red at the same time.

NRA'S STORMY DICTATOR, CEN. HUGH JOHNSON, BRINGS NEWS -BEGINNING MONDAY NIGHT

THEY called him "Tuffy" Johnson in the army. He had biting blue eyes, a raw red face, and a rasping voice that he could hurl into a man's face like a shotgun charge. His vocabulary, so ran the legend, would scar the soul of a mule-skinner, and his temper was wondrous to behold. His contempt was withering.

His real name, of course, was Hugh Johnson, and what he was called by thick-skinned regular army men was nothing in comparison to the epithets that were to be tossed his way in the hectic days of '33, when, as No. 1 Man of the NRA, he came as close to being a dictator as any man in the history of this country. But Hugh Johnson talked back. Across the conference table, over his desk, from the platform and on the air, he told the world what he thought of the kind of man who would get in his way. The pungent phraseology he used then is still well remembered, and, beginning September 27, radio listeners will have a chance to hear some more of it. For General Hugh S. Johnson himself, stormy petrel of the early days of the Roosevelt Revolution, is coming back to the air! And he'll have something to say!

The "tough guy" is an American institution. Other countries have produced fighting men second to none, rulers who feared no man, orators who knew that they would never face a better man in the bitter battle of debate. But the case-hardened fighting man who is never so happy as when he is announcing that he can lick any man in sight in fair battle, is usually an American, and a product of the Old West.

That's Hugh Johnson. Born in 1882 in Fort Scott, Kansas, he saw the last frontier in America. Log cabins, covered wagons, Indians who didn't know a reservation from a railroad train—all these were commonplaces to him. He tried to run away to the Spanish-American War when he was barely into his teens. He entered West Point, graduated 53rd in a class of 93, and went off to Texas with the First Cavalry.

In 1907 Hugh Johnson was in the Philippines. He was widely known and widely appreciated. The men liked him because he was a hard-boiled egg, proud of it, and ready to prove it for money, marbles or chalk. Other officers liked him because of his wholesome hatred for formality and convention, and his downright brilliance.

He wrote books—for boys. He wrote for the magazines, including such top-notchers as "Scribner's" and "Collier's." He decided he wanted to be a lawyer. In eighteen months he bored through a three-year law course at the University of California, and took his degree. He helped write the draft law that was passed as America entered the World War. He was a brigadier general at thirty-six.

But it wasn't until 1932 and 1933, when Bernard Baruch brought Johnson to the attention of President Roosevelt, that he really hit his stride. His brusque, over-riding manner, his amazing wealth of information, appealed to Roosevelt, and Johnson was handed the awe-inspiring task of organizing 7,000 American industries. The Blue Eagle soared over the land, with Brigadier General Hugh S. Johnson, retired, pulling the strings. He worked 16 to 20 hours a day, day in and day out. He threatened, bluffed, cajoled, argued, pounded the desk until the wood creaked. He made enemies by the hundreds and friends just as fast.

Since the NRA was dropped, Hugh Johnson has been one of the ranking newspaper columnists of the day. But those who know him best say it's impossible to get into the written word the soul-shaking rasp of Hugh Johnson's voice when he stands up with something to say and the intention of saying it, come hell or high water!

What does the nursemaid become when she removes her starched uniform, symbol of her calling?

What awaits the man in the car at his journey's end?

The answers to questions like these are to be found not in the fertile imaginations of dramatists and fictioneers but in the lives of people about us.

Vicki Baum has made that theme familiar in her book, "Grand Hotel." "Grand Central Station," coming to the air Tuesday, employs the same idea in a more lucid setting. New York City's great railway terminal, the gateway to the nation, with its thousands of hurrying travelers, offers a productive background for this type of drama. Each play, complete in itself, will begin with a scene in the station where so many dramatic welcomes and partings and accidental meetings take place each day.

The authorities at Grand Central Station estimate that approximately 110,000 people scurry through its gates daily. One hundred and ten thousand people means 110,000 stories. There is the girl who is waiting for her sweetheart on his release from Sing Sing. And a group of sports writers who are waiting for a fresh young fighter from the West. They're discussing the boy. "He's young and good-looking," says one. "Swell copy. We'll give him the 'romance' build-up; surround him with girls." But he gets off the train and introduces the reporters to—his wife!

ONE of the most difficult jobs in producing such a program is the maelstrom of sounds that vibrate in the famous railway station. Attempts have been made to keep the sounds as authentic as possible, but one liberty is being taken. There are no steam trains chugging into Grand Central. All are electric. But so many people associate the sound of a steam train with any terminal that Producer Hiram Brown will incorporate it into the general melee of sound.

The actors who will comprise the cast will be of radio rather than the theater. Among those who will be heard are Ned Wever, of "Dangerous Paradise" fame and Rosaline Green, once the talking "Mary Lou" of "Show Boat," is now the mistress of ceremonies on "The Hour of Charm."

Already "Grand Central Station" is being talked of as the "Grand Hotel" of radio. But remember, when listening, that these stories are real. These are the dramas about us which we do not see: the dramas to which "Grand Central Station" will open your eyes.

DEATH WILL BE IN MISS LUCILLE MANNERS' SONG WHEN SHE SINGS THIS FRIDAY NIGHT

"Some day he'll come along, the man I love . . ."

THERE'S a strange story behind the song, "The Man I Love," one of the numbers Miss Lucille Manners has selected for her Cities Service Concert for Friday of this week. George Gershwin included it in the score he wrote for "Lady Be Good," starring Fred Astaire and his sister, Adele. Adele had a perfect spot for the song in a scene early in the first act, and she sang the number every night the week the show ran in Philadelphia. But somehow the song didn't catch on. So when "Lady Be Good" went to New York, "The Man I Love" was left out.

Then, in 1929, Gershwin included it in the score for "Strike Up The Band." But again the song didn't catch on. Meanwhile, however, the song had been taken to London and then to Paris, where it had become tremendously popular. Americans, having heard it abroad, would come home and ask for it to be sung in night clubs in New York.

Helen Morgan, Ethel Merman and Fannie Brice picked it up, sang it, and then, at last, it became familiar to the great American audience.

The performance Friday will be Lucille's own salute to the late composer. It may not be an easy performance, for Gershwin was Lucille's friend.

BUT death has another role to play on Friday's program, and this time it will strike even nearer Lucille's

For months Lucille had been promising her father to sing his favorite song, "The Sunshine of Your Smile." Several times she scheduled it, but complications of program building always crowded it out for other songs.

Now she will sing it. But dad won't hear it. Dad died the 19th of August. Mr. and Mrs. P. J. McClinchy (Lucille adopted the name "Manners") and Lucille were on the third week of dad's vacation at Point Lookout, Long Island, where they had rented a summer home. Without warning, Mr. McClinchy suffered a heart attack.

Listeners to the Cities Service Concert that week were unaware that anything had happened. Dad had always attended those concerts with Lucille, his only child, and was doing what he could to make sure nothing would ever stand in the way of his daughter's success as the star of this great program. Lucille knew that he'd want her to keep on singing.

On Friday, Mrs. McClinchy will be listening. And both singer and mother will have but one thought as Lucille sings:

"Shadows may fall upon the land and sea.

Sunshine from all the world may hidden be,

But I shall see no cloud across the sun.

Your smile shall light my life, 'til life is done!"

MAESTRO KOSTELANETZ RETURNS WEDNESDAY NIGHT, BRINGING GRAND MUSIC-BRILLIANT SHOW

A NDRE KOSTELANETZ could play the piano as soon as he could walk, and his friends will tell you today that if he should live to be a hundred, he will certainly be still playing the piano, or the violin, or something else, or leading a great orchestra—and doing it with the sheer perfection and burning enthusiasm that characterizes his performances today!

Off the air this summer, Kostelanetz is returning Wednesday night for another season. He'll be heard weekly from now on in a program planned to highlight the rich talents of some of the greatest vocal and instrumental artists living. With Kostelanetz and a special 45-piece orchestra will appear such stars as John Charles Thomas, Nino Martini, Elisabeth Rethberg, Lucrezia Bori, Jose Iturbi, Bidu Sayao, Jascha Heifetz, Kirsten Flagstad, Albert Spalding, Lotte Lehmann, Ezio Pinza, Rose Bampton, and Lily Pons—the very cream of the ranks of stardom! Deems Taylor will act as commentator and master of ceremonies.

And these great stars will be at their topmost best when they appear with Kostelanetz—for that's how he affects the people who perform with him! Urgent, dynamic, incredibly energetic, Andre Kostelanetz moves quickly, and others must move quickly to keep up with him.

Music was in his life-blood. Born in St. Petersburg, Russia, Kostelanetz was taught the appreciation of music and all things musical by his parents, both of them accomplished amateur musicians. He played the piano at three, and at five was able to give a recital! Three years later he appeared before a St. Petersburg audience as a professional pianist—and this, remember, was in the time of the czars, when artists of every kind—and usually of great talent—crowded the great cities of Russia.

The young Andre was given an education that had an international flavor—and an excellent thing that was, in the light of his later travels. He learned to speak German, French, English, Italian, Spanish and Finnish! The family spent the summers in the cool beauty of Finland, and occasionally they visited Germany. It was in Germany, incidentally, that Andre Kostelanetz first poised a baton imperiously over a group of musicians. In one of the German cities he visited with his family, Andre was particularly intrigued by a magnificent bandstand which stood in solitary splendor in a park. There was a little flight of steps leading to the platform, and one day Andre, beginning at the bottom, shyly worked his way to the very top step, and into the notice of the conductor himself! That worthy was touched by the boy's eagerness, brought him to the front of the big brass band, gave him the baton, held him high for all to see—and Andre led the band!

When he was 20, Andre Kostelanetz was leading a bigger band. He was then assistant conductor at the Imperial Grand Opera House in St. Petersburg, and he held that post during the hectic, horrible days of the Revolution, when it was practically impossible to obtain sufficient fuel to heat the great Opera House.

Kostelanetz left Russia soon after that, came to America to act as accompanist for several Metropolitan and Chicago Opera stars. The immense potentialities of radio interested him in the crystal-set days, but it was not until 1932, when his brilliantly individual, impeccably correct arrangements began to attract attention, that he was recognized as a great musical director. Today, he's on top.

And that is where he means to stay! No student of the serious art of humbug, Andre Kostelanetz got to the top through the persistent application of a terrific nervous energy. Not content with the possession of more than ordinary talent, he backs it up with expenditures of activity that are legendary. That's Andre Kostelanetz!

EX-TRUCK DRIVER

Tommy DORSEY, that sentimental gentleman of "swing," and his "swing" band are heard Friday night over NBC on the "Raleigh & Kool" show. Tommy was born and educated in Shenandoah, Pa., is the brother of the equally famous bandsman Jimmy Dorsey. As a child, Tommy wanted to be an engineer, but gave it up when he began driving a delivery truck—for $16 a week! Tutored in music by his music-professor father, Tommy made his professional debut as first trombonist with Jean Goldkette's orchestra in 1924. Later he joined Vincent Lopez, Paul Whiteman, others. For a time the name Dorsey was better known in the plural, as Tommy and his older brother Jimmy conducted their own band. When they decided to separate, Jimmy went west with the orchestra and Tommy stayed in the East to form his own band and sweep to national fame as interpreter supreme of "swing" rhythm. His theme tune, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You," is the signal for millions of ardent Dorsey fans to join in a "swing" session. When Tommy gets a day off, he turns his back on the heighde-ho of music-making, hies himself off to his 18-room, palatial home at Bernardsville, N. J. Here the ex-truck driver inspects his 22-acre farm in company with Mrs. Dorsey, their young daughter, Patricia Marie, and small son, Tommy, Jr.

HE Cavalcade of America"!

HE Cavalcade of America"!

It's the all-American radio show of our time, and it's coming back to the air, for a third big year, on Wednesday night, September 29!

"Cavalcade," perhaps more than any other airshow, rates the title "All-American." For it concerns itself strictly and solely with America and things American; it prides itself on its forceful highlighting of the history of forceful highlighting of the history of our country; its producers glory in the endless wealth of material that offers itself to them. Its listeners—and they should include every radio-owner in the land—can share that glory!

On the air in Cavalcade that night will be the story of Edwin Booth, the greatest actor this country has ever produced. To Booth more than to any other man must go the credit for the present-day eminence of the American stage. To raise American stagecraft from the level of mere strolling players and carnival shows was Booth's great ambition and it was an ambition which he fully realized.

Born on November 13, 1833, the son of Junius Brutus Booth, a noted Shakespearian actor, Booth aspired to play Hamlet when he was twelve years old —and actually appeared in Richard the Third at sixteen! He early formulated a triple ambition: to play Hamlet more than anyone else had ever played it; to elevate the American stage, and to found a great club for actors. He did all three. His Hamlet played for one hundred consecutive performances; his influence on the stage of his time-and our time-was and is incomparable; and he founded the Great Players Club of New York—members of which will appear on the Cavalcade program Wednesday night in his honor.

THE Cavalcade of America," founded on tradition, has itself become a tradition—a tradition of the airways. On the air for the first time on October 9, 1935, it has been under the auspices of the same sponsor since its inception, has maintained a steadfast course in its presentation of the little-known dramatic incidents that have helped make America great!

"Admittedly we emphasize the in-spirational, the successful highlights of history," one of the producers of Cavalcade said recently. "And in our selection of subject-matter, we try to concentrate on the unusual, the little things the listening audience probably hasn't heard about. For instance, in a script about George Washington, we wouldn't make much of the Revolution, or of Washington's work as the first President. Instead, the emphasis would be placed upon Washington's career as a farmer, something of that sort. As it happens, Washington was a great contributor to scientific American farming, yet very few people know about it."

That bit of dramatized history went on the air in "The Cavalcade of America" on the night of April 28, 1937, and to thousands upon thousands of Americans who thought they knew everything that was to be known about George Washington's services to his country, from the cherry-tree story to the Farewell Address, it was like the discovery of an unexpected chapter in the middle of a thrilling

No fiction, the story of George Washington the farmer came to the air with Cavalcade in the strict confines of truth. The year was 1783. Free at last from the rigorous demands of war, and, for a time, from the necessity of ministering to the imperious growing-pains of the thir-teen little states, Washington had re-tired to beautiful Mount Vernon to become a gentleman farmer-but a serious and a scholarly one! There were many gentlemen farmers in America then, and most of them were ruining the land they tilled. Although they knew well enough that tobacco, instance, somehow completely depleted the energy of the soil if it was grown as a steady crop, they did nothing about it. Prevailing practise was simply to use the land until it would produce no more, then till new fields in the wilderness. After all, no one really knew for how many thousands of miles America extended westward to the ocean! There was no dearth of

But to General George Washington, farmer, this was shallow reasoning. And, though his neighbors and even his very servants openly declared he was mad, he set about marking his own course. He gave orders that his three thousand acres of plantation were to be planted in Siberian buckwheat, Irish potatoes, with corn, peas, and even unknown seeds from far-off China! To the simple folk who worked the Washington estates, this was pure folly. Especially since Washington announced he would have none of the one great money crop: tobacco.

TODAY, any schoolboy would appreciate the wisdom of Washington's course, would be able to recognize his application of the now commonplace crop-rotation theory. But all this took place in 1783, not 1937! In those days anything new, anything different, was suspect, dangerous, to be shunned!

In fact, of all the lessons to be learned from "The Cavalcade of America"—and here one can find much more than mere history—the story of George Washington the farmer presents one of the best: the lesson of tolerance. Tolerance, it has been said, is the highest attribute of the truly civilized man. Without it, there can be no progress, no success, no greatness of any kind. Over and over again, "The Cavalcade of America" brings home that lesson. It demonstrates as clearly as anything can the eternal truth that pioneers, of high or low degree, may expect their sternest, most determined opposition from those who contend that anything new, anything unknown, anything different, is necessarily bad.

History—and the Cavalcade—tell of Cotton Mather and Dr. Boylston. Most Americans know the name of Cotton Mather, scholar, preacher, writer, one of the men who made New England great. But few Americans know that aside from his preachings and his writings, he played a leading role in, of all things, the advancement of medical science! Smallpox means nothing much today. But it was once a word to turn men white with fear, to send children scurrying to their horror-stricken mothers. For the pox was a killer, merciless and terrible. And those of its victims that it did not kill it mained for life. There was no known remedy. The physicians threw up their hands helplessly, said, "The plague must run its course."

BUT a cold December day in 1707 saw the beginning of the end for all that. On that day Cotton Mather, at work in the study of his Boston home, received a delegation of his parish-ioners. They came with a gift, a strange gift it seems to us now, but nothing out of the ordinary in the eighteenth century. They were sensible of the great burden of Cotton Mather's duties, they said; they considered that he did more for his people, for Boston, for New England, than any one man should be asked to do. As evidence of their respect and appreciation, and to lighten that burden, they brought to him—a slave.

Although he saw nothing much amiss in the ownership of a slave, Cotton Mather was very democratic for his time, and after the delegation had left, he talked kindly to his new chattel. The pox was even then raging along the waterfront, and Cotton Mather asked the boy whether he had been afflicted. He was told he had not—and he was told why not. The slave—his name was Onesimus—had been reared on the west coast of Africa, in the tribe of the Gurman-tese. And, it seemed that these benighted people practised inoculation! The instant smallpox appeared among them, they deliberately infected themselves with slight cases of the disease by taking germ-bearing material from the stricken tribesman and introducing it into their own bodies through scratches on the arm or leg. The result: Slight sickness, prompt recovery—and future immunity! It was a practise that had originated in the Orient, no one knew how long before. But to the "advanced" Western world, it was unknown.

It was not to remain unknown for long. Cotton Mather forthwith inoculated himself, deliberately took his own life in his hands, on little more than the word of an ignorant slave! He escaped the plague, and in time it died

But in 1721, fourteen years later, smallpox came again to Boston. It reached awe-inspiring proportions. It threatened to decimate the entire colony. Cotton Mather went to the office of his friend, Dr. Zabdiel Boylston, a physician who was, for his age, most liberal, a perpetual student. Mather (Continued on Page 18)

TWO mysterious men in a car have Hollywood radio stars badly frightened. Recently, on her way to the Jolson broadcast, Martha Raye was followed to the studios. She obtained a police escort to take her home. A check-up reveals that shortly before that, Dorothy Lamour, while on a shopping tour, observed she was being followed by two men in a car. She accelerated and ducked around blocks, but didn't shake them. Arriving home, she dashed into her apartment and bolted the doors—then thought she heard someone fumbling at the backdoor lock. Police are searching for the men—whose descriptions by Martha and Dorothy tally.

Powerful thing, this radio. Not long before he went on the air, Charlie McCarthy and his guardian, Edgar Bergen, were appearing in the floorshow of the Club Casanova on the Sunset Boulevard strip in Hollywood, the same place that Martha Raye got her start. Few patrons recognized the act as important, and two weeks after Ed and Charlie had left the club, it closed—for want of customers—and hasn't been reopened since! . . And to think! Now girls are asking Bergen for McCarthy's autograph.

By the way, if Charlie's colleague, W. C. (Nose) Fields, should happen to give you a photograph of himself—all very well—but if you are lucky enough to be given one of himself with Baby LeRoy, then you really rate!

LeRoy, then you really rate!

Quickies: Claudette Colbert has upped and cancelled her plans to appear later on the Silver Theater series premiering October 3. She didn't like the commercials . . . Lou Holtz and Model Phyllis Gilman said their vows Saturday, September 11, at Agua Caliente . . . Born, a daughter, September 9, to Mrs. George Wells, wife of half of the Lux Theater drama-adapting team . . . Mickey Mouse is sold for airing and will be coming to you just ahead of the Jolson show starting probably October 19 . . Louise Roberts, the dress and decoration expert of the "Hollywood in Person" a.m. opus is really Margaret Morton Mc-Kay, late of Chicago's radio circles . . . Yes, you've been hearing Tony Gilman acting in recent Show Boat sailings . . Also, you're right if you guessed that was Cliff Soubier's voice you detected in those Hollywood Hotel character parts . . . Kathleen (Claudia) Wilson, a pretty of "One Man's Family," is being readied at the M-G-Macting school for her film test.

Like a year ago, Nelson Eddy and Anne (ex-Mrs. Sid) Franklin are very much together, meaning? . . . Shirley Ross and Eddie Anderson will be saying "I do" in January . . . Cinemactor Bob Wilcox is serious enough about Joy Hodges that he wants to follow her to Manhattan, whence she goes to play in "Hold Your Hats, Boys."

Andy is now a settled-down married man once more. Recently he staged a wedding reception, which was attended by Gracie Allen and George Burns, Mary Livingstone Benny, the Lums and the Abners, Charles Winninger, the Frank Forests, the Jack Haleys, the Phil Bakers and the Gosdens. A number of movie folk also were there—but from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., neither Amos nor Andy was to be found. They had to ditch the party to broadcast... By the way, on his wedding day, Andy chartered a second plane and hired a movie photographer so that a film could be made of his honeymoon flight. And Amos, not to be outdone, a few days later chartered a Goodyear blimp and took all kinds of bird's-eye views of Los Angeles.

If you missed Don Ameche September 19, don't worry and don't try to find him. He and his family have slipped away on a three-week vacation, destination unknown. He'll be off the air this Sunday, too.

Lux Theater's return to the air brought out a queue of listeners a halfblock long on Hollywood Boulevard a full hour before the performance and it was 95 in the shade! During the after the show—a messenger had to be sent to retrieve them from that grand old lady, May Robson, who by then had reached home. Miss Robson, please note, received more applause from the studio audience than any other of the cast!

Jeanette MacDonald, married since June to Gene Raymond, still celebrates an anniversary each Wednesday—and eagerly looks forward to another volBurns—just to play safe! . . . On the other hand, Vin Haworth, the original Jack Arnold of Myrt and Marge, has been having mustache trouble on the RKO lot. He sacrificed his upper-lip adornment to make a test with a starlet—and next day he was cast in Miss Pons' picture, "Hitting a New High," in which he was to wear a mustache, but before he could regrow one, he was assigned to a seco d picture requiring none. So now he's working with false handle-bars beneath his nose . . Also funny is the honor just conferred upon Jack (Wild Man) Oakie. He has been appointed judge of the Kingston, Jamaica, beauty contest, and will have to rate, by mail, the photographs of the dusky belles.

Lum and Abner tried to sell a column to a midwestern syndicate, but instead were asked by the latter to discuss the possibility of a comic strip... Which reminds that it was reading funny-papers over a Chicago station that gave Tyrone Power his first radio chance, and now, starting October 3, you'll be hearing him in a dramatic series with "Cardboard Lover" as the first vehicle... Harry Sosnik will be maestro of the Power show.

Martha Raye will no longer be a hotcha maniac, so they say. It's ballads and tears for her mikings from now on. Incidentally, a New York perfumer has just presented Martha with a great bottle of her own blend of rose perfume—which he has named "Gone with the Wind"—and Miss Raye certainly smells swell! Still, she should. Her boudoir contains 110 bottles of different perfumes.

When the Warner Brothers "Hollywood Hotel" picture illuminates your neighborhood screen, you'll be seeing Ken Niles, Raymond Paige and Louella Parsons in addition to Frances Langford and Dick Powell. There even will be an Orchid room—lined with orchids—artificial ones to stand the Kleig-light heat. Perhaps you've never heard that the program "Hollywood Hotel" is named after an actual Hollywood hotel located at Hollywood Boulevard and Highland Avenue. But it has no Orchid Room. That mythical setting derives its name from Orchid Street, which bounds the hotel on the west. The broadcast is doing all right, too, for its sponsors. Celebrating its third anniversary October 1, it has been renewed for another year.

Cap'n Henry (Charles Winninger) has learned that he must keep his Show Boat crew well disciplined. They must never make mistakes. The other day a southerner wrote a critical letter: "You should know that the proper landing-whistle signal is one long, one short and one long blast. Shame on you."

Tag Lines: Walter Winchell has quit going out nights now that his picture, "Love and Hisses," with Ben Bernie is in production. And Bernie doesn't care much if he isn't on the air for a spell after October 19, for he'd like a rest... Hal Kemp is keeping his Delta Sigma Phi membership a secret to prevent his faternity brothers from asking for tickets to his Chesterfield broadcast... Here's hoping that the Olsen and Johnson show, as rumored, does go transcontinental, thus giving Gertrude Niesen a deserved break.

several rehearsals of "A Star Is Born," Janet Gaynor, for whom this was her first commercial air appearance, came to the studio from her Malibu Beach house each day attired in a different colored beach ensemble, but for the actual broadcast, she chose a simple, girlish print dress befitting the Esther Blodgett character. Bob Montgomery rehearsed in gray sweater and slacks; broadcast in white coat and tuxedo trousers. DeMille rushed from "The Buccaneer" set and left 350 actors waiting. He wore a green gabardine riding habit and tan boots. Lionel Stander arrived late in a stew; forgot to whom he gave the keys to his car. When he remembered—a half-hour ume of Victor Hugo from her beloved . . . And the Alice Faye-Tony Martin honeymoon, too, is still on.

Funny Things: The Kraft Music Hall writers have been having their troubles with Bob Burns' whiskers, which he grew for the picture "Wells Fargo." One week they'd write the program on the assumption Robin would appear behind bristles—but he turned up for the broadcast clean-shaven. Next week they reversed their technique, and—you guessed it—he arrived with a beautiful stubble. This went on for six weeks—so now the script-writers are fooling him. They're writing their show with and without whiskers on N SUNDAY afternoon, August 29, your correspondent hopped aboard an American Airlines Flagship sleeper plane, at Newark, New Jersey, floated through the air with the greatest of ease and arrived on the Pacific Coast early the next morning fit as a fiddle and ready to start a few days' visit with your radio friends and mine. Flying to the Coast was a real treat.

Although my good friend Evans Plummer of the opposite page covers a lot of territory, I made it my busi-ness at all times to go in a different direction ness at all times to go in a different direction.

The first morning in Hollywood I went over to the Warner Brothers studios to watch them shoot a few scenes of the flicker version of one of your favorite radio shows—Hollywood Hotel. Rosemary Lane, who has an important role in the picture, spied me as I came on the set. Frankly, I would never have recognized her behind the make-up in a million years. Rosemary is thrilled at the reception of her initial efforts in the flicker "Varsity Show," with her former boss, Fred Waring, and is working hard to live up to the predictions that she will soon be a movie star in the top brackets.

Later, on another stage, I watched Benny Goodman and his swingmen go through their routine for the same picture. After watching them take the same scene over a dozen times with the band going full blast, I realized picture-making was no easy job. As though working all day in front of the lights wasn't bad enough, the Goodman band had to rush from the studio to the Palomar, a famous dance spot in Los Angeles, where they were playing an engagement. If you have any doubts about Goodman's music being popular, you should have seen the way the hundreds of dancers swarmed around the bandstand, preferring to watch the boys make swing music rather than dance.

Johnny Davis, Waring's former scatsinger and trumpeter, is in the same picture with Goodman. As a matter of fact, he now plays in the Goodman band. Johnny, whose first film role is also in "Varsity Show," told me he was ready to buy his railroad ticket back to New York when he saw himself on the screen for the first time.
He proved to be a bum critic, because his work in this picture led to a nice new contract.

While going from one sound-stage to another, I was almost knocked down by a femme driving a bright-red Cord. On closer observation, I recognized the driver to be Frances Langford, whom you will see and hear sing the torchiest of torch songs in the Hollywood Hotel flicker. My guide recalled that it wasn't so long ago that Frances was one of a host of femme singers struggling for a break. Now she owns two cars and a beautiful home in California.

Before I forget, I want to let you in on a little secret. Believe it or not, Rudy Vallee is going to be a ballet dancer in his next movie, which goes into production at the Warner Brothers studio next month. Picture him in a ballet get-up if you can.

Saw Charles Correll and Freeman Gosden, more familiarly known as Amos in' Andy, waiting for a table at the Bown Derby—famous dining place of the stars. They were not recognized by the mob of autograph seekers who throng the place. That is, until I pointed them out to a companion—and my conversation was heard by one of the mob. Then the fun began. Andy was entertaining his white-haired father, who was in town for his famous son's wedding. Later I saw them occupying one of the front pews at the prize-fights.

The following night I visited the special premiere performance of the new Packard Show, which was to hit the airlanes for the first time a few nights later. During the program it was announced that the mysterious Senor X would give an accordion solo.

ber of bridge. Someone really should tell Gracie's better half that the beret he wears is not so becoming. As a matter of fact, he looks funnier in it than most of his gags sound.

Later that afternoon I went to the NBC studios to witness the popular Chase and Sanborn hour. As I entered, Charlie McCarthy was sitting in a corner all by himself. Nobody paying any attention to him and he wasn't

For your information, it wasn't a senor or even a senorita. It really was a self-playing accordian with the music roll visible to the studio audience, operated on the same principle as a player-piano.

Next morning I had a late breakfast at the Hillcrest Country Club. Entering the dining-room, I saw Phil Baker seated at one table eating his favorite Sunday morning dish—scrambled eggs and kippered herring. When I asked the comic how he liked being in California, he replied, "I don't know, I haven't seen my new picture yet."

Al Jolson and George Burns were seated at the next table playing a rubuttering a word. However, this situation was changed as soon as the program got under way. W. C. Fields, Charlie's friendly enemy, sat close by, with his hat on the back of his head, puffing a big black cigar. During the broadcast he sat at table with Don Ameche, Edgar Bergen and Charlie seated on the other side of the microphone. Fields seemed quite nervous during his routine and fingered his eyeglasses at least once every five seconds. seconds.

When Don Ameche introduced Nelson Eddy to the radio audience Eddy made funny faces at Don, trying to break him up. During his songs Nelsong son nonchalantly leaned against the high stool reserved for Charlie Mc-Carthy. To this scribbler, Dorothy Lamour, featured singer of the show, seemed a bit overdressed for the occasion. She wore long silver foxes that would have tickled her ankles if they were just a wee bit longer.

After the C. & S. program, I went in to watch Walter Winchell give out his flashes. After the broadcast was over, I was as nervous as Winchell sounds, just from watching him squirm in his seat all during the program. He turns his head away from the mike when he shouts "by way of the high seas," and he almost reaches high C in doing it. Walter started making his new picture last week, which means the beginning of duties the ace news commentator dislikes. With his daily column to get out, his Sunday broadcast, which must be full of hot news, and his movie work, the little man is going to have a busy daze.

Later that night I met Jimmy Wallington in the lobby of the Hollywood Knickerbocker, where I was staying. We talked baby-talk for about an hour. That is, he talked about his baby and I talked about my young son. Jimmy is thrilled about being a papa, and if you get into a conversation with him these days, that's all you can expect to bear.

Two weeks ago on the last summer Texaco program ("Texaco Town" was off the air last week between the summer show's fading and Eddie Cantor's return), Pinky Tomlin, who has made a place for himself on lots of dials through his work on the hot-weather half-hour, announced that Eddie would return this Wednesday night. Then, after the manner of Fred Allen's weekly sound-prevues and the movie trailers, an impersonator gave an excerpt from the winter show . . . Just a plug for an audience that has to be told to expect Eddie on a night other than a Sunday . . . Immediately after the program, several agents called to learn the identity of the imitator. But lots more called to say that the act was lousy. "You can't beat old Eddie himself," they said . . . not knowing, of course, that the mimic was "old Eddie himself!"

SCRAMBLED NOTES: It is learned with regret that the Jessica Dragonette show will fold on October 6, but you can almost bet on it that another sponsor will grab the songbird almost immediately . . . Time marches backward starting October 14. On that date the mag's air dramatizations will move from the CBS studios on 52nd St. to the NBC aircastle located on 50th St. . . . Much to the delight of their many friends, Jimmy Dorsey and Brother Tommy are good pals again, after feuding for several years . . . Robert Emmet Dolan, former maestro of the Sunday Night Party, takes over the Hit Parade from Mark Warnow on CBS, with Mark replacing Dick Himber on the same show over NBC . . Reports are still making the rounds that Fred Waring will be back on the air for the cigarette concern now famous for its huge prize contests.

AROUND THE TOWN: Fred Allen and Portland Hoffa dining with the Jack Haleys at the Brown Derby the first night the Allens are in town . . . Johnny Green and Betty Furness at the Al Jolson-Martha Raye-Parkyakarkus dinner, which was conspicuous by the absence of Jolson, who went to the prize-fights instead . . . Parkyakarkus and his lovely bride (Thelma Leeds) telling me about their new home, which will be ready for them to occupy in a few weeks. AROUND THE TOWN: Fred Allen

Doris in Wonderland

DORIS KERR, DARLING OF THE STARS, IS ON CBS MON. & WED.

BY JIM KEEN

THER than being somewhere the other side of the lookingglass, Alice's Wonderland actually never has been placed anywhere.

But to one small girl, the modern counterpart of the starry-eyed youngwho fraternized with the Mad Hatter, it might just as well as not be Great Neck, Long Island.

There she grew up, the "adopted" child of a wonder-provoking group of people who, for sheer fascination, have Tweedle-Dee and his whimsical neighbors licked to a frazzle.

Our modern Alice is Doris Kerr, the CBS songstress. As a toddler she came to her wonderland-this wooded hamlet on Long Island Sound where for years the theater's best-known stars have fled to forget the footlights in week-ends spent playing at keeping house in their homes on the water's Doris' father, Bob Kerr, Jr., had long been dissatisfied with Brooklyn as a place to bring up his little girl. His jewelry business boomed conveniently in the early twenties and brought opportunity to look around for a suitable place to establish a permanent home.

Driving through Great Neck one Sunday afternoon, the Kerrs saw a brick colonial house in a wooded plot far back from the road. Happily enough it bore a "for sale" sign, and Bob Kerr snapped up the place on the

It seemed just the right site to bring up a little girl. With all of that space to romp in, parental worries would

At least this is what he believed after the twenty-one days he spent getting acquainted with his new neighbors-who promptly elected him secretary of the country club.

THEN came the third Sunday night of the Kerrs' stay in Great Neck. Bob was applying a few last licks to the varnish on the kitchen floor when the bunch from the club—it was 80 percent comprised of people of "the profession"—arrived to give their new neighbors a hearty collective welcome.

The evening became a lusty house-warming-party, with Ed Wynn, the Oscar Shaws and others contributing entertainment hot off the cuff. It was four o'clock in the morning when some one happened to glance up the staircase. There at the top, in her crumpled sleepers, crouched four-year-old Doris

"Hey!" cried Daddy Bob. "What are you doing out of bed at this hour?"

"Please, Daddy," she begged. "Don'tcha think they might like my 'Alice Blue Gown?'

The guests not only liked it. They actually ate it up!

"Listen, Bob," said Sam Harris, the producer, when Doris had been tucked back in her bed, "the kid's got something. Now you just put her in—"

"Not on your life," laughed Bob, "at least for a long while yet. And don't you boys be putting ideas in that child's head. She's got a lot of years ahead of her before she sees footlights from your side of the theater."

In the days and months that followed, while Doris' dancing feet and fresh little voice became regular features of the frequent informal gatherings in the colony, Bob Kerr smoked black cigars and thought long thoughts. If that crazy, lovable Great Neck crowd was bent on spoiling his youngster, there ought to be something he could do about it-but it had him guessing.

With hairbrush (its aft side) waiting, he watched Doris develop, apparently unaffected by the adulation and attention of luminaries like John Charles Thomas, the singer, and W. C. Fields, the comedian, who constantly vied for the privilege of carting her piggy-back all the way from the eighteenth hole to the clubhouse.

A LERT for signs of her tiny head being turned by such attentions as H. B. Warner's prompting her recitations of "The Raggedy Man," he was delighted to see no change in the warm simplicity of the child.

The hairbrush ultimately relegated to its proper utilitarian niche, Bob Kerr and wife, Adele, went presently into a huddle to determine just what was to be the extent of their disciplinarian roles.

The upshot was that they decided Doris should be allowed to romp with utter lack of restraint with her grownup theatrical friends. The Kerrs would keep their fingers crossed and hope for the best.

So Doris grew-pigtails to party dresses—a fortunate girl in having as balancing influence the close companionship of a mother just seventeen years older than she, and her Daddy Bob. It was with him she had her first cocktail right there at their home in Great Neck, in the basement play-room modeled after the famous old Pig 'n' Whistle.

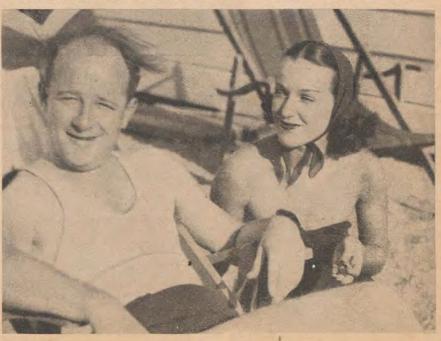

When his daughter reached the point in life where she could bring a United States consul or a thrashing sturgeon to her dainty feet with equal display of savoir faire, Bob Kerr tossed all worries aside.

His girl was keeping her head as surely as she held the reins going over the jumps—she is the most proficient horsewoman for her age in Great Neck. Fact is, he really worries over those hurdles more than anything else

Hollywood's ONLY NEW

Radio Guide • Week Ending October 2, 1937

Actors who've never seen the other side of the footlights become sell-out attractions—if they're radio stars like Frances Langford

THE Palace was packed from the front row in the orchestra to the top row in the upper balcony. Even those boxes were packed, too—and if you've ever been in the old cathedral of vaudeville in Times Square, New York, you know what that means. For nobody would take one of those box seats, even on a pass, if there were any other places to sit down. Yes, it was packed that night five years ago; and as Lou Holtz finally thrust Lyda Roberti into the wings on the tip of his cane, a hush descended on the house. They were waiting.

Then the moon came over the mountain. Kate Smith emerged from the wings. She came out beaming—left to right, Kate Smith. And her voice floated along with her:

"Hello, everybody."

It was just like the radio in the parlor at home.

Kate sang. Again, it was just like the radio in the parlor, only different. This time you could see Kate Smith as well as hear her.

well as hear her.

They all but wrecked the place, cheering her when the show was over.

THAT was the real beginning of the personal appearances of radio stars. Not the 'way-back beginning, of course. For there had been a few inconsequential attempts on the part of radio performers to follow in the footsteps of movie stars by stepping out of one medium of entertainment into another. But they hadn't amounted to much. It was only when Kate Smith, who had come up in radio like Jesse Owens in the Olympics, reached the Palace stage that the procession of radio stars from the mike to the footlights began.

It's been going on ever since—with the parade growing bigger all the time. I was there that night. And when afterwards I went backstage to Kate Smith's dressing-room, I found her exuberant.

"They certainly ate it up," I said. Kate rolled out a long rich laugh. "I was singing tonight," she said. "And, boy, when I sing, I sing all over."

Well, vaudeville had died and gone to limbo. That's why the Palace, ace vaudeville house of the country, had put Kate Smith on the program. That's why it had gone farther, had gone the whole way, in fact. It had taken the rubber off the bank-roll and laid its cash on the line for the "greatest allstar bill of all time." It had Lou Holtz and Lyda Roberti, Billy Gaxton, Georgie Jessel and—radio's greatest comer, Kate Smith.

Week after week the Palace packed in the crowds. Trouble was, though, that in spite of the S. R. O. sign always out, the theater couldn't afford the bill. So it finally closed, and let vaudeville stay dead. One thing, however, had been demonstrated. People who hadn't been in a theater of any kind since Little Eva died and went to heaven would turn out to see their radio stars in the flesh.

There's a peculiar thing, too, about the personal-appearance bill business which is fattening the bank-accounts of individual radio stars, compelling theaters all over the country to let themselves out at the seams. It's this: Many a time the crowds lay their money on the line to see somebody who used to starve in vaudeville. Why? Is the performer better now than he was then? No, but he's been in radio, and radio has publicized him. So now the public wants to see the face that goes with the voice.

Guy Lombardo played to 22 waiters, one customer at Chicago's Palmer House—returned to play to 1,200 on his opening night!

Examples are innumerable. Only three years ago, Richard Himber was sawing on a violin in the pit of the New York Paramount at $90 a week, and considered himself in luck. Then he got a band of his own. Then he went into radio. The obscure violinist of yesterday now has a nation-wide audience. Last year he went back to the Paramount. This time for one week he made $5,000—more than his entire salary for a year had been before he went into radio. And there's Guy Lombardo, one of the most popular bandleaders on the air today. Ten years ago, Lombardo played at the Palmer House in Chicago to an audience of 22 waiters and one lone customer. Last year on his opening night there he played to a capacity house of 1,200. Badio did it for him there he played to a capacity house of 1,200. Radio did it for him.

There's one other reason, besides publicity, which Columbia Broadcasting officials think might have something to do with the amazing popularity of radio stars when they start making personal appearances. It's the radio fan-clubs.

The people who try to account for such things as Jack Benny's present popularity, when he didn't used to be a big drawing-card in the old days of pure vaudeville, have it figured out that the radio listener feels an intense loyalty to his favorite star.

The movie fan-clubs aren't in it with the radio enthusiasts. Although it's pure speculation, radio executives believe that the public's gratitude has a lot to do with this. The radio fan listens, absolutely free of charge, to Benny's program. Then he hears that Benny is making a personal appearance at the local theater. So he shells out his fifty or seventy-five cents to show Old Jack he's really appreciated.

STILL another explanation for the radio performer's popularity on the vaudeville stage is that the public knows exactly what it is going to get for the price of admission. The public may hear that some movie star is making a personal appearance, but it has no way of knowing what that star is going to do. Maybe—as is too often the case—the screen idol will simply walk on the stage, take a bow and say a few words about Hollywood.

The public knows that Kate Smith is going to sing!

In this respect, most radio stars make a point of being conscientious about their personal appearances. They don't like to "cheat" the audience.

VOICE of the LISTENER

The "Voice of the Listener" letter-forum is a regular feature in Radio Guide each week, offered to the readers as a means for expressing and exchanging opinions about radio.

Each week Radio Guide will publish letters deserving our readers' attention.

IT'S WAR NOW

Dear VOL: The most important menace to the American people is that of war, but the radio as yet has done of war, but the radio as yet has done nothing to discourage our young people from thinking war is exciting.

Radio could show the dangers of war in serial form or it could be done through prominent speakers. The radio is a powerful instrument of disseminating propaganda, and as such it should be used now to fight War!—Mrs. Betty Stori, West Plains, Mo.

READERS VS. CARLETON SMITH

Dear VOL: Orchids to Carleton Smith for his common-sense article on best living baritones in which he dis-cusses Nelson Eddy. Put me on record as one young woman who agrees with him heartily—with one exception. In my opinion John Charles Thomas should rank first, with the others as follows: Tibbett, Eddy, and Bonelli. My rating is based on individual voice physical states and the fact that they characteristics, and the fact that they do not sing from the heart.—Beryl Cox, Millersburg, Ohio.

VOL: Because Carleton Smith so cruelly criticized Nelson Eddy's magnificent voice and compared him with singers who are inferior to him, I'm not going to read his column any more. I'm going to tear out the page on which his column is printed.—An Eddy Admirer, Chicago Heights, Ill.

Voice of the Listener: Carleton Smith's' articles always educate the serious-minded student' of music, for he has gone a great ways in that field, and wisely knows whereof he writes. To please some of the public, the radio and screen demand lighter voices—nevertheless, there is a large number of listeners who also appreciate and recognize Mr. Smith's rating among the baritones, and with which I agree.—B. B. Letters, Chicago, Illinois.

VOL: It is a matter of great hap-VOL: It is a matter of great happiness to me that I am not a musical critic and am not deprived of the joy I find in Nelson Eddy's voice. Being only of the rank and file I can still believe Nelson Eddy has the greatest voice of all; I can still be delighted with the feeling and expression he puts into it; I can still consider his judgment unerring in selection of songs.

—Another Eddy Admirer, Reading, Pa.

So far, the admirers are ahead!

CUDGELS FOR REFORMS

Voice of the Listener: My suggestions for improving the airwaves: 1. Eliminate all "Thank you's" from introductions and endings in programs. 2. Have announcers forget their many and fervent "That was beautiful," "That was grand," etc. 3. Eliminate establishment of temporary mutual admiration societies among the principals. 4. Eliminate, in poetry readings, the seventheral voice the pressing and pals. 4. Eliminate, in poetry readings, the sepulchral voice, the pressing and straining after feeling, which seems to be the present style. In other words, tear away so much of the tinsel and artificiality which radio experts seemingly think the listener can swallow easily and get back to pleasant Mother Earth and naturalness.—Edwin J. Dahl, Engiper Minnesota. Faribault, Minnesota.

We could think of a few ourselves!

DOES ITURBI HOG THE LIMELIGHT?

Dear VOL: At the Gershwin Memorial Concert the program has proceeded in a very smooth and commendable manner the musical numbers had been performed well and the per-formers had subordinated themselves to the music, allowing the genius of the composer to shine through unimthe composer to shine through unimpaired by any eccentricities or bravado on the part of the performers. Then, like a bolt from the blue, came the bombshell to destroy the mood that had been so artistically established. The colossal egotist of the age burst upon the scene. He, the great Jose Iturbi, proclaimed to the waiting world that he would both play and conduct the "Rhapsody in Blue" and (above all things) with only one rehearsal! The majority of the audience seemed to think this a great feat, for at the close of the number, many shouts of "Bravo," "Bravo, Iturbi" rang clearly through the microphone. But to me this was the greatest crime that could be committed against the name of Cooper Corporation. We Iturbi name of George Gershwin. Mr. Iturbi should take a lesson from such great conductors as Bruno Walter, Toscanini, who always subordinate their own personalities to that of the composer and avoid the artificiality of showmanship.-Willard Shepherd, Emporia,

MR. AND MRS. AVERAGE AMERICA

Dear VOL: Recently in your column I read a letter in which the writer stated he thought opera stars should stated he thought opera stars should not sing in foreign languages on the radio. His reason was that Mr. and Mrs. Average America could not understand the words. How one would hope to keep the average high in America if all the programs were based on the average American of today. Keeping the programs above average will tend to make the average higher.—Marcia Young, Lafayette, Ind.

had interested Boylston in inoculation, had interested Boylston in moculation, and Boylston, in his turn, had urged the practise upon ther physicians. They had not only laughed at him, they had actually threatened him!

Mather and Boylston decided that an example must be set. They could not use themselves, for they were both known to be immune; it was against the law to incomplete anyone who was known to be immune; it was against the law to inoculate anyone who was unwilling, and if slaves were used, the Bostonians would decline the evidence on the grounds that they certainly could not be placed in the same category as their miserable slaves! There was nothing else for it: Dr. Boylston inoculated his own sons. Of course they recovered, as did those of his patients whom he could persuade to accept the treatment.

BUT the New Englanders were only human, and in this crisis they acted humanly. They organized against Mather and Boylston, summoned them before the board of selectmen, and officially ordered them to cease advocating and practising the sinful, Satansent inoculation! Previously, at three o'clock one morning, someone had thrown a bomb into Mather's house.

But stubbornness and obstinacy could not prevail against Cotton Mather and Zabdiel Boylston. One by one they overcame the objections of the people, and finally one of the selectmen stood forth and offered himself men stood forth and offered himself as a test case. He was successfully treated, and the public was won over on the strength of this trial.

DECADES were to pass, however, before inoculation became widely accepted. But the initial impetus given it by Cotton Mather and Zabdiel Boylston was great, and today most Americans have never seen a case of smallpox.

DORIS IN WONDERLAND

When she was still a tyke, Doris was splashing about in Long Island Sound with the abandon of a baby porpoise. Henry King, now the famous Hollywood director, tried to teach her to swim one day, but she would have none of it. She preferred to learn for herself, told him so, and flailed successfully out to the diving raft. Today she is the swimming and diving champion of the juniors of the fashionable Sands Point Bath Club, where on Sundays in summer, her gaily colored cabana is more often than not the focal point of the day's festivities.

ARRY VON ZELL and his wife, the

HARRY VON ZELL and his wife, the Budd Hulicks, Tiny Ruffner, Harry (Bottle) McNaughton and other contemporary radiolights who are her frequent guests, will pit Doris against the field as a charming hostess.

But Arthur Hammerstein, Robert Leonard, the veteran director, and many others who knew her when she was a child, will go this ultra-modern crowd one better. Leonard vows she had the makings of an accomplished hostess long before she was schooled in the social graces at Kensington and the Cathedral School of St. Mary.

School days over and Doris a lovely mature woman, still as candid and unaffected as the day she told Joe Santley that one of his cherished jokes was "terr'ble," destiny was bound to operate.

Doris didn't see it coming, nor did her father. But he had a hunch it was

The Kerrs had gone to a wedding anniversary party of Paul Starrett, the arranger. Dick McDonough and Carl Cress were twanging their guitars in typical hot-lick form—an incentive for Dovis to take a chorus.

Doris to take a chorus:

Leith Stevens, the young CBS maestro, just happened to pick that fortuitous moment to drop in unexpectedly. He heard her song and asked if she would like to audition for Columbia.

EQUALLY casual in her acceptance, Doris auditioned. It was an unusual sort of audition, in which she skipped the formality of a private hearing and made her mike debut on actual wavelengths as Leith's guest on one of his popular "Manhattan Matinees." Before the way much more than off the popular "Manhattan Matinees." Before she was much more than off the air, representatives of the Columbia Artists Bureau were there to sign her on as a sustaining singer.

That was a year ago last May. A lot has happened since. From reputation confined to the wooded acres of Great Neck, Doris' regular hours on the air have become a prized part of the listening week of countless radio fans.

Doris Kerr clubs have bobbed up in all sections of the country. Especially popular with college youth, she received, sight unseen, fifteen bids this spring to proms at prominent eastern

And as she steps lightly but firmly toward fame, Great Neck wags a knowing head. She's their child. There would probably be a lot of "I told you so's" if their saying didn't conflict with the originality of which this colony is inordinately proud.

Meanwhile, Daddy Bob is trying awfully hard not to be too smug about it all. His Doris came through against some most unusual odds. SHORT WAVES

BY CHAS. A. MORRISON, president, INTERNATIONAL DX-ER'S ALLIANCE

(Figures in Parentheses Are Megacycles)

ECEPTION from Australia is at its peak at present. Near 7:30 a.m. EST (6:30 a.m. CST), VK6ME (9.59) of Perth, and VK3LR (9.58) of Melbourne, often come in like local stations. Near the same hour, numer-Australian stations may be tuned in on the 20-meter amateur band. From 14 to 14.15 megs is the best place to tune for the "Aussies," which may be easily recognized by the pronounced British accent of the operators. The new Japanese station JDY (9.925) of Darien, Kwantung, on the air daily from 7 to 8 a.m. EST (6 to 7 a.m. CST), has been coming in with volume equal to that of JVN (10.66) of ume equal to that of JVN (10.66) of Nazaki, Japan.

The Danish short-wave station, located at Skamleback, Denmark, which was testing on a frequency of 11.805 megs, is now broadcasting on 9.52 megs, daily from 2 to 4:20 p.m. EST (1 to 3:20 p.m. CST) for South America and East Africa, and from 4:20 to 6:45 p.m. EST (3:20 to 5:45 p.m. CST) for Greenland and North America. ica. Reports are appreciated, and should be addressed to Mail and Teleshould be addressed to Mail and Telegraph Department, Technical Division, No. 32 Bernstorffsgade, Copenhagen, Denmark . . The call-letters of the mysterious Chilean station, heard nightly on 12.007 megs, are believed to be CB1199.

Neville Chamberlain, prime minister of Great Britain, will make his first broadcast as premier on September 30, at 3:30 p.m. EST (2:30 p.m. CST), when his speech at a reception given by the Central Council for Health Education at the London School of Hygiene will be transmitted over the Daventry stations.

The National Broadcasting Company has applied to the Federal Communihas applied to the Federal Communications Commission for permission to raise the power of Short-Wave Station W9XF of Chicago, Ill., to 50,000 watts, and to add frequencies 9.55, 11.73, 15.13 and 21.5 megs . . . RCA Communications, Inc., seeks permission to modify licenses of KKP (16.03) and KKH (7.52) of Kahuku, Hawaii, so that Tokyo, Japan may be added as so that Tokyo, Japan, may be added as a point of communication. With the Sino-Japanese conflict in progress, telephone traffic between these countries and the United States is particularly heavy

Canada is planning a powerful shortwave transmitter of 50,000 watts power to give the Dominion a place on the international map of broadcasting. The station will probably be located at Ottawa or Montreal.

The MacGregor Arctic Expedition, which plans a monthly short-wave broadcast to the United States, is having a very rough time of it. On September 3, a communication from the Schooner Gen. A. W. Greely, stated that half the supplies had been unloaded at Reindeer Point, Greenland, after ice had blocked their efforts to reach their originally clamped head after ice had blocked their efforts to reach their originally planned head-quarters at Fort Conger, Ellesmere Island. Unloading of the remaining supplies had been balked when terrific winds, estimated at from 80 to 100 miles an hour, forced the vessel from her moorings into the open sea. We assume the remaining supplies are now landed and a new headquarters established.

Lewis Miller of St. Louis, Mo. , Mo., re-CODX of ports another new Cuban, CODX of Havana, broadcasting nightly on approximately 9.2 megs, where it is continually interfered with by powerful C. W. station CUY.

Louis Ambrosius of Louisville, Ky., writes that YSD (7.894), San Salvador, El Salvador, is now relaying the commercial programs of Broadcast Station YSS, daily from 9 to 10:20 p.m. EST (8 to 9:20 p.m. CST) . . . This daily Brazilian hour is broadcast by a network of thirty broadcast stations as well as by PRF5.

Several readers inform me that RKI of Moscow is broadcasting on a new frequency of 7.518 megs, daily from 7 to 9:15 p.m. EST (6 to 8:15 p.m. CST). Signals are comparatively weak on this new channel and RAN (9.6), which carries the same program, is now by far the better of the two.

Scientifically minded short-wave listeners will follow the new Zenith Radio Foundation series, being heard on Sundays at 10 p.m. EST (9 p.m. CST), over the NBC-Blue network, with interest, for unless I miss my mass, the hypothesis that the hypothesis had been also had a supplied to the hypothesis that the hypothesis had been also had been als guess, the hypothesis that the human brain transmits waves of an infinitely high but unknown frequency, will form part of the startling subject-matter to be presented.

The interesting DX session over W8XK (6.14) of Pittsburgh, Pa., is now being heard Fridays at 11:15 p.m. EST (10:15 p.m. CST).

According to a clipping from the Star & Herald of Panama City, Panstar & Herald of Panama City, Panama, sent to me by Harry Gunn of Memphis, Tenn., HP5A (11.7), of that city, broadcasts daily from 12:30 to 2 p.m. and 7 to 11 p.m. EST (11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 6 to 10 p.m. CST). At 7 p.m. EST (6 CST), the station presents an excellent resume of the world's news in English, ending with these words: "For further details consult the pages of the Star and Herald."

The schedule for VK2ME (9.59) of Sydney, Australia, for October, is Sundays from 12:30 to 2:30 a.m. EST (11:30 p.m. Sat. to 1:30 a.m. Sun. CST), Sundays from 4:30 to 8:30 and 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. EST (3:30 to 7:30 and 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. CST).

FB8AH (14.265), an amateur station on the island of Madagascar, was heard by Clarence Hartzell of Jeannette, Pa., who also informs me that the present schedule of CSW, Lisbon, Portugal, is daily from 12 noon to 4 p.m. EST (11 a.m. to 3 p.m. CST) on 11.04 megs, and from 4 to 8 p.m. EST (3 to 7 p.m. CST) on 9.94 megs.

SCOOP!

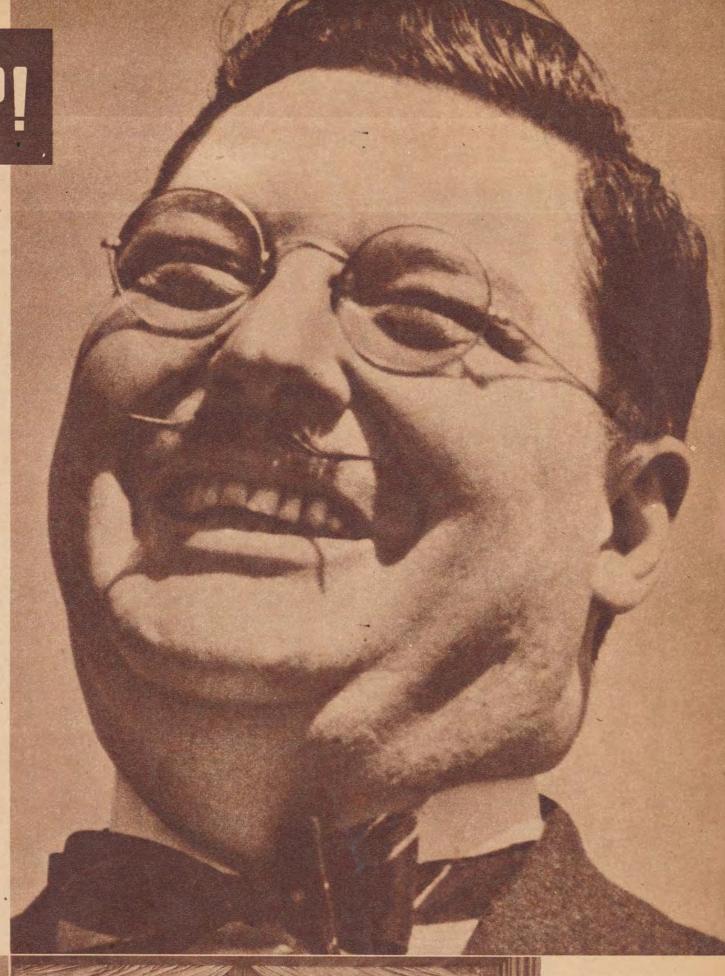

We Applaud PROFESSOR QUIZ

AN OF Mystery is "Professor Quiz," whose brain-throbbing questions—both profound and ridiculous—are a popular Saturday night CBS feature. Although his anonymity has been carefully guarded, he's admitted: That his name is Craig Earl, that he has offices at 551 Fifth Avenue, New York City, in the same suite with Al Smith, Jr. That he is a college- and law-school graduate, a member of Phi Beta Kappa and a practising lawyer—also a bit of a magician!

From questions submitted by radio listeners, the Professor, questions six contestants on each program. For each list of six questions used, he pays $25, for the greatest number of correct answers he awards a prize of $25 in silver.

His problems are numerous. To begin with, the Professor quiets the jittery nerves of the six contestants, who as a rule have never faced a microphone or an audience before. He accomplishes it by various methods. The obviously nervous are calmed with sympathetic, quieting words, while the less distraught are gently "kidded" into a calmness.

He's constantly on the alert to prevent any coaching from the audience. Too, he must keep the players mentally alive so that practically instantaneous responses are forthcoming to his mind-teasers to avoid extended periods of silence on the air.

First pictures (above & left, below) ever published of "Professor Quiz"—who is really Craig Earl! His cerebrum - cracking program first attracted attention over a year ago when featured over a CBS Washington, D.C., outlet. Brought to New York, it has since been heard both as a sustaining & commercial show. Left: "Professor Quiz"—on the airl

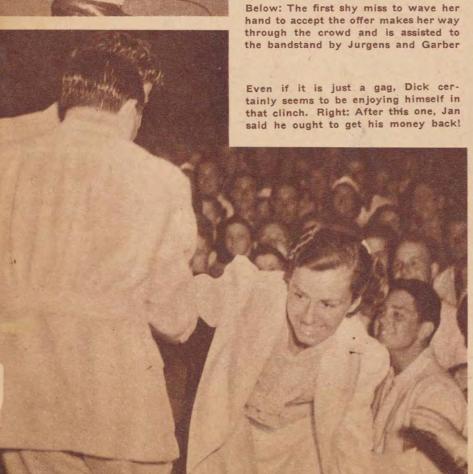

The popular bandleader's gags are appreciated by common peepul as well as movie stars. Below: Crowd at the Casino roars approval of his offer of $1 a kiss as Dick Jurgens blushes

KISSES $1.00 EACH

ENIAL Jan Garber, intimate friend of movie stars, orchestra leader, who has played requests for almost all the movie famous in his season at the Cocoanut Grove, moved on to Santa Catalina Island not long ago to fulfill an engagement at the Casino there (recently he was replaced by Herbie Kay). Dick Jurgens, another bigname batoneer, was present at his friend Jan's opening night, and Jan, as a gag, offered $1 to any girl in the crowd who would come to the bandstand and kiss Dick. It was tough going to get the first demure lass, but from then on it was a stampede. The final accounting was that Jan parted with $73 before the end of the evening!

To see Cornelius waiting, means home to Kate. This apartment house doorman makes her day pleasant with his cheery greetings

For audiences, pictures, a star must always look her best. Yvonne of Antoine's, New York, has dressed Kate's hair weekly for 6 years

To have Kate's voice the way listeners like it, she must have an accompaniment that blends. Jack Miller has done this for 7 years

KATE SMITH, Southland's buoyant songbird, returns to CBS Thursday night. As singing mistress of ceremonies, she's heading a new full-hour Coast-to-Coast variety show—"The Kate Smith Hour."

To listeners, Kate is a person who can sing songs the way they like 'em. But when she's on the air there are many unseen people who are responsible for the Kate that people hear—a horde of efficient workers in various fields whose timely help insures each appearance of Kate's being a success. The combined efforts of her Producer-Manager-Announcer Ted Collins, others, help make Kate a star.

Her remarkable voice was brought to the fore when Ted "discovered" her for radio back in 1931. In 1933, Ted and Kate formed Kated, Inc., issuing 100 shares of preferred stock owned equally by Kate, who's V. P., and Ted, who's Pres. and Treas. Her new sponsor — General Foods buys the services of Kated, Inc., which includes artists on the program and services of production, script-writing and clerical depart-ments of Kated. Weekly cost of Kated to General Foods is said to be about $7,000. Kated, in turn, pays Kate a weekly salary of $200. It also pays Ted, others. At the year's end profits are turned into investments to give Kate and Ted a nice income.

Kate Smith's secretary, Jane Tompkins, answers fan letters, requests for charity, arranges for her many important appointments

Announcer-Producer-Manager Ted Collins has been with Kate since 1931. He signs contracts, buys real estate, pays income taxes

-Bert Lawso

Writer and producer Sylvan Taplinger builds the script around the star of the show, who knows what she wants and usually gets it!

HERE ARE THE HELPERS WHOSE WORK BRINGS YOU A GREATER KATE SMITH THURSDAY NIGHT

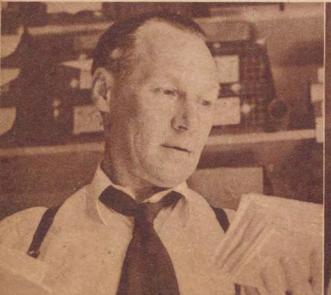

Matty Knoeller, Kate's maid, keeps her healthy, despite rigorous show life

Tom Lewis, producer from ad agency, cuts, times, produces Kate's shows

The arranger, Tony Gale, puts individuality into songs to suit Kate's voice

They're kept there free under Dr. M. A. Couney's supervision. Gawkers see 'em for 25c

Below: It's free, so these two Broadwayites didn't hesitate to see how they looked in the convex mirror. Milton Berle is at the left, Richard Himber is at the right

Comic Berle applies the famous "hotfoot" to Himber. It's done with matches—and all in fun

ONEY ISLAND, humanity's sideshow and melting-pot of millions, goes right on simmering each summer. Located at Brooklyn, N. Y.'s, southern tip, it is only a half-hour's automobile drive—or a 15-minute ride by subway—from NYC's Times Square.

Radio celebrities who live in and around New York often take time out to join in gay abandon at the world-famed playground. Like Radio Producer-of-Laughs Milton Berle, Professional Model Ethyl Haworth and Maestro Richard Himber, they usually rush to the amusements. When they go swimming, it is at better beach clubs.

swimming, it is at better beach clubs. Here, stretched out for blocks on either side of Surf Avenue, Brooklyn—the main thoroughfare on the Island—they enjoy the world's most thrilling rides, games and fun coaxer-outers. Concessions are built in rows along the wide sidewalks, and huge signs, painted in bright green and red against white backgrounds, loom in the sky—give the place the appearance of an overdressed Christmas tree.

The great number of concessions featuring strange games and side-shows, and displaying gaudy, cheap prizes, with barkers who are expert, never seem to end.

Most of the games are 5 cents—rides, 5c and 10c. Nothing is very expensive at Coney Island. It caters to the little fellow and his family. But it is not limited to them. That is proved by the ever-presence of celebrities of the entertainment and civic worlds at this playground for both millionaire and pauper, this mecca of sightseers, the one and only—Coney Island!

Corn-on-the-cob at Coney Island is a popular item. It sells for five cents—is bought by millions!

Allie Lowe Miles in her office at Radio Center, NYC. She's been building radio programs, along with Sedley Brown, since 1931

In Miss Miles' handbag were tickets to her show, and this dainty vanity. It weighs but 5 ounces, is made to her own specifications

MILES — EXECU
TIVE & HOMEBODY

T'S easy to reveal interesting facts about Allie Lowe Miles—just by peeking into her pocket-book! Tickets to her radio show, and office & home keys tell the story of how she successfully co-conducts and produces, along with Sedley Brown, NBC's Tuesday night (EST) "Husbands & Wives," how she happily manages a New York Central Park West apartment for her husband, II-year-old son, and mother. The Mileses also have a home on Long Island's south shore, near Babylon.

Allie, radio doctor of domestic

Allie, radio doctor of domestic problems, reads thousands of letters from husbands & wives, highly treasures a note-book in which she keeps important life-problems taken from her radio mail.

Allie, the woman, prides herself on her housekeeping and cooking, proves she's truly a feminist by the many knickknacks tucked away in her purse. Her suppressed desire is earrings, and she has a big collection of them, adores them—but seldom wears them!

Photos by Gene Lester

Keys, velvet samples, a handkerchief, a check-book & even a reducing-appointment card were salvaged

Her fans are many and she receives hundreds of gifts. Even the purse is a present from a listener

Marion Talley, who achieved success us an opera singer at the age of 17 and then retired, attaining stardom years later in motion pictures and radio, will return to the air as star of the Ry-Krisp program from Hollywood. The entire cast of her last year's company, which includes both operatic and popular singers, will be back with the soprano star. The cast will include soef Koestner, favorite radio maestro of the late Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink; Paul Taylor and his Choristers, and Keu Carpenter, announcer, Miss Talley, who recently recovered from an appendectomy, is a former Kanasas City girl who was trained for the Metropolitan Opera with funds raised by popular subscription among her townspeople. At the height of her operatic career she startled the musical world by announcing her retirement to her quiet farm in Kansas, where she remained in seclusion for several years. Plump prima donnas were still in fashion, but Miss Talley went on a rigid diet and emerged a few years later at the film capital as a trim and chie young woman, welging a paltry 105 pounds. Koestner, her conductor, is a nephew of Felix Mottl, the great Wagnerian maestro who introduced the late Schumann-Heink to Richard Wagner and thereby launched the diva on her memorable career as a Wagnerian maestro who introduced the late Schumann-Heink to Richard Wagner and thereby launched the diva on her memorable career as a Wagnerian maestro who introduced the late Schumann-Heink to Richard Wagner and thereby launched the diva on her memorable career as a Wagnerian maestro who introduced the late Schumann-Heink to Richard Wagner and thereby launched the diva on her memorable career as a Wagnerian maestro who introduced the late Schumann-Heink to Richard Wagner and thereby launched the diva on her memorable career as a Wagnerian maestro who introduced the late Schumann-Heink to Richard Wagner and thereby launched the late Schumann and thereby launched the late Schumann

Our Neighbors program, will inaugurate a new series of fireside chats. Belcher, who originated the Vox Pop program in Houston, Texas, while commercial manager of a radio station there, brought that program to NEC networks in June, 1935, long before the human interest broadcast became the vogues it is today. On October II, 1936, he inaugurated his present weekly trips 'over the back fence'' for visits with time Neighbors. His theory was and is that we are interested in our neighbors because so many problems and so much humor and pathos of family life in America are common to all sections of the country. Belcher even believes there's a germ for an international goodwill and peace movement in his radio program idea. Similar world-wide broadcasts, he contends, would transcend boundaries and bitter rivairies. In his new peries of visits, Jerry will continue, as he has in the past, to take his microphone into typical American homes for extemporaneous, unrehearsed interviews. Comfortable and at ease in familiar surroundings, the members of the families visited by Jerry will discuss with him the major interests and minor crises that come their way. No member will know in advance what Jerry's questions will be and no program will be rehearsed.

The Sunbrite Junior Nurse Corps program, one of radio's most popular children's shows returns to the air over the NBC network. Based on actual historical facts, the dramatic theme of the program will be made up of the romantic and thrilling story of Sacajawea, an Indian Princess who once held the destiny of half the United States in her hands as she guided the Lewis and Clark expedition from the Missonri River to the Pacific Coast and back. Lucy Gilman, juvenile actress, will play the role of Dorothy Hart and will act as national president of the Junior Nurse organization, and Aunt Jane (Helena Ray) will give daily advice on personal hygiene, first ald and safety. Deborah Keith. 20-year-old Chicago girl, will play the part of the heroine in the dramatization of the life of the Shoshone Indian Princess, Jack Brinkley will play Captain Lewis and Willan Amsdell will be cast as Pat Gass, a comic role. Donald Weeks, juvenile actor, is also a member of the cast, Angelo Patri, nationally known authority on child guidance, will continue supervision over the scripts, which he has exercised since the program came to the air two years ago.

son and Curly Bradley, will sing their Western songs and will play the parts of the cowboys.

NBC-Little Orphan Annie, sketch (Ovaltine): WTAM (sw.9.53)
Little Orphan Annie, radio serial which completed its sixth year on the air last Christmas day, returns today. Though based on the comic strip of the newspapers, it is distinctly different in plot. In the radio program the boy character, Joe Corntassel, rivals Annie herself in popularity. First heard over a Chicago station in 1930, Little Orphan Annie came to NRC in 1931, where it has remained since. It will remain under the sponsorship of the Wander Company, which has each script previewed by Dr. John J. B. Morgan, eminent child psychologist of Northwestern University, before it is broadcast. Dr. Morgan believes that a juvenile program, such as a Little Orphan Annie, is beneficial to the child listener when skillfully written and presented. Situations such as are used in Little Orphan Annie tend to stimulate the courage-building type of excitement which should make listening children stronger and more heroic, he says.

"Grand Central Station," a new series of half-hour dramatic sketches with their setting in New York City's great railway terminal, the gareway to the nation, will begin today.
Sponsors of the program feel that the magnificant station, with its thousands of hurrying commuters, mixed with other thousands of hurrying commuters, mixed with other thousands of travelers bound for Chicago and points west, offers one of the most musual of settings for the new series. Each play, complete in itself, will begin with a scene in the station, where so many dramatic welcomes and partings and accidental meetings take place each day.
From the station each play will move to other scenes where the rapid action will develop to a climax. All of the plays will be original scripts, prepared especially for the radio, rather than of the theater. Among those who will comprise the casts will be of radio, rather than
of the theater. Among those who will be heard are Ned Wever, Rosaline Greene, Clayton Collyer, Erik Reil, John Brown and Charles Cantor, all well known for their splendid work in network dramas.
Himan Brown, director of many of radio's most successful dramatic programs, will produce the new series.

Kate Smith returns to the air, headlining a new full-hour show with Henny Youngman
as comedian, Jack Miller conducting the orchestra, and Jim Crowl y, one of the original "Four Horsemen" of Notre Dame, and now football coach of Fordham, as football expert, Kate's broadcasts will be for a new sponsor, General Foods, and for the first time in several years, her program will have a coast-fo-coast hookup, including the Mountain and West Coast zones. Dramatic sketches will also be a feature of the program, in addition to the football roundtables, Kate Smith's singing, Henny Youngman and bis fiddle, and the music of Jack Miller's orchestra. Once a month Kate will present anational "Hero-of-the-Month," selected by her radio andience for an outstanding deed of bravery, in a "Command Performance" on her program.

The premiere of Geórge Bernard Shaw's specially prepared radio version of his pentalogy, "Back to Methuselah," originally scheduled for August 30, will be heard at this time. Peggy Wood, brilliant actress of the American stage, in the leading role, will be heard as Eve, and Irene Tedrow will have the part of Lilith. The remainder of the cast will include Helen Claire, widely known radio and stage actress, as the serpent; James Meighan, the young actor who distinguished himself in the NBC production of O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon," who will play Adam, and Louis Hector, radio's noted Sherlock Holmes, as Cain. The exclusive NBC Shavian broadcast; prepared for the radio by the great playwright himself, will be 75 minutes in length, one of the longest dramatic works ever produced on the air.

in giving full measure and then some. He will tell the stage manager that his show will last one hour, but if he his show will last one hour, but if he finds at the end of that time that the public wants more of Cantor, he'll carry on, ad-libbing for an hour and a half. Cantor, having come up through the ranks of vaudeville, doesn't have any trouble doing this. He's at home on the boards.

Cantor's troupe never minds a little overtime work. For at the close of every successful engagement he presents each performer with a sizable personal gift or bonus.

SOME people like to say that once a

Some people like to say that once a radio star has made a "name" he can coast, that the name means everything. A daring official of the Chicago Daily News station, WMAQ, took a long chance to disprove that.

How many fans today remember a Negro dialog team called "Sam 'n' Henry"? Probably not one in a hundred. Yet in 1926 "Sam 'n' Henry" were drawing $4,000 a week for their program over the Chicago Tribune's station, WGN, and they had a tremendous following. mendous following.

It was then that the Daily News sta-

It was then that the Daily News station decided to buy their contract from a rival. The Daily News got them at a very fancy price. The trade name was believed to be worth a small fortune. But, said the News station's exexecutive, we don't want some other tradic's stars. We want to "discover" studio's stars. We want to "discover our own talent.

our own talent.

In the face of violent protest, he killed "Sam 'n' Henry," and a few weeks later WMAQ was credited with the discovery of perhaps the greatest team radio has produced—"Amos 'n' Andy!" The blackface comedians had been reborn under a new pseudonym.

The advent of radio was a boon to many old troupers who would other-wise be has-beens by now, but it also meant heartache to not a few.

OF COURSE, there are a number of radio stars today who never stood radio stars today who never stood before an audience, and as time goes on, there will be more. The newer "discoveries" are more often radiotrained instead of stage-trained. There is Frances Langford, for example, whom Rudy Vallee found in Lakeland, Florida. Miss Langford, however, did appear at the New York Palace—but after she had sung over the air, not before, Stoopnagle and Budd also were before. Stoopnagle and Budd also were discovered by radio and later made personal appearances.

Amos 'n' Andy to this day are nervous before a theater audience. They stick very close to the stage "mike" and a strong spotlight is focused on and a strong spotlight is focused on their faces, so that they cannot see the spectators.

People sometimes wonder if the sponsor gets anything out of the radio star's personal appearance. He doesn't —in money. But the stars, out of courtesy, usually make a point of giving the sponsor a "plug" or two. Such as the ancient wise-crack, "I don't like to mention it, but I just filled my car up with that marvelous Zippo gas," etc., etc., with numerous variations.

HE salaries which booking agents demand for radio celebrities' personal appearances would have made theater managers dizzy in the old days. But they don't mind paying them now, because they know in advance that it's a safe investment.

Kate Smith's standard for a week's appearance is $8,000. Eddie Cantor gets a guarantee of $15,000 for his show, with a 50 percent cut on everything the house takes above that figure. Guy Lombardo gets $8,500 for his 12-piece band. Burns and Allen rate a cool $10,000, as compared to the $500 they used to be paid before they started broadcasting. Rubinoff, a Cantor discovery, draws down $5,000 for his week on the stage of some movie house, and Bobby Breen, Cantor's discovery, gets $2,000. Fred Waring gets $10,000 a week.

Some orchestra leaders, moreover,

$10,000 a week.

Some orchestra leaders, moreover, really draw even greater sums than that. They are the men like Wayne King, who won't go into a movie theater for a lengthy engagement, but take their chances at the heavy sugar by barnstorming. They realize that every town has its radio fans—dancemad youngsters, music lovers—who want to see a favorite radio orchestra in action. So they hire a music hall. Wayne King, doing that, averaged six to eight thousand customers a date—at one dollar per head!

How will this business of coming out from behind the mike and materializing in the flesh affect the standing of star or orchestra? It's anybody's guess.

Jessica Dragonette is the classic example of one radio star who refuses to be other than a voice. She seldom emerges from her ivory tower, and emerges from her ivory tower, and then never to make a personal appear-ance in a theater. She believes that every radio listener has his own image of her in his mind. She wants him to retain it. So she stays the Voice. For the most part, however, the stars of the airwaves are becoming footlight favorites. The money keeps rolling in.

favorites. The money keeps rolling in, and they are determined to get it. Rolling in? Listen:
"If there were one hundred more radio stars of the same magnitude as Eddie Cantor," said one New York theater executive, "they could all find bookings at big money."

says: Luckies are gentle on my throat"

"The rôle of LIEUT. PINKERTON in Madame Butterfly' is the only part in opera where the tenor smokes a cigarette on the stage. As I sing the aria, 'Amore O Grillo', I smokeand it's always a Lucky. You see, I discovered long ago that Luckies are a light smoke -gentle on my throat - and my throat is naturally my first concern. I have smoked about a pack of Luckies a day ever since 1920."
