Right or Wrong?

It is cheaper for a broadcaster to play a record than to put on a live-talent show. Right or wrong?

Right.

It requires less mental effort to select a record and broadcast it than it does to plan and produce something new and original. Right or wrong?

Right.

Playing records hour after hour deprives legitimate amateurs from getting a break in radio productions. Right or wrong?

Right.

Playing records keeps legitimate professional entertainers from getting jobs. Right or wrong?

Right.

Playing records is a lazy station's way of filling up the time the government has said it can and must broadcast. Right or wrong?

Right.

Playing records keeps station-owners from thinking constructively and aggressively and developing new shows which might turn into Major Bowes or "Vox Pop" ideas. Right or wrong?

Right!

We need better programs all along the line, not just better "big shows" which are already superlatively fine. Right or wrong?

Right.

By improving shows all along the line, we would do much to keep the politicians from interfering with our American system of broadcasting. Right or wrong?

Right.

You would like to see every record in every radio station in the country broken into bits. Right or wrong?

Right!!!!!!

Drama Comes of Age

Musically, broadcasting came of age several years ago. Dramatically, it came of age on August 17, 1938, during the broadcast of the first half of Eugene O'Neill's Pulitzer prize play, "Strange Interlude."

In all our listening, no finer production has ever been offered the listener. But most important, an adult subject was discussed in a radio broadcast which even a few years ago would not have been permitted on the stage.

Valiant Words

We listeners who appreciate our system of broadcasting may thank our stars for the recent utterances of the new president of the National Association of Broadcasting. Speaking in Nashville, Tennessee, recently, he said:

"Any threat to gather the freedom of radio unto the bosom of a government, of a bureaucracy, or of a monopoly must be resisted. For if a government or a bureaucracy or a monopoly invade, by the slightest degree, into the completely free American radio as we know it today, we are placing into the hands of the invader the beginnings of control of the greatest means of mass communication of thoughts and ideas the world has ever known. A free people can never tolerate this. That is why any invasion of our free, competitive system of American broadcasting from any quarter whatsoever will meet with all the resistance at my command, and I believe as well with the determined resistance of the people who own and use the thirty million radio sets operative throughout America tonight."

This new president of the N. A. B. is Neville Miller, ex-mayor, ex-college head. He knows whereof he speaks, and of the threats to freedom that government interference contains. For example, one nation's listeners were told recently that they must listen to no other operas for a full year except those of one "favorite" composer. Another government feeds its citizens programs which are sixty percent "political enlightenment."

We don't want that. We listeners who sit in the bleachers of broadcasting, too far away from first base to see the close plays, may congratulate ourselves that our broadcasting stations have, through their association's president, given us a voice and a stake in the game.

VOICE OF THE LISTENER

Posies

Dear VOL:
Everything listed in RADIO GUIDE is of the greatest interest to me except the "Cross-word Puzzle," and I have never cared the least for it.
I am a semi-shut-in. Being hurt in an accident more than nine years ago, I have turned to radio, and through my inner sight I "attend" all kinds of programs all over the world and enjoy them to the fullest.—Mrs. J. M. Proctor, Durham, N. C.

Dear VOL:
I read the RADIO GUIDE from cover to cover. Of all the publications I get in my office, this one I read through and keep on my desk by my radio. I really look forward to your paper every week and have shown it to many patients who were pleased, so if sales don't pick up in this section it isn't my fault.
Would not like to do without my radio or RADIO GUIDE in my mental office, as they are a comfort to my patients and help to me. Respectfully,
—Dr. D. M. Hoffman.

Poser

Dear VOL:
I was never so disgusted with an orchestra and its leader as I was the evening that I heard Frank Trumbauer and his orchestra, playing from Los Angeles, swing that grand old march by John Phillip Sousa, "Stars and Stripes Forever." Up to that time I had preferred Mr. Trumbauer's music to that of a great many others, but since that evening I have made it a point to find some other orchestra to listen to. I'm afraid that I might hear him swinging "Ave Maria" or some like song next, and when that happens, I'm all for pitching $14.95 worth of radio out into the trash barrel.—E. L. Pavel, Denver, Colo.

Let's Talk Turkey About SOUTH AMERICA

BY LINDSAY LATTIMER

Edward Tomlinson, left, with Dr. Oswaldo Aranha, Minister of Foreign Affairs for Brazil. First-hand news is Tomlinson's credo. He once made fifty-seven radio interviews in twenty-three days! Tomlinson is probably the best-informed commentator on South American affairs

WITH a few plain truths on the tip of his tongue for citizens of the United States, Edward Tomlinson has just returned from a 14,000-mile trip—his fifteenth annual pilgrimage to South America since 1922.

This Sunday, September 4, over the NBC-Blue network at 6:45 p.m. EDT, he will give the third in a special series of broadcasts "What's New in South America?"

He's not pulling any punches in telling what's wrong with our attitude in this country. Of all the problems he's going to take up, Tomlinson considers his theme for this Sunday, "Why Not Scrap Our Superiority Complex About South America?" the most vital of all.

Six years ago he began his first radio series, supplemented by occasional microphone interviews with such prominent men as Cordell Hull, now Secretary of State, Gerard Swope, Winthrop Aldrich, Alfred P. Sloan and others.

Tomlinson relies on no hearsay. The minute he hears of an important development, he boards one of the giant Clippers. The Pan-American Peace Conference, for instance, found him button-holing all the top-notch delegates to the conference for a series of fifty-seven broadcasts in twenty-three days over the NBC networks. This is probably a solo record for any international commentator.

First and foremost, he's an open-minded observer, student and journalist enthralled by the growth of one of the earth's richest storehouses. So, if anyone ought to know the whys and wherefores of the situation south of the Gulf and the Caribbean, Tomlinson should. No American north of the Mexican border has made a more profound study of the ten countries of the southern continent.

If you drop around to see the scholarly six-footer whose broadcasts, lectures, magazine and newspaper articles have brought him his reputation, he'll willingly tell you why he thinks this question of the North American attitude of superiority the burning question of the hour. Even when his secretary is on the sick list and he's got a broadcast to write for the following day, he's "glad you asked him."

"It's time we looked at the facts about the vast countries of South America," says Tomlinson. "Let's stop our paternalistic attitude and take a realistic view of our neighbors of the southern continent. Let's talk turkey together about the situation there."

"THE average Yankee has a superiority complex about that part of world—the same feeling that the English had toward us before the World War. You've heard it. 'Just provincials.'

"If you're looking for 100 percent nationalists, the place to find them is in any country in South America. In other words, a Chilean knows there's no other country in the world as wonderful as his own. He has no inferiority complex when comparing his Chile to any other country in the world. This is, if anything, even more true of the Brazilians.

"They have a country that's larger than all Europe put together—larger than the whole United States plus another Texas. Brazil has one-third as many people as the United States. It has every resource imaginable—enough hard wood to supply the world for 100 years to come; it produces three-fourths of the world's coffee; it has the largest single deposit of iron ore in the world; it ranks second to the United States in the production of corn. Gold and diamonds abound there. An Indian prince paid $400,000 for a single Brazilian diamond several years ago. Next door, Argentina has more cattle than the United States—and also more sheep. The largest packing plant in the world is not in Chicago or Omaha. It's in Argentina—near Buenos Aires—where they slaughter 5,000 sheep and 3,500 cows every day.

"The richest oil fields in the hemisphere—outside the United States—are in Venezuela. One state in the Republic of Colombia has 500 gold mines in operation. Chile is the second copper-producing country in the world. One-half of all the tin ore in existence is piled up in the Andean plateau of Bolivia. The oldest university in the new world is not in the United States. It's the University of San Marcos, in Lima, Peru, founded a hundred years before Harvard."

Then Tomlinson will point out that only two cities in the United States are larger than Buenos Aires, and only three are larger than Rio de Janeiro—that there are 90 million people on the continent of South America. As to population, South America enjoys the largest net increase in the last twenty-five years of any continent in the world.

"WE need to get over any thought that these countries are made up of only Indians and easy-going Spanish and Portuguese," he says, with quiet conviction. "The George Washington of Chile was an Irishman. The Chilean John Paul Jones was a Scotsman. The present president is of Italian stock. Half the population of Argentina has Italian blood in its veins. The names of a few of the oldest and most aristocratic families in Argentina will amuse you. They are the Dugans, the Kellys, the Nelsons, the Harringtons and the Cavanaugh's.

"In the Portuguese-speaking country of Brazil, the Rockefeller of the country was born in Italy. The Vanderbilts are of French descent. One of its great bankers is Senhor Whitaker, whose grandparents were born in England. And I've never heard him speak a word of English.

"We need to remember that not all of the historic and cultural treasures of Europe are in Europe. The old Royal Art Gallery of Portugal in its entirety is in Rio, and so is the Royal Library—brought over when the King of Portugal fled from the advance of Napoleon. And if you think the upper classes of the people are provincial, go to the movie palaces in Buenos Aires or Rio or any other large city. Nine-long fight against juvenile delinquency. She is Judge Camille Kelly, chief officer of the juvenile court of Memphis, Tennessee, known as "Dixie's Mother Confessor." Of the 36,000 behavior cases brought before Judge Kelly, 85 percent have gone on to lead normal lives. Judge Kelly's method is simple. "I spare the rod," she says, "talk baseball to the boys and gossip about clothes with wayward girls."

Magic Key

Irene Wicker, NBC's well-loved "Singing Lady," will join the Magic Key broadcast via short wave from London on Sunday, September 4 at 2 p.m. EDT, headlining a star-studded program. Pauline Lord, brilliant actress, and Marion Telva, American-born Metropolitan Opera contralto, will be on the air with Miss Wicker, as will Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra, with Jack Leonard and Edythe Wright. Clifton Fadiman, literary critic of the New Yorker magazine and referee of the popular NBC quiz program, "Information, Please," is scheduled to appear, and of course Dr. Frank Black will bring the Magic Key orchestra to the microphone. Miss Wicker will present the legend "Beethoven and Anna," which describes in dialog between the great composer and a little girl the origin of the famous "Moonlight Sonata." Miss Lord, whose last air appearance was made in the leading role of the Pulitzer Prize play, "They Knew What They Wanted," a part she created on Broadway, will be presented in a highly dramatic character sketch entitled "The Clod," built around an episode of the Civil War.

Yesterday's Dances

The blistering pace of life today is reflected in everything we do, even in our recreations and amusements. Indeed, nowhere does it show so clearly. Fast automobiles, fast music, the movies, the radio—today's amusements are keyed to mile-a-minute pitch. Even dancing, that once so genteel pastime, has undergone great changes. Some students of the dance declare that few things are so revealing of a civilization's path, and if that's the case, the world today is spinning like a whirling dervish. Dances like the "Shag," the "Big Apple," the "Lambeth Walk," are full of the restless excitement of the times. For many of us, they are a little bit too exciting, and it's a relief, often, to look back to the days when the graceful, slow-tempoed waltz was the standard by which all dances were judged. For that soothing backward glance, dial in "Waltz Time" on Friday, September 9, 9 p.m. EDT, NBC.

An Irishman Speaks

Vitally important today are the young people of the world. Their thoughts, their philosophies, their reactions to the turmoil that surges around them are more significant than ever before, and they are being studied more closely than ever before. The mass regimentation of the youth of Germany, Italy, Russia, for instance, is a phenomenon that may have the profoundest bearing on the political and economic future of the race. For we live in a changing world, and it is youth, and youth alone, that can make those changes permanent, for good or ill. Much of Europe today turns eyes to America for guidance and for hope, and European observers are deeply interested in American youth. On Sunday, September 4, a former commentator for the radio station of the Irish Free State, in the United States for the World Youth Congress, will give his views on American youth in a talk over CBS at 1:30 p.m. EDT. He is James R. Heavey, a barrister, and he'll speak on "An Irishman Looks at American Youth."

Dixie's Mother Confessor

Because of the influence of such plays as "Dead End," and because of the emphasis on social welfare characteristic of the Roosevelt administration, Americans have become acutely conscious of the problems of juvenile delinquency during the past few years. On the "It Can Be Done" broadcast at 10:30 p.m. on Wednesday, September 7, Americans will have an opportunity to hear about the life of a woman who has won a tremendous success in a Round" program. Gay songs, bright music, gay, scintillating pace—that's "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round," on the air Sunday, September 4, at 9 p.m. EDT.

Streamliners

Two industrial designers, most famous of the growing group of artists who are working to make practical things, from trains to alarm-clocks, more useful by adapting their style to the purpose for which they will be used, will appear on the "Americans at Work" program at 10:30 p.m. on Thursday, September 8, to tell about their jobs. They are Henry Dreyfuss, designer of the new "20th Century Limited," and of the Democity, which will be exhibited in the Perisphere of the New York World's Fair, and Walter Dorwin Teague, who is designing the buildings and exhibits for five of the largest World's Fair exhibitions. In addition to his larger work, Dreyfuss has designed articles ranging from alarm-clocks to washing-machines—including fly-swatters! The purposes of industrial design and its tremendous advances in recent years will be thoroughly gone into during the broadcast. Dial Columbia.

Fibber and Molly Return

Jim and Marian Jordan—Fibber and Molly McGee to the millions of radio listeners—will bring Donald Novis, famous lyric tenor, with them when they return to the air on Tuesday, September 6. Fibber and Molly have just returned from a summer of fishing, boating and golf, climaxed by a trip to Yellowstone National Park. Molly, forced by illness to leave the air last season, has entirely recovered, is her old self again. Donald Novis, now the latest addition to the personnel of the Fibber McGee company, came to radio prominence when he won a national audition in 1928, has starred on the air and in films since. The program goes on the air at 9:30 p.m. EDT over NBC.

Preview

Norma Shearer, long a ranking member of filmdom's nobility, will come before the "Good News" program microphone on Thursday, September 8, with a preview of the soon-to-be-released historical film, "Marie Antoinette." It will be Miss Shearer's first radio appearance. Also featured on the program will be a star-studded supporting cast headed by Fannie Brice, with Hanley Stafford, Frank Morgan and Judy Garland. Robert Young will again serve as master of ceremonies, with Meredith Willson's orchestra providing the music. "Marie Antoinette," the tragic and beautiful story of the great French queen, is reported to be one of the most lavish and spectacular productions to come out of Hollywood in recent years. In the film, Tyrone Power co-stars with Miss Shearer. "Good News" will be on at 9 p.m. EDT on Thursday.

Antarctic

The fascination of the far places of the world holds some men in a never-relaxing grip. There are adventurers and explorers who so love the hot desert wastes that they can be happy nowhere else. There are men who have vowed they will not be content until they have climbed to the peak of every one of the world's great mountains. Greatest and most compelling fascination of all, however, say men who should know, is that of the vast and barren ice-lands at both ends of the world's axis: the North and South Poles. Hardship and suffering are the certain lot of everyone who ventures past the Arctic or the Antarctic Circles, yet there are many who have faced death in those regions again and again, cheerfully and joyously. Particularly interesting to most explorers today is the Antarctic, for it seems fairly well established now that it is a region rich in mineral wealth. Radio listeners can hear more about it on Monday, September 5, on the "New Horizons" program, aired over Columbia at 5:45 p.m. EDT.

Dark Angel

A radio dramatization of the famous play, "Dark Angel," will mark the return to the air, on Friday, September 9, of the Hollywood Hotel program. Herbert Marshall, who played the leading role in the memorable screen version of the play, and Claudette Colbert, versatile screen and radio star, will put "Dark Angel" on the air. A deeply moving story, "Dark Angel" begins its dramatic action in wartime England, builds to a climax of tremendous force. The musical portion of the program will feature Frances Langford, Jean Sablon, and Victor Young's orchestra. Ken Niles returns as announcer. The time, 9 p.m. EDT, CBS.

Baron and Lady

The shadows that stalk through life behind and beside the people who make them, like shadows upon the wall, often point the true meaning of existence. That's the theme of the original play, "The Baron and the Lady," to be presented by the National Broadcasting Company on Saturday, September 10, at 8:30 p.m. EDT. Concerned with three characters, "The Baron and the Lady" is set in a diner on New York's East Side. Miss Bonnevierre Arnaud is the author.

Davis Cup

Highest honor in the tennis world is the coveted Davis Cup. Last year, for the first time in a decade, the United States won the Davis tournament, and in consequence America this summer is playing host to the stars of the tennis world. The best tennis players swinging rackets today will be at the Germantown Cricket Club, at Philadelphia, on Sunday, September 4, when Ted Husing takes the microphone to describe the play for the Columbia Broadcasting System. The Australian team, winner of the elimination contests, will face America, and the first match to be put on the air will bring together Budge and Mako, top-ranking U. S. stars, and Quist and Bromwich of Australia. The time: 3 p.m. EDT.

Century's Echo

A hundred years ago or more, when life was a slower and a simpler matter, the ladies and gentlemen of the great courts of Europe played upon a small, piano-like instrument called the harpsichord, sang with it, danced to it, listened to concerts performed upon it by the masters of the period. But time moved inexorably along, as time has a way of doing, and the pianoforte, or piano as we know it today, gradually pushed the harpsichord out of the musical picture. A pity, too, for the harpsichord had a peculiar delicacy of tone that the piano cannot duplicate, for all its sonorous majesty. The harpsichord was in reality a harp played from a keyboard. Sound is produced on a piano through the blows of felt-covered hammers upon taut wires; in the harpsichord, notched quills are brought against the wires and then snapped away, producing a tinkling, harp-like tone. Although the harpsichord is uncommon today, there are still men who make the instruments, lavishing great skill upon them, and there are still men, and women, to play them. One of the best of the contemporary harpsichordists is Ernst Victor Wolff. He'll be on the "Keyboard Concerts" program Thursday, September 8, at 5 p.m. EDT over CBS.

King of Jazz

Paul Whiteman might be just another viola player today except for the fact that the advent of jazz music caught him at just the proper stage in his career. Whiteman was twenty years old, first viola in the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, when the hot, fast music typical of the post-war era began to sweep the land. Something in it stirred Paul Whiteman, and he forsook the classics to follow in the footsteps of the great "hot" musicians—and, eventually, to take his place beside them. For Paul Whiteman was, and is, "The King of Jazz." The word "jazz" isn't much used today. "Swing" is the term we know. But the meaning is the same, the music is the same, and Paul Whiteman must still be acknowledged the dean of modern American music. Other orchestra lead-

Death Valley

If a man had understood one simple word, the history of the United States might have been entirely different. The incident which so nearly changed the course of this nation is the Old Ranger's story for the "Death Valley Days" program this Friday, September 9, at 9:30 p.m. EDT, over the NBC network. The word "batea" is the one upon which the story hinges. Had John Bidwell realized exactly what his Mexican workman, Pablo Gutierrez, meant by "batea," gold would have been discovered in California four years before it finally was found. Pablo, after an unexcused absence from Bidwell's ranch, tried to explain matters by saying that he had found gold in the Sierra Nevadas, far up the Bear River. He took his employer there explaining that he recognized the presence of gold because of previous mining experience. He could separate the precious dust from the black sand, he said, if only he had a "batea." Bidwell mistakenly decided that a "batea" was a very special, exclusively Mexican instrument. Extremely busy, he swore Pablo to secrecy until he might have time to go and get one. Then the Mexican War broke out, Pablo was killed in it, and Bidwell did not discover what a "batea" actually was until after James Marshall had improvised one to precipitate the historic gold rush of '49.

Mud Cats

Most big-league baseball players aren't noted for the possession of other talents. Exceptions, however, are "Pepper" Martin and a few other choice spirits of the St. Louis Cardinals. Martin several years ago organized a group of his fellows into an orchestra, featuring such instruments as washboards, harmonicas, and molasses-jugs. Now, however, evidently sensitive to the onrush of the coming theatrical season, Martin and his "Mud Cats" have blossomed into a new field: they have become actors. On Monday, September 5, directly from the famous Billy Bryant showboat, tied up on the banks of the Ohio River at Cincinnati, the "Mud Cats" will broadcast their own peculiar version of a Wild West drama. The time, 11:30 p.m. EDT. The network, Mutual.

Jump Race

The Foxcatcher National Cup Steeplechase, the greatest jumping race of the season, run annually at Fair Hill, Maryland, will be put on the air by Clem McCarthy and Chris Wood, Jr., Friday and Saturday, September 9 and 10, over the National Broadcasting Company network. The first broadcast, on Friday at 7:45 p.m. EDT, will feature interviews of notables in racing at the Hotel duPont in Wilmington, Delaware, by Wood. The second program, on Saturday at 4:45 p.m. EDT, will carry a full description of the race itself by McCarthy and Wood. The Foxcatcher, with a purse of $6,700, is the richest U. S. steeplechase and automatically qualifies the winner for the English Grand National at Aintree, greatest jumping event of them all. It is run over a three-mile course.

'Roundabout

Gayest city in America, most well-traveled people hold, is New York. To students of American life, New York is the epitome of everything our national life stands for. Anything can happen in New York. Almost anything can be found in New York, from stores dealing in powdered unicorn's horn and similar exotic medicines to dentists who specialize in caring for the teeth of lions and tigers! Twenty-four hours a day, New York spins madly on a shining axis, like a great, glittering merry-go-round. Accurately reflecting the zestful glamour of the great city is the NBC "Manhattan Merry-Go-

FRANZ LISZT

BY

LEONARD LIEBLING

Franz Liszt, giant among musicians and perhaps the greatest pianist the world has ever known, took holy orders, wore priestly garb toward the end of his life

As a young man, Liszt was so handsome, his charm so great, that women fought for his love

As the winter season of broadcasting draws near, listeners everywhere anticipate with appreciation the fine music radio will offer again in broadcast concerts, operas and recitals. The editors of RADIO GUIDE, realizing that understanding immeasurably enhances every listener's enjoyment of classical music, feel for that reason that a series of profiles of Musical Giants is particularly timely at this moment. Prepared by Mr. Leonard Lieblich, eminent editor of the Musical Courier and music editor of RADIO GUIDE, these brief bio-ographies reveal characters whose writings are as significant today as when they were created. In early issues look for stories of Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin and other Musical Giants.—Ed.

IN A world that acclaims a Corigan, a Howard Hughes, a Robert Taylor, a Benny Goodman, it is hard to realize that there once existed a man who, because of the pure magic he evoked from a piano, far surpassed them as an international idol. He flashed across the world like the comet that glowed, bright and meaningful, over the Liszt home in Raiding, Hungary, the night he was born. But, unlike the comet, he left behind him, in the music he composed, a reflection which was never to fade.

Liszt's father was a steward on the estate of Prince Esterhazy, high Hungarian nobleman and patron of Haydn, and when Franz was born in 1811 his father saw in him the realization of his own frustrated dream to be a musician. Franz was a beautiful boy, tall and slim, with delicately chiseled features, sensitive mouth, long blond hair, and deep, flashing blue eyes. His dazzling good looks were later to be the despair of women and earn him the title of "the great lover" of Europe.

He started composing even before he could read or write. His father saw that he received the best musical training available, and his mother instilled in him his deeply felt Catholicism, which, although in early manhood he temporarily deserted for radical philosophies, nevertheless was always the abiding influence in his life and eventually caused him to take holy orders. While yet a little boy, he roamed the Hungarian countryside, watched the colorful peasant life, listened to the romantic Gypsy music. These sights and sounds he later incorporated in his immortal Hungarian Rhapsodies, which even today spell Hungary for us more than any other music that has come from there.

AT ELEVEN he was already a sensation in Vienna, had been kissed by the great Beethoven, who was deeply moved on hearing him play. There followed years of touring Europe as a child prodigy, until the father died, when, grown into a brilliant, extraordinarily attractive young man, Franz brought his mother to Paris and made it his residence. The glamorous capital, already filled with a gathering of geniuses such as the world has seldom seen at any one time, nevertheless gave Liszt top place, recognizing his flashing eminence, and soon he was its veritable darling. When he passed on the street, people turned to stare at the radiant face and figure. Even cabbies tipped their hats to him. He was to everyone "le petit Litz" (the French never learned to pronounce his name right). Every door was open to him. He was the first musician to force fashionable society to recognize musicians as social equals. He dined at princely and even royal tables and dominated the conversations, what with his culture (he spoke many languages), wit and personality.

Many persons have tried to describe

Liszt's playing. It is generally admitted that nothing like it has ever been heard. It transcended anything before or since. He laid a spell on his listeners, and no one who heard him could ever forget the experience.

Although he had love-affairs with countless women (including the famous Lola Montez), the two real romances of his life were with the Countess d'Agoult, querulous, demanding, but a keenly intelligent French writer, who bore him three children, one of whom later married Richard Wagner; and with the Princess Wittgenstein, Russian mystic, with whom he lived until almost the end of his life.

Unselfish service toward others was the keynote of Liszt's existence. Always generous, he became even more so toward middle age. He was only thirty-six when he decided never again to play for his own benefit. Thereafter he appeared only for charity, and the gold that rained in upon him was used for others. In 1849 he accepted a post as conductor of the Court Theater of Weimar, Germany, with the idea of helping unknown composers gain recognition. For years he suffered the complaints and ingratitude of Wagner, lending him money, performing his works when they were ridiculed elsewhere, aiding him in every way. Other composers who benefitted from his generous support and encouragement were Grieg, Cornelius, Dvorak, Tschaiakowsky and Brahms.

IN HIS music, Liszt was the innovator. He invented the symphonic poem. He was the first to transcribe the Schubert songs for the piano, playing them in public and creating their subsequent popularity. He was the first to give one-man piano recitals and play from memory. Due to his sonorous climaxes and the dramatic intensity of his tone, the tinkling pianos of Liszt's earlier years were useless to him, and manufacturers vied with one another to create an instrument which resulted in the concert-grand piano as we know it today. At Liszt's concerts, pianos were kept in reserve, and it is said that people felt cheated if he did not break at least one string during a recital.

Of his over twelve hundred compositions, Liszt's piano music was the most successful of its day, especially the Hungarian Rhapsodies, and the "Liebestraum" (Love's Dream). Time and change of taste took their inevitable toll, and while the Rhapsodies have lost some of their vogue, the "Liebestraum" and the E Flat Piano Concerto, striking examples of the romanticism and brilliance characterizing all of Liszt's music, are going as strong as ever.

In 1879, Liszt took the vows of the four minor orders of the Catholic Church, which did not, however, make him a priest. His title of Abbe was purely honorary, but for years he had already adopted priestly robes, and with his long hair, turned pure white, was a distinguished figure.

During the last years of his life he taught. Nearly all the famous pianists of the last generation studied with him. His lessons were entirely gratuitous, and he even had a sly habit of slipping purses filled with gold pieces to his needy pupils.

LISZT died in Bayreuth, Germany, in 1886, attending the festival of the works of his lifelong friend, protege and son-in-law, Richard Wagner. The streets of the town were filled with throngs that attended the funeral, and all over the world he and Wagner (who had died three years before) were mourned as the leading musical influences of the nineteenth century.

From 1869 to 1886, Franz Liszt lived in this house at Weimar, the town that was to become world-famous as a center of German intellectual life. Liszt greatly encouraged and aided Richard Wagner

The women in Franz Liszt's life were many, but perhaps most important of all to him was the Countess Carolyn Sayn-Wittgenstein

Commemorating the great composer is this memorial chapel, built on a garden-spot in the municipal cemetery at Bayreuth

STRING-QUARTET playing has peculiar appeal on Sunday mornings, when one's spirit especially attunes itself to elevated contemplation.

However, this program of the Stradivarius four asks no deep reflectiveness, but rather invites moods buoyant and altogether pleasurable. Father Haydn starts the melodious procession with tripping measures and a slow movement that has no tragic import. Jan Peerce's compelling tenor ministrations are dedicated to the easily understood lyrical pages by a gifted Englishman.

It is significant that before he began to write his first quartets in 1842, Schumann studied those of Haydn and Mozart. In a few months he completed three works in that classical form, dedicated them to Mendelssohn and won the latter's sincere admiration—a fact to be remembered by those musical hecklers who belittle the constructive talents of Schumann.

Cash for Bel Canto

L AURITZ MELCHIOR, the world's best Tristan, makes his 1938-39 American re-entry with an appearance on the Lucky Strike Hit Parade Saturday, September 10, at 10 p.m. EDT on CBS, and it will be good to hear the Danish tenor's heart-warming tones again over the air. He usually begins his season early and ends it late, for with his herculean stature, powerful voice and unabated musical enthusiasm, he seems to have indestructible capacity for performance.

Radio, with its fat fees for name values, is coming to be more and more important to Metropolitan Opera stars. The season there is comparatively short and the salaries (since 1929) are not what they used to be. The concert business requires irksome traveling and frequent acquisition of new repertoire. Radio, demanding only a few minutes of singing from a soloist, is to the famed vocalists as the very apples of their eyes. They keep on with opera and concert chiefly to maintain the glamour that will bring large checks from broadcast sponsors. Art for art's sake, you say? Surely yes; but it is no crime to make it pay well in these days of intensive commercialism.

Clustered Delights

Continuous protest is in place regarding the way the broadcasters crowd most of the good music into a few days of the week, chiefly on Saturdays, Sundays and Mondays. Why could not the presentations be spread over the entire seven days? It is not too much to ask for at least one first-class solo recital and one first-class symphonic concert every twenty-four hours. There would still remain enough time for hundreds of dance bands, crooners, torch-singers and hillbilly virtuosi to work their charm upon the legions of the devoted jazzists and jitterbugs. Might not some reform be effected this winter to please radio followers with gentler inclinations and more subtle ears?

The Decline of Hair

An unmusical friend, describing a certain classical radio concert to me, said: "It was the kind of program long-haired musicians swoon at." I haven't met that sort for many a year. The modern musician is a self-contained person who takes his tonal ecstasies rationally, and if he has hair at all, its coiffure resembles that of any respectable banker or railroad president. Rachmaninoff and Hofmann, for instance, have such close-cropped hirsute tops that any prison-keeper would eye them suspiciously as possible refugees from prison cells.

than on the more profound masterworks.

Tschaikowsky's glowing "Marche Slave" has become hackneyed of late years, but still remains one of the more exciting of his compositions. It was written during the war between Turkey and Serbia and was first played in 1876 at a benefit concert for the wounded. The opening theme is somewhat melancholy, but soon one hears fanfares of trumpets, a few bars of the old Russian national anthem—one of the most beautiful of all patriotic hymns—and a brilliantly effective climax.

Grieg's "March of the Dwarfs" is quite different in character. It is the fourth movement of his lyric suite, composed originally for piano. It bears a great resemblance to "Hall of the Mountain King," which ends the first "Peer Gynt" suite but gives a more Puckish impression of the gnome-like little men marching solemnly and unsteadily.

Liebesslieder Walzer Op. 50

Quartet Op. 10 (Debussy) (Arranged

Aus Holberg's Zeit (Grieg)

BRAHMS' most unbending and gracious moments sound in his beautiful "Liebesslieder Walzer" (Love Waltzes), echoes of a gay Vienna that is no more. He shows his constructive skill, too, in the resourcefulness with which he varies his treatment of the three-quarter rhythm.

Debussy's quartet is the only one he wrote, possibly feeling that he could not improve upon it, for the opus seems to be the last word in poetical impressionism and suggestive tinting. You will not find its abbreviated melodies jumping easily into the ear, but they are there and must grow upon you, as they do in the same composer's unique opera, "Pelleas and Melisande." Frank Black's arrangement for string orchestra is made with rare taste and retains the essential Debussy qualities in style and fancy. The Black amplification may make them seem not so elusive for listeners new to the less familiar music by the late French master.

"From Holberg's Time" was originally composed by Grieg as an orchestral suite, but he later transcribed it for piano and then for string orchestra, on the two-hundredth anniversary (1884) of the death of Holberg. The suite is also to be played this week on the "Symphonic Strings" program conducted by Alfred Wallenstein.

MODESTE MOUSSORGSKY (1835-1881), of good family, was, musically speaking, a true son of Russian soil, for in peasant life and feeling he found his chief inspiration. In present-day America he should be a hero of the proletariat, for he held strong democratic and utilitarian beliefs, and felt intense compassion for "the humiliated and offended."

His musical education is generally thought to have been incomplete, but he made some thorough studies with Balakireff. All the Moussorgsky works show elementary strength, intimate knowledge of folk idiom and some disregard for the finer subtleties in composition.

Based on a narrative by Gogol, "The Fair" tells a story truly Russian, with a plot of lowly romance, primitive intrigue, rough humor, cupidity and magic. The music adorns the tale with fidelity and descriptive power.

This afternoon's conductor is Josef Blatt, a recent refugee from Austria, who was lucky enough to secure an important assignment quickly in obliging America.

EXOTICISM, at least in titles, forms the keynote of this unusual musical pageant. I make the reservation because all the examples have European and American composers lacking in intimate Chinese feeling and thought.

Native Chinese music dates back to the dim mists of ancient time and was cultivated seriously as an art at the royal court and in the palaces of the mandarins. Nevertheless its simple scales and tunes never enjoyed the development achieved by the Occident with its own early primitive scales and tunes.

Ravel comes closest to reproducing authentic Chinese expression in tone, but even he could not refrain from enriching it with his own luscious harmonies and glittering orchestration.

Mr. Bay could well have included some of Henry Eiccheim's compositions, written after lengthy residence and close study in the land of Confucius, himself learned in the music of his day.

Lotte Lehmann Returns as Kraft Music Hall Guest

Kraft Music Hall, Thursday, Sept. 8, at 10 p.m. EDT on NBC

WITH the reappearance of Lotte Lehmann as a broadcaster on the Kraft Music Hall, September 8, the autumnal-air season of good music may be said to be making an important start.

Mme. Lehmann's several years of activity in opera, concert and radio offered such outstanding merit that she has literally sung herself into the hearts of all music-loving Americans. Not only do her warmly colored voice and eloquent interpretations move her listeners, but they are stirred also by her kindling temperament, which puts pulsing life into every tone and every word she delivers. Mme. Lehmann gives all of herself all the time, particularly in certain feeling German songs, the sweeping dramatic Sieglinde in "Die Walkure" and the deep pathos of the Princess in "Der Rosenkavalier." However, such is this soprano's ultimate control that her singing never sounds strained and her ardent impersonations never degenerate into mere ranting. A true artist, she knows the capacities of her voice and emotional output, and no matter how much both are called upon there always is something in reserve as Mme. Lehmann mounts gloriously from climax to climax.

Recently arrived from Austria, Mme. Lehmann declared that her sensibilities rebelled at the restraints and discriminations practised under the new Nazi rule, and announced her intention to New York interviewers of never again returning to the land where once musicians practised their profession without political or racial let or hindrance.

Mme. Lehmann was accompanied by her three young stepsons, whom she literally smuggled out of Vienna to escape "regulation" because their mother's family has some ancient Hebraic strain. "I wish these boys to become citizens of America," she said, "a country where tolerance and freedom of thought and speech remain inalienable rights."

Many Americans surely wish that Mme. Lehmann, herself a German, might also become one of us.

Frank Black Features Programs for Strings

"String Symphonies," Monday, Sept. 5, at 9 p.m. EDT on NBC

BUSY and versatile Frank Black does nothing more artistically valuable than his annual series with the NBC String Symphony Orchestra, resumed last week for the pleasure of fastidious listeners.

He started the undertaking in 1933, with the object of bringing to renewed hearing the unfamiliar works of great composers written especially for an orchestra of stringed instruments. The Black ensemble numbers about thirty members, some of them also playing regularly in the renowned "Toscanini Orchestra" of the air.

From the beginning of his endeavor the conductor won the attention of serious auditors who had no other chance to hear some of the compositions on the Black broadcast. Thus they made the acquaintance of unfamiliar music by several of the Bach clan — Schoenberg, Bridge, Sibelius, Brahms, Mozart and others.

Devising works exclusively for string orchestra is an ancient practise, and many masters have shown how much variety in character and color they could achieve without employing the instruments of wind and percussion. Also, many of the best modern composers like the medium, perhaps as occasional relief from exercising in the bigger sonorities and more vivid hues of the regular orchestra. Bach, Handel, Brahms and Mozart, while they exploited the strings more successfully than their contemporaries, nevertheless had some highly worthy predecessors in Italy, Germany, England and France.

As an established follower of the Black concerts, I remember making initial acquaintance at his broadcasts with Sibelius' early "Rakastava" (The Lover) and Elgar's "Serenade" suite. In those works both composers display a lighter side, the usually gloomy Sibelius making his music frankly sentimental, and Elgar calling upon none of the solemnity which distinguishes his larger works nor the mysticism of his oratorio, "The Dream of Gerontius."

THE RADIO PLAYBILL

THIS WEEK — "WOMAN IN WHITE"

"THE WOMAN IN WHITE" has been on the air since January 3, 1938. Karen Adams, graduate nurse, is the central figure of the story. A modern-day Florence Nightingale, Karen has devoted her life to the service of others. Although faced with a problem of her own, her love for a man who has contracted an incurable disease, she nevertheless carries on unselfishly her ideals and philosophy. Another problem in Karen's life concerns her young sister, Betty, infatuated with a wealthy young man-about-town, Bob Banning. Betty's association with Banning has brought unhappiness into the lives of Aunt Helen and Uncle Bill Spalding, with whom Karen and her brother, John, make their home. Written by Irna Phillips, top-ranking radio author, "The Woman In White" is aired over NBC, Mondays through Fridays, 10:45 a.m. EDT.

KAREN ADAMS, played by Luise Barclay, is about 30 years old, understanding and sympathetic, yet, despite her long experience with people, she has a tendency to take herself and life itself too seriously. This attitude, unusual though it is in so young a woman, is understandable, because since the death of her parents many years ago Karen has more or less assumed the responsibility of bringing up her sister, Betty, and her brother, John. Her motto is: "I expect to pass through this life but once. If, therefore, there is any kindness I can show, or any good I can do to any fellow being, let me do it now—for I shall not pass this way again." To a nurse, whose daily life is a constant round of ministrations to the sick and unfortunate, such a philosophy is a fortress of strength; but to Karen it is more than merely an aid in her daily toil; it is a way of life; everything else in secondary

BETTY ADAMS is Karen's younger sister. She is 20, bright, cheerful, and affectionate. However, as is so often the case with young people, she is impatient of restraint, sure that she knows enough about life to manage her own affairs. Toni Gilman plays the role

JOHN ADAMS, played by Willard Farnum, is a gifted violinist. He is several years older than Karen. He has one ambition in life—to carve out a great musical career for himself. Despite frequent differences of opinion, he and Karen share a deep, undying love

ALICE DAY has been Karen's roommate and her closest friend during the years of training they both underwent in order to become nurses. She lives with Karen, at the Spaldings'. Her carefree attitude toward life is a factor in Karen's life. Ruth Bailey's role

ROY PALMER, a young Englishman who has worked with Bryant Chandler in India, plays an important role in "The Woman in White." To him, Bryant has confided that he will not marry Karen so long as he faces the prospect of a life of invalidism. Frank Behrens plays Palmer. Meanwhile, in India, SYBELLA MANSFIELD, a half-caste, attractive and intelligent, a friend of both Palmer and Chandler, waits for Bryant's return. She is in love with Bryant, but she knows of his love for Karen. Lois Zarley has the role of Sybilla Mansfield. Also important to the story is BOB BANNING, played by C. Henry Nathan. Banning is a wealthy young man-about-town who is currently paying much attention to Betty Adams. ROSEMARY HEMINGWAY, Betty's close friend, warns her against him. Genelle Gibbs plays Rosemary. THOMAS HAWKINS, wealthy and elderly eccentric, is characterized by Phil Lord.

NEXT WEEK

"ARNOLD GRIMM'S DAUGHTER"

AUNT HELEN SPALDING is played by Henrietta Tedro. Since the death of their own child, Aunt Helen and Uncle Bill Spalding have taken care of the orphaned Adams children. They consider the children as their very own

BRYANT CHANDLER, played by Dave Gothard, is deeply in love with Karen Adams. But for three and a half years he was in India, there he contracted incurable blackwater fever. Now in America, he wants to return to India

DR. LEE MARKHAM is an old friend of the Spalding family. He met Karen when she was in training, loves her, has great influence over her. Macdonald Carey plays the role

LATE last season, Kate Smith went on the air as a commentator. A sponsor liked her material and delivery, so starting October 4 Kate will be heard three times a week over the CBS network in a fifteen-minute news and commentary program. Ted Collins will do the announcing . . . Football fans can get all the dope on their favorite teams starting September 22, when Eddie Dooley begins his series for Chesterfield.

Loudspeaker eavesdroppers still write complaining about too many dramatic serials being on the air. Seems there is no relief in sight. As a matter of fact, a few new ones will be added to the schedules. "Houseboat Hannah" starts September 26 over NBC and will be on Mondays through Fridays. Another new one, "Life Can Be Beautiful," starts on Monday. This show is written by Don Becker and Carl L. Bixby. The former is known for his scripting of "The Life of Mary Sothorn," "Famous Jury Trials," "Smoke Dreams," and "Lilac Time." Bixby has written such programs as "Dangerous Paradise," "Big Sister," and several others.

There is talk of the "Johnny Presents" sponsor dropping the dramatization of news stories and replacing it with a comedy act. Understand Tim and Irene are being considered for the spot . . . Ben Bernie is auditioning for a new sponsor . . . Ditto Lanny Ross and Raymond Paige with a big orchestra and a mixed choir . . . While Burns and Allen do their broadcasts from New York, Paul Douglas will do the announcing. Whether he will go back to the Coast when the comics leave is not definite . . . There is a slight possibility of Bess Johnson becoming the voice of "Lady Esther" again when Guy Lombardo goes on the air for this sponsor from New York. Miss Johnson is the star of "Hilltop House," which originates in the big city . . . Al Goodman returns to the airlines next Saturday to conduct the "Hit Parade" orchestra, taking the baton from Carl Hoff . . . "Cheerio" has left San Francisco and is enroute to New York from where his future broadcasts will emanate . . . When Parks Johnson and Wally Butterworth start their new "Vox Pop" series on October 1, they plan to introduce a specially arranged interview on each broadcast with guests who have interesting stories to tell. Incidentally, after their final program of the current series on September 13, Parks and Wally will embark on a two-week vacation, which is the first they have had in almost seven years.

Behind the "seen" at a Paul Whiteman broadcast: Roy Bargy, Paul's pianist, conducts the orchestra while the maestro is at the microphone reading his lines. Before the program, Paul Douglas, in natty summer formal dress, makes a prebroadcast speech, then introduces Whiteman. The stage is dark except for the spotlight which is directed to the entrance on the right side. Paul fools both Douglas and the spotlight electrician by coming out from the darkened left side of the stage—much to the amusement of the audience. The expert harmony of the Modernaires is easy on the ears. Joan Edwards' singing and keyboard-tickling is also a hit. While Paul Douglas is introducing the songstress during the program, they stand on opposite sides of the mike and play peek-a-boo. After the program goes off the air, Whiteman and Douglas tell the onlookers, "You are the best audience we ever had." Don't tell anyone I told you, but they tell that to all the audiences.

At the Prof. Quiz program, Mrs. Quiz, who usually sits up on the stage during the program and keeps score, is conspicuous by her absence. She is spending the summer at Fire Island to escape the heat. The new Mrs. Bob Trout has taken her place as scorekeeper.

Before the "Hobby Lobby" program goes on the air, all female hobbyists are presented with flowers. After the show goes off the air the flowers are gathered by page-boys, who put them in a refrigerator. The flowers are brought back to the studio just before the repeat broadcast and presented to the ladies all over again. This time the flowers are theirs for keeps. So many people in the audience are anxious to see the hobbies of each participant in the program that each week a hobby exhibit is displayed on the stage after the program, with the hobbyist standing behind his own entry to answer questions.

During dress rehearsals of the Musical Klass and Dance, Announcer Ben Grauer takes the part of all six contestants. This is done to get an idea of the time it takes to ask and answer the questions. Incidentally, by the time you read this, Grauer will be on the way to Guatemala for his vacation. It's Ben's first boat trip and I'm wondering if he's going to admit he got seasick when he returns. I'll let you know.

Irene Beasley's "R. F. D. No. 1" is getting pretty popular with the listeners. Friday is meeting day in the studios and she plays hostess to quite a few people who come to New York just to attend the program and perhaps get on the air. Irene has a large map at home, and every time she receives a letter from a new town she sticks a pin in the spot on the map where the town is located.

Betty's husband is Raymond Johnson, popular radio actor . . . Anne Seymour burned her hand severely and has it wrapped up in bandages . . . Ray Hedge, the timid Clarence Tiffingtuffer of "Myrt and Marge," went fishing the other week, but didn't have much success. However, he's got a deep scar on one hand, the only memento of a deep-sea fishing expedition . . . Your worries never end when you have children. Bess Johnson's kid is away at a summer camp. The other Monday, Bess received a wire stating that her little daughter broke her ankle, and she couldn't go to see her until the following Saturday because of her five-a-week radio show . . . Almost at the same time, Gertrude Berg's offspring was sent home from camp with an infected ear, and little Walter Lewis fell out of his go-cart and bruised his face. Don't we mothers and fathers have the worries!

OBSAIRVATIONS: Only one new big radio name will appear on the fall schedules. He is Bob Benchley, who will star for a ciggy maker . . . Comparatively few femme singers of popular songs will grace the airwaves on sponsored shows. The names that come to mind are Kate Smith, Frances Langford, Virginia Verrill, Dorothy Lamour, Joan Edwards and Connie Boswell.

CREATING "LUM AND ABNER'S" CHARACTERS

Norris (Abner) Goff and Chester (Lum) Lauck always create new characters for their program on paper before attempting to put them on the air. Chester Lauck, once a professional cartoonist, sketches the figures as Goff looks on, offering suggestions and criticism. They play all the dozen or more characters on the show themselves

The sketches on this page were drawn especially for Radio Guide. Above: "Lum" (top), "Abner"

VITAL to the success of all entertainers is the make-up man—make-up artist would be a better phrase. For the days when a bit of crepe hair and a touch of grease-paint constituted a complete make-up job are long since past. Today the business of making up an actor is a highly organized, extremely complex one, and painstaking perfection is the only standard recognized. Probably the best make-up work done by radio stars is that of "Lum and Abner," who can add forty years to their appearance so deftly as to deceive almost anyone completely. On these pages Radio Guide shows how it's done. Working with the two radio comedians on make-up problems is Ray Sebastian, of the Westmore Salon in Hollywood. Ninety percent of all screen actors and actresses are made up by the Westmore staff. Regularly assigned to the 20th Century-Fox lot, Sebastian makes up Alice Faye, June Lang, Virginia Field, Phyllis Brooks, Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power. Charts detailing all make-ups are kept constantly up to date, so that necessary characterizations can be repeated. "Lum and Abner" return to the air Monday, Sept. 5, at 6:45 p.m. EDT.

The beginning of the transformation. Ray Sebastian paints age lines in "Lum's" face with a fine-pointed brush of camel's hair

Crow's-feet around the eyes are an important part of any make-up designed to show age. A special pencil is used to draw in the lines

Human hair—at $80 a pound—is used in all wigs, mustaches, and so forth. Attached to the face with gum, it's later trimmed down

Under Sebastian's skilful fingers, old age begins to creep up on "Abner," too. Note the shadow on the right cheek, used to give a "hollow" appearance. Careful darkening of the chin adds years to the mouth

New eyebrows for "Abner." As is the case with all "extra" hair used in make-up, the eyebrows are made much larger than is necessary, and then trimmed down. A liquid solvent—acetone—is used to remove them

Finished! "Lum and Abner" completely made up. No detail has been overlooked. Notice the old-fashioned styling of the actors' clothes. Many radio actors insist that "dressing" the part helps to play it

"The Ghost of Ben Sweet" is not a serial; every broadcast is a complete story. Some characters are on every program, however—among them Ben's ghost (above, right), played by Karl Swenson, and one of his friends, the ghost of Theobald Tubbs, played by Ed Latimer. They are friendly spooks—Robin Hoods of the Other World, working with their supernatural powers

A REMARKABLE GHOST SAVES A ROMANCE

"THE GHOST OF BENJAMIN SWEET" suggests his own stories, say Pauline Gibson and Fred Gilsdorf, who write the adventures of the amiable air spook who is heard Sundays on CBS at 10 p.m. EDT. Idea of the unique program was conceived by the authors—husband and wife—when they began wishing that some benevolent spirit existed who could patch up troubles and right injustices of all kinds. One day in their own imaginings, Benjamin Sweet came alive! After getting to know the good-hearted ghost, they decided everyone should know him, and put him on the air! Anyway, Ben Sweet serves each week as benefactor of some worthy and makes swell listening-in so doing. Pictures on this and facing page show what Ben will be up to when he's on the air Sunday night of this week to continue his intriguing adventures.

Exclusive Photographs by Gene Lester

Mortimer, the Rocky Mountain Ghost, attends the same ghost meetings Sweet does, "haunts" people only when purposes are worthy

In this week's program the ghosts see Josiah Clump kick William, who loves his daughter Gloria, off his porch. They decide to intervene

Sweet and Tubbs reveal themselves to William, who shows them what he's up against (above). The ghosts try to reason with Clump, to no avail

Clump, defiant, refuses to deal with them, so the ghosts have a meeting in the headquarters graveyard. They decide to picket Clump's house

The ghosts create a terrific commotion by alternately appearing and becoming invisible, making noises. Neighbors call police and firemen Distraught, Clump asks for a conference with the spectral pickets, finally approves the romance. These ghosts will work this week!

WHILE Jack and Mary Benny rest, Don Ameche and Dot Lamour compare appendix-removal notes, and Edgar Bergen and his Charlie gallop around the Southwest and Midwest to harvest a few extra grandiolas, one of the main sports of the momentarily not-so-overworked NBC folk here has been to take sneak previews into their new studios at Sunset and Vine, there to absorb with keen anticipation the new and fancy layout into which the National Broadcasting Company hopes to move October 1. But since low-rate tourist fares west will have been laid away in mothballs by that time, perhaps a few dial customers would like to join in the procession and take a free peek through the eyes of their Hollywood correspondent.

The ultra-modern structure, for the most part two stories in height, extends over a block on the north side of Sunset and a half-block north along Vine. A cool, tropical atmosphere is wafted in its vicinity by its triple-toned paint job done in three delicate shades of green—N of Nile, B for beryl, and C for chartreuse.

At the main corner entrance (there are scads of doors just to befuddle celebrity-stalkers), one enters a two-story foyer commanded by a mammoth clock dial and, directly opposing, an Ed Trumbull mural of heroic proportions with the broadcasting business as its motif. Facing the corner entrance is a master control-room. You believe, at first look, that you can reach right through the opening and touch the engineers at work—only you can't. The "invisible glass" won't let you. Yes, the opening will be glazed with this new development, which the inventor explains as reflection-proof because of its "wave" construction and the black plush "ray trap" at floor level.

Next neat trick to non-plus visitors is the exterior illumination, which will bring out a person's natural flesh colors truly. They call it zeon lighting—a development of the neon principle. The tubing, coated inside with certain chemicals, glows softly in red, yellow-green and blue shades to produce a blended magenta effect. Folk passing by the new NBC studios are guaranteed to have the appearance of healthy complexions, regardless of the years they've lived in Hollywood.

Pure air, made so by last-word air-conditioning equipment, will be fed to all offices and studios, but what happens to it after delivery to some of the comedians remains to be seen. Studio tourists won't see the 65,000-gallon basement air "swimming-pool," but it's there, just the same. The big concrete tank is for the exclusive use of air particles that wish to bathe—and pretty actresses and songbirds who want to don bathing-suits and pose for publicity cameramen. The air ducts, incidentally, are fitted with complicated echo-traps so that sounds from one auditorium cannot travel to another.

All the offices are finished in acoustically treated plaster to eliminate nervous strain from undue noise. This feature, however, cannot diminish the headaches that many NBC executives will suffer when a broadcast or an artist goes sour.

As for the auditorium studios, more attention is being paid to making their working platforms large than to increasing audience seating capacity. Studios A and D have 3,000 square feet of space on their stages. That's enough room to accommodate 1,500 people uncomfortably. Studios B and C have platforms two-thirds as large, and each of the four auditoriums will seat 350 customers who deal in the advertised products, who boast an Aunt Tillie or Uncle Gus who knows the right people, or who are otherwise shrewd enough to wangle cherished tickets.

HOLLYWOOD SHOWDOWN

BY EVANS PLUMMER

The Barbour's are packing slacks and bathing-suits to go Hollywood once more. Starting Wednesday, September 7, they'll purvey the doings of "One Man's Family" from Cinema City. Author Carleton Morse and troupe leave San Francisco after the August 31 airing and will motor-caravan south with everyone but "Fanny," for Minetta Ellen prefers wings and, as usual, will fly. Eager to get back to southern California and their newly built home are Page (Jack) Gilman and his young wife. Her wealthy husband, Rawson Holmes, and their young son, Garrick, will accompany Kathleen (Claudia) Wilson. Another Barbour-ette will live in Hollywood this winter; "B. B.," who is Bernice Berwin's little son, will accompany his mother, "Hazel." Heretofore, B. B., whose real name is Berwin Brooks Berlin, has lived in San Francisco with his handsome attorney father, Brooks Berlin, while mother commuted weekly between work and family. However, the travel cost her too much weight, so now it's Daddy's turn to turn commuter. Waiting to greet her radio friends is Jean (Betty Carter) Rouverol who is now busy on the RKO-Radio Pictures lot playing a part in "Annabelle Takes a Tour."

Jack Benny and Don Ameche stealthily left Hollywood together on the night of August 22, destination unannounced, but for the next ten days you'll find them fishing at June Lake in the Sierras.

KFI, Los Angeles, is blazing new radio trails. Following the station's recent radical airing of the birth of a baby, last week General Manager Harrison Holliday, who doesn't believe in taking his ether tabus too seriously, broadcast the sex problems of young-girl delinquents. Carried in the station's "Parents on Trial" series, the story was taken from juvenile court records and told of a thirteen-year-old girl whose home life had permitted her to drift and who later returned home ill. Following the dramatized case, a concluding discussion skilfully warned of venereal disease problems among adolescents . . . Many listeners will rebel at airing "tabu" subjects; yet why shouldn't the radio begin its educational work at the bottom—where life and health are concerned?

Tag Lines: Bob Montgomery and Robert Young recently had a "formal" opening of their sideline Bel-Air riding academy . . . Virginia Verrill will rejoin Jack Haley and Ted Fio-Ritto when their program resumes October 14 . . . Eddie Cantor's "Mad Russian," Bert Gordon, has opened a Hollywood Cafe . . . Loretta Lee has gone on to Broadway for a musical play to open there this fall.

DAVE RUBINOFF FIGHTS FOR HIS LIFE

On May 6, Dave Rubinoff, famous radio violinist, was stricken with appendicitis. Complications followed, and for long he was near death. But today, at Harper Hospital in Detroit, he is rapidly convalescing

The appalling effects of Rubinoff's four-month illness are startlingly apparent when this photograph, taken shortly before he became sick, is contrasted with the one above. But he'll soon be back on the air!

DAVE RUBINOFF'S hasn't been an easy life. From the very beginning of his career, when, as a youngster not yet in his teens, he played the balalaika for thrown coins in the streets of his native Grodno, Russia, Dave Rubinoff has had to fight for success, and every one of his triumphs as a musician has been hard-earned. They have been great triumphs—on August 6, 1937, for instance, Rubinoff played in Chicago before 225,000 people, the largest audience ever assembled to hear a musician!—but the price has been paid in endless struggle.

Today David Rubinoff is ending the hardest fight of his life, and he is emerging from it with his greatest triumph. For four months, Rubinoff has been fighting for his life, fighting desperately, against appalling odds. And he has won!

In May of this year, Rubinoff was on a concert tour. On May 6, his itinerary took him to Battle Creek, Michigan, and there, suddenly, without warning, he was stricken with acute appendicitis. An operation was ordered. No one was particularly worried, least of all Rubinoff himself. After all, an appendectomy is usually a very simple matter today. A quick and easy operation, ten days in the hospital—that's about all there is to it.

But in Rubinoff's case, time took a hand. In spite of the haste with which he was hurried to the operating table, in spite of the skill of the best surgeons available, the swollen appendix burst. That meant just one thing: peritonitis! But even peritonitis, serious as it is, is not hopeless. Rubinoff's physicians anticipated bringing it under control without much trouble. They would soon have him on the road to recovery. But they were wrong. Four long months were to pass before Rubinoff set his feet on the road to health again, four operations, and four blood transfusions! But through the terrible siege, surely enough to daunt the soul of lesser men, the fire that has always burned in Rubinoff blazed on. He never lost courage, never gave up. His illness drained him of all strength, cost him sixty pounds in weight. Suffering intense pain, semi-conscious much of the time, he still fought on.

TODAY, in Harper Hospital in Detroit, Dave Rubinoff can see victory shining just ahead. In two weeks, the doctors have said, he may be able to go home. Home! The word means much to Rubinoff, who has wondered so often during these last four months whether or not he would ever be home again.

And his violin? Will Rubinoff play again? Certainly, and at the very first opportunity. But it will be a long, long time before those hands, once brown and strong, now thin and so white as to be almost transparent, will be able to handle the Stradivarius with the old skill. They must be strengthened, made supple again, for today they are weak—and stiff, like a small boy's fingers. Hour after hour, Rubinoff clutches at two little rubber balls, one in each hand, kneading them, twisting, turning, squeezing them—to strengthen those fingers.

"Until I do more of this," he says, "I cannot be strong enough, my fingers will not be quick and sure. I cannot play yet, maybe for a long time." Still, he practises every day. Twenty minutes is the limit; his doctors will allow him not another second.

"I play exercises to limber up my hand," Rubinoff explained. "I just can't wait to get going. I've been asked what piece would be the first I'd play. I don't know. I want most of all to play exercises and my first concert is going to be at a convention this fall—a convention for doctors and nurses." After that Rubinoff and his violin will be back in circulation again!

"It's tough, too," Rubinoff says. "It's as tough as if I'd never played before. You see, I'd never been away from the fiddle so long before in all my life. I started when I was five, you know. It's really tough."

DEATH CLAIMED THE MASTER BUT COURAGE INDOMITABLE FOUGHT HIS WINNING BATTLE

But over on the dressing-table in Rubinoff's hospital room, his $100,000 Stradivarius rests in its plush case, waiting always for the touch of the master's hand again. The violin stands between a picture of Rubinoff's mother and one of his father, who died last April. Rubinoff's sister, Mrs. Rose R. Buchman, who has not left his side for weeks, believes that his father's death had much to do with Rubinoff's own near-fatal illness. The famous violinist broke concert engagements, dropped everything, in order to be with his father during the latter's last hours, and he was in despair after his death.

Rubinoff's friends in radio have not forgotten him. Ever since his illness, radio editors all over the country have answered numerous requests for information about Rubinoff. Would he get well? Would he be back on the air soon? Those were the questions Rubinoff's admirers were asking. The other greats of radio have remembered Rubinoff, too. Eddie Cantor, who first appeared with Rubinoff on September 13, 1931, has written to him almost daily. Rudy Vallee, who first introduced Rubinoff to a radio audience, has been a true friend. Major Bowes, Andre Kostelanetz, Tony Martin, Rudolph Friml and many others have sent their encouragement and good wishes.

Unquestionably, his doctors say, the cheering messages that have poured into Rubinoff's hospital room have had much to do with the success of his uphill fight for health. Knowing that the radio world wants him back, needs him, has vastly encouraged Dave.

Best of all, however, is a gold and jeweled medal which Rubinoff recently received from Chicago. Of solid gold, outlined with tiny diamonds and rubies, a solid diamond violin and bow across its face, it is inscribed: "Presented to Rubinoff and his violin by the Chicago Federation of Musicians in appreciation of services rendered August 6, 1937, at Grant Park, when the attendance was 225,000."

In the long and spectacular history of the open-air concerts at Chicago's famed Grant Park, no other musician—indeed, no organization of musicians—has ever approached that figure. It's an all-time world record!

Rubinoff has no immediate plans for a return to the air. He has had offers, of course, but first he must fully regain his health. As soon as he can, he's leaving for Hawaii. There he'll rest, laze in the sun—and practise endlessly with his beloved violin. After that—radio will hear from him again!

Orson Welles represents field of drama Sun., CBS

Art, Music, Drama, Literature Discussed

Sunday, CBS, 7-7:30 p.m.

Four talented representatives of the fields of art, drama, music and literature will be heard in the informal-discussion period, "The People's Platform." The series, concluding its three-week discussion of "Is Success Possible Today?" will broadcast the comments of four individuals who have achieved outstanding success in very exacting work. Of the four to be selected, two guests have already accepted: Orson Welles to represent drama, Rockwell Kent to represent art.

No better example of the unusual success story could be found than Orson Welles. Still in his early twenties, Welles has reached the top not only as an actor but as a producer and director as well. Active in radio at present in his Mercury Theater offerings on Monday nights, he is introducing a new technique in radio dramas to listeners. In addition to extensive stage and radio work, he has authored the book "Everybody's Shakespeare," and is furthering the study of the famous bard's plays by making recordings to be used in schools.

Representing the bewildering field of art, one of the best-known workers of the day will join the discussion. He is Rockwell Kent, famous landscape and figure painter, whose works may be found at the Metropolitan Museum in New York, the Art Institute in Chicago, the Brooklyn Museum and other distinguished institutions in this country, South America and Europe. Famed for his ability as an artist, Kent is also an author of reknown on subjects pertaining to his work and is editor of the profession's trade magazine, Creative Art. It would be hard to make a better choice to represent this field.

What Is Vital? Dr. Scherer's Topic

Sunday, NBC, 4-4:30 p.m.

It has long been accepted as fact that a manner of success comes to the man who has the gift of insight that enables him to evaluate what comes his way and choose only the good from it. To some this is a special gift of God, but to all the privilege is granted of cultivating this ability for better results. The church is one of the most influential agencies in existence propagating adherence to the theory that by cultivating a sense of the vital, man may better himself. Speaking in this vein, Dr. Paul Scherer, pastor of the Holy Trinity Church in New York City, will be heard on Sunday when he presents his weekly address on the "Sunday Vespers" under the title "A Sense of What Is Vital."

Irishman Looks at American Youth

Sunday, CBS, 1:30-1:45 p.m.

"An Irishman Looks at American Youth," and on this program he tells what he sees and what it signifies to him. Speaking from New York, James R. Heavey of the Irish Free State, a delegate to the recent World Youth Congress session held in this country, will endeavor to give the typical young Irishman's reaction to the conduct, aims and philosophy of American youth.

The Irish heritage in our American society is popularly considered to be a flash of luck, a dash of pluck and a splash of hearty joviality. It will be interesting to note how young Mr. Heavey interprets the collective nature of our younger generation in the characteristic colorings of his own nationality. The relations of the two countries have always been on the whole amicable, due not only to racial kinship and mutual respect but also to overt gestures of good-will, some of which assume the proportions of the spectacular — young Irish-American Corrigan's backward hop of the ocean being the outstanding example. Other instances include the group competition of Irish and American amateur boxers, American observance of St. Patrick's Day, and tours of each country by lecturers and artists of the other.

Lady Judge's Success Story Dramatized

Wednesday, CBS, 10:30-11 p.m.

For eighteen years Madam Judge Camille Kelley, Dixie's "mother confessor," has reigned over the Juvenile Court of Memphis, Tennessee. She has never had a license to practise law, yet of the 36,000 cases that have appeared before her she has not had a dozen appeals. She holds that a juvenile court should be more like a clinic than a court of law, and because she has conducted her court like a clinic she has been accused countless times of being too lenient with potential criminals. Decrying the use of the rod, she has, with her understanding and sympathy, endowed many of her youthful charges with confidence and courage that has enabled them to become useful citizens. Despite the accusations of leniency and sentimentality, 85 percent of her "sunny boys" have grown up to be respectable "sunny men."

For a brief insight into the life of Judge Kelley, tune in Wednesday night on the "It Can Be Done" program, when she will be interviewed, and highlights of her career and the proceedings of her court will be dramatized by a talented group of actors.

SHOPPING GUIDE

INNUMERABLE merchandise bargains can be secured at small expense by listening to your radio. The items below are recent offers made by network programs. Let them aid you in getting more for your money.

Silk Stockings

"Win Your Lady" (Sundays, 9 p.m. EDT; 6:30 p.m. PST, NBC) offers a pair of silk stockings in any size to all who send 50c and 3 wrappers from Woodbury Facial Soap to Woodbury's, Box 55, Cincinnati, Ohio. Stockings are worth $1.00. Be sure to include name and address.

Bracelet

"Big Sister" (Monday through Friday, 11:30 a.m. EDT; 10 a.m. PST, CBS) offers a bracelet to those U. S. listeners sending a Rinso box-top plus 15c to "Big Sister," c/o Columbia Broadcasting System, 485 Madison Avenue, New York City, and to those Canadian listeners sending a Rinso box-top plus 20c to above address.

Recipe Booklets

"Your Family and Mine" (Monday through Friday, NBC, 5:30 p.m. EDT) offers various recipe booklets to those who write "Your Family and Mine," c/o National Broadcasting Company, New York City.

Cook Book

"Contented Hour" (Monday, NBC,

10 p.m. EDT) is offering a Carnation Cook Book for fifteen cents in coins or stamps. Address: Carnation Company, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Cook Book

"The Mystery Chef" (Tuesday and Thursday, NBC, 9:45 a.m. EDT; 9 a.m. PST) offers a cook book written by the Mystery Chef. Your local announcer will tell you where you can get one.

Question-Bee Game and Coffee

"Uncle Jim's Question Bee" (Saturdays, NBC, 7:30 p.m. EDT). Six contestants (three men and three women) are picked from the audience. First prize is $25.00. All contestants receive copy of Uncle Jim's Question-Bee Game and one can of G. Washington Coffee. Those who submit accepted questions with correct answers receive one can of coffee for each accepted question. Address Uncle Jim, G. Washington Coffee Co., Morristown, N. J.

Cash Prizes

"Professor Quiz" (Saturdays, CBS, 9 p.m. EDT; 8 p.m. PST) conducts weekly contests with six prizes of $25 each to those who submit the six winning lists of five questions and correct answers to Professor Quiz, CBS, 485 Madison Ave., New York City. Entry blanks from Nash-Kelvinator dealers should be used but are not compulsory.

The inevitable "latest step" that comes with every one of Fred's pictures is "The Yam." A fourth song from the show is well done by Will Hudson. It is smooth stuff called "The Night Is Filled With Music." (All Brunswick.)

"Lambeth Walk" is a highly touted British song from a London revue, but certainly fails to impress as handled by Joe Rines and his Hotel St. Regis Orchestra on Victor 26015.

Swing:

Swing's the thing, so they say, so what are we waiting for? This week to please the alligators the cats concentrate on "oldies," bringing forth jive in these guises.

"Marche Slav." Tchaikowsky must tremble in his tomb over this latest invasion by Roger Pryor, one of the films, and his band. (Vocalion 4256.)

"Ring Dem Bells." A fine old Ellington tune in a real ride-out session by vibraphone-playing Lionel Hampton and a hand-picked small band. (Victor 26017.)

"I'll See You in My Dreams." Tommy Dorsey uses the trick vocal device of chorus background as he did in his sensationally successful record of "Marie" on this fine old fave. "Stop Beatin' Around the Mulberry Bush" comes with it. (Victor 26012.) Another fine new Dorsey disk is "Copenhagen." (Victor 26016.)

"Indian Love Call." Artie Shaw has switched over to the low-price Bluebird label and has some fun with this old turkey. The swell Cole Porter "Begin the Beguine" comes with it. (Bluebird 7746.)

"Milenberg Joys" and "Dipper Mouth," two of the most standard of swing things as given the most recent polish by Larry Clinton's well-rounded band. (Victor 26018.)

"Nagasaki," another old standby given a vigorous pounding by Gene Krupa, his drums and his orchestra with a little of that whacky singing by Fifty-second Street's Leo Watson. (Brunswick 8188.) —David Alden.

RECORDS OF THE WEEK

A new department reviewing the recordings of your radio favorites

In introducing "Records of the Week" as a regular weekly department in RADIO GUIDE, the editors acknowledge the mounting interest in records, as evidenced by increasing sales of records of all types of music, as well as the growing membership rosters of the "record clubs." The reviewer's attempt is to serve record buyers of all dispositions. Readers particularly interested in certain types of records or in the records of certain artists are invited to make their preferences known to the editors.

Symphonic:

TWO albums of Latin dance music arrest our fancy this week, one very Italian and the other very Spanish.

"La Boutique Fantasque" . . . ballet music, written for piano by the famous Italian, Rossini, has been orchestrated to great effect by the more recent Respighi. The music is colorful, ever-changing and thoroughly delightful—a group of different dance rhythms, both bright and adagio. The Ballet Russe has featured the suite, which tells of "the fantastic toyshop." Eugene Goossens with the London Philharmonic Orchestra perform. (Victor album 415. $5.)

"Spanish Album," presenting a cross-section of modern Iberian music, features four composers on recordings made a few years ago by the Madrid Symphony, E. F. Arbos conducting. Probably the tastiest item in the batch is "La Procession del Rocio," by the contemporary Joaquin Turina, describing a yearly religious festival in Seville. Conductor Enrique Fernandez Arbos is represented by his pleasant

"Noche de Arabia," a blending of the Spanish style of composition with the near-eastern flavor which so dominates that sort of music. Tomas Breton (1850-1923) is another Spanish composer heard from in a characteristic "Jota," the national dance of Aragon, from his opera "La Dolores." Lastly there is the familiar Granados with two of his most familiar dance forms, the "Rondalla Argonesa" and the famous "Intermezzo" from his opera "Goyescas." All fine music from a fine people. (Columbia album 331. $6.)

Popular:

TWO forthcoming Hollywood pictures have broken into the record field this week with a bang, and with two top names to star—Astaire and Crosby.

Bing's picture is the entertaining "Sing You Sinners," and he has done all the tunes on Decca records, including Hoagy Carmichael's "Small Fry," which Bing sings with Johnny Mercer with laughs and gags and peckin' and all. And on the other side of Crosby's "I've Got a Pocketful of Dreams" is a double dividend in his version of the Henry King theme song, "A Blues Serenade," one of the happiest choices for the Crosby voice. The other two songs from the picture are "Don't Let That Moon Get Away" and "Laugh and Call It Love."

We can't leave that movie without mentioning Mildred Bailey's swell record of "Small Fry" on Vocalion.

As for Fred Astaire, he got another Irving Berlin score for his newest picture, "Carefree." The pleasing Mr. Astaire has recorded three of the tunes, "Change Partners," on the sophisticated side, "I Used to be Color Blind," a typical Astaire song, and "The Yam."

Draw me!

TRY for AN ART SCHOLARSHIP

Copy this girl and send us your drawing — perhaps you'll win a COMPLETE FEDERAL COURSE FREE! This contest is for amateurs, so if you like to draw do not hesitate to enter.

Prizes for Five Best Drawings—FIVE COMPLETE ART COURSES FREE, including drawing outfits. (Value of each course, $215.00.)

FREE! Each contestant whose drawing shows sufficient merit will receive a grading and advice as to whether he or she has, in our estimation, artistic talent worth developing.

Today design, color and illustrating influence the sale of most merchandise. Trained commercial artists have, therefore, become important in industry. They are in demand, — well paid — machines can never displace them. Artistic talent is comparatively scarce. If you can draw, why waste this rare gift? Train yourself to do work for which nature has fitted you and which few people can do. Success nowadays comes easier to those who develop natural ability. We have trained many young men and women now capable of earning up to $5,000 yearly as artists. Use this opportunity to test your talent. Read the rules and send us your drawing.

RULES

This contest open only to amateurs, 16 years old or more. Professional commercial artists and Federal students are not eligible.

1. Make drawing of girl 6 inches high, on paper 7½ inches high. Draw only the girl, no lettering.
2. Use only pencil or pen.
3. We return no drawings.
4. Print your name, address, age, occupation on back of drawing.
5. All drawings must be received by September 30th, 1938. Prizes will be awarded for drawings best in proportion and neatness by Federal Schools Faculty.

Solution to Puzzle Given Last Week

TALKING ABOUT SOUTH AMERICA

tenths of all the talkies are American—and done in English. English is the second language in all the capitals of South America today.

"All of which indicates its high time we scrap our superiority complex about South America. More particularly, we need to stop thinking about putting on an American radio propaganda campaign for the benefit of South America. We need to spread propaganda—all right—but IN THIS COUNTRY, and among our own people, because South America is the stage for the next great development in western civilization."

These are not the thoughts of a half-baked propagandist. They are the considered opinions of a perceptive student who, after graduation from the Georgia Normal College in his native state, took a further degree in political economy at the University of Edinburgh. It was while studying in Scotland that Tomlinson realized that the future of American trade lay in the vast potential markets of the southern continent.

Backed by the strength of his convictions, he set off in 1922 to talk to the peasants driving their bullocks carts on the roads in Guatemala; to the gauchos on the Argentine pampas; to premiers and professors from Panama to Patagonia, and all up and down the Andes. He's been doing it ever since. So it's up to us to listen when today he answers such questions as: "What effect is European propaganda having?" "Is Fascism enlarging its sphere of influence in Latin-American countries?" For these are the burning questions of the moment which Tomlinson will answer in his current special series of broadcasts.

IN THE face of blaring headlines in newspapers here announcing that the Vargas coup in Brazil was a Fascist victory, Tomlinson last year boldly broadcast over NBC that it was no such thing. Our newspapers, he argued, had misinterpreted the facts. Many who heard him were incredulous. They wouldn't believe him.

The vindication of Tomlinson's statements came a few weeks later with dramatic suddenness. The "Fascist" dictator, Vargas, pistol in hand and surrounded by his family and a few faithful guards, held off a Fascist band armed to the teeth, which swept like a hurricane into the courtyard of the presidential palace. The loyal Brazilian army rushed to the rescue. When the machine-gun smoke had cleared away, with it had disappeared the Fascist revolt. It had also become all too apparent that North American editors had got their signals mixed. Instead of being Fascist, Vargas was indeed a bulwark against the rising seas of Fascism in Brazil. Tomlinson was proved 100 percent right. Those who had come to scoff remained to wonder at his wisdom.

Edward Tomlinson doesn't attribute his prophetic statements regarding Vargas to any occult powers. It's very simple to be right, he believes. All you have to know is the facts.

It's up to us as Americans to prick up our ears when Tomlinson describes how German, Italian, French, British and Yankee interests are locked in a death-grip for the rich markets of the southern continent. For instance, what about the big German liners that frequent the eastern harbors, and the latest Nazi motorship—the sixth vessel in a new fleet which plies only between Germany and the Pacific Coast countries? In addition, there are the Italian, the British and the Dutch steamers.

AND what about the giant German Lufthansa plane he saw zooming down the runway on its inaugural flight between Lima, Peru, and Berlin? Tomlinson has watched, too, the growth of desperate competition over the 50,000 miles of scheduled airways which criss-cross the ten republics. The noise of the London, Paris, Berlin and Rome short-wave stations blasting away at American wave-lengths to all South American countries still rings in his ears.

Tomlinson fits to a "T" James Street's description in his article, "Hands Off, Dictators" (RADIO GUIDE, August 27, 1938), one of those "far-sighted leaders" who have preached "that America's future lay to the south." For fifteen years this has been Edward Tomlinson's mission in life.

Let's listen, then, when he tells us to stop patronizing the neighbors—particularly when they are just as proud as we are. Nor are back-slapping and glad-handing a realistic answer to the millions of dollars Mussolini and Hitler are pouring out in an effort to promote Fascist or Nazi doctrines.

We've got a real job on our hands! So let's take our feet off the railing of the old front porch, roll up our sleeves and go to work. Let's spread propaganda, but not in South America. Let's spread it here at home until our own people in the United States realize that the world outside doesn't mean just Europe. The continent of tomorrow is South America, which is right at our front door. That is Tomlinson's credo—and worth listening to any Sunday he takes the air.

Edward Tomlinson may be heard Sunday on "What's New in South America?" over an NBC network at: EDT 6:45 p.m. EST 5:45 p.m. CDT 5:45 p.m. CST 4:45 p.m. MST 3:45 p.m. PST 2:45 p.m.

NOTICE: The programs as presented here were as correct and as accurate as the broadcasting companies and RADIO GUIDE could make them at the time of going to press. However, emergencies that arise at the studios sometimes necessitate eleven hour changes in program listings, time, etc.

If your favorite station is not listed at quarter or half hour periods, consult the time listings immediately above. The chances are that a network program of 30 or 60 minutes' duration is on the air at a quarter-hour when you do not find your station listed

PLEASE NOTE:

Symbols in parentheses, such as (sw-9.53), after a program listing indicates that this program may be heard by tuning in 9.53 megacycles on your short-wave dial. For foreign short-wave programs, please see page 36.

Naval warfare and the Hartford Convention will be the subjects to be dramatized. The Hartford Convention was called in New England in 1814 by prominent members of the peace party who objected to the vigorous prosecution of the war with England, and wanted to diminish the control of Congress over questions of war and peace.

All-Star Football Game: WLS
KSO WMT KFYP WDAY WTCN

For the third successive year
NBC will give a play-by-play account of the annual football battle at the Polo Grounds between the professional New York Giants and the College
All Stars. Bill Stern will be at the microphone. The entire net proceeds of the game are donated to a fund which is used to give vacations in the open air to poor children of the slum districts of New York.

Titled "History Hinges Upon a Word," tonight's dramatization will tell the story of how gold might have been discovered in California in 1845, four years before the famous gold rush of
'49. If John Bidwell had realized what his Mexican workman wanted when he requested a "bata" to enable him to mine a gold find. The interesting tale will be related by the "Old Ranger."

Original Play: KSO WMT KFJR
"The Baron and the Lady," a dramatic fantasy by Miss Bonneviller Arnaud, will be presented. The story concerns three main characters and is laid in a diner on New York's East Side. The language of the play is vivid and stark; the story is poignant and true to life. The theme of "shadows on the wall" points out that life, expressed through the shadows that our figures cast, can be empty and devoid of reality.

Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 25. These are indicated, for example, by (sw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

On Short Waves

Edited by Chas. A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

Times indicated on this page are for Eastern Daylight Saving Time. For EST and CDT subtract 1 hour; for CST, 2 hours; for MST, 3 hours; for PST, 4 hours

INTERESTING and colorful festivities in connection with the forty-years Coronation Jubilee of Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands will be featured in this week's broadcasts over short-wave station PCJ (15.22) of Huizen, Holland. The actual ceremony of the official homage of the Queen in the "New Church" at Amsterdam will be broadcast on Tuesday, September 6, at 5:40 a.m. EDT. Other outstanding events upon which commentaries will be given include: "The Naval Review at Scheveningen" on Sunday, September 4, at 9 a.m. EDT; the arrival of the Queen at the station at Amsterdam, and her subsequent arrival at the Palace at the "Dam," on Monday, September 5, at 8:10 a.m. EDT; flashes from the "Oranjeblauw" in Krasnapolsky; report on the aviation festivals at Schiphol and the drive of the Queen in the royal coach through the city, on Wednesday, September 7, starting at 8:50 a.m. EDT; report on the launching of the new M. S. "Oranje," by the Queen, on Thursday, September 8, at 10:40 a.m. EDT, and a description of the gala performance in the Municipal Theater, on Friday, September 9, at 8:50 a.m. EDT. . . . A commentary on this year's St. Leger, the last classic of the English flat-racing season, to be run on the Town Moor, Doncaster, will be broadcast from Daventry, England, over stations GSF, GSG and GSI, on Wednesday, September 7, at 7:55 a.m. EDT.

The American Hour from Rome, heard nightly from 8:30 to 10 p.m. EDT, is now being radiated over 2R04 (11.81), IRF (9.83), and a new station, IQY (11.676).

Eugene Reinhard of Locust, New Jersey, writes that according to an announcement heard over short-wave station SPW of Warsaw, Poland, two new Polish stations, namely SP19 (15.12) and SP25 (25.65), will be testing soon.

SHORT-WAVE SHORTS: To his long list of remarkable receptions Ashley Walcott of San Francisco, California, has now added VHSU, Salamaua Air Radio, in New Guinea, heard testing on 8.07, 6.54 and 2.6 megs, between 6:30 and 9 a.m. EDT. . . . "Radio Hanoi" (11.9), announcing as "Ici Radio Hanoi," in Hanoi, French Indo China, is being heard daily until 10:30 a.m. EDT, at which time it signs off with the selection "La Marseillaise." The first part of the program is in Chinese or Annamite, while the latter part is in French. . . . To afford better reception to listeners in western Canada and northwestern United States, GSG (17.79) is now being used on transmission VI from Daventry, nightly from 10:20 p.m. to 12:20 a.m. EDT. . . . The Columbia Broadcasting System has requested the following additional frequencies for station W2XE: 6.18, 9.67, 17.83 and 21.57 megs. . . . G. T. Beyer of Chicago, Illinois, writes that EAJ43 (10.37) of Tenerife, Canary Islands, is once more issuing verifications of reception; the new cards feature a picture of General Franco. . . . Listeners now have a chance to add still another unusual country to their logs. Amateur station CN1AF (14.285), located in Tangier International Zone, Africa, is being heard irregularly between 7:50 and 8:30 p.m. EDT. . . . DZG (15.36) of Zeesen, Germany, transmits a special program in Portuguese for listeners in Brazil, Saturdays at 6 p.m. EDT.

The revised schedule of the new Lahti, Finland, stations is as follows: Daily, on 15.19 megs, 1 to 2 a.m. EDT; over OFE (11.78), 2:05 a.m. to 1:05 p.m. EDT and over OFD (9.5), 1:15 to 6 p.m. EDT. Earl Roberts of Indianapolis, Indiana, reports that Sunday mornings from approximately 1:05 to 1:45 a.m. EDT a religious program, consisting of organ selections and hymns may be heard from Lahti. An English announcement is made at 1:30 a.m. EDT. . . . On a recent Sunday afternoon, from 3 to 3:30 p.m. EDT, a Soviet station carrying the same program as RKL (15.08), Moscow, was heard on a frequency of 14.79 megs. This station must have been—according to all recognized lists—RTZ, in far-away Irkutsk, Siberia, just north of Mongolia.

On his recent visit to England Eddie Cantor "met" the British Broadcasting Corporation imitation of Charlie McCarthy. Named "Willie Winkett," it had its air debut on "Sing Song," a BBC variety program begun recently
