BILL STERN REVEALS HEAD-ACHES OF A SPORTSCASTER

ILL STERN has been an ace NBC sportscaster for six years. In those six years he has thrilled listeners with descriptions of all types of sporting events - from football games to prize-fights. It was only natural, therefore, when RADIO GUIDE looked for the man who was best equipped to give its readers the real low-down on sports announcing, that Bill Stern's name should come up. In next week's Radio GUIDE Bill Stern will do just that in an article titled "So You Want to Stick Your Neck Out." It is the answer to hundreds of letters received annually by broadcasting companies and by RADIO GUIDE - letters from listeners asking how they should go about becoming sports announcers. If you are one of them or if you are a radio sports fan, don't miss this feature -or the unusual picture of Stern on the cover.

Two other articles in next week's issue will be of particular interest to amateur song-writers and popular-music fans. One, an exclusive story by Jimmy Mc-Hugh, famous ASCAP man who wrote the music for "Streets of Paris," current Broadway hit, gives some do's and dont's for aspiring song-writers. The other, "Young Man with a Band," discusses the genus bandleader backbone of a ninety-million-dollar industry.

Picture-stories of Burns and Allen, Walter Winchell, and the "Vox Pop" program are only a few of the remaining attractions in this interest-packed issue. Don't miss it.

MR. FAIRFAX REPLIES

Mrs. L. Fite, Litchfield, III.-Yes. Gene and Glenn are broadcasting at the present time. You may hear them Monday through Saturday at 8:30 a.m. EST over the NBC-Red network.

Miss Melisse Hass, New York, N. Y .-Eddy Duchin's opening theme is Chopin's "Nocturne in E Flat," his closing theme "Be My Lover." He was born April 1, 1909, at Cambridge, Mass. Duchin has black hair and eyes. He is a widower, has one son.

Miss Mary DePalo, Scarsdale, N. Y.-In "When a Girl Marries" Joan Field is portrayed by Noel Mills, Samuel Tilden Field by Ed Jerome, Mrs. Stella Field is, in reality, Frances Woodbury, Joan Tetzel has the role of Sylvia Field, Michael Fitzmaurice portrays Phil Stanley, Eva Topping is played by Irene Winston, John Raby plays Harry Davis, Anne Davis is played by Marion Barney, and Laddie Seaman takes the role of Tom Davis . . . Alice Craig in "Woman in White" is played by Ruth

Miss Ann Bryant, Ottumwa, Iowa. -As far as we can ascertain, there are absolutely no facts supporting the rumor that Eddie Howard wrote "My Last Goodbye" and "If I Knew Then

What I Know Now" in honor of his dead wife. Howard was only married a few months ago, for the first time. Eddie has brown hair, hazel eyes, stands five feet eleven inches, weighs 155 pounds . . . Ronold Kemper, the other featured vocalist with Dick Jurgens' band, is a blonde, stands five feet ten inches and weighs 168 pounds.

Mrs. Travers, Oakland, Calif.first Ellis Smith in "Guiding Light" was Raymond Johnson, who left the cast when he went to New York. Johnson may be heard as Paul Morrison in "Valiant Lady." Sam Wanamaker now portrays Ellis Smith.

PINCH-HITTING for HARE

Ernie's Marilyn sings on in the Hare tradition

T WAS the hardest program Billy Jones had ever had to do. For twenty years, in vaudeville, on records, in radio, he had worked as a partner in the team of Jones and Hare-singing, comedy, patter. Then, suddenly, he was left to face the microphone alone. There was no genial Ernie Hare across from him, and he missed the friendly presence. It didn't help any to remember that, even as he went on with his patter and comedy, down in Norfolk, Va., they were burying his friend and partner of twenty years. Life had been unable to drive a wedge between them. They had watched other teams of their day split up for various reasons-money, jealousy, old age. Jones and Hare seemed to go on forever . . . until death struck.

Ernie should never have made his last two broadcasts. His face had been flushed with fever and he could hardly keep on his feet. "I'm probably walking around with pneumonia," he laughingly remarked, and it wasn't until Billy finally forced him to go to a doctor that he learned how true his laughing remark had been. He was walking around with pneumonia, and only the stern tradition in which he had been steeped—the show must go on—had kept him from falling over.

Of course you've heard Jones and Hare. Maybe you remember them from the highly popular recordings they used to make-their comic duets and sentimental ballads. Or, if you're of a later generation, you'll know them from radio. Perhaps you don't remember the names Jones and Hare but know them by one of the endless stream of names under which they sang and performed for the endless stream of sponsors who hired them from the early days of radio until the present. For different sponsors, they were variously known as "The Happiness Boys," "The Interwoven Pair," "The Best Foods Boys," "The Taystee Loafers," "The Gillette Gentlemen."

Jones and Hare broke into radio

Jones and Hare broke into radio over WJZ, Newark, N. J., in October of 1921. Among the most popular recording artists in the country, they sang on radio for nothing because they felt it had a future. And they entered this new field in the face of bitter opposition on the part of the recording companies for whom they worked. Already well known, they played a large part in popularizing radio in that early day.

Here is a potent remedy for your holiday headache: change the calendar

HEN President Roosevelt suggested some months ago that we celebrate Thanksgiving November 23 instead of November 30, as scheduled, he tossed a bomb that exploded under the nose of every man, woman and child in the land. For the calendar is a homely, daily document, and anything that affects it affects everybody, be she ever so humble.

The result of the President's suggestion is a nation split evenly in two. Twenty-three states, including the stand-pat New England states, will celebrate the holiday on the last Thursday in November as per tradition. Twenty-three others will honor the day on the twenty-third. And two others will straddle, holding celebrations on both days.

Radio schedules woven around allimportant Thanksgiving sports events have been knocked into a cocked hat, and moguls of the airwaves can be seen any day rending their hair and muttering cuss words in their beer. When is Thanksgiving? they want to know. Railroad time-tables, college-vacation arrangements, and a thousand business and festive plans have been torpedoed by a mere shift of seven days in the calendar.

Which brings us to one of the important women of our time, a wisp of a lady named Elizabeth Achaelis, who for the past ten years has been fighting to change the calendar. Like a good housewife, she feels that a calendar should be a tidy, regular procession of dates. We shouldn't have to recite, "Thirty days hath September, April, June and November . . .," to find out the number of days in a month. She would also like to see all holidays fall on a Monday so that we-uns could get two to three days in a row and a real binge or a real rest, whatever the temperament.

As to the pother about the new Thanksgiving date, she says, in effect, What's the shooting about? And she produces a few facts that I am setting down for your astonishment.

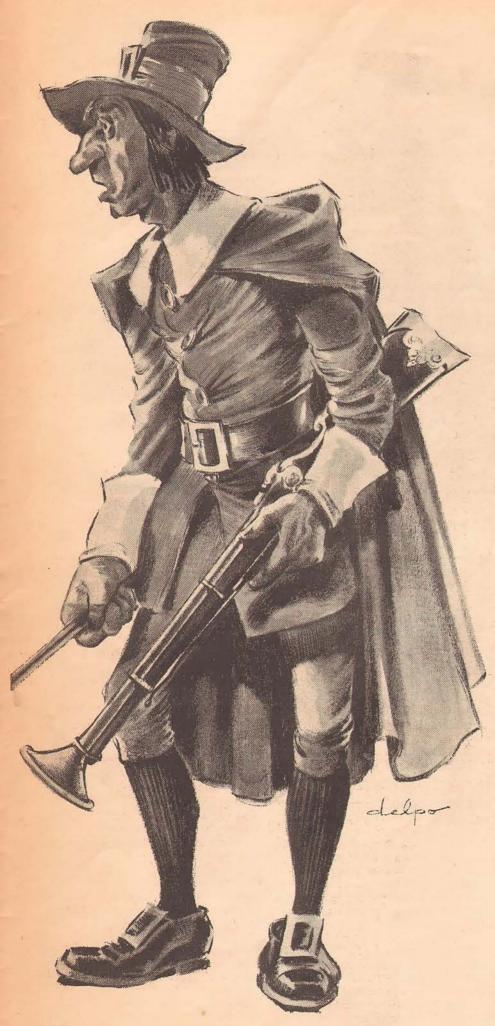

The first Thanksgiving, back in 1620, was held on December 9, 1620, and it was a Saturday. The following year it took place on a Friday and the date was November 9. Once it was celebrated on July 30, another time in February. Moreover, it wasn't signalized every year. And what is more, there were folks among the Pilgrims who wanted the celebration to be a day of prayer and fasting. At Valley Forge,

George Washington proclaimed a day of Thanksgiving on May 7, 1778.

Well, the day was celebrated on and off on days in every calendar month, all through the seventeen-hundreds, and then people well-nigh forgot about it. And then a woman named Josepha Hale, editor of a fashion magazine named Godey's Lady's Book, began agitating for a fixed and permanent Thanksgiving Day. For forty-seven years she worked on the idea without results, and then in 1863 she wrote her final editorial on the subject. The editorial got to the eyes of Abraham Lincoln, and he, in 1864, proclaimed Thanksgiving Day as we now celebrate the occasion.

So you see there's nothing very traditional about the last Thursday of November as a day of giving thanks. Miss Achaelis, however, was pleased with the excitement Mr. Roosevelt's proclamation had caused in that it showed that the public was not indifferent to the calendar.

Her plan for a reform has been approved by some sixteen countries, and but for Mr. Hitler and his war, plans would be under way right now for an international convention to put it into effect. It is an exceedingly simple plan and has many advantages.

In a word, it involves the shifting of seven days. February would have thirty days, March thirty, April thirtyone, May thirty, August thirty, and December thirty. A glance at the calendar as pictured here will give you the idea. Each quarter-year begins on a Sunday and ends on a Saturday. So too the year. And each quarter, moreover, has exactly ninety-one days.

This makes a year of 364 days. The 365th day is an intercalary day, which is one without a number or a week-day name. It is simply a twenty-four-hour period that is taken out of the parade of days because it makes the parade irregular. Miss Achaelis proposes that this be called Year-End Day and be celebrated throughout the world as Peace Day.

The great advantage of this last day of the year is that the calendar becomes fixed permanently. It cannot change. No one will have to buy a new calendar every year. It will be possible to memorize it, like a multiplication table. There will be no searching on the pad of dates to find out what day Christmas falls or what day baby's birthday comes. All anniversaries and holidays will be set once and for all time.

And while this is being done, the advocates of calendar reform, among them Miss Achaelis, propose that all holidays not linked sentimentally with a birth date be celebrated on a Monday. Election day on a Monday would give the citizens a respite from campaign addresses, except those that the radio would send into their homes, and so they would have time to consider issues and men in tranquillity. Memorial Day likewise would always be on a Monday. The same could be done for all state holidays. Thanksgiving would be the fourth Monday in November.

There are many other advantages. The quarterly tax payments now required on March 15, June 15, etc., would in the World Calendar fall always on a Friday. What better day for facing that painful business than the one on which most people collect wages or total up the week's receipts?

Women are profoundly interested in the subject. Last May, after two years of study, the General Federation of Women's Clubs adopted calendar reform as one of its four principal objectives. The fact that Christmas would always fall on a Monday impressed many of the voters.

The headaches that go with the irregularity of the present calendar would be entirely eliminated. School vacations will fall on the same days, year after year, sports schedules will be fixed once and for all. The planning of club programs much simplified. Week-ends will be longer.

Businessmen have long demanded a greater degree of stability in the calendar. The building industry has been particularly interested, and one of its leaders stated recently that our sloppy system of reckoning time costs builders and contractors millions of dollars each year.

Chambers of commerce, statistical and engineering groups, and most church organizations are definitely in favor of the new calendar. The churches approve because it is a device which will, once and for all time, nail down the wandering Easter. The League of Nations was contemplating a call to an international convention on the subject shortly before war was declared.

We all look at the calendar daily at least once. How many of us know the reason back of it—how this conglomeration of days came into being?

Briefly, it is a record of the time it takes for the world to make a circuit of the sun, which requires exactly 365 days, five hours, forty-eight minutes, forty-six seconds. Our year—page Mr. Ripley—is off by twenty-nine seconds. But this isn't much of an error. It would take 3,323 years for this error to add up to a single day.

Our calendar was worked out by Pope Gregory back in 1582 and it wasn't adopted by Britain until 1751. Until that date, England and its American colonies went by the Julian calendar. George Washington was born under this old calendar, so his actual birthday is February 11 by our system of reckoning and not February 22, which we usually celebrate.

The world is full of peoples and countries who still count days by the moon. Right here in the United States the Jews, Mohammedans and a score of other peoples go along by moon calendars, which have a way of getting out of line. This is because the moon, as a means of reckoning time, is inaccurate and not too closely related to the march of the seasons.

MARK HAWLEY, MBS news commentator, in a jocular mood figured the other day that our present calendar, however much it has improved over the ancient calendars, costs the taxpayers $607 an hour. Asked for an explanation, he said:

"Let me ask you a simple question: What day falls on the eighteenth of next month? How long has it taken you to arrive at the correct answer? Unless you have a calendar within reach or your wife's birthday happens to fall on that date, I defy you to give me immediate answer. Instead you say, 'This being the twelfth, let me see thirty days has September, April, June, etc. That gives thirty-one dayshmmmmm—this is Sunday—next Sunday would be the nineteenth-the following Sunday the twenty-sixth hmmm-the next falls on Tuesdayeighth-fifteenth-hmm-twenty-second minus four-oh yes, the eighteenth would be a Friday."

"In terms of radio copy these lines would consume thirty seconds of airtime. Give the average person one minute to do the problem. Assume that half the population of New York alone worked at it once a day—58,333 hours daily, or 7,291 working days, or twenty-six years of work for one man. At twenty-five cents an hour he would receive $14,583.25. This for one day's calendar maundering in one city of the U. S. A."

Now will you believe in calendar reform!

Among the many fine Thanksgiving programs to be broadcast this Thursday, November 23, we especially recommend "Thanks to America," a drama to be heard over NBC at:

Lyn Murray likes pipe with music; Benchley-Durante in radio deal

By Martin Lewis

NEW YORK.-Lyn Murray likes nothing better than smoking a pipe while he is working on his music. He claims it helps him to relax. Rudy Vallee gave Lyn a pipe with a stem eight inches long and now it's the favorite of his collection. Because of its length, the pipe kept turning and spilling ashes over his suit, so one of the boys of the Four Clubmen quartet rigged up a device that Murray clamps around his neck and it acts as a rest for the pipe, catches the ashes and holds a pack of matches . . . "Kate Smith's Own Game, America" is a new educational parlor game now being sold in the stores. Royalties that Kate receives will be donated to her favorite charities . . . Saw Major Bowes in front of St. Patrick's Cathedral last Saturday afternoon looking over the trees he donated that have given Fifth Avenue and the church an added beauty.

Bob Benchley's weekly Old Gold series left the air on the fourteenth, and now there is talk that a new show is being prepared for him, with Jimmy Durante as his supporter. In the meantime Benchley will be a guest on "Information, Please" this Tuesday night and is also scheduled for the "Screen Guild Theater" November 25 . . . "Cavalcade of America" will return to the air if its sponsors can find a suitable day and time . . . Many ears will be listening to the Orson Welles show of December 17, when Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne will make their first radio appearance on this show . . . Johnny Green's Wednesday night show on the NBC-Blue net has added a five-minute comedy spot called "Pipe Dreams." The "Liar's Club" should be interested in this feature . . . Attention, photographers: "Adventures in Photography" is the title of a new series now heard on the NBC-Blue net, Wednesdays at 10:30 p.m., EST. It's a quiz show on camera work, with prizes.

I followed up the Franklin P. Adams hat incident which I told you about last week. The mystery of the missing hat was solved when Adams met a friend of his a couple of days after the "Infoplse" broadcast on the street. The friend noticed the hat F. P. A. wore and eyed him suspiciously. On the other hand, F. P. A. glanced at his friend's chapeau, and then accusations were exchanged and so were the hats. Although they accused each other of swiping the hats, they had a good laugh out of it, and F. P. A. is much happier now that he has his $30 hat

Hurray for Our Side!

Fred Allen's show has brought back the newsreels and is once again featuring "The Person You Didn't Expect to Meet," which proves the voice of the listener will be heard if we yell loud enough. The change should make Allen happier, which in turn should make funnier programs . . . Something should be done to make Walter O'Keefe's programs more entertaining. They've injected an idea called the "dramateurs," which O'Keefe used several seasons ago when he replaced Allen during the summer months. Listeners wonder why a comedian can be funny one season and flop the next. The answer is simple: a comedian is only as good as his script. His present writers apparently haven't discovered the O'Keefe personality . . . As a perfect example of expert writing for a definite personality you have only to listen to Bing Crosby's patter. The writer has Bing's gift of gab perfected to the letter. The same is true of Jack Benny's scribblers.

Behind the Scenes

Went up to see Kay Kyser's first broadcast of the season from the New York studios. As to be expected, every seat in the place was occupied and there were a few standees. Before the program, a movie short showing how Lucky Strike cigarettes are made was shown to the audience. After that was over, Prof. Kyser came out on the stage after an eloquent introduction by "Dean" Ben Grauer. Kay kept the audience laughing with his tomfoolery from the minute he came out. He kids people in the audience, the girl selected to pick the ticket stubs to select the contestants. and even the nervous contestants themselves. Kay admits he is superstitious and announces he is going to take off the tan shoes he is wearing and put on a pair of blacks, which are the shoes he wore on his first program and which he now wears every Wednesday night. After the broadcast there is a mob backstage waiting to see him, and he has to talk to them all so that nobody is slighted.

When CBS choral director Lyn Murray had trouble with this eight-inch pipe, one of the "Four Clubmen" whom he coaches invented the "Sava-bac 'n' Tooth Pipe Holder-upper" (above). It provides match-holder and jaw rest

The audience for the NBC Symphony concerts conducted by Arturo Toscanini is the smartest and best dressed to attend any broadcast. Formal dress is worn by about three-fourths of the audience. If you're lucky enough to get a ticket, you are apt to sit next to a judge, an ambassador, a famous movie star or any well-known person. Last Saturday night during the short intermission I noticed the swell movie star, Luise Rainer. A few seats away sat Kitty Carlisle, Will Hays, czar of movieland, Max Gordon, the famous theatrical producer, and many others too numerous to mention. There isn't any doubt that this concert is the musical treat of the week, but what an added treat it is to watch the famous maestro conduct that grand orchestra. When it's all over, the perspiration just pours down his face, which isn't hard to understand. Lovers of good music should hear the Victor recordings of the "William Tell" overture with Toscanini conducting the NBC orchestra-it's MARVELOUS.

Ezra Stone, the "Aldrich Family's" pride and joy, is certainly kept hopping. His weekly radio show is just one of the many things that have kept him busy every minute. Two weeks ago he joined the cast of "See My Lawyer," the Broadway show which he directed. He no sooner got his daily routine or-ganized than he got a call to go to Hollywood to make a movie, and that is where his broadcasts will originate for the next few weeks while the picture is being made . . . Van Heflin, star of "Betty and Bob," will not be on the program the week prior to Christmas. Van's stage show, "Philadelphia Story," will lay off that week, and his request to be written out of the radio program during the same period was granted so that he is now able to take a real vaca-

At CBS one day last week, Paul Whiteman was rehearsing his part in the special broadcast honoring Juliette Gordon Low, the founder of the Girl Scouts. There were a number of boys and girls in the twenty-second-floor lounge, and when Paul came out of one of the studios a number of them wanted his autograph. Paul pulled out a little bank and extracted a dime from every one who asked for his signature. If they didn't have a dime, he contributed one of his own. That intrigued me, so I asked Paul about it. He told me he had started collecting ten cents for each autograph when he went on tour this fall. The autograph dimes were turned in to the Girl Scout fund.

By Evans Plummer

HOLLYWOOD.—Many more changes are in store . . . Herbert Marshall completed his seven-show cycle for Woodbury Playhouse November 15 and next week a new series of plays headlined by Jim Ameche and Gale Page, the Woodbury summer acting team, will get under way . . . Walter Huston has decided against the "Good News" master-of-ceremonies work and takes his leave in favor of Edward Arnold, who at the moment is testing his listener acceptance. Huston leaves shortly for New York and a new play on Broadway ... Donald Novis has upped and taken time out from Fibber McGee to fill a number of concert commitments . . . And Don Ameche, you worriers, is recuperating nicely at Palm Springs and will be back—as told here several times -on his old Sunday coffee-hour job starting December 10.

"The Voice of Experience," for nine years a standard radio act, will fold his tent as such after his December 22 airing and shortly thereafter launch a brand-new radio-show idea. "The Voice" isn't sure of its title yet-perhaps "Murder Will Out" would fit as well as any other-but the sensational new program will consist of the dramatization of actual crime cases, after which George Antheil, talented musician and criminoendocrinologist, will engage with "The Voice" in a discussion of the clews and pointing out by their analysis the physical type of the criminal probably responsible for the crime! So sure have been Antheil's deductions that he has been decorated by the French Surete, and in 2,500 test cases he proved 85% accurate! J. F. T. O'Connor, nationally known lawyer, for five years controller of the United States Treasury, would act as master of ceremonies. Rewards will be offered to listeners responsible for the apprehension of criminals pictured by the unique but proven-positive science of gland-prints

Following Herbert Marshall as continuing stars of "Woodbury Playhouse" (NBC, Wednes-day) are Gale Page and Jim Ameche, heard on the same series last summer. Jim is the younger, voice-double brother of Chase and Sanborn's Don Christmas present! Lionel Barrymore, though suffering intensely from a painful case of arthritis, will again do "Scrooge" of Dickens' "Christmas Caron Christmas Eve over Orson Welles' Campbell Playhouse . . . Lux Theater's Cecil B. DeMille, after featuring an unwed mother in "The Old Maid" October 30, was told by CBS network censors he couldn't do it again the following week when "Only Yesterday" was the play; hence the tampering with the original story, which possibly made it sound funny to you, too . . . "Screen Guild Theater" moves to New York for three weeks starting November 19, while Henry Aldrich, his "family" and writer Clifford Goldsmith report to Glamourtown November 14 for a run from these studios while the author pens a sequel to "What a Life" for Paramount and Ezra Stone puts on the grease-paint at the same lot for a starring role in "At Old Siwash."

Rom-Antics and Stuff

Tom McAvity, the Lord and Thomas radio director, likes the name Rosemary. Last year the last name was Lane, but this season it's Rosemary De-Camp, secretary in the "Dr. Christian" plays . . . "Grouch Club" grouchmaster Jack Lescoulie and heartbeat Susie Ream are over their grouch . . . Kathryn "Sugar" Kane and Horace Boos, Jr., wealthy localite, have their license . . . If Al Jolson, Sonny Boy and Ruby could live in a cottage by themselves, bets are they'd patch up their troubles . . . Hal Rorke, Hollywood CBS publicity chief, recently went rabbit-hunting and brought back twenty-five watermelons; on Sunday, November 5, he went bunny-shooting again and brought back a bride-the former Millie Simms!

Lum and Abner Touring

Lum and Abner, who haven't made any personal appearances for several years, opened November 7 at Anderson, Ind., in a tour which will bring them face to face with their listeners in Tennessee, Georgia and Arkansas. They'll return to Hollywood December 4, however, so that Lum (Chet Lauck) will be able personally to greet the stork he expects as a Christmas visitor . . . Their pal, Andy Devine, mayor of Van Nuys, celebrated the arrival of November with a fire in his basement caused by the explosion of cleaning-fluid. What's that law, Mayor Devine, about not storing explosive fluids on the premises?

Kate Smith Thumbs Movie Bid

Kate Smith, offered the lead in "Moon Over the Mountain" when she was the luncheon guest of Darryl Zanuck, said, 'No, thanks. For my next movie work I'd prefer to wait ten or fifteen years until I can do character parts like Marie Dressler." Kate and her manager, Ted Collins, missed seeing little while here; they fished off Catalina and chartered a plane to sightsee southern California . And by the way, before Andre Kostelanetz departed for the East, the 'Tune-Up Time' maestro weakened and allowed Columbia Pictures to shoot a scene of him directing the music in Tony Martin's forthcoming starring picture, "Passport to Happiness." Which is most remarkable when one recalls how Kosty was so chagrined when he saw himself "glamoured up" in his first screen effort several years ago. He swore off pictures right then and there! . Joe Penner's starting a new film-Glamour Boy No. 2" (and this has no reference to Kostelanetz). Wendy Barrie will be Joe's leading lady.

Father Barbour Won't Die

"One Man's Family" is so real that it even worries its acting cast! J. Anthony Smythe, who plays "Father Barbour," wanted a vacation; writer Carlton Morse obliged by making Father take sick. But Smythe tuned in and heard that Mr. Barbour's condition was bad. Worried about his future, he phoned Morse, "Tell me, will I die or do I recover?" "Don't worry," Morse advised, "you'll live a long time!" . . . Likewise, Kathleen Wilson, who plays "Claudia," was surprised to pick up a script and see that she was expecting another baby. "Will it," she asked Morse, "be a boy or a girl?" "I'll take your bet," he replied, "either Claudia was wise; she declined the bet-but now she's wondering if maybe her real life will follow the script-story pattern. It did once before! . . But get Morse straight about this: There'll be no tampering with the basic characters of his family or the actors who portray them. He wants to quell rumors that a new "Mother Barbour" is contemplated. "No character," Morse explains, "will ever be replaced. If for any reason the present actors could not continue in their roles, their characters in the script would disappear or die."

Casualties: Elliott Lewis, regular juve-nile of the "Silver Theater" dramas, had his appendix removed in a hurry last week and is convalescing rapidly . Judy Garland, singing starlet of the Bob Hope "Pepsodent Show," came down with a strep throat after her October 31 performance, but is better now -and your Hollywood reporter is tired of a drag-along case of flu and sore throat. What am I offered?

BACKSTAGE IN CHICAGO

Virginia Verrill sings for Dog-Housers; playbill of "Mary Marlin" presented

BY DON MOORE

CHICAGO.-Verrilly, the dog-house dwellers shall be rewarded. And so shall all the listeners to the program, "Uncle Walter's Dog House." shall be rewarded with the sympathetic and sultry crooning of Virginia Verrill, blues singer with high honors and low voice, bewitching green eyes and Myrna Loy nose. "Vee," who has a twenty-third birthday coming up this Monday (if it isn't a secret), is the greatgreat-great-niece of George Washington. She was the movie voice-double of several feminine stars, including Barbara Stanwyck. She has been heard on the air in "Show Boat," Jack Haley's "Wonder Show" and other well-known programs.

Mike Meanderings

Smilin' Ed McConnell says if he gets much heavier he'll be behind the 238ball . . . Lee Young, Bill Evans in "Road of Life," says he's getting younger all the time, since he played a Santa Claus with a beard fifteen years ago and now does hero roles . . . During the last week of his long run as emcee and orchestra-leader at the Old Heidelberg restaurant, Bruce Kamman (Prof. Kaltenmeyer) reversed the usual procedure and took pictures of the audience, giving away pictures of his subjects . It was Rudolph Valentino who first suggested to Mike Romano (Dr. John in "Girl Alone") that he'd go farther acting before a movie camera than before a jury, so Mike gave up the bar for movies and then stepped beyond Valentino's suggestion into radio.

As far as June Travis (Stormy in "Girl Alone") knows, the closest any of her family came to having a theatrical background was when they shot her father out of a cannon across a stage. Maybe that's why they call June a "bombshell beauty"! . . . Those dusky four horsemen of horseplay and harmony called the Vagabonds are Ray Grant, Sr., bass; Norval Taborn, baritone; John Jordan, second tenor, and Robert O'Neill, first tenor . . . Ed Prentiss (Ned Holden in "Guiding Light") is a candidate for membership in the Polar Bears, club of year-round swimmers; he takes a daily dip in Lake Michigan.

Keeping Up with-

The Wayne King program announcers. That's the new radio game—but it isn't so much fun to the producers. Through confusion David Ross and Franklyn MacCormack were both contracted for the important job of blending voice and narration into the King style of music. Ross doesn't like to travel from New York, but he did the first show. For the second one he was said to be sick. John Mc-Cormick announced and Franklyn MacCormack (poetry-reading specialist) set up a word-background for some of the music. For the third program Ross announced. Franklyn MacCormack again set a poetry scene. Meanwhile the agents had offered to pay Mac-Cormack's contract off, and Mac, good sport that he is, declined the "unearned" money, so they put him to work temporarily announcing and reading poetry for Wayne King's sustaining prógrams from the Drake Hotel, where his popularity made it seem imperative that he be on the commercial show, next week and find out.

Snooping in the Mail-Bag

It must be a big compliment to an actor's ability when listeners actually think of him or her as the character portrayed rather than by the actor's real name. Here's one of the most striking examples of that phenomenon. Hugh Studebaker recently received a letter addressed to Dr. Robert Graham, the name of the character he plays in "Bachelor's Children." The only address on the envelope was Chicago, Ill. It went first to the only Dr. Robert Graham listed in the Chicago directory. His wife must be a serial listener, for the letter was sent back to the postoffice marked "Try WGN." Thus it reached Studebaker. It was from an eighty-year-old lady in St. Joseph, Mich. If she reads this item, she will know that the reason she has not received a reply from "Dr. Graham" is that she forgot to sign her name. Come to think of it, I usually think of Hugh too. What will happen next? Tune in as Silly Watson or Abraham Lincoln myself.

> A lady in South Carolina made a 1939 New Year's resolution to write Jack Baker twelve letters a day this year, and thus far she has smashed precedent and kept the resolution. Virginia ("Ma Perkins") Payne corresponds regularly with other Virginia Paynes in Virginia, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio and New Jersey. Garry Morfit has received mail bearing some outlandish variations of his name, some serious, others unserious - examples: Muffnits, Mortgnats, Mousefat and Wharfrat.

Dramatis Personae

Presenting the cast of one of the favorite serials, "The Story of Mary Marlin." And don't scratch out Joe Marlin's name. Poor Joe's still lost somewhere in Russia, but I've a hunch listener demand may find him again under the steppes or somewhere.

Mary Marlin-Anne Seymour.

Frazer Mitchell-Phil Lord. Bunny Mitchell-Frances Carlon. Arnold-Arthur Kohl. Rufus Kane-Robert LaBelle. Eve Underwood-June Meredith. Robert Malloy-Karl Weber. Pater Hujaz-Arthur Peterson. "Never Fail" Hendricks—Frank Dane. Oswald Ching-Bob Jellison. Ben Jamison-Bob Guilbert. Della Worthington-Kathryn Card. David Post-Carlton Brickert. Davey Marlin-Patti Willis. Timothy-Frank Pacelli. Author-Jane Crusinberry.

There are a flock of newcomers to "Anne Thomas, Career Wife": Cliff Soubier as Bill Baker, Jane Webb as Mary Thomas, Lester Damon as Mr. Stanton, Laurette Fillbrandt as Jane Meade, Michael Romano as Arnie Keller, Sid Ellstrom as Mr. Dickenson and Betty Arnold as Peggy Steele.

LET'S BE PROUD OF AMERICANS

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, famous humanizer and popularizer of music, explodes the old myth of European superiority in music

The author of this article is Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, internationally known as the "Tune Detective." Through radio, motion pictures and magazine articles, he has long been a leader in the movement to popularize good music in America. On this page, Dr. Spaeth brings the full authority of his position as president of the National Association of Composers and Conductors to a frank discussion of the fight American artists are waging against domination by European music racketeers.—Editor.

T IS a matter of patriotic pride with us that our motor cars, our radios, our factories and theaters and stores are better and more efficient than those of any other country. We cry "Buy American!" with a fervor that arises not alone from patriotism but from the honest conviction that when we do buy American goods we are getting the best value for our money. Why, then, should we look down our noses at the American composer and musician and singer?

There was a time when no American musician dared appear before a native audience without a European bill of artistic health, and this in spite of the fact that every real musician and critic knew that European engagements and favorable notices could be bought for a definite price, and generally were. In many cases the Americans had to change their names to give them a foreign flavor. Edward Johnson, now manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company, was told in Italy that he would either have to become a citizen or call himself Edoardo di Giovanni, and he accepted the latter as the simelli; Richard Martin changed his first name to Riccardo; Lilian Norton had to be disguised as Nordica; Lucy Hickenlooper of Cincinnati could be pardoned for turning a rather unfortunate name into Olga Samaroff, with a grandmother as an excuse; but even today Joseph Bentonelli likes to be reminded that he is really Joe Benton of Oklahoma. These are all, incidentally, top-notch artists who should have been successful under any name.

Dick Bunnell became Richard Bon-

Lawrence Tibbett is generally pointed out as an outstanding American singer who made good. He had been singing splendidly at the Metropolitan Opera House, but with little prospect of getting out of the low-salaried class in which most of the American singers were kept by Manager Gatti-Casazza.

Tibbett's sudden leap into fame was the result of an unparalleled demonstration from an American audience when he sang the minor part of Ford in Verdi's Falstaff. There have been sweet things said and written about the generosity of Antonio Scotti, in the leading role, who brought Tibbett before the curtain and insisted that he accept the ovation that was clearly his.

T IS time that pleasant falsehood was corrected. Scotti, like most foreign artists, had not the slightest intention of giving credit to his American colleague. He hogged the stage and the bows until the audience became resentful and made it very clear that it was Tibbett they wanted and not the aging Italian baritone. The American had gone to his dressing-room, and came down only when Gatti-Casazza, with very bad grace, commanded him to take a bow. When Tibbett was finally allowed to appear before the curtain, there was not the slightest doubt that nor the listener can find out how they he had stolen the show.

It is a mistake also to credit Gatti-Casazza with any sincere interest in American artists. He tolerated them as a necessary part of his business, just as he put on bad American operas in order to say that he had done his duty by the American public.

Today both American singers and instrumentalists are gradually making their way through sheer ability, although they still suffer from the tradition that a foreign accent, an unpronounceable name, "artistic temperament," and a hand-kissing manner are worth more at the box-office than great talent and thorough training. Albert Spalding demonstrated long ago that supreme violin-playing was not limited to the Russians, and he has remained a straightforward American gentleman in spite of his musical eminence. Richard Crooks, John Charles Thomas and Nelson Eddy have joined Tibbett in the select circle of he-man singers, "reqular" in every way and still artists of the highest rank. Louise Homer, Geraldine Farrar and Mary Garden proved long ago that American girls could beat the European racket if they had the gifts and the courage combined, and today such younger singers as Grace Moore, Helen Jepson, Josephine Antoine and Gladys Swarthout are holding their own against all foreign competition.

It is the American composer, however, who faces the greatest problems in his own country. If he tries to write symphonies or operas or chambermusic, nobody will listen to him, so he is forced to find some other way of making a living, generally by teaching. His orchestral works get so few performances that neither the composer nor the listener can find out how they really sound. When they are presented by one of the major orchestras, it is too often with insufficient rehearsal.

A noted composer summed up the situation when he had his players perform an American work practically at sight. Asked why he did not give the composition adequate rehearsal, he said, with simple candor, "My audience knows the classics that I conduct; therefore I must be sure that they are played well. This new piece they do not know; therefore it does not matter how many mistakes are made."

A SINGLE concert performance is little better than no performance at all. A fair appraisal is impossible, and critics write cautiously, without committing themselves. Even the greatest masters had to be played again and again before they became popular. Why should the unknown American composer be asked to pass a test that Beethoven himself might not have survived? Why, moreover, must he always be compared with the greatest of foreign composers instead of the average?

Our serious music-lovers could learn a practical lesson from Tin Pan Alley. There nobody worries too much about esthetic standards. The one and only question asked concerning a popular song is "Does it sell?" If it does, according to the Broadway music-publishers, it must be good.

Our native composers and interpreters are not inferior to the foreigners in ability or training or true personality. They merely know less about the intrigue and the politics that long ago became European habits.

-Sigmund Spaeth.

The best plan, it seems to me, is to heed Beethoven's own angry remark when he heard some of the "stories" his contemporaries attached to the Seventh: "If expositions were necessary, they should be confined to characterization of the composition in general terms, which could easily be done by any educated musician." My own acceptation is the thought of d'Indy: that the Seventh belongs to Beethoven's sec-ond period of his career (1801-15), when his soul seemed most impregnated with love of woman, of nature, of country.

Arcady Dubensky, although born in Russia (1890), is now a New York dweller (violinist in the Philharmonic) and an (violinist in the Philharmonic) and an ardent American. He loves to compose in odd forms and combinations, as witness his "Fugue for Eighteen Violins," "Suite for Nine Flutes," "Caprice for Piccolo-Flute" and "Romance with Double Bass." The "Fanfare" is a ceremonial proclamation fittingly opening the new season of the Indianapolis symphonists.

Frederick S. Converse (born Newton, Mass., 1871) has created numerous works of magnitude, including symphonic scores, a violin concerto and the opera

"The Pipe of Desire" premiered at the Metropolitan in 1910.

"California," subtitled "Festival Scenes," dates from 1928. It is tuneful and flowing music, easily associated by the hearer with the character and scenery (perhaps agent the diment) of the ery (perhaps even the climate) of the Golden State. The composition takes about fifteen minutes to perform.

Of Several Things

By Leonard Liebling

S READERS of this department are aware, RADIO GUIDE recently conducted a poll, sponsored by the interesting Sunday afternoon program "So You Think You Know Music," in order to determine which now-living composer might, in the estimation of the voters, still be performed one hundred years from now.

It is a pleasure to report that our clientele came through generously with votes, sent to Radio Guide, CBS and the program's master of ceremonies, Ted Cott. The result of the poll put Sibelius on top, and in the order following, Richard Strauss, Rachmaninoff, Stravinsky, Paderewski, Deems Taylor, Shostakovich, Prokofieff, Kreisler, and Weinberger and Jerome Kern tied for tenth place. Then came Enesco, Vaughan-Williams, Grainger and a long list of others.

The result is not much of a surprise, except in the case of Paderewski, for while he wrote much lovely music (including a symphony and an opera) it has not been heard much in recent yearsof course always excepting his pretty little minuet. Then, too, it is astonishing that only Jerome Kern and Deems Taylor were placed high of the American composers. Others further down the list were Hanson, Arthur Berg, Roy Harris, Copland, Ives, Still, Carpenter, Cadman, Kelley, Friml, Romberg, Damrosch, Berlin, Oley Speaks. A few gallant voters included the ladies-Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, Mana-Zucca, Chaminade, Carrie Jacobs Bond.

Three composers whose work I have never had the privilege of hearing or hearing about put themselves on the ballot slips. One wrote underneath, "I can afford to wait."

Humor crept in too when a voter remarked of one of his candidates: "I name Shostakovich for one hundred years more of immortality—if Stalin doesn't get him first." Another selected Harry Armstrong "for his 'Sweet Adeline'—with or without gurgling accompaniment."

The editor of the March of Music now serves as the permanent judge on "So You Think You Know Music."

RADIO GUIDE has had many letters of late months complaining that inland communities are being deprived of good music on the air through the indifference of local stations and sponsors and the poor reception attendant on the best programs of the large networks. The correspondents have been advised that the present paragraph would be published but that the most effective remedy might be for them to write direct to the offenders.

A lady writes that if all Radio Guide's musical readers would promise the Victor people to buy the nine symphonies of Beethoven, led by Toscanini, that corporation might have him make them. As it is, he has phonographed only two or three of those works.

Speaking Up

By V. Vidal

HE other night, about eleven o'clock, I suddenly felt the need for a little soft music; nothing too intellectual, nothing I had to pay much attention to, but something to serve as a nice, sentimental, soothing background to my thoughts and my book. I switched on the radio, turned the dial from station to station. One after the other they greeted me with blasts of swing . . . good swing, I'll admit, but swing. And I didn't want swing just at that moment. I hunted around until I located just such a program as I wanted . . . and found that it came from a small local station. The networks had evidently entered into a conspiracy to broadcast as much dance music as they possibly could from eleven o'clock on.

With the latest Radio Guide in front of me, I went into the subject a little more thoroughly. I patiently counted an average of eleven dance bands broadcasting every night after eleven on the three major networks . . . Columbia, Mutual and NBC. With the exception of brief breaks for news bulletins, they blared happily on until long after midnight.

Now, mind you, I haven't a thing against swing bands. I like to shake a leg myself now and again. But nobody can convince me that 120,000,000 Americans spend every night after eleven jitterbugging. It just isn't logical. We may be a little mad about some things, but we can't have reached that stage. Yet, according to the networks, we have. And so all the nice, quiet people like you and me and the Smiths down the street have eleven dance bands crammed down their ears every night of the year.

A few years ago, on NBC, there used to be a delightful program called the "Slumber Hour." It was just the thing to listen to while darning socks or smoking a pipe over the evening paper, or just sprawling contentedly on the sofa after a hard day. It went on late at night, never presented anything to tax the intellect, and prepared one nicely for bed. Most of the music was of the "semi-classical" type, the orchestra was first-rate, and the announcements relaxingly brief. The hour was eventually shortened to half an hour and finally taken off the air altogether. And the strange thing is that NBC still gets hundreds of letters protesting its withdrawal and begging for its return.

That surely proves something. Why can't the networks follow the example of local stations and devote half an hour late at night to the "Slumber Hour" type of program?

Men Behind the Music

This Week: MILTON CROSS

AKE up, America! Time to stump the experts . . . This is Milton Cross speaking to you from Box 44 at the Metropolitan Opera House . . . It's RCA all the way . . ." cubby-hole in the Westinghouse plant near Newark. The station directors were so bowled over at having a real musician show some interest in radio that they snapped him up at once. He put on song recitals for a few months,

What radio listener hasn't heard at least one if not all of those now familiar slogans, delivered in a deep, throaty, compelling voice, with no nonsense about it? Whether he's extolling the manifold delights of ginger ale or wringing your heart with the sad tale of "Tristan," the outstanding qualities of Milton Cross' announcing are his obvious and convincing sincerity, his cubby-hole in the Westinghouse plant near Newark. The station directors were so bowled over at having a real musician show some interest in radio that they snapped him up at once. He put on song recitals for a few months, and then when the station rose to the dignity of having two announcers he became the second one. They must have known they had a good thing in Cross, because they've hung on to him ever since. He became more and more interested in announcing and its possibilities, and finally made it his paramount work. One of the first to realize just what a fine art could be made of it,

Big, husky Milton Cross (I.) loves nothing better than to talk about music in radio. Saturday, Dec. 2, he'll be heard again describing the action of the season's first Metropolitan Opera broadcast. Above: With him, Charles Lyon enjoyment, and the belief he gives you of having a message of gravest importance to impart to you and you alone.

However, it's in his musical broadcasts that he really goes to town, although no announcer in the business has been on as many of them as Cross. His voice still takes on a tinge of reverence, almost of awe, as he solemnly introduces the Saturday opera broadcasts. One feels that each moment he spends in Box 44 is one of absolute satisfaction. His pride in the opera house and the artists is almost paternal.

To be able to broadcast opera to millions of people is still a very real privilege to him. Although in point of service the second oldest man in radio, he's probably the least hard-boiled in the profession. Radio is still the marvelous, miraculous invention it was the first time he put on a pair of tight earphones in 1920 and heard queer squeaks and splutters punctuated by brief gusts of music. Cross, a New Yorker, was studying at the Institute of Musical Art in New York to become a school music-supervisor and training a tenor voice at the same time. A friend persuaded him to try out for a singing job with the infant WIZ, then just a Cross developed as an announcer until in 1929 he was awarded the gold medal for diction by the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

Big, husky, over six feet tall, with kind eyes behind rimless glasses, nothing pleases him more than to talk about music in radio. He still sings for his own pleasure, accompanied by his wife, formerly assistant organist at the First Presbyterian Church in New York. They live a very retiring life, especially since the tragic death of their eightyear-old daughter several years ago.

He prepares most of the scripts for his music programs himself, and none more devotedly than those for the opera performances. He spends long hours of research in the library and makes it a point to know all the artists well, so he can talk about them with first-hand knowledge. As a result of his sincere interest and boundless enthusiasm, he has made himself practically synonymous with the opera broadcasts, and this writer, for one, could not imagine Saturday afternoons without the familiar "This is Milton Cross speaking from Box 44 at the Metropolitan Opera House."

HOW TO BE POOR ON $2,000 A WEEK

Sally's salary is not $1,750 a week, after all. At best, her contract will keep her working only thirty-nine weeks out of the year. For the program will undoubtedly be yanked off for the summer, leaving Sally to do her sun-bathing sans a pay-check. Therefore .

Enforced vacation brings Sally's salary to about $1,310 a week.

Then Sally's agent nicks off ten percent every week she works. He got her the job. He rates it.

Item No. 1: Agent's commission, $130. Income taxes, as now administered, actually discriminate against the stars in a manner unparalleled in any other group of wage-earners. The stars get nicked more, per thousand of earnings, than anybody else.

A star is a delicate, complicated piece of machinery. When a piece of machinery wears down and shows signs of deteriorating, it is taken apart and repaired. When a star wears down and shows signs of deteriorating, her "repair job" is in the form of a change of scenery—a long, relaxed vacation.

"Such a vacation is not a luxury," contends Ira Thomasen, business manager to Irene Rich, Nelson Eddy and other stars. "Once one of my clients wanted to buy a new car for $1,600. I put my foot down. 'You can't afford it.' Then the next week I turned around and suggested to that same client, 'Here-here is $3,500. Go to Europe or Hawaii or Alaska—but go somewhere and forget everything and rest.' Now here's the difference. The car was a luxury the star could have gone without. The vacation was a necessity. She was overworked. Her voice was tired. She needed an overhauling. But it was not deductible on her income-tax form!"

Which brings us to:

Item No. 2: Our heroine, not being in the uppermost bracket, had to give only twenty-three percent of her salary to Uncle Sam, which slices off about $300 a week.

Item No. 3: Vacations, rest cures to get "rewound." Last year Sally went to Honolulu for ten days, spent several week-ends at Palm Springs. She was required by custom to stop at the best hotels and tip lavishly. It amounted to $1,300 or $25 a week.

The ubiquitous fellow who sold the Brooklyn Bridge to the farmer has nothing on the promoters whose suckerlists are made up of stars. To protect herself against these fakers, the present-day celebrity hires a business agent. His fee is anywhere from $200 a month and up-and he earns his money. Sally pays $200 a month, so for-

Îtem No. 4: Business manager, $50. The same sucker-list makes a lawyer a necessary adjunct to Sally's menage. Let Sally look cross-eyed at a stranger

Frances Langford, high-salaried singing star of "Texaco Theater" (CBS, Wednesday night) could be the radio star whose case is presented in this story as that of Miss Sally Hi-Notes

'AS that a groan? Was that you squawking about the unfairness of things that allows a radio star to earn $2,000 a week while you try to keep your piggie bank from looking anemic on a brave $30 per? Well!!!!

There are two sides to that story. Star salaries, like God's chilluns, have wings. Ask Bing Crosby. Bing Crosby gets $3,500 each time he pushes Bob Burns around for Mr. Kraft, besides a hefty take—$135,000—a picture. Yet:

"I had to borrow money to pay my first quarter's income tax," wails Bing.

And Bing isn't in that fix because he lights his Coronas with five-spot notes, either. Ask Martha Raye. Ask Irene Rich. Ask Parkyakarkas. Ask even the frugal Fibber McGee.

There's the case of our heroine, Sally Hi-Notes. There is a Sally Hi-Notes, but that's not the name we know her by. The girl wants her privacy.

Sally sings on a major Coast-to-Coast air show which blows in from Hollywood. As co-star and chief audience draw, she rates $1,750 a week. But-ah -here's the first catch:

Gloria Blondell (above), filmtown novice, paid a modest $150 for her appendectomy, but-

Her famous sister Joan (r.) paid $1,500 for the same operation. Gloria is unknown, Joan a star and she will probably be slapped with an alienation - of - affections subpoena. Then Sally needs an attorney to take care of contracts and legal matters. She's let off easy with a $100 monthly retainer's fee.

Item No. 5: Legal fees and expenses, $25.

An amazing psychological reaction sets in on the family of a star. Papa has been digging ditches for thirty years and thinking nothing of it. But as soon as daughter strikes it rich, he develops a sore back and a passion for the Hollywood Turf Club. Mama needs a maid, brother Jack quits the office and lands on sister's pay-roll as third assistant business manager. Either through bullying and whining, or legitimate family pride, the star, as de luxe breadwinner, assumes responsibility. Martha Raye once said: "When I play in a theater, my brother, father, mother, stepfather and in-laws are all at the box-office watching the 'take'!"

Sally takes care of a father, mother, sister, and helps out a married brother who is having tough sledding, besides an occasional cousin or two. She is frugal and they don't take advantage of her, but even at that—

Item No. 6: Family and dependents, $85.

And now we come to the most ambitious of all expenditures, that odd thing we call "keeping face."

"Keeping face" means riding in a

"Keeping face" means riding in a $3,000 car when you can get there in a Plymouth. It means going to premieres and knocking crowds for a loop in an ermine when your black velvet wrap would keep you just as warm.

It means, as a starter-

Item No. 7: $35 a week for a pressagent.

It means, too, entertaining advertising representatives, potential sponsors, visitors and the press. It means keeping your liquor cellar well filled and your larder full. Irene Rich has charge accounts at the Cafe Lamaze, the Brown Derby and other smart restaurants as a check on her entertainment expenses. One month her "eating" bill ran to $350. Miss Rich weighs 128 pounds and drinks grape juice!

Item No. 8: Sally figures her entertainment expenses at, modestly, $35 a week.

Then, too, you can't deny human frailties. Girls and boys who earn big money easily develop greater ideas for living on the fat of the land. Sally Hi-Notes looks at her $1,750 check every week, and in spite of her business agent's admonition that only a fraction of it represents her real salary, she begins to like nice things. You can't fight it.

Item No. 9 is a whopper: Clothes, beauty shop, occasional masseuse, furs and remodeling, sundry purchases, over $5,000 a year, or about $100 a week.

"Keeping face" also means maintaining a house in exclusive Beverly Hills, Brentwood or Bel-Air. Irene Rich likes the rural life, has a ranch home in San Fernando Valley. But to "keep face" she also maintains a modern white-and-blue apartment in the expensive Sunset Towers.

Sally has a modest seven-room home in Bel-Air. It hasn't a swimming-pool or a tennis-court, so it sets her back only $200 a month. Utilities run it up another $40.

Item No. 10: Rent and utilities, $60.
She owns one car, a yellow Buick, but keeps a service car in the garage for the servants. Depreciation, gas and oil, parking, insurance, etc., make for—

Item No. 11: Cars, $35.

Because homes are large and entertaining is lavish and privacy is precious, the servants are many, efficient—and discreet. Ergo! the best. Sally's cook and general housekeeper collects $90 a month; her chauffeur who doubles as house man rates $100; her personal maid, $65, and part-time gardener, $40. Her private secretary gets $30 a week. So her—

Item No. 12 includes: Servants, $73; secretary, $30.

And that doesn't take in their food! Her home food-bill—aside from her large dinners and parties covered in

Like other stars, Irene Rich (left) spends hundreds of dollars monthly "keeping face"

Sally Hi-Notes pays out eighty-five dollars of her weekly salary for the care of family and dependents. This is only a minor item in the budget of many radio and film stars, like songstress Martha Raye, above the entertainment expense—is— Item No. 13: $60.

When Community Chest time comes around, the Hollywood celebrities are not asked how much they will give. They are told. As a rule, though, the stars come across with a week's salary. Sally donated a flat $1,000.

On top of everything are the various unions Sally must join before she is even allowed to work. She belongs to the American Federation of Radio Artists ($100 a year—$50 initiation), Screen Actors Guild ($30 per annum—$25 initiation) and AFA ($18 a year).

So . . .

Item No. 14: Necessary charities and funds, union dues, etc., $30 a week.

Then there is insurance. Sally takes out heavy liability insurance, also finds health and accident insurance a necessity. There is the compensation insurance for her staff, insurance on her car, her home, her jewels and her furs. This nicks the punch-drunk salary for $750 a year.

Item No. 15: Insurance, $30.

Prominent on Sally's business expenses is the cost of her vocal arrangements. Sally's arranger also accompanies her at private rehearsals. For this she struck a flat rate—

Item No. 16: Arrangements and accompaniments, $75.

She also continues her singing lessons. Deanna Durbin pays Andre de Segurola $250 a week, but Sally's lessons aren't as advanced. She gets by with—

Item No. 17: Vocal coach, $25.

Professional services usually represent a "padded" expense. Joan Blondell's appendectomy cost her $1,500. Her sister, Gloria, had hers yanked for $150. Joan shrugged off the discrepancy. "We earn more, so we pay more."

Sally was a pretty healthy girl last year, so—

N ITS ninth big week now, the National Song Search still offers new and unknown song-writers their big chance to win fame and fortune. Incidentally, RADIO GUIDE publishes this week on Page 15 the story of one great American songwriter who broke into the songwriting game when he was still a $25-a-week publicity man and errand boy. He wrote the lyrics for "Deep Purple" and his name is Mitchell Parish. Read "America Sings His Songs" for a grand inspiration and get into Popular-Song Contest

Gene Bone—the Fourth Winner

No. 9 today.

Good news this week is for Gene Bone of Oakland, Calif., who receives the two-hundred-dollar first prize for his "Love Me Sooner Rather Than Later" entry in Pop-Song Contest No. 4. Contestants will note that winners of ten-dollar prizes and Honorable Mention awards are listed on this page for both Contests No. 3 and No. 4. To those who have not thus far entered the winner's circle, we suggest checking RADIO GUIDE'S weekly list of entries. The increasing number of entries has swamped headquarters temporarily, but every effort is being made to keep the list (see Page 45) up to date.

Tune in Del Courtney Saturday

First three Song Search winners were premiered by Bob Crosby's orchestra. Beginning this week, maestro Del Courtney will do his best for three more winners. Listen to Courtney's Coast-to-Coast broadcast Saturday, November 18, over NBC at 5:30 p.m. EST; 4:30 p.m. CST; 3:30 p.m. MST; 2:30 p.m. PST.

Read These Rules Carefully

1. Contestants must live in the United States or Canada. Anyone may enter the National Song Search with the exception of employes or members of the families of employes of Radio Guide or the Davis-Schwegler Company.

2. Entries must be addressed as follows: National Song Search Headquarters, Radio Guide, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill. No manuscripts will be returned unless accom-panied by self-addressed stamped envelopes.

3. An entry must be written in ink (not pencil) on regularly ruled music copying paper. It may be a full piano arrangement or a simple melody. Words will not be considered in judging.

pencil) on regularly ruled music copying paper. It may be a full piano arrangement or a simple melody. Words will not be considered in judging.

4. No correspondence can be entered into by either Radio Guide or Davis-Schwegler regarding individual contributions.

5. Contestants may enter any or all contests. Winning any contest prizes does not disqualify for other contest prizes. Contestants wishing to enter the same composition in different weekly popular song contests may do so but must make separate submissions in each case.

6. The name and address of contestant must be written in ink or typed in the top margin of page one of each entry submitted. The name of the contest and the number (if entry is in Popular-Song Contest) must also be written in ink or typed on page one.

7. A contestant may submit as many entries for any single contest as he may wish—and may win more than one prize provided his entries merit such consideration.

8. Each entry shall be judged solely on its musical merit. Judges will be the editorial boards of Radio Guide and Davis-Schwegler. Contestants, by entering the contest, agree that the decisions of the judges shall be final.

9. The prizes awarded winners of each contest are identical, namely, the song-writer whose song is selected by the judges as best in each contest will receive: (a) $200 in cash; (b) The standard song-writers' contract with Davis-Schwegler, music publishers, providing for standard royalties on sheet music and other sales; (c) His song will be published and distributed through Davis-Schwegler outlets; (d) His song will be recorded and phonograph records offered for sale through regular D-Soutlets; (e) His song will be electrically transcribed and placed in the regular Davis-Schwegler library service to more than 200 radio stations. One dozen pieces of sheet music, two records, and one electrical transcription will be given free to the song-writer. The next five songs selected by the judges as being most worth of the proper service worth of Saturday, December 30.

THREE BIG CONTESTS

A Hymn Contest

To find a great, new American hymn or sacred number. Example: "Rock of Ages," "The Old Rugged Cross." All entries must be mailed before midnight of December 30.

A Semi-Classical Number Contest

To discover a fine, new American semi-classical number for voice. Ex-ample: "Trees," "Indian Love Call," "Sylvia." All entries must be mailed before midnight of January 6.

A Pop-Song Contest, No. 9

To find a new, popular, singable, danceable song. All entries must be mailed before midnight, Nov. 25.

A New Contest Every Week

For the next four weeks, we plan to find and have published four other new American popular songs. Each week will offer a brand-new pop-song contest and a brand-new chance to win fame and fortune.

AMERICA SINGS HIS SONGS

A Bronx bailiff pens
"Stardust" and "Deep Purple"—radio's most romantic song hits

Tall, thin Mitchell Parish earns $50,000 a year writing songs but shuns the bright lights where they are sung

MERICA, being a nation that likes to sing, bought more than a million copies of Mitchell Parish's songs during 1939.

That's a higher mark than any other writer of popular lyrics has attained in half a decade. Among the numbers which go to make up that staggering total for the year are a few little ditties with titles like "Deep Purple," "Moonlight Serenade," "Lilacs in the Rain" and "The Lamp Is Low."

Maybe you've heard some of them? Maybe, unless you're totally deaf, you've heard all of them a thousand times—hummed, whistled, sung wherever you went. "Deep Purple" alone sold half a million copies, has probably been played two million times on the air.

What's more likely is that you never heard of Mitchell Parish, the tall, thin gentleman who penned the lyrics for these highly romantic numbers. His profits for the year will come close to $50,000. That should make him an individual of considerable independence, probably living in a penthouse high above New York and surrounded by a bevy of Broadway's brightest personalities.

You think so?

Mitchell Parish travels to work every morning on the subway. He lives in a Bronx flat with his wife and two children. Mitchell Parish owns no pretentious office with a glass-topped desk and high-speed secretary. Instead, he wears a uniform and carries a gun.

The man who created such sheer beauty as "when the deep purple falls over sleepy garden walls" is a bailiff in a New York City courtroom. He tells people to rise and to sit down when the judge enters the courtroom. This has been going on now for five years!

It's an amazing story of topsy-turvy success—success which "Mike" Parish refuses to believe is really his. Often he worries that his contract with the Robbins Music Corporation, which has published many of his hits, may not be renewed.

A glance down Tin Pan Alley, one of the most unpredictable thoroughfares to success in the universe, finds the handiwork of Parish in the consistent glow of popular favor. Take, for example, "Stardust," a selection whose longevity entitles it to the rank of a classic. Mike Parish wrote the words. The ethereal grace and silvery illusion of "Stardust" has made it a priceless possession in the memory of lovers without number. But always the name of Hoagy Carmichael has been associated with the song. The music is his, for he wrote "Stardust" as an instrumental selection in the late 1920's. It was two or three years before Parish undertook to add the lyrics. The revivified version rocketed to international Mike Parish counts among his other ventures "Hands Across the Table," "Stairway to the Stars," "Organ Grinder's Swing," "The Moon Is a Silver Dollar" and "It's Wonderful." Actually, he has little flair for music, combining only a knowledge of its rudiments with deep poetic feeling. He plays no instrument, never intended to break into the song-writing game.

Despite journalistic ambitions, Mike drifted from the staff of a trade publication to a clerkship at a hospital. Here it was that he became acquainted with a famous music-publisher. Some of his biggest hits were written while holding down a $25-a-week job as publicity man and errand boy. He sold lyrics outright with no thought to future royalties. He let other composers put their names on his creations. Then, for three years, he sold no songs at all and finally took a job as court bailiff. Music-publishers who were too busy to see Mike Parish during that time would now give their back molars to have him under contract.

There has never been much romanticism in this song-writer's life, although his lyrics remain consistently the most romantic you'll hear on your loud-speaker. The feeling, the delicate pastellike pictures which he draws—all come, say his friends, "from the heart." What they mean is that Mike Parish is a fiend for poetry. He devours Keats, Shelley, Tennyson and all the other masters who made music with words. Little phrases he finds in their verse get him started on lyric ideas. Mike has a note-book full of potential song notions.

out to be "The Wind in the Trees," based upon the soft sigh of a breeze he had heard rustling through summer tree-tops. The latest opus, which his publishers hope will pass 100,000 copies before 1939 ends, is called "The Starlit Hour" and of the same vintage as "Lilacs in the Rain." Parish wrote them both last summer. The music for another of his hits, "Stairway to the Stars," was originally known as "Park Avenue Fantasy." He didn't like that, so when the number appeared it was with the ecstatic suggestion, "Let's build a stairway to the stars."

Many of his numbers are written with composer Peter de Rose, who was recently commissioned by Meredith Willson to prepare the "typical American waltz." There are no illusions about Parish as a starry-eyed dreamer. De Rose tells the story of a visit which he and music-publisher Jack Robbins once made with Parish to hear Glenn Miller at the Glen Island Casino. It was a gala evening, and Robbins had just traded exclusive rights for "The Starlit Hour" to Miller for permission to publish "Moonlight Serenade," then being used exclusively by this bandleader. They sat near the orchestra at one of the best tables in the house. The band blared out, wine flowed, everyone was feeling on top of the world. Finally somebody happened to glance at Parish. He'd fallen fast asleep.

That's the contradictory thing about this gentleman who wrote "Deep Purple." Out of his prosaic background and existence he weaves exquisite lines which capture a nation's romantic fancies. But he lives without dash, without flourish. He spurns the high tempo of New York's shinier society. You won't see him in the frenzy of the theatrical whirlpool nor idolized amid the suave sophistication of glamour girls and boys.

Maybe that's the answer to his success. When Mitchell Parish writes songs they're not aimed at the applause of cafe society. Instead, he dips down into his own poetic heart and blends the fundamental elements of romance, tenderness and pure beauty with no stigma of affectation. It's a universal language from El Paso to Bangor.

And America, being a nation that likes to sing, sings his songs with sincere enthusiasm. —Dick Dorrance.

On Short Waves

Edited by Charles A. Morrison

President, International DX'ers Alliance

You Can Tune In China

AR-EASTERN stations are best received from sunrise to about 8:00 or 9:00 a.m. EST. Almost all trans-Pacific stations suffer from a peculiar "flutter" type of fading, which makes identification comparatively simple. Once tuned in properly, Asiatic stations will often build up amazingly in volume.

China's most interesting station has China's most interesting station has two calls, XGOY and XGOX. XGOY can be found on a frequency of 11.9 megacycles in the 25-meter band (the 25-meter band is probably a small thick line or dot identified as 25 M on your dial). Start tuning from the high-frequency side (nearest 12 megs) of the 25-meter band and XGOY should be the first station you run onto. It operates from 5:30 to 7:20 a.m. for northeastern China and Siberia; from 7:20 to 7:35 a.m. for Japan; from 7:40 to 11:00 a.m. for south China and the South Seas; from 11:10 to 11:30 a.m. for the U.S.S.R.; from 2:00 to 4:20 p.m. for the Chinese press, and from 4:30 to 6:20 p.m. EST for listeners in Europe. XGOY is best received in the United States from sunrise to about 9:00 a.m. Latest war-news bulletins in English are read by a charming young woman announcer at 6:15 and 9:00 a.m., the latter period preceded by the sounding of a series of soft chimes. A topical talk in English, given by a man, is often heard at 9:10 a.m. EST . . . XGOX (15.20), in the 19-meter band, operates nightly from 9:00 to 10:40 p.m. EST, with antenna directed toward North America. The news bulletin in English is read at 9:50 p.m. EST. This transmission is heard fairly well in the West but poorly elsewhere. Each broadcast over XGOX-XGOY opens with the Chinese national anthem and closes down after the playing of the song in memory of Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

One other station broadcasts the Chinese national programs, namely, VPSA a 10 000 wretter legated

One other station broadcasts the Chinese national programs, namely, XPSA, a 10,000-watter located at Kweiyang in Kweichow Province. XPSA, on an announced frequency of 6.976 but actually found nearer to 7.01 megs on your dial, operates daily from 5:30 to 11:10 a.m. and from 5:00 to 6:00 p.m. EST. The news in English is read at 9:00 a.m. EST.

LISTENING TO LEARN

"If radio can stimulate a person to look further into things, or if it can provoke a man to think—then it's an education, and you have a college in your living-room."

Background for Listening

Here are a few of the outstanding public-service programs on the air this week, with helpful annotations regarding the specific subject to be treated in each:

Saturday, November 18

Francois Boucher (1703-1770) was a French artist of much ability and equally facile in the production of figure or landscape pictures. The number of his drawings is said to have exceeded 10,000. His style and graceful voluptuousness gave him the title of "the Anacreon of painting." In 1765 he became court painter for Louis XV, and was employed by Mme de Pompadour both to paint painter for Louis XV, and was employed by Mme. de Pompadour both to paint her portrait and to execute various dec-orative landscapes. Pilgrimage of Poetry, NBC. Radio tours through the homes of America's most famous poets, conducted by Ted

Malone. Locale: Walt Whitman Shrine,
Mickle Street, Camden, New Jersey.
Walt Whitman (1819-1892), American poet, has been called a prince of impressionists in literature. A complete edition of "Leaves of Grass," a book of epochmaking originality in thought and style,

Whitman was ever bold and determined to face and grapple with life's saddest and sternest realities, to put the full strength of his shoulder to the burden of his fellows. All the auspices seem in favor of his immortality: The neglect of his own countrymen, tempered only by ridicule, abuse and even persecution; the recognition by a few of the leading minds of Europe and the United States; and his slow emergence into acceptance and appreciation, if not into popularity.

Frontiers of Democracy, CBS.* An attempt to focus students' attention on some of the problems of tomorrow which they will have to solve through dramatizations based on a report of the National Resources Committee on inventions and their probable effect on the future. Topic: "The Mechanical Cotton-Picker."

The mechanical cotton-picker, which promises to revolutionize the cotton in-dustry, is an almost unique example of an attempt on the part of inventors to control the use of their invention for the benefit of workers.

Person-to-Person . . .

 Radio-education attention is now being focused upon the biggest utilization conference of the year. That is the Third School Broadcast Conference to be held at the Congress Hotel on December 6, 7 and 8. This meeting started out as a purely local venture sponsored by the Radio Council of the Chinggo Broad of Education but Cana Chicago Board of Education, but Council Director Harold W. Kent and his capable advisers found the need for such a meeting so pronounced that it was organized on a national scale as a yearly event. This year's conference promises to be the best yet by far. The tentative list of active participants includes representatives of practically every important unit at work in the field. This annual event has had an interesting growth, following and reflecting the increased interest and activity that has taken place in radioeducation within the last two years. Every educator in the United States who can possibly squeeze into the budget a trip to Chicago for these three days should not fail to do so, for the benefits that teachers and school administrators will be able to derive from the comprehensive program that has been scheduled are many-fold. Harold Kent, his Radio Council staff and competent advisers are to be congratulated for this telling attack on one of the biggest radio-education problems of the day. After all, excellent research, production and reception of programs for rabanks tion of programs for school use may be lost on the intended audience if teachers are not acquainted with effective ways to use radio in the classroom.

The Voice of the Listener

$1.00 will be paid to the writer of every letter used in this department. Readers, express your opinions, write to V. O. L., 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Illinois

Our Boner

Dear V. O. L.:

Dear V. O. L.:

It seems that you not only publish boners but also commit them yourself in Radio Guide. In your article on Paul Sullivan, "Good-Night and Thirty," in the November 3 edition you printed, "He had to borrow twenty-five dollars in order to marry his girlhood sweetheart."

Edgarth Leoni, Bordentown, N. J.

Thanks. But girlhood or boyhood, the main thing is that Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan are happy, eh?-V. O. L.

The Boner Budget

Dear V. O. L.:
I have just received a dollar for sending in a boner to Radio Guide, and at the same time I've been visited with an idea how Radio Guide can get its money back. Let the sponsors of the radio programs pay for the boners heard on their shows. They should be glad to, for it encourages close attention to the programs, especially to the commercials. "Money for boners makes for better listening." There's a free slogan for you. Curtis Langford, Tyler, Tex.

 You get another dollar for this letter, Mr. Langford. Can you make another good idea out of it?-V. O. L.

Only the Beginning

Dear V. O. L.:

Congratulations on your splendid arti-cle entitled "Unwelcome Guest Stars." And don't let the matter drop there. This article should be just the introduction to an intensive campaign. I am for you, because I have thought along the same

I have a couple of people who are unknown, but they possess outstanding tal-ent. Furthermore, I'm not going to cease working on their behalf until they click. I may starve to death in the process, for everyone tells me that I can't make a success trying to build up new talent, but it's worth the trying.

Ernest Cutting, New York, N. Y

 Mr. Cutting was formerly in charge of auditions for NBC, and he is now operating a "Talent Development Cen-More power to him and to anyone else who has the courage and initiative to buck radio's tendency to pet the big names and neglect talented unknowns .- V. O. L.

A Hand for Connie

Dear V. O. L.: I am not a shut-in. But I have found that Connie Boswell gives a great lesson and example to those who are not as well as those who are physically handi-capped. She has made me realize how fortunate I am in having so many blessings which I have always taken for granted before. She has shown me how lazy and careless I have been in not accepting my share of the duties of living. I cannot tell completely my appreciation of the lovely spirit of Connie's life. She's an inspiration to all of us.

Anita S. Rody Heath Springs S. C.

It's still further tribute to Connie's spirit and great news to all of us that she is still further conquering the eftects of infantile paralysis and is learning to walk, swim and ride. What a girl!-V. O. L.

Anita S. Rody, Heath Springs, S. C.

Opera for Farm Children

Dear V. O. L.:
Until NBC began broadcasting the Metropolitan Opera performances, the Met was a luxury that only the rich and Met was a luxury that only the rich and those who lived in the East could enjoy. It was like a bit of a dream in a fairy story. Thanks to NBC, it has become a reality to the poorest of us, because almost anyone can get access to a radio now. Last year there were as many as fifteen farm children who met and listened to my radio every Saturday for the opera. We liked the new method of telling about the plot of the opera. Tell us what to do to keep it on the air.

Maxine Cowsar, Austin, Tex.

Announcers: Pro and Con

Dear V. O. L.:

For a long time it has been my wish that a school might be established where would-be announcers might learn to cry would-be announcers might learn to cry their wares in the mild, well-modulated, pleasant, persuasive voice of a real, smart salesman, and in a few entertaining words. In that case one might not turn the switch off until some rasping, rau-cous buzz-saw voice has had its say. Leonard B. Walker, Corning, N. Y.

Dear V. O. L.:

We shouldn't knock the poor announcers too much. They earn their wages by reading those announcements in the manner which they are instructed to use. No doubt they are as disgusted with some of the stuff they have to read as we are—maybe more so. I have a hunch soon the sponsors and agency heads will wake up and learn to keep abreast with the tastes of the listeners they look down to.

Gwen Beeler, Effingham, Kan.

Musical Gardening

Dear V. O. L.:
My radio is a great help to mending! I pile up the mending near the radio and read, listen and relax. Result: Friend husband says my patching has vastly improved, and never have the buttons been sewed on more firmly! I'm working on a scheme to bring in the garden in sections beside the radio next spring, unless I can see my way clear to buying one of those portable sets to take into the garden. Meanwhile magazine subthe garden. Meanwhile magazine sub-scriptions, shows and many other nice things are gladly sacrificed to buy new batteries for the old radio. Mrs. Fred. D. Miller, Rolla, N. D.

• The possibilities are enormous, Mrs. Miller. You might raise a crop of those musical sweet potatoes (technically, ocarinas), tom-tomatoes, swing beans, down-beets, and corn-ettes!-V. O. L.

JONES AND HARE

For the next ten years they were on the air continuously, and their cleancut comedy and blended voices were welcomed in every home that boasted a receiving set. In 1933 they left the air to make a personal-appearance tour, and returning found their engagements largely confined to guest appearances with such shows as the "Rudy Vallee Hour," the "Maxwell House Show Boat," the "RADIO GUIDE Court of Honor." Radio seemed to have forgotten them in the interval they were away, but then, in 1937, the Gillette Razor Company rediscovered them, put them on a show over the Yankee Network and later moved them into New York to appear with Milton Berle over CBS on "The Community Sing" program. When that series was over, the team went to WMCA, where they did a show for Sachs Furniture Company. It was here pneumonia caught up with Ernie.

The first week that Ernie missed, a substitute act was put in the team's place. Then the doctor told him that it would be a long time—if at all—before he would be able to take his regular place in the team. It was then that he hit upon his big idea, an idea that Billy Jones heartily approved. His daughter, Marilyn, would take his place.

On that first broadcast Marilyn sang 'Deep in a Dream."

The next week she sang another request number for her father-"Deep Purple"-and, hurrying home that day after the program, arrived just as they were taking Ernie away in an ambulance. The doctor had ordered him removed to a hospital hours earlier, but he refused to go until he had heard Marilyn. That was the last time he heard her sing. Ten days later he died.

So now, even at the hour they were burying Ernie, Billy carried on alone. He had wanted to go down to Norfolk to be with his friend on this last occasion, but they had a contract to fulfill and Ernie had contracted his fatal illness in striving to fulfill it. The least Billy could do was to carry on alone. There were no substitutes for Ernie this day. It was a memorial program, and in the middle of it Billy broke down in spite of himself. The next day "We, the People" contacted him, They wanted him to come on their program and tell the story of this famous team that had pioneered the airways. They wanted Marilyn, too. As Jones and Hare, they pattered back and forth in Jones and Hare style, sang their famous theme song, "How Do You Do, Everybody, How Do You Do."

The mail response to this program was overwhelming. And almost every letter begged this new team of Jones and Hare to stick together. There was nothing else to do. The public wanted it, WMCA wanted it, the sponsor wanted it. But most important, both Billy Jones and Marilyn knew that Ernie Hare would have wanted it that

Now Billy and Marilyn - the new Jones and Hare-are broadcasting locally over station WMCA in New York, confidently awaiting an opportunity to stage a big-time radio comeback.

AMERICANS AT WORK...

SANDWICHED between the crowded hours of comedy and music which bear down on radio listeners daily are some broadcasts—with a deeper purpose than sheer entertainment—that no listeners should miss. Such a series is "Americans at Work," heard over CBS Thursdays, 10:30 p.m. EST; 9:30 CST; 8:30 MST; 7:30 PST. Here is a program, unobtrusively presented, which can increase your store of interesting knowledge at the same time it entertains you. One broadcast may dramatize the job of a silversmith and interview him at his workbench. Another may interview the weather man; another, the railway engineman, above. Follow "Americans at Work" as it explores America's 22,000 different jobs. Know America!

BOY MEETS GIRL - 52 Times a Year

Head-in-the-clouds Tremayne meets feet-on-the-ground Luddy

HE story of the girl who left her marked, "Gee, lady, you're the first home town to find fame and for- dame I ever met that knew a forward home town to find fame and fortune in Hollywood has been told so often that it's part of American folk-lore. But once there was a girl who left Hollywood to find fame and fortune in Small wonder that Chicago radio circles were agog at the news of the arrival of Barbara Luddy. This fascinating feminine paradox has been a neverending source of surprise to her associates and fans. From the very beginning the local radio people have found the girl from Hollywood a friendly human being, full of fun. Her friends love to tell stories of her deep interest in people, great and small, such as the one of a fellow actor who came across her last week sitting on a curbstone in back of the studios with a little bootblack, discussing the possibilities of the Notre Dame team. The actor said that Barbara glowed with pride when the urchin repass wasn't a free ticket in the first row."

Just three years ago, in the shortest telegram that ever came out of Hollywood, Barbara announced, "Arriving for rehearsal Thursday." Exactly on the tone-beat, the diminutive Barbara scampered into the studio, introduced herself and asked for a script.

That rehearsal of "Streamlined Death," their first co-starring vehicle, was an auspicious start for the long association of Barbara Luddy and Lester Tremayne. They have clicked with each other and with their audiences ever since their initial broadcast.

Listening to Barbara and Les on the air, you would think they had always shared the same can of grease-paint. They are a perfect team, but poles apart in their approach to acting. To Barbara, it is a business; to Les, a tradition.

Necessity was truly the mother of playing Shakespeare in the big-time. Barbara's career. At the age of eight, Radio is young, and its intimates because of the illness of both her parents, she was faced with the problem of earning a living. Possessed of a singing voice of remarkable range and quality, she found little difficulty in securing work. Three years later, when her singing voice disappeared suddenly in the middle of a performance, this resourceful little girl found extra work in Hollywood. Thus Barbara started her acting career as a business, and she's found it a pleasant way to earn a living ever since.

Barbara's modern apartment is a small but very livable place. Because she is so small herself, the brownhaired Barbara measures less than five feet, she dislikes large things, says they make her feel insignificant. Her livingroom is simply decorated and is notable for its very comfortable chairs. Her most-prized possession and one of her few luxuries is her magnificent radio. Besides being a radio actress, she is a

This simplicity which is so important to Barbara is of no interest to Lester Tremayne. The English-born, Americanraised actor looks for the dramatic in every situation. Tall, slender, Les is as handsome as his greatest fans imagine him. How completely his sense of theater extends into his private life was demonstrated early this fall when he smashed his specially built automobile. Knowing how much he depended on his car, Barbara offered him the use of her inexpensive one, which usually sits unused in its garage. Les refused graciously and explained that while he seldom exceeds the speed limit in his own high-powered car, he always car-ries an airplane crash-belt. The thrill of knowing that he can outspeed and outdistance almost every car on the road makes driving a potentially dramatic experience.

Les is the first to admit that he likes excitement and the element of surprise. Last week, after his "First Nighter" broadcast, he jumped into his car and drove to Paris, Tenn., to visit one of his fans, a charming old lady who's been listening to his broadcasts as long as he's been on the radio. His surprise visits are one of this bedridden woman's greatest joys, but, fan that she is, she's always telling him that such a nice young man should have his feet on the ground.

It's only natural, however, that Les should be all wrapped up in things theatrical. His family tree reads like a theater program. It includes actors, singers, musicians. His mother is Dolly Tremayne, veteran of British stage and screen. Les began his career in a movie starring his mother and directed by his

At seventeen he left home and joined a stock company. He started as propboy and ended up as leading man, touring the corn belt. And his satisfaction was as great playing Tarkington to the EST 9:30 p.m. — CST 8:30 p.m. farmer folk as it would have been MST 7:30 p.m. — PST 6:30 p.m.

Radio is young, and its intimates lean over backward to avoid any mention of it as an art, but anyone who listens to Les on the air realizes that he brings to each one of his broadcasts all the tradition of the stage. Today Les is a veteran of radio, well schooled in its technique, but it is his feeling for the stage that makes the illusion of sitting in a theater as a "First Nighter" a reality.

This boy with his head in the clouds meets the girl with her feet on the ground every Friday night-fifty-two times a year.

At rehearsals Barbara and Les discuss the entire script before they read a line, to properly attune themselves to the new play. When they have their parts well in mind, real work begins. Their rehearsals are long and painstaking affairs, but they are not without their lighter side. "This isn't Shake-speare, you know" is Barbara's favorite taunt when Les overemphasizes a small point. "Ham on rye" Les calls out when he feels that any member of the cast is overacting. Temperament has no part in their get-togethers.

WATCHING a rehearsal recently, I was amazed at the amount of time and energy they put into each line. Barbara was playing the part of a frivolous wife whose hobby was collecting boy friends, the latest acquisition being a prize-fighter. Her lawyer husband turned prize-fighter, is matched against her boy friend in an effort to bring her back to her senses. After the first few readings, Barbara was still dissatisfied with her portrayal of the wife. The cast adjourned for lunch and Barbara disappeared from the group. After lunch she arrived at the studio wearing the silliest hat any of them had ever seen. "I just bought it," she explained. "It makes me feel silly and frivolous; now I ought to be able to act silly and frivolous.

As Les approaches a dramatic highlight, he begins to run his fingers through his hair; Barbara stands on her toes, a reaction to her small stature. She laughingly says, "The only height I'll ever reach is a dramatic one, and I have to stand on my tiptoes to do that."

Of each other they have this to say: 'Les is a real dyed-in-the-wool actor; I leave the subtle nuances to him." Les counters with: "It's Barbara's spontaneity and warmth that sets the pace."

Boy meets girl. The curtain rises on "First Nighter." The man in the worn carpet slippers puts down his paper; the Manhattan matron sets aside her needlepoint. America sits back in its easy chair, content with the knowledge that good theater is as close as the family radio. -Alice Green.

Barbara Luddy and Les Tremayne may be heard Fridays on "First Nighter" over a CBS network at:

Did you get that call for help at sea? Are you able to "listen in" to ships or airplanes "talking" to one another or to stations on land?

By the amazingly simple Linguaphone method you can master the wireless code in your own home without tedious practice or study. In a remarkably short time you can listen in and decipher wireless code messages on the waves.

Find out today how I Train You at Home

J. E. SMITH, President National Radio Institute Established 25 Years He has directed the training of more men for the Radio In-dustry than anyone else.

Radio is a young, growing field with a future. It offers you many good pay spare time and full time job opportunities. And you don't have to give up your present job, go away from home, or spend a lot of money to become a Radio Technician. I train you right at home in your spare time.

Jobs Like These Go to Men Who Know Radio

Jobs Like These Go to Men Who Know Radio
Radio broadcasting stations employ engineers, operators, technicians and pay well for trained men. Radio manufacturers employ testers, inspectors, foremen, servicemen in good-pay jobs with opportunities for advancement. Radio jobbers and dealers employ installation and service men. Many Radio Technicians open their own Radio sales and repair businesses and make $30, $40, $50 a week. Others hold their regular jobs and make $5 to $10 a week fixing Radios in spare time. Automobile, police, aviation, commercial Radio; loud-speaker systems, electronic devices, are newer fields offering good opportunities to qualified men. And my Course includes Television, which promises to open many good jobs soon.

Why Many Radio Technicians Make

Why Many Radio Technicians Make

$30, $40, $50 a Week

Radio is already one of the country's large industries even though it is still young and growing. The arrival of Television, the use of Radio principles in industry, are but a few of many recent Radio developments. More than 28,000,000 homes have one or more Radios. There are more Radios than telephones. Every year millions of Radios get

In every branch Radio is offering more opportunities—opportunities for which I give you the required knowledge of Radio at home in your spare time. Yes, the few hundred $30, $40, $50 a week jobs of 20 years ago have grown to thousands.

The day you enroll, in addition to my regular course, I start sending you Extra Money Job Sheets which start showing you how to do actual Radio repair jobs. Throughout your course I send plans and directions which have helped many make from $200 to $500 a year in spare time while learning.
