VOLUME 10, NUMBER 1

JULY 1984

● John Dunning's "Old Time Radio" has landed a major guest star Sunday — science fiction writer Ray Bradbury. One of his books, "Something Wicked This Way Comes" has been produced as a film and as a radio show, narrated by Orson Welles, to promote the film. Bradbury will talk about the enormous impact of '40s radio on his imagination as a young science fiction writer. "Old Time Radio" airs from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Bradbury will call in around 12:40 p.m.

● How about this for timely radio? John Dunning's "Old Time Radio" series (11 a.m.-1:20 p.m. Sunday on KNUS) will feature a live interview segment, via telephone, with Larry LeSuer and John McVane, a pair of veteran network broadcasters who landed with U.S. troops on Normandy, on June 6, 1944. LeSuer covered the landing for CBS on Utah Beach; McVane landed on Omaha Beach as an NBC correspondent. Dunning plans to start the call-in segment with the two around 12:30 p.m.

JACK BENNY'S program of Feb. 21, 1943, will be the initial of three offerings Sunday on John Dunning's "Old-Time Radio" program on KFML. The show will begin at 11 a.m. Other presentations Sunday will be "Screen Directors' Playhouse," starring Dick Powell and Jane Wyatt, Oct. 17, 1949, and "Rogers of the Gazette" with Will Rogers Jr., Aug. 5, 1953.

May 14 will feature another Benny program, in which Jack claims credit for the World War II victory in Europe, May 13, 1945: "Mary Marlin," June 7, 1944; "Jack Armstrong," Sept. 30, 1949, and "Rogers of the Gazette," Nov. 25, 1953.

KFML will feature KADX staff members on "Close Encounters: The Fall and Rise of Jazz," at 8:30 a.m. Sunday . . . John Dunning and Harry Tuft still are looking for a new home for their Sunday "Old Time Radio," which also has been bounced off of the KADX schedule. The series had a lot of vintage holiday shows scheduled for December, including a classic "Jack Benny Show" first aired Dec. 21, 1947, in which tightwad Benny goes Christmas shopping. The hard-edged clerk is Mel Blanc.

AN "ACADEMY Award Theater" presentation starring James Stewart from Aug. 28, 1946, and the Jan. 18, 1959, production of "Have Gun, Will Travel" with John Dehner will highlight Sunday's "Old-Time Radio" show with John Dunning on KADX-FM (105.1).

The show begins at 1 p.m. An additional attraction Sunday will be a "Fibber McGee and Molly" show with Hal Peary as the Great Gildersleeve, dated June 17, 1941.

The Nov. 12 program will feature Van Heflin in a "Suspense" episode from June 8, 1953; "Have Gun, Will Travel" from Feb. 22, 1959, and the June 24, 1941, "Fibber McGee and Molly" show.

The NBC University Theater production of John Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" (Jan. 9, 1949) will be heard Nov. 19, plus the Sept. 30, 1941, "Fibber McGee and Molly" in which Gildersleeve leaves the show to begin his own program.

The first Gildersleeve program, dated Aug. 31, 1941, will be heard on the Nov. 26 "Old-Time Radio" Show.

Additional programs to be heard on Nov. 26 will be "Fort Laramie" with Raymond Burr and originally heard July 8, 1956, and an "Escape" episode from April 14, 1950.

A "FIBBER MCGEE and Molly" episode from May 27, 1941, will open Sunday's "Old-Time Radio" show Sunday at 1 p.m. on KADX-FM.

Also on Sunday's schedule will be an "Inner Sanctum" mystery from 1945 and "Our Miss Brooks," with Eve Arden, from Oct. 31, 1948.

Sept. 10 will feature a 1954 "Great Gildersleeve" show: "Vic and Sade" (undated); "The Phil Harris-Alice Faye Show," Jan. 16, 1949, and the Nov. 14, 1948, "Our Miss Brooks."

The Sept. 17 schedule includes a "Little Orphan Annie" from June 1936; "Vic and Sade" (undated); "Gunsmoke" from Feb. 21, 1953, and "Our Miss Brooks," Jan. 9, 1949.

Sept. 25, you can hear three war-oriented shows. "Cavalcade of America," "The CBS Radio Workshop" and "Words at War."

The show is produced and hosted by John Dunning.

CREDITS

This months cover was compiled from radio clippings covering John Dunning's Old Time Radio broadcasting on KFML, KADK, and KNUS over the past twelve years. The cover article completes the report of an interview with John in February of 1983 (see the April 1983 issue of RETURN WITH US NOW, volume #8, Number 10) written by Reid Hansen.

A NEW BOOK IS OUT!!!

For those of you interested in OTR trivia and facts, there is a new book out that may be of interest. The book is titled: 505 RADIO QUESTIONS YOUR FRIENDS CAN'T ANSWER, by Harry Castleman and Walter J. Podrazik. The book can be ordered from WALKER AND COMPANY - 5TH AVENUE - NEW YORK, NY 10019 for a cost of $3.95 + postage softbound. The book is loaded with lots of interesting facts about radio call letters, radio personalities and about the programs themselves. A must for the radio collector.

WHAT'S UP DOC?

This month there is alot of information about radio and the club. After several months of adding to a upadting the Reference Library, I have typed up a complete list of what we have available. There are also several books on the list with more coming in all the time. The list of tapes in the RHAC was compiled by member Barbara Watkins and is an update of one printed last year. Thanks Barbara, the list makes renting from the club easy. Also, thanks for the articles about Richard Durham and John MacVane. These were two people that John Dunning was fortunate enough to interview before their deaths.

BLANK TAPE SALES

All members—blank tape is $1.50 per reel, $50.00 per case of 40. This is good quality Ampex 1.5 mil 1200' tape. Out of town members who want to order tape please send $70.00 per case to cover postage and material and indicate if you want insurance to: Barrett Benson...P.O. Box 1690...Arvada, CO 80001... (303)422-6442. Please make ALL CHECKS payable to BARRETT BENSON as he pre-pays for the tape himself. Any excess from shipping will be sent to you with your order. Special orders are welcome, but only in case lots!

THE BOOK BINDERS BUNGALOW

This month we have...Another Opinion by Ed Carr. The Following are my accounts of the KNOCK WOOD matter and the LOU'S ON FIRST matter. KNOCK WOOD by Candice Bergan, 1984, Simon and Schuster. Bookstand price $14.95 hardbound. By its title and by whom it is written, one would assume that the whole book would be about Edgar Bergan, Charlie McCarthy and Candice. The growing up and sharing of the good and bad times and in that assumption you would be partly right. Only a portion of the book contains the references to and about those loveable characters we in the old time radio hobby would be interested in. The rest is about Candice Bergan and her life and times. I should have realized this before I bought the book.

Now, Candice herself is more than likely a lovely person, but to be honest I wasn't interested in her when I bought the book. It was Edgar and Charlie I wanted to read about and I felt cheated. I could have waited and bought the book a year later at discount for about $2.00. I want it understood that I am not knocking Candice, only that there was a small section devoted to Edgar & Charlie and at $15.95 it was not worth the price.

LOU'S ON FIRST by Chris Costello with Raymond Strait, St. Martin's Press, New York, 1981, $6.95 softbound.

How do you go about applauding a book from the 1st page till the last? Why you set it down with words and tell everyone about it.

This book is a winner from cover to back. From the beginning you are kept engrossed in the Lou Costello story from the formative years to the very hard end. From his vaudeville days to movies to radio, you will not want to put the book down. There's a filmography and a section on the radio shows he did, plus television shows he starred in. I read the complete book in one night and the price is nice at $6.95.

You might have to order this one, but if you get the time please do so. Radio fans will not be disappointed.

I hope Another Opinion has been helpful to those of you interested in obtaining books related to radio. If you have doubles and would be interested in trading or buying, please feel free to contact me.

Edward Carr 216 Shaner Street Boyertown, PA 19512.

Good Readings. Will see you next month with another book in review. John Callor, Editor.

On August 6th John Dunning will complete twelve years on the Denver air waves, broadcasting Old Time Radio to a growing audience.

In an interview he granted some time ago he spoke of what the "shows" he had collected meant to him. The hobby of collecting radio programs would not have held him for more than six months were it just a matter of nostalgia--the recalling of the past. John personally hates that word. Once one has experienced the wonderful feeling of hearing a show after twenty-five years of not even knowing it was preserved, one is ready to move on--the feeling passes. Collecting is John's recreation which occupies a lot of his time, but it is not his primary business. He looks upon collecting and trading as something he loves to do and gets involved in. There are important reasons why he has remained a collector.

John firmly maintains that the era of radio between 1930 and 1960 will be looked back upon as the way radio was really meant to be. That way is not likely to return even though there have been attempts or experiments to give it a try. The best of that period is capable of providing the very best we have ever received through broadcasting. It is far superior to the "common demoninatorized" programming of television today.

John spoke of realizing for the first time what radio was capable of doing--and the power with which it could communicate. "Document 777" for example is as good as anything around. Much of ESCAPE--"Earth Abides" and "Evening Primrose" were mentioned--brought John face to face with the artistic quality radio had developed, a quality so often lacking in today's fare. He was not just listening to nostalgia. These shows were great shows doing great productions. Elliott Lewis was free to do anything he wanted to. He did some great work. Obler created some great radio. Bill Conrad did the performance of his life in the ESCAPE show entitled "Poison." Every important person in the nation was heard on radio in great programs. Other great shows were soon recalled: wonderful SUSPENSE presentations such as "The Bet" and "House in Cypress Canyon" and CBS RADIO WORKSHOP programs such as "A Matter of Logic," "Report on the We'uns" or "Legend of Jimmy Blue Eyes." He has often been asked to list his ten favorite shows, but John simply asks how he can respond to such a question. Some shows he likes a lot for they represent what he says are excellent pieces of radio which will hold up whenever they are listened to. Being convinced that much of OTR is a truly great listening experience (of which these programs are samples) has kept John collecting Old Time Radio shows. Then he went on to remember Kathy and Elliott Lewis' ON STAGE programs. Every show was a gem. Some are better than others but not one is a bad one. John's first argument was punctuated by example upon example.

Then John moved on to another comment about the "shows." Without intending to, he has become an historian of Old Time Radio. He is now a authoritative author of Old Time Radio, he has broadcast Old Time Radio for twelve years, he has amassed an Old Time Radio collection of over 20,000 shows, as well as set up files and cross files of Old Time Radio programs. This puts him in a unique position which he took lightly until quite recently. He is a walking encyclopedia of Old Time Radio. He strongly feels that if he does not write the history of Old Time Radio, no one else will. His radio interviews have allowed him to make personal contacts with radio personalities all over the country. He now stands as a collector with important sources and necessary contacts who is now in the position of realizing he must write Old Time Radio's history. He is most probably the second oldest broadcaster in the field of Old Time Radio and has been given recognition by an Old Time Radio convention award. He feels that there just is no one else who can chronicle radio in its finest trappings. All his expertise has given him a strong obligation. He has the writing skills and knows the radio stars who are quite willing to help him. He has even broached the idea of doing an oral history of radio with his agent. He would visit both coasts and Chicago and contact as many personalities as he could. His approach would be simply to sit down with his guests for a couple of hours and then would write a finished product after he returned. Such an idea must be accepted by some publisher, but John is making proposals.

John Dunning is still revising and cutting his untitled Civil War novel as well as working on a revision of his Tune In Yesterday. So many shows did not appear and therefore John is doing his best to expand it. Also, he relied heavily on press coverage when he compiled information about the shows he chose to include in the first volume. Sometimes these reports were not true. On the other hand, the articles were written when the shows were appearing and that is such a plus when one considers the faults of memory once the event has passed.

John had another dream fulfilled recently when he opened "The Old Algonquin Bookstore" at 5900 East Colfax Avenue. He will display antiquarian and first editions, but his emphasis will be contemporary American fiction. John will be happy if the shop becomes kind of a gathering place for writers in Denver. He has published his local best seller "Denver" in 1980, and has added three mystery novels--"The Holland Suggestions," "Looking for Ginger North" and "Deadline"--to his list of published books.

He has received critical acclaim for his writing, but many Denver listeners still know and appreciate him for his Old Time Radio broadcasts. As John begins his thirteenth year, the Radio Historical Association of Colorado thanks him and his long-time sponsor, Public Service Company of Colorado, for the many hours of pleasant listening they have provided radio listeners through Old Time Radio broadcasts!

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

DECEMBER, 1933: "The blame for the dearth of satisfactory television transmitters can be laid directly at the door of the Federal Radio Commission. This body has ruled that advertising shall not be a part of any television program and that the latter shall be 'for experimental purposes only.' This kind of caution is commendable in that it may prevent any repetition of the blasts of advertising that have done so much to degrade sound broadcasting. On the other hand, the restriction prevents the operation of self-supporting television transmitters, and without them television receivers become only curiosities, depending for their programs on a few scattered stations operating on perfunctory schedules."

Set Rites for Richard Durham, writer

by Earl Calloway

Memorial Services for Richard Durham, 67, famous writer, author, television producer and director, will be held Wednesday, May 2 at 7 p.m. at Rayner Funeral Home, 318 E. 71st st.

Author Durham suffered a fatal heart attack Friday and was pronounced dead at Roosevelt Memorial Hospital in New York. Mr. Durham has a previous heart attack nearly five years ago, but was in good health, according to his son Mark. He has been a little ill the previous week, however, he rested and the body seemed in excellent order. The heart attack was very sudden.

The famous writer was in New York negotiating a contract with Public Broadcasting Services to air his newly revised series, "Destination Freedom," which had aired several years ago as a radio series on WMAQ Radio that earned him the Peobody Award.

During the last decade, Mr. Durham had spent a great deal of time traveling after going to Africa with the World Heavyweight Boxing Champion, Muhammad Ali for his fight with George Foreman. He returned two or three years ago he returned researching African heroes and the history of the Mother Country. He was also doing research on Hanibal, the great warrior.

A native of Raymond, Miss. Richard came to Chicago with his parents when he was 6 years old. He was born November 6, 1917. A graduate of Hyde Park High School, the writer graduated from Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University.

He came to prominence as a writer doing the WPA

Era. He was closely associated with Studs Terkel, Richard Wright, Langston Hughes and Nelson Algren who wrote "The Man With The Golden Arm." He was the first Black man to be critically acclaimed as the writer and producer of a radio series entitled "Democracy USA" that aired over WBBM Radio. The series was awarded the Harry S. Truman Award. His first efforts in this area was the result of his WPA affiliations and produced the radio series sponsored by The Chicago Art Institute entitled "At The Foot of Adams Street".

A great concerned about the conditions and progress of his people, Mr. Durham had a great desire to do every thing he could to articulate the struggles, the progress and to present Blacks before the world in dignity. The radio show "Democracy USA" was sponsored by the Chicago Defender, an opportunity that developed after serving as a writer for the African-American newspaper while its founder the late Robert S. Abbott was alive.

Endowed with a vivid imagination, Richard wrote many scripts for "The Lone Ranger" radio show. He was Program Director for the United Packing House Workers of America, a branch of the Congress of Industrial Organizations. He served as Editor of Mohammad Speaks and was a writer for The Globe, a newspaper founded by the late Mertz Lochar as a competitor for the Chicago Defender. It lasted for approximately six months, but Mr. Durham continued to write. He served as a jazz critic for Downbeat. His articles appeared often in such journals as The Playboy and Negro Digest.

Mr. Durham was the first African-American to create a series about Black life in "Bird of Iron Feather" that aired on WTTW-TV channel 11. Because of his ability to write with flaming intensity, he served as a speech writer for such famous individuals as William L. Dawson, Ralph Meltcal, Senator Paul Douglas and Mayor Harold Washington. Travel throughout the 3rd World rekindled his interest in his work or African Legends, particularly "The Death of Aesop" and "Hanibal". Said Mark, his only son, "When I was a child he often talked about the historic exploits of the Black man in Africa. His recent travels started that involvement again.

Broadcast From London During Bombings

Noted Newscaster John F. MacVane Dies at 71

From Times Wire Services

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me.—John F. MacVane, who with Edward R. Murrow was the first newscaster to broadcast live from London during the bombings of that city during World War II, has died of a heart attack. He was 71.

The former NBC and ABC correspondent died Saturday at a Brunswick hospital of undisclosed causes.

After the war, MacVane became United Nations correspondent for NBC, and later, for ABC. Although retired, MacVane was a weekly commentator on WMTW-TV, an ABC affiliate in Poland Spring, Me.

"He was a gentle man and a gentleman. He had a tremendous storehouse of knowledge about world affairs," said Peter H. Weyl, WMTW news director.

MacVane was hired by NBC about the time the Germans invaded France. He and Murrow of CBS provided the first live radio coverage of a major war, reporting from London rooftops on the German air strikes. MacVane also accompanied American and British troops fighting in Algeria and Tunisia in 1942 and covered the D-Day landing in 1944.

Born and raised in Portland, MacVane graduated from Williams College and went on to earn a master's degree in English literature in 1935 from Oxford University in England.

Upon graduation, he settled on a journalism career because he believed it offered adventure.

He began his career at the Brooklyn Daily Eagle in New York, then moved to the New York Sun before heading to England and a job as a copy editor at the London Daily Express.

After the war, MacVane spent much of the next 30 years covering the United Nations.

He wrote two books, "Journey Into War," and "On the Air in World War II."
