ONE of the oldest and best-known trade-marks in broadcasting is Johnny, the tiny call-boy whose high-pitched but lusty "Call for Philip Morris" is familiar to listeners from Coast to Coast. Johnny himself is an interesting figure, not a child but a midget who was discovered bell-hopping in a hotel and turned into a highly paid radio voice and a uniformed trademark. "Johnny Presents" several popular networks shows. Would you like to take a revealing photo-tour with Johnny to get the behind-the-scenes picture of these big shows on both NBC and CBS? Be sure to get next week's RADIO

GUIDE for this and many other features. You heard much about the recent visit of Kate Smith and her program cast to Hollywood for the preview presentation of "Drums Along the Mohawk." Now in next week's issue you'll find a pictorial story of Kate's many activities while in Hollywood hobnobbing with the movie personalities. You'll find also authentic pictures of how a song hit finds its way to the top through one channel as Bob Crosby picks a winner in the RADIO GUDIE National Song Search. And among other intriguing features you'll see a display of radio beauties. Don't miss next week's issue.

BULLS AND BONERS

One dollar will be paid for every broadcasting boner printed in this column. Your boner—a ludicrous error or a statement with twisted meaning made by some radio performer—should be accompanied by name of station and broadcaster, date of program. Address Bulls and Boners, RADIO GUIDE, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill. In case more than one reader submits same boner, prize goes to contributor whose letter bears earliest postmark. In case of tying postmarks, all tying contestants will receive prizes.

Here is an artist's conception of Henry Ford's W. J. Cameron. For a photograph of him as he broadcasts, see Page 44 for, from his close daily contact with the manufacturer, he knows his employer's views and principles as well as Ford himself.

Spokesman for

To the radio listening public, Cameron has become something of a personalization of the Ford Motor Company. Ford is seldom heard on the radio, but every Sunday evening the announcer on the "Ford Sunday Evening Hour" breaks into the music with this announcement:

"You will hear from William J. Cameron of the Ford Motor Company."

The voice comes from a microphone on the stage of the Masonic Auditorium in Detroit. On the stage are musicians whose program has just been interrupted by the voice. Across the footlights sit five thousand guests, many from far away, who have come to see the great symphony orchestra in action, to see the famous guest star—maybe Marian Anderson or Lawrence Tibbett or Grace Moore. But they've come, too, to see William Cameron, spokesman for Ford.

"So that's William Cameron." They seem surprised. If they had met him on a village street they might have taken him for the village preacher or perhaps the editor of the local paper. And their estimate would have been surprisingly accurate. Cameron has been both a preacher and a newspaperman, and this, in a way, accounts for his ease of expression with both pen and tongue.

William Cameron is fast becoming an American institution. His Sunday night talks, repeated in the high and low places of America, are beginning to be recognized as shrewd commentaries on the American scene. They have acquired a weight and an importance almost unequalled elsewhere. And behind each talk, the formula which has made Cameron a success is easily recognized. When times are good, he points a warning finger. When times are bad, he sees the workings of a Divine Providence which hardens men's souls in the fires of adversity so that their sinews will be toughened and their hearts softened. He may talk on the significance of Christmas, the place of labor in a democracy, or on the spiritual nourishment of walking under budding trees in the spring. The formula is always there.

But no matter what the subject, the Cameron talk will be beautifully done. The message will be one of wisdom and the voice will be tempered by experience. It is perhaps one of radio's best-known voices. The surprising thing is that the man behind the voice is so little known.

Cameron will be sixty-one years old on December 29. His clothes—neat grays and blue serges—are perhaps as indicative of his retiring, self-effacing personality as any other physical aspect of the man. For one who speaks so confidently and with such poise, he is surprisingly shy in his personal relationships.

Cameron was born of a Canadian father who emigrated to Detroit from Canada when William John was but four years of age. There the elder Cameron lived out his days, voting, believing himself an American citizen. It was in 1935, while planning a trip abroad, that Cameron went to the State Department for a passport, learned that his father had never taken out second citizenship papers in the belief that he needed only his first papers. Detroit chuckled when Cameron went into a Federal court there to be sworn to citizenship, for here was a man who preached Americanism on every occasion.

As a boy, Cameron loved oratory above all things, and his two boyhood idols were Bob Ingersoll and William Jennings Bryan. It didn't matter to him that they were poles apart in philosophy and beliefs, they were united for him in the silver-tongued quality of their oratory. At nineteen he moved towards achieving his ambition to become a lingual giant by accepting a post as minister of a small church in Brooklyn, Michigan. Six years later he gave up this post to take a reporting job with the Detroit News.

As uncommunicative about himself in those days as he is today, Cameron was still no recluse, and on occasions even tipped a few glasses with fellow newspapermen and told stories in a rich Scotch dialect. A favorite story, one which remains to this day a local classic, concerned the Scotch parson who became tipsy and the misfortunes which befell him.

In those days he was thin and short—he stands only five feet six inches high today—and his contemporaries remember him as a "little skinny guy who seemed to be afraid of his own shadow." That first impression, however, failed to keep him from becoming known as a chap who could write like a house afire, and almost before he knew it he was writing the sheet's editorials. Many of his editorials are still included in journalism text-books today.

IT WAS Cameron's fame as an editorial writer that prompted Ford to hire him for the editorial page of the Dearborn Independent, Mr. Ford's own weekly which he hoped to build up into a weekly of national importance. There Cameron really found himself. His duty was to write things that Ford wanted written, and his amazing facility to take an unpromising topic or one hopelessly involved and turn it into a clear and readable piece of writing soon won him complete editorship of the Independent. It was under his editorship that the weekly attacked the international Jewish bankers, with the result that a Jewish attorney, Aaron Sapiro, sued Mr. Ford. Cameron then testified that he, as editor, conceived and wrote the campaign and that Mr. Ford had nothing to do with it. The case, you may remember, was settled out of court and the paper was discontinued.

It was then that Cameron became a member of Ford's secretarial staff, and his particular duties were to arrange Ford's contacts with the world. It was in this position that Cameron grew to his full stature. He is not just a buffer between the boss and the world. He is a human sounding-board for the great industrialist and a public-relations counsel of the first water. A good public-relations man, he has committed himself to a permanent selflessness to become almost a part of the magnate he serves. When he speaks in public, he speaks the thoughts of Henry Ford garnished by his own rich words. His home life is almost as selfless.

When he has finished his day's work at his office in the Ford Motor Company's enormous establishment at Dearborn, he goes to a modest home on a modest Dearborn street. His four children, grown, no longer live with him, and it is a quiet place as befits the home of a quiet, successful man and his modest wife. He was married during his preaching days to a Brooklyn (Michigan) girl. There is nothing unusual about the house except the two libraries. One is on the second floor, the other on the first, and they are jammed with hundreds of volumes of every conceivable type. In one of these libraries, after a quiet dinner, the voice of the "Sunday Evening Hour" is muted as its owner seeks, among these volumes, the inspiration or the information that will go into the next Sunday night radio talk.

His outstanding quality or character trait—and one which should, by all the laws of human relations, have doomed him to a life of mediocrity and failure rather than success—is his total lack of personal aggressiveness. Typical of this is the brief note he allowed to be printed concerning himself in the latest edition of "Who's Who In America." It reads:

Cameron, William John; b. Hamilton, Ontario, Dec. 29, 1878. Hon. LL.D., Alma, (Mich.) and Washington and Jefferson Colls. m. Eleanor Maude Clough, Brooklyn, Mich., 1901; 4 children. Has lived in Detroit, Mich., since 1887; on editorial staff The Detroit News 1903-18; with Ford Motor Company since 1918. Home: Dearborn, Mich.

Any secretary to a crossroads congressman would find it tough to boil his own life down to a starker outline, but for Cameron it was an easy job. He can take a few words of Henry Ford and expand them into a column of type, but he looks at himself simply as an instrument of expression and plays down his own personality on every occasion.

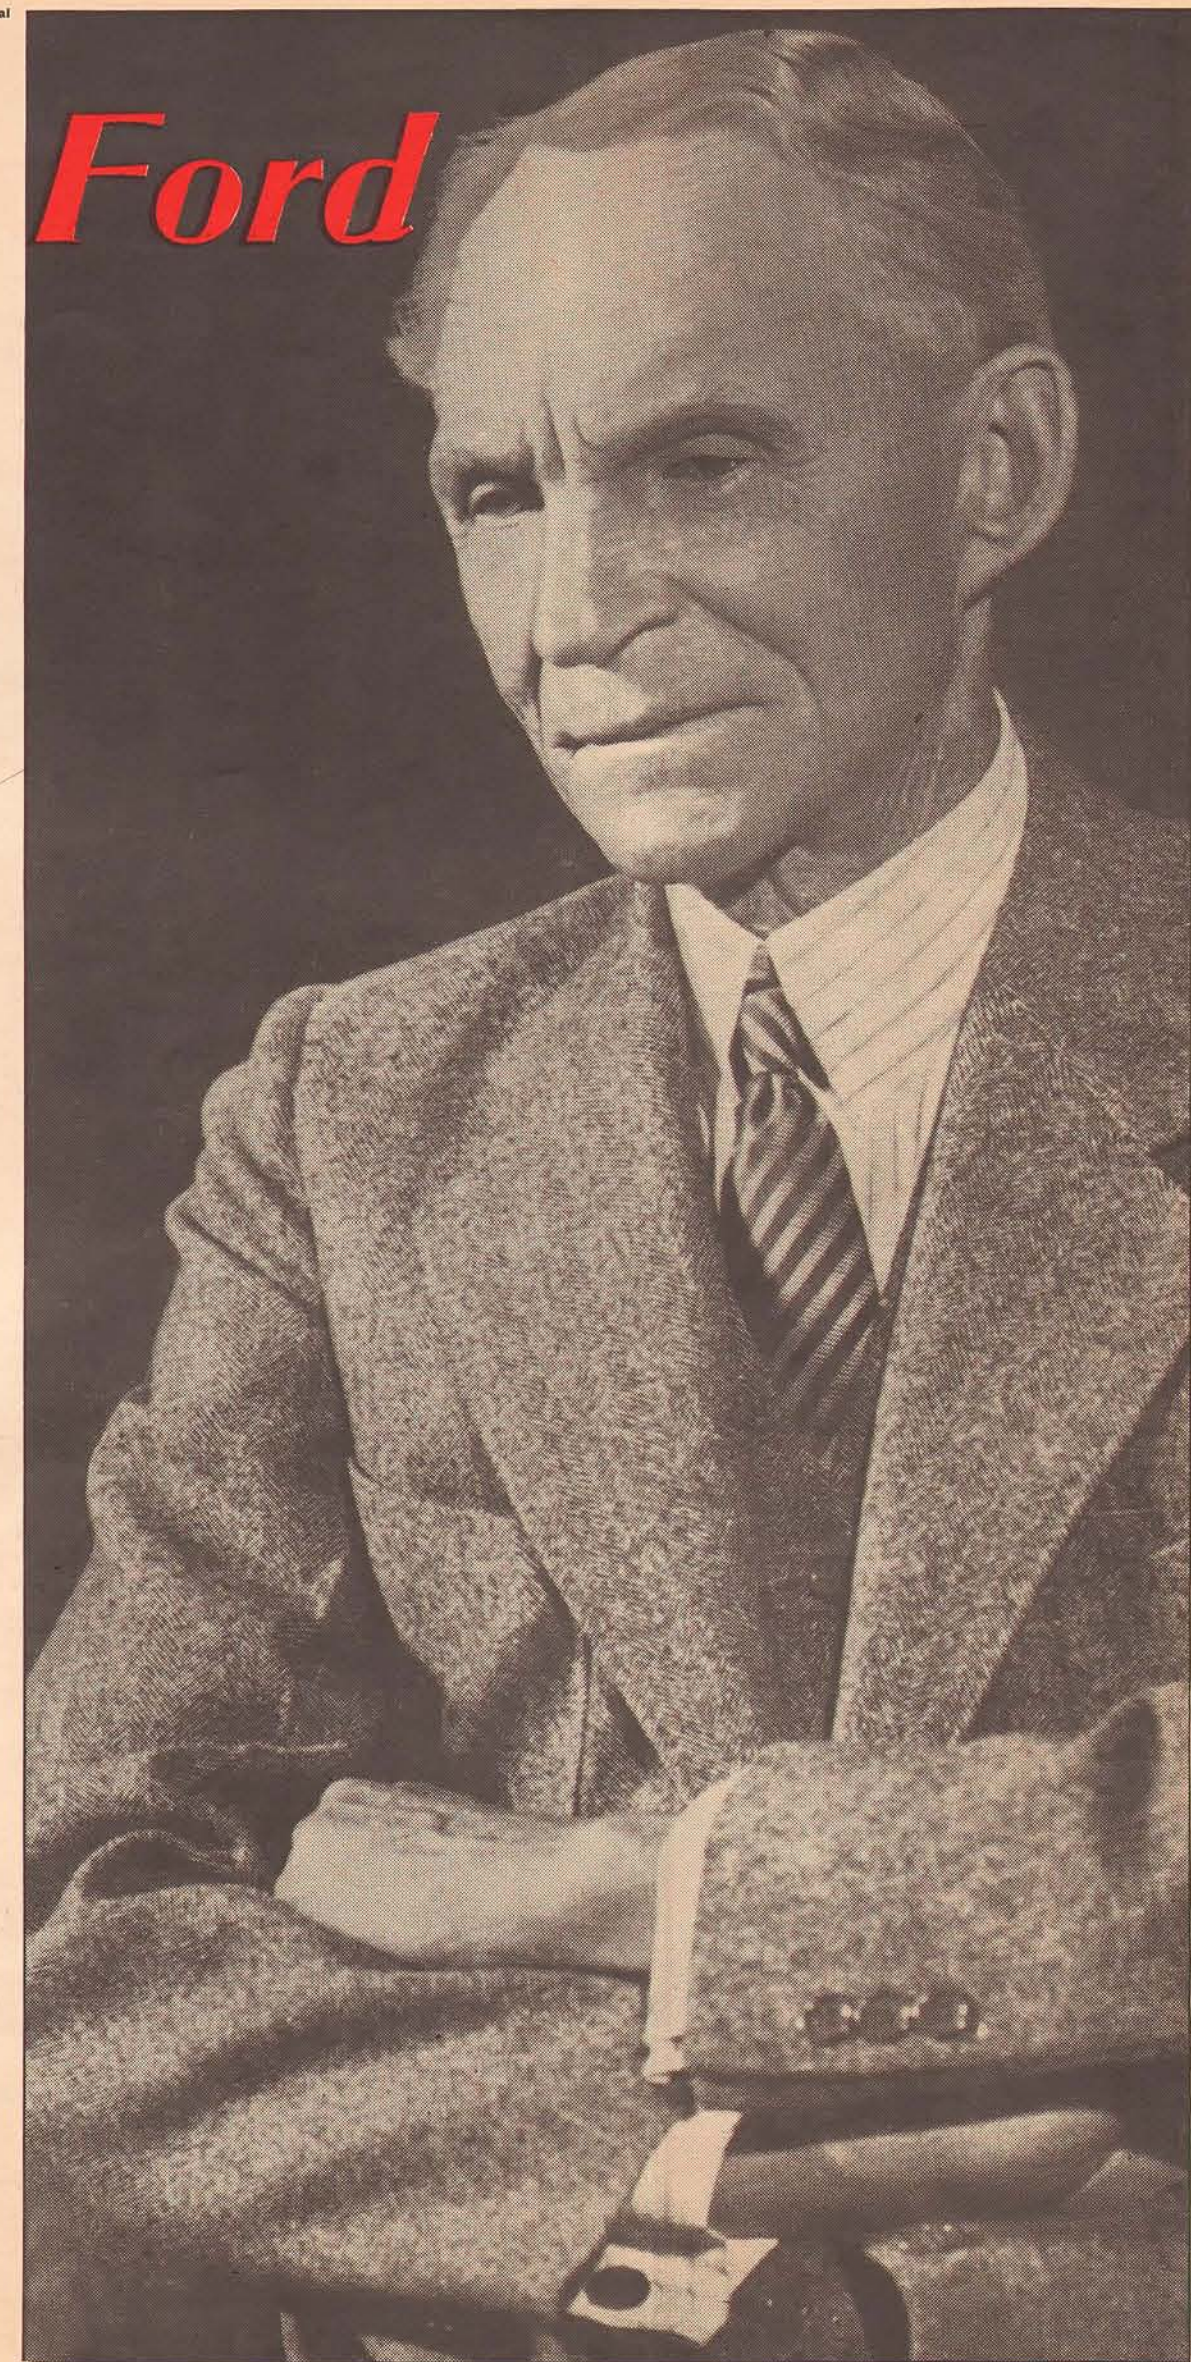

He spends his week-ends on his farm in the Irish Hills, near the little town of Brooklyn where he once preached. Walking over the rolling hills and beside the shimmering lakes, he finds a quiet delight in nature which lends a freshness to the figures of speech with which he adorns his talks. Here, perhaps, in his solitude he thinks his own thoughts and forgets, for a little while, the wheels of industry which he helps to keep turning in a world not far away. Perhaps, years before, he walked in these same spots as he composed the sermons he preached to the circumscribed flock he herded there, little dreaming that his words would one day be heard from Maine to California and farther.

He does not play golf or cards. He has no intimate circle of friends. More and more he seems to be turning to the Bible for the faith and comfort which men begin to seek as they feel the years press upon them. More and more his speeches are sprinkled with references to the Old Testament; more and more do they reflect the sonorities of the King James version; more and more do they echo the rolling periods of the Hebrew prophets.

That is, perhaps, as it should be. The man for whom he speaks, Henry Ford, often seems to be made of Old Testament fiber—hard, yet pliant; practical, yet poetic; stern and ruthless, yet often kindly and tolerant. And as long as William J. Cameron is the voice on the "Ford Sunday Evening Hour," you may be sure the voice is expressing the sentiments of Henry Ford.

William J. Cameron may be heard Sundays on the "Ford Sunday Evening Hour" over a CBS network at:

Rocky Mount welcomes
Kay Kyser home; Ed
Wynn tries a comeback

By Martin Lewis

—Charles P. Seawood

Five thousand home folks were on hand at Rocky Mount, N. C., station to greet Kay Kyser (r.) when he arrived for premiere of his new film, "That's Right, You're Wrong." In party were Ginny Simms, vocalist on show (NBC, Wed.), and Radio Guide's Martin Lewis (center)

NEW YORK.—Kay Kyser, America's No. 1 local boy who made good, returned to his home town, Rocky Mount, N. C., on November 15 and received the greatest ovation and reception I have ever witnessed. It surpassed any homecoming of a local boy who made good that I've ever read about or have ever seen on a movie screen. Our party arrived in Rocky Mount about 9:30 a.m. and there were about five thousand people at the station to greet the town's favorite son. And what a greeting it was! Kay shook at least one thousand hands, he posed for the newsreel camera, and then thanked everyone for the wonderful reception. Then he and his troupe were taken through the New Ricks Hotel and out the back way, where cars were waiting to take them to his mother's home. I caught up with them there about an hour later and found the house jammed with friends. One of them was an old colored preacher who worked for the Kysers years ago, and when he walked in he told Kay and his mother he would like to say a prayer for them. It was so beautiful, they just couldn't help shed a few tears.

Kay was having an awful time trying to finish his breakfast, because people kept walking in and out. He finally had to lock himself up in a small room in order to devour his bacon and eggs, toast and coffee. At 11 a.m. the visitors were taken on a tour of the tobacco auction market, and you can take my word for it, the chant of the tobacco auctioneer you hear on Kyser's program is very authentic. But I still can't conceive how anyone can understand what they're saying. At 1 p.m. a private buffet luncheon was given for Kay and his friends at the country club. The giant parade, which included the bands from the Rocky Mount High School and the University of North Carolina, Kay's alma maters, got under way at 3 p.m. and was witnessed by at least 40,000 people, who not only lined the streets but hung out of windows and from the rooftops. In the reviewing-stand were such notables as the Governor of North Carolina, Clyde R. Hoey, Rocky Mount's Mayor J. Q. Robinson, senators, judges and many other political biggies. The most amusing thing in the parade was a huge sign mounted on a car, reading, "All is forgiven, Kay—the teachers of Rocky Mount High School welcome you."

From 5:00 to 6:30 p.m. a reception and buffet dinner was given at the Ricks Hotel for the visitors and invited guests. From there the party went to the theater for the world premiere of Kay's new RKO picture, "That's Right, You're Wrong," which was followed by his regular weekly Lucky Strike broadcast. You'll enjoy the picture, because it's good entertainment and it will show you just what takes place in the studio during a regular "College of Musical Knowledge" broadcast. The songs from the picture, "The Answer Is Love," "Happy Birthday to Love," "I'm Fit to Be Tied," "Chatterbox" and "The Little Red Foxes," should land on the Hit Parade very soon. Next stop was the Kay Kyser homecoming dance at a tobacco warehouse that was converted into a dance hall overnight. No less than 14,000 wild and cheering people jammed their way in, and when I say jammed I mean just that. RADIO GUIDE's expert photographer, Charles Seawood, was at Rocky Mount to make a photo record of this gala day. He got some swell pictures of the arrival at the station, the luncheon, the parade, the reception, movie preview, broadcast and dance. Watch for them to appear in the December 22 issue of RADIO GUIDE.

Immediately following his broadcast Kay made another speech, and his last words were, "Since 9 o'clock this morning I've had the biggest thrill of my life. Now I'm going to find someone's shoulder so that I can have a good cry." With that he left the stage, and I don't think it took him very long to carry out his plan.

Kilocycle Chatter

"Sky Blazers," a dramatization of the personal adventures of airplane pilots, makes its debut over CBS on Saturday, December 9 . . . The ten biggest news stories of 1939 will be dramatized over the NBC-Blue network on Sunday, December 31 . . . "Cavalcade of America," heard in former years over CBS, switches to the NBC-Blue net when it comes back very shortly and will be heard following the "Information, Please" program . . . Pick and Pat are being considered for a new air show . . . The same goes for Ed Wynn . . . Walter O'Keefe will be looking for a new sponsor soon. His current program folds soon . . . Mort Lewis folded his "Fun With the Famous" program and will try to find a sponsor for it. He didn't want to use up too many big names on a sustaining basis.

Behind the Scenes

Immediately after his broadcasts from the NBC newsroom each week, Walter Winchell is swamped with phone calls from listeners. Last Sunday night I waited for the newsscooper to show him an advance copy of RADIO GUIDE with the photo-tour of the "Jergens Journal" broadcasts. The phone rang and the voice on the other end asked for Mr. Winchell. Walter got on the phone and all the caller could say was, "I'm sorry, I can't talk to you, I lost my nerve," and hung up. Getting back to the Winchell pictures that appeared in the last issue of RADIO GUIDE, Walter told us that his wife thought they were the best he's ever taken.

Kate Smith did her broadcast of November 19 with her head swathed in bandages. She was badly burned while having her hair dressed and insisted on doing her broadcasts despite the pain . . . Abbott and Costello, the comics on Kate's show, had a little scare but not nearly as serious. Going into the CBS Playhouse, a couple of kids in front of the theater asked them if they had a couple of tickets for the broadcast. Abbott dug in his pockets and handed the kids two tickets. He started to walk off but stopped suddenly, whirled around and ran after the kids. By mistake he had handed them two front-row seats for their Broadway show, "Streets of Paris," for the following night. Fortunately he found them and made the exchange.

On Saturday nights "See My Lawyer," the New York stage hit starring Milton Berle, doesn't start until 9:05 p.m. They have to hold the curtain because Berle's radio show, "Stop Me If You Heard This One," doesn't get off the air until 9 p.m. and it takes him just about five minutes to rush from NBC to the theater . . . Vernon Crane, whose "Story Book" is heard over NBC, has decided not to do the story that he had planned about an elephant. Not so long ago he did a story of Trilby the Turtle and a listener in San Francisco sent him a real turtle with "Trilby" painted on her back . . . A listener from Fort Sam Houston, Texas, Mr. J. E. Banks, was tuned in to a recent "Ask-It-Basket" program. He heard Jim McWilliams read a question over the air that he had sent in. In Scranton, Pa., a lady was listening to the same program. It was Mr. Banks' sister and she hadn't seen nor heard of her brother for eleven years and never knew what had happened to him. She put in a long-distance call immediately after the program, and thus long-lost brother and sister were reunited through the power of radio.

HOLLYWOOD SHOWDOWN

By Evans Plummer

HOLLYWOOD.—Bob Burns is back with Bing and the other Kraft Music Hall folk after a holiday in Cuba and a stop-off in the Ozark country . . . Biggest excitement of the radio week seems to be "Who will take over Walter O'Keefe's sponsor?" For O'Keefe has not been selling enough of that medicinally odored soap and it has leaked that Eddie Cantor was talked to by the sponsor's executives and his advertising agency. With Cantor comes a sure, ready-made audience—but with him also comes a rigid stipulation that he, Cantor, is to have the final say in any argument with the sponsor or his advertising agency. Eddie won't play any other way. He thinks he knows the show business very well, and he must, for he has just returned from an eight-week personal-appearance tour which brought in a total of $268,000 in admissions, or $33,500 every week!

Off Live Mikes . . .

"Gateway to Hollywood" will close with the old year and a new CBS show will sell Wrigley's gum starting January 7 . . . Hedda Hopper, miffed over fighting with the air censors' taboos, has the last laugh anyway. She features the censored material the following week in her newspaper-syndicated column! . . . Bing Crosby has been measured for his annual six new suits—which will be relegated to the moths while Bing traipses around in slacks and outboard shirt . . . "Voice of Experience" was drafted by the L. A. Junior Chamber of Commerce to toastmast its honorary banquet November 20 to Mayor Bowron—a gesture to nullify the recall effort by senile and squelched "ham and egg-ers" . . . Painful strep throat has not kept George Burns off the air, and he's healing rapidly . . . Benny Jell-O show will move to San Francisco for broadcasts of January 28 to play before 17,000 Golden Gate residents for cash, which will be turned over to President's infantileparalysis fund . . . Southern housewives report a hosiery salesman who, when they answer their doorbells, says, "Do you listen to 'One Man's Family'? I'm Paul Barbour." There's nothing the radio Paul (Mike Raffetto) can do about it, either, for that IS the salesman's right name!

Backstage on a Pass

Rudy Vallee's former pet Doberman, Himmel, which Rudy gave to a Hollywood friend last year, reunited with the crooner November 19 in a great demonstration on the NBC parking-lot. Himmel did all of his tricks, including the one in which he holds a paw over his nose when Vallee asks him "How do you like my singing?" . . . Which reminds that Edgar Bergen's Doberman is expecting the stork . . . Carole Lombard was in stitches as she returned to "Silver Theater" rehearsal after phoning hubby Clark Gable at their ranch home. She explained, "We try to keep our home informal. So when my maid answered the call she shouted at Mr. Gable, 'Hey Pa! Ma's on de wire!'"

When Jack Benny supposedly had a toothache a few broadcasts ago, the real truth of it was that he didn't—but the actor who played the dentist, Frank Nelson, was in agony with an abscessed jaw . . . Off to the NBC "Grouch Club" and there to see three of radio's largest stomachs and all in the same cast. They belong to Jack Smart, Arthur Q. Bryan and music director Leon Leonardi. Billy House, of the Al Pearce Gang, has "waisted" plenty of meat, too . . . At "Good News" November 16, "Slapsie" Maxie Rosenbloom startled all by appearing (instead of slacks and sweater or sports shirt) in a brand-new expensive suit, stiff collar, etc. Oh yes, there was a girl. Marlene Dietrich was the "Good News" guest that day . . . At the same show, Roland Young was renumbering page 13 of his script, changing it to 12A. Just a fraidy-cat!

. . . When Don Wilson introduces Henry Aldrich (Ezra Stone) to the Hollywood studio audiences, they have a standing gag. Henry replies, "Thank you, Harry von Zell, but haven't you put on a little weight since I saw you last?" . . . Wilson is branching out. His third miking job weekly is the Jimmie Fiddler show.

Commenting Personally—

"That's Right—You're Wrong," the new RKO film starring Kay Kyser and his band, is the best picture effort yet to feature a radio name. The story is a gem and packed with laughs—and what's more, Kay, Ginny, Ish, Babbitt and Sully ARE starred in the story. Hats off to director Dave Butler . . . You don't like guest stars? They don't know how to act? Well, Claudette Colbert knew enough that she refused the guest-starring role in Campbell Playhouse's November 19 drama, "Garden of Allah." She wasn't the type, so she suggested Madeleine Carroll—who did it.

How about a little slowing down, Mr. Bob Hope? When you've finished packing fifty-four minutes of material into a thirty-four minute half-hour (I said thirty-four), I'm dizzy and breathless from trying to keep up with you, even though I think you're swell . . . Seems that Ona Munson has stepped into the "Lorelei" role of "Big Town," previously played by Claire Trevor, so successfully that she's receiving fan mail instead of squawks . . . Now the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot has called announcer Truman Bradley back to enlarge his part in "Northwest Passage"—but after they'd let his contract drop first! This makes their "discovery time" a mere fourteen months, a bit slow from where we sit.

Rom-Antics and Static-stics

Helen Wood (Elaine Dascomb of "Those We Love") was petitioned ardently while at Palm Springs by Fran-chot Tone and Peter Lorre, but her heart continued to belong to young Dr. Alfred Huenegardt, of this city . . . Ken Murray really could go for Betty Grable, who cares too much for Artie Shaw . . . The Jan Garbers, all together for several years now, are happier than newlyweds, and on December 5 Jan will be tendered a national ovation by brother handleaders on the occasion of his twentieth anniversary as a maestro . . . Born, November 14, a nine-pound daughter to Mrs. Larry Chatterton, wife of the KNX announcer.

Nice People Department

Add nice people: Amos 'n' Andy, who just donated a whole week's radio salary to the American Red Cross . . . Baby Snooks (Fannie Brice), whose recent birthday brought her all sorts of kid presents, which she is turning over to local orphanages . . . Orson Welles (despite his critics), who turned over to the Orthopedic Hospital his film fee for acting as narrator in "Swiss Family Robinson" . . . Loretta Young, who sent the flowers she received for appearing on "Screen Guild Theater" November 5 to hospitalized Elliot Lewis, her leading man on "Silver Theater" the week previous, who had required an emergency appendectomy.

Tag Lines . . .

Kenny Baker, whom plenty of our correspondents still name as their favorite radio tenor, will commute on his first concert tour soon but will miss none of his Texaco shows . . . Beth Wilson, Grouch Club songstress, is dieting off pounds by eating the same fare she feeds her 2,500 rabbits—to fatten! . . . RADIO GUIDE'S Chicago find, Lillian Cornell, found out about movies her first day. She had to be ready to go on location at 4 a.m.! . . . Patsy Ruth Miller, ex-screen star turned writer, appeared November 10 on "It Happened in Hollywood." Incidentally, the new "Grandma Troy" of that series is played by Janet Beecher.

CHICAGO.—Eyes right!—If you think Hollywood has all the glamour. But that's incidental in the case of Virginia Hays. It's her vocal "hmmmm" that counts. It made NBC perk up its collective ears to the extent of giving her a fifteen-minute slice of the all-important "Farm and Home Hour" five times weekly. And the twenty-one-year-old Wyoming-Oregon-and-Montana girl had had practically no microphone experience. Now wait! That doesn't prove you too have a radio destiny beckoning. But it does call for congratulating the Crossroads once again for giving exceptional young talent a break and maintaining at least one big center where radio is self-made and self-supporting.

This Hays contraltorch is one to check for future reference. She sings in four languages besides plain American and swingo. Although she sings with orchestral accompaniment at present, she also plays the piano a la Bach to boogy-woogy. Virginia is starting at the very bottom of the "Stairway to the Stars," for just as she was going on the stage to do a solo specialty on the "Barn Dance" recently, she fell kerflop down the backstage stairs. But the bruise didn't hurt her voice or nerve.

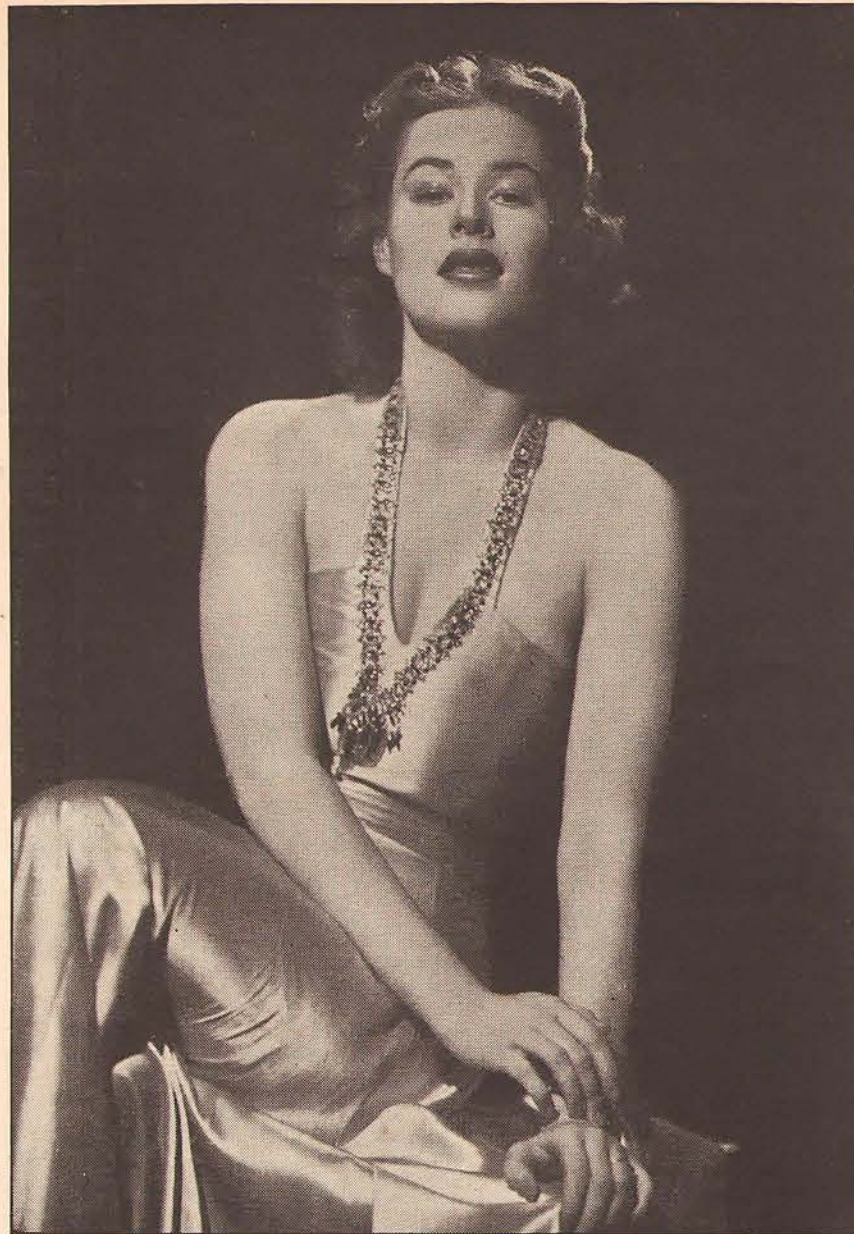

"Lady" Was No Lady

Lady is the 150-pound Great Dane pup belonging to Ginger Jones, Alice Carroll in "Romance of Helen Trent." The other day Lady decided to step out—the second-story window of Ginger's apartment. When she landed, the janitor's bed of hardy perennials suffered more than she did. Followed a carnival of fun, but only for Lady. She tipped over the garbage can and scattered the contents far and wide. She frightened children and old women. Finally a policeman called on Ginger and asked, "Do you have a Great Dane dog?" "Yes," replied the actress. "She's inside here someplace." "Outside," corrected the cop, "where I've tied her to a fountain after she tried to bite me twice. And," his wit getting the better of his ire, "if you don't keep her in I'll have to interne her in a neutral port for the duration of something or other!"

Mike Meanderings

A new radio-movie engagement involves George Neise, principal in MBS "Guilty Bystanders" and other network dramatic shows, and film starlet Jane Webb . . . Les Tremayne has gone into seclusion to cram for his pre-holiday exams in the special courses he is taking at Northwestern U. . . Sarajane Wells, Mary in "Guiding Light," received from a fan a valuable first edition of Spenser's "Faerie Queene" to add to her collection of first editions . . . Francis X. Bushman, star of "Stepmother," has two elderly aunts who write him advice and call him Xavier . . . Henry Weber, MBS conductor, recently appointed general musical director of the Chicago City Opera Company, is the first American to hold that position.

Lester Damon, a comparative newcomer, must be a dramatic demon, for he's in a lot of the sketches now . . . If Donna Reade, of the "Helen Trent" cast, seems to be exceptionally well posted on the European war, it's because she's a native of Toronto, Canada . . . The Arkansas Woodchopper

One of radio's newest singing sensations is young Virginia Hays, an eyeful of brunette charm and an earful of contralto appeal. She's heard singing popular tunes on NBC Monday through Friday at 1:15 p.m. EST and a friend and his wife on a recent week of hunting near Havana, Ill., bagged sixty-two ducks, thirteen geese, two pheasants, six jacksnipe and ten rabbits. Arky, you'd have fun on Major Bowes' program—giving animal-imitators the gun . . . I like (don't you?) the way Michael Stewart and the chorus sing the old songs on "Plantation Party" . . .

Jack Brinkley, of "Caroline's Golden Store," has a fascinating hobby, collecting recordings of significant speeches made by famous persons. Highlights of the collection are talks by Sarah Bernhardt, Calvin Coolidge and Col. Lindbergh . . . Loretta Poynton, actress and baby-imitating specialist heard in "Anne Thomas, Career Wife," took her three-year-old son Bill to the zoo. When they came home Bill turned up his little nose at the spinach and stuff he usually ate upon the assurance that he'd grow to be a big man like Daddy. He didn't want to be a big man now—he wanted to be a giraffe! . . . The rumors that "First Nighter" has been made into a series of movie shorts are not true.

June Travis has joined the cast of "Arnold Grimm's Daughter" as Bernice Farraday . . . Oh mytem: Anne Seymour, breathlessly to the "Mary Marlin" cast: "I saw a nuthatch this morning!" Announcer Bob Brown: "That's nothing. I have a friend who just got out of one. Doc says he's cured . . . Barbara Luddy's mother, a tiny blonde, who has been paying the "First Nighter" star an extended visit, is organizing an association for boxers and wrestlers on the West Coast, because she thinks they're publicly misunderstood.

A Child's Thanks

When Don McNeill was in Oklahoma City on a personal appearance recently, a little girl about ten years old came timidly up to him and said, "Mr. McNeill, may I have your autograph and something like your handkerchief to remember you by? You see, I was bad sick for a long time and you helped me get well." After getting the autograph and the handkerchief, the tot hopped up on a chair, kissed McNeill quickly and fled. If I know Don, he'll remember that kiss a long time. And I think things like that in radio must make Crossley ratings, mail-pull and sponsor worries seem not so important.

Dramatis Personae

The line-up for "Woman in White," one of the top-ranking network serials, is as follows:

Karen Adams—Luise Barclay.
Betty Adams—Tony Gilman.
Kenneth Craig—Bill Bouchey.
Alice Day Craig—Ruth Bailey.
Dr. Harding—Karl Weber.
Dr. Lee Markham—Marvin Mueller.
Ruth Craig—Beverly Ruby.
Janet Munson—Lesley Woods.
M. J. Morley—Leo Curley.
Bob Morley—George Neise.
Loretta Morley—Betty Arnold.
Dave Talbot—Lester Damon.
Dr. Clark—Fred Sullivan.
Ralph—Bill Green.
Author—Irna Phillips.
Announcer—Louis Roen.

On-the-Spot Pick-Up

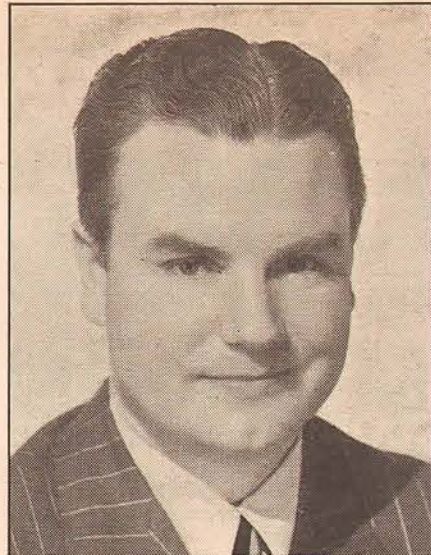

If you heard "Alec Templeton Time" November 20, didn't you think it was one of the most punch-packed shows you ever dialed? It was a royal party. Alec, keyboard king with the common touch, guest Gene Krupa, prince of percussion, and jolly jester Pat O'Malley made things hum for an exciting half-hour. You'll never fully appreciate Krupa's demoniacal drumming till you see his combination of amazing rhythm sense and savage abandon. When you see him, you'll go jungle inside in spite of civilized inhibitions. O'Malley, with such whimsical stories as "Sam, Pick Up Thy Musket," which he related on this particular show, definitely belongs in radio. Alec is undisputed king of the classic-plus-novelty field. For my part, though, I'd like one thing more—to hear Alec display his standard piano ability more on familiar songs like the torchy "St. Louis Blues," the dramatic "Begin the Beguine," the wailing "Wabash Blues," the beloved "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," and sizzling rhythm sketches, like "After You've Gone," with which Alec, Gene and Pat melted the mike.

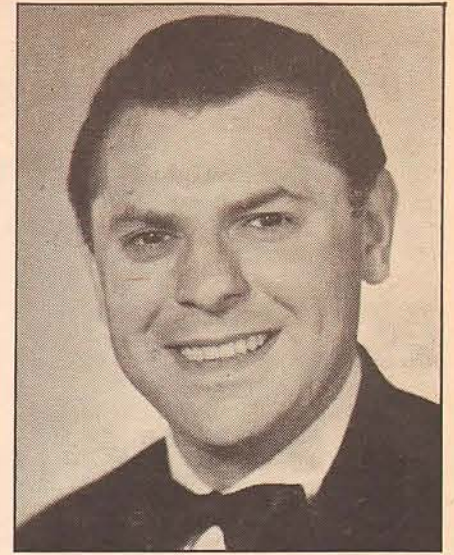

Comic Al Pearce, heard over CBS, Wednesday, is honorary judge No. 1 for Pop-Song Contest No. 11

Gene Bone's "Love Me Sooner Rather Than Later" is already on sale at many music counters

Maestro Carl Hoff of "Al Pearce and His Gang" will cooperate with Al as honorary judge for this week

Vocalist Don Reid, also of Pearce's comedy show, completes the versatile team of Song Search arbiters

A LETTER from Mr. Gene Bone, winner of Pop-Song Contest No. 4, just received at headquarters, reads like this:

"You will naturally understand me when I say this is more or less the thrill of a lifetime. At least fifteen years of song-writing and getting nowhere have at last resulted in a 'break,' and this break comes while I'm still young enough to appreciate it."

These words exemplify the spirit which Song Search contestants need for success. There are now only three more Pop-Song contests. Each of them holds forth to winners the same unprecedented advantages: The greatest prize ever offered an unknown song-writer—$200; the regular song-writers' contract providing for full royalties; immediate publication and distribution as sheet music; premiere by a name band over a nation-wide radio network. Grasp this chance of a song-writing lifetime for yourself!

Another Premiere This Week

A North Carolinian named John Carpenter is this week's lucky contestant. On Saturday afternoon he will hear Del Courtney's orchestra premiere his winning song, "I'm Playing 'Hide and Seek' With a Dream" (NBC, 5:30 p.m. EST; 4:30 p.m. CST; 3:30 p.m. MST; 2:30 p.m. PST). His song is what musicians call an off-form song, in that it has a fifty-six bar chorus instead of the regular thirty-two bars. A famous example of such a composition is "Happy Days Are Here Again." RADIO GUIDE readers as well as contestants will be sure to get a thrill from John Carpenter's song.

Song Search judges have noted a consistent surplus of good sweet-music compositions, an astonishing dearth of snappy swing tunes. Tip to Song Searchers: Send in some fast music for the last three contests! Another tip: Begin working now on entries for the two other Song Search competitions — the Hymn Contest and the Semi-Classical Contest. A New Contest Every Week

For the next two weeks, we plan to find and have published two other new American popular songs. Each week will offer a brand-new pop-song contest and a brand-new chance to win fame and fortune.

Read These Rules Carefully

1. Contestants must live in the United States or Canada. Anyone may enter the National Song Search with the exception of employees or members of the families of employees of Radio Guide or the Davis-Schwegler Company.
2. Entries must be addressed as follows: National Song Search Headquarters, Radio Guide, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill. No manuscripts will be returned unless accompanied by self-addressed stamped envelopes.
3. An entry must be written in ink (not pencil) on regularly ruled music copying paper. It may be a full piano arrangement or a simple melody. Words will not be considered in judging.
4. No correspondence can be entered into by either Radio Guide or Davis-Schwegler Company regarding individual contributions.
5. Contestants may enter any or all contests. Winning any contest prize does not disqualify for other contest prizes. Contestants wishing to enter the same composition in different weekly popular song contests may do so but must make separate submissions in each case.
6. The name and address of contestant must be written in ink or typed in the top margin of page one of each entry submitted. The name of the contest and the number (if entry is in Popular-Song Contest) must also be written in ink or typed on page one.
7. A contestant may submit as many entries for any single contest as he may wish—and may win more than one prize provided his entries merit such consideration.
8. Each entry shall be judged solely on its musical merit. Judges will be the editorial boards of Radio Guide and Davis-Schwegler Company. Contestants, by entering the contest, agree decisions of judges shall be final.
9. The prizes awarded winners of each contest are identical, namely, the song-writer whose song is selected by the judges as best in each contest will receive: (a) $200 in cash; (b) The standard song-writers' contract with Davis-Schwegler Company, music publishers, providing for standard royalties on sheet music and other sales; (c) His song will be published and distributed through Davis-Schwegler Company outlets; (d) His song will be recorded and phonograph records offered for sale through regular D-S outlets; (e) His song will be electrically transcribed and placed in the regular Davis-Schwegler Company library service to more than 200 radio stations. One dozen pieces of sheet music, two records, and one electrical transcription will be given free to the song-writer. The next five songs selected by the judges as being most worthy will win for their writers the sum of $10.00 each. The next six songs selected will be given Honorable Mention Certificates.
10. Hymn or sacred music contest entries must be mailed before midnight of Saturday, December 30.

Semi-classical number contest entries must be mailed before midnight of Saturday, January 6, 1940.

Popular Song Contest No. 11 (this is the eleventh of a series of 13 weekly contests) entries must be mailed before midnight of Saturday, December 9, 1939. Winners will be announced as soon as possible. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

Publication of all Song Search contestants' names was discontinued last week. Hereafter, as already announced, contestants will be notified by mail upon the arrival of their entries at Song Search headquarters.

The March of Music

Edited by LEONARD LIEBLING

"... An ampler Ether, a diviner Air..."—Wordsworth

FORECAST

TO LISTEN to "Die Meistersinger" and Beethoven's Ninth Symphony on the same day is a pretty tall order, but if you have the stamina, try and hear them both. You won't regret it.

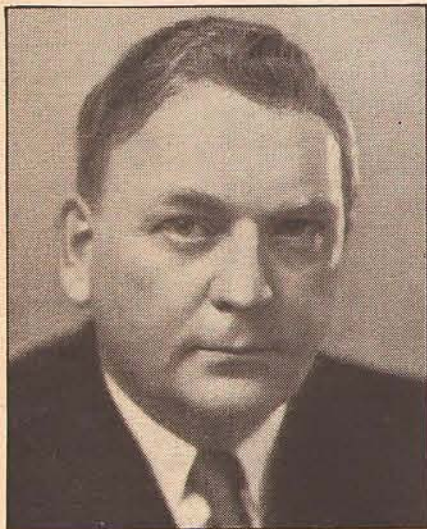

The performance of the Ninth marks the end of Toscanini's Beethoven Cycle and of the first part of his season; "Die Meistersinger" inaugurates this year's opera broadcasts. Toscanini returns in March and in the meantime his place in the Saturday night series will be taken by an interesting list of conductors. New conductors will bring out new qualities in the orchestra.

ing, and finally fade into impotence.

Prof. Donald Tovey, noted Beethoven authority, imagines that the first movement gives us the tragedy of life; the second develops from sadness to exuberance; the third is beauty like that of the stars in their courses; the last movement realizes and hymns joy completely.

It is certain that some unifying spiritual idea underlies Beethoven's thought in this prodigious and eloquent symphony, for some of its themes recur throughout the score and indicate that it tells some kind of related story. Maybe Prof. Tovey's analysis is the right one.

The other number on this program does not rank, in my belief, with most other large compositions by Beethoven. The form is hybrid and unconvincing. After some early declamatory measures for piano, the chorus intervenes (to Beethoven was long troubled by doubts before including solo singers and chorus in a symphony. Where was the connection between three instrumental movements and a vocal finale? He must have found it in his own mind, however, for he ultimately embodied the text of Schiller's "Ode to Joy" and set it for singing. Why he did so he never explained.

Others have been busy explaining ever since. Of all the theories, I prefer the one which has Beethoven struggling to express man's pursuit of joy and finding its most spontaneous musical utterance by bursting into song. Just before the human voice is heard, the orchestral instruments seem to be puzzled and gropwords by Kuffner) and sings a melody astonishingly resembling that of the choral finale of the ninth symphony. The words in the text of the Fantasy, strangely enough, also glorify the emotion of human joy.

Beethoven's "Prometheus" ballet came to creation in 1800, the year that also saw the premieres of his first symphony and of the Septet, recently performed at the Toscanini series. Some other things of importance happened to the composer in the same twelvemonth. He was in love with Giulietta Guicciardi and Prince Lichnowsky presented him with an annual pension of 600 florins. No wonder Ludwig's music of that period (he was thirty then) expressed more charm than drama.

Gifted Helen Jepson sings the florid aria which ends the first act of "La Traviata" and is heard too in an appealing bit from the rich treasury of Czech folk-song.

The words of "The Last Rose of Summer" are by Tom Moore, famed Irish poet, and he set them to an old Irish air, "The Groves of Blarney." The composer Von Flotow lifted both the text and music and used them as a number in the second act of his "Martha."

Annamary Dickey, winner of last year's "Metropolitan Auditions" (NBC, Sun.), is a new Met soprano

New Italian coloratura at the Metropolitan this year is Hilde Reggiani, former South American diva

Tra-la-la and Mi-mi-mi

By Leonard Lieblich

THE annual concourse of sound, spectacle and society which the New York almanac records at this time of year is here again, to stay for the next sixteen weeks. That is another way of saying that the Metropolitan Opera House reopened its doors on Monday evening, November 27. (Writers rarely remain factual when they talk about that institution; its musical glamour and Golden Horseshoe seem ever to prompt purple description.)

Yes, glamour is still the chief characteristic of the Metropolitan. However, democracy too is not far away, for directly under the Golden Horseshoe the standees pack a serried circle; and outside the house a multitude of curious plebes gape at the fashionables as they step from their limousines and are flashed by the photographers. Meanwhile society reporters note what Milady wears and by which Mygent she is accompanied.

Recent lean financial years wobbled the Metropolitan a bit occasionally, but always salvaging ways and means were found. Not only New York helped but also the rest of the country, for the great opera house has long been regarded as belonging not alone to New York but to all of America.

—Daguerr

Alexander Kipnis, Russian-American basso, will be heard with the Met for the first time this season

Edward Johnson, in his fifth season as general manager, is doing his work well, brilliantly preserving the high standards of former years. Best of all, he has admitted many Americans to his singing-roster. If he were also to produce at least one American opera each year, his batting average would be an even 1,000.

All the old favorites are in the projected casts and repertoire. A score or so of new vocalists have been added (including the young Audition winners, Annamary Dickey and Mack Harrell) and seven long-neglected operas will be revived. Warmly welcome, too, is the return of tenor Lauri-Volpi, so regrettably absent from the Metropolitan for a number of years.

To radio listeners in every section of America the Metropolitan's reopening is doubly welcome. As in other years, the Saturday afternoon broadcasts will continue throughout the season, giving listeners as complete a repertoire of grand opera as the New York socialite who steps into his Golden Horseshoe box one evening a week.

On, then, with the show, and may it shine as brightly as ever for the ticket-buyers and the lucky gratis listeners over the air!

Speaking Up

By V. Vidal

BEGINNING with this issue, "The March of Music" early each month will list its choice of the ten most interesting musical radio events heard until the time of going to press. This does not necessarily mean that programs not listed are not worthy of praise. However, at least eight or ten stand so far above the others that they deserve being marked out for special notice. Doubtless many readers will disagree with our choices. But it should be remembered that not all of the people agree all of the time on every subject, and particularly on music. We have endeavored to take all tastes into consideration and to be as fair as possible in our choices. This month's selections follow:

The Music Hall of the Air—Rachmaninoff. Piano Concerto Cycle, with Henrietta Schumann as soloist. Special mention might be made of the first air performance of the Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini.

The concert of Toscanini's Beethoven Cycle which included the "Pastorale" and "Fifth" symphonies.

The Beethoven Septet in E Flat as played by Toscanini.

Paul Robeson's singing of Earl Robinson's stirring "Ballad for Americans."

Helen Traubel's magnificent performance of the Immolation Scene from Wagner's "Goetterdaemmerung," with the New York Philharmonic.

Jascha Heifetz' Ford appearance.

The first "Friends of Music" concert, particularly the Brahms viola quintet.

The interesting debut of Hilde Reggiani, new soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, on the Alfredo Antonini La Rosas Hour (WOR).

Jaromir Weinberger's "Variations on Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree."

Henry W. Gilbert's "Overture on Negro Themes" as played by the New York Philharmonic under John Barbirolli.

"Die Meistersinger von Nuremberg"

This Week's Opera

Saturday, December 2, The Metropolitan Opera Company will present Richard Wagner's "Die Meistersinger von Nuremberg" on NBC at 1:30 p.m. EST, 12:30 p.m. CST, 11:30 a.m. MST, 10:30 a.m. PST.

Beckmesser, who criticizes his departure from vocal and poetical rules and brings about his rejection.

However, venerable and benign Hans Sachs, the famous cobbler-poet (also in love with Eva but resigned because of his age to see her marry youth) takes up Walther's cause and invites him to his home. During the night Walther dreams the melody of a beautiful song, which Sachs helps him to formulate and correct. The manuscript is left on Sachs' desk and the interloping Beckmesser steals it. The Metropolitan Opera opens its radio season this Saturday (NBC) with a broadcast of "Die Meistersinger von Nuremberg." Stars who will be heard include Friedrich Schorr (right) as Hans Sachs; Irene Jessner (l.) as Eva WAGNER is not credited with any special sense of humor in his conversation or literary efforts (he wrote a small library of essays), but when he fashioned the libretto of his "Meistersinger" he created in grand opera a comic classic as immortal as Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" in the realm of drama.

His John Falstaff is no funnier than Wagner's Sixtus Beckmesser, and the characters are similar also because both fell victims to their own vanity.

Melodious "Meistersinger" had its premiere at Munich in 1868 and was an instantaneous success. Its summarized story (obliging commentator Milton Cross fills in with details for radio listeners) concerns chiefly Hans Sachs, Walther von Stolzing, Beckmesser, and Eva, daughter of the rich Nuremberg (sixteenth century) goldsmith, Pogner.

Walther, a cavalier, falls in love at first sight with Eva, whom he sees in church. She is to be the bride of the successful competitor in the public contest of the Minnesingers to take place at the Feast of St. John. The enamored youth enters the contest, but at the preliminary audition, in the same church where he met Eva, incurs the jealous opposition of populace chases him from the scene. Then Walther steps forward, delivers the "Prize Song" perfectly and wins the contest and the hand of the lovely Eva. A minor character helpful to Walther is David (apprenticed to Sachs), who loves Magdalene (maid to Eva) and their romance ends happily.

It is an open secret that in the figure of Beckmesser Wagner satirized those music critics of his day whose pedantic conservatism made them oppose his new, radical style of creation and intrigue against his success.

Hardly a German operatic baritone of note has failed to try the role of Sachs, one of the most appealing ever written, and Friedrich Schorr, who sings the role today, is among the best. Nearly every celebrated German tenor has fulfilled his ambition to interpret Walther. The role of Eva is small but altogether sympathetic and entrancingly lyrical. Walter Olitzki, making his American debut today as Beckmesser, has won renown abroad for his particularly sharp characterization of that unhappy suitor. Young Erich Leinsdorf conducts the performance in place of the late Artur Bodansky, who died November 23. —Leonard Lieblich.

Impressed with the usefulness of a portable, Lucille Manners, star of "Cities Service Concert," listens to a compact pick-me-up set

THIS is going to be a big Christmas, perhaps the biggest we've seen for a long time. Things are looking up. Even some Republicans are optimistic. But even if more money is spent on gifts this year, most of it will be spent wisely. We have learned in recent lean years to give useful gifts, things which represent a good investment in utility and pleasure as well as an expression of good-will. So why not give a radio this Christmas? No one has to be convinced any more what vast pleasure and profit comes from a radio receiver.

We might tell you, though, about some of the many new features, styles and trends which are bringing radio reception closer to perfection right now, this Christmas, than was considered possible a few years ago. There is, of course, push-button tuning which is now practically a radio fixture. No longer the exasperating fiddling with dials to bring in your favorite stations. You simply push the button with the call letters printed on it and there is the station, tuned quickly and accurately. Now wouldn't grandmother, who doesn't see so well and can't always remember where to get that serial, appreciate that luxury? If you want to go even further in tuning convenience, you can have the remote-control attachments that make operation of the set from other parts of the house possible. Now, too, you can have your program pre-tuned by clock-control twenty-four hours in advance, so that when the time comes for one of the programs you wanted the set turns itself on—and presto! there's your program. One of the greatest considerations in the new models is the progressive beauty of build and finish. The discriminating housewife doesn't have to chide friend husband about the radio's lack of furniture harmony. You can have fine matched woods, molded plastics, shining metal, glass, and colors to match any room decoration. One of the biggest of revolutions is the boom of midget sets and portables. They make fine gifts to fit a moderate budget. The children can have a miniature in their room to serve their own program tastes. Big brother can listen to the ball games all afternoon without disturbing mother's serial listening in the living-room. Those portables have a thousand and one uses—for mother's kitchen, for sister on a school outing, for father to get news while he shaves or to check up on current events in the office.

This radio section is planned as the first in an annual holiday series. The pictures on these pages are not an all-inclusive display. They are simply presented as a general sample, representative of a wide variety of sets manufactured by different companies, to give you an idea of the broad and attractive field of selection. If there are any questions, Radio Guide will be glad to answer your queries insofar as is possible.

HOW TO HEAR TURKEY

ANKARA, the new capital of the Turkish Empire, built by the late energetic Kemal Ataturk, is the site of "Radio Ankara," 20,000-watt short-wave station of the Ottoman government. This station operates normally on two frequencies, namely, TAQ (15.195) and TAP (9.465). The first of these has recently been withdrawn from service due to interference with its programs caused by German station DJB (15.20), operating on almost the same frequency. TAP (9.465) relays Turkey's 120,000-watt long-wave station TAR week-days from 5:30 to 7 a.m., EST, Saturdays from 6:30 to 8:30 a.m., EST, Sundays from 5:30 to 7:30 a.m., EST, and daily from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. EST. TAP (9.465), at the low-frequency side of the 31-meter band, slightly higher in frequency than Cuban station COCH (9.44), can only be located with delicate tuning since it is very close to a powerful code station which often partially covers its channel. TAP's aerial is omnidirectional, that is, it radiates equally in all directions without being beamed at any particular part of the world.

THE NEWS IN GENERAL: Sunday nights from 11 p.m. to 12 midnight EST, the following stations operate in a network: XEQQ (9.68), XEBT (6.00), XEWW (9.503), XEXA (6.175), XEUX (6.117), all in Mexico, and TGWA (9.685) and TGWB (6.41) in Guatemala. . . . The Cubans are moving again. COCX is at approximately 9.192, and COCQ on 6.395 megs, at present. . . . PZH (6.79), a good DX catch, at Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, is on the air Tuesdays and Fridays from 5:40 to 8:40 p.m. EST, and on Sundays from 8:40 to 10:40 a.m. EST. . . . EAJ43 (7.49), operated by the Radio Club Tenerife at Santa Cruz de Tenerife, Canary Islands, and a main station of General Franco during the recent Spanish revolution, is still broadcasting nightly from 7 to 8 p.m. EST. . . . August Balbi of Los Angeles, California, writes that in addition to the regular overseas broadcasts from Tokyo, fully described in last week's Radio Guide, JVH (14.60) is being heard irregularly from 10 to 11 p.m. EST; JLT3 (15.325), nightly from 9 to 10:30 p.m. EST, and JVV3 (11.73), daily from 1:15 to 2:20 a.m. EST. . . . Norman Kriebel of Ambler, Pennsylvania, recently received a communication to the effect that CR6RC (11.74), a 50-watt station operated by the Radio Clube de Angola, Caixa Postal 229, at Luanda, Angola, Portuguese Africa, is now

"Radio Ankara," due east of New York City, is best received in the central and eastern states from approximately 3:00 to 4:30 p.m. EST, during which period it gradually builds up to peak strength just before sign-off. No special identification signal is employed by the station but a constant tone note is used as an interval signal. Both men and women announcers are on the station's staff and announcements are made in Turkish, French, German and English. A program of dance music, including many American selections, is broadcast daily from 3:30 p.m. EST to close-down. On Saturdays at 3:00 p.m. EST, an interesting English talk on Turkey and the Turkish peoples is broadcast. This is followed at 3:15 p.m. EST by the English Mail Bag program during which letters from English listeners in all parts of the world are read. Transmissions from "Radio Ankara" are still experimental in nature and reception reports are therefore eagerly welcomed. These should include an international reply coupon (to insure return postage for a reply) and should be addressed to the Correspondence Department, Radio Ankara, Ankara, Turkey.

on the air daily from 6:30 to 7:45 a.m. EST; Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays from 3:30 to 5 p.m. EST, and on Sundays from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. EST. . . . I suggest you listen to: The lovely chimes concert broadcast each Sunday morning at 9 a.m. EST over Boston stations WRUW (15.13) and WRUL (11.79); the Asiatic Mail Bag program consisting of intensely interesting letters from listeners throughout the Orient and the South Seas broadcast Saturdays at 8:45 a.m. EST over San Francisco station KGEI (9.53). . . . The several short-wave stations in Manila, Philippines, have finally been straightened out as follows: KZIB (9.492 and 6.04), P. O. Box 440, Manila, power 1,000 watts, operates daily from 6:30 to 10 a.m. EST; KZRF, formerly KZEG (6.14), "Radio Philippino," Manila, operates daily in parallel with KZRM (9.57), daily from 5 to 9 a.m. EST, or later; KZRH (9.635 and 6.1), "The Voice of the Philippines," Manila, operates daily from 6 to 11:30 a.m. EST. . . . A new government station planned for Rangoon, Burma, has been assigned the following frequencies: 6.002, 6.047 and 9.59 megs. . . . Bob Hetzel of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, writes that a letter from E. H. Healey, manager of station XMHA (11.86), Shanghai, China, states that broadcasts are being made daily from 5 to 11 a.m. EST.

Background for Listening

Saturday, December 2

Art for Your Sake, NBC.

Dr. Myers turns this week to the life and works of the famous French historical painter, Eugene Delacroix, leader of the Romantic school. Delacroix produced more than 800 oil paintings, 1,500 water colors and crayons, and a number of excellent etchings. He executed a number of large pictures for Parisian churches and the historical museum of Versailles; his murals, excelled only by those of Rubens and Veronese in grandeur of color and composition, were executed between 1822 and 1855. His first exhibited work (1822), "Dante's Bark," aroused the anger of his teacher, Guerin, and created a sensation by its radical departure from the dominant classicism of French painting, and until his death he was the target of academicians and critics.

Sunday, December 3

Pilgrimage of Poetry, NBC.

For this broadcast Ted Malone takes us to 36 W. Ninth Street, New York City, home of Elinor Hoyt Wylie, whose sudden death in 1928 deprived America of one of its most promising writers. Mrs. Wylie was a perfectionist in word and form. She contributed literary reviews to magazines, and for a time was an associate editor of "Vanity Fair." With "Nets to Catch the Wind," her first volume, she won the Julia Ellsworth Ford Prize in poetry in 1921. Her subtle and often ironic fancy is shown in three books of verse that followed: "Black Armour" (1923), "Trivial Breath" (1928) and "Angels and Earthly Creatures," which was published after her death.

The World Is Yours, NBC.

The Amazon River of South America is the master stream of the largest drainage area in the world. With its almost innumerable tributaries, several of them more than a thousand miles long, it dominates a vast territory from the Andes Mountains to the Atlantic Ocean. Vegetation along its banks is exceedingly rich and thick and restores itself so Expeditions into Amazon country have been led by Theodore Roosevelt and Rafael Reyes, Colombian statesman, author, diplomat and general, who in his youth made extensive explorations in the upper Amazon forests.

Adventure in Reading, NBC.†

Attention is turned this week to highlights in the life and work of Edmund Spenser, author of the beautiful "Faerie Queen," with which most students are well acquainted. Spenser has been classed, after Shakespeare, with Chaucer and Milton and the greatest of English poets. His early works, especially "The Shepherd's Calendar" (1579), won him recognition as first among the English poets of the time, a time most responsive to poetry.

Folk-Music of America, CBS.*

The program this week is devoted to songs of the teamster. Although these hardy men spent more time cursing the draft animals and the chuck-holes, their songs are the most interesting in American ballad literature, reflecting the reckless, gay and daring spirit of a pioneer system of transportation.

America's Town Meeting of the Air, NBC.

Business has long been bitter at what has been termed "New Deal meddling." The difference of opinion between the Government, on the one hand, and Business, on the other, has been one of the sorest spots in the entire New Deal program and the cause for more knock-down, drag-out fights than any ten other questions combined. With this as the background, this week's program holds promise of being one of the year's best. "Business and Government—Friends or Enemies?" is a fiery question . . . and three very fiery gentlemen have agreed to participate. It will be clever Floyd B. Odium, the financial wizard who turned America's depression into a bonanza for himself and his associates by buying out bankrupt companies and putting them on their feet, on the side of business. New Deal counselor Jerome Frank, brilliant chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, will defend the Government's views. And William McChesney Martin, active young president of the New York Stock Exchange who led the faction that kicked out the forces headed by embezzler Richard Whitney, will present the views of the men who run the most important trading center in the world. This surely should be one of the year's best.

*"American School of the Air" program, designed and timed for classroom use.
†Designed and timed for classroom use.

Person-to-Person . . .

● President Roosevelt in his youth most enjoyed Johann Rudolf Wyss' Swiss Family Robinson—so we learned from the November 24 premiere of a new NBC series presenting dramatizations of the favorite childhood books of today's famous men and women. Titled "Yesterday's Children," the idea was conceived by Dorothy Gordon, who has long been identified with children's programs and who was recently named advisory consultant on children's programs for NBC. As a leading authority in this country on children's books, Miss Gordon has in the past been able to secure the exclusive radio rights to Kipling's Just So stories, the Alice in Wonderland songs, Beatrix Potter's Peter Rabbit and Sir James Barrie's Peter Pan. Other broadcasts in this Friday series will present adaptations of the favorite books of such widely diversified personalities as Irvin Cobb, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Charlie Chaplin, Bing Crosby, a number of others.

● In an effort to get at the problems really puzzling the public, the directors of the Northwestern University "Reviewing Stand" inaugurated a novel plan recently in which listeners are invited to send in questions to be answered on this program by N. U. professors and their guests.

● Another step toward closer cooperation between education and radio in the West is the appointment of E. Jennings Pierce as educational director of NBC's Western Division. Pierce is one of the West's pioneer radio men, having joined the staff of KGO (San Francisco) in 1925 to become that station's first announcer. As announcer he has covered practically every type of radio assignment, and as head of NBC's West Coast agricultural service (since 1935) he has gained an intimate knowledge of western farmers' problems. He will meet a number of leaders in the field of radio-education for the first time when he attends the Third School Broadcast Conference in Chicago this week-end.

Why Wrong Listings?

Dear V. O. L.:
Why does Radio Guide schedule a certain program for a certain time, then when the time comes there's a different program? For example, on a recent Sunday night Tommy Tucker's orchestra was supposed to come over the air but instead Frankie Masters' orchestra came on. Was it an error on your part or the fault of the network for giving out the wrong information? How do these discrepancies arise?

Mrs. Jeanne Poplin, Sanford, Fla.

• Although neither RADIO GUIDE nor network officials are infallible, such discrepancies in program listings usually occur because of RADIO GUIDE's unavoidable advance press deadline. Program changes can be made by network officials right up to the time the program goes on the air. RADIO GUIDE gets its information corrected up to press time, which, however, may still be several days before the date of the program. In these remaining days other changes may be made—too late for our listings. This is a mechanical operating condition which cannot be helped. We make our listings as accurate as possible and hope the reader will bear with these unavoidable discrepancies.—V. O. L.

Poor Mortimer!

Dear V. O. L.:
Send Mortimer Snerd back to the lone prairie or wherever he came from. It's all right to bring him out for air once in a while. But nix on him for a regular. Long may Charlie "live," as he seems like one of us, and long may Edgar Bergen stay on the air to chase our glooms away.
Charleen Boulton, Quincy, Mich.

• Mortimer's a good kid, but he just isn't Charlie McCarthy. That's what listeners are saying. They need not fear. Bergen is shrewd enough to use his yokel dummy merely as an occasional treat. Charlie stands positively established once and for all as a real person and a permanent fixture. Mortimer himself would be the last to claim an important place.—V. O. L.

EXCITING... thrilling... perfect. These are words which listeners have been using to describe a voice—a voice that has won Arlene Francis, its charming owner, the title of radio "oomph" girl. Something in its vital, pleasing tone has attracted fans on "Betty and Bob" (NBC, Monday through Friday), "What's My Name?" (NBC, Saturday) and "District Attorney" (NBC, Sun.). Many of them ask about her personality: "Is she as beautiful as she sounds?" Here is Radio Guide's pictorial answer.

Radio's "Oomph" Girl LIVES UP TO HER VOICE

GRACEFULLY LEADING Fred Uttal, former announcer of "What's My Name?" across these stepping-stones (above), Arlene exhibits physical as well as vocal poise. She is 5' 5½", weighs 119

BOSTON-BORN, Arlene is nevertheless a real New Yorker, to whom this rustic dinner-bell (left) is a novelty. Her city address is Park Avenue—far from the old home of her Armenian father

A SWIMMING-POOL, pheasants, mallards, chickens, pedigreed dogs, keep the dark-eyed beauty busy at 150-acre Kettletown Farm—not to mention fan and business mail she collects (below)

AS GAILY INFORMAL as at Kettletown Farm is the Arlene Francis who smiles encouragement to "What's My Name?" contestants (above) as former announcer Fred Uttal offers clew. Because of her good poise and winning personality, Arlene makes friends with the studio audience. They are as attracted to her in person as listeners are who hear her voice over the air

ARLENE'S MOTHER (below) prevailed on Papa to let her follow theatrical career. She justified that confidence—not on the stage but in radio, today keeps parents happy and comfortable

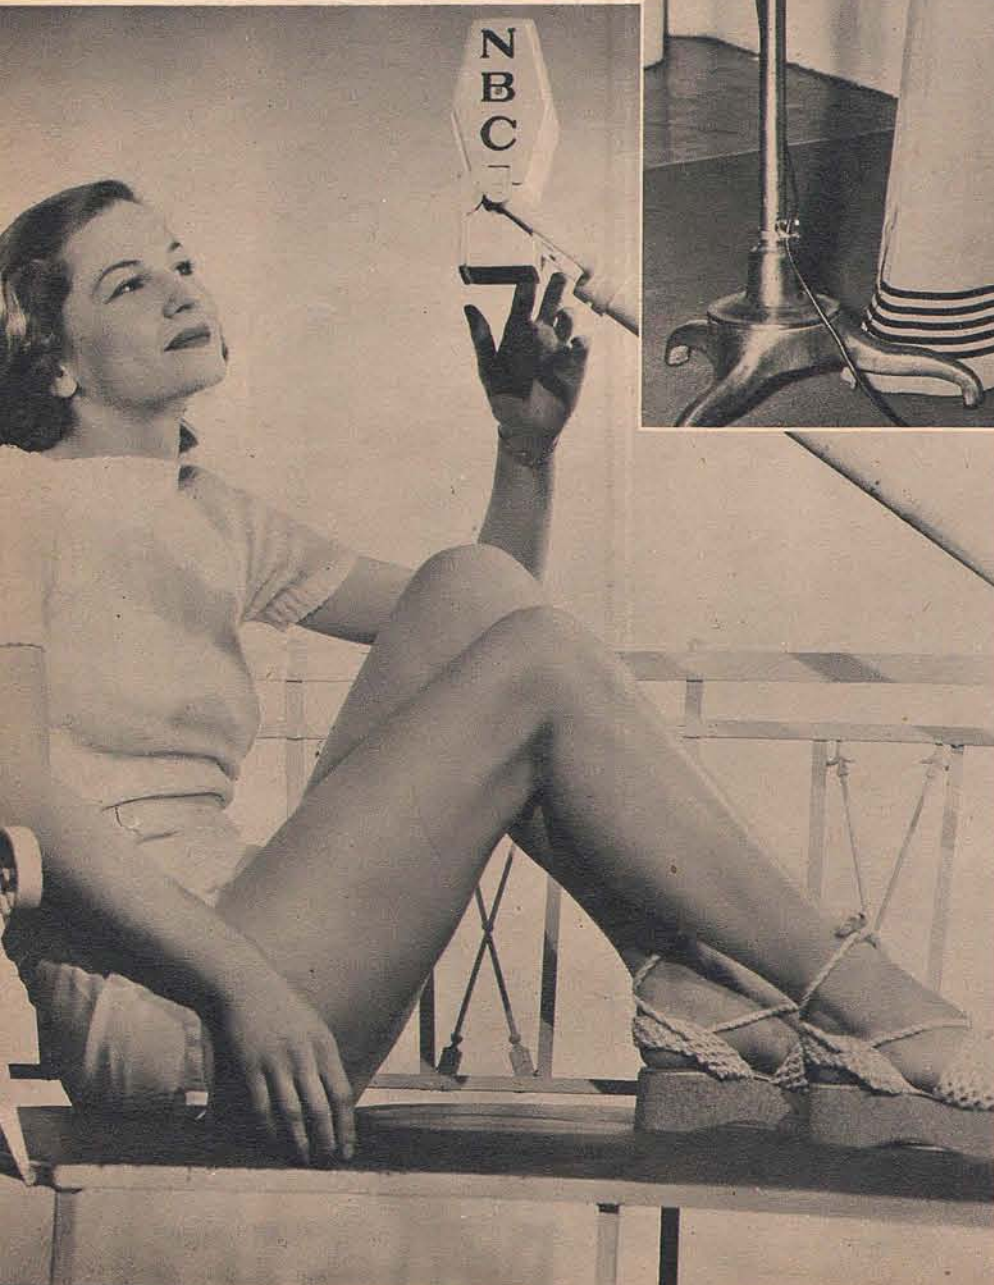

IDEAL OPPORTUNITY for a voice-charmer like Arlene Francis was her year as emcee of "Hour of Charm." Taking advantage of it, she looked then (right) "as good as her voice sounds"

YOU ASKED FOR THEM AND HERE THEY ARE

Radio Guide will pay one dollar for any letter from a reader which the editors accept and print on this feature page. Address Pictorial Editor, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Illinois

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: In recent weeks I have been following "Your Family and Mine." What actress plays Judy in that drama?—Frances Day, Fargo, North Dakota.
Pretty Joan Tompkins, seen below in shorts, is Judy Wilbur, star of "Your Family and Mine" (CBS, Mon. through Fri.). She is also heard over NBC on "Mr. Keen, Tracer of Lost Persons" (Tues., Wed., Thurs.)—ED.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: I have heard that Beatrice Kay and other stars of the "Gay Nineties Revue" dress in plume and bustle for their broadcast. Is this true?—Margaret Fallows, Bangor, Maine.

Songstresses on this show (CBS, Sat.) do wear grandma's gowns, as does Miss Kay, at left, whose costumes are resurrected from her grandmother's trunk. Purpose is to get authentic atmosphere for the old favorite melodies they sing.—ED.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: Jane and Goodman Ace are my favorite radio comedians because they are so easy-going and unaffected. I have often wondered if they even rehearse their radio act. Do they?—Katherine Johnson, Birmingham, Ala.

Like almost all dramatic programs, "Easy Aces" (heard over NBC, Tues., Wed., Thurs.) requires a rehearsal, which occupies Jane and Goodman above. Spontaneity of the show probably comes from a set policy of limiting rehearsals to bare necessities of proper timing and coordination.—ED.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: Please, a picture of Skinnay Ennis, Bob Hope's good-looking bandleader. Is he married?—Jane I., Brady, Tex.

Blond, blue-eyed Skinnay Ennis (above), another Hal Kemp boy who now has his own band, was rated as a very eligible bachelor until just recently, when news broke of his forthcoming marriage. Skinnay is heard with comedian Hope on Tuesday nights over NBC.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: Jack Smart is an old favorite at our house but we've lost track of him. Is he on the air now?—Bill M., Troy, N. Y.

Big, clowning Jack Smart, veteran of vaudeville and radio, is frequently heard on big comedy shows. Currently, Jack and Jerry Colonna are Bob Hope's stooges on "Pepsodent Show" (NBC, Tues.). Smart does a spot of clowning with the eight-ball, above, right.—ED.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: What has happened to Arthur Godfrey, whom we heard several times weekly over CBS last year?—Mrs. Hattie Frederickson, Atlantic City, N. J.

Never far away from radio, the red-haired ad-lib comedian is currently broadcasting over a local station in Washington, D. C. Godfrey (above) never works from a script and never bothers to rehearse, doesn't know himself what he's going to say until it comes out. A popular announcer, his specialty is this type of chatter.—ED.

DEAR RADIO GUIDE: I wonder if many people know what a charming person Miss Blue of "Amos 'n' Andy" really is? Will you give us a picture of her?—Franklin Fenelon, Richmond, Virginia.

Genevieve Blue, "Amos 'n' Andy" (CBS, Mon. through Fri.) model of everything a secretary should not be, does give listeners, who see her for the first time as she appears here, quite a turn. The vacuous secretary is really Madaline Lee, a Dallas girl. Miss Lee is a descendant of General Robert E. Lee, studied dramatics at three universities.—ED.

JOIN TED MALONE'S "PILGRIMAGE of POETRY"

WHEN TED MALONE took his microphone on NBC (Sun.) "Pilgrimage of Poetry" to cottage of Edgar Allan Poe he let listeners hear the old clock ticking, the fire sputtering, the old chair rocking, the haunting knocker, and two marked passages in Poe's Bible

TED MALONE knows that there's a spark, small or great, in everybody's heart—a spark of emotion, philosophy and musical beauty. A spark of true poetry. On Sunday, October 15, Ted spoke into a live microphone from the new Poetry Room of the Library of Congress and launched his "Pilgrimage of Poetry," in which "you are the adventurer." Each Sunday over NBC at 1:00 p.m. EST, 12:00 noon CST, 11:00 a.m. MST, 10:00 a.m. PST, Ted broadcasts from the home of some great American poet, these poets having been chosen by a canvass of 700 colleges. Each broadcast is truly an adventure, not only for the poetry student but for all who revere past glories, antique traditions and human stories. Ted Malone is making the listener forget the present and live for a brief spell in the enchanted glow of hallowed halls and stirring memories. If you have been listening, you may have heard the rustle of the very pages over which Walt Whitman bled out his devoted heart to "My Captain." You may have heard the toneless plinking of the very guitar which a century ago made music for Francis Scott Key, composer of our national anthem. You may have walked with Malone "down the narrow stair into the front room where the little old-fashioned reed organ played again Key's 'Star Spangled Banner'—with each step as with each year coming closer to you and me." You may have heard the old iron knocker rapping the ghostly signals Poe heard. And his old chair rocking backward and forward as Poe's own life rocked back and forth in the Raven's shadow. Similar adventures await you. Join the "Pilgrimage of Poetry" now and experience a vital and unusual listening thrill.

RADIO'S ambassador of poetry is slightly pudgy, slightly past thirty and wholly sincere. He was a champion extemporaneous speaker at William Jewell College, started in radio at KMBC, Kansas City, and is now noted for comforting and inspiring thousands with his NBC Monday-through-Friday series, "Between the Bookends." Imagine his comfortable voice is saying to you: "Hello, there! This is Ted Malone inviting you to go on a real adventure. I'd like very much for you to join me each week to visit the homes of the great men and women who have given America its immortal words of poetry. You will find much that is interesting and you may imagine yourself living again in the very presence of genius. We have already had stirring experiences. There are many yet awaiting us in our pilgrimage:

"WERE YOU with us when we visited Walt Whitman? This poet (above) was not only a deeply inspired writer but also the soul of American individualism and common humanity as portrayed in 'Leaves of Grass'"

"AMY LOWELL (above) was one of America's greatest women poets. Her home was one of the centers of poetry at the end of the nineteenth century. We'll visit it later. Oliver Wendell Holmes (below), whom we'll meet, made and mocked New England tradition in his brilliant 'Autocrat of the Breakfast Table' collection"

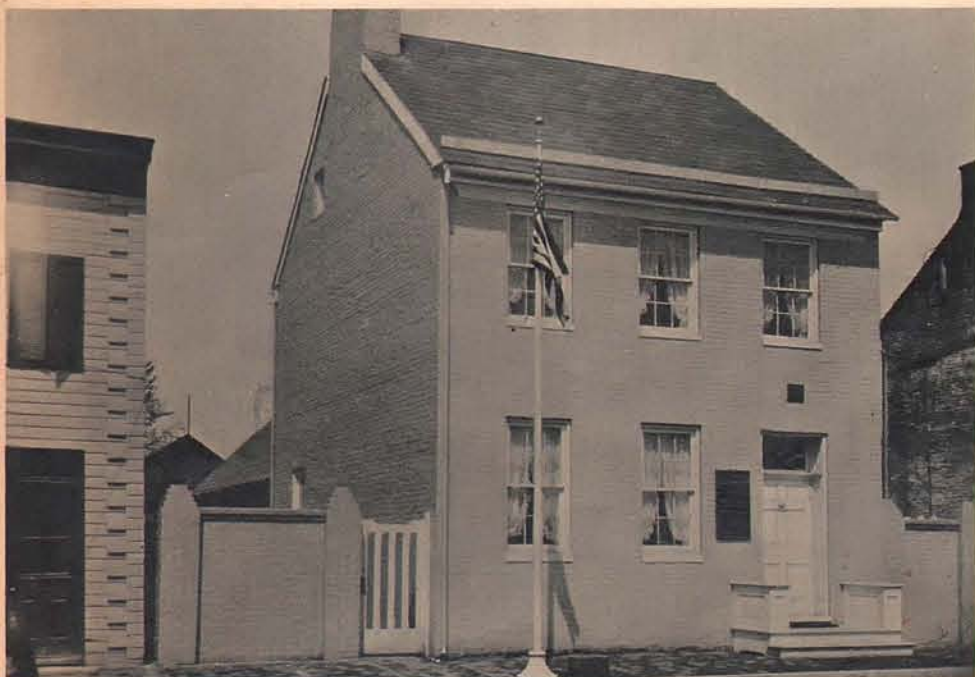

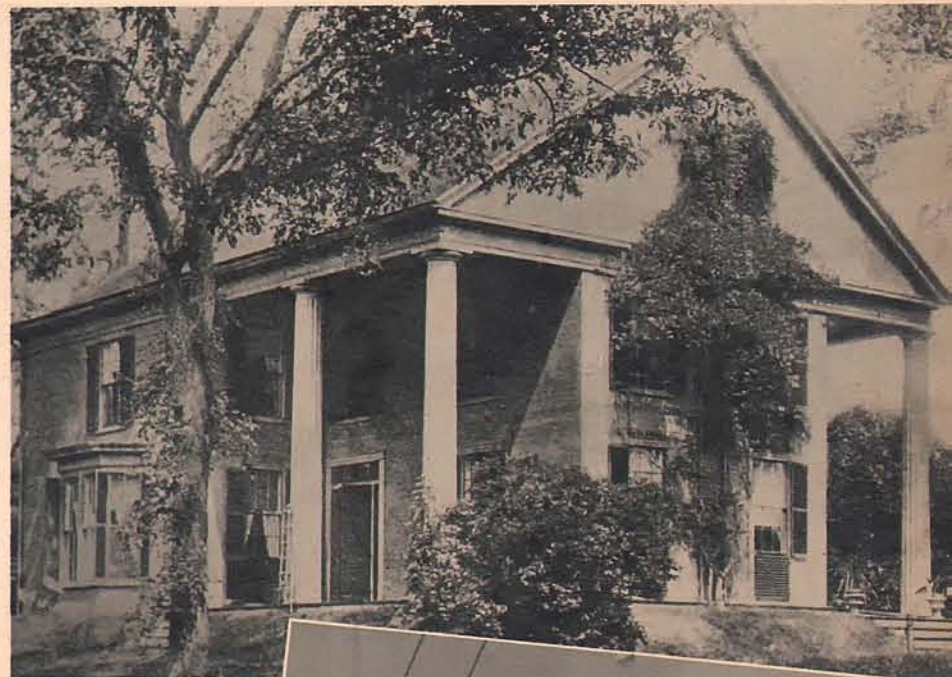

"THE BIRTHPLACE of the Hoosier Poet, James Whitcomb Riley, is a place you should not miss on our pilgrimage. The frame house (above) with shuttered windows and crude fence is now a national shrine at Greenfield, Indiana. Here is the house where 'Little Orphan Annie' used to 'dust the hearth and sweep and shoo the chickens off the porch.' And here is where they searched upstairs for the 'little boy who wouldn't say his prayers'"

"MY OLD KENTUCKY HOME" (above) is one of the most famous and beloved homes in American song and story. Whether you're from North, South, East or West, you'll want to be along when we visit the Bardstown, Ky., home of songwriter Stephen Collins Foster. This home is inseparably a part of Foster's life. Here, the story goes, he came with his bride on their honeymoon and here got the inspiration for the grand old heart-throb song"

"I HOPE YOU were along when we visited the home (above) of Chief Justice Roger B. Taney in Frederick, Maryland, for there one breathes the very breath of liberty. There Taney wrote the Dred Scott Decision. There his brother-in-law, Francis Scott Key, came home after the battle of Fort McHenry to tell wife Polly that he had written a poem that he hoped would be famous. It began 'Oh say, can you see—'"

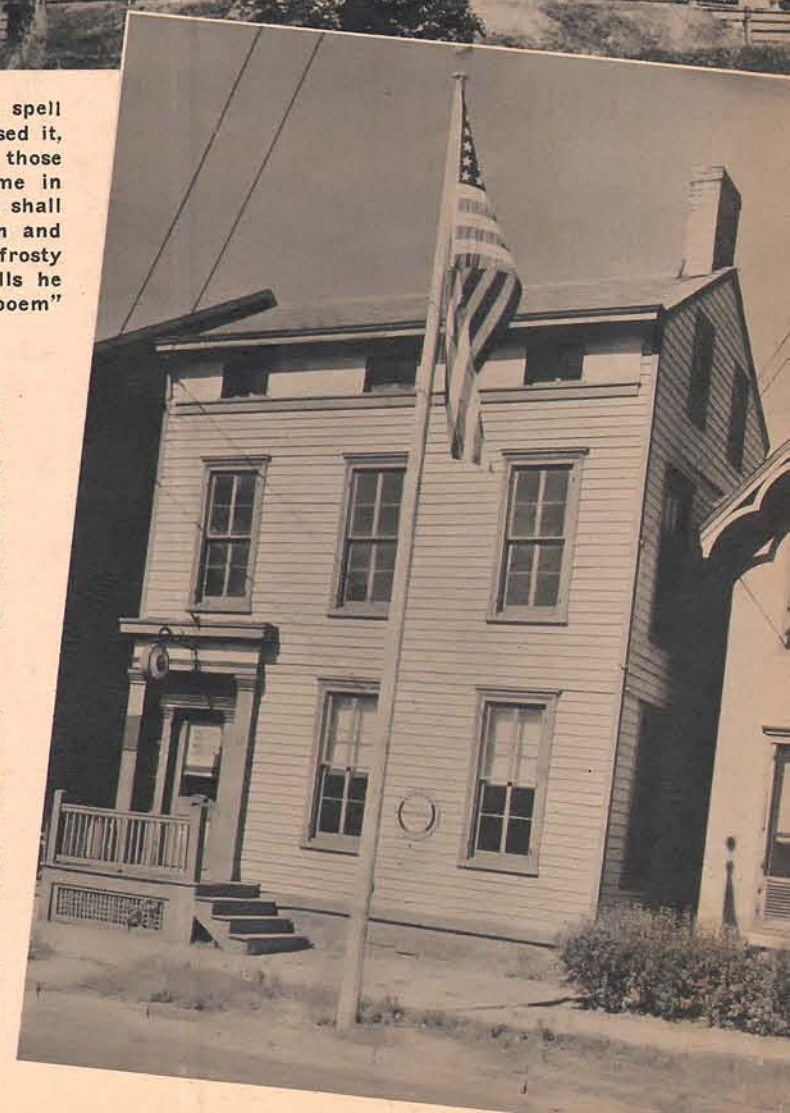

"REMEMBER the little girl who hated to spell the word and go above the boy who missed it, because she loved him? The author of those touching verses lived in a spacious home in Haverhill, Mass., (above, right). Here we shall find John Greenleaf Whittier's same pen and desk and the fireplace that warmed his frosty fingers during winter's 'Snowbound' spells he wrote so vividly about in his famous poem"

"AT 330 MICKLE ST. in Camden, New Jersey, stands the cramped frame cottage (left) where Walt Whitman spent his last years. Here he met Ann Gilchrist, who traveled from England to meet the poet and tell him how much she revered him. Here critics aimed their attacks on 'Leaves of Grass.' Here friends mourned the death of the 'Good Gray Poet'"

"THE MODEST HOME (right) of Joyce Kilmer has been turned into a shrine by New Brunswick (N. J.) American Legion. In front of it now stands a flag, fit tribute to one of America's war poets. But there were no trees at the home of the man made famous chiefly by the poem 'Trees' until we planted two beautiful pin oaks there on our pilgrimage visit to the Kilmer shrine"

This is "HOME, SWEET HOME"

"BE IT EVER SO HUMBLE, there's no place like home," wrote John Howard Payne, inspired by his own traditional birthplace (above) at East Hampton, Long Island. And, hallowed by the charm from the skies, Payne's

'Home, Sweet Home' was one of the few buildings left unscathed by the New England hurricane of last year. This dwelling, associated with our beloved home song, will be visited as the climax of the poetry pilgrimage"

Jan. 14	Oliver Wendell Holmes	Boston
Jan. 21	Henry Wadsworth Longfellow	Boston
● At 105 Brattle Street, Longfellow wrote "The Children's Hour" and "Evangeline." Here he lived as teacher, here he brought his young bride.
Jan. 28	James Russell Lowell	Cambridge, Mass.
● Walls of Lowell's Elmwood Avenue home, which echo with great cultural voices of yesterday, witnessed the literary beginnings of a nation.

Feb. 4	Lizette Woodworth Reese	Baltimore, Md.
Feb. 11	Sidney Lanier	Macon, Georgia
● Many of the family treasures of the Laniers and of the famous southern poet are kept in the old ante-bellum home, making it a national shrine.
Feb. 18	Joel Chandler Harris	Atlanta, Georgia
● "Wren's Nest" is the name given to Joel Chandler Harris' home in Atlanta. Old "Br'er Fox, Br'er Rabbit and Tar Baby" seem to haunt this spot.
Feb. 25	Stephen Collins Foster	Bardstown, Ky.
March 3	Paul Laurence Dunbar	Dayton, Ohio
● 219 North Summit Street, Dayton, is one of the few shrines dedicated to the colored race. Here the Negro poet did much of his writing.
March 10	James Whitcomb Riley	Greenfield, Ind.
March 17	Yachel Lindsay	Springfield, Ill.
● At 603 South Fifth Street, Springfield, is the home of the colorful singing poet. Today the home is a simple boarding-house.
March 24	Eugene Field	St. Louis, Mo.
● Eugene Field Shrine in St. Louis is a memory-filled house where the Field family has brought possessions of the children's poet.
March 31	Joaquin Miller	Oakland, Calif.
● "The Wigwam," Miller's home on Oakland

Heights, was for many years the center of the most Bohemian of American artist colonies.

April 7	Bret Harte	San Francisco, Calif.
● The San Francisco Mint, where humorous poet Bret Harte was secretary, is closely tied to life on the Coast in mining-camp days.
April 14	Harriet Monroe	Chicago, Ill.
● 232 East Erie Street, on Chicago's North Side, is the office of Poetry and the real home of Harriet Monroe and of modern American verse.
April 21	Edwin Arlington Robinson	Gardiner, Me.
● At the Robinson family home in Gardiner, which is frequently mentioned in the poet's works, the barn where he wrote his first verse still stands.
April 28	Ralph Waldo Emerson	Concord, Mass.
● The Antiquarian House in Concord contains Emerson's study intact. Here mementos of the "American Scholar" are reverently preserved.
May 5	Amy Lowell	Brookline, Mass.
May 12	William Cullen Bryant	Long Island, N. Y.
● Cedarmere on Hempstead Harbor is known today as the William Cullen Bryant Homestead. Much of his furniture and effects are still there.
May 19	Emily Dickinson	Amherst, Mass.
● The hermitage where this poet became a recluse from the world is still one of Amherst's most handsome houses. Everything remains untouched.
May 26	John Howard Payne	Long Island, N. Y.

Star Sparkles

"President Hoover's personal announcer"—that was Herluf Provenson's distinction for four years during Hoover's administration. Provenson speaks six languages fluently, is a world traveler with a wealth of experience in the United States and foreign countries, a veteran radio figure, who stands today in the front ranks of NBC's tested staff of announcers. At NBC he handles a variety of different assignments, has announced in the Nevada desert and from an Army flying fortress 1,000 miles out at sea.

DISCARD YOUR OLD AERIAL

It is Most Likely Corroded and Has Poor or Loose Noisy Connections
No MORE BUZZES, CLICKS and shorts from summer rains and winter snow and sleet when using an F & H Capacity Aerial Eliminator. Anyone can connect it in a moment's time to the radio set—occupies only 1 1/2 inch by 4 inch space behind the set, yet enables your radio to operate without an aerial and tune in stations over the entire broadcast band frequencies and short wave channels.

ELIMINATE THE AERIAL FOR GOOD
Attach this unit to your radio—make your set complete in itself—forget aerial wires and troubles—move your set anywhere—no more roof climbing, unsightly lead-in or aerial wires.

NOT NEW—VALUE ALREADY PROVED
On the market five years! 100,000 customers in U. S. and foreign countries. In use from the Arctic Region of Norway to the Tropics of Africa. Each factory tested on actual long distance reception. Cannot harm set—Easily connected to any radio, including radios having no ground or radios for doublet aerial. Note: It will not operate on battery or automobile radios.

WHAT USERS SAY
LaPorte, Tex. After using the Capacity Aerial Eliminator over a year on my 1935 small 7 tube set can say it brings in reception with fine volume and clarity, pulling in stations from Japan, Europe, South America, and broadcast stations from all over the U. S. Efficiency proven, I took down my old outside aerial. Signed: Davenport, Ia. Received your Radio Aerial Eliminator and it sure works fine. Also works swell on Short Wave band. Wish I had found it long ago. Signed:
