A Veteran Plans a News Show, and Radio Tries to Save a Life

Graham McNamee's enthusiastic voice will soon be pouring news of a new sort into our loud-speakers. Recently celebrating his tenth year on the air, Graham comes this Sunday evening as the chief of a quartet of news specialists who will sum up world events for Sunday-weary listeners. Mac's stint will be to report American happenings. Sports will be covered by Bill Stern, international news will be reported by H. R. Baukhage of Washington, and women's topics will be treated by Nola Luxford. This fills a gap in a Sunday afternoon program that needed filling. With Europe sizzling like a bomb fuse, with a "lost" war raging on the edge of Mongolia, and with all-important sports events at home, Sunday paper readers want to know "what goes on." They'll learn if they listen to Mac and his expert associates on the new "Four Star News," broadcast over an NBC network at 5:15 p.m. EDT.

Working Americans are always interesting. Which is why "Americans at Work" has so many listeners. Picture of the week is the Red Man opposite whose life and job are revealed by CBS this week. Facts about Indians: Pocahontas never saw John Smith (he made that story up), Indians taught White Men to grow maize, tobacco, squashes, and beans. Whites taught them how to make fire-water. The theory that Indians are descended from the Lost Tribes of Israel has been abandoned by most scientists. Indians were not the first to scalp. Herodotus tells us the Scythians did it 500 B.C. And Whites probably taught the Indians to do it. Well-named Indians are Flatheads and Blackfeet. Flatheads were so called by Whites because of Indian practise of binding the heads of babies. Blackfeet got name because they wore black moccasins.

Parkyakarkus and Son

The Cover: Parkyakarkus (Harry Einstein) is indeed a solid Hollywood family man. Latest addition is the youngster with whom he poses for this week's cover. Always a clown, Parky had a derby made for his son in an effort to settle a family argument as to whether Baby Parky was really the "spittin' image" of Daddy Parky. An alert cameraman shot a photograph as proof. Although Parkyakarkus has made no announcement of his broadcasting plans for 1939-40, he has been on the air every winter since his sensational discovery and introduction by Eddie Cantor years ago, and he is almost certain to be an important part of some variety show by October. A money-saver, Parky is independent, likes to live in Hollywood, and can afford to pick his spot.

Mrs. Abraham Silverman and Gabriel Heatter

Desperation was in the voice of Mrs. Silverman when she spoke recently into a "We, the People" microphone, saying: "Tonight my husband is lying ill in a Brooklyn hospital. Doctors have done everything they know how but they say it is hopeless..." Mrs. Silverman then told that her husband had a rare disease. He needed a blood transfusion but doctors knew of no one who had survived that type of disease. "But there must be somebody," she begged. "Please get in touch with me immediately."

After the broadcast Mrs. Silverman received hundreds of telephone calls, telegrams, and letters. Four volunteers drove directly to the hospital. Only two had the right sort of blood. One was Patrick Mahon of Washington, D. C., veteran of the Lafayette Escadrille. The other was Col. L. B. Von Spach. Just before we went to press Colonel Von Spach gave his blood to the dying Silverman. If the latter lives it will be because radio and "We, the People" proved again their service to man.

Will Osborne

Broken-hearted Bandleaders is what we called a recent RADIO GUIDE spread. Among our reasons for broken hearts was a fickle, forgetful public. To that should be added forgetful editors. We mentioned Will Osborne as a gent whose star had dipped into obscurity. We learn it simply isn't so. Mr. Osborne, after weathering the Rudy Vallee feud, really went to work. 1935 found him at the Lexington Hotel, New York; 1936, Chicago's Blackhawk Cafe; 1938, Glen Island Casino in New York; 1939, the Strand Theater, N. Y., for three weeks, then the Park Central Hotel, and now he plays at the Palomar in Los Angeles. Besides that, he has made Decca records for four years, played college proms at almost every university in the land. Indeed, about the only person who has forgotten Will Osborne is RADIO GUIDE's caption writer. But we cite the above dates for another reason, namely, to illustrate that bandleaders do have good reason for unhappiness if their careers turn them into such musical grasshoppers that they can never settle down and live in one place more than a few weeks at a time.

Five Years Ago

RADIO GUIDE for August 25 asked, "What's Holding Back Television?" Buddy Rogers wrote an article which he titled "My First Thirty Years." H. V. Kaltenborn had just returned from Russia and was talking from notes whenever he could get at a microphone. On Wednesday of that week listeners got a chance to hear Admiral Byrd talking from the shadow of the South Pole. Also, an Indiana governor named McNutt was making a political speech. "I Only Have Eyes for You" was the hit of the week.

Buddy Rogers

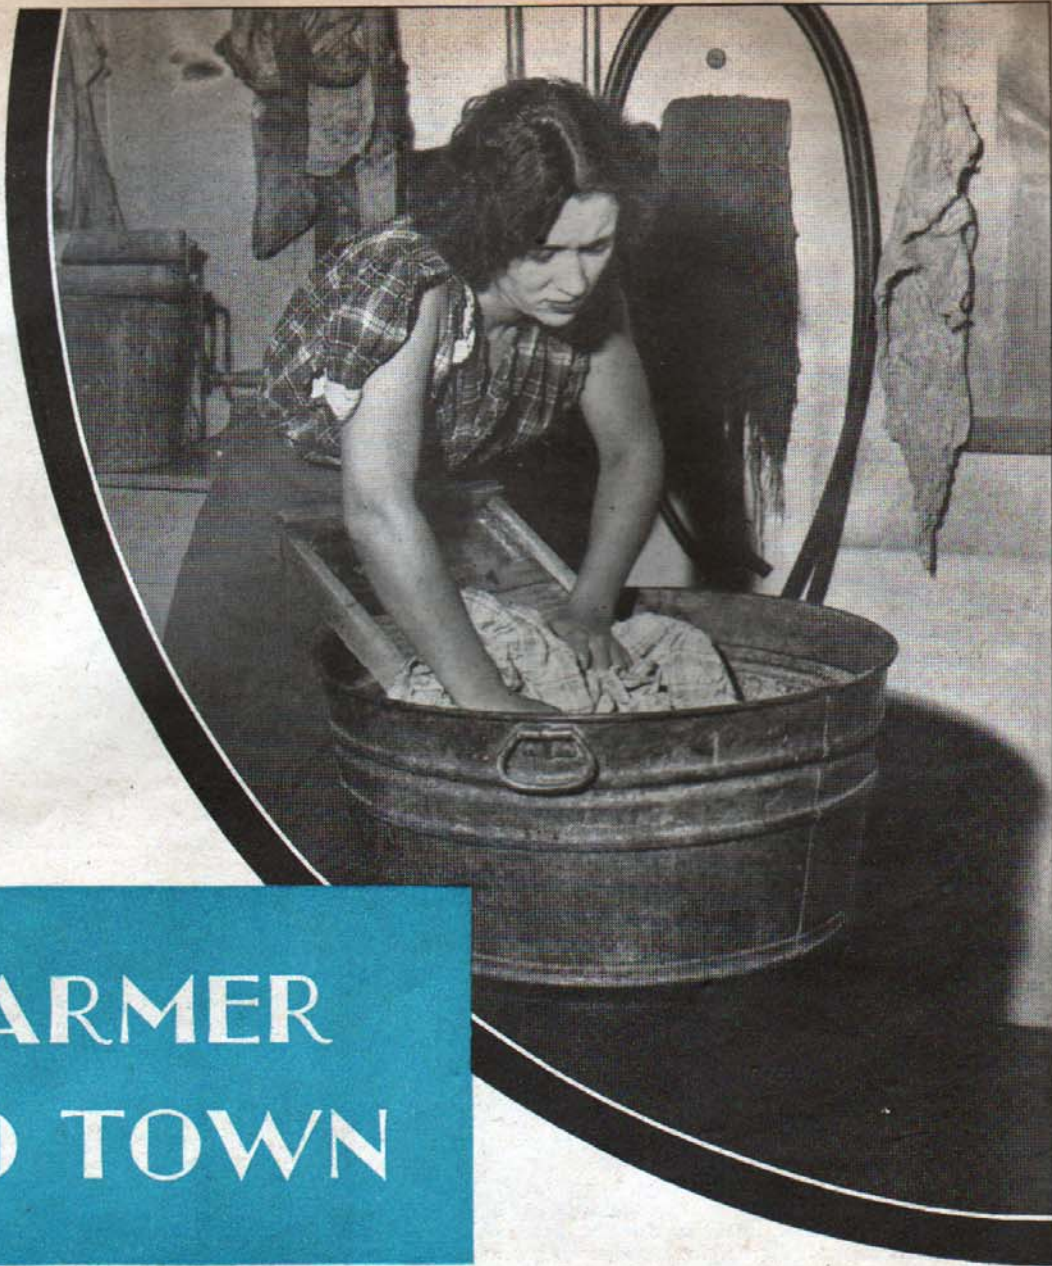

Remember the farmer's wife of a generation ago? Symbol of drudgery among women, she washed with tub and board (right), had two or three dresses, said nothing because she had nothing to say

THE woman of the moment is the farmer's wife. What she likes determines the output of half the factories of America. The buying-power of agriculture is in her hands—and her spending is the difference between good times and bad times. Economically, she is the most important individual in the land.

But she is important in other ways. Her willingness to bear large families makes possible the continued increase in the country's population. City women won't raise many children. And when they want to, they can't because the cost of living is too high.

Today we are on the eve of a presidential election. Ask any political wiseacre and he will tell you that the farm vote will elect the next occupant of the White House. In the final analysis, it is the farmer's wife who will determine and deliver this vote. She will decide whether or not the New Deal has done a good job, and she will help her husband and grown children decide.

So you have, in every way that means anything, a woman of the hour, a person of exceptional significance. And she is brand-new on the American scene. A few years ago, what was she? Ask yourself the question, what sort of a person was the farmer's wife ten, twenty years ago?

I remember her as a bustling dear who was an expert on cookies, jams, truck-gardening, butter-making, quilting and egg-hunting. She had two, maybe three dresses, and they were built to be handed down even unto the fourth generation. When her husband and his men friends talked of the affairs of the world, she sat in a corner knitting, listening, with bugged-out eyes, saying nothing. She kept silent because she had nothing to say.

That kind of woman still exists. But so do buggy-whips and high-wheeled bicycles. Something happened to her—something as magical in its way as the thing that happened to Cinderella—and that something is radio. Something as wonderful as the change of caterpillar into butterfly.

The old preradio farm was a fastness, with walls around it. The world could not enter. But no walls, no isolation, is proof against the catapults and battering-rams of the million and one radio programs that have been spun into the ether since broadcasting captured the country. The country woman is out of her hayseed cocoon for all time—and she is on her way to town and vast accomplishments.

Look at her today, slamming the door of her car, stepping smartly up the walk, her high heels clicking. Her flared, shortish skirt whips against her silkstockinged legs. The accessories are correct. The lady knows her clothes.

Listen to her talk. Quick, shrewd and well-expressed comment on Steinbeck and Strachey, Hemingway and Stuart Chase. She gives vent to her outrage over high-school immorality, Hitler, war—and demands action. She gets action. She organizes committees to petition the Government. Horrified over death on the highways, she puts on safety campaigns. Disturbed by Hallowe'en pranks, she leads the spirit of mischief that prevails on that day into healthy channels. In a thousand rural towns and villages the holiday is now safe and sane.

THE automobile and the movies helped—but radio gave her the vision of a broader world and nagged her into doing something about it.

From the air she picked bits of advice and practical information, out of which she reconstructed her home and her personality. She bought factory-made bread partly because it was good bread but largely because she wanted time off from baking to do some of the things she had been inspired to do by broadcasts she had listened to. For the same reason she bought a washing-machine, an electric iron and other work-savers. They gave her leisure, time to talk and think. And she used it. In the family car she whipped off to town to take part in community activities, national conventions.

Something of this sort has happened, is happening to some ten million women. And they're marching, for the first time lending to the larger affairs of the continent their gifts, their intelligence, their great reserves of energy. It was to help them that most of the larger universities established correspondence schools. It is to meet their demand that half the book presses in the country roll. The largest sales of books are not through the city shops, but by mail, and door to door, to rural buyers, eighty percent of whom are women.

The other day some 1,500 farm "homemakers" spent a week in camp, ten miles outside of Little Rock, Ark. They came without their husbands or babies. They sang, they put on plays, they did square dances. They debated the third term, they discussed an embargo on Japan. In no way could you have distinguished these "girls" from their city sisters except for a greater robustness.

This sort of camp-meeting has become a yearly event in most of the forty-eight states, an annual convention of farm wives. By itself, it is significant. It is also important as indicating the growth in these women of a solidarity, of a feeling that they are growing up together, thinking along the same lines.

Radio's great lesson is, of course, music. And this the farm women have clutched hungrily. Mississippi alone boasts over three hundred community choruses. And in the country as a whole there are not which both cure and prevent. The same is true of typhoid, which can be prevented by watching the source of milk and water supply; of malaria, which comes of living in unscreened houses.

Down in Elk City, Okla., Dr. Michael Shadid told his dust-belt neighbors of his plan to build a cooperative hospital. He told it to them dramatically over the radio. A family had only to pay $25 a year and the hospital would care for every member, no matter what happened. The women pitchforked their husbands into supporting it, got the Farmers Union to take it over, and it came into being—America's first cooperative hospital, an institution that has been praised and pointed to by the highest medical authorities.

Over the radio one day the women in a township in Woods County, Ohio, heard of a group of Texas farmers who were making money by permitting city dwellers to hunt on their farms for the payment of a small fee. The women knew the township needed a new church building. They went out, signed up all the farmers, and in two years earned enough from renting hunting-privileges to construct a fine church less than one hundred thousand organized since the advent of broadcasting. At Springfield, Ill., I was one of ten thousand who gathered to hear 561 rural songbirds—most of them women—render a home-written cantata, "Joan of Arc." In Iowa, another group produced an opera and won praise from New York music critics. The opera was rehearsed and produced by radio.

Not long ago I sat in at a banquet in Memphis, Tenn. Gathered in the room were five hundred men and women, all of them sharecroppers and their wives. A cropper, if you don't know, is a tenant farmer who works his land for a share of the crop—and his average income is about $250 a year, the lowest in the country. There they were—the poorest, lowliest farm women in America. And they were a sight to make your eyes glow and burn with tears of pride. No Parisian models. But they were all neat and tastefully clothed, fit to pass in any crowd. A short time ago they were wearing dresses made out of sugar- and fertilizer-sacks.

They were attending the banquet to celebrate the conclusion of a contest for farmers—and four out of five had learned about it from radio. Four out of five listened in on the radio for their daily mead of instruction. They gave a year's work to the contest. It meant a revolution in their way of farming—growing vegetables, keeping a cow, when they had only grown cotton before. It meant beautifying their homes and grounds. They had come through. And not one among them had failed to increase his income from $500 to $2,000 above that of the year before.

Here is a story told me by Prof. O. R. Johnson of the University of Missouri. In the part of the state known as the Irish Wilderness, the women wanted a doctor. The men were indifferent. But the women, listening daily over wind-charger radios, were resolute. The least they could do with was a telephone—for emergencies.

THESE farm women got together, made their plans.

First, they sold some hens—good layers, many of them—and laid up a store of cash for supplies. Then they mustered the whole town, men, women and children, and set them to work. They dug holes and set poles. Eighteen miles along a wagon trail. Now in the Irish Wilderness there is a telephone, and a call brings a doctor in time to ease pain and save lives.

Sickness in the family has always been the woman's job. Now she knows what to do about it in a preventive as well as curative way. This is especially important in the cotton belt, where pellagra, a disease which is the direct result of improper diet, weakens and kills thousands yearly. Radio has taught the women to supplement their sowbelly, meal and sorghum diet with green-leaved vegetables, and pay for an annual banquet and ball besides.

The farm woman is not only interested in purely local matters. Ask the secretary of any national organization about his rural membership and he will tell you that the number of farm-woman members has grown prodigiously during the past ten years. I know this is true of all the large peace organizations. I know it is true of the League of Women Voters. It is a growth which runs exactly parallel to the growth of radio. The next time a national convention comes to town, drop in and make the inquiry at the registration desk and you will find out for yourself how large a proportion hail from farms. Only in this way would you know. A look at the audience or the crowd in the lobby would tell you naught. Outwardly, these ladies of the fields and pastures are precisely as smart and as sophisticated as their urban sisters.

In purely agricultural matters, the merits of the new farm woman has also been recognized. A few years ago the county and state planning committees were all male. Today thirty-three states have opened membership to women. The number of members varies from one to twenty-six. About twenty percent of the total membership of these committees which plot the nation's farm programs is women.

On individual farms, the men are consulting their wives to an increasing degree. More women are studying agriculture at the state colleges. At Farm-

In her home, always miles from contact with other homes, the radio is Mrs. Farmer's means to economic betterment, to cultural enrichment for herself and family. It's her contact with a broader, better world ers' Institutes, the proportion of women to men is almost fifty percent. The owner-operator of the largest farm in Ohio is a woman. A woman is also the head of the Turkey Growers Association of the same state. In New York I met recently a Mrs. Mabel White, typical of the new strain of farm wives. She owned and still owns an orange grove in Florida. It was paying her nothing. She jumped into her car, drove to New York, and investigated the way her oranges were being sold. She turned the management of the farm over to her sister. She stayed in New York to become the city's first woman commission merchant, selling not only her own crop but that of thousands of other farmers.

A woman in New Jersey was left with a blueberry bog. She was destitute. Inspired by a broadcast on plant-breeding, she set to crossing the big ones with the big ones. Now she produces for market those giant blueberries you find in any city fruit market.

The stories of women who are making a success of farming, with or independent of their husbands, can go on endlessly. The self-starting, rubber-tired tractors have helped a great deal by taking the muscle out of agriculture. But principally it was the radio which started them off by teaching them they were human beings with a right to independent lives.

The broadcasting companies are aware of the thirst of their women listeners for programs that help as well as entertain. And they have been generous of their time. Ohio, for example, reports that fifty-six county agents, men and women, are broadcasting regularly scheduled programs over nine commercial stations. Sixteen out of the state's twenty-two commercial outlets are co-operating.

This is pretty much the story in every state of the Union. I have yet to hear of a commercial station that hesitated to give time to a program aimed at the farm home. In Colorado, Oregon, Oklahoma and Illinois, to mention a few I know of personally, the farm women run the programs themselves. They put on skits, news dramatizations, song-fests and novelties prepared and acted by themselves and 4-H Club youngsters.

These local broadcasts supplement the National Farm and Home Hour, which, as you know, is a week-day mid-day feature of the National Broadcasting Company. The value in dollars and cents of this program's steadfast listening public was recently recognized by a tire manufacturer who paid heavily for fifteen minutes of it in which to chronicle the exploits of typically successful farmers.

THE number of farm-women listeners is formidable. We are told that the number of radio sets on farms is today seven million, or seven times as many as in 1926. But does that tell the story? In Maine a check-up revealed that ninety-two percent of the farmers heard every broadcast. In South Dakota the percentage was only a trifle smaller. It is safe to say that where there are no radio listeners there is no electricity. And soon, if rural electrification proceeds at its present pace, there will be no farm without power. With universal power must come universal radio.

Right now it is safe to say that close to seventy percent of American farm women listen to the radio daily.

In fact, the noon hour around the radio has become a ritual in the farm home—among all members of the farm family. Of paramount interest, of course, is the broadcast of prices of corn and wheat and hogs and steers. Now it is not the man but man and wife together who decide whether it is propitious to buy or sell or keep.

SECOND in interest is weather news—and with it news of insect enemies. I was in New York State visiting a farmer friend of mine some years ago when the radio flashed a bulletin—a veritable Paul Revere of a bulletin. That country around Rochester is tomato country and that was the season the growers were getting ready to set out their plants. "Frost is coming," said the radio. Back into the barns the farmers rushed their plants. Tomatoes are tender things. That broadcast must have saved farmers thousands of dollars.

In the plains country, grasshopper bulletins are equally important. In Illinois, it might be chinch-bugs. And after the spot news is finished come the larger problems of agriculture—the merits of subsidies, crop curtailment, and so on. To these, the women listen as well as to the programs reserved for their special attention—recipes, fashion news, child-rearing, tips on make-up, reducing, flower gardening. Their dials do not rest on the agricultural broadcasts but run the gamut of radio entertainment. It was their protests that kept classic music on the air in one notable instance.

It may be that the relatively complete physical isolation of the farm woman and her family has contributed to the completeness with which they have embraced radio as an instrument of education, of entertainment, and of economic betterment. City folk, who need only ring a doorbell a few feet away to pass their spare moments in friendly, if idle, gossip, are not likely to use radio in the same way as farm folk who must travel miles for occasional visits, but who may turn their dials with no effort, thus opening a new world with myriad opportunities for spending leisure time. Yes, pity the poor farm woman, if you wish, but the seeming handicaps for which you pity her are actually working to give her an edge over her city sister.

Perhaps radio has performed no greater service to our land than this—the bringing of a broader knowledge of national and world affairs, as well as a greater technical knowledge and facility in their own particular work, to these women who live close to the soil.

Add to these qualities the wide range of information which pours from our loudspeakers daily—the knowledge of people and events and places, the happenings of the world—and we have as an integral section of our population a new and important group which can—and does—make its sound thinking felt in the throbbing pulse of America's life.

Too much of today's thinking has been done in the feverish heat of the mob—in crowded cities where self-interests and cross-interests have made themselves unduly felt. But on the quiet sweep of the prairie, in gentle southern clearings where a farmstead stands, thinking is unhurried and clear and sound and—most important—untouched by mob thought. It is no accident that so many of America's truly great have come from the farm.

Now, more than ever before, this will be true. For the farm offers—in addition to its healthy and wholesome way of life—all of the advantages that the city can offer by way of informative sources and sound entertainment. It gives to the farm mother the same advantages in the rearing of her children that city mothers have hitherto enjoyed. And the youthful product of today's farmstead—thanks to radio—can hold its own with any other group anywhere.

In virtually every subject of cultural and constructive interest, these newly awakened women participate attentively. It is not enough for them that they dress and talk and act like their city sisters, not enough that they sit beside them in committees and great national gatherings. They feel that they are individuals in their own right, peculiarly well-rounded women who have a definite contribution to make to the building of a greater America, in raising healthier, more intelligent children. To the achievement of this objective, they need all the facts, all the knowledge they can gather.

And in their homes, always miles from contact with other homes, the radio is their source of information. It is the world. Now that the walls about the farms are down and the little brown moth of a farm wife is out of the cocoon, she cannot do without it. Next time you drive by a farmhouse and hear the radio blaring, make up your mind that the sound is the roar of civilization in process of taking over a new wilderness.

Test Your Skill in Answering These Radio Brain-Busters

QUIZ programs are the radio rage. On the increase in both number and popularity, they've struck a responsive chord in the temperament of you, the American people. For Americans like to play and they hate to learn, but when they learn while playing, they always love it. That's what radio quizzes do for you, and that is why we shall publish from time to time, beginning this week, a list of representative questions gleaned from the quizmasters — the cream of the quizzes, so to speak. Test your knowledge with this list of super brain-busters. Then see below for correct answers. And no peeking! If you get thirty answers correct, you're good; if you get thirty-five, you're phenomenal; if you get all correct, you should be able to get on "Information, Please" with John Kieran.

-DANZIG- THE DANGEROUS

By H. V. Kaltenborn

Dr. Arthur Greiser

H. V. Kaltenborn, veteran CBS news analyst and commentator, is currently in Europe observing at first hand the many danger-laden situations from which sudden world war may arise. The following picture essay on Danzig, Europe's tinder-box-of-the-moment, is a result of these observations.—The Editor.

Poland will never relinquish her rights in Danzig!" Thus spoke Poland's diplomatic representative in Danzig when I visited him in 1936. "We regard our interests in Danzig as absolutely vital and cannot permit them to be interfered with."

At the same time, I spoke with Dr. Arthur Greiser, a Nazi and president of the Danzig Senate then and now. He said: "For the time being, we want no change in the status of Danzig. Our economic relations with Poland are close and friendly, while our economic relations with East Prussia are unimportant."

Adolf Hitler, as late as February 20, 1938, said: "The Polish State recognizes the national status of Danzig while the Free City and the Germans respect Polish rights. Thus, despite Polish trouble-makers, the relations between Germany and Poland have become a sincere and friendly collaboration." Then, suddenly, these peaceful protestations were forgotten, and across Danzig—where all had been accord —flew threats and counter-threats between Germany and Poland. Danzig had become, overnight, Europe's powder-house. Relations could have remained friendly had Germany's Fuehrer not provoked a crisis. On March 21, 1939, Germany demanded from Poland not only incorporation of the Free City into the Reich but cession of a strip of Polish territory running through the Corridor. Poland's reply to these demands was conciliatory.

Hitler did not answer. Instead, he announced Poland had refused to negotiate and denounced a ten-year friendship treaty between the two states.

What will come of these cross-interests? Poland's president, Ignatz Moscicki, has just said: "Danzig is as important to Poland as is the sun and the air." From Germany, silence accompanied by the secret infiltration of men and supplies to the Free City. To the hidden workings of Hitler's mind we must look for the answer to the question of the day: Peace or War?

DANZIG IS GERMAN in population, only three percent of its 407,000 residents being Poles, the remainder largely German. But most of its trade comes from Poland, and important business interests are owned by Poles. Above: Danzig's inner harbor, coveted by Germany as naval base

THE TREATY OF VERSAILLES recreated Poland. To fit the needs of this country of thirty millions, without outlet to the sea, it established the German port of Danzig at the mouth of the Vistula River as a Free City, recalling its historical position as a part of Poland until 1793 when it became a part of East Prussia. Largely responsible for its present position under League of Nations supervision was the "Big Four"—Italy's Orlando, England's Lloyd George, France's Clemenceau, and U. S. President Woodrow Wilson (l. to r.)—at Versailles when peace was made

DANZIGERS ARE NAZIS TODAY. Stirred by the emotional cry of Anschluss they ask to return to the Fatherland although their economic interest lies much more with Poland. Local Fuehrer is Albert Forster, district Nazi leader, shown here with his wife. Danzig's parliament is Nazi-controlled. Danzig police are Nazi, bolstered by smuggled German troops

GERMAN ATTACK ON POLAND might well come over this bridge connecting Upper Silesia with Oppeln, Germany, for it is no secret that Hitler wants more than Danzig, which he views as a potential weapon to force other concessions. Heavily armed Polish irregulars guard the bridge, subject of a Polish-German controversy in 1921 during a plebiscite

HITLER'S GOAL IN POLAND—Danzig and the Polish Corridor—would unite East Prussia and the remainder of the Reich. But it would be fatal to Poland, cutting her life-line to the sea and imperiling her independence. Danzig, were it ceded to Hitler, might well become the Sudetenland through which German forces (above) could continue conquest of Poland

WHAT DOES HITLER WANT? It is not only Danzig upon which the Nazi eye looks greedily. Germany also wants a large part of Polish Silesia, rich in metal mines, seeing in this territory another Pilsen, another Skoda plant (above) to grind out grim implements of war and of conquest. And to this end, she is bending every effort. Military units and armed men pour into Danzig from near-by East Prussia by night in covered trucks and the German male population of Danzig is being armed and drilled. These preparations are designed to wear down the nerves of the Poles

WILL HITLER GET WHAT HE WANTS? And will he get it by war or appeasement? The history of the Chamberlain government shows an unbroken succession of surrenders which may be duplicated at Danzig. Here, Hitler and Chamberlain, at Godesburg, talk peace and end of Czechoslovakia

POLAND WILL FIGHT for Danzig and the Corridor, and across the frontier from the Free City, where these Polish tanks roll, three-quarters of a million armed Poles await the decision which will send them to battle or back to their homes. That decision must be made by one man—Hitler

DANZIG TODAY is a hotbed of Nazi intrigue and enthusiasm as storm troopers (above) drill in her parks and swastikas wave. Hitler himself does not know what will happen there. Perhaps French and British guarantees may stay his hand, cause him to turn elsewhere. Nazis are active throughout southeastern Europe. Perhaps his war on Poland may start, not in Danzig, but from Slovakia where, it is rumored, his troops are concentrating. Or the Danzig parliament may any day declare the city a part of the Reich. Then it will be Hitler's move

NEW YORK.—Rudy Vallee's next sponsor will in all probability be Mr. Kellogg, who sponsored "The Circle" program, which seemed to have gone round in circles throughout the series . . . Carlton W. Morse, who writes those grand "One Man's Family" programs, has been airing a show on the Coast called "I Love a Mystery" which is just what its title implies. The program graduates to the Coast-to-Coast networks in the fall . . . When Andre Kostelanetz comes back to the air for Ethyl Gas, Tony Martin may be the m.c. and singer for the show . . . Arthur Tracy, whom listeners of the early days of radio remember as the Street Singer, is back in New York and dickering for a radio show . . . Announcer Andre Baruch won't have to wonder what his wife Bea Wain will be doing while he is working on the Lucky Strike Hit Parade. She joins the program starting this Saturday night . . . Geraldine Farrar is devoting her time to composing and her newest composition, "Whisper You Care," will be presented for the first time on the air next Monday night on RCA's Magic Key, by tenor Felix Knight, who should be heard on the air more often.

Purely Personal

Kate Smith, Ted Collins and his wife are in Nova Scotia this week fishing for tuna. Kate didn't have any luck last year and she went back for another try . . . Connie Boswell just returned from a short vacation at her sister Martha's farm in up-state New York where she did some fishing and brought back three little fishes . . . Which reminds me to tell you that Saxy Dowell received a nice big roll of bills for royalties on "Three Little Fishes," so he's in Bermuda on a vacation trying to see how long it takes him to spend it. The boys in the Hal Kemp band gave Saxy a farewell dinner before he departed . . . Since "When a Girl Marries" changed its time to an earlier spot, those splendid actresses of the show, Noel Mills and Irene Winston, drive out to the country every day to go horseback riding . . . Jean Dickenson, possessor of the American Album of Music's voice beautiful, has to come in from the country to do her broadcast. She lives in Connecticut during the week and comes in to New York on Sundays for the program.

Fred Waring and his gang spend their week-ends at the Buckwood Inn at Shawnee on the Delaware, where Fred goes to improve his game of golf . . . When H. V. Kaltenborn and his wife left for Europe on the Clipper they weren't able to take much of a wardrobe with them because the passengers are limited to 55 pounds of luggage each . . . Son Rolfe Kaltenborn is planning a European trip in September but he is taking a boat and it's going to be his honeymoon. Rolfe marries charming Ruth Brine, CBS woman commentator . . . Lucille Manners, star of the Cities Service program, played hostess to the president of her fan club and the editor of her fan club publication at dinner and then to the theater, in appreciation of their loyalty to her. The fan club is one year old this month . . . Orchestra-leader and composer Johnny Green played host to your reporter at a private luncheon where he prepared a special salad that seemed to have everything in it but the kitchen sink. Honestly, it was the best salad I've ever tasted. His wife can't even boil water and Johnny is an excellent cook. Are you reading, Mr. Ripley?

Dramair Notes

Stage and screen star Erin O'Brien-Moore has joined the cast of "John's Other Wife" and is being heard in the role of Elizabeth Perry . . . Vicki Vola, who came to New York from San Francisco and proved she had what it takes, has landed the leading role in a new dramatic show, "Career Woman," which makes its debut very soon . . . To Mildred Murray, who recently came from Pittsburgh, goes the distinction of being the first actress to appear on the first sponsored television program . . . Ethel Owen, who left Chicago's radio drama to seek fame and fortune in New York, has landed a part in "Our Gal Sunday" . . . Rosalind Green, who has one of the best voices in radio, has been added to the CBS serial "Joyce Jordan" . . . During a "Pretty Kitty Kelly" rehearsal, the production man and the con-

Bandnotes

Will Osborne was not only held over at the Palomar in Los Angeles, but he's working in a picture for Universal now in production . . . After staying away from hotels for six years, Paul Whiteman will go into the Hotel New Yorker after he returns from his present two-month tour . . . Sammy Kaye will be back at the Commodore Hotel in New York on October 1 . . . Tommy Dorsey will make a lot of Chicagoans happy when he opens at the Palmer House on October 12 . . . Larry Clinton has added a new vocalist to the band in the person of Terry Allen . . . Bob Zurke's is slated to be the next band to be given a big build-up . . . I think Jack Leonard, singer with Tommy Dorsey's crew, and Bob Allen, vocalist with the Hal Kemp band, could pass for brothers, they look and dress so much alike . . . Eavesdropped at a T. Dorsey program: "Edythe Wright is a delight," and I say, "That's right."

CBS officials are currently excited over the latest additions to their programs. Miss Judith Arlen is a new vocalist with a grand voice who, it appears, has the same throat condition as Bing Crosby and is being treated by the same doctor. She's being heard five times a week which is a marvelous break for any singer. Gwen McCleary, a veddy, veddy attractive lass who hails from Des Moines, Iowa, is another gal new to the network listeners that I predict will make good in a big way in the big city. Gwen is one of the two masters of ceremonies on the "Alibi Club" and she also announces the Buddy Clark show on Thursday night. Listen in and see if you don't agree she has plenty of charm in her voice. Another gal the networks might look up is Betty Stamm, of WEEU in Reading, Pa. Betty, who also possesses plenty of charm and personality, interviews prominent visitors to the town, sans script, and she does a grand job of it. At the same station Hank Lawson and his Bums are heard. This is an excellent group of entertainers and after watching them broadcast recently, I can understand why they were voted as the second most popular local program in the recent RADIO GUIDE poll.

Behind the Scenes

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt was handed a huge bouquet of flowers after concluding her guest role as conductor of the "Hobby Lobby" program. The First Lady went on the program without benefit of a regular rehearsal. She arrived at the studio one-half hour before air time and just had enough time to scan the script and be introduced to the hobbyists . . . Arch Oboler employs only the best actors and actresses for his Saturday night dramas. On one recent program which featured the great actress Nazimova, he had as her supporting cast such great actors as Raymond Johnson of "District Attorney," Martin Gable of "Big Sister" and John Brown, who is one of Fred Allen's Mighty Allon Art players. Of course they are also heard on other shows.

NO PHONIES WANTED!

"Hollywood Showdown" introduces a substitute columnist for the vacationing Evans Plummer

By Harold J. Bock

Manager, Western Press Division, NBC

HOLLYWOOD.—The day Evans Plummer, your favorite glamourland reporter, left for the High Sierras to pan for gold, he put me behind the eight-ball, a quartz eight-ball.

"Bock," said Plummer, "you're going to write a guest column for RADIO GUIDE while I'm looking for tooth-fillings.

"You're going to write me a guest column," he went on, ignoring the six-shooter gleam in my eye as if it weren't there, "about the gold-panning game you guys in the NBC Press Department in Hollywood have to play day in and day out with vacation visitors from Peoria and Manhattan."

"Well, Evans," I said, dropping the map into my desk until 1940, "you win. You've talked me into going to work. You mean how we pan out the genuine twenty-four-karat press representatives from the alleged and phony reporters and editors who try to 'One-Eye' Connolly their way into the NBC audience broadcasts in Hollywood?"

"That," said Plummer, tossing a typewriter into my lap and putting his mule-pack runabout in gear, "hits the nugget right on the noggin."

Long before Plummer had his first flat tire and ran out of gas crossing the Tehachapi mountains, I was glad to be behind the eight-ball. Here is my chance, I decided, to really give our out-of-town guest-fans a few pointers about broadcast tickets.

Demand vs. Supply

First of all, let's get chummy and comparative. One hundred thousand people would fill every hotel, apartment and house in South Bend or Gary, Ind.

Hal Styles' "Help Thy Neighbor" (MBS, Sun.) has helped a heap of folks, but few whom he has appreciated like this job-hunting cook

If you're visiting Hollywood this week, you're just one of a hundred thousand people! That's how many are coming into Hollywood every week this summer.

Now, there are two things 99.4 percent of all the Hollywood visitors want to do when they arrive in these sun-drenched and burn-blistered parts. They want (1) to get inside a movie studio and (2) watch a broadcast. To emulate George Washington after he chopped down the cherry tree, either one is, honestly, as easy to accomplish as getting a guaranteed admission through the Pearly Gates.

Now let me point out that we're not ungrateful for all the interest. We are more than grateful. If the motion-picture and radio fans for one moment lost their appreciation of, or their consuming interest in, the two great industries of Hollywood, all of us here would have to start peddling soap or find us a placer mine, like the one Plummer is looking for.

Radio Elected Chump

There are two reasons why we buy aspirin in bulk instead of dozen tins. One is the fact that radio and its stars are tremendously popular. The other is the equally well-grounded fact that motion pictures and its stars are tremendously popular. What's the connection? Lend me your shoulder, while I sob the story.

Every summer, the high-g geared motion-picture plants that dot the Hollywood landscape put on special shifts of watch-dogs to keep the visitors out.

Emergency appendectomy didn't affect Ken Carpenter's yen for bell-ringing, as KMH pals Pat Friday (l.) and John Trotter visited Letting a few thousand visitors tumble and jostle through the sets each day slows down production, sometimes even ruins "takes." This costs money, a lot of money. The studios can't afford it, any more than the Peoria storekeeper or the Manhattan tycoon could afford it, if the visitors delayed THEIR business. That's where the screen gives a headache to radio. For every one of the visitors turned down by a movie studio, there is one knocking on the gates of Hollywood Radio City. I can hear the bulk of that 100,000 a week knocking right now, on the inside of my skull!

The Easy Way . . .

Do you really want to see the inner workings of radio in Hollywood? Then spend forty cents and take a studio tour of Hollywood Radio City (my colleague, Hal Rorke of CBS, will be phoning me a protest as soon as this RADIO GUIDE hits the stand, and asking me why his network didn't get a plug). Of all the hours you will spend in Hollywood, few will be more profitable than the sixty minutes you follow the courteous, well-informed and neatly uniformed NBC guide, who will show you what makes the kilocycles go around and take you through every inch of the sanctums of broadcasting. On that tour you will see not only the countless gadgets that make a radio tick, but the chances are ten to one that you'll get a good look at one or all of such stars as Don Ameche, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Dorothy Lamour, Gale Page, Bob Burns, Irene Rich, Alec Templeton, Kay Kyser, Artie Shaw and others.

Mrs. Harold J. Bock vacations above at swank Hotel Samarkand, Santa Barbara. On the air she's Sybil Chism, "Lum and Abner" organist

And the Hard Way

If it's an actual broadcast you want to see—ouch! there's that headache again—well, that's a horse of another color. Generally, all ticket requests for commercial programs with an audience should be made directly to the sponsor, and not to NBC. But don't forget you're not the only one making the request. There are thousands like you, and each of the NBC Hollywood studios holds only 340 people at a time. Some shows are all booked up for months (and years—honest!) in advance. Others may provide you with the priceless pasteboards six to eight weeks in advance. You may be disappointed even if you do write for tickets months in advance.

Enter—the Villains

With the blossoms came the thorns. But we call them phonies. Whatever you do to get broadcast tickets, don't be a phony. Even autograph hunters look down on them.

The NBC press department in Hollywood is a natural contact point for newspapermen. We do our level best to accommodate any representative of the working press whenever it's humanly possible.

If the newspaperman is unknown to us, we never fill a request for tickets by telephone. We ask him to come in and present working press credentials. It's a funny thing, but the real McCoy, a working reporter, doesn't mind showing credentials. The fellows who kick up the fuss are the fellows who are posing as something they aren't.

The Phonies

The phonies, as we call them, aren't always a pain in the cranium. Sometimes they give us a laugh that breaks through the clouds of delicate responsibility like a spring ray of sunshine warming through the gray sky to melt the snows of spring. (That's almost poetry!)

Take the fellow who has been coming in to the office every week for more than a year. Does he have credentials? Brother, you said it. A million of

STARS ARE DIFFERENT

"Backstage in Chicago" discusses how stars unite against fish lies; finis of "Lights Out"

By Don Moore

Actor Carlton Brickert, lover of dogs, says right way to train animals is to help them, reward with kind word and food (see item below)

Program Potpourri

It's lights out for "Lights Out" after last week, with no explanation given yet and no definite date for its return; a lot of horror fans will be disappointed and Arch Oboler, now one of radio's leading playwrights, will sigh for auld lang syne. "Carters of Elm Street" returns to NBC September 25, with Virginia Payne, Ginger Jones and others. A new sketch, "The Trouble with Marriage," is being heard as a successor to "Houseboat Hannah." The cast: Mary Patton plays Patricia Hall; Stanley Harris plays Barry McClean; Frances Dale plays Aunt Kate; Janet Logan plays Linda; Burton Wright plays Johnny . . . Henry Hunter, young movie star, has returned to Chicago from Hollywood, to resume the title role in "Affairs of Anthony," which he played when the sketch was first aired (see picture at right) . . . Walter Blaufuss celebrated his birthday July 25 on "National Farm and Home Hour" by conducting a program of his own compositions (see picture in center column on this page).

Knocked Out by Brick-ert

You readers have been asking for more thumbnail sketches "by their own thumbnails." Here's one of Carlton Brickert, who portrays David Post in "Mary Marlin" and Mac in "Affairs of Anthony." Maybe you remember him for his early association with "Lum and Abner" as announcer. Says big, hearty Carlton:

"You've heard of actors boasting they 'knocked 'em cold,' haven't you? Well, I actually did it—literally! It happened on my first Coast-to-Coast broadcast back in 1932. My wife happened to be listening in California to the program, though she didn't know I was to be on it. She recognized my voice—and fainted!

"Before I got into radio, I had been a boy soprano in England, and had played leads on Broadway and in the movies. I was born in Indianapolis, moved to England with the family at six, came back to Indianapolis at twelve, joined a stock company in Syracuse when I was twenty-one, and landed on Broadway a few years later. There I played opposite Lenore Ulric two years in 'Kiki' and had the lead in the eighty-five-week run of 'White Cargo.' I also did other shows with Mary Boland, Florence Reed and Olga Petrova.

"Then I went to Hollywood, to be leading man for Evelyn Brent, Mary Astor and others in pictures. Radio came next, and I've been in it since that first 'sensational' broadcast in 1932. I'm still not sure whether my wife fainted from surprise or because of the quality of my performance!" (See picture at left.)

Conductor Walter Blaufuss received flower-covered baton from mother during birthday celebration on "Farm and Home Hour" (see item)

Oh Mytems

Red Skelton, "Avalon Time" comedian, can laugh now at what happened when he made his vaudeville debut in Paterson, N. J. After the show the manager came backstage and said, "Here's some money, kid." Said Skelton generously and somewhat proudly, "Oh, I'm not broke. Wait till our run is through." "Take it," urged the manager. "It's through!"

On a recent "National Farm and Home Hour" show Grandpa Putterball (Sid Ellstrom) suggested to Aunt Fanny (Fran Allison), the postmistress, that she flavor the glue on the postage stamps—and received letters from listeners in twenty-seven states backing the idea.

The radio people here are thinking of forming an SPFL (Society for Prevention of Fish Lies). They passed it off with scornful sniffs when "Vic and Sade" author Paul Rhymmer and announcer Charlie Lyon flew back from a Canadian vacation, reporting a morning's catch of 249 fish and insisting they threw back everything under twenty-five pounds. They gave vent to nothing more than a horse laugh when Gail (Kitty Keene) Henshaw came back from Michigan with the tale of a fourteen-and-one-half-pound trout catch, saying, "Oh, it was nothing."

They began to snarl and glower when actor Bob Griffin, after a Florida trip, yawned, "Tarpon? Oh, of course, but we got tired of hauling them in." Finally, when announcer Durward Kirby checked in from Colorado, open rebellion flared, for, said Durward, "Out there they don't bother with bait and tackle. They just reach into a brook, tickle a trout and he likes it so well he just snuggles up in their hands!"

From fishing to hunting—Ken and Hezzie Trietsch, of the Hoosier Hot Shots, told their wives they were going duck hunting. They bagged four pheasants and nine rabbits, but no ducks. However, they met another hunter who had shot three ducks. A swap was negotiated and the Hunting Hot Shots came home in triumph.

"Keep Fit to Music" Wallace gets many letters from insurance men, laundrymen, meter readers, icemen, etc., protesting they can't get into homes to do their duty while his program is on, for ladies taking the exercises refuse to be interrupted!

Stare-way to the Stars

Louise Fitch, of "Manhattan Mother," got the top ripped off her new roadster the first day out . . . Ken Griffin, leading man on "Road of Life," was Buck Rogers at the Century of Progress Exposition; it was his first acting job in Chicago . . . Cecile Roy added her thirteenth part on "Sunday Dinner at Aunt Fanny's" . . . Gabe "Hot Shot" Ward is an expert at ping pong, uses the game for both fun and reducing . . . Hannah Lee Childs, one of the regional selections in "Gateway to Hollywood" talent search, is now doing radio work in Chicago. The blond Detroit girl is appearing in "Stepmother," "Road of Life" and other shows.

Henry Hunter, shown acting with Lorette Fillbrandt, has resumed title role he originally played in "Affairs of Anthony" (see item, Col. 1)

Paul Page, romantic baritone, has joined the new-bandleader parade with a batonical debut at the Lake Lawn Hotel in Delavan Lake, Wis., commuting to Chicago for his daily air show . . . The Doughnut Corporation of America, while in convention in Chicago recently, elected Red Skelton first honorary vice-president in recognition of his achievements as the nation's number one doughnut dunker.

WE, THE FORGOTTEN PEOPLE

By James Street

The "Hermit of Tolstoy Park," eighty-two, of Montrose, Ala., wrote: "One day of that foul air (New York) might cause my death." His story of the simple life at a dime a day, the Committee decided, wouldn't be worth that

FAITH HOPE CHARITY HARDING of Trucksville, Pa., is either the greatest oracle of all times or, at the age of four, the cutest hoax this side of Delphi, for, according to her mother, Faith predicts floods, fires and other unpleasant doings, then warns the folks to look out.

However, little Hope was among the many who are not allowed to speak for radio's "We, the People." A multitude calls to be heard as we the people on "We, the People," but only a few are chosen. "We, the People" are sort of scared of us, the people, because we can get "We, the People" in all kinds of jams.

Take little Faith, for example. She's a sweet little girl but she might be TNT for "We, the People." Mrs. Harry Harding, the mother, says that when Charity was three months old she began talking. Before she was eighteen months old (all of this is the mother's story) she was predicting disasters. The child said one day that a school at Trucksville would burn, and gave the details. Mrs. Harding notified the editor of a Wilkes-Barre paper and, a month later, the thing happened, just as the child said it would. The child predicted the tragedy of the British flying-boat, Cavalier, and Mrs. Harding tried to warn the British ambassador, but he wouldn't talk to her. Faith, when she's in a predicting mood, will wake up at night and scream her prophecy. Mrs. Harding often wires or telephones a warning. There are many sworn records that events have come to pass as Hope predicted. Medical authorities have examined the girl and will make no effort to explain her gift, if any.

She looked like a natural for "We, the People." The program heard about her through Transradio News and Mrs. Harding was contacted. Then she was sent a questionnaire and Faith's availability was submitted to the Listeners' Radio Committee, the supreme court of "We, the People." She was rejected. There was no announced reason for the rejection, but studying the files we found what we believe kept Faith from us, the people. Hope may be edging into world-power politics and, her mother said, the child is ready to help stir the German people against their rulers and save civilization.

That's dynamite. It is amazing how many persons believe in prophecies, and if a child had predicted a change in German politics thousands believed it and stampeded millions. A child's simple words over such a powerful medium as radio might rupture the economic and social status of millions. Don't scoff. Remember Welles and Mars.

Selecting the people who are "We, the People" is a tough assignment. It's a competitive business, too, and Believe It Or Not Ripley often gets to the people before "We, the People." Even after a person is spotted for the program, there are many possible slips before he is presented from New York's CBS studio.

There are the interesting Beanes of Little Beanes Road, N. C., which is so far from town that it costs $3 to get a telegram delivered. Elvin Beane and his wife are only four feet tall. Many years ago they showed up in Randolph County, N. C., and opened a crossroads store. The folks called it the midget store because its furnishings were so small. At first the mountaineers were a mite curious about the Beanes, but the Beanes just kept selling beans and didn't tell much about themselves. The natives took them as neighbors, quit asking questions and named the crossroads Little Beanes Road. After weeks of correspondence, "We, the People" got to the Beanes and asked them to come to New York. But the Beanes didn't want to come. The sponsor of the program offered to reimburse them for business they might lose in taking the trip. But the Beanes said nothing shaking. They didn't offer any explanation, but wrote, "We can not appear on your program." The Beanes apparently do not care to discuss their private lives. It's enough to sharpen the appetite of any reporter.

Gabriel Heatter, emcee, "We, the People"

The "Hermit of Tolstoy Park" might have been persuaded to appear on the program but for one little line he wrote. "A trip to New York has no charms for me," he wrote. "One day in that city of foul air might cause my death." If "We, the People" could be blamed for a man's death, then "We, the People" would be in a mess. The hermit is Henry James Stewart of Montrose, Ala. He is eighty-two, and for fifteen years has lived in a house he built in Tolstoy Park. He named his park in honor of the man whose philosophy he follows. He eats only vegetables and lives for ten cents a day. Mr. Stewart never wears shoes or hats.

Many people want too much money to tell us about themselves. The program pays expenses to and from New York and, in many cases, will pay a person for his time, if his time doesn't come too high. Most persons do not expect to be paid any more than expenses.

I do not know what was behind the rejection of one of the most interesting applications I found in the rejection file. It concerns William D. Clark of Bethesda, Maryland, who has made more money than any man in history, a trifling $7,200,000,000. Mr. Clark has made $600,000 a day, and got paid for doing it. He was a note-plate printer until his recent retirement after forty-eight years' service in the United States Bureau of Engraving and Printing. His job was to print money, stamps, bonds and other securities. There are not more than one thousand of his craftsmen in North and South America, and five hundred of those are employed in Washington.

In making money, there are twelve notes to a sheet and 2,500 sheets are turned out daily. The denominations vary, of course. Mr. Clark frequently has handled $120,000,000 in one little bale of $10,000 notes. Once he printed a million-dollar bond, the highest denomination ever produced. Often visitors to the plant ask seriously for difficult job, for her story has been echoing in Holland since 1691, when Theodore Metzger was gathered into the arms of his fathers. Mrs. Wegner says she is heiress to a wad of the Metzger weather he felt "savage and ugly." The prospect of No-Soap with no pants and Dynamite McGee in a peeve apparently frightened "We, the People."

My favorite person who turned down "We, the People" is Mrs. Joe Brandel of Bonne Terre, Mo. Her son was implicated in a kidnaping and went to his mother's home for protection. She refused to shield him, and told him that unless he surrendered she would call the sheriff. Her son told her that if she called the law to call an ambulance, too.

Mrs. Brandel called the sheriff and her son killed himself. They found this note in his pocket:

"My death-warrant. Mother, you can forget you ever had but three boys. Tell the others to go straight and join the church. I'll meet you all again somewhere. I'm leaving $20 for you to buy some clothes. Don't give it away. Please do this for me. Bury me in my blue suit."

"We, the People" almost burned up the wires to get Mrs. Brandel to New York. However, in a faltering hand she wrote this refusal:

"I will answer your letter received yesterday. But I can not come out to talk on the radio program. I have 2 little girls to take care of. One is 8 and the other is 12. I have my home to take care of. My husband works on the WPA work. The crime that my boy done gave me a nervous breakdown. I am not able to come out there. I got such a shock over the trouble I am sick."

"We, the People" may be heard Tuesday night over the Columbia Broadcasting System at:
EDT 9:00 p.m. — EST 8:00 p.m.
CDT 8:00 p.m. — CST 7:00 p.m.
and later for the West Coast at 8:30 p.m. PST (9:30 p.m. MST).

It jumped a million francs during the time it took to write that figure. The mere fact that there's not that much gold and silver money in the world is

A man by the name of John Hodge Opera House Centennial Gargling Oil Samuel J. Tilden Ten Brook of Olcott, N. Y., wasn't given an opportunity to explain how come. In case you care, Mr. Ten Brook's father had a friend named John Hodge, owner of the opera house and an associate of the Gargling Oil company. When the boy was born in 1872, Samuel J. Tilden was a big-shot. It was a centennial year, and there you have it.

We can imagine why Ol' Dynamite McGee and his son, No-Soap, were barred. Mr. McGee and son sort of mosey around the Rockies. Dynamite reported he had to "throw No-Soap every fall to get clothes on him." He further reported:

"This so-called civilization is all poo anyhow. Out here (in the Rockies) we hole up for the winter, dang near any rainstorm we can go out and pick up gold nuggets. Right now we have opals, emeralds, rubies."

Mr. McGee wanted $100 for his services. He also reported that in stormy Inexplicable rejection was that of Wm. D. Clark, of Bethesda, Md., biggest money-maker of all time. He made $7,200,000,000—in U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing—but the only money that seemed real was his pay check samples. But to Mr. Clark and his co-workers the money they made never seemed like real money. "It seemed to us to be something entirely remote from money," he said. "It was completely detached from the same thing that we received in our pay envelope twice monthly."

He can spot counterfeits by the workmanship. The average life of a dollar bill is four months, and the automobile cut the life of small bills in half because filling-station attendants, in handling bills, get oil on them and they soon must be retired.

"We, the People" decided that Mrs. Christianna Wegner of Toledo couldn't tell her story within the time limit of two or three minutes. It would be a dif-not our worry, or the worry of most of us, the people.

Mr. Metzger got his start in life by saving a king, and the king gave him ships and cargo worth $3,000,000. From this humble start, he built up a fortune of $50,000,000. But when he died, William of Orange took the estate. As no will was found, Mr. Metzger's survivors had no legal weapons. But three years later a will was found and the courts of The Netherlands said it was valid. The courts were very nice about it, but the crown kept the dough. In 1874, the government of The Netherlands acknowledged the claims, with interest, as valid but demanded affidavits of descent. That's where Mrs. Wegner comes in. She says she can prove she's a

There were also the Beanes of Little Beanes Road, N. C., who opened a cross-roads store many years ago and have since sold only beans. "We, the People" asked them to go on the air, but the Beanes said nothing shaking!

The Light Within

A LEADING radio conductor told me the other day that when television becomes universal in the homes he intends to give some Haydn and Mozart performances, with the studio orchestra wearing powdered wigs and period costumes and the music-racks lighted by candles.

I reminded him that a hundred years ago Charles Lamb (who was not overfond of music), in one of his essays, invoked blessings on the man who had invented wax candles, which he considered the great comforter on the long nights of study and writing. At that time Chopin was composing all of his works by candle-light. In his book "Lutece," Heine describes one of Liszt's recitals in Paris in 1844 and speaks about the heat of the flaming candles. No doubt the brilliant early concert pieces of Liszt were written by the light of candles. Bach and Handel knew nothing better. In Haydn's diary for November 5, 1701, we find that the London fog was so dense "I had to light a candle as early as eleven o'clock in the morning."

The ancient Greeks and Romans wrote by candle-light, but later adapted a primitive form of lamp consisting of one or two wicks projecting from a vessel containing some kind of oil. Cicero, writing to his friend Atticus, about 40 B.C., said that he burnt the Atticus letter with the same lamp by which he had written the answer.

We write by electric light, but thus far nothing much superior to the works of Cicero, Shakespeare, Bach, Beethoven, Chopin has appeared. Perhaps the outside illumination is not as important as the light of genius.

Speaking Up

By V. Vidal

WITH all the moaning about the decline of the Salzburg Festival since Hitler's advent, and the excitement over the broadcasts of the Lucerne Festival, what, I wondered, about music festivals in America? I had, of course, heard of the Bethlehem, Worcester and Berkshire Festivals. But I had never been to any of them. So I decided to look into the situation and spent part of my vacation on a busman's holiday in the beautiful Berkshire Mountains—listening to music.

I found the country around Stockbridge, Lenox and Pittsfield, Mass., simply reeking with history and tradition. Hawthorne, Longfellow, the Beechers, the Fields, Holmes, Melville, Bryant, Edith Wharton are only a few of the names associated with it. The white houses with their velvet lawns and enormous trees look, as though they have been there for centuries, as, in fact, some of them have. Authentic picturesqueness, so much a part of the Salzburg charm, is there in abundance. I found, too, a community passionately interested in its music festival, from the hotel bell-boys to the Boston blue bloods. All of them have worked to keep snob appeal away, to make the Festival a community enterprise of purely artistic interest. Tickets are relatively inexpensive. One can live cheaply and well at any one of the guest houses scattered around the towns. And the plumbing is all that could be desired, which was more than one could say for Salzburg!

Originally the idea of the late Henry Hadley, American composer and conductor, the Berkshire Festival was first held in 1934 in the horse-show ring of an old estate near Stockbridge. In 1936 the Boston Symphony under Serge Koussevitzky was chosen as permanent orchestra, and finally in 1937 the Festival was presented with the marvelous estate of "Tanglewood," where Hawthorne wrote his "Wonder Book" and "Tanglewood Tales." A music shell, and later an open-roofed shed as a protection against rain were built on the grounds. Next year, a six weeks' music course for musicians and laymen will be held at "Tanglewood" as a preliminary to the Festival.

Already "Tanglewood" attracts an international audience. I heard a dozen languages spoken. The grounds are thrown open early, and many people come and have supper or lunch under the trees. They then drift into the shed and listen to great music played superbly by a magnificent orchestra under a conductor who ranks almost equally with Toscanini. The smooth lawns dip down to a silver lake and the rolling Berkshire hills. At night the moon gleams through the tall old trees. True, sometimes it rains, fierce, brief storms. The rain pelts down on the shed roof. Dr. Koussevitzky, with a wry grimace at the sky, lays down his baton until the elements subside. The audience laughs and takes everything with good humor and patience. The fading thunder has a trick of blending impressively with the kettledrums. I found "Scheherazade" considerably improved with thunder and lightning accompaniment.

Last year the concerts were broadcast. This year they were not. The March of Music would like to know why radio goes to the trouble and expense of airing foreign festivals and neglects our own. If America is to build up a Salzburg tradition the first to foster it should be the networks. Conceived in the American tradition, carried through by democratic means, supported by the eager, unflinching and active interest of the cultural hub of our country, the Berkshire Festivals deserve to become a national event, and something for every American to be proud of.

Let radio be in the vanguard of any effort to spread the music festival idea in the United States!

John Carter, young operatic tenor, will be heard on "Chicagoland Music Festival" broadcast, MBS, Sat.

FORECAST

VIOLIN and piano prodigies are fairly familiar to radio audiences, but a nine-year-old orchestral conductor is something entirely new. Young Lorin Maazel, born in France of American parents, has played with several large orchestras, so his appearance on Sunday with the National Music Camp Orchestra from the New York World's Fair is just routine stuff to him. For air listeners, it will be something of a novelty.

Columbia Symphony Orchestra, CBS. Howard Barlow, conductor. Overture to "Alfonso and Estrella" (Schubert), Adagio and Fugue (Foote), Three English Folk-Songs (Vaughan Williams), Symphony No. 2 (Schubert).

Strange how nearly all the great symphonic composers were fascinated with opera. Some tried their hand at it like Handel, Haydn, Schubert, Beethoven, Liszt and Mozart, but only the last named remains popular on the lyric stage. Beethoven's single attempt, "Fidelio," still is regarded by many experts as more symphonic than operatic. Brahms long regretted that he could not find a suitable libretto to set to music. After he heard "Meistersinger," he definitely gave up and said, "Why try to write an opera after such a perfect one?"

Schubert finished "Alfonso and Estrella" in 1822, one year after the first performance of his song masterpiece "The Erlking." The latter still registers strongly, while the opera is practically forgotten. Barlow's revival of the overture has historical interest, reminding of Schubert's melodic wealth, which more than makes up for his lack of theatrical skill. The same composer's second symphony came to life when he was only eighteen, the same year that saw the creation of "The Erlking."

thought and depth of feeling. However, the whole composition shows sustained inspiration, and is the first concerto to foreshadow the later style so long in vogue, to feature the solo element and make the orchestra supply chiefly the harmonies and rhythmic pulse. The two violins are employed not to emphasize contrast but rather, as Parry, the eminent Bach biographer says, "to engage in sisterly discourse."

Schumann's fourth symphony has the charm of all his works in that form, which are tunefully engaging and gentle in sentiment, rather than ever stormily dramatic or truly tragic.

What is our own Deems Taylor doing in this Latin-American company? Perhaps proving to our exotic neighbors that North America can produce musicians as well as millionaires. Taylor's tone pictures of the circus, distinctive of Yankee land, are filled with eloquent suggestions, familiar to patrons of the beloved trained menagerie, clowns, freaks and daredevil risks.

The rest of the music on this program is not familiar hereabouts, and therefore the more welcome as demonstrating the symphonic voice from South of Panama. Williams (pupil of Cesar Franck), now seventy-seven-years old, has three symphonies to his credit. He directs the Buenos Aires Conservatory, with its 92 branches scattered over Argentina. # When Operatic Bent Goes Gaily Tuneful

COMPOSERS of grand opera have here and there unbent and catered to the merry muse. Mozart, Verdi, Richard Strauss and even Wagner ("The Marriage of Figaro," "Falstaff," "Rosenkavalier," "Meistersinger") fished for laughs and got them with their words and music. So did Smetana ("The Bartered Bride"), Nicolai ("The Merry Wives of Windsor") and Rossini ("The Barber of Seville"). However, none of the foregoing wrote what is termed operetta, which literally means a short opera but which in ordinary acceptance is considered a comic opera with spoken dialog, catchy music, and usually some dance interpolations.

In a previous article there was mention of the Opera Buffa of Italy and the Opera Bouffe of France. Out of those forms grew the modern light-some stage pieces which found their highest flowering in the creations of Gilbert and Sullivan and Johann Strauss, and ultimately led to the sophisticated, speedy, foot-stirring, ear-tickling productions typical of the America of today. Let us not be snobbish about this thing; quite a few operettas and their offspring rank worthily with many a grand opera. The proof is that "The Mikado" and "Fledermaus" have had numerous hearings on the grand-opera stages of Europe, and the last-named was done also at the Metropolitan in New York. That Johann Strauss masterpiece is certainly first cousin to such "highbrow" works as Flotow's "Martha," Donizetti's "Elixir of Love," "Don Pasquale," and Mozart's "Così fan Tutte," all of them in the regular repertoire of the leading lyric theaters.

Light opera originated with Italy's early sixteenth-century intermezzi, pieces crude in comic dialog interspersed with thin music, but that country's composers never became proficient in that realm of operetta. France did better. Already in 1825 and 1830, respectively, Boieldieu's "La Dame Blanche" and Auber's "Fra Diavolo" came to hearing and their tunes were sung and whistled everywhere. Born in Cologne in 1819, Jacques Offenbach went to Paris as a very young man, and became to France what Sullivan was to England. Over one hundred operettas poured from Offenbach's pen, at least a dozen of them establishing themselves as world favorites. Lecocq, Audran, Planquette (ask your grandparents about them) reigned next.

Vienna always has outstripped Berlin as a home for the merry musical muse. The Danube capital cradled Suppe's "Boccaccio," "The Beautiful Galathea," "Fatinitza"; Genée's "Nanon"; Millocker's "The Beggar Student," "Poor Jonathan"; Fall's "Dollar Princess"; Kalman's "Sari"; and the delectable material by Lehar (modern successor to the waltz throne of Johann Strauss), notably his sensational "Merry Widow."

England climbed to the top with the incomparable lyrics of Gilbert and the imperishable music of Sullivan. Other delightful stuff from the Thames region has been Jakobowski's (right name, Ed. Belleville) "Erminie," Caryll's "The Pink Lady," Leslie Stuart's "Floradora."

Of late years America undeniably leads the universe in light music, with both detached songs and stage works. Lifting melodies, humor, and irresistible rhythms characterize the contributions of our composing lads. The first comic operas recognized as indigenous to our soil were Willard Spenser's "The Little Tycoon," Woolson Morse's "Wang" (with De Wolf Hopper and Della Fox) and Gustave Kerker's "The Belle of New York." In rapid succession followed Sousa's "El Capitan" and "The Bride Elect"; De Koven's ever lovely "Robin Hood"; Luder's "Prince of Pilsen," "King Dodo" (with the unforgettable Raymond Hitchcock), "Sultan of Sulu"; Harl Hoschna's "Madame Sherry"—Are you old enough to recall his "Every Little Movement Has a Meaning of Its Own"?

Even the less aged can still summon tunes from the fascinating, fertile Victor Herbert's "Wizard of the Nile," "Babes in Toyland," "Red Mill," "Naughty Marietta"; gifted Rudolf Friml's "Firefly," "Rose Marie"; clever Sigmund Romberg's "Blossom Time" (Schubert's Unfinished Symphony, please write), "Maytime," "Student Prince," "Desert Song."

Jerome Kern is above all other American musical-comedy composers, some of his fancies reaching the dignity of operettas—"Sally," "Show Boat" (whose "Ol' Man River" has become an American classic), "The Cat and the Fiddle," "Roberta."

Irving Berlin is a tunesmith of the Tin Pan Alley type (the real "one finger" kind), but some of his songs have found lasting place in the affections of our public. Lamented George Gershwin—does one have to list his haunting output for our present generation? "Of Thee I Sing," "Let 'Em Eat Cake," "Strike Up the Band" linger on the tips of our ears. He remains the king of jazz. Prince royals are Vincent Youmans ("No, No, Nanette," "Hit the Deck"), Richard Rodgers ("Connecticut Yankee," "I Married an Angel"), Cole Porter ("Gay Divorcee," "Leave It to Me"). A word or two should go also to George Cohan, whose music is perhaps not subtle or distinctive but jinglyingly expresses the spirit of the Broadway of a past day. All in all, America can be proud of its place in the history of stage music that strives to please and stimulate surface sentiment rather than to make profound appeal to the emotions. Somewhat commercial, perhaps our facile melodists function under the slogan "Give us the royalties and let grand-opera composers have the immortality."

THESE ARE THE STRANGEST

This is not a man; it's a statue! Japanese sculptor Masachiki did it of himself when told he was to die, fashioning it from 2,000 pieces of wood, using his own toenails, finger-nails, and hair for greater realism

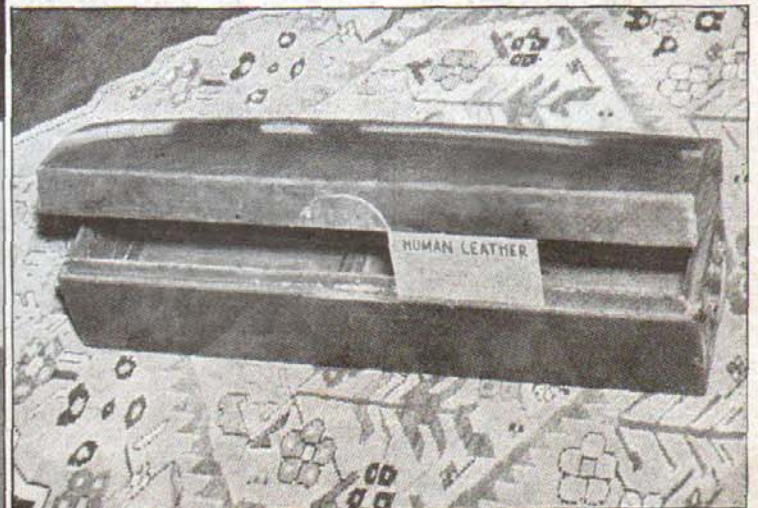

Bob Ripley

THE polyglot island of Manhattan presents some passing strange sights, but by all accounts the strangest of them are to be seen in Bob Ripley's new Odditorium. You've tsk-tsked over his "Believe It Or Not" cartoons; you've thrilled to his weird radio dramatizations. Now you can see Ripley's oddities with your own eyes! The "Believe It Or Not" man had an Odditorium at the 1933 World's Fair in Chicago and he has another at the San Francisco Fair this summer. But at 48th and Broadway, housed in the famous old Hollywood Restaurant, is the largest and most pleasantly horrifying of them all. Playing to capacity houses thirteen hours daily, Ripley offers his visitors freakish examples of human oddities, of nature gone berserk—not in cartoons or dramatizations, but in cold, spine-chilling reality. It is from his Broadway curiosity shop, exhibits from which are pictured here, that Bob Ripley now brings you his "Believe It Or Not" show over CBS, Friday nights.

A less ghostly curio is seen here in the Chinese corner of the Odditorium. Perched high above the floor, overlooking treasures and objects d'art from his native clime, is a rooster with twenty-four feet of trailing tail

Inconspicuous though it is, this exhibit of leather made from the skin of a Chinese convict rivals in popularity even such sensational shows as Ripley's Professor Mayfield (not shown), who places blow-torch into his open eye

Salt Lake City Speaks

Dear V. O. L.:
Here are a couple of noteworthy items from Salt Lake City. First, it is believed hereabout that the Tabernacle Choir of the Mormon church has the record for the oldest continuous sustaining Coast-to-Coast program on the air. This venerable over KSL and CBS has passed its tenth anniversary as a Coast-to-Coaster.

Even if there is dispute as to that claim, I'm sure there can be no doubt that the world's biggest radio set was displayed in Salt Lake City's annual Covered Wagon Days fete recently. It was built especially for KSL and was twenty-three by nine by eight feet. Quite a set in these days of midget portables.

Warren Camp, Salt Lake City, Utah

● As to the big radio, we'll probably receive a lot of Liars Club letters setting forth other claims; in regard to the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, whether or not it is the oldest sustaining network program, it has an excellent record.—Editor.

Sincere Respects

Dear V. O. L.:
In view of the continual friction between movies and radio, I thought it was interesting what Will Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, said recently in a discussion over NBC of radio, press and movies.

Here is what he said: "To the radio—the miracle of yesterday, the delightful companion, the discriminating informant and the charming entertainer of today—we pay our sincere respects. This mighty force in America has been employed magnificently for good."

Mrs. B. N. Karnes, Los Angeles, Calif.

● Mr. Hays' generous tribute is an accurate picture.—Editor.

Shut-In Corner

Dear V. O. L.:
I am a shut-in ill of tuberculosis and have been here taking the cure for eight years. Although I am able to be up now, I will be here at least another year, perhaps longer.

Radio has played a big part in my recovery, as for five years I was unable to do anything except listen to my favorite programs.

My hobby is stamp-collecting, U. S.

Readers are invited to express their opinions on this page. Please mail your letters to V. O. L., 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

and foreign. Next to radio, reading is my favorite pastime. I also do embroidery work of all kinds and sell my finished pieces to buy my necessities.

I don't get much mail, and I'd so much enjoy hearing from others.

Edna Anderson,
Fairview Sanatorium,
Normal, Ill.

Dear V. O. L.:

I've been a shut-in for eleven years. Day after day I sit here and watch the world go by, listen to my radio, sew, crochet and read. My little radio means so much to me. Some years ago when Phil Cook was on the air every evening I had an amusing experience.

I was in great pain, and had just remarked to my nurse that every bone in my body ached, when, as though in answer to my remark, Phil Cook's voice said, "As my parting thought tonight I would say, 'If every bone in your body aches, just be thankful you're not a herring.'"

My tears turned into laughter, and so often since I've taken his advice.

Cornelia Hall,
345 Brookline St.,
Needham, Mass.

● More and more shut-ins are reporting pleasure and benefit from associations made through this department. More power to them.—Editor.

Green No Greenhorn

Dear V. O. L.:
There's a certain bandleader whose name doesn't seem to have the publicity punch of Kyser, Goodman, Lombardo, and others, but I'd like to point out a few things about him that set him apart in a class by himself.

The leader I speak of is Johnny Green. He has three commercial shows on three different networks. That can't be topped. He's not only a fine conductor. He's a well-known song-writer as well. And he is also soloist for his programs. Name me a bandleader that has such a record for versatility and accomplishment.

Gary Flanders, Zanesville, Ohio

● And Johnny is only thirty years old. The kid's doing all right, eh?—Editor.

Smart Alec

Dear V. O. L.:
I can't resist writing of my admiration for the musical genius of Alec Templeton. He certainly brings a breath of fresh air to radio after a winter season of quiz and swing. His classics, "swing-phonies," and novelty skits are all equally good.

Mrs. L. E. Butler, Brazil, Ind.

● Alec is not only talented but also wise in giving to the listeners a varied, well-balanced entertainment. He will also have a program of his own this fall.—Editor.

Feminine Touch Needed

Dear V. O. L.:
I would hardly care to provoke a battle between the sexes on this page, yet it seems to me that a woman should be given an opportunity to run a radio station. Having been around the studios a good many years, I have had ample opportunity to discover just where our male executives have fallen down.

Primarily, they have fallen down when it comes to decorating a studio. Our studios today are practically bare rooms lacking warmth, comfort and color. Redecorating the studios would be my first reform if I were running a station. I'd put up colorful drapes, paintings, and install more comfortable chairs, and even lamps.

My second important reform would be toward developing our future air artists. At present there is no definite method of developing potential stars. Even before a newcomer becomes a sustaining artist, he or she must in a measure have "arrived." My plan would be to organize a school to be attached to the station. Promising youngsters would be enrolled free of charge, their talent developed, and ample time on the air given them to gain experience.

Benay Venuta, New York, N. Y.

● The first reform measure sounds all right to us, the second splendid. In the latter, we believe, Miss Venuta has touched upon one of the most glaring defects and crying needs of radio—the talent-development problem. We hope Miss Venuta, who, by the way, is an air artist, gets a chance to put through her reforms.—Editor.

Good Support

Dear V. O. L.:
Hearing the Rudy Vallee show on August 3, I was impressed with the acting in the sketch starring John Barrymore. I thought the two supporting players were fine. I read in a newspaper column here that the columnist thought the actors were Art Van Harvey and Betty Winkler. I think I know their voices and I believe it was someone else. Can you tell me who these players were?

Gladys Lingrove, New York, N. Y.

● The old cab driver was played by Parker Fennelly and the girl performer by Mercedes McCambridge.—Editor.

Like Mother, Like Son

Dear V. O. L.:
I thought it would be interesting to your readers that music clubs in western Pennsylvania are featuring programs of the compositions of Donald Dickson's mother, who is a voice teacher and at fifty is working for a master's degree in organ. She has received a degree in psychology in the past year, and has one pupil in voice admitted to the Royal Academy of Budapest, Hungary, one to Oberlin and one to Curtis Institute.

Mrs. Bernice Lathrop, Pittsburgh, Pa.

● Donald Dickson must be proud of his talented mother, even as she must be proud of her talented son.—Editor.

Eccentricities

Dear V. O. L.:
I have heard a great deal about mannerisms of radio stars and movie stars—such as, men acting with hats on in the studios, or with pipes in their hands, women flipping their hands a certain way, and so on. Also I read that many performers, like baseball players, have superstitious acts they must perform before broadcasts to give them good luck. Do they do these things for effect, or are they actually genuine?

Rita Morrison, Birmingham, Ala.

● Most of these mannerisms are genuine. Some are, of course, affected. See pictures above for the most unique of all such eccentricities—and associates swear it's not a gag.—Editor.

LISTENING TO LEARN

Person-to-Person

● Radio will play a major part in Chicago summer school graduation exercises on August 17, when Superintendent William H. Johnson uses station WJJD's facilities to send his address into thirteen elementary schools and eleven high-school auditoriums. In addition to the address by Superintendent Johnson, the program will include music by school choruses and speeches by students. At the conclusion of the broadcast the individual schools will hold their own private programs and award diplomas. Here is another novel use of radio in school-administration work. Chicago followed a similar plan last spring.

● TIP OF THE WEEK: A dramatization of "The Outcasts of Poker Flat" in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Bret Harte. The special musical score, composed by Wells Hively for a previous dramatization of this work, will be used in the anniversary performance on Friday, August 25. For further details refer to the Friday "Good Listening Guide."

● The atmosphere in the radio office of the University of Chicago is tingling these days over the chain of incidents that arose from Washington gossip-columnist Drew Pearson's statement, with reference to the next Republican national convention, that ex-President Hoover "has had men down in Louisiana and Mississippi buying up the delegations down there." Following this statement on the July 30 University of Chicago Round Table broadcast, Mr. Hoover demanded an apology and retraction. The University obligingly responded on the following Sunday's broadcast with the statement: "We have ample assurance it is absolutely untrue." A few days later Drew Pearson announced from Washington that he had instructed his attorney to bring legal proceedings against Frederic C. Woodward, vice-president of the University of Chicago, for a "damaging statement" made during a Round Table broadcast Sunday, August 5.

Little can be said in defense of the University in this incident because it is a clear-cut case of poor management. The program director cannot claim he was not prepared for what happened because on the Tuesday preceding the broadcast in which Pearson participated he got in dutch with Senator Tydings in a similar way. Usual round-table procedure is to have another participant accentuate the fact that the statement is the personal opinion of the man who made it, and may or may not be true. That leaves the program itself out in the clear. The regrettable aspect of this incident is the possibility that it may place the privilege of ad-lib broadcasting on trial.

This is the first major incident to occur since Allen Miller, the man who originated and developed the technique of round-table broadcasting, was released from the responsibility for the University of Chicago program. Those who know Allen find it hard to picture such a thing happening under his nose.

The tiger swallowtail butterfly is one of the insects which will be discussed on "Nature Sketches"

Nature Sketches

"Six legs or eight?" is the unusual title of the August 19 broadcast to be picked up from the vicinity of the Moraine Park Museum. Here the Junior Nature School under the leadership of Park Naturalist Raymond Gregg will be studying the habits and actions of some of the insects and arachnids of the Rocky Mountain region. As they watch the antics and learn about the interesting ways of life of moths and butterflies, ants, spiders and grasshoppers, the microphone will pick up their remarks and discussions about what they observe.

● Among the anecdotes and illustrative descriptions to be presented by Mr. Gregg will be the story of the "skin busters" (grasshoppers); the "window-curtain" tongue of the nectar-feeding moths and butterflies; ants that play carpenter, and "warts" that insects built. The story of "a spider that swings it" will add an ultra-modern touch to the discussions.

"Nature Sketches" may be heard Saturdays over NBC at:
 EDT 11:45 a.m. — EST 10:45 a.m.
 CDT 10:45 a.m. — CST 9:45 a.m.
 MST 8:45 a.m. — PST 7:45 a.m.

T. V. Smith gives philosopher's viewpoint as well as politician's on books on history and biography

That Man Smith

One of the most dynamic characters in radio today is a college professor. And, although a professorship in itself is enough to keep an average man well occupied, it forms but a part of this man's noteworthy activities. The man (T. V. Smith is his name, incidentally) is also a politician, and this unusual combination of capacities has succeeded in making him, via radio, a national figure. At times exhibiting capabilities that have distinguished him in one field, at times showing mastery of the other, T. V. Smith has arrived in five crowded years to positions of national prominence both as an educator and as a politician. Statements he has made over the air illustrate the working of a keen mind.

On Lincoln: "How prudently we proud men compete for nameless graves while now and then some starveling of fate forgets himself into immortality."

On tariff war between states: "... the only way for forty-eight states to carry on as neighbors is to build a forty-ninth state; namely, 'a state of mind' to respect each other's rights in furthering a greater nation of finer states."

These are but a few gems plucked from a record of Smith quotations over the air. His philosophical meanderings, expressed before a microphone with a natural elegance of speech and a keen understanding of the possibilities and limitations of broadcasting made Smith a "natural" from the start of his career in radio.

Smith is a graduate of the University of Texas. He taught literature and philosophy at Texas Christian University before coming to the University of Chicago, and has written a number of books on political philosophy. After serving a full term as state senator in Illinois, Smith was sent to Washington as Democratic congressman-at-large from that state. Although he was one of the first round-tables* back in 1931 and has appeared on a countless number of broadcasts since then in defense of his viewpoints, he attracted the greatest amount of attention last spring in a debate series with Ohio Senator Robert H. Taft. Smith's most unusual radio assignment is his current stint pinch-hitting for Professor John T. Frederick on the "Of Men and Books" series. He's a fellow who has been doing unexpected things all his life; so when it was announced that he would debate with himself over the air those who knew him were not surprised. Reviewing books, particularly those devoted to history and biography, Smith debates on one side from the viewpoint of a philosopher, then gives a politician's outlook. Interesting things well done by interesting people—that's good formula for success in radio.

"Of Men and Books" may be heard Wednesdays over CBS at:
 EDT 5:15 p.m. — EST 4:15 p.m.
 CDT 4:15 p.m. — CST 3:15 p.m.
 MST 2:15 p.m. — PST 1:15 p.m.

THE WEEK'S BETTER PROGRAMS

COMEBACK Sunday, NBC

Those listeners who sigh for radio's golden era of bygone days will get a thrill—and so will other listeners—when a hit program of a decade ago returns to the air this week. It's "Enna Jettick Melodies," and it will feature this time Jimmy Shields, rising young tenor; the Norsemen, veteran quartet; D'Artega's fiery orchestra; and Rosamond Ames, style expert. Of course the surge of time since the good old days will bring the inevitable "streamlining."

Eastern Daylight 8:00 p.m. Eastern Standard 4:00 p.m.	Central Daylight 4:00 p.m. Central Standard 3:00 p.m.	Mountain 2:00 p.m. Pacific 1:00 p.m.

QUADRUPLED NEWS Sunday, NBC

A firm that makes mattresses to make you sleep well begins this week to give you "Four Star News" to keep you wide awake. It's almost a complete newspaper, covering four important phases of news—international, national, sports and women's interests. These fields will be covered respectively by these specialists: H. R. Baukhage, NBC's Washington observer; veteran Graham McNamee; brilliant sports reporter Bill Stern; and Nola Luxford.

Eastern Daylight 8:15 p.m. Eastern Standard 4:15 p.m.	Central Daylight 4:15 p.m. Central Standard 3:15 p.m.	Mountain 3:15 p.m. Pacific 1:15 p.m.

KOSTELANETZ BACK Monday, CBS

It's "Tune-Up Time" again. This popular program of last winter returns to CBS this week. The show will feature as before Andre Kostelanetz and his orchestra, Kay Thompson and her Rhythm Singers, and guest artists. Walter O'Keefe, comedian and m.c., will not be in the cast this time. Instead Tony Martin, romantic tenor, well known to radio and screen, will do double duty as soloist and master of ceremonies.

Eastern Daylight 8:00 p.m. Eastern Standard 7:00 p.m.	Central Daylight 7:00 p.m. Central Standard 6:00 p.m.	Mountain 9:00 p.m. Pacific 8:00 p.m.

RED CROSS DAY Tuesday, NBC

The bloody battle of Solferino, which in 1859 changed Henri Dunant from a young Swiss traveler to a crusader, paving the way for the Red Cross Treaty of Geneva, will be dramatized this Tuesday in a program commemorating the seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of the international Red Cross. Also on the program will be speeches by Max Huber, president of the international organization, and Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross.

Eastern Daylight 8:30 p.m. Eastern Standard 2:30 p.m.	Central Daylight 2:30 p.m. Central Standard 1:30 p.m.	Mountain 12:30 p.m. Pacific 11:30 a.m.

TIME TO LISTEN Thursday, CBS

If you live in a small town and want to know what time it is, you probably call a neighbor or listen for a mine whistle. If you live in the city, you can call a certain phone number and a girl will say, "At the next tone signal the time will be . . ." She says that every few seconds all day. Irving Reis wrote a unique play based upon this practice and how the fates of many lives may be woven around one such phone number. In New York the number is Meridian 7-1212, and that number is the title of this week's outstanding offering in the special series of repeat dramas in the "Columbia Workshop Festival."

Listen in for something dynamic in radio dramatics.

FAMOUS STORY Friday, NBC

A famous story by a famous figure will be dramatized this Friday. One hundred years ago from that date was born one of America's best-known literary men of the past—Bret Harte—who immortalized the pioneer West in his stirring stories. One of Harte's most noted and popular stories is "The Outcasts of Poker Flat." In honor of the one-hundredth anniversary of his birth that particular story will be presented in dramatic form with a specially written musical background. The cast has not yet been announced, but will undoubtedly be a carefully picked group of performers.

REALLY COLOSSAL Saturday, CBS

This radio show is actually mammoth—the tenth annual Chicago Land Music Festival—for 8,000 people will take active part in the performance, and Soldier Field, which accommodates more than 100,000, is expected to be virtually filled with spectators. Among the many features to be heard will be solos by tenor John Carter, a 100-piece symphony orchestra, a 5,000-voice chorus. Special highlight will be vocal numbers by Marjorie Farrage, twenty-one-year-old British singer. Miss Farrage was winner of a contest for this purpose held in England. She will be flown across the Atlantic by Yankee Clipper.

Eastern Daylight 10:00 p.m. Eastern Standard 9:00 p.m.	Central Daylight 9:00 p.m. Central Standard 8:00 p.m.	Mountain 7:00 p.m. Pacific 6:00 p.m.

On Short Waves: Edited by Chas. A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

Times given are Eastern Daylight Time. For EST and CDT subtract 1 hour; CST, 2 hours; MST, 3 hours; PST, 4 hours.

THE new type "frequency modulated" radio broadcasts will be filling the air in this country within the next year, Dr. W. R. G. Baker, head of General Electric's radio and television division, predicts.

Frequency modulation, one of the latest developments in the field of radio, makes possible for the first time practically static-free and man-made interference-free reception with a high fidelity that has hitherto been unattainable with the currently used "amplitude modulated" radio systems.

Present receivers will not be able to pick up frequency modulated broadcasts, and it will not be possible to change them so they can. The public need not fear that present-day radios will be obsolete immediately, since "amplitude modulated" programs will continue to be broadcast for some time to come. Frequency modulation will be sold to the public at the outset as another band on a new receiver which will pick up both type broadcasts.

The frequency modulated system employs the use of ultra-short radio waves, and the signals broadcast travel only slightly beyond the distance of the horizon, according to Dr. Baker's explanation. This characteristic is said to be the open sesame for an almost unlimited number of broadcasting channels with plenty of room for nationwide chains and local stations galore.

Frequency modulated transmitters can be built for approximately one-fourth the cost of the usual station, and with the possibility of overcrowding the airwaves removed, many new broadcasters should crop up.

The Ebor Handicap, the national summer racing festival of the north of England, run on the attractive Knaves-mire race course, just outside York, will be broadcast on Wednesday, August 23, at 9:55 a.m. EDT, over Daventry stations GSF, GSG and GSJ.

Effective since July 1, the revised schedule of overseas transmissions of the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan has been broadcast as follows: Daily, for China and the South Seas, from 8 to 10:30 a.m. over JZJ (11.8) and JZK (15.16); for Europe, from 3 to 5 p.m., over JZJ and JZK; for South America, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., over JZJ (9.535) and JZL (17.785); for the Eastern Districts of North America, from 9 to 10 p.m., over JZL, and for the Pacific Coast of North America, from 1 to 2:30 a.m. EDT, over JZK.

The following additional calls and frequencies have been assigned to the German short-wave stations: DXH (6.175), DXI (6.195), DXJ (7.24), DXK (21.67), DXL (21.73), DXM (7.27) and DXN (21.74).

According to Roger Legge of Binghamton, N. Y., the following frequencies and calls have already been assigned for use in the new 41-meter broadcast band (7.2 to 7.3 megs) which will be officially inaugurated on September 1: 2RO (7.24 and 7.27), Rome, Italy; CSW8 (7.26), Lisbon, Portugal; DJJ (7.29), DXM (7.27) and DXJ (7.24), Zeesen, Germany; GSU (7.26) and GSW (7.23), Daventry, England; JIE (7.295), Hsingking, Manchukuo; JLG (7.285) and JVV (7.257), Tokyo, Japan; LLR (7.24), Oslo, Norway; OZU (7.26), Copenhagen, Denmark; TPB11 (7.28), Paris, France; 7.24 megs, for Belgrade, Yugoslavia; 7.21, 7.24, 7.27 and 7.29 megs, for India.

Alfred Tuff of London, England, writes that a new station at Leopoldville in the Belgian Congo is operating on optional frequencies of 13.17 or 9.525 megs, from 6:25 to 8 a.m. EDT, with a power of 250 watts. The call is believed to be OQ2AA. . . . A new transmitter at Damascus, Syria, is being heard by listeners in England, operating on a frequency of 12.295 megs, daily from 2 to 3 p.m. EDT.

With new technical features that make them the most modern of television relay stations, the NBC mobile units are now in service again, providing New York viewers with outdoor programs on Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 4 p.m. EDT. A second iconoscope camera was installed in the telemobiles. Evening studio programs will again be resumed on Tuesday, August 29, over W2XBS. At present, the Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evening programs are being given over to the telecasting of notable film releases of recent years; for example, "The Marines Are Coming" will be shown on Tuesday, August 22, at 8:30 p.m. EDT, while "Abraham Lincoln" will be shown at the same time on Thursday, August 24. . . . Television transmissions on a regular scheduled basis have been inaugurated by the Italian Broadcasting Corporation at Rome, Italy.

How many listeners heard ultra-high frequency station W2XGB of New York City attempting to communicate with the planet Mars on Thursday, July 27, from 11:15 to 11:30 p.m. EDT?

Short-wave programs of American stations are shown along with the regular listings beginning on page 21. These are indicated, for example, by (aw-11.87) in parentheses following a program listing. This means that on 11.87 megacycles the same program may also be heard over an American short-wave station. Please note that foreign stations do not always adhere precisely to their announced program schedules.

MR. FAIRFAX

No personal replies to questions unless accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miss Doris Green, Baldwin, N. Y.—Fran Allison, songstress, was born in La Porte, Iowa, November 20, 1907. She was graduated from Cole College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in 1927 and at that time began her radio career, plus becoming a school teacher. In July, 1937, she obtained a contract with the National Broadcasting Company. Fran is five feet eight inches tall, weighs 130 pounds, is a brown-eyed brunette.

Mrs. Grady Clements, Moultrie, Ga.—Ed Prentiss plays the role of Ned Holden in "The Guiding Light." At the present time Matt Crowley has no regular programs on any of the networks. John Patrick "Jack" Costello, announcer, was born in Sauk Center, Minnesota, on May 31, 1908. He attended Sauk Center High School and Normal School with the intention of entering the priesthood, then became interested in the hotel business, later decided he would try writing and enrolled for English and journalism at MacAlester College, then the University of Minnesota. Upon being graduated he worked as a reporter on the St. Paul Dispatch, at the same time working as a master of ceremonies with vaudeville units. Later he took an audition at KSTP and in 1931 became an apprentice announcer at this station. In February of 1936 he joined NBC's announcing staff. Jack is six feet tall, weighs 160 pounds, has brown eyes, black hair and mustache, a fair complexion. He is married.

Mrs. A. Rosenquest, Essex Falls, N. J.—The army band has three theme songs. They are: "Angelus," "On Brave Old Army Team," and "Army Blues."

Mrs. A. McGough, Irvington, N. J.—"Valiant Lady" originates in New York. Joan Blaine is not married.

Miss Ruth Schwesig, Milwaukee, Wisc.—Arthur Peterson plays the part of Dr. Ruthledge in "The Guiding Light." Henrietta Tedro portrays the role of Ellen in "Guiding Light," and the role of Mr. Kransky was played by Murray Forbes. Forbes now plays

Willie Fay. Both Junior and Bessie Flounce in "Ma Perkins" are characterized by Cecil Roy.

Mr. Joseph Roesch, Yonkers, N. Y.—Uncle Ezra's real name is Pat Barrett. He was born in Holden, Missouri, September 27, 1891.

Miss Eleanor R. Pooler, Salem, Mass.—Ray Johnson has the role of Paul Morrison in "Valiant Lady." Ray was born July 24, 1911, in Kenosha, Wisconsin. Before obtaining his NBC contract Ray taught dramatics at the University of Indiana, Rosary College and the Goodman Theater School. He is married to Betty Caine. On Friday, the 13th of June, 1913, Ralph Edwards was born on a farm near Merino, Colorado. Thirteen years later he moved with his family to Oakland, California. He majored in English at the University of California, and for a while considered the possibilities of becoming an English professor. However, during a college broadcast he attracted the attention of executives in the Oakland station and promptly obtained a job writing and announcing. When Ralph was graduated from college in 1935 he went to New York and after a short stay obtained a job as announcer with CBS . . . thus starting his work on the networks. Edwards is five feet ten inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, has red hair and brown eyes.

Miss Mary Brooks, Derwood, Md.—Parker Fennelly may be heard in the role of Mike in "Valiant Lady." In "This Day Is Ours," Jay Jostyn has the role of Curt and Templeton Fox may be heard as Eleanor. The theme song of "Woman in White" is "Interlude" by Lucas. Luise Barclay plays Kareen Adams, Tony Gilman has the part of Betty Adams, Ruth Bailey may be heard as Alice Day, Marvin Miller has the role of Dr. Lee Markham, Willard Farnum is John Adams, Kathryn Card takes the part of Mrs. Grey, Gladys Grey is played by Sara Jane Wells, Aunt Helen is portrayed by Henrietta Tedro, Sidney Ellstrom plays Frank Fenton, Frank Behrens is heard as Roy Palmer, Sybella Mansfield is played by Lois Zarley, C. Henry Nathan takes the role of Bob Manning and Edith Perry plays Janet Munson.

You Will Never See Your Son Again

Inside story of the Krehe Osborn Kidnaping by Inspector John P. O'Connell, of the San Francisco Police Department

An empty crib to greet a mother . . . a four-hour start for the kidnaper . . . a note—"Sixteen hundred dollars or . . . !" Missing, too, was the pretty governess. This was the setting for the Osborn child-snatch on June 8, 1939.

Now the story—a nine-day sensation from Coast to Coast—can be fully told. The how . . . how a girl, unassisted, could carry with her a fur coat, five suitcases, a child, and escape as far as San Jose. The why . . . the reasoning behind an act that could lead nowhere but to ruin and despair.

As told exclusively in ACTUAL DETECTIVE STORIES OF WOMEN IN CRIME, this authoritative inside story of a sensational crime and the efforts to solve it bring you many sidelights that never until now have been revealed in full. Don't miss it!

ALSO: In this issue of Actual Detective:

"Betrayed into White Slavery"

"I Was One of His Basement Pupils"

"Mama Couldn't Kill Us All"

"The Dutch Schultz I Knew," by His Wife

"I Saw My Sister Murdered"

"May No Other Woman Live Through This!"

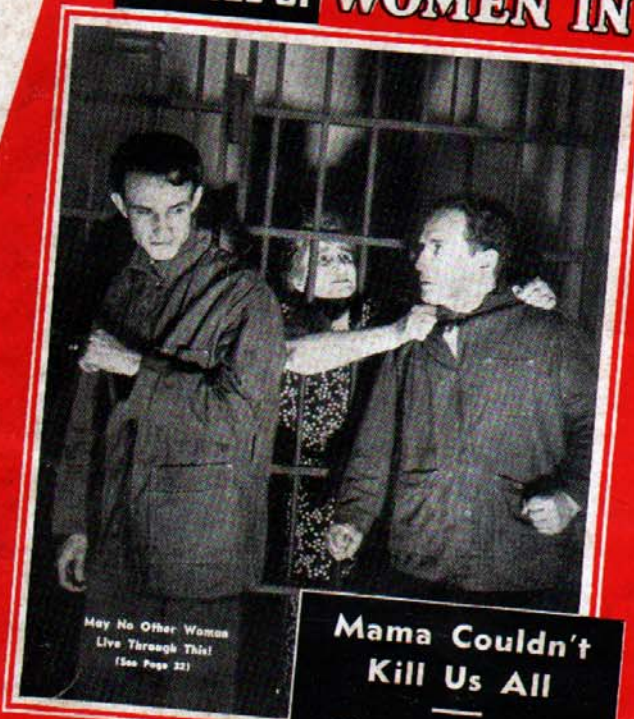

"Roping Betty's Holdup Mob"

"Who Shot Miss Ontario '36?"
