WHAT'S NEW?

A department about radio sets and radio accessories in the interest of better listening.

Tone Control

With mechanical phases of reception in its present highly developed stage, tone control is one of the new fields to which set-builders may well turn their attention. Pioneering with a distinct innovation in this field, Midwest Radio Corp. of Cincinnati, Ohio, has developed the Organ Tone Key Control for its 1940 television-adapted Midwest radios. You simply touch lightly one or more of the tone-control keys and you can blend harmonies to any desired tone characteristic. There are fourteen distinct vibrations of tone thus effected. With this new system you are something of a master of color-tone changes in music, molding it to your own tastes. The Organ Tone Key Control is part of the twelve- and seventeen-tube sets.

Farm Features

Two battery-operated radios, which are built with higher style and performance standards for rural homes in view, have been added to the RCA 1940 series of farm radios.

Only a single AB battery pack is required for operation of either radio. Battery life under normal operating conditions is about 1,000 hours. The big console model, 38" high, is unusually attractive, with smartly styled grille opening and distinctive dial. It is the BK-41, similar in design to the popular K-60 RCA AC model. The table model, BT-41, is housed in a horizontal cabinet of matched walnut veneers.

Curvelector

New Crosley radios feature another radio-set innovation—the Curvelector tone distributor. With this principle of curve construction incorporated in the design of the receiver, there is no influence of direction in the sounds coming from the set. Tone floods the room with fidelity in any direction. One of the sets which incorporates the Curvelector among other bargain features is a large three-band console listing at $69.95.

Super-Aerial

Aerial and ground wires are getting old-fashioned. Many modern radios need no special installation. You just plug them in, turn them on, and listen. Philco's Built-in Super Aerial System represents a big step in this phase of radio reception. It's more than a mere built-in aerial. It's a combination of features—a specially shielded, refined Loop Aerial, a newly developed Twin-Loop Aerial for American and foreign short-wave reception, new Philco Loktal tubes, the costly R. F. Stage, and the triple-power 1232 television tube.

Tuning and Time

An interesting double feature is the compact Majestic clock-and-radio combination. With the radio off it's a charming ivory or onyx plastic clock with gold-and-silver mirror face. Then when you switch it on it's a five-tube super-heterodyne receiver. The ivory combination sells for $25.95, the onyx for $27.95.

GENE AUTRY'S GOOD DEEDS ARE REVEALED

NOT very many years ago, Gene Autry was a cowboy star on WLS, Chicago. Good-looking and good-natured, he was typical of those banjo-strumming sons of the West who make so much of our radio entertainment. When the movies summoned him to Hollywood, everyone was happy to see him get a chance at the "horse operas." Today Gene Autry is the biggest drawing-card in pictures. His transcriptions are played on hundreds of stations and his guest appearances on regular radio shows are high-priced events. But no one knows that Gene Autry still remembers those radio friends with whom he worked back at WLS, and that he shows his friendship in a most remarkable way. That way, plus many other fascinating facts, is revealed in a story called "Radio's Richest Cowboy" in next week's RADIO GUIDE. His picture is on the cover, too. Don't miss it.

Those who have followed Arch Oboler's plays have worked up quite an appetite for more facts about this dynamic genius. We tell his story in "Saturday's Wonder Boy." Then there is a story about Molly Goldberg, celebrating her tenth year on the air. If you love fine paintings, the sort that museums pay fortunes for, NBC is offering an amazing plan whereby you can have perfectly gorgeous reproductions in six colors for your own home at a cost next to nothing. This is the most important news of the radio season to those who love beautiful things. Don't miss next week's issue.

GOOD-BY NELSON EDDY

NOW radio listeners must say good-by to Nelson Eddy. And, it seems, they must say good-by to great classical singers in general. Eddy, epitomizing the polish and glamour of concert and operatic art, is making his last appearance on the "Chase and Sanborn Hour" this Sunday (NBC). With his departure, few of his kind remain as regulars besides Richard Crooks, who returns to "Voice of Firestone" this week. Only a short while ago Lawrence Tibbett was upholding a strong segment of "The Circle," Lily Pons was combining her glorious art with that of Andre Kostelanetz, Grace Moore's voice was thrilling thousands. Where are they now? Where are Rosa Ponselle and Gladys Swarthout, John Charles Thomas and Nino Martini? We are puzzled. Why must this be? Surely people still want to hear great singing. Perhaps the best way to get it back is for listeners to demand it of the broadcasters. So au revoir to Nelson Eddy—and may he return soon to our waiting loudspeakers.

MEDAL OF MERIT

An Award for Excellence in Broadcasting

AWARDED TO ALEC TEMPLETON

IN ANY industry or art, the appearance of a genius is an occasion for joy and enthusiasm which may be tempered only by a vague sort of awe. That radio, a comparatively new medium, should hail the appearance on the radio horizon of its newest big star—Alec Templeton—with the same joy and enthusiasm (Alec wouldn't permit awe) is a matter for which radio might easily be forgiven. For the gifts this brilliant musician and entertainer has brought can be conveniently grouped under one word only—genius. Whether it be in the realm of the classics or in the most modern jazz, Alec Templeton's piano technique compels listening. His gifts of mimicry and pantomime which cause tears of laughter to roll down millions of cheeks give him a balance few entertainers in any field can boast. Blind from birth, he did not give himself up to self-pity but studied that he might make the world in which he lived a better place because he had lived there. Because he has so successfully achieved this aim; because, always, he is wholesome and refreshing and simple in his radio presence (Monday, NBC); because he remains a constant and inspiring person, we are happy to award him the Radio Guide Medal of Merit.

COMING EVENTS

Lanny Ross now sings in the daytime! Hear him Mon., Wed., Fri., 11:03 a.m. EST, CBS

"WHAT'S MY NAME?"

Saturday, NBC

"What's My Name?" returns this week. It has the same set-up that formerly proved so popular. It has Arlene Francis, whose voice personality is winning her increasing note in radio, and it has Budd Hulick, whose veteran drollery is always fresh. It has the same formula as before: Progressive clues are given to contestants, allowing them several chances to figure out what well-known person is the subject of the question. This show nicely balances humor and interesting facts.

YALE GRADS

Saturday, CBS

It's a Yale substitution on "Your Hit Parade." Former Eli water polo star Barry Wood succeeds one-time Bulldog track star Lanny Ross as male soloist this Saturday night. The two distinguished alumni were contemporaries at Yale for two years. Lou Rapp (Barry Wood) was a member of the class of 1930 and Ross graduated in 1928. Barry captained the aquatic polo crew and swam in a record-breaking relay team. Lanny was intercollegiate 300-yard dash champion and could have been a member of the 1928 Olympic team, but chose to travel with the glee club. Both were active in music. Wood wanted to be a doctor and studied to that end. Ross pursued a law ambition through Columbia Law School. The show's new soloist joined Buddy Rogers' orchestra in 1931. Subsequently he was with Paul Ash, Vincent Lopez and Abe Lyman.

HOPPER'S HOLLYWOOD

Mon., Wed., Fri., CBS

Hedda Hopper, actress, fashion authority, columnist and ex-wife of the late DeWolf Hopper, adds a new radio program to her list of activities when she inaugurates this Monday "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood." This is the same title as that of her newspaper column, and it will also be devoted to Hollywood news and gossip. There will be a special feature in the nature of a dramatization on each program of the high spots in the lives of film stars. The subject for the first such dramatization is Errol Flynn, dashing he-man who has just completed a starring role for Warner Brothers' "The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex." There could hardly be found a more colorful subject. The adventuresome career of thirty-year-old Errol has included action as trader among head-hunters, champion boxer and pearl-diver.

Monday, NBC

Did you ever hear the one about "Albert and the Lion" as told by Irishman Pat O'Malley? If you have heard Pat do his famous sketch, then you'll want to tune in "Alec Templeton Time" this Monday to hear him do it again. If you have never heard O'Malley, you've a fresh treat in store. Pat is an old friend of Alec. They came to this country together with Jack Hylton's band, and thereafter O'Malley won a great following for his "Albert and the Lion" skits, which he does in fetching Lancashire accent. He'll bring "Albert" to the Templeton program with him. As a climax, too, Pat and Alec, with the aid of chorus, orchestra and studio audience, will do the old Anne Boleyn ditty.

heard as a regular feature, but "they" did a hilarious guest job on "Alec Templeton Time" recently. Now Lou is going to bring Sam to visit with Bing Crosby in a setting made to order for the Holtz humor. Lou temporarily fills the spot left vacant by the vacationing Bob Burns. I TELL THE PRISONERS

READ THIS STIRRING STORY OF THE
WORLD'S STRANGEST NEWSCASTER

By Louie E. Whitsitt

Louie E. Whitsitt, writer of this story, is a lifer at Southern Michigan prison, Jackson, Michigan. He is convict number 34234. Sentenced at the age of seventeen to forty-five to ninety years and life, he took advantage of Warden Harry H. Jackson's rehabilitative program, studied in the prison school. Today, having served six years of his term, he is inmate news commentator for 4,200 convict listeners. Read his unusual story of radio in a convict's life.—Editor.

I'M RESPONSIBLE for "the most exclusive newscast in the world." That's what the boys here call it, anyhow. If you're a radio listener, you will never hear it; that is, unless some bad break puts you inside the walls of Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, Michigan.

My broadcast starts like this: "It's news time again. Time to bring you this evening's edition of the Radio Gazette headlines."

That introduction is always the same. The men who hear it always hunch forward a little in their cells, I imagine, and settle their earphones down more securely. I'm no Walter Winchell with a snappy line of Broadway chatter, but I do know what goes on inside these walls and I tell the boys straight. For instance:

"Good evening, men. This evening's feature story is headed: Thirteen incorrigibles shipped to Siberian stir."

You don't even understand that sort of language, but my listeners do. They know it means thirteen of the tough babies who wouldn't be good in our little playhouse have been shifted to the Marquette Branch prison, a place affording "maximum security." Transfers of this sort are always a feature. Even war news takes a back seat behind what goes on here at "home."

Southern Michigan prison's newscast was inaugurated in June, 1937. The first inmate news commentator, it's believed, who ever aired prison news behind prison walls was an inmate serving double life for murder and bank robbery. The second commentator, a former high-school superintendent, spent four months reporting prison happenings via the radio system before he was transferred to the educational department. I then became the third Southern Michigan prison inmate commentator.

Warden Jackson had introduced radio to his large inmate body in December, 1936. Since that bleak December day when two thousand listening "cons" roared their lusty approval of the new entertainment, the prison's radio hook-up system—designed by an inmate—has gone places, and in less than a year broadcasting from within the prison to inmates became a possibility. Today the Radio Gazette newscast borrows fifteen minutes nightly from the outside entertainment, and surveys show that it practically disrupts the 8:30 to 8:45 evening period with its popularity.

You may wonder what news ever happens in a prison. Well, plenty happens that is of interest to the men confined there, and these happenings run from the gruesome and tragic to the humorous. One day I was passing the visiting-room in my search for news when a guard motioned me in to where a crippled old lady sat, waiting for her culprit son to be brought to her. She had hitch-hiked there from the upper peninsula, a distance of over 500 miles, to visit her beloved son who had gone astray. Penniless, she arrived at the prison this cold winter day both hungry and scantily clad. Now, as she talked with her son, big tears formed rivers on her wrinkled face and motherly suffering wreathed her kindly countenance.

THE guards saw that she was well fed in their special dining quarters inside the walls and one guard suggested a small collection. They soon had enough money for train fare back to her home, food and a brand-new winter coat. This careworn old mother left the prison late that afternoon secure in her thoughts that no real harm could come to her wayward son among officials of this type . . . I had one helluva time writing that news item!

Visitors provide much of the news. It is easy to understand why those confined in a prison are interested in seeing a different face, hearing a new voice. It has been my privilege and pleasure, as prison commentator, to talk with Jack Dempsey, who is not only the nation's idol but this stir's idol as well, and to convey to my listeners "his best wishes." Jess Willard was another visitor who made news here.

Still another visitor was Duncan Moore, WJR announcer and commentator, of Detroit, who stayed to hear me perform. To say that I was frightened by the presence of such a veteran is putting it mildly, but his encouraging smile allayed my fears. At the end of the program, he turned to the warden and said, "Give him a little time and he'll be knocking at WJR's door asking for my job."

THE warden laughingly explained that I was serving life and forty-five years.

We handle only the local news. Outside news—war news, which is avidly listened for in the cell-blocks—comes to us from outside news broadcasts, which may be switched off at a moment's notice if officials feel that they shouldn't be heard by inmates. In the twenty-two months I've been airing news inside the prison, I've learned this: All cons have similar appetites when it comes to local news. They want to know who, what, why, when, where, how and—if possible—how much of every happening. They're downright nosy when it comes to bizarre happenings, sports flashes, and bits of unimportant news they'd pass over outside. Their news gives them a gossipy basis for conversation in the prison shops next day.

Frankness in delivery pays dividends in Jacktown, and affectation in voice, a pseudo-Oxfordian accent, will draw a painful chorus of boos. Prison audiences have been found by entertainers and speakers to be the most critical—and yet the fairest of audiences.

Being inmate newscaster for 4,200 interested listeners has been a job any inmate with "time to pull" would appreciate. With a warden like Harry H. Jackson encouraging all men in his walled village of sinners to participate in rehabilitative pastimes and activities and keeping them informed by way of the Radio Gazette and the centralized hook-up, I feel that my time has been well spent in finding, writing and broadcasting the evening headlines. It's my hope that I'll still be chasing news leads for our 8:30 newscast when my time here expires.

BACKSTAGE IN CHICAGO

Dick Todd's stock
booming; trouble on
Wayne King's show

By Don Moore

Red-headed Dick Todd, now heard as baritone vocalist on "Avalon Time" (Wed., NBC), is one of the top names among vocalists in phonograph-recording sales

Because of many requests from all sections, we bring back in this issue the department "Backstage in Chicago," which was temporarily discontinued when Don Moore took his vacation. The loyalty of the readers is appreciated, and we are sure you will find this page of more interest than ever.—Editor.

CHICAGO.—Crooning comet of the moment, we'd say, is Dick Todd. The twenty-five-year-old Canadian has been and is sweeping right through the air, with public favor spreading out in the wake of his flaming hair and warm voice. Formerly Dick sang with Larry Clinton and Artie Shaw and soloed on the Bob Benchley show; now he's singing on "Avalon Time." Todd isn't a Crosby carbon, but he does have a similar husky vibrancy in his deep baritone voice. His disks sell like hot cakes, with plenty of vocal syrup. His colorful records of "Blue Evening," "Blue Orchids," and "Deep Purple" are best-sellers. He was recently given an award as "outstanding air vocalist" by the musical publication, Metronome. Dick's voice makes you think of something like an echo in the valley at twilight, so he makes a good teammate for the big breeze Skelton!

Diamonds for Ditties

The Wayne King show, which premiered October 21, is not only a mecca for sweet music-lovers but also a diamond mart for those who have favorite songs, as everybody does. The program is built on an all-request foundation. Listeners write letters telling what is their favorite song and why. Seven letters are chosen each week, the seven favorite songs are played on the program, and seven $100 diamond rings are awarded to the winners.

At the premiere show Wayne King said to the audience: "This is the first time we have had a show like this. It's the first time we've had such a nice, big audience, the first time we've had a special vocalist (Buddy Clark), the first time we've had beautiful girls on the stage (CBS actresses Lesley Woods, Janet Logan, Betty Arnold)." Introducing his orchestra, Wayne said, "This is my orchestra and has been for fourteen years. When this is not my orchestra, I won't have one." He asked the audience to refrain from any audible expression (Bravo, Wayne!). He had very nice words for Buddy Clark, who did a swell job of the vocals, though he was nervous as a kid on Christmas Eve. It was a boyishly exuberant and jovial Wayne King in the studio, carrying on almost Kay Kyser-like antics during the show, and thus smartly relieving first-night tension. There was some unfortunate confusion the last few days prior to the premiere about who would be narrator for the series, with two announcers holding contracts, but it is apparently smoothed out now.

Hark, the Lark!

In our series of thumbnail sketches—by their own thumbnails—here is one for which I have had many and frequent requests—that of Jack Baker, the "Louisiana Lark" of the NBC "Breakfast Club." Take it, Jack.

"Dear Listeners:

"The name given me when I was born—June 29, 1911—was not Jack Baker or F. D. R. Jones, but Ernest Mahlon Jones. I studied for the ministry for a short while, then took up voice. I worked as evangelistic singer, school-teacher and store clerk before going to Detroit in 1935. After working there on local radio stations and in night-clubs, I came to NBC in Chicago in December, 1936. I've been a happy member of the 'Breakfast Club' since.

"I married Vivian Kemp in 1933, after having known her only five weeks. Love at first sight was good enough for me. I like sports, having played football in high school. I'd like to make enough money to return to Dixie some day and loaf in the shade of the magnolias. But you know 'a Baker kneeds dough,' and besides I like radio very much, so—with good luck—I'll stick around in radio for a long time.

"I'm proud of the fact that I answer all my mail personally and that I talk to shine boys as freely as to executives. I like to consider my fans my friends.

"I'm five feet seven, weigh 165 pounds, have black hair, brown eyes and dark complexion.

"Sincerely,

"Jack Baker."

Dramatis Personae

Recognizing that the many listeners to network serials like to know whose are the voices that they hear daily, I expect to devote a section each week to a complete cast listing of one of the sketches heard from Chicago, and I suggest you clip these casts and paste or file for future reference. This week's "junior playbill" is that of the popular CBS skit, "Romance of Helen Trent." Here it is:

Helen Trent—Virginia Clark.
Ted Galloway—Ken Christy.
Agatha Anthony—Marie Nelson.
Drew Sinclair—Reese Taylor.
Peter Sinclair—Cleveland Towne.
Chris Wilson—Carlton KaDell.
Doris Harper—Donna Reade.
Ken McKenzie—Olan Soule.
Julie—Doris Dudley.
Gordon Decker—Bill Bouchey.
Alice Carroll—Virginia Jones.
Announcer—Don Hancock.

Memo-Random

Do you notice theme songs? One you can't beat for character is the signature of "Avalon Time," the one the orchestra fades off the air with after the singing of "Avalon." Catch it sometime and see if you don't think it beckons you to float and bounce along with it. It's an unpublished special theme written by orchleader Bob Strong . . . Bob Dyrenforth, character actor heard in "Arnold Grimm's Daughter" and "Bachelor's Children," has been recovering from a fractured leg and arm and pelvic injury suffered when struck by an automobile while he was crossing the street on Chicago's north side (Hurry and get well, Bob) . . . To Bob Brown: You do a mighty neat job of keeping the flavor in the "Breakfast Club" menu when maitre-de-mike McNeill is absent.

The sheriff on the "Tom Mix" show, DeWitt McBride, and his wife expect to swear a junior deputy into the family this winter . . . To Betty Arnold: I understand you're somewhat of a newcomer with CBS, but if the mike personality you demonstrated on the premiere of the Wayne King show is a sample, you'll go far . . . Whether or not there was any special significance attached to the ham Les Tremayne received from a fan, it was good eating . . . To Bob Barron: Come out from around those paper balls you use in your mouth for the voice of the sinister Blackbeard on "Jack Armstrong"—I recognized you with that avenging shotgun on the cover of the November Actual Detective magazine.

Harriette Widmer (Magnolia on "Caroline's Golden Store") has more hobbies than you can shake a mike at. She makes puppets, puts on puppet shows for neighborhood kids, builds model ships, dabbles in interior decorating and rides often—and frequently with a western saddle.

Jazz King opening at New Yorker brings out celebs, including Ann "oomph girl" Sheridan

By Martin Lewis

—Gustave W. Gale

On the opening night of Paul Whiteman's engagement at the Hotel New Yorker recently, a veritable who's who of radio, stage and screen stars turned out to greet him, but none was more welcome than Ann Sheridan, who favored him with one of her "oomph girl" kisses

NEW YORK.—Paul Whiteman's opening at the Hotel New Yorker brought out the who's who of radio, stage and screen. There hasn't been a bigger or better opening around these parts this year. Among the bandleaders in the crowded room were Guy Lombardo, Benny Goodman, Ted Weems, Russ Morgan, Al Donahue, Mark Warnow, others. Songstress Doris Rhodes informs that starting next week the door will be kept open for the expected arrival of the stork. Buddy Clark and his frau were sitting with Doris and her husband. Mildred Bailey was at the next table. After being introduced to the assemblage by his regular announcer, Paul Douglas, maestro Paul introduced the celebrities in the crowd. When he finished he had to be reminded that in the excitement he failed to introduce one of the famous names of the movies who was sitting at the ringside. It was only Ann Sheridan, the "oomph girl," with whom he had posed for the picture on this page only a few minutes before.

Kilocycle Chatter

The new Columbia radio drama, "Society Girl," which is about 1940's glamour girl No. 1, will also be made into a legitimate show to play on Broadway. Roger White, the producer, plans to use most of his radio cast for the stage production. . . . "First Nighter" will be made into a series of movie shorts any week now. . . . When Kate Smith returns from California she won't have to move out of her apartment for her noonday broadcasts. Lines were installed in her domicile last week. . . . Now Kate can have her breakfast and broadcast in bed. . . . Mildred Bailey will be on the Benny Goodman show regularly, which makes it about time someone grabbed this songstress for a regular spot. . . . The Smoothies are hunting for a new "Babs" to replace Arlene Johnson, who is going to leave the trio for a marriage career. The first Babs left for the same reason. She married jockey Bobby Merritt. . . . A Mr. Lapidus of Detroit asked the court for permission to change his name because his friends kidded him by repeating Lou Holtz's "Mr. Lapidus" stories.

Two issues ago you read in this department an open letter to Fred Allen's sponsor suggesting they permit the comic to restore the newsreels and the "Person You Didn't Expect to Meet" interviews, both of which were always good for many laughs. It is gratifying to note that at least half the battle has been won and consideration is still being given the other half. The newsreel is back on the program. However, the big-name guestar interview will continue as long as it sounds funny. If it doesn't, out it goes and the surprise interview will return.

Richard Humber, who opened at the swanky Hotel Pierre, was discussing his paradoxical career with sponsors. Once he did a series for a cigarette manufacturer, but doesn't smoke. Another for an auto concern, but doesn't drive. A third program was sponsored by a beer-maker, and he doesn't drink. Recently Dick complained, "I auditioned for a cereal firm and I haven't heard a word about it since." He added, "It must be because I eat the sponsor's product for breakfast every morning."

Behind the Scene

A couple of programs ago Walter O'Keefe introduced as his guestar Charles Atlas, the strong man. Atlas was scheduled to tear up a telephone book. Not being a professional actor, it was difficult for him to hold a script and tear a telephone book at the same time, so they let the sound-effects man tear some papers while Atlas grunted. That didn't go so good because the tearing and grunts didn't synchronize. They ended up with the sound-effects man doing the tearing and grunting.

Six guards are stationed outside NBC's largest studio every afternoon to keep outsiders where they belong—out of the Toscanini rehearsals. . . . Mr. Keen, famous tracer of lost persons, isn't so fortunate. Snoopy people even disregard the red "REHEARSAL" light outside the studio and barge right in. He solved the problem by having the "ON THE AIR" sign lit, which is always respected by everyone. . . . Poked my head in on a preliminary rehearsal of "Gang Busters," which has started its fourth year over CBS. An interesting sidelight is that sound-effects man Ray Cramer has been with the show for every one of its broadcasts. Sound-effects are an important adjunct of "Gang Busters," and having a man who knows and understands the problems of the show is important. It's on my docket to tell you something soon about the intricate sound-effects of "Gang Busters."

At Rehearsal

I've never kept track, but I know I'm safe in saying I've watched more than several hundred radio rehearsals, and I've noticed one thing about the daytime script-show—the studio is generally like a madhouse one or two minutes before air-time. There is usually organ music from the preceding program and girls are dancing around. Somebody is telling someone else a joke. Ten seconds before air-time it all stops—just like that—and the show goes on. What has happened is a little relaxation exercise. Everything has been rehearsed, so they let off a little steam before going into the home stretch.

Walking into a studio one day I caught John (Harry Davis) Raby of "When a Girl Marries" tossing a paper airplane at announcer Frank Gallop which hit Joan (Sylvia Field) Tetzl by mistake. Just before a program of "Life and Love of Dr. Susan" I caught Chester Stratton, who plays "Butch" Bixby, turning some tricky somersaults. One morning during a "Pretty Kitty Kelly" rehearsal, nine-year-old Jackie Grimes brought a sling-shot to the studio with him and challenged young Bobby (Billy Nelson) Hastings to a contest to see who was the best shot at hitting the mike.

Lewis, the Sleuth and Murderer

Your reporter qualified for the job of G-man when he appeared on the eastern broadcast of the "Adventures of Ellery Queen" over CBS the other Sunday night and was the only one of the amateur sleuths to name the murderer. Well, why shouldn't I—the culprit's name was Lewis. I hadn't any doubt about the popularity of the program, but now I'm convinced this interesting show has more listeners than even they themselves realize. I was swamped with calls the day after the show and I'm still receiving letters from readers stating they heard the show and thought I did very well. Thanks, pals, my modesty prevents me from bragging.

Purely Personal

Kenneth Roberts, announcer for the Ellery Queen show, looked as though he needed a good night's sleep. Well, he did; he was up all night pacing the floor of the hospital where his frau gave birth to a son as dawn approached. . . . Ted Newton, whom listeners of "Joyce Jordan, Girl Interne" know as Dr. Christopher Parker, has also welcomed the arrival of a son. . . . A good many listeners no doubt remember Betty Barthell, who used to sing over CBS several years ago. Betty is living in Florida and expects a baby in December. Her hubby is a pilot on the Pan-American.

and distribution as sheet music.

4. Immediate recording and distribution as phonograph record.

5. Inclusion of the winning song in regular Davis-Schwegler Library Service to Radio Stations from Coast to Coast.

Consolation Prizes

The next five song-writers selected will receive $10.00 each in cash.

Honorable Mentions

The next six song-writers will be given Honorable Mention Certificates.

Read These Rules Carefully

1. Contestants must live in the United States or Canada. Anyone may enter the National Song Search with the exception of employees or members of the families of employees of Radio Guide or the Davis-Schwegler Company.

2. Entries must be addressed as follows: National Song Search Headquarters, Radio Guide, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill. No manuscripts will be returned unless accompanied by self-addressed stamped envelopes.

3. An entry must be written in ink (not pencil) on regularly ruled music copying paper. It may be a full piano arrangement or a simple melody. Words will not be considered in judging.

4. No correspondence can be entered into by either Radio Guide or Davis-Schwegler regarding individual contributions.

5. Contestants may enter any or all contests. Winning any contest prize does not disqualify for other contest prizes. Contestants wishing to enter the same composition in different weekly popular song contests may do so but must make separate submissions in each case.

6. The name and address of contestant must be written in ink or typed in the top margin of page one of each entry submitted. The name of the contest and the number (if entry is in Popular-Song Contest) must also be written in ink or typed on page one.

7. A contestant may submit as many entries or any single contest as he may wish—and may win more than one prize provided his entries merit such consideration.

8. Each entry shall be judged solely on its musical merit. Judges will be the editorial boards of Radio Guide and Davis-Schwegler. Contestants, by entering the contest, agree that the decisions of the judges shall be final.

9. The prizes awarded winners of each contest are identical, namely, the song-writer whose song is selected by the judges as best in each contest will receive: (a) $200 in cash; (b) the standard song-writers' contract with Davis-Schwegler, music publishers, providing for standard royalties on sheet music and other fees; (c) His song will be published and distributed through Davis-Schwegler outlets; (d) His song will be recorded and phonograph records offered for sale through regular D-S outlets; (e) His song will be electrically transcribed and placed in the regular Davis-Schwegler library service to more than 200 radio stations. One dozen pieces of sheet music, two records, and one electrical transcription will be given free to the song-writer. The next five songs selected by the judges as being most worthy will win for their writers the sum of $10.00 each. The next six songs selected by the judges will be given Honorable Mention Certificates.

10. Hymn or sacred music contest entries must be mailed before midnight of Saturday, December 30.

Semi-classical number contest entries must be mailed before midnight of Saturday, January 6, 1940.

Popular-Song Contest No. 7 (this is the seventh of a series of 13 weekly contests) entries must be mailed before midnight of Saturday, November 11, 1939. Winners will be announced as soon as possible. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Seven Brand-New Chances

Remember that with Contest No. 7 starting this week, there are seven brand-new chances for that $200 prize. If you haven't entered the Song Search as yet, enter it today. If your entries were not successful in the first contests, keep on sending us songs. And as you send them, we suggest that you do these three things: First, follow the rules on this page to the letter. Second, watch our complete list of entrants to see if your song has been received. On Page 42 of this week's issue appear Contest No. 3 entrants with last names beginning with letters A through O inclusive, also all Contest No. 2 entrants not listed last week. Third, listen each week to the winning songs as the big-name bands play them. Compare your song with those which Song Search judges have selected.

Two Other Contests

So far, Pop-Song entries have greatly outnumbered those in the Hymn and Semi-Classical Contests. Closing dates for these latter are still far away and contestants will do well to enter them also. The same conditions apply to all three contests.

MUSIC BY BROEKMAN

Here is a hard-luck story with a happy ending—the story of “Texaco Star Theater’s” Mr. David Broekman

“AND now, the music of David Broekman!” . . .

How many times have you listened to those words of introduction as you settled comfortably back in your easy chair while the Broekman musicians set about their task of weaving a rich musical background for the “Texaco Star Theater”? That introduction is casual—almost too casual when you know of the dramatic story that lies behind the words, “David Broekman’s music.” For here was a man who stood on the brink of disaster and, clutching at one last straw in a desperate effort to prove to himself and to the world that he was not the miserable failure he seemed, succeeded far beyond any measure of hope for success he might have entertained.

And now, for the first time, David Broekman’s story.

Broekman was never one to gild the lily, so as he stood on the corner of Hollywood and Vine that afternoon in 1934 for the express purpose of waylaying some erstwhile friend and borrowing a dollar or two to buy food for his wife and babies, he knew how narrow was the margin that separated him from other panhandlers who plied their trade there on the sidewalks. Remembering the recent past, he knew a feeling of sorrow and regret at his former carelessness with money and a vague wonderment at his present predicament. Only three years before he had been riding the crest of the wave. Universal Pictures had brought him to Hollywood from his berth in the New York Philharmonic to score pictures, and his work on “Dirigible,” “Platinum Blonde” and “Backstage” was recognized as superb. Now—and he didn’t know how such things could be—he was walking the streets, penniless, hungry, friendless.

He hadn’t made a touch all afternoon. His friends had learned to avoid him when they saw him now, and as it began to grow dark he started for home. Home? Home was a two-room cabin in an auto-trailer camp, and the only reason that the Broekmans hadn’t been thrown out of it on their ear was because Mrs. Broekman kept herself locked up inside and refused to answer the doorbell.

Now a man doesn’t jump from the top to the bottom—not even in Hollywood—without some semblance of a reason. Broekman’s trouble had been a vociferous tongue, a biting tongue that loosed sarcasm and sharp criticism upon executive ears accustomed to the soft, purring “yes” of their assistants. From the start, he had been labeled a trouble-maker. When the bounce had come, rather quickly in view of his excellent work, he found other studio doors closed to him as well. They wanted no part of him. The first dispossession had taken most of the Broekman possessions. The three succeeding dispossessions took what little remained, until he had reached a stage now where he had to stay home until noon while Mrs. Broekman washed his one remaining shirt, his one suit of underwear.

The children were in bed when he reached the cabin, and the elder Broekmans sat far into the night talking, each trying to bolster the spirits of the other. But it was no use. “I’m just a bum,” David would cry, and Mrs. Broekman, trying to make him forget, would lead the conversation away from the present, back to their childhood in Holland. Soon David—impressionable—was recounting anecdotes of an uncle back in the little Dutch city in which he had lived. Once, long ago, he had sent David to hear an opera which was written by a friend, and when the young music student returned, the uncle asked him how he liked it.

“Quite frankly,” Broekman told him (he had a sharp tongue in his head even then), “it stinks! Your friend isn’t a musician; he’s a bum.”

“But you must be wrong, David.” The uncle was insistent. “The man has written an opera. It was performed from eight p.m. until eleven p.m. and people listened to it. No man who has written an opera that people listen to can be called a bum.”

THE Broekmans sat in silence for a little while until Mrs. Broekman asked, “David, why don’t you write an opera?”

“Operas are out of date. And besides, what would it get me?”

“Well, write a symphony, then.”

“What would that get me?”

“It would prove that you weren’t a bum, anyway. If a man who has written an opera can’t be a bum, a man who has written a symphony can’t be a bum either.”

It was an odd beginning for a symphony, but “Harlem Heab’n” was an odd symphony. Startling at times and yet tender and beautiful, it was a modern treatise on the Negro which was none the less amazing when you learn that Broekman was never south of the Mason-Dixon line. Yet his “Harlem Heab’n” was born that night in the cold and gloomy little cabin camp.

If you happen to be a theater-goer in Los Angeles, you may have a small stake in the success of David Broekman. For theater-goers of Los Angeles supported Broekman and his family at the lavish rate of two dollars a day while he worked on his symphony with a borrowed piano, borrowed copy-paper. A young man who—strangely, in view of Broekman’s down-at-the-heels appearance—had an unaccountable faith in his ability agreed to back him to the extent of two dollars a day in return for a share in the finished work. The young man was a ticket-seller at a motion-picture theater on a salary that barely supported his own family. The two dollars that he turned over to Broekman on most days was the result of short-changing patrons of the theater whenever he could get away with it. And so the public which enjoys Broekman’s music today can justly feel that it had a large part in placing him where he is. Broekman feels this obligation and works a little harder on each program to repay the debt.

Three hard and hungry months followed. The small daily sum he was given was barely enough for food, not nearly enough to keep away insistent creditors, and most of his work was done in the early hours of the morning after all respectable creditors had given up and gone to bed. He hid out during the waking hours. But when “Harlem Heab’n” was finally finished, critics admitted that he had something.

Leading music event in Hollywood is the series of Symphonies Under the Stars, held in the Hollywood Bowl. The committee which schedules these symphonies was enthusiastic about “Harlem Heab’n” and scheduled it for August. But it was only May, and in the intervening months it was necessary to live. A wealthy woman, interested in music, agreed to buy a third share in it, and this money permitted the Broekmans to get over the following three months.

The night of the concert found David ready. The performance was one of the most successful ever to be held in the Hollywood Bowl. Nineteen thousand people had passed the turnstiles, went home enthusiastic in proclaiming the genius of Broekman, and when at last he sat across the table from his wife in the little cabin that night, he laid eleven hundred dollars—his share—out before her. In other days that would have called for a celebration. But now they were wiser, more sober. They brought out the old bills which had been accumulating over the three years and which now they could pay. Then, with a clean slate, he’d start all over again to rebuild his musical career.

HE COULD go back to the studios, against whose doors he had butted his head vainly for three years, and with his new success probably find a place. But he said to his wife, “I’m still the same Broekman. I’m no better as a musician, no better as a man than I was before when they kicked me out and locked their doors.”

So he called radio station KHJ and talked with Tommy Lee.

“I’m David Broekman. I wrote a symphony.” It was like saying, “I’m David Broekman. I’m no bum.”

“Yes, I’ve heard about it. Come down and see me,” Lee told him.

The result was a trial program, “Tommy Lee Presents David Broekman.” It led to Broekman’s permanent engagement for “California Melodies,” the Mobile Magazine, Union Oil show.

But Broekman, in his self-estimate, was wrong. He is not the same old Broekman as before. His music is more human, more universal in its appeal than before. Perhaps hardship and the suffering he underwent for so long a time is responsible. And he, as a man, is no longer the sharp-tongued, sarcastic being of 1931. Perhaps hardship and suffering have made him not only a more mellow musician but a more mellow human being as well.

So the fact that fastidious Beethoven wrote four overtures for his lone opera, "Fidelio," one bearing that name and the others titled after Leonora, the heroine of the work. The "Fidelio" overture usually is played as a prelude to the opera, and the "Leonora Overture No. 3" is used as an intermezzo between the two scenes of the second act. This "No. 3" has an independent life as an abiding favorite on concert programs.

In presenting symphonies No. 2 and 4, Toscanini chooses lesser-known ones of the series of nine. Both works, predominantly amiable, seem like "resting-places" before Beethoven climbed to the heights. No. 2 immediately precedes the towering "Eroica." No. 4 is the stepping-Benedetto Marcello (1686-1739) represents the strictly classical note here. A versatile man he was, composer, poet, singer, violinist and law student. (To help him collect his bills?) His concerto is in the pure and formal style of his period.

In another column of this department you learn about Castelnuovo-Tedesco personally.

His overture is not incidental music to Shakespeare's drama but was inspired by some of the characters of the play. The slow introduction pictures the dreamy Prince Orsino, who always asked for songs. The brilliant main section denotes the foppish Malvolio. The heroine, Viola, and the clown are also represented. Three old men dance to a tune suggesting an antique galliard, gay spirited Italian steps.

The piano concerto is two years old and has three moods—lively, dreamy and impetuous. A showy cadenza bridges over from the second to the third movements.

In other days, not so long ago, that Polish violinist-composer was deservedly and widely played, for he wrote euphoniously and flashingly. His D Minor Concerto still figures as one of the most fragrant items in the repertoire of the fiddle. Wieniawski, a distinctly fat man, had the good nature that often goes with obesity, but at one period of his life he gave in to testiness, when he toured America in 1872 with Anton Rubinstein, the celebrated pianist. The latter was billed occasionally in larger type than his partner, and so at nearly fifty concerts Wieniawski refused to speak to Rubinstein, although on each occasion they performed Beethoven's "Kreutzer Sonata" together.

Heifetz, undisputed tops today on his instrument, was a guest at the Bohemian Club encampment last summer in San Francisco together with the editor of this department. The artist performed marvelously at an impromptu concert around the campfire, and when he had finished your editor turned enthusiastically to a man lying on the grass beside him, slapped him heartily on the back and said, "Some playing, eh?" The man turned and answered, "I'll say it is." It was Herbert Hoover!

How is one to commentate on Beethoven's music these days? Whenever the present writer does it, he feels with Shakespeare (if the bard will permit it) that it is "wasteful and ridiculous excess" to "gild refined gold, to paint the lily, to throw perfume on the violet," etc. But there always come fresh music-lovers, to whom certain information stone for the epic Fifth Symphony.

Bold and jubilant is the opening movement of No. 2, with a truly beatific succeeding slow section; then the first scherzo ever to be included in a symphony; and the finale keeping up the happy spirit of the whole sunshiny score.

In No. 4 the introductory division again reflects geniality, the slow part loveliness, the minuet jollity, and the end part a sort of playfully dramatic romp.

Tilling Our Musical Soil

By Leonard Lieblich

HERE has been much pointing-out that American folk-tune should be the primal basis of our native symphonic music. Because—so the pointers-out claim—that is how the great European countries began in art and were able to develop it into authentic expression of their various nationalities. The ancient history of those lands lends proof that the argument is sound.

In earlier American times, when the symphonic use of folk-music was advocated, the dissenters made the retort uncourteous that we had no folk-music. However, as generations rolled on and methods of musical research, collection and recording improved, a whole library of such material gradually came to light from America's plains, valleys, mountains; along the rivers and bayous and seashores; from old plantations, missions, lumber-camps. In short, hardly a section of our vast area failed to contribute tunes, songs and dances of melodic charm, indigenous feeling and rare rhythmic appeal. What more natural, therefore, that such music should begin to percolate into the pages of the composers devoted to symphonic writing? It did so, and it is doing so more than ever at the present time. Progressive CBS, which has achieved so much in recent years for American creators, takes notice of the growing trend and now commissions them to write orchestral works "drawing on the inspiration of folk-melody for 'Columbia's School of the Air' Tuesday series 'Folk Music of America.'"

The plan is to engage twenty composers in all, some of those already commissioned being Roy Harris, Frederick S. Converse, Quinto Maganini, Henry Brant, Philip James, David Guion, Hans Spialek, Ruth Crawford, Julia Smith, Ross Le Finney, Bernard Wagenaar, Jerome Moross, Amadeo de Filippi, Aaron Copland. The first to have been aired was Harris, and October 24 saw his essay introduced. Harris' opus treats three cowboy melodies—"Goodbye, Old Paint," "Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie," and "The Old Chisholm Trail."

To coordinate student listeners better with the program, its first half is given up to Alan Lomax, folk-music specialist associated with the Library of Congress. He contrasts the later symphonic numbers with the original songs of the various localities, discusses them and their background, and even sings them, accompanying himself on the guitar.

Nothing more timely and constructive for the cause of American music has been done for a long while than this project sponsored by CBS. It will probably be a revelation, too, for those who have not followed the subject closely, to find out how plentiful is our treasure of folk-song and how successfully it vies with European examples in originality and attractiveness.

Speaking Up

By V. Vidal

ON SUNDAY, Mr. "Newcastle-German" plays his second piano concerto with the New York Philharmonic. This, in case you haven't guessed, is the literal translation of Castelnuovo-Tedesco, the name of one of Italy's foremost composers, now living in America and very glad to be here, thank you.

Larchmont, New York, may be an anticlimax after Florence, Italy, but to Castelnuovo-Tedesco it possesses the peculiar charm of freedom. A political exile, he has come to America at the age of forty-four, with his wife and two sons, to start life over again. That he will never get Florence and his native Italy out of his heart is evidenced by the fact that he signs himself "Musician of Florence." But like so many others in this boiling-pot of a world, he has found a safe refuge, a place where he can carry on his work unmolested, safe from terror and persecution. He feels that eventually America will fill just as large a place in his feelings as Italy, and so quickly has he adapted himself that he has already discovered Walt Whitman and made twelve songs from excerpts of his works.

Castelnuovo-Tedesco's English is excellent and practically accentless. He learned it in order to write a musical setting for Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night."

Coming from a banking family, he was the first in his family to take up music as a profession. By the time he was thirty, he was regarded as one of the most important of modern composers. Since arriving here in July, he has already completed a violin concerto for Jascha Heifetz and the twelve Whitman songs.

There was a time when artists and creators came here only to pocket the shekels and run back to Europe by the fastest boat. America had no culture, they declared with loud scorn. We listened and meekly accepted the verdict. But in the meantime much has happened. Today America has become the center of the world's culture; not only because of the influx of old-world talent that has descended upon us but because in these last years we have developed into a culturally conscious nation, due in large part to the radio. Today when we salute a man of Castelnuovo-Tedesco's artistic stature, or any other great European creator, we can say with honest pride and an awakened knowledge, "Welcome to our country. May our inspiration and encouragement make up to you for what you have lost. And may you in turn become one of us and help us to preserve the past and create a future."

Men Behind the Music

This Week: Music Librarian Julius Mattfeld

BACK in the wild, barbaric days when it was as much as one's life was worth to play Bach on the air, radio conductors and performers used to run down to the corner music store to buy their scores and parts. If the script-writer wanted to know the year of Beethoven's birth, he called up the New York Public Library or asked a stray musical friend. And everyone played practically the same repertoire, because the idea of hunting for new and original music for radio was a fantastic and loudly scorned idea.

In the short space of thirteen years, all that has changed. Today NBC in addition to heading all the music-library activities is a walking encyclopedia of musical knowledge for the continuity-writers and has his own organ program on the air.

Tall, thin, nervously alert, with a long, narrow head, and glasses which he takes off and puts on continually, Mattfeld lives, breathes and almost eats music. In a rush of crackling, enthusiastic words he will tell you that his favorite reading is music publishers' catalogs, which he insists are the gossip-sheets of music. There he learns of new compositions, new arrangements and editions, news of com-possesses one of the largest musical libraries in the world, numbering some 300,000 numbers. WOR, purveyor of most of Mutual's good music, owns one of the finest and possibly the largest collection of string compositions in existence. And CBS, whose library equals and in some ways surpasses the others, is the proud employer of the man who started it all.

Julius Mattfeld was formerly music librarian at the New York Public Library. It was in 1926 that he joined station WEAJ to start a library in a modest way, just buying a few pieces of music now and then as they were needed. However, Mattfeld had the vision to see just what radio might some day mean to music. And soon WEAJ's music library began to assume importance. By the time the two networks combined, the corner music store had definitely lost a good business. With the purchase of the New York Symphony collection of scores (from Dr. Damrosch), NBC's music library became one of the most comprehensive in the country.

In 1929 Mattfeld left NBC and went over to Columbia to repeat his job for CBS. He is still with them, and in posers and everything of interest to the up-to-the-minute musicologist.

Mattfeld is called upon for every kind of musical service. If "The March of Time" needs a condensation of a Wagnerian prelude to spice up a hot bit of Nazi news, it is Mattfeld who supplies it in record time. All day long the telephone rings, with people asking for identification of a tune they "just can't get out of their head." Mattfeld usually gets it out of his head and gives it to them. He receives letters from all over the world with peculiar demands. Two came in from Hongkong and South Africa, from composers who offered to split fifty-fifty with him if he would popularize their works on the air. Hongkong and South Africa both got the same reply—a gentle but firm "No."

Mattfeld buys music from every country to add to the library and is continually on the hunt for more. "Radio is the biggest consumer of music in the world's history," he says, "and as such has to be fed continuously with a fresh and unhackneyed diet. It's our job to feed it."

More Study Aids . . .

Significant development is the very noticeable increase in the number of programs for which script reprints and supplementary study-aids are now available. Principal publisher is Columbia University Press, New York, which now offers reprints of the following programs, including bibliography, at ten cents per broadcast:

- "The World Is Yours."
- "America's Town Meeting."
- "Torch of Progress."
- "Story Behind the Headlines."
- "Americans at Work."
- "American Education Forum."
- "On Your Job."
- "Gallant American Women."

In addition to the above-mentioned script reprints, the Columbia University Press is publishing supplementary study materials for the following programs:

- "Ideas That Came True," teacher's manual and student's worksheets, ten cents for set covering series of thirteen broadcasts.
- "Great Plays," work manual containing reference material, bibliography, etc., twenty-five cents each.
- "Pilgrimage of Poetry," listener's manual with graphic map of pilgrimage, ten cents each.
- "Music Appreciation Hour," twenty-four-page instructor's manual, five cents each; students' worksheets, ten cents a set for each of the four grades covered by this series.

Person-to-Person . . .

● The new radio studios at the University of Kentucky are actually in operation now, although dedication ceremonies have not been held, pending completion of a few finishing touches. Dedication will take place on a University of Kentucky program titled "Capsules of Knowledge."

● The National Art Society, 30 Broad Street, New York, has prepared a manual for followers of NBC's new "Art for Your Sake" programs. Included is a folio of sixteen color reproductions of paintings discussed on the broadcasts.

● There's a smug smile on my face as I read a press release from the University of Chicago: "Not long ago twelve political spokesmen—nine of them members of Congress—declined an invitation to face T. V. Smith—the university's philosopher-politician—in a discussion of the last session of Congress." In case you wonder why I'm smiling, T. V.'s this writer's favorite round-table and radio speaker.

● The same U. of C. release states that the "Human Adventure" series that was given a trial run in a choice evening spot this last summer is undergoing improvements preliminary to its return to the air, probably in December. Here's an experiment in educational broadcasting that deserves watching because it is a definite, organized step toward dressing up education to make it appealing to those who need it most.

● Another national series deserving the close attention of teachers and group leaders who wish to use radio as a basis of study and discussion is the Office of Education's "Democracy in Action" (for time refer to "Sunday Good Listening Guide" on page 28). In this series, health, social security, foreign trade, labor welfare, and other problems of democratic government are treated documentarily in units of five to six broadcasts each. The last program in a group of five correlated broadcasts on the subject of foreign trade will be aired on November 5; the topic to be treated in the next unit has not yet been announced. Scripts for this series are written by Laura Vitray, formerly Sunday editor of the Washington Post, with facts supplied by the Department of State, the Library of Congress and other research agencies.

THE FUNNIEST MAN IN THE WORLD

More about Fred Allen, the simplest of simple lifers among radio's celebrities

FIRED from his job at the Boston Public Library, Fred Allen tried juggling at an amateur show. His act was a colossal flop, but when he began to talk, the crowd roared. On that night the Fred Allen we know—the wise-cracking Fred Allen—was born. He used the name of Fred James and went into five-a-day vaudeville. Out in El Paso he made the mistake of doubting that a fellow had jacks back-to-back and Fred went broke. But he had credit in New Orleans. He had no way to get to New Orleans. He scraped together enough money to buy a ticket part of the way and boarded the train, trusting something would turn up. The train was wrecked and the railroad took Fred to New Orleans without a complaint. He might have sued, you know.

Next he went from New Orleans to Australia without a passport. He just walked aboard a ship and walked off in Brisbane. Australia was at war and the folks looked twice at husky young men, wondering why they were not in France getting their brains blown out. The women particularly were anxious to snub a guy if he was not in uniform. Women are the most effective rabble-rousers in the world. Men will suffer their brains to be splattered rather than face the scorn of some nitwitted woman.

Fred decided to leave Australia. He and other Americans were subjected to many insults. But it wasn't so easy to leave. He had no papers and the officials were watching young men who caught boats. Finally Fred appealed to an American consul, who was not greatly interested in a juggler. He asked for Fred's birth certificate and Fred didn't have any. There was no record in Massachusetts of his having been born, but by enlisting the services of the mayor of Boston and a covey of notaries, he got proof that he had been born, and he got permission to come back home.

He was crossing the Pacific when the United States declared war and Fred joined the army. "After that war," he said, "I got married."

That was another time Fred used his head, for he married Portland Hoffa, named for Portland, Ore., where she was born.

They lead the quietest life of any celebrities. Their home is a rather small apartment in a midtown Manhattan hotel. They have no servants or automobile. Fred prefers cabs. Portland does most of the cooking or they eat out. He is the most unpretentious man in the show business.

He was invited to Hollywood to make a picture and wrote his business manager to reserve a hotel room for him and Portland.

The manager wired back that he could get a suitable mansion for a good price, something in keeping with Allen's prestige. Fred wired back for him to get a hotel room. The manager objected and pointed out that in Hollywood a big-shot simply had to have a big house.

Allen's final answer was, "Get a small place for Portland and me. You won't have to admit you know us."

He enjoys attending fights and sometimes he goes to the theater, but usually he stays home at night and reads. One of his best friends is Alton Cook, a radio columnist. He calls on the Cooks quite often. Cook can be a serious fellow, interested in serious things, and so can Fred. Dinty Doyle, another New York radio columnist, got a week's theater engagement on condition he could persuade some radio stars to appear with him. Allen has refused for years to make personal appearances for big money, but he went to bat for Doyle. His first crack was, "This is the first time I've ever played a benefit for a guy with a job."

HIS feud with Jack Benny is a fake, of course, and at times rather boring. To be brutally frank, it's so one-sided that it's not cricket. Fred thinks his friend Benny is the greatest interpreter of comedy in the world and perhaps he is. Jack thinks Allen is the smartest writer of comedy in the world, and he is. One night Benny surrendered before a barrage of Allen cracks and moaned, "If my writers were here you couldn't talk to me like that."

Fred Allen is not a comedian, he's a humorist. He never really opens up on the radio, because the public has not been educated to appreciate the brilliant satire of the man. He is a student of history, philosophy and literature. Some have said his snapping satire has approached Voltaire's.

Here is a typical example. It was back during the freedom-of-speech controversy in Jersey City when Mayor Hague was bellowing that he was the

Fred Allen used his head when he married Portland Hoffa (named for Portland, Oregon). They live in a small mid-Manhattan apartment, have no servants, ride in cabs. Portland does most of the cooking law. In the middle of Allen's broadcast there was a station-break for announcement, and Fred whispered to his audience, "This is where we break the program to ask Mayor Hague if the remainder of the broadcast can go to Jersey City."

He grumbles a lot, especially about how hard he works. When he goes out he sets a time limit for fun. Recently he went to a friend's house and vowed he would have to leave at midnight. He made Portland promise to remind him to leave at twelve. At midnight he was enjoying himself.

Portland said, "It's midnight, Fred. You said you had to be home at twelve."

"That's right," said Fred, "twelve Pacific Coast time."

His pockets always are stuffed with envelopes on which he has jotted down ideas for gags.

His routine of life is almost as strict as a monk's. His week begins at 1 a. m., Thursdays, after his Wednesday broadcast. He spends that day answering mail and attending to personal matters. He devotes Friday to writing, and sometimes takes Portland out Friday night. He almost always goes to church Sunday mornings and does his "newsreel" and "Portland spot" Sunday afternoon. To do his "newsreel" he spreads seven days' worth of New York papers and news magazines before him and goes through them, shears in hand. He usually picks up a hundred items, and saves about six. That's one reason he is so well informed.

He meets with his production staff on Mondays, puts the finishing touch on his script on Tuesday, rehearses Wednesday and is ready for the air that night.

Twice a week he works out at a gymnasium, usually boxing. Any break in his routine throws him off. He's a chronic bellyacher. He keeps track of everything, however. He hates to keep track of his income tax, but keeps it straight to the penny. One day a laborer neglected to receipt a bill and Allen yelled, "Come here and sign this memorandum for Mr. Morgenthau."

HIS wife says her hardest job is to get Allen to part with his derby in spring.

After starring in several Broadway shows, Allen took to the air in 1932 with a half-hour show. His wife began to heckle him during his first show, and he added her to his cast. He began "Town Hall Tonight" in 1934. Other sponsors have told him to write his own ticket, but he is loyal to "Town Hall." He knows if he breaks up his organization a lot of folks might be out of work. He has all the money a man needs. His new contract provides that "Town Hall" must run until 1941.

When he signed it, Fred told his sponsor, "If it flops, the joke is on you."

THE VOICE OF THE LISTENER

$1.00 will be paid to the writer of every letter used in this department. Readers, express your opinions, write to V. O. L., 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Illinois

Bang, Bing!

Dear V. O. L.:

On his program a few weeks ago Bing Crosby referred to "an old-fashioned, ten-gauge, single-choke shotgun." If Bob Burns really hunts down in Arkansas, he could tell Bing that shotguns may be single- or double-barreled, but never single-choke. Choke is described as being full-choke, modified-choke, etc.

Mrs. W. C. Fry, Effingham, Ill.

• And would you say Bing's voice illustrates a "modified choke"?—V. O. L.

A Recession?

Dear V. O. L.:

So Nelson Eddy is leaving the "Chase and Sanborn Hour." When he leaves the air it will mark the disappearance of the last of the top-flight singers from our radio fare. Yet not more than two or three years ago we were listening regularly to Tibbett, Thomas, Bonelli, Crooks, Melton, Everett Marshall, together with such feminine stars as Grace Moore, Lily Pons, Anne Jamison and others too numerous to mention. The finest instrumental music is available to us in ample quantity, some captious critics notwithstanding. A few of the sustaining programs are still featuring fine vocalists such as Thomas L. Thomas, and a number of delightful guest artists are appearing on various concert hours, but with Mr. Eddy's departure not one of the big commercial shows, with all their miscellaneous array of so-called "talent," will be featuring a really distinguished singing artist regularly. It may be a question of expense, but that is the fault of the sponsors, as they have been outbidding each other for the services of these singers until they have deliberately run up their fees to fantastic figures.

There are thousands of potential customers who are utterly weary of the prevailing variety formula and would welcome a few fine all-musical programs with real vocal artists.

Anne H. Church, Mt. Airy, Pa.

• We agree with Miss Church that real entertainment balance would be served with more of the great classical artists regularly on the big programs. But we believe this is only a temporary dearth. Meanwhile many will be interested to know that Richard Crooks is scheduled to return to "Voice of Firestone" this week and Donald Dickson, whom we classify as a great voice, is booked to join "Chase and Sanborn Hour" soon.—V. O. L.

Allergies Not Funny

Dear V. O. L.:

Just the other day I heard something that is said and done very frequently over the air and in the movies and even in newspaper comic strips—and "it ain't funny!" I refer to remarks in ridicule of asthmatic and hay-fever sufferers. This last jibe I heard was something like this: "I'll give an imitation of Miss Asthma calling her mate, 'Hey, Fever!'" This is no more funny than those two terrible diseases. Such ridicule, and all other personal remarks of illness and physical defects, should be kept out of programs. Those who are guilty should try choking with asthma as I have for a long time, or being racked with hay fever, and they'd be convinced their remarks were cruel rather than humorous.

Mrs. B. N. Lawson, Winnebago, Wis.

Knows His Pledge

Dear V. O. L.:

In Radio Guide for October 20 in the radio quiz department there was the following question: "Finish this pledge to the flag—I pledge allegiance to the flag, and to the republic for which it stands—" According to my knowledge the first part of the above is wrong. The way we do it in school and the way I have for nine years been taught to do it is as follows: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands," etc.

Russell Bayley (14),
San Francisco, Calif.

• Atsa spirit, Russell! You're right.—V. O. L.

Shut-In Corner

Dear V. O. L.:

I have been a shut-in for almost eight years. The entire time has been spent in hospitals and, with the exception of a few months, all of my time has been spent in bed. And by my bed I always have my radio, for, naturally, it is my best and almost only entertainment.

Until this year I have always made a few dollars making and selling leather-craft products. Due to a relapse I can't do that very well, so I am selling Christmas cards, and I'd certainly appreciate any customers I may contact outside my circle of acquaintances. I'd like to hear from other shut-ins, too.

W. Lawrence Coster,
C-1, City Hospitals,
Baltimore, Md.

• Another shut-in selling Christmas cards is Frances Ferguson, 310 N. Wasson St., Lamesa, Tex.—V. O. L.

Calling Mildred

Dear V. O. L.:

Every Thursday evening for several years a dear friend, Mildred Jeffries, and I worked the cross-word puzzles in Radio Guide together, after we read everything from cover to cover. Our husbands, employed in the oil fields of Oklahoma, worked every night. Radio was our only entertainment for many happy evenings together. Six months ago we were transferred to Illinois, and shortly afterward the Jeffries moved to California. We have lost complete track of one another. I want very much to get in contact with her again, and I know she reads Radio Guide every week, so I am writing to you. I have a hunch she will see my letter.

Mrs. Helene Carter, Fairfield, Ill.

Idea for Met

Dear V. O. L.:

Concerning your article, "No More Opera," I think the solution of the problem lies with the radio audience. Commercial broadcasts are made possible by our purchases of various products, but the Met broadcasts are free from the tiresome exhortations to buy this or that. This alone should be worth something to listeners.

The N. Y. Philharmonic derives a portion of its income from listeners by sale of booklets explaining Beethoven symphonies and dictionaries of musical terms. Why shouldn't the Met do the same? Autographed photos of the stars could be sold for one dollar each, or illustrated pocket editions of the history of the Met could be sold.

I believe there are a million and a half listeners who would be willing to pay a dollar this year and each year to help keep the Met.

C. N. Calhoun, Valdosta, Ga.

Sick of Super-Stuff

Dear V. O. L.:

When are the sponsors of some of the daytime serials going to wake up and realize that the American housewife is possessed of normal intelligence and does not need to be shouted at regarding the merits of products?

I know that I am not alone in my disgust at the use of superlatives to describe the "amazing," "revolutionary," "super-this-or-that" qualities of commodities. The dramatic delivery of the advertising on the part of the announcers outdoes the acting of the dramatic players themselves. It has reached the point where we tune out entirely the advertising part of the programs.

A few simple, well-chosen words would be much more effective than the barker-like ranting that turns the average listener against the product rather than creating the desire to try it.

"Methinks the gentleman doth protest too much."

Mitzi Gatti, Hartford, Conn.

Weary of Woe

Dear V. O. L.:

Is there nothing else to write about for our radio programs but doctors, nurses, hospitals and babies? They have so deified doctors that when I meet one I begin to look for wings; and in the last year I think everybody on the air has had a fictitious baby except the announcers.

There is enough suffering in real life without having to listen to it all the time on the air. There are so many cheering things they could write about.

A. L. Smith, Hoquiam, Wash.

COLONEL LEMUEL Q. STOOPNAGLE was born a normal-looking baby named Frederick Chase Taylor some forty frenzied years ago. He lived, grew and waxed wackier up to, including and beyond the crisis in 1930 when he teamed with Budd Hulick in an impromptu emergency on a Buffalo station and became a hit comedian. Now Comrade Stoopnagle thinks he has a "natural" for his catch-as-catch-can, scatter-shot style in his new "Quixie-Doodle Contest" (MBS, Fri., 8 p.m. EST, 7 p.m. CST, not available to West).

On Short Waves

Edited by Charles A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

Radio Center-Moscow Calling

SHORT-WAVE radio is an absolute necessity in Soviet Russia since it is the only means of communication between millions of inhabitants scattered throughout its vast expanses. Children are educated by radio, collective farms run by radio, and the only news of the outside world received in remote settlements is by radio. Radio Center-Moscow, the nerve center of Soviet Russia's complicated radio networks, broadcasts by short wave daily programs in more than a score of different Slavonic languages and dialects to its own peoples and to world audiences in French, German, Spanish, Italian, Hungarian, Czech, Swedish and English.

You can hear Moscow on your all-wave receiver but you must be patient for it is an elusive visitor. To reach this country its signals must cross great magnetic deposits within the Arctic Circle. These magnetic disturbances often sidetrack Moscow's signals before they reach us, but under favorable conditions this city may occasionally be heard with good signal strength. The daily Soviet broadcast for North America is radiated from 4 to 5:50 p.m. PST. At this time of the year the following frequencies are used: RKI (15.04), RNE (12.00), RAN (9.60) and RV96 (6.03). Of these, only RKI and RV96 occupy clear channels. Signals from RKI (15.04) are usually weak but fairly intelligible. It is easy to locate at the extreme low-frequency side (nearest 15 megs) of the 19-meter band. RNE (12.00) is at the extreme high-frequency side (nearest 12 megs) of the 25-meter band, but is usually badly cut up by code interference. RAN (9.60) is right in the most congested part of the 31-meter band, between DXB (9.61), Berlin, and WCAB (9.59), Philadelphia, and usually under one or two layers of Latin stations. You will find it difficult to locate RAN unless you are an expert listener with a very sharp-tuning set. RV96 (6.03) is a mid-winter frequency on the 49-meter band and should furnish good reception during December and January. It is at the low-frequency side (nearest 6 megs) of the band.

If you are tuning near one of the spots described above, between 4 and 5:50 p.m. PST, and you hear a woman giving an English commentary, followed by a man giving the same line of talk, and the signal constantly wavers (sort of a bubbling effect), you are in tune with Moscow. The program opens (and closes) with the Soviet "Internationale," followed by these words in English, "This is Radio Center-Moscow calling," given by a woman. The program consists of a monotonous series of English talks, mostly very direct and blunt anti-democracy propaganda (formerly anti-Nazi), given alternately by male and female announcers, occasionally interspersed with somber semi-classical music of the Russian type. Moscow's programs are distinctly not entertaining, but if you want to hear all sides of the present war of words, you will want to know what Moscow is saying—this is the American short-wave listener's right.

FROM THE EUROPEAN ARENA: Berlin now broadcasts to North America as follows: From 1:55 to 7:50 p.m. PST, over DJD (11.77) and DXB (9.61) and from 1:55 to 5 p.m., over DJL (15.11). The early morning program for United States listeners, daily 5 to 6 a.m. PST, is now broadcast over DJB (15.20), with news in English at 5:30 a.m. . . . European frequencies at the high-frequency side of the 31-meter band, namely GRX (9.69), Paris Mondial (9.68) and DXB (9.61), are all suffering badly from interference caused by adjacent Latin stations at present. . . . Rene Weiller, consul general for France, at Chicago, writes the following program items may now be heard over Paris Mondial (9.68 or 11.885): 5:03, news in English; 5:15, an English talk; 5:30, news in French; 5:45, a vocal re-tal; 6, the news in Spanish; 7:30, news and events of the moment; 7:45, music; 8:30, news in English; 8:45, news in Spanish; 9, a talk in English, and at 9:15 p.m. PST, the news in English, with sign-off at 9:30 p.m. PST. . . . Sweden presents a fine program for North American listeners on Wednesdays and Saturdays from 5 to 6 p.m. PST. Last Saturday's broadcast was heard with very loud volume over SBT (15.155). SBP (11.705) could not be heard at the time. . . . According to the NNRC, the new 10,000-watt international station at Spata, Greece, to take the air almost any day now, has been assigned the following calls and frequencies: SVD (6.885), SVL (7.228), SVG (7.805), SVH (9.030), SVI (9.695), SVJ (9.825), SVM (9.935), SVN (10.705), SVP (12.195), SVQ (13.64).

REMAINDER OF THIS WEEK'S PROGRAMS

Two Pages Missing

IRENE NOBLETTE (formerly of "Tim and Irene") has new berth as a heckling stooge with "Texaco Star Theater" (Wed., CBS). Above, with emcee Ken Murray

YOU ASKED FOR THEM

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: Is Freeman Gosden, Amos of "Amos 'n' Andy," married? If so, does he have children? —W. Frye, Peoria, Ill.

Freeman "Amos" Gosden was married twelve years ago, does have children. Above, he's seen with Freeman, Jr., 11, Virginia, 9, and a pet canine. —ED.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: Please run a picture of Donna Dae.—Evelyn Bruce, Seattle, Wash.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: Is radio singer Don Reid a former boxing champion?—J. Hill, Akron, Ohio. Yes. Don Reid, currently billed on Al Pearce's show as a new tenor "find," graduated from McGill University, became Canadian welterweight champion before he started singing with popular bands.—ED.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: Was Ben Alexander, "Hall of Fun" emcee, ever in films?—I. Lee, Troy, N. Y. Twenty-five years ago, Ben Alexander (right, above) was in films—as Cupid (left, above)! The genial gagster took that part in Fanny Ward's "Each Pearl a Tear," produced by Jesse Lasky.—ED.

AND HERE THEY ARE

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: Is Jessica Dragonette making radio guest appearances now? —Frank Williams, Boston, Mass.

Circumstances have so far prevented Dragonette's return to regular broadcasting, but she has been a frequent guest, as above, with Alec Templeton (seated) on his new Mon. (NBC) show.—ED.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: Is the Mary Martin now in radio the same Mary who sang "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" on Broadway? —Georgianna Nelson, Chicago, Ill.

The two Marys are indeed one. Mary Martin (r.) won fame in the show "Leave It to Me," now stars on Walter O'Keefe "Tues. Night Party."—ED.

RADIO FINDS ANOTHER BOY WONDER

EZRA LIVES with his family in their Brooklyn home where he occupies this combination sitting-bedroom, decorated as a ship's cabin. Among his hobbies are collecting guns (he cleans one here), making amateur movies, collecting maritime equipment to adorn his room

NUMBER ONE problem child of radio and the theater is Ezra's characterization of Henry Aldrich. But in real life he is a devoted and considerate son, causes his mother (seen with him at right) nothing but great pride in his success

COMPETITION for Orson Welles, radio's original boy wonder, is being provided by twenty-year-old Ezra Stone (Henry Aldrich of "The Aldrich Family," heard Tuesday night at 8 EST; 7 CST; 6 MST; 5 PST, with repeat broadcasts at 9:30 MST and 8:30 PST over NBC). A Brooklyn boy with dramatic ambitions, Ezra scored hits in "Brother Rat" and "What a Life" on Broadway, this year finds time to direct and co-star in the Broadway hit, "See My Lawyer." But it was radio that made his name a family byword when he scored as Henry Aldrich on Kate Smith Hour. "The Aldrich Family" soon won a program spot of its own.

DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL

It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections
 No MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet when using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band frequencies and short wave channels.

ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD
 Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere—no more roof climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wires.

NOT NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED
 On the market five years, 100,000 customers in U.S. and foreign countries.
 In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception. Cannot harm set—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radios for double aerial. Note: It will not operate on battery or automobile radios.

5 DAYS TRIAL Mail coupon at once. Pay postman $1.00 plus a few pennies postage on delivery. If not entirely satisfied, return within five days and your dollar will be refunded without question.

—JUST MAIL THIS COUPON—

F & H Radio Laboratories, Dept. 108, Fargo, N. Dak.
 I send F & H Capacity Aerial. Will pay postman $1 plus few cents postage. If not pleased will return within 5 days for $1 refund. Check here if sending $1 with order—thus saving postage cost—same refund guaranteed. Check here if interested in dealer's proposition.

WHAT USERS SAY
 LaPorte, Tex. After using the Capacity Aerial Eliminator over a year on my 1935 small 7 tube set can say it brings in reception with fine volume and clarity, putting in stations from Japan, Europe, South America, and broadcast stations from all over the U. S. Efficiency proven, I took down my old outside aerial. Signed: _____
 Davenport, Ia. Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. Also works swell on Short Wave band. Wish I had found it long ago. Signed: _____

MR. FAIRFAX REPLIES

No personal replies to questions unless accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mr. Danny Thompson, Orlando, Fla.—Johnny, call-boy on the "Johnny Presents" program, was born John Roventi in Brooklyn, New York, on August 15, 1910. He left school to help support his parents, but the best he could do was to sell newspapers—because of his size. One day it occurred to him that bell-hopping might be more profitable. He applied at the Hotel Manager, now the Hotel Taft, and was hired on the spot. A year later he transferred to the New Yorker Hotel, where he was discovered by an agency radio executive. Now Johnny has signed what is believed to be the only contract of its kind in radio—a contract for life, which also provides a car and a chauffeur. Johnny is forty-three inches tall, weighs fifty-two pounds, has brown hair and eyes. His favorite food is his mother's Italian spaghetti.

Miss Anne Phillips, Philadelphia, Pa.—The Vagabonds are a negro quartet... Nancy Martin has been in radio since 1934. She was born July 15, 1913, in Wheeling, West Virginia, and was educated in that city and at Western College in Oxford, Ohio. She is a brunette with pretty brown eyes and curly hair. Nancy is five feet four inches tall, weighs 115 pounds.

BECAUSE you are now a mother doesn't mean you have to be a martyr. There's a lot of your own life still to be lived and enjoyed, remember—whether one, two or three children have arrived so far. That's not being selfish, either. Your children deserve a cheerful, unwearied mother just as much as you deserve time for yourself once in a while.

And now at last a mother who has been through the mill with two youngsters—with all the fun and worries, all the angelic smiles and bedevilled tantrums they can mean—is ready to help you! Her approach is from the modern, intelligent view that mothers can and should continue to be people after the advent of a baby.

Eleanor Gale Carroll has found the answers to the hardest problems of bringing a child into and up in the world under modern living conditions. Her advice is sound, it's practical, it works—and it is all contained in her brand new book, just published, called—

"Is There a Baby in the House?"

This is unlike any "baby book" ever written. It might better be called a "mother book," because it is you the author is taking care of. She helps make sure that while your child is being "brought up," Mother is not being dragged down. Mrs. Carroll shows the tricks of the trade that enable you to enjoy life—not as a slave to your child, but as the happy companion to him you want to be.

Having babies doesn't necessarily add years to your life—toddlers needn't make you a nervous wreck at the end of each day—growing children needn't monopolize the home and the conversation, provided you use these ways to keep things running on an even keel.

What This Book Does for You

This book points out the scores of things you can do that save time, trouble and temper—save money—and make a baby in the house a more nearly unmixed blessing than many young couples find him. It goes squarely into the problem of finances, for one thing. Shows where you can save with a clear conscience—where you should spend a bit. It discusses the maid problem with you frankly—what to look for in your helper, and how to get it, whether she works full-time, part-time, or only stays with the baby while you escape to a movie or game of bridge.

Can you make the laundering problem any easier? What will take that far-away look out of a child's eyes at meal-time, and get him down to the business of eating? Must apartment living keep a youngster under your feet all day? Does having a baby mean giving up travel? How does a good manager handle the finer shades of the "in-laws" question? What about your wardrobe—your beauty care—the way you look "after" as compared with "before" the family started to grow?

Hundreds of practical questions such as these, and the ones listed in the panel at the left, are the questions this book at last answers!

Scientifically Sound—But Not "Scientific"

This book is written in the firm belief that most of the things the child psychologists tell you to do are good—that you should follow as many of them as you can—but that if you tried to keep up with half of them, there would be a problem mother instead of a problem child in the house.

Never before, we are sure, has any book contained a section entitled "Cocktails and Pabulum at Six"—but that perfectly sums up the unique, intelligent, human approach of "Is There a Baby in the House?" Here is the long-needed help that modern young parents want—help in doing a good job of raising well-behaved and happy children, and at the same time keeping the parents themselves sociable, unfettered, mentally alive; neither disgruntled by the inclusion of new members in the family circle, nor swamped by the job of taking care of them!
